This was the significant concluding statement of a fighting address delivered by William G. Charlton, of Mapleton, candidate for the House of Commons, at the annual meeting of the East Elgin Reform Association here on Saturday afternoon.

The federal candidate, Mr. Charlton, was greeted by a stirring outburst of applause as he arose to speak, and he plunged into his address with a vigor and enthusiasm that augurs well for the success of the party when next the Government issues the call for an election.

A discussion of the high cost of living problem formed a salient part of Mr. Charlton's address. He intimated that this question would be one of the greatest with which the Government would have to deal this Debt Has Increased. "The Dominion debt has increased in leaps and bounds under the present Government. It increased ten millions during the month of January this year while the expenditure increased four millions. On the other hand, the revenue was decreased by two millions. Minister of Justice Arrives at Klev to Sift the Evidence-Relative of Beiless in Jail.

[Canadian Press.]

Kiev, Feb. 15.—The murder of the boy at Fastoff, which, it is alleged, was committed for ritualistic purposes, is assuming the dimensions of the Beiliss case. As in the earlier tragedy, stories of mysterious characters have been introduced, such as "a red-headed man" and "a lamplighter," both of which have disappeared. The Black Hundred and the Union of Russion people are shewing their old-time anti-semite activity.

The minister of justice, J. G. Chtchegievitoff, and other judicial officials have araived at Klev and are sifting the evidence. On their arrival they were acclaimed by deputations from the Union of Russian People and the Two-Headed Eagle organization. The leaders of the Black Hundred, after first asserting that the victim was a Christian, subsequently declared that he was a Jew and that he had been murdered by Jews in connection with the Beiliss case for the purpose of disproving the allegations that in the so-called ritual murders Christians were invariably selected.

A Relative of Beiliss.

They are also seeking to prove that Pashkoff, the Jewish tailor, who has been arrested on the charge of being impli-cated in the murder, is a relative of Beiliss.

Another indication that the present case is likely to be a repetition of the Beiliss case is found in the fact that the two opposing counsels in the Beiliss trial, the Black Hundred barrister, G. Zamislovsky, Black Hundred Palliss M. Zerundy and the defender of Beiliss, M. Zarundy, have arrived at Kiev. Newspaper correspondents are thronging to Fastoff. respondents are thronging to Faston.

Pashkoff is still in prison as is also a Russian peasant, Gontcharuk, who is said to have been seen with the boy on the day of the murder.

SIX MILLION OF WHITEFISH

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Feb. 15.-Six million whitefish fry are being cared for in the hatchery at Point Edward, waiting for suitable weather to be placed in Lake Huron to help replenish the stock of fish there. It is expected that they will be placed out early in April. The eggs were collected in Lake Ontario and brought to the Point Edward hatchery, where they are most successfully brought to a stage where the little fish can be placed in the lake.

"Of course she does," she exclaimed. "How ridiculous. She will love it, once the picture is under way. It is the beginof it that disturbs her. Isn't that always the way? "I am afraid you don't know women,"

The dusk of the night hid the look of The dusk of the night hid the look of relief that came into her eyes.

Hetty met them at the top of the steps. The electric porch lights had just been turned on by the butler. The girl stood in the path of the light. Both was never to forget the loveliness of her in that moment. He carried the image with him on the long walk home through the black night. (He declined Sara's offer to send him over in the car for the very reason that he wanted the half-hour of solitude in which to concentrate all the impressions she had made on his fancy.)

The three of them stood there for a few minutes, awaiting the butler's announce-ment. Sara's arm was about Hetty's shoulders. He was so taken up with the picture they presented that he scarcely heard their light chatter. They were types of loveliness so full of contrast that he marvelled at the power of Nature to create women in the same mould and yet to model so differently.

They were as near alike in height, figure and carriage as two women could be, and yet there was a subtle distinction that left him conscious of the fact that two vastly different strains of blood ran through their veins. Apart, he would not have perceived this marked difference that they marked the violet. in them. Hetty represented the violet, Sara the pansy. The distinction may be subtile. As they entered the vestibule, a servant came up with the word that Miss Castleton was wanted at the telephone, "long distance from New York."

distance from New York."

