

AUSTRALIA'S HOME FLEET IS RENDERING GREAT SERVICE

FARMERS TAKE POSSESSION OF FAIR GROUNDS

Agriculturists From All Over Western Ontario Are "It" at the Western.
ATTENDANCE IS JUMPING IN STORM OF BULLETS
Figures for Today in Advance of Any Previous Records.
GREAT HORSE SHOWING
Judges Express Admiration of Classes Shown This Year.

Farmers' Day, at the Western Fair, is one of the biggest features of the week, and today was no exception to that rule. In one respect, however, this differed from Farmers' Day of the past, and the difference was one which elicits cause for gratification. The attendance of farmers and their wives, sons and daughters was the greatest on record.

From every part of Western Ontario, and even from eastern points, they came in thousands. Practically every train arriving in the city from north, south, east and west brought its quota, and the street car service, even with many extra cars on, was taxed to carry the crowds out to the grounds.

Parade of Prize Stock.
All live stock judging was concluded this morning, and at one o'clock a very large crowd witnessed the first parade of the prize animals, with their cards displayed, in front of the grand stand. This feature will be repeated at the same hour tomorrow and on Friday.

The Guelph Musical Society Band arrived at 11:15 at the Grand Trunk station and, after lunching, proceeded to the grounds, where they proved a popular attraction.
One of the most interesting features of the morning was the judging of the roadsters. A remarkably fine lot of animals was exhibited and Miss Wilkes, of Guelph, the judge declared that, although he had acted in a similar capacity at exhibitions all over America, he had never seen a finer aggregation.

Judges' Unanimous Praise.
"They were magnificent," he said, and added: "The poorest horse shown would have taken a first prize at any one of a great many fairs I have visited."

In the single roadster, 15.2 hands and under, class, Crossen, of Colberg, was given the first prize; Irie Maby the second, Chasen third and Miss Wilkes, of Guelph, fourth. In the doubles these exhibitors again carried off the laurels, the first prize going to Crossen, second to Maby and third to Miss Wilkes.

Exhibitor.
The first unpleasant incident of the fair was called to the attention of the directors at their meeting at noon. An exhibitor who, because of some fancied injustice, had used abusive language to a judge, was debarred from future participation by a vote of the directors.

Some of those at the meeting thought that this was rather harsh treatment, but the prevailing opinion was that an example must be made in order to protect the judges. The offender, also, it was pointed out, had been in trouble before, and had been convicted last year of making a false declaration of ownership in one of the competitions.

Generally, the exhibition up to the present has been particularly free from unpleasantness of any kind. The police have had little to do, and accidents have been rare, although the nurses of the Red Cross Society stationed on the ground have taken care of a number of minor cases. In spare time they busy themselves making woollen wristlets and other comforts for the front.
This morning they had in a man who a week ago had been bitten rather badly by a hog and had not taken proper care of the wound. This was washed and dressed and the man expressed keen appreciation of the kindness shown him. Another patient was the victim of a free-for-all fight in a tent of Mexicans. He had a slight wound in one hand which may have been the result of a knife thrust, but which he was inclined to think he had received by striking the teeth of an assailant.

Butter Makers Popular.
The butter making competitions each morning and afternoon attract large numbers of spectators, and today the building was packed with men and women who showed the utmost interest in the work of the white-clad butter-makers.

ROUMANIANS TRY TO AROUSE ITALY
[Canadian Press.]
Paris, Sept. 16.—A Rome dispatch to the Havas Agency says that information has reached the Giornale d'Italia from Bucharest that several Roumanian deputies have left for Rome in order to inform the public on the state of mind of Roumanian subjects regarding the European war.

According to the newspaper Adevărul, published in Bucharest, Austrians from Transylvania have arrived at Sibiu, charged with a mission to develop opinion favorable to Austria. Roumanian politicians have, however, begged them not to insist.

HOW AVIATOR WAS WINGED BY INFANTRY

Pilot Killed and Companion Taken Prisoner by French.
Aeroplane High in Air and Easy Mark for Riflemen.
HIS LIFE IS SPARED
In Letter to Father Observer Describes Fate of German Air Scouts.

[Special Cable to London Advertiser and Toronto Star.]
Berlin, Germany, Sept. 16.—By Courier via Rotterdam to New York.—How a German aviator secured control of a falling aeroplane after his companion had been killed, is described in a thrilling letter received by his father here today. It reads:

"Dear Father—I am lying here in a beautiful Belgian castle slowly recovering from wounds which I thought would kill me. On August 21 I made a flight with Lieutenant J. D., a splendid aviator, and established the fact that the enemy was advancing toward us. In the region of Bertrix we came into heavy rain clouds and had to descend to 3,000 feet. As we came through the clouds, we were seen, and an entire French division began shooting at us. Lieutenant J. was hit in the abdomen.

Pilot Is Killed.
"Our motor was put out of commission. We were trying to vol-plane across a forest in the distance when, suddenly, I felt the machine give a jump. I turned around, as I was sitting in front, and found that a second bullet had hit Lieutenant J. in the head and killed him. I leaned over back of my seat and managed to reach the steering apparatus and headed toward a hall of shots whistled about me.

Brought Down By Enemy.
"I felt something hit me in the forehead. Blood ran into my eyes. I was faint, but my will prevailed, and I retained consciousness. Just as we were near the ground a gust of wind hit the plane and turned it over. I fell in the midst of the enemy with my dead companion. The red trousers were coming from all directions and I drew my pistol and shot three of them. I felt the bayonet at my breast and gave myself up for dead when an officer shouted: 'Let him live, he is a brave soldier.'

Made His Escape.
"I was taken to the commanding general of the Seventeenth French Army Corps who questioned me, but of course got no information. He said I would later be sent to Paris but as I was weak from loss of blood and seriously wounded, I was taken into their field hospital and cared for. The officers were very nice to me and when French fell back I took advantage of the confusion to crawl under bush where I remained until our troops came."

AUSTRIA CLAIMS SERBIAN REPULSE

General Hofer Announces That Invading Army Has Been Driven Back.
[Canadian Press.]
Vienna, Sept. 16, via London, 12:44 p.m.—Gen. Hofer, deputy chief of the Austrian general staff, announced today that the Serbian army which crossed the River Save into Hungary had been driven back along its entire length, and that Szegren, in Slavonia, and Banat were now clear of the enemy.

Butzer Makers Popular.
Serem is the easternmost county of Slavonia, between the Drave and the Drave, and Banat is a region of Slavonia. Both sections are north of the River Save, and would be the scene of a Serbian advance into Hungary.

GOVERNMENT NOT IN WANT OF CLERKS
Therefore No Second Division Examinations Are To Be Held.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Government jobs are scarce, and as a consequence there will be no examination held this year for second division clerks. This is the first time the examination has ever been missed. Since Confederation candidates have been annually examined at all leading Canadian centres, no matter what civil service act was in force. Some of the Government departments are hard pressed to find anything to do.

Will Tell Wilson of German Atrocities

These distinguished Belgians comprise the commission sent by King Albert of Belgium to tell President Wilson of atrocities it is charged the German soldiers committed in Belgium, mostly under orders of officers. Left to right: Count Licherode, M. de Sadelet, M. Carton de Wiart and M. Hyman.

AUSTRALIAN FLEET GOT BUSY EARLY

Has Acted As Convoy to the Expeditionary Forces, and Done Some Notable Service.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Sept. 16.—A Sydney dispatch to the Times dated Tuesday says Rear-Admiral Sir George Patey, commander of the Australian fleet, reports that the German losses at Herberstshohe, in the Bismarck Archipelago were 20 to 30 killed and 17 German officers and non-commissioned officers made prisoners.

Considering the dense bush, the trenches and the marked range set, says the report, "our casualties were slight." The Australian fleet left Sydney immediately following the outbreak of the war, according to the dispatch, co-operated with the Chinese squadron. It put out of action the enemy's wireless stations in the Pacific, covered the New Zealand expeditionary force to Samoa and the Australian expedition to Herberstshohe and patrolled the trade route. The cruiser Melbourne, it is stated, covered over 11,000 miles, mostly in the tropics.

