The German press is discussing the merits of a new French repeating air rifle called the "miracle gun." The rifle was invented by M. Paul Giffard in Paris, the original projector of the Parisian pneumatic/post. It is described thus: "The weapon is light, much lighter than any of the army rifles now in use. It resembles the magazine gun in that a steel cartridge about a span and a half long and as thick as a man's thumb, is attached to the one barrel by means of a screw. This cartridge contains 300 shots, which can be discharged as rapidly or slowly as a man desires. Since neither powder nor any other explosive, but only compressed and liquefied air, supplies the expelling force, no smoke and no flash accompany the discharge. Only a short, sharp, low report is heard as the ball leaves the cartridge. At the recent trial the ball traveled with wonderful accuracy and penetrated deep into the woll of the scheries. The German press is discussing the merit traveled with wonderful accuracy and pene trated deep into the wall of the shooting trated deep into the wall of the shooting room. As soon as one cartridge is emptied of its 300 shots, another cartridge can be serewed on the gun in the twinkling of an eye. M. Giffard says that the 300 shots in a cartaidge can be produced at a cost of about 2½ cents. The gun itself can be manufactured for about $5."

The Berlin Kreuz Zeitung is informed that Lord Salisbury has not only demanded from Portugal satisfaction and reparation for the outrages against English authority in Africa, but has also insisted upon some guarantee against a repetition of such high-handed proceedings as those of Pinto, which it is now believed were deliberately planned between the Portuguese Home Government and the authorities at Guillamane.

London's Great Scandal.

London, Jan. 16.—The case of the Earl of Euston against Editor Parke, of the North London Press, for criminal libel, in charging that the Earl was implicated in the West End scandal, came up for trial yesterday. Sir Chas Russell is counsel for the Earl. Mr. Lockwood, for the defence, consured Sir Charles for withholding the Earl from cross-examination at the preliminary hearing until the evidence for the defence was given. Mr. Lockwood declared the Earl had shirked going into the witness box, and preferred to rely upon Sir Charles' attack upon the witnesses for the defence, who were necessarily tainted. A coal dealer named McLaughlin, living 27 yards from Hammond's house, on Clevelsnd street; a railway porter named Grinley; a bar man named O'Loughlin, and Hannah Vergen, residing opposite Hammond's, were called to identify the Earl as a visitor at Hammond's. After some hesitation, the vergen, residing opposite Hammond's, were called to identify the Earl as a visitor at Hammond's. After some hesitation, the Earl in the meantime standing, they said they had seen him enter the house on different occasions. Sir Charles commented upon the hesitation shown by the witnesses, and declared their identification of the Earl was worthless. John Saul testified that in May, 1887, he met the Earl in Piccadilly and drove with him to Hammond's house, where they committed a criminal action. The Earl of Euston testified that with the exception of the, time when in consequence of receiving the pose plastique card in Piccadilly he visited Hammond's house and left it indignant upon learning its true character he was never in Cleveland street in his life. He did not know the witness Saul, and denied he had made any of the visits to Hammond's house that were testified to by the preceding witnesses.

All the tickets for the gallery were exhausted long ago, which means that enough people to fill four times the space have tickets for admission. The attendance at the opening of the Commons was smaller than usual, "la grippe" having kept several of the earliest members at home. On the Liberal side of the House, the genial face of Mr. James Trow, whip, will be missed. He is not expected until the first off week. Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate. Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In calling you together again for the consideration of public affairs. I may fairly congratulate you on a continuance of the progress and prosperity of the country. During the recess I visited Manitoba and the Northwest Territories and British Columbia, and everywhere I found myself received with the loyalty and goodwill which I have learned to be characteristic of Canada. A comparison of my own observations with those of my predecessors shows clearly the great progress which has marked this part of the Dominion in the settlement of the country and in the development of its great agricultural capabilities, of its mineral wealth and of its other national resources.

In consequence of the rational resources by the consequence of the rational resources by the consequence of the first of the Northern Pacific Ocean known as Behring Sea, my Government has strongly represented to her Majesty's Ministers the necessity of protecting our shipping while engaged in their lawful calling, as well as of guarding against the assumption by any nation of exclusive proprietary rights in those wate s. THE DEFENSE.