The girl stopped in her tracks. Booth looked at her in mild surprise, a condition which gave way to an instant later of perplexity. The look of annoyance in her eyes could not be disguised or mistaken.

"Ask him to call me up later, Watson,"

"This is the third time he has called, Miss Castleton," said the man. "You were dressing, if you please, ma'am, the first time—" "I will come." she interrupted sharply with a curious glance at Sara, who for some reason avoided meeting Booth's the meaning of that expressive look. He only knew that she was in the telephone coom for ten minutes or longer, and that all trace of emotion was gone from her face when she rejoined them with a brief apology for keeping them waiting.

He left at ten-thirty, saying good-night the steps with him.
"Don't you think her voice is lovely?" The walked home as if in a dream. The spell was on him.

Far in the night, he started up from the easy chair in which he had been smoking and dreaming and racking his brain by turns.

brain by turns.

"By Jove!" he exclaimed aloud. "I remember! I've got it! And to-morrow I'll prove it." I'll prove it."

Then he went to bed, with the storm from the sea pounding about the house, and slept serenely until Pat and Mary wondered whether he meant to get up at

"Pat," said he at breakfast, "I want you to go to the city this morning and fetch out all of the Studious you can fetch out all of the Studious you can find about the place. "There's a divil of a bunch of thim," said Pat ruefully. He was not to begin sketching the figure until the following day. After luncheon, however, he had an appointment to inspect Hetty's wardrobe, ostensibly for the purpose of picking out a gown for the picture. As a matter of fact, he had decided the point to his own satisfaction the night before. She should pose for him in the deathy white dress she for him in the dainty white dress she had worn on that occasion.

While they were going over the extensive assortment of gowns, with Sara as the judge from whom there seemed to be no appeal, he casually inquired if she had ever posed before.

Two ladies' minds were engaged in flinging the costly garments about as if they represented so much rubbish. The floor was littered with silks and satins and laces. He was accustomed to this muthless handling of exquisite fabrics for ly landing in a conglomerate heap on the question. She was holding up a beautiful point lace creation for his inspection, and there was a pleading smile on her lips. It must have been her favourite gown. The subtile. However, it was the estimate he formed in that moment of comparison.

The English girl's soft white gown was cut low in the neck, her shapely arms were bare. Sara's black covered her arms and shoulders, even to the slender throat. The hair of both was black and rich and alive with the gloss of health.

"Isn't there a distinction between posing for an artist, and sitting for one's por-trait?" she asked.

He was silent. The fact that he did not respond seemed to disturb her after a moment or two. She made the common mistake of pressing he question.
"Why do you ask?" was her inquiry.
When it was too late she wished she had not uttered the words. He had caught the somewhat anxious note in her voice. "We always ask that, I think," he said.

"It's a habit."
"Oh," she sa It's a habit."
"Oh," she said doubtfully.
"And by the way, you haven't answered."

She was busy with the gown for a time. At last she looked him full in the face.
"That's true," she agreed; "I haven't answered, have I? No, Mr. Booth, I've never posed for a portrait. It is a new experience for me. You will have to contend with a great deal of stupidity on my part. But I shall try to be plastic."
He uttered a polite protest and pursued

[By Staff Reporter.] Aylmer, Feb. 14 .- That the temperance people of East Elgin do not relish the idea of having an ex-hotelman as license inspector for the riding was evidenced at the annual meeting of the East Elgin Reform Association here on Saturday afternoon, when the first steps toward an investigation of this man's appoint-ment were taken. The following resolu-

Earlier Pruning and Spraying Needed to Produce More First Grade Apples.

The annual meeting of Middlesex County Fruit Growers' Association was held in the office of the Department of Agriculture on Saturday afternoon and representatives were present from the seven local associations. All but Ilderton were organized during the past year. The reports showed that all have been a big help to the apple growers.