BIG OPPORTUNITY IN RUSSIAN TRADE

Foreign Minister Says Experts Should Go There Now to Study.

TAKE GERMAN BUSINESS

Czar's Land Soon To Be Most Desirable and Valuable Market.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Sept. 16.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Times telegraphs that he is authorized by Sergius, onoff, the Russian foreign minister, to make the following statement in his behalf: "It is quite realize that accounts of victories, acts of heroism and magnificent assaults may sell newspapers, but above and beyond all this there now exists a situation and an opportunity in trade and commerce with Russia which will mean more to America than it is easy to realize."

Benefits to Come.
"It is the country which foresees the situation commercially in Russia that will reap enormous benefits that the Russian markets now offer. It is not enough that merchants and manufacturers should offer their goods here, now even while the war is still in progress, to study and examine the wants of our country. Our duties, our present and future business and our growing demands should be studied scientifically, so that when peace comes, the goods, which have for decades flowed deeply with German products, may continue to flow with products from England and America."

Wonderful Opportunity.
"Russia opens opportunities for an industrial outlet such as can hardly be over-estimated. We have an empire of 170,000,000 souls and the $200,000,000 we have been paying Germany yearly is but the beginning of a demand that will soon make Russia among the most desirable and valuable markets in the world."

TO HELP DESTITUTE.
Bordeaux, Sept. 16.—President Poincare has signed a decree authorizing Alexandre Ribot, the minister of finance, to advance $600,000 to the inhabitants of the department of Marne, rendered homeless and destitute by the German invasion.

Territorials Ready To Prove Efficiency

Military Expert Says They Should Be Counted Before New Regulars and Sent To Strengthen French's Force In Field.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Sept. 16.—A London cable says: "Spencer Wilkinson, noted military expert and historian, discussing the outlook, writes in the Morning Post as follows: 'The British Government must not for a moment suspend its efforts to strengthen and reinforce Sir John French's army. There are enough regulars and special reserves at home to keep the expeditionary forces at full strength till Christmas. The Indian troops must shortly be expected. Then there is the territorial force, which, if it has been practicing with bullets and in target, individually and in field firing stunts, it was mobilized, ought to shoot better than the German troops. A large part of it has volunteered for service abroad.'

GERMAN LEFT WING HAS NOW ONLY ONE LINE OF RETREAT

If Allies Can Keep Crown Prince From Using Metz, His Army Will Be In Serious Situation Since Troyon Relief.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Sept. 16.—10:20 a.m.—The centre of interest in the western theatre of the war has shifted from the right wing of the German army, under Gen. Von Kluck, to the left wing, where the relief of Troyon by the French is regarded in London as leaving the army of German Crown Prince Frederick William in what would appear to be a dangerous situation.

As had been predicted in England, the French have retaken Rheims, but this step is of greater moral than strategical value, for the line to the northeast of the town provides a better defensive position for the German forces than does the front marked by Rheims itself.

According to advices received here from Berlin, the demand for news in Germany, where the people would appear to be growing impatient, has been settled to a certain extent by the reassuring statement from the general staff that the German line is holding out successfully against the offensive movements of the allies. So far as the line is authorized by Sergius, it agrees with news received in London with the exception, however, of the German left wing.

ELIMINATE KAISER BEFORE PEACE, SAY RUSSIANS

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Sept. 16.—The Tribune publishes the following cable from Petrograd: "The Bourgeois Gazette says: 'In this conflict of nations is plainly seen the hand of an historical Nemesis. That awful hand has not yet accomplished the work begun, not by us, but by the blind ambitions of the Hohenzollerns. Until this work has been done, the restoration of peace is impossible.'"

A Moscow newspaper, the organ of the moderate Octoberists party, says: "The speak of peace is very partial. The present Government of Germany with William II. at its head, captivated by the idea of military pan-Germanism, offers but little for a lasting peace on any terms. We do not expect to find any guarantee for an enduring peace in Germany until the nation has marked out a line of separation between itself and those who violated the tranquility of the world."

These press utterances are mild reproaches of what the public expresses in the news of Germany seeking by roundabout means to start suggestions of peace floating in the air. Russia, at least, has entered on this war as the ancient Romans entered upon their long strife with Cathage-Deledda Est.

HAS ENEMY BEEN ORDERED TO RETURN ACROSS RHINE?
[Canadian Press.]
London, Sept. 16.—9:12 a.m.—A Central News dispatch from Rome quotes a telegram from Basel, Switzerland, stating that the Germans are reported to have received orders to retire as far as the right bank of the Rhine, completing evacuating France, Belgium and Luxembourg.

SECOND GREAT BATTLE NOW IN PROGRESS

German Commanders Showing Wonderful Skill in Their Retreat.
NEXT MOVE IS ENEMY'S
Austrian Defeats Force Her to Rely More and More on Self.
DIVERSITY OF STORIES
Austrians Claim to Have Driven the Serbs Out of Banata.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Sept. 16.—1:55 p.m.—The second great battle in Northern France since the southward sweep of the German invaders met its check is now apparently in progress to the northward of the River Aisne. The opposing lines are arrayed from the Argonne hills through Reims to Chateau-Porten and near the practice camp of Sissonne, where the program of the French summer manoeuvres contemplated cavalry training on a large scale for this very date.

A Skillful Retreat.
Whether the Germans propose a fight to a finish at this point or plan merely to cover their retreat to the River Meuse is not yet clear, but the German commanders are showing the same skill in retreat and the same skill in keeping their forces intact, as the allies showed a fortnight ago.

The Germans rush into and out of France thus far have brought no decisive result, and until a pitched battle on a huge scale is fought and won neither side is in a position to claim that it has secured more than the opening move in the war game.

Tables Are Turned.
The allies for the moment have retrieved their previous position and have turned the tables on the invaders, but the next move is with the Germans, whose armies are still in Belgium, and whose forces are ground more or less selected by themselves.

The Kaiser's Move.
What new forces Germany can put into the campaign in the western arena must depend upon how far she can measure upon how far she can measure the Russian movement on Breslau, the capital of the Prussian province of Silesia, 150 miles from Berlin.

According to reports today, Emperor William himself has gone to East Prussia to take chief command of the German armies opposing the Russian invaders. He may have some other little ceremony is attached to the assertion that he proposes to take the active command out of the hands of a fighting general of the calibre of Von Hindenburg.

Different Stories.
There is the usual diversity of stories today regarding the Austro-Serbian operations. The Austrian general staff claims to have driven the Serbs out of the Province of Banata and from the eastern district of Slavonia. Emperor William himself has gone to East Prussia to take chief command of the German armies opposing the Russian invaders.

The Serbians have, however, heretofore, shown marked capacity for reappearing in the same or better positions after these defeats. They now claim they are bombarding the Hungarian town of Orsova.

The war indemnities claimed by the Germans in towns traversed in Belgium and France reached today of $14,500,000. Only a very small percentage of this, however, has been paid.

Tuckerton, N. J., Sept. 16.—The big wireless station here, one of the two plants in the United States in direct touch with Germany, was closed today. It was said that the generator had broken down.

ENEMY ON THE DEFENSIVE NOYON TO BEYOND VERDUN

French Chase Germans, Who Abandoned Soissons Across River Aisne, and Follow Up With Artillery, Placed Scarcely 300 Yards From Soissons.

(Canadian Press.)
Paris, Sept. 16.—3:30 p.m.—The following official communication was made here today: "During the days of the 14th and 15th of September, the rear guards of the enemy, with which our pursuing forces were in contact, were reinforced from the main body of the German army."
"The enemy is engaging in a defensive battle along its entire front, on which certain of its positions show strong organization. This front is bounded by the region of Noyon, the plains to the north of Vic-sur-Aisne and Soissons, Laon, the heights to the north and to the west of Rheims, and a line which runs thence to the north of Ville-sur-Tourbe, to the west of the Argonne region, and which was continued thence beyond the Argonne by another line, which passes north of Varennes, a point that has been evacuated by the enemy, and reaches the River Meuse in the neighborhood of the forest of Forges, which is north of Verdun."