THE defendant Peter Graham denied any criminality in the matter. He admitted having given Mrs. Cundick $1 and evading Cundick's question. He did this because Mrs. Cundick asked him not to let her husband know, as it would be taken from her. Mrs. Crone, wife of the magistrate to whom Mrs. Cundick went in her trouble, testified that Mrs. Cundick said her husband was going to kill her. He was jealous of her and Graham, but the stories about them were not true.

through the cellar floor and saw a $1 bill handed to his wife under what he considered suspicious circumstances. Other points in his evidence, in which he stated his reasons for thinking defendant to be the father of the child, were of a most revolting nature. The evidence centered on the occasion of Mrs. Graham's visit to Watford in July, 1889, when it was alleged that defendant committed the last assault, which caused the trouble. The defence had brought several witnesses to prove that on the day in question defendant was helpless in bed and unable to turn or move, much less walk upstairs and commit the assault alleged. Mrs. Cundick said she never mentioned the fact to anyone but her husband, and states that she told him Graham was guilty. The evidence of Reginald Cundick was not of much consequence.

was guilty. The evidence of Reginald Cundick that he saw defendant kiss Mrs. Cundick was not of much consequence. He said he told his father at the time, and yet plaintiff apparently took no notice of it, as his suspicions were first directed against Philpott, the hired man. Mrs. Cundick's statements in the witness box differed materially from what she had said to different persons before the trial, while the evidence of several witnesses for the defence practically agrees with the defendant's account in regard to the money given to Mrs. Cundick. Her own affidavit before the magistrate supports defendant's account of the transaction.

As to Philpott's evidence, it was not necessary to make any harsh comment. He certainly was very reckless as to what he said in the witness box. Mr. Auld gave evidence as to Philpott being a liar, and the account given by Philpott in the witness box as to the giving of the money differs from the account he gave to the witness McIntyre. It might prove valuable to remember that Philpott was first suspected by Cundick, and he admitted himself that he thought Cundick could send him to jail if the charge were proved. If by Cundick, and he admitted himself that he thought Cundick could send him to jail if the charge were proved. If the jury accepted defendant's account of his giving the money there was not much in it. He says that Mrs. Cundick was telling him of their poverty, and he gave her the dollar as payment for work done. Stress had been laid on the fact that Graham concealed the fact of giving the dollar, but it was accounted for by both defendant and his wife, who say that Mrs. Cundick was afraid her husband would take it away from her if he knew she had money.

It was no light thing to destroy the character and reputation which a man had been building up for years. Defendant was a man holding the respect of the community and the confidence of his fellowmen. Dr. Macfarlane followed with a supplementary address on "Dairying in Denmark."

He described the "partnership" system, which is practically a joint stock company of farmers who, in business matters have notes corresponding to the number of cowsthey own. Centritugal separation is used and from the skim milk cheese required home use of partners is made, and the home use of partners is made, and the home of the skim milk, and the buttermilk the whey is returned to them. The principal officers are a board of directors, as ceretary, treasurer and a dairy foreman. The milk is paid for according to its contents in butter fat, the milk being weighed and tested on arrival at the factory. This process is actually carried on now satisfactorily in 200 Danish dairy factories. Every patron's milk is tested twice a week. The partners are obliged to receive back the skim milk and buttermilk in proportion to the amount of milk they have delivered and to pay \(\frac{1}{2}\) cents per quantity than is necessary to realized for the railly used in its production, at least its the price is decided at each annual meeting, but as a rule the partners are to pay about the value for which it can be realized. A GREAMERY MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Governor Hoard related his experience as a creamery, man demonstrating that the farmer must learn to labor first with his head and then withhis heads. An old Illinois farmer said to the speaky, "I can do a heap of raising hogs and critter farmin', but gol darn your dairy farmin'." "Yes," said Hoard, "it takes intelligence, and you don't seem to have anything to spare." Mr. Ira Morgan, a director of the association, took fright, and jumping out landed on his head on the hard road bed, sustaining ugly bruises.

Fourth Session.

At the Wednesday morning session Professor Robertson read the report of Mr. McHardy, instructor and inspector for the Western District. He referred to the fact that creamery butter had won a vast number of prizes at the fall fairs, and was running private dairy butter out of the market. The report was adopted, Prof. Robertson commending a continuance of the work of inspection and instruction.