The president, Mr. J. G. Lethbridge, of Alliance, occupied the chair and He uttered a polite protest, and pursued the question no farther. Her answer had been so palpably evasive that it struck had been read and aproved, called on reports from the different associations. Wardville association sold grades No. 1 and 2 for $2.90 per barrel, which was the best sale made as very few apples graded No. 1 in the past year. The cost of barrels, picking, packing, shipping, etc., ran from 75 cenas to 90 cents per barrel. Where the apples were good and the trees not too large the work could be done quicker than where the trees were large.

Kincardine, Feb. 14.-An adjourned case, which has created a great deal of interest here, was settled yesterday by Judge Klein at the quarterly session held here. The case was that of Dr. Gunn vs.

Wm. Pollock, a farmer, living a mile out of town, and arose out of a charge that Mr. Pollock thought uncalled for. It seems that Dr. Gunn had been performing an operation at Kincar-dine Hospital, and Dr. Fergusson, who was attending Mrs. Pollock, a patient in the same hospital, asked Dr. Gunn if he would like to see his patient, and Dr. Fergusson took him in to his patient's room.

Dr. Fergusson, having his auto asked Dr. Gunn if he would like to take a drive out with him to see Mr. Pollock, who was also under his care. This Dr. Gunn consented to. Later Dr. Gunn sent his account to

Mr. Pollock, who refused to pay it, with the result that Fr. Gunn sued. The only plea of Dr. Gunn was that he considered he had been asked officially, Dr. Fergusson swearing otherwise.

The case was decided in favor of defendant. BURNS AGENCY IN CANADA

THE NEED OF FRIENDS.

THE man who had achieved greatness was alone in his home city. He had friends of a sort, but his family was out of town, his house was deserted, and the club was the only refuge that offered. For more than a dozen years he had been a public man giving blows and taking them. neeting success and failure, gaining power and giving his life. Council had been in his yearly cycle. No ooks, no home, no chums and no relaxations intruded into his stern slavery-no chats. The rays of the spotlight that followed him everywhere had withered his personal relation. Those early companionable traits had been dried up in the constant glare. When the hunt was on, he was happy in a sense. His mind was away from the companionship and sympathy that his or any nature craved, but the quiet hours were weary. He could always find men to talk shop and fawn upon him; the newspapers and their envoys were his daily companions, but where was one he cared for, one pal, one chum, one lunatic, "but what did they do for whom he would not regard as a seeker | plays?" of favor?

Then the telephone rang and he took it up. There was one friend; he wanted the great man to come and dine with him. And an hour later like two boys they chatted of old times and gossiped over the accumulation of personal matters that had been lost to the famous one. That ne could find one real old friend was greater than all his power, he after-

A GERMAN EXPERIMENT.

7 ITH the generous policy of the Ford Manufacturing Company in Detroit may be compared the system of the famous Zeiss Optical Works at Jena, Germany. Ernst Abbe, left the sole proprietor by the death of Karl Zeiss about 25 years ago, determined on a social experiment. He and his family were agreed in a preference for a simple life, and giving up his personal ownership, he founded a corporation to be called "The Karl Zeiss Institution," and endowed it with half a million dollars. He became himself one day he would have been considered the regulations like any employee.

Not highly paid the managers are nevertheless not easily coaxed away from this institution. As for the workers, they get all sorts of benefits, maternity payments to wives, annuities for widows, home-building loans, reduction of hours to balance monotony of work, and even fixity of situation. The power of arbitrary dismissal is surrendered. The Abbe scheme has been running successfully now for 22 years, and today is more

One reason, says an esteemed con emporary, why Sir Wilfrid Laurier might properly be appointed high commissioner to England is that he vould make a good one. CIVIC ABATTOIRS.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.] Ottawa is to have a civic abattoir, or central slaughter house, where all animals intended for food in the city can be inspected at the time of killing, the only time, it is said, when inspection really offers any guarantee of safety. In many cases, the citizen points out, disease exists in animals unsuspected by their owners, and grave danger exists in this regard. That touches the heart of the matter. Disease may exist unknown to the man who owns the animal, and after the animal has been killed and dressed it may be very difficult to detect the disease. The only time to inspect for disease is at the time of killing when the vital organs are all available for inspection

A CORN CURE.