Abandoned Prisoners.
"During the pursuit of the enemy executed by our troops after the battle of the Marne, the Germans abandoned numerous prisoners to our hands. To these prisoners there has been added a large number of stragglers, who were hidden in the forests."
"No exact accounting of these prisoners or of the war material captured by us so far has been possible. It is for this reason that the Minister of War, who does not want to give out figures which might be considered fantastic, refrains from announcing the details of these captures."

FRENCH CROSS AISNE.
Soissons, France, Tuesday, Sept. 15, by way of Paris, Sept. 16.—1:15 p.m.—The German right wing in its retreat, abandoned Soissons yesterday (Monday) at the same time, leaving also the southern bank of the River Aisne. The German retreat northward continued during Monday night. The French in their pursuit crossed the river.

Artillery Crashing.
The French artillery is today heavily in action on the other bank of the Aisne. The only interruption of the almost Sabbath-like stillness of Soissons today is the crash of French artillery, concealed at a point scarcely 300 yards from Soissons, mingled with the lessened roar of other guns further distant.

Col. Hughes Again Changes His Mind

Now Decides To Send 40,000 Canadian Troops During the Next Four Months—Reserve Force To Be Organized.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Sept. 16.—Forty thousand Canadians in uniform will have crossed the Atlantic within the next four months.

The military authorities now propose that the first contingent shall be over strength and instead of coming to the number of 10,000 as a first contingent, it will consist of 25,000. As soon as it has gone the surplus at Valcartier will be organized into battalions, increased and sent forward to the number of 10,000 as a reserve force to fill gaps made by sickness and casualties in the first contingent.

At the end of four months it is proposed to dispatch another reserve and supply force of 5,000.

The Canadian permanent force will be strongly represented on the front. The Royal Canadian Artillery, the Royal Canadian Dragoons and the Strathcona Horse are going with the first contingent though not as part of it, like the Princess Pats they may be used anywhere. The Royal Canadian Regiment has been sent to Bermuda where it received the Lincolnshire Regiment ordered home for service on the continent.

MEXICO IN STATE OF ABSOLUTE ANARCHY

Sir Lionel Carden Reported as Condemning U. S. A. for Troop Removal.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Sept. 16.—Sir Lionel Carden, one time British minister to Mexico, and recently appointed minister to Brazil, sailing today on the Celtic for Liverpool, is quoted by the New York City News Association as having made the following statement concerning the withdrawal of American troops from Vera Cruz:
"It is a desperate shame that the United States has seen fit to abandon the decent people of Mexico to their most need help. I do not know the reason for this, but it would seem that the United States has been misinformed in some matters, and that a side of the situation has been brought to his attention he has not seen fit to listen to anything that contradicts those who have told him that the country has been pacified."
"The people who did not get protection in Mexico City and elsewhere went to Vera Cruz for protection. What will they do now? They have no means of getting away, and will be left to the mercies of the lawless element that will immediately overrun the town and country."

"When it is said that a state of absolute anarchy exists in Mexico, it is not stating the facts too strongly."
"Neither life, liberty nor property is safe. There is no redress, for there are no courts, no congress, no laws—nothing but anarchy and military despotism, with not even a supreme chief to oversee that."

"Huerta had some sort of a Government. Carranza has none whatever. There is not even martial law there, because there is no organization."

H. C. OF L. COMMISSION WILL MAKE NO REPORT
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Sept. 16.—The commission appointed a year ago to investigate the high cost of living problem will make no report. It is held that whatever may have been the cause of prices jumping a year ago, today the war can be held responsible for both high prices and unemployment. Though the commissioners travelled widely, investigated broadly and acquired a very large amount of information, it is not going to be given to the public.

SUGGESTS WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Official Advocates Employment Rather Than Charity For Relief.

The suggestion of using part of the patriotic fund for the establishment of a factory for the unemployed during the winter, is being advocated by those in touch with the needs of London. One of the city officials yesterday voiced the opinion that if such a course were pursued, it would not only mean more to the city than the distribution of charity, but it would provide a dividend on the investment that would be available for relieving of distress other than that which could be obviated by employment.

"They have $150,000 in the fund now," said the official. "Wouldn't it be a good thing to take a part of that and start a factory? It would give employment to those who need it and would mean that many would not be beggared by accepting charity. Furthermore, it would mean that deserving cases of men out of work would be solved while the funds were left without an excuse."

"With the source of German and European supply cut off, it would be a stroke of good business to start the manufacture of German goods here. There is a demand for them in many lines, and it would be killing two birds with one stone if the proposition could be satisfactorily worked out."

DIES AT GLENCOE.

HAD NO POWER OVER THE LIMBS

Locomotor Ataxia, Heart Trouble and Nervous Spells Yielded to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It would be easy to tell you how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures locomotor ataxia, heart troubles, and nervous spells, but it may be more satisfactory to you to read this letter.

Mrs. Thos. Allan, R.F.D. 3, Somers, Ont., writes: "I have been afflicted with a complete breakdown, and frequently had palpitation of the heart. Since that illness I have had dizzy spells, had no power over my limbs (locomotor ataxia), and could not walk straight. At night I would have severe nervous spells, with heart palpitation, and would shake as though I had the ague. I felt improvement after using the first box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after continuing the treatment and your tonic and sleep well, have no nervous spells and do not require heart medicine. I have told several of my neighbors of the splendid results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Her Rolls of Fat Melt Away.

After Exercises, Starvation, Drugs, Physicals, and All Other Advertised Methods Had Absolutely Failed To Do Anything But Harm.

"People say I look two inches taller since I reduced my weight," writes Miss Renaud, of 59 rue Desnoettes, Paris. "A few months ago I was terribly fat, and nothing would do for me in the slightest. Then a friend sent me a clipping from 'Le Medecin et sa Famille,' telling me of the remarkable weight reductions from the use of simple, harmless Resia Tablets. I immediately obtained a box, and after a few days found them very pleasant and agreeable, with none of the exercises, starvation, drugs, physicals, or other advertised methods, with which I had vainly tortured myself in the past. At the end of the first week I saw I was losing weight rapidly, and at the same time wonderfully gaining in strength and energy. The rolls of fat just seemed to melt away. Within two months I regained my slender figure, firm flesh, and smooth skin, with no wrinkles or 'bad lines.'"

Note.—Before publishing the above, Dr. Faustier, the well-known French physician, was asked for his opinion. His reply, just received, states that Resia Tablets dissolve excess fat in a natural manner and regulate the digestive organs, so that no more forms. They are purely vegetable, containing no thyroid gland or toxic drugs, and are perfectly harmless. "Anyone desiring to get rid of fat," he writes, "should take Resia Tablets with entire confidence and safety." Resia Tablets may be obtained in this city from E. S. Guillemot, corner of Dundas and Richmond streets; Bruce Wallace, 119 Richmond street; George A. McLachlan, 350 Richmond street.

How You Can Quickly Remove Hairy Growth

(Aids to Beauty.)

A well-known beauty specialist advises this treatment for the removal of hair from the face: Mix into a paste some powdered deodorant and water, apply to hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off. Wash the skin and every trace of hair will have vanished. This method is quick and entirely safe. To avoid disappointment, however, it is well to make certain you get genuine deodorant.

MISS F. EGGLESTON SAFE IN WAY HOME

Miss Killmaster Also Has Arrived in England From Germany.

Miss Florence Eggleston is safe on the Atlantic on her way home, and Miss Jeanette Killmaster, sister of F. G. Killmaster, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral, is safe in London, England. This was the purport of a cablegram received yesterday afternoon by Mr. Killmaster from the British Foreign Office, which has been doing its best to get the young ladies out of the German capital.

The last word received from them was a letter written in Berlin, on August 13, to Miss Eggleston's mother, who resided at 262 Hamilton Road. Miss Eggleston stated in her letter, which arrived August 21, that she and Miss Killmaster were only two among thousands of Canadians and Americans in Berlin. The letter was given to some Americans who were fortunate enough to leave the German capital, and who promised to post it in England.