There has been always an air of great sincerity in the expression of its views, and while we could not often agree with its doctrines or sympathize with its views of men and Affairs, there was a plausableness in the presentation of them which never failed to mand admiration. "Do you really think the Mail is in earnest?" people used to ask each other for the first year or two think the Mail is in earnest?" people used to ask each other for the first year or two after it had declared independence. And almost invariably the answer was: "I do not know; I am doubtful; but it seems to be honest and independent; and its articles are very ably written." But there was always one suspicious characteristic present; the journal had no faith in the country, and no faith in any political party. country, and no faith in any political party in the country. THE DERBY OF 1890.

The 111th renewal of the Epsom Derby, to be run on June 4, will be under different conditions from any that have previously marked this classic race. The change may be trivial from a racing standpoint, but important in showing how the time-honored contests are being gradually crowded to the wall by new events of "guaranteed" value. Racing for honor alone is rapidly declining. It has become as much of a business in England as it is in America, the exceptions in both England and the United states being about as rare. The result is that the Epsom authorities found it to their interest to make the Derby an "event of value." Thus, instead of the Derby being an event made up simply of subscribers' stakes at £50 each for starters, half forfeit for non-starters, of which £300 goes to the second and £150 to the third, the new conditions are:

The Derby stakes of £5,000 for the The annual meeting of the City of London Horticultural Society was held last night in the City Hall. Mr. W. Y. Brunton occupied the chair in the absence of the president, Mr. A. W. Porte. There were present: W. J. Reid, H. D. Long, T. Herbert Marsh, T. R. Parker, and about 30 other members. The directors' report for 1889 was presented as follows:

to the second and £150 to the third, the new conditions are:

The Derby stakes of £5,000 for the winner, £500 for the nominator of the winner, £500 for the owner of the second, and £200 for the owner of the third; for colts 126 pounds, and fillies 121 pounds; by subscription of £50 each, half forfeit, if declared by the first Tuesday in January, 1890, and £10 only if declared by the first Tuesday in January, 1889; any surplus to be paid to the winner; about a mile and a half.

1889 was presented as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your directors herewith submit the annual report for the year 1889.

As no fair was held under the management of the Western Fair Association during the past year, and as the Horticultural Society's operations merge into and unite with those of the Western Fair, the report now presented must of necessity be brief.

The Agricultural and Arts Association did not deem it necessary to call upon this society for co-operation or assistance, as they are provided with a full board of officers and directors to manage their own exhibitions. For these reasons your directors have had a year's res from active service in exhibition work.

The names on the membership roll have not been as numerous as the preceding year, but were sufficient to secure the small annual grant from the Government.

The balance on hand after deducting necessary current expenses, has been paid over to the funds of the Western Fair Association. In the Western will be required in order that the Western will be required in order that the Western Fair and the committed in the Western Fair association in the Western Fair association in the western fair as the western fair specific in the development of the western fair as the western fair specific in the funds of the Western Fair association in the western fair as the western fair forder that it is considered with a renewal of your confidence, to devote their best efforts to accomplish this end. Martin Bergen, the popular young jockey, had a great day of it at Guttenburg on Tuesday, piloting five winners past the post and riding second once. It was awonderful record, for only one of the horses ridden by him started favorite in the betting. A $5$ bill invested on the opening race on Howe would have been lost, but by placing $5 on Folsom, the winner of the second race, and investing the proceeds together with the original investment in each case on Bergen's mounts, the result at

To the Editor of the Advertises:

I see that No. 2 Committee has been duly installed in office for 1890. Perhaps a suggestion from one of the people whom it is that No. 2 of 1890 continue the good work of the same committee of 1889 in the keeping the City Hall a credit to the city and themselves. With the handsome offices which are now contained in it, why should the hall itself be left out? Have any of the members inspected the floor, which has done duty for 30 years? Why, it is an utter disgrace to the whole building. What with nails, knot holes and traps, it is a wonder that accidents don't more often take place in it, and as it is the only hall in the city where dancing parties can be held, and for which it is used by so many of the workingmen's clubs, the city fathers would bring more votes at the polls by having a new floor laid. It may be argued that it is unnecessary, as no one suffers from the present condition. I would only ask any lady who has ever had to spend the evening there how much it cost to repair her dress after a dance? Why, about one-half the cost of the original, is the answer. I would also ask who has to pay this? Why, the father or husband, who can ill afford it. The cost of the original, is the answer. I would also ask who has to pay this? Mess in two minutes. That means keeping up a speed of 30½ seconds for four-quarters around a curved track. As Gov. Stanford modestly says, 'If any horse can lower Maud S.'s record, I believe Sunol can do it.' And he has good reason for his belief. Thoroughbred blood is essential, in my opinion, in any 2:10 or better trotter. Gov. Stanford has met with extraordinary success in breeding young trotters. Back in 1880 he raised Fred. Crocker, who reduced the 2-year-old record to 2:15½. The next year he put Wildilower on the track and cut the record to 2:21. He has been at it ever since, and has not been able to beat 2:16 until this year, when Palo Alto and Sunol did it in 2:12½ and 2:10½ respectively. But Gov. Kane Found Guilty of Murde