Dear Miss Grey: In your column a few days ago I noticed someone inquired if citric acid would cure corns. Salicylic acid (5 cents worth) mixed into hor's lard mixing in pienty of it on. Salicylic acid (5 cents worth) mixed into hog's lard, mixing in plenty of acid. Pare the corn as much as possible without making it bleed and apply mixture at bedtime. Repeat, without, any more paring, until the corn drops out. A few applications will give relief, and if it is a deep corn it may be a week in coming out, but surely will if you persevere. Keep the mixture in an alrtight tin or glass.

The Lyons Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. N. Cline Lyons on Wednesday afternoon. In spite of the zero weather a large number of ladies were in attendance and the meeting was very interesting and enthusiastic.

Many items of business were dealt with, after which Mrs. Adams, of Aylmer, gave a splendid paper on "Friendship," which showed much thought and research. A reading by Mrs. Boyce, Lyons, on Canadian heroines, the heroine depicted being Abigail Decker, was delightfully and graphically rendered and much appreciated. Both ladies won the hearty thanks of all present.

LEAGUE STANDING.

London fans have seen nothing in the London fans have seen nothing in the O. H. A. this season that for speed and aggressiveness could compare with the City-Northern league game at the Simple Street Pink Saturday night, when the A. M. It was one of the best games of hockey played and the large crowd that witnessed it went home with the impression that London has some real hockey talent still

Neither of these players was any better than the other men'on the team; in fact, Al Moore had Edwards played to a standstill in the first-half, and Barney Clarke put it all over Walden like a tent in the last

The game was fast from the drop of the puck to the final gong. Both teams were out to qualify for the Northern League first round, and the players gave the best that was in them. Walden ran in a third just before half-time, but it was not allowed, as the referee claimed he had rung his bell before the shot, on account of kicking the puck. In the last-half, however, the A. M. C. team rained in shot after shot on Wright, whose playing was the feature of the contest, but were only able to notch two goals, enough to give them the decision.

Al. Moore's Shot Counted. Al Moore, who played a great game on left wing, scored both Holeproof goals in the first-half, while Clarke beat Wright for the only A. M. C. tally in that period. In the second-half, Andrews and Wright notched the tieing and winning counters.
The contest was rough at times, both teams bodychecking to the limit. Howteams bodychecking to the limit. However, no real "dirty" stuff was handed out, so the penalties were not as numerous as at some previous city league games. Both goalkeepers had a busy night, but Wright showed up better than Watts, although the latter was suffering from a severe cold, and had to practically get off a sick bed to play. A HOCKEY FAN'S VIEWS

If you will allow me a small space in our valuable paper I wish to say a little in regard to hockey.

I see by your paper that there is being arranged by the management of our local hockey team a series between Pres-ton and London for next week. Now, after the raw deal that was handed the

after the raw deal that was handed the fans, namely the Sarnia-London series, it is to be hoped that the arrangement will be a little better when the Preston series is pulled off. But likely our boys will go up there and be beaten 7 to 0, and when they come down here we will manage to tie the round up and necessitate a play-off to break the tie and put a little more money in the pockets of the London management. (Oh, no.) We have been stung once and that is enough. After winning ten straight games we go up to Sarnia and are shut out to the tune of 7 to 0 by a team that were pulled together by he manthat were pulled together by he man-agement of that team in the last mo-ment at the first of the season when their regular team was thrown out by the O. H. A. Goodness, gracious, what would the score have been if it was their big seven, that Sarnia heralds their other team as. Now, our management has the nerve to arrange a series with a team that stacks up against Berlin and played till the early hours of the morning to Now, Mr. Editor, I will say this much, that we have a team that no team. I that we have a team that no team, can safely say, could beat them by such score as 7 to 0, on our ice or any other ice, if things were conducted on the square, but after that Sarnia-London series it is hard telling what might be done in order to enrich the coffers of the London management, who no doubt see their mistake and wish to pull of some other deal whereby they could clean up a little loose change. That is, if the fans were foolish enough to pay their good elegant money to see such.