The news of both ladies' safety was received with a distinct feeling of relief by their many friends here. Every day since the war started, Miss Eggleston's friends have been anxiously inquiring as to her safety. Miss Eggleston arrived in Germany a few days before war was declared to study on the violin with Professor Schumann at the Peter. They were to go to Berlin later on in August, after which Miss Eggleston did not say which boat Miss Eggleston sailed on.

WILL EXTEND HELP TO ALL THOSE IN NEED

Relief Committee Plans to Aid Every-one Thrown Out of Employment.

Since the Patriotic War Relief Fund Association opened its office, in the Huron and Erie Loan building, for the purpose of receiving applications from those in distress, as a result of the war, more than 60 persons have applied for aid. A staff of clerks and stenographers is being kept busy. The association is planning the plan of helping, not only women whose husbands or sole supporters had gone to the front, but also men and girls who have been thrown out of work as a result of the war. These have a standing invitation from the relief association to come to the committee room and fill out the necessary application which will entitle them to a share of the relief fund.

The association is urging citizens to be as charitable as possible toward persons who have been employed to do odd jobs and work of all kind around their houses and places of business. Many of the citizens have started to economize by doing without these people's services. This has already thrown a number of persons out of employment, most of them old men. The association believes that Londoners could economize in some other way which would be less severe on this class of worker.

The office and committee room is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. to receive applications for relief. The applications are investigated by members of the association, and relief will be dispensed as soon as possible. In cases where the distress is great, aid will be given immediately from the local fund.

SIMPLE SERVICES MARK FUNERAL OF DR. SAUNDERS

Burial of Eminent Agriculturist Yesterday Marked by Pastor's Eulogy.

Dr. William Saunders, C. M. G., F. R. S. C., F. L. S., who died on Sunday, was buried yesterday in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The arrangements were very simple, at the express wish of the relatives. The services at the residence, 355 Dufferin avenue, and at the grave, were conducted by Rev. Dr. C. M. Saunders, of First Methodist Church. Dr. Saunders paid a high tribute to Professor Saunders' memory, eulogizing him not only for his achievements in the field of scientific and experimental agriculture, but for the personal characteristics which endeared him to all who knew him.

The funeral was attended only by the personal friends of the family, and was marked by nothing in the way of elaborate ceremony. The procession to the cemetery was by way of Waterloo, Dundas and Mount Pleasant avenue.

The pall-bearers were the professor's five sons and a cousin, Ernest Skinner. The sons were: William, Henry, of Toronto; Dr. Charles, of the Experimental Farm, Ottawa; Dr. Percy, professor of chemistry in Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y.; and Dr. Fred, professor of physics at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

LONDON CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC OPENS WELL

Enrollment Large in Spite of War Talk.

The enrollment of students at the London Conservatory of Music does not seem to bear out the pessimistic utterances of those who are busy talking hard times.

The number of registrations is well up to the average of recent years and new pupils are entering daily.

The conservatory has made three notable additions to its faculty. The former president, Mr. W. Caven Barron, well known as a pianist and teacher, will associate himself once more with the institution's work.

Mrs. McHardy-Smith is a teacher who has recently made a thorough study in Europe of the modern art of piano technique as exemplified by Matthey, Breithopf and other renowned men. As well as being a splendid teacher, Mrs. McHardy-Smith is a performer of marked ability.

The vocal department is fortunate in securing the services of Mr. James Alderson. Mr. Alderson is a magnificent artist and a gifted teacher.

The outlook for a successful season was never so promising.

MAKES GRANT OF $250

St. George's Society Votes Contribution to Patriotic Relief Fund.

St. George's Society at a special meeting last night voted $250 towards the London patriotic relief fund, $50 to be paid over to the committee in charge of the fund at once, and the remainder in equal instalments upon application, as it is needed. The grant is made in addition to a great amount of relief work regularly carried on by St. George's Society.

Mr. G. C. Barron was appointed to represent the society on the relief fund committee if a representative from the society should be agreeable to the committee. There was an unusually full attendance of the members of the society present. Expression of approval was given to City Engineer Aspland's plan to give the preference to men who are residents of the city when engaging men for civic construction work.

ARRANGING PLANS

Board of Control Getting Ready for Municipal Ownership.

At an informal meeting of the board of control yesterday, held in the mayor's office, preparations were made for the taking over of the garbage contract by the city.

Contractor W. J. Ross will submit his price on Friday for the purchase by the city of his horses, harness, equipment, feed and barn. It was to make an estimate on what this price would be that the board met yesterday. Nothing was given out as to the work accomplished, but the statement was made that the contractors had a very fair idea of what the price should be and would hold out for that figure.

DEATH OF MRS. FOWLER

Former Resident of Watford Was Ill For Some Time.

Mrs. Mary Jane Fowler, widow of Henry Leonard Fowler, formerly of Watford, died last night in this city after a protracted illness. Her husband preceded her several years ago. Mrs. Fowler is survived by two sons, Norman, of Dundas, and J. Harry, of this city. Interment will be made at Watford.

GIVES SABRE DRILL

In view of the possibility that sooner or later a contingent of cavalry may be sent from Canada, Major H. N. Abel, commanding A Squadron of the First Hussars, is giving his men sabre drill.

"At present," Major Abel said to The Advertiser, "our cavalry is cavalry in name only. It really is mounted infantry, and is trained to fight along, using horses only for transportation purposes. Reports from the front, however, indicate that considerable fighting has occurred at close quarters, and there seems no reason why our men should not be trained to protect themselves, and assume the offensive in that kind of fighting. The long rifles at present in use are good only at a distance, and I am going to see that my men learn how to use sabres."

WEDDING BELLS.

WOLF-ROESSLER.
At the First Methodist Church, Monday, Miss Rose Messier and Albert Wolf, both of Crediton, Ont., were united in marriage by Rev. Dr. Charles R. Flanders.

HALLETT-BUTSON.
On Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, a quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. Wm. Copp, 33 York street, when Miss Rebecca J. Butson was married to Ald. James W. Hallett, of Whitby, Rev. W. J. Harvey officiating.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a lovely gown of ivory Oriental de Chine and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The house was prettily decorated with roses and asters.

After the wedding breakfast, the happy couple left amid showers of confetti for Hamilton and other eastern points, the bride travelling in a navy suit and black hat with ostrich

Notice To The Public

WE, the undersigned, representing the Merchants of London who desire to serve the best interests of the City and Dominion, pledge ourselves to do our utmost with a view towards controlling retail prices in London that they may not increase beyond the means of the citizens during the present war. It will be understood that prices may increase, but we, as loyal Canadians, promise to carry on our business with the least margin of profit possible.

War was unavoidable and Canada must do her share. We firmly believe that the merchant who attempts to gouge the public at a crisis, such as this, is as much a traitor to his flag as the man who sells the plans of a fortress.

Despite the fact that the great nations of Europe are engaged in war, the people of Canada must eat, sleep, buy clothes and carry on the usual routine. War does not mean ruination unless unscrupulous merchants seek to wring blood money out of the people. We are all going to stay in business and do everything we can to protect our customers. It is entirely unnecessary to purchase your stock all at one time. Forget the war during business hours—Great Britain cannot lose.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16.
PEACE AMIDST STRIFE.

THE world is shaping for eternal peace—the dream of the ages. Yesterday the United States signed peace treaties for one year with Great Britain, France, Spain and China. There may, or may not, be significance in the fact that Germany is not included in the list. Each of the nations declares that it will not go to war for any cause against any of the other nations without striving to arrange difficulties diplomatically, and failing that, to leave the question in dispute to an international commission.

This is good neighboring. Germany will, no doubt, be anxious to make the same arrangement with the United States and other neutral nations, and it will be interesting to see whether Secretary Bryan gives the Kaiser's representative the invitation.