TORONTO, Jan. 16.—At the Criminal Assizes yesterday, the trial of Thomas Kane, charged with the murder of his wife in November last, was finished, and Cane was sentenced to be hanged on Feb. 12.

Kane's crime was committed Saturday night, Nov. 16, when he killed his wife while under the influence of liquor. Kane k.cked and beat his wife to death on the Saturday night, and then lay down on a lounge beside the dead body and slept away his debauch, waking up on Sunday to discover the terrible result of his drunken madness. Then he spent the day in drinking. Investigation, first by the neighbors and then by the police, led to the discovery of the deed. Kane meanwhile had fied, but was soon captured.

CANADIANS Work Too Hard!

The Result is Sleeplessness, Nervous-ness and a Broken-Down System, often Ending in Insanity.

Thousands of overworked business men, wearied brainworkers industrious mechanics, and tried women, in all parts of the Dominion are to-day in a terrible position. Their nerves are weak, digestion poor, head aching, and they cannot sleep, work or live in comfort. This is not sleep, work or live in comfort. This is what fills our Insane Asylums. This is the cause of that terrible Paresis. Before it is too late, use Dr. Phelps' wonderful discovery, Paine's Celery Compound. It removes the results of overwork, restores strength, renews vitality, regulates the whole system, and tones up the overworked brain and body. Do not despair, but use this wonderful remedy, and be restored to health and happiness, the same as was Mr. John L. Brodie, of Montreal, who writes: "I have great pleasure in recommending our Paine's Celery Compound. My sysour raine's Celery Compound. My system was run down and I was not fit for business, could not sleep well at night and was nervous. I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound and improved immediately. I am now able to transact my business and endure any amount of excitement without bad effect."

Paine's Celery Compound can be purchased at any druggist's for one dollar a bottle. If he should not have it on hand, order direct from Wells, Richarpson

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs. ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy.

LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

Mrs. John Mercer, whose death is announced at the age of 85 years, had many friends in this city, who will hear of that event with regret. She was born in 1804 in Cloughan, King's county, Ireland, being the youngest daughter of Mr. Wm. Hill, of that place. She first came to Canada in 1829, settling in what was known as "Muddy York." Two years later she married Mr. Mercer, then a member of the 71st Regiment. Not long afterwards they came to this city, where they had resided ever since. Besides her aged partner in life, whose health is still good, three sons and two daughters, including Wm. Mercer, of this city, and John Mercer, London West, are left to mourn the loss of an affectionate wife and mother. ### ANNETTE.

A Story of a Woman's Faith-

"Take my arm!" he said authoritatively. Annette obeyed without thinking, as one often instinctively obeys a peremptory command. He continued, "You are not strong enough to walk unsupported. Tuck your arm into mine—so, and I will see you safely to your house, explaining as we go what I perceive has surprised and mystified you—that is, my calling you my wife."

"I should like——"
"Of course, and a year natural curiosity."

"I should like——"
"Of course, and a very natural curiosity, too, in a young woman. In the first place, allow me to introduce myself. I am Major Smith, commonly called 'the crank.'"
"And you do not object to the name?" inquired Annette wonderingly.
"Not at all," he replied cheerily. "On the contrary, I rather encourage, people to

"Not at all," he replied cheerily. "On the contrary, I rather encourage people to call me so, as it permits me with impunity to break through conventionalities and ceremonies observed by others—in short, to do as I please generally."

"You were saying——"
"So I was—that I was on my way to attend Miss Addison's reception."

"Ah," exclaimed Annette, her interest now really awakened asshe thought she saw her opportunity of obtaining from the garrulous crank the information of which she was in search.

was in search.