Now, it is time something was done in regard to good, clean sport in this town. Would it not have been better to clean up in Sarnia, which would have been an easy matter if the boys had been let do so, and then, if there was any protest, which I hear there would have been if London won, and we were thrown out, we would take our medicine like a man and say the best team won, which we cannot say about the Sarnia-London games. But to have things done as they were was crude, in other words, rotten, and a raw deal to the fans who have journeyed all over on specials and also packed our local rink to support and boost our team on to victory. Now, it is to be hoped before another year rolls around we will see our team in the hands of some one or two, or more required, who will give us our valuable space, I remain, already under way. Necessarily, at this early stage of the game, plans are still in the "doping out" stage. Rumor has it, however, that there are great things in store for the peaceful river that wends its way through this fair burg. They include the formation of a canoe club, with the addition of several high-power launches, to the river's present flotilla.

Canoes Better Suited to Thames.

Undoubtedly the Thames is a river "built" for canoes, and several of London's citizens, realizing this fact, are taking steps to utilize the river for this purpose. The fact that there are many shallows where a launch will rub bottom is of little consequence to canoelsts. An ardent advocate of the sport told The Advertiser last night that having tired of walting for the dredging of the river, it was the intention of several men of his acquaintance to form a canoe club. He asserted that already more than a dozen have alleged the taken willing.

So Says Johnson of Murphy and American League Head Would Have Him Removed.

Chicago, Feb. 14. — "The American League has declared war," said Ban Johnson today. The American League, he intimated, was prepared to go the length of changing the National agreement or of favoring the formation of another major league.

"The heads of the National League should bave the same power. At my meeting in New York with Messrs. Tener, Herrmann, Baker, Dreyfuss and three or four others, I told them that if the National League could not control this discordant element here in Chicago, the American League would not longer be able to dovetail with their organization. I told them that Tener and Herrmann should have the power that I have—to remove any club owner who was a meneace to the game. There will be no backward step on the part of the American League. We are prepared to go to any length to get rid of this influence in Chicago."

Indignant Over Evers' Releasee. Johnson said the entire baseball world was indignant that Evers should be dropped a few days before the team started on its training trip.
"Nothing could be more harmful to baseball," he declared. "Evers had just baseball," he declared. "Evers had just been sent south to look over training quarters, and had been commissioned to sign a number of players, men whose signatures I doubt Murphy could have obtained without the help of Evers.

Second Baseman With Frank Baker's Specialty Is Added to St. Thomas Club.

Special to The Advertiser.] St. Thomas. Feb. 15.—C. O. Stanley, president of the St. Thomas Ball Club, is a receipt of a letter from Manager Craven, stating that he was about ready to close with a second baseman named Hadley, who lives in Rochester, Mich. This player is an infielder of more than ordinary ability and is said to be a fairly good sticker One season in the Central League he pounded out no less than 30 home runs and batted for a percentage of 290. "Midge" leaves Rochester for Fort Wayne Monday and from there will push on to Chicago, where he expects to meet, by appointment, a catcher who played last season in the Federal League. He will return to St. Thomas via Toledo, Ohio, where he will meet Marlin Kopp and make an effort to get him to sign his contract. Kopp was the real burglar of the Cana-dian League last season, pilfering nearly twice as many sacks as any other player. He also led the circuit in runs scored and in getting to first base. Marlin believes he is entitled to a big increase in his monthly stipend and has written to that effect. It is thought, however, amicable terms will be reached and that Manager Craven will return to the Railway City

The Changing Age

Girls and boys from 14 to 19 years of age undergo physical changes which tax their strength to the utmost and the strain is always apparent from pale cheeks, colorless lips, and tired bodies—sometimes eruptions of the skin and the utter lack of the ambition and animation with which their younger years were filled.

Budding into womanhood and man-hood, with the duties of school or business, demands concentrated nourishment which is readily convertible into red blood corpuscles, energy and strength, and the very best thing for this changing age is the medical nutriment in Scott's Emulsion—it possesses the rare blood-making sion—it possesses the rare blood-making properties of cod liver oil in a predigested form; hypophosphites for the nervous system, with the healing, soothing qualities of pure glycerine.

Its nourishing force promotes assimilation, yields direct returns in abundant, red blood, fills hollow cheeks, tones the nerves, makes all good food do good, and does it in a natural easy manner.