The pact, though it may be temporary, is the forerunner to some such international arrangement that will last for all time. Every word uttered for peace within the last century will have greater weight at this time than it could at any other. Though it may seem paradoxical, should the war be decided for the Allies, it will have done more to achieve disarmament than any other happening in history. That it will mean disarmament and a general cutting down of the military department of all nations seems inevitable. President Taft stands a greater man today than ever before, because the memory of his work for peace comes home to all Americans, and to most Britishers. Taft was the big man of the United States, from the humanitarian standpoint, at any rate.

There will come a world nausea against slaughter and brutality that will spell peace. There will be an end to wholesale murder and wholesale punishment of murder.

THE GERMAN CODE.

BERNHARDI'S prophetic book, "Germany and the Next War," has been issued in a popular form by Edward Arnold at 50 cents. A comparison of this work (published originally in 1912) with one published last year, "Pan-Germanism," by Professor Roland G. Usher, of Washington University, St. Louis, throws much light upon the recent doings and ideas of Potsdam. Most of us hardly believed civilized Germany capable of such flagrant contempt of ordinary moral order. But the German Bernhardi and the American Usher had no doubts about it.

The text of Bernhardi's book is that war has been "the greatest factor in the furtherance of culture and power." Culture attends upon power, of course. In approval of this view, he quoted many distinguished German authors, and above all Treitschke, perhaps the greatest educational force in modern Germany. Biology has been misunderstood by Germans to teach a better moral law than can be found in old religions, the law of survival of the fittest. German biologists and their pupils throughout the nation have made out that right and wrong have a meaning only in relation to the immediate vital needs of a physical organism.

Bernhardi argues, again, that as Germany fought wars to consolidate her nationality, there remains for her a greater and inevitable war, to wrest world leadership from Great Britain. Like many other Germans, he considered the British power as in reality a sham. The German race, as the more fit and the more numerous, would win, and he suggests the conduct of the war.

Professor Usher calmly quotes German authorities to show that Germany has had in mind an attack on British wealth, and on British moral standards which might be supposed to favor Great Britain as against Germany. An American spectator of the impending conflict of German and Anglo, he concludes that the German aim was not only at the political union of the German-speaking peoples, including Low-German Holland, but to dominate the world. He considers that this ambition has been enthusiastically taken up by the masses of the Vaterland. "The whole nation is fired by this spirit, and is working as a unit in accordance with the directions of its leaders."

Mr. Usher develops the nature of the German view of British wealth. This is part of his summary of that view:

"England has vast capital invested in distant countries, and has not out the material means of defending it. Whatever is written on paper is paper, and is not to be made into tangible assets by any process of jugglery. Things are, and writing on paper does not change the thing or its position."

The world has paid England tribute, but the world need not continue to pay that tribute only so long as it wishes. The moment the borrowers refuse to recognize the validity of her claims upon their revenues and begin to realize that they hold, with a clutch which she cannot loosen, the actual substance of wealth, then they will begin to see that her wealth is not real, but depends purely upon their willingness to continue to pay her revenue, which they may stop paying at any moment without suffering any consequences. To be sure, such notions as these presume the violation of every notion of commercial morality and expediency at present existing in the world, but, as the Germans say, if they were violated, what could England and France do to avert destruction? It is true, they admit, that such a wholesale repudiation of debts would undoubtedly make it difficult for nations to borrow from each other for some time to come, but they retort, if such a repudiation took place, the debtor nations would not need to borrow for generations to come. The Germans contend that the moral code of the financial world, like the moral code of the political world, is based upon the notions of England and France, upon ideas obviously themselves the result of a peculiar situation, on whose continuance the welfare of England and France depends. Their moral code is based on their ownership of the world and their desire to continue it in perpetuity, and their moral code, therefore, condemns Germany to insignificance. The Germans refuse to recognize anything as moral which jeopardizes their national existence. They claim the right to protect themselves by any weapons which will secure the desired result, and they have no intention of foregoing the use of these terrible economic weapons, simply from a humane acceptance of so-called ethical notions, whose very presumptions militate against them."

There you have Professor Usher's exposition over a year ago of the German general idea that right, that contract and treaties are only "scraps of paper," that Germany has a right to any road to success. How the Germans might persuade other peoples to repudiate their debts is not easily explained, unless, perhaps, they would effect this by example. But these biological morals do not exalt a nation.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE TURK.

THE government of Turkey showed some judgment in keeping out of the fight. Had it done anything it would very naturally have been on the side of Germany. And that would have meant the end of Turkey in Europe, unless Germany should be the victor. There was some common sense, therefore, in keeping neutral. But there has been a decided lack of sense in offending all the great powers of the world, which it has done by abrogating certain treaties with foreign nations. Under these treaties, many of them of long years' standing, foreigners in Turkey had a right of trial in consular courts—that is, in the courts of their own countries. This was found necessary in order to secure Christians that justice they could not always get in Mohammedan courts, and which the Turkish Government, no matter how desirous it might be, could not always enforce. Now these treaties, without a word of notice or consultation with the representatives of foreign nations, have been calmly wiped out. It is a general defiance of an offensive character. And it is to be noted that Germany, in common with the Allies, has protested against it.

On top of the action by the Sublime Porte, the Turkish ambassador to the United States has put his foot in it. He has made a public declaration explaining and defending war has been used. But, instead of confining himself to a simple and dignified statement, he goes out of the way to scold the Americans for what he considers the unfair assertions made as to the danger of Christian massacres; and tells the people that instead of finding fault with deeds of violence in Turkey, they had better stop similar acts, like lynchings at home.

Such a discussion of the domestic affairs of a nation to whom he is accredited is a violation of etiquette on the part of an ambassador that under ordinary circumstances would have resulted in his recall. The announcement in the United States papers that the President and Mr. Bryan, after careful consideration, had agreed to let the matter drop, and pay no attention to the "back talk" of Rustem Bey, is not to be taken as an indication that the United States Government is indifferent to such breaches of etiquette, or regardless of its own dignity. It simply means that the offender is not justified of sufficient importance to consider. It is the indifference of the Newfoundland dog to the yelping of the poodle.

But while the United States will not trouble itself about the ambassador's unruly tongue, it may be depended on to take action with his government as to the original cause of the dispute. Those treaties which the Turk has abrogated are the defence of foreign Christians, in so far as treaties can serve defensive purposes. Under ordinary circumstances they would not have been touched. But with the general conflict in Europe, the nations at war have no time to bother about a matter like this. The Turkish ambassador coolly admits this. The war, he says, was Turkey's opportunity. But his government might have had sense enough to know that taking advantage of the disturbed condition of Europe to offend all his neighbors can only result in prompt retribution as soon as they have time to attend to him. Instead of being called on to renew the treaties, the Turk may find himself served with notice to leave Europe.

CHAMPION AGAIN.

A DISPATCH to the Whole Cloth Agency, from Lunyville, via Rotterdam, gives particulars of the distinguished conduct of Col. John Johnson, heading the Senegambian wing of the now famous Senegambian troops in the recent victory. It seems it was really this battalion and not the mysterious Russian contingent that delivered the winning punch which drove the Germans beyond the Aisne.

The last we heard of Johnson was when he reported for service at the front. He dove into the mass of the conscript army and now burrows his way out to light again, the hero of the hour, as the reliable Whole Cloth has it.

Having risen to leadership by sheer blood and iron, he proved himself a wonder at in-fighting, out-fighting or in-an-out fighting. It was a fatal moment for the last lingering resistance of the Teutons, when Le Colonel Johnson, got inside their lines and knocked them down in rows. He and the other Fuzzy Wuzzies lived right up to Kipling's poem and a few inches beyond.

According to the Whole Cloth Agency, Johnson is no ordinary Senegambian. Besides having defeated all-comers in the roped circle, he is said, on no less authority than his own statement, to "retch his blood" from men of royal lineage. To be descended from princes of Ethiopia, in fact, from Othello and the Pharaohs. He takes after his ancestor in marrying a doting Deadamona and in waging fierce and faithful battle for the white city of his adoption. Long live the champion of the Marne, the savior of Paris, from whom Germans ran screaming in terror and to whom the beautiful daughters of France wave handkerchiefs of praise. Hall John Martel!