"I was a little late and hurrying, when at a short distance I beheld you emerge from the house. The instant I caught sight of that blazing red head of yours—excuse me, I'm nothing, if not frank; it's splendid hair all the same—I said to myself, 'Now there is a woman I should like to make my wife.' And as I got closer and saw your there is a woman I should like to make my wife.' And as I got closer and saw your lovely Madonna-like face, I said, "There is the woman I will make my wife." When I got to the bottom of the steps, what happened? Why, Providence flung you straight into my arms, as if saying, There, there, take her, she is your wife.' What more natural after such authorization than that I should call you by that fond, endearing name of wife, entreat you to look up and behold your husband who will be."
"But suppose that I am already another."

"But suppose that I am already another in's wife." suggested Annette.
The Major replied:

"Describe him a little more particularly,

please."
"He has an olive complexion, very black eyes, a heavy black beard."
"I know who you mean; that's Perry"

"Yes, Perry," interrupted Annette with eagerness. "William Perry."

"Perey Erford; William Perry Erford."
Erford. That name. Could he be the son of the man who drove her mother to her death, was the girl's first thought, her husband the son of that man? How strange that destiny should again link her fortunes with that evil and fateful family. Her second thought was that his having given her a portion of his real name strengthened her legal claim upon him.

Major Smith bubbled on:

"They call him Perry, not William. He is the unly child of a rich old curmudgeon who has a queer habit of carving his hands behind his back, because they are deeply scarred. They say nothing will induce him to look at them."

Smith resumed:

"The girls all think Perry remarkably handsome. Can't say that I like his looks myself; he is so black muzzled and has such a villainous scowl when he is anoty."

"Is he married?" asked Annetto in a trembling voice, her heart almost standing still for fear the answer would be "yes."

"No; but they say that he is going to be to Miss Addison; but I think she prefers another man, and that is why she has not married young Erford before this. Both families are anxious for the match Perry is crazily in love with Inex; everyboly knows that."

Annette felt that she could not endure to hear another woman. For unately they had arrived at her lodgings.

"So," he said, "this is where you live. I hope you will allow me Miss—Norrie? Ah, thank you—to call upon you occasionally. I will not come in now (she had not asked him) "because you look theed."

Westlak see them finished polaries to bed and rest, and may the image of Touching his hat, the Major turned away and was soon lost to view.

She went wearily into the house, think ing of the singular incidents which had that day befallen her.

Was it chance or Providence, she asked herself, which had led her directly to Perry Erford, and thrown into her path a stranger who was able to inform her of the true name, who was able to inform her of the true name, and to reveal the plans of the man who had petrayed her?

"Heaven itself is surely befriending me!"
she sighed, and taking the Major advice she threw herself upon her bed, and sought in sleep to forget her sorrow.

As Major Smith sauntered away he thought:
"It is too late to present myself to-day to Miss Addison, so I will return to the hospitable Rayburn roof and try once more to persuade Blanche to see me. Who would have thought such a gentle girl could put her foot down so obstinately, and refuse to listen to me, her best friend, her father, though she does not know it yet, in consequence of the total disappearance of the registry—if ever one existed. The idea of her shutting herself up in her room and sulking ever since I saved her from the machinations of a villain. She must, she shall be bromght to own the debt of gratitude she owes me."

The alarm is kept up until the temperature of the room is reduced to below the danger point.

A MADAM BOBIN has organized at Brusels a chattering contest for ladies at the Musee du Nord. The sum realized by this awful competition is to be devoted to the relief of the sufferers by the Antwerp disaster. The prize will be awarded to the woman who can speak the most words in an hour, and there will be a jury—poor jury!—to decide the event.

ONLY twenty members of the present United States Congress are of foreign birth, and of these nine are Democrats and eleven Republicans. Senators Pasco, Jones, of Nevada; Beck and McMillan, are all of foreign birth. In the House two are Eng-lishmen, two are Scotch, four are Irish, two are Canadians; there is one Swede and one Norwegian, and four are Germans.

RECENT excavations made in Rome go show that the short-lived water pipes of show that the short-lived water pipes of this age are sadly at a discount when com-pared with the work of the old Roman plumbers. The commission in charge of the improvement of the city of Rome has uncarthed great quantities of lead water-pipe, each plainly stamped with the name of the owner of the house, the year of the plumbing and the name of the consuls of that year, and that of the reigning Em-peror.