The sustaining nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is so helpful to this changing age that it should never be neglected—every druggist has it.

-FACT HUNGER

As children, our first demand is for nourishment; our second for facts.

All through life we go about searching for information.

We make a new acquaintance; but before we will accept him as a friend or invite him to our home we ask for facts about him.

We visit a foreign land; and from the moment we step across its border we are asking questionssearching for facts.

We are asked to try a new food product; isn't it instinctive with us to ask at once:

"Who makes this new article?"

"How is it made? what goes into it?"

"Is it worth the price charged for it?"

Facts—we are simply hungry for them. Strange, isn't it, that we should so often have to search for them? Odd, that some manufacturers still withhold the facts about their product. Not always because they are facts to be ashamed of—for there are many worthy articles yet unadvertised.

But it will not be so much longer. The fact-hunger of the human race is becoming keener and keener. The more facts we get, the keener our relish for more of them.

Soon it will be impossible to sell a man or a woman anything until everything has been told about the goods that can be told through Advertising.

The public has discovered that Advertising tells much-needed factsthat, in fact, Advertising satisfies fact-hunger.

Outside business slackened, and pro Outside business slackened, and professionals realized to meet calls for payments on recent new issues. The Continent and New York joined in the selling in the afternoon, and the market-closed heavy and generally lower. Consols declined three-eighths. Russian mines were steady exceptions. American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. Later the list declined under the lead of Canadian Pacific, which was sold by Wall Street and the Continent. The closing was weak. Money and discount rates were dearer.

New York, Feb. 16—Wall Street, noon.

The severest setback which the market has experienced this year came today. Prices at last broke away from the approximate level which had been maintained for weeks. Further suspension of the new freight rate schedule by the Interstate Commerce Commission ended all hopes of a speedy advance, and railroad shares bought in anticipation of a rise when the increase was granted were unloaded. Industrials were depressed by reports of reductions in wages of steel mill workers. Steel, which has been conspicuously firm recently was sold freely, and weakness of this issue permeated the whole list. Liquidation of minor shares had an unsettled effect. The break failed to attract outside buying, and the market made no recovery during the morning.

TRED OLD CANNON TO WAKE UP BLACKBURN

Militants Frightened Citizens by Exploding Heavy Charge in Crimean Gun.

[Canadian Press.]

Blackburn, Eng., Feb. 16. - Militant suffragettes fired a huge cannon, captured from the Russians in one of the battles of the Crimean War, and which for 60 years had stood as an ornament in the city park.

The whole city was shaken, the population alarmed by the terrific explosion, and people flocked into the streets in the darkness, fearing that a mine disaster had occurred in the neighborhood. It was not until a late hour today that the cause of the explosion was discovered. Then it was found that the suffragettes had carefully cleaned from the bore of the gun over half a century's accumulation of gravel and stones before ramming home a heavy charge of gunpowder.

In the vicinity attached to a tre floated a long strip of calico inscribed: "Wake up, Blackburn! The labor party which claims to stand for justice and freedom supports a government that tortures women under the infamou cat and mouse' act!"

We have to do it in Vermont and through and Maine, which we pass through and which have the bi-monthly payments, and I can tell you it is work. In several of the states it is the same; but wherever it is found it is because state legislators pander to the so-called labor vote. Our people have not sought for short-term payments; and in fact, seeing that they know for a certainty that on a certain date, without fail, they will get their money, they are perfectly satisfied to have it once a month. Think of a job of sending out twice a month 120,000 checks. There was some talk at Ottawa some years ago of initiating bi-monthly payments: but the matter was not

Point Considered a Strong Argument for Physician in His Appeal.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ubly, Mich., Feb. 14.-An illness mysterious and defying every diagnosis of Michigan doctors, may mean the liberation of Dr. Robert Mac-Gregor, the London, Ont., physician serving a life sentence for the alleged murder of Scyril Spariing.