THE WAR SITUATION.

THERE is no reason to doubt now but that the Allies have won a great battle along the Marne River and in the vicinity of the fortress of Verdun. In some quarters, notably on the left flank, where the British are engaged, the German retreat resembles panic-stricken rout. There does not seem any other way of explaining the heavy captures of men, guns and ammunition that have been officially reported. That General Von Kluck and a large army have been forced to surrender seems too good to be true, and yet if the Allies' enveloping movement succeeded this is just what might happen.

But even if this should prove correct, it is well not to judge too hastily the success of the Allies or the defeat of the Germans. It will be several days yet before an exact appraisal of the operations can be made. It is not at all likely, however, that the Kaiser's splendid fighting machine is hopelessly crippled. Teutonic thoroughness has, no doubt, prepared for just such an emergency, and an army that displayed the vigor and stamina of that terrific advance through Belgium must still have plenty of fight despite the great strain it has gone through. Furthermore, even should the Allies clear France and Belgium of the invaders, once on German soil the armies of the Kaiser will be more difficult to subdue. France has demonstrated this by her own magnificent defence. Every foot of the way will be in a hostile country densely populated. The leaders of the allied forces, however, have shown themselves capable, resourceful, cautious, courageous. They may be depended upon to conduct the campaign from this point in a way to avoid the near-disaster that has overtaken the German arms.

PISGAH.

ONE of the most melancholy places of life is Pisgah. Moses came to it and saw the land of milk and honey which he could not touch. Haman, the Carthaginian marvel, after years of campaigning in Italy, advanced to a point three miles from Rome, but more was not given him. Richard the Lion-Hearted, crusader, stood upon a hill and gazed at Zion, only to turn back in despair. The Germans came like a torrent towards Paris, till their guns were held by the city, and then, swerving, were hurled back almost in rout, from the goal almost attained. Those Pisgahs are cruel tests of fortitude. Will the Germans rally?

THE BRAVE TRAWLERS.

TRIBUTE should be paid to the brave British North Sea trawlers, who, co-operating with the destroyers, are engaged day and night sweeping the waters clear of the Kaiser's floating mines.

These men form a sort of volunteer branch of the navy, and with their intimate knowledge of currents and tides, are proving of great assistance. There is no war service that calls for a finer courage than this hunting for the infernal submarine machines. The work lacks the uplifting, stirring settings of a naval fight. There is none of the glorious exaltation that is inseparable from the clash of battle, where death stalks boldly and is as boldly met. On the contrary, the trawler is dealing with a peril that lurks in submarine shadow and gloom. There are few men but are courageous in the face of a foe that can be seen. Heavy odds seem trivial and to die fighting for a good cause is a good ending. But the trawler, as he cruises amongst the fog and mists, fishing for the mines, never knows what moment death in a terrible guise may spring at him.

The admiralty records that scores of these instruments of destruction have been gathered by the heroic fishermen, but it has been at the cost of many lives. Every few days we hear of some trawler that has gone down with her crew. It is hoped that when the war is over the dauntless fellows who survive this perilous service will be fittingly rewarded, and those who have perished fittingly remembered.

Will the Russians please hurry-up-ski?

The Cosacks are happily hunting the Hapsburgs.

The Eskimo has not yet declared neutrality.

Coming or going, those Germans make fast time.

"Somebody Else is Getting It." is a new "rag." It should be popular in London and Paris just now.

A correspondent asks for synonyms for "Kaiser." Here are some: "Oboliterate," "Smash," "Crush," "Rage," "Kill," "Slash."

One who has been intimate with him for years declares the Kaiser dislikes flowers. We are ready to believe he detests the lilies of France and the roses of England.

Parisian ladies are busy making nice crisp pink and white monogrammed nighties for the soldiers at the front.

PRESS COMMENT ON THE WAR

LITTLE REST.
[St. Thomas Journal.]
The Kaiser seems to have gone to a retreat. But judging from the way the British bulldog is hanging to his flank, he doesn't seem to be getting much of a rest cure.

ONLY UNDER THE BRITISH FLAG.

[Calgary News-Telegram.]
Sergeant Vorster, who fought against Britain with the Boers in South Africa, goes as one of the volunteers from Port Arthur, this time to fight for Great Britain. It is only under the British flag that such things happen.

GLORIOUS WAR.

[Topeka State Journal.]
When the floating junk heaps go into a naval battle the lifeboats are all thrown away. That, as may be pointed out, gives the poor sailor an obese chance when said junk pile drops from under him, but it saves funeral expenses.

CAN FIGHT AND WRITE.

[Brantford Courier.]
Kitchener and French are both great generals, and they are also remarkable writers. Nothing for direct and arresting simplicity could have beaten Kitchener's initial address to the soldiers, or the vivid yet unvarnished account which French sent with reference to the heroic conduct of the British when French soldiers survived, but that when Col. D'Arche finally surrendered the utterly ruined fortress he was allowed to keep his sword by the admiring victor, the Crown Prince Frederick William. Would that more such stories

A WELCOME STORY.

[Macon Telegraph.]
That is a welcome story from German sources about the heroic defense of Longwy, and the gallant recognition of the enemy's valor exhibited by the German Crown Prince. The story goes that after five days of battle every French gun but one was disabled and only 2,000 French soldiers survived, but that when Col. D'Arche finally surrendered the utterly ruined fortress he was allowed to keep his sword by the admiring victor, the Crown Prince Frederick William. Would that more such stories

This war is developing horrors never dreamed of in past campaigns.

The Hohenzollerns continue to patronize the Almighty. The wounded Prince Joachim bestowing his blessing on God for his wounds. Perhaps he is overjoyed at getting away from the firing line.

The news of the capture of Von Kluck caused a sensation in military circles wherever it was read. This German general has been the brains of the German movement, according to the record of events. Verification will bring the end of the war within close range.

The garages of the city are crowded with farmers' automobiles this week. Time was when the hotel stables had to take care of all the vehicular equipment that came to the city. Now there are hundreds of farmers from the counties of Western Ontario who own good motors and who use them.

Recent events cast a shade of doubt on Mr. Kipling's remark as to the comparative deadliness of the male and the female of the species.

THE DEAD VOLUNTEER.
[London Spectator.]
Here lies a clerk who half his life had spent

Tolling at ledgers in a city grey,
Thinking that so his days would drift away
With no lance broken in life's tournament;
But ever 'twixt the books and his bright eyes

The gleaming eagles of the legions came,
And horsemen charging under phantom skies
Went thundering past beneath the oriflamme,

And now those waiting dreams are satisfied,
For in the end he heard the bugle call,
And to his country then he gave his all.

When in the first high hour of life he died,
And falling thus, he wants no recompense
Who found his battle in the last resort;

Nor needs he any hearse to bear him hence
Who goes to join the men of Agincourt.

[New York Sun.]
The wife of George Meizinger, a distinguished French soldier, whose son, a captain in the army, was recently wounded, was travelling from Switzerland to Lorraine a short time ago. She says she overheard a conversation between two German officers during a rainstorm.

"One said: 'Oh, I left my umbrella in a hotel in Paris.'"

The other replied: "Never fear, you will be able to go and get it next week."

"Try to not trouble yourselves," interrupted Mme. Meizinger; "my son, who is a captain in the French army, will undertake to bring it himself."

The two officers alighted at the next station.

Dear Miss Grey: What year was the Indian Mutiny and Crimean war?

2. Please give recipe for tomato catsup.

3. I am sending the song "I'll Be There, Mary Dear," hoping to see this in print tomorrow night.

4. What an outlandish name. I hope you really don't feel that way. In regard to your query, have you advertised for a helper? I am sure an advertisement in The Advertiser would bring results.

5. The Indian Mutiny began in Meerut, British India, April 24, 1857, and peace was not restored until March, 1858.

War was declared in the Crimea in 1855, and did not end until a treaty of peace was signed in Paris, March 30, 1856.