"WATCHES," said a jeweler, "are funny things. Do you know that there are times when a watch will not run regularly? I have heard railway engineers say that loco-motives are much the same way. When a watch has one of these irregular spells, it is watch has one of these irregular spells, it is almost impossible to make them go. Many a watch is ruined, too, at times when carelessness is the prime cause. Some men will wind a watch too close, and then if it refuses to run, shake it until everything is out of place. A large per cent of the repairing done is brought about by persons who do not know how to take care of a watch."

Dom Pedro, ex-Emperor of Brazil, once called on Victor Hugo and asked the privilege of dining with him. The two men talked until 3 o'clock in the morning. Hugo asked the Emperor what countries in Europe struck him as being the happiest. "Switzerland, France and Scotland," was the answer. "What reason do you assign for this?" continued the poet. "The fact that Switzerland is an old republic, that France has accomplished a republican evolution and that Scotland has a republican form of ch.rch government," explained Dom Pedro. "The church has given a moral strength to Scotland which is unique, and her climate has imposed hardy habits on the Scotch people." on the Scotch people.

MR. TAUNT, of the United States, com nercial agent on the Congo, reports to the dovernment that religious societies sending missionaries to the Congo without providing amply for their support "send them to certain death, unless they are succored by the charity of other missions." This is the second time Mr. Taunt has called attention second time Mr. Taunt has called attention to the foolhardy attempts of American missionaries to settle in the wilds of Africa and depend upon the resources of the country for supplies. He refers, of course, to the Bishop Taylor and the Simpson Faith missions, whose agents were expected to pick up a living somehow, and have had a terrible time doing it. Of the six men of the Simpson mission, one died, four were sent to Europe by the charity of the English Baptists, and one is at work on the pay-roll of the American Baptist missions. No agency can plead ignorance as an excuse for sending any more victims to the Congo without the support that will give them some chance to live.

School Matters Discussed.

No. I Committee of the Board of Education met last night. Present: Dr. Campbell (chairman), Trustees Craig, Stevenson, Jeffery, Jeffers, Inspector Boyle, Principal Woods, Secretary Abbott. Principal Woods, Secretary Abbott. Principal Woods' application for increase of salary from $1,650 to $1,800 was read. Mr. Woods said a tacit agreement to this effect had been made at the time of his engagement on condition of his proving successful. Strathroy and Stratford paid $1,800, and other places much larger salaries. Mr. Craig moved reference of the subject to the Board. Mr. Stevenson moved in amendment that the request be granted. Mr. Jeffers supported the increase. It was necessary to preserve the standing of the Institute. The amendment carried. Mr. Gibson's case was then taken up, his claim being that he had been discharged without the three months' notice to which he was entitled. He had gone to the school and iound another teacher in his place. He claimed $200 salary for that period. After some discussion the letter was referred to Chairman Campbell to secure the opinion of the City Solicitor thereon.

Masonic Funcral.

Yesterday afternoon the funeral of the late Mr. Richard Irvine took place from his former residence on Dufferin avenue to twoodland Cemetery, and was conducted with Masonic honors by St. John's Lodge, No. 299a, of which deceased was a member.

The bearers were chosen at the request of the deceased from St. John's Chapter, No. 3, R. A. M., and were as follows: Companions A. S. Abbott, John Shopland, Maurice Baldwin, J. B. Smith, Toos. Duff and John Siddons. The Revices. Deceased was well known and highly thought of by all with whom he came in contact. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, in 1824, and came to this country in 1840, removing to this city three years later, where he remained until his death. In 1854 he was a pointed landing waiter of her Majesty's customs here, which position he has continued to hold ever since. He was one of the oldest members of St. John's Lodge No. 209a, having connected himself with that lodge on Nov. 25, 1856. He was a past master of that lodge, and also a Past Z. in St. John's Royal Arch Chapter, of this city. For a number of years he had been suffering from poor health which sometimes rendered it impossible for him to attend to his duties. He leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter.

God was merciful, but he had shown that his mercy must act only through a person's belief in Christ. "Plenty of time," said the Bishop, "is what has ruined many a soul; for a man, when he puts off his salvation from time to time, perhaps finds himself on a bed of anguish and pain. Then he discovers, when it is too late, that he has enough to attend to without thinking over spiritual things." In conclusion, he urged his hearers not to build on false hopes, but to build everything on Christ, for the way in which Christ delighted to be honored was by building on him as the only means of salvation.