Ray Sparling, brother of the young man, for whose death Dr. MacGregor was sentenced, is slowly wasting away. His mother, who was charged with being implicated in Scryil's death and who only recently made the dramhousehold as to the fallen woman of the atic plea to be allowed to be tried again in order that Dr. MacGregor's chances for a new trial, denied by the Michigan courts, might be enhanced, has tried several times to take her only remaining child to Port Huron for treatment. Each time she has been forced to give up the trip because of his weakened condition

Too III to Move. It is believed that even the short rolley ride to the Port would be sufficient to cause Ray's death. Constant care is necessary to prevent the young man from collapsing and passing away as did his father and brothers, one of whom died in St Joseph's Hospital, London.

The father and brothers died after a long illness-slowly fading away. Their deaths were a mystery thumb district for many months. Finally Dr. MacGregor was arrested, charged with poisoning the three.

Mrs. Sparling, wife and mother, and Paul Woodworth, attorney, were arrested charged with being implicated in the triple death with Dr. MacGregor. Mrs. Sparling and Attorney Woodworth were released recently by Judge

Dr. MacGregor's first trial was one that attracted state-wide attention It lasted several weeks and the jury's finding of "guilty" was one that oc-casioned the greatest surprise. The recent attempt of his attorneys secure a new trial from the Michigan supreme courts brought the case once more in the limelight and the refusal of the courts to grant the request, collowed as it was by the plea of Mrs. Sparling to be placed on trial in order that justice might be accorded the convicted physician, has again attracted universal attention. opments in the Mac-

Trump Card for Accused.

The fact that the young man is apparently suffering from the same malady that was responsible for the death of his father and brothers and which the state declared to have been brought about by the administration of poison, is regarded as a trump card for the defence of the accused doctor. It is believed that the evidence of the illness of the third boy, which has come to light since the physician has been behind the bars, will be sufficient to at least secure a new trial if not acquittal.

JUDGE REFUSES TO REMOVE "LISTER'S" NAME

Declares It Is Impossible to Do So When Family Has Placed It on List.

Judge Talbot Macbeth was called upon to settle a nice point of law this morning when a local man made application before him to have his name removed from the prohibitory list. The application was refused on the ground that as the name was placed on the list on complaint of the man's son, the judge could not remove it. In cases where a name has been placed upon the prohibitory list by a magistrate, an application may be made to a county judge to have the name removed, if sufficient reason can be shown for doing so. But where the name has been appended to the list by a relative of the person thus honored, it cannot be removed until the expiration of the full term of one year, according to Judge Macbeth's ruling this morning.

Bankers believe that the ex-change rates will increase still further. Certain diplomats have been unofficially advised that the government is planning to issue flat fractional currency and also impose a special tax on all investments on the federal district.

HAD INDIGESTION Almost Despaired of Ever Getting Well.

When your food has not been properly digested, your body has not received the benefit it should. The exertions of the gastric juice have been confined entirely to removing the unmasticated, undigested portions of food, which they cannot properly digest as speedily as possible from the body, therefore only giving the blood a small percentage of nourishment with which to feed the tissues. No wonder then that Indigestion and Dyspepsia attack the stomach. No medicine can surpass Burdock Blood Bitters as a cure for this particular disease. It regulates the bowels, promotes perfect digestion, makes pure blood, tones the stomach, and thus restores perfect health to the debilitated system.

Mrs. Mary MacKay, Hunter's Mountain, N.S., writes:—"I was troubled with Indigestion for more than ten years. I tried several Doctor's medicines claiming the power to cure, but all without success. Having heard of the many cures effected by Burdock Blood Bitters, I decided to give it a trial, After taking two bottles I was completely cured. My appetite which was very poor, is now good, and I can eat most everything without any disagreeable feelings. I can strongly recommend B.B.B. to any-one suffering from Indigestion."

Maintain Health.

Dr. H. W. Hill, of the Institute of Public Health, speaking on "Health Conditions," held that the chief duty of the board of health should be to maintain the health of the citizens. Although required by law to concern themselves largely with the prevention of nuisances, boards of health in doing that were really spending their time on what was, propspending their time on what was, properly speaking, police duty. It had never been proved that objectionable smells caused diseases. Wider activities looking to the health of the city should be undertaken by the board of health.