2. Take 1/2 bushel tomatoes, 1 ounce salt, 1/2 ounce ground black pepper, 1/2 ounce ground cinnamon, 1/4 ounce ground cloves, 1 heaping tablespoon ground mustard. Skin and slice the tomatoes, stew until soft, rub through a sieve, and boil the pulp slowly till it is quite thick; then add 1 pint of vinegar, to which has been added 1/2 cup of sugar and the above spices. Boil up twice, bottle and seal.

I have not been able yet to print the song, but hope to very shortly.

3. A recipe for making bread to get it baked early in the morning without mixing the sponge up stiff into dough at night, as that is troublesome just at bed time.

4. What is your opinion of my writing? 5. What age is to quit school at?

6. Thanking you in advance, I remain, A BUSY MOTHER.

Ans.—1. There have been numerous recipes for canning corn, given on this page during the last fortnight, and also a letter or two from our readers on the subject of canning corn. In case you overlooked one housewife's letter in regard to using the acid, she said to use a teaspoonful to a large quantity of tomatoes or corn. May be purchased at a drug store.

2. This I think I had best refer to our "old-fashioned" readers who have their own bread. Will some one give us the benefit of their knowledge?

3. It is very good.

4. Cold Cream Formula.

Dear Miss Grey:—I read your column with much interest every morning and hope it is not too much trouble for you to answer a few questions for me.

1. Will you please print the recipe of Billie Burke's cold cream? I had the recipe, but unfortunately lost it.

2. What day did December 27, 1898, fall on?

3. Hoping this is not too much trouble for you, I remain,

BLUE BELL.

Ans.—1. Sweet almond oil 2 ounces

Rosewater 2 ounces

Spermaceti 2 ounces

White wax 1/2 ounce

Break the spermaceti and white wax into tiny bits. Put them in a china bowl. As they soften pour in the almond oil slowly. When the mixture has softened well, lift the bowl from the hot water, and stir in the rosewater, slowly beating it. Do not let the mixture become hot.

3. Hoping this is not too much trouble for you, I remain,

Lamb Stew.

Dear Miss Grey:—This is a nice way of making a lamb stew and does not take long to prepare.

Wipe and cut into two-inch squares two pounds of neck of lamb. Put to cook in enough cold water to cover, bring to boiling point and boil five minutes. Add a slice of onion and two small carrots cut in dice. Simmer one-half hour, add as many potatoes as desired for the family to be served. About a pint of green peas added to this stew makes a delicious meal. Dumping or hot biscuit may also be served with this stew. People who enjoy more seasoning find a bay leaf, sprig of parsley and a pepper corn a palatable addition. If they are used, they should be tied together and removed before the dish is served.

Ingredients: Two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons shortening, three-quarters cup milk. Sift together the dry ingredients, work in the shortening, mixing with a knife or fork, and add the milk gradually. As some flour thickens more than other, it is best to experiment a little with it. The mixture should be thick enough to hold its shape when placed on the meat or vegetables. These dumplings may be rolled to one-half an inch thickness and cut with a small biscuit cutter, or they may be dropped from the end of a spoon.

Ans.—We have indeed to thank this reader for her helpful recipe. I am glad to pass it on to our housewife readers.

From Busy Mother.

Dear Miss Grey:—Please answer the following question at your earliest convenience:

1. How to can green sweet corn, without using so much salt, as will injure flavor, just to can it up, as you would do tomatoes without boiling in sealers in a boiler, also if you know of a recipe for using salicylic acid, or anything to prevent it working and what proportion should be used?

OLD SONGS AND POEMS

[Words sent by J. McD.]

I want to go to Morrow.

I started on a journey just about a week ago.

For the little town of Morrow in the state of Ohio.

I never was a traveler, and really didn't know.

That Morrow had been ridiculed a century or so.

I went down to the depot for my ticket, and applied.

For tips regarding Morrow, not expecting to be guided.

Said I, "My friend, I want to go to Morrow and return."

Not later than tomorrow, for I haven't time to burn."

Said he to me, "Now let me see if I have heard you right."

You want to go to Morrow and come back tomorrow night."

To go from here to Morrow and return is quite a way."

You should have gone to Morrow yesterday and back today."

For if you started yesterday to Morrow don't you see?

You could have gone to Morrow and returned today at three."

The train that started yesterday, now understand me right."

Today it gets to Morrow, and returns tomorrow night."

Said I, "My boy, it seems to me you're talking through your hat."

Is there a town named Morrow on your line?—Now tell me that."

"There is," said he, "and take from me a quiet little tip."

To go from here to Morrow is a fourteen-hour trip."

The train that goes to Morrow leaves today at eight-thirty-five."

Half after ten tomorrow is the time it should arrive."

Now, if from here to Morrow is a fourteen-hour journey, right?"

Can you go today to Morrow and come back today, you chump?"

Said I, "I want to go to Morrow, can I do that?"

And get to Morrow by tonight if there is no delay?"

"Well, well," said he, "explain to me and I've got no more to say—"

Can you go anywhere tomorrow and come back today?"

For if today you'd get to Morrow, surely you'd agree."

You should have started not today, but yesterday, my friend."

So if you start to Morrow, leaving here today, you flat."

You won't get to Morrow till the day that follows that."

Now if you start today to Morrow, it's a cinch you'll land."

Tomorrow into Morrow, not today, you understand."

For the train today to Morrow, if the schedule is right."

Will get you into Morrow by about tomorrow night."

Said I, "I guess you know it all, but kindly let me say."

How can I go tomorrow if I leave the town today?"

Said he, "You cannot go to Morrow any more today."

For the train that goes to Morrow is a mile upon its way."

Final:

I was so disappointed I was mad enough

The train had gone to Morrow and had left me standing there.

The man was right in telling me I was a howling Jay."

I didn't go to Morrow, so I guess I'll go today."

HUNDREDS OF FAIR VISITORS VIEW FINE ART DISPLAY

Many Thousands of Dollars Represented in Loan Collection—Large Showing of Amateur Work

The art gallery at the Western Fair is one of the most attractive spots on the grounds, leading from the hotel to the exhibition. The gallery is a long, narrow room, the walls of which are covered with the excellent lighting possibilities of the new gallery are apparent, and the display of canvases are shown to good advantage.

In many instances, the eye of the visitor is first drawn to the large picture, hung on the west side of the gallery, in the centre of the loan collection. It is a painting by Mr. E. R. Glen, Mr. J. P. Hunt, Mrs. John Marr, A. E. Cooper, and J. McDonald, Arthur T. Little, A. M. Fleming, C. Farncombe, and S. Kelso Davidson. As was the case last year, the Western Fair Board will purchase one of the paintings exhibited, but this has not as yet been decided upon.

Large Amateur Show. A very large collection of amateur work appears this year ranging from oil paintings, pencil drawings, and including landscapes, marine sketches, figure studies, "still life" studies, and mechanical drawings. For the best collection of five oil paintings, Mr. Fleming receives first prize, first prize, Miss E. Bradshaw, of this city, coming second, and Miss Farncombe, also of London, third. For landscape in oils Miss L. C. O'Keefe, Guelph; Mrs. W. K. Murphy, Toronto, and Mrs. W. Moore, of London, were successful competitors. Miss Mabel Reynolds, of London, shows several small pictures in water colors and oils, most of them being sketches from the St. Lawrence. Her marine sketches of Lake Huron, are especially fine, for amateur work.

For "still life" in oils, Miss Marianne O'Neil, London, receives first prize, followed by Mrs. W. K. Murphy and Florence Bailey, of Toronto, coming second and third. Some excellent specimens of fruit and flower paintings are displayed.

Decorated China. Several cases of beautifully hand-decorated china are also to be found in the gallery. Mrs. E. Phillips, of Toronto, carries off first prize for realistic decorating. Mary Bennett and Mrs. J. D. Deane, of this city, winning second and third. For conventional Miss A. Middleton, Clinton; Miss A. Folger, Toronto, and Miss Georgina Grant, of London, are the successful exhibitors.

Miss Kate Ford, of Goderich, shows some unique specimens of modelling in clay and plaster. In pyrography some very beautiful work is shown by Miss P. Cooper, London, and Miss Florence Bailey, Toronto, including initial tables, bread trays, picture frames, candlesticks, and so on. Miss H. Reed, Guelph, leads in a display of wood-carving, followed closely by George Blake, of London, and W. R. Murphy, of Toronto. Reader Comments Upon Pretty Garden of Railwayman.

North Enders who possess an eye for the beautiful will doubtless have admired the bright spot created by the C. P. R. watchman in his little garden in the vicinity of Waterloo street. A reader remarks on it as follows:

"I was walking up Waterloo street, and by the C. P. R. tracks I noticed a lovely little flower garden belonging to the watchman on the track. He certainly deserves great credit for the taste displayed and the variety of colors grown on anything but good garden soil. I went in his little home on the track and complimented him on it. He said it was past its best now, and had cut a great many; but it is a pretty bit of coloring on the bare tracks. He cut a lovely bunch of asters and gave them to me, which I will try and keep as long as I can."

PECULIAR PETS PLEASE LONDON SOCIETY WOMEN

Everything From Pigs to Snails!—When is a Lamb Not a Lamb?

The following dispatch from Old London is clipped from the Montreal Daily Mail:

The craze for strange animals grows stronger every day among wealthy women. Snakes, pigs and monkeys are domesticated as pets.

A young countess has a pet squirrel, which she keeps mostly in the pocket of her sporting coat. She has to have it with her, as it bites most other persons, particularly her governess. She puts it to sleep by the easy process of crossing its paws one on each side of its eyes, when it rolls into a ball, and remains at rest as long as she wishes.

A well-known heiress had two pet lambs, which were always carefully washed and dressed with pink ribbons. She went away from home for a long time, and when she returned she found two sheep washed and dressed with ribbons. Then she and the sheep parted.

Meat Cakes. One pound chopped veal, one-quarter pound soaked bread crumbs, two tablespoons savorful fat or butter, one teaspoonful chopped onion, one and one-half teaspoonful salt, dash of pepper. Mix all the ingredients, except the butter, and shape into small round cakes. Melt the fat in a baking pan and brown the cakes in it, first one side and then the other. Either cooked or raw veal may be used. In the case of raw meat the pan should be covered so that the heat may be retained to soften the meat.

Stew From Cold Roast. The dish provides a good way of using up the remnants of a roast, either of beef or mutton. The meat should be freed from fat, gristle and bones, cut into small pieces, slightly salted, and put into a kettle with water enough to nearly cover it. It should simmer until almost ready to break in pieces, when onions and raw potatoes, peeled and quartered, should be added. A little soup stock may also be added if available. Cook until the potatoes are done, then thicken the liquor or gravy with flour. The stew may be attractively served on slices of crisp toast.

Meat Turnovers. Almost any kind of chopped meat may be used in these, and if the quantity on hand is small, may be mixed with potato or cooked rice. This filling should be seasoned to taste with salt and pepper, onion or whatever is relished, and laid on pieces of short biscuit dough rolled thin and cut into circles about the size of an ordinary saucer. The edges of the dough should be moistened with white of egg, the dough then folded over the meat, and its edges pinched closely together. If desired, the tops of the turnovers may be brushed over with yolk of egg before they are placed in the oven. About half an hour's baking in a hot oven is required. Serving with a brown sauce increases the flavor and moistens the crust.

That's One Reason Why Mr. Shaughnessy Surrounds Himself With a Pennant Every Season. He Won't Let the Fans Quit.

LOCAL RUGBYISTS WILL PLAY A GAME WITH ST. THOMAS C.I.

Some Enthusiasm Being Shown Over Local Situation—Waiting for University to Make Known Plans Is Delaying Matters at the Present Time.

Since it has been announced that at the O. R. F. U. meeting on Saturday, London was entered in the junior O. R. F. U. series and grouped with Sarnia and Petrolia again, local rugby players are beginning to stir up some enthusiasm and it is not unlikely that a practice will be called within a few days. The present trouble with the local situation lies in the fact that nothing has been heard from the Western University Athletic Association as to its intentions in regard to rugby this season. In some quarters it is stated that the University intends to enter a team separate from the London team. If this is true it is doubtful if enough material can be secured for two strong teams, and the London team would have to drop out. The University is being depended upon to supply two or three good players this fall, and if the clubs amalgamated, one strong aggregation could be put in the field. Just what plans the University has will not be definitely known until Dr. Harry Stephens returns from Port Arthur, which will be in a few days, it is expected.

London to Play St. Thomas C. I.

A number of the players who played on last year's rugby club have gathered a team together and will play the St. Thomas Collegiate team in St. Thomas some day this week or next week. The team will be made up of Gus Edwards, Clare Steels, Tom Chitto, Yorkie Richardson, Johnny Ross and a number of players who were with the collegiate team last season. The St. Thomas Collegiate has a fast aggregation, and the London players should get a good workout.

Jack Bentley, one of the younger members of Clark Griffith's Washington pitching staff, has sprung into fame recently. After pitching sensational ball in five games he climaxed his performance by holding the slugging Athletics to a hit, and that was by Strunk late in the game.

It is bad enough to joke with Jawn McGraw over the downfall of the Giants, but one Chicago paper must want to make him madder. It prints a picture of Art Froume, and labels it "Great Liek the Giants."

Two baseball club owners have taken the stand that the newspapers cannot exist without baseball, which reminds us of the small boy who wanted the trees cut down so that they could not make windstorms.

The bases were filled, Brooklyn's pitcher pitched, Sechman coaching at third yelled, "That's Brenahan," and Zimmerman swung and knocked the ball into the bleachers.

A Boston man doping the bunk said: "If Plank and Chief Bender get drunk, All they'll have to skin us is Shag and McInnis. And Collins and Baker and Strunk."

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 15.—Margaret Drien, the star stake trotter of the Walter Cox stable, added another to her long list of victories here today when she won the Dickinson stake for 2:19 trotters in straight heats.

Cut This Out

Famous Specialist's Recipe for Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises.

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer from total deafness. Recent experiments have proved conclusively that catarrhal deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint, and seldom, if ever, effect a permanent cure. This being so, it is evident that the specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective remedy, that would quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated and which has aroused the belief that deafness will soon be extinct, is given below in understandable form, so that anyone can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parment (double strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and 1 oz. of a noted salted sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. The first dose promptly relieves the distressing head noises, headaches, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus draining in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, therefore there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important.—In ordering Parment always specify that you want double strength; your druggist has it. If you get it for you, if not send 75c to the International Laboratories, 71 St. Antoine St. Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it.—ad $9.16.23

WHEAT.
Chicago, Sept. 15.—Wheat advanced sharply today, principally on account of higher quotations at Liverpool. Reports that representatives of foreign governments were bidding for 100,000 barrels of flour, and also to lift the market. Besides, country acceptances of offers from here were meagre.

WHEAT RECEIPTS.
Montreal, Sept. 15.—Wheat receipts, 244,924 bushels.

Winnipeg, Sept. 15.—Trading on the wheat market was quiet in the early hours of today's session, and only a light volume in futures was transacted. Futures opened fairly steady, following Monday's closing, and were stronger generally, ranging from 1 1/4 to 1 3/4. No. 2 peaches were a little cheaper this morning, selling at 60 cents a basket. The larger peaches sold at $1.

War news had considerable effect on prices, and a drop took place of about 10 when the big German reverse was rumored on the exchange. Prices recovered later, however, on the news standing unconfirmed.

Closing prices were 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 higher for wheat, and 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 higher for flour. The cash demand for wheat was again poor today, the only grade wanted being No. 2 northern, and offerings were quite equal to the demand. There was a fair demand for cash oats and No. 3 barley, heavy 8 1/2 to 9 1/4. Cash grains closed: Wheat, 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 higher; oats, 10 to 11; barley, 1 1/4 to 1 3/4 higher. Inspections Monday totaled 1,432 cars, as against 1,030 last year, and in sight and cash grain: Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.07 1/2; No. 2 northern, $1.03 1/2; No. 3 northern, $1.00 1/2; No. 4, $1.00;
