

HOPES FOR STRIKE SETTLEMENT FADE

ALLEGED WHISKEY RUNNERS, CARS AND CARGOES HELD BY POLICE OF LONDON AFTER SENSATIONAL MOTOR CHASE

Detroit and Windsor Quartet Claim To Have Received Booze in Legal Manner—Magistrate Graydon Intimates Penalties Will Be Severe.

Four men, Austen Moran, Detroit; Jay June, Windsor; Timothy Hogan, Windsor, and Fred Bennett, Stratford, appeared in police court today charged with a violation of the "A. A. After hearing the prisoners' story Magistrate Graydon reserved judgment until Monday next. One hundred cases of whiskey which the men were transferring from Kitchener to Windsor, are held at the police station, as well as the motor cars that were being used to transport the "hard stuff." The magistrate will consider what disposition will be made of the cars and cargoes.

The arrests were made by the London police Wednesday afternoon after one of the most sensational chases in the history of the department.

The four men appeared in police court this morning, and after a lengthy trial were remanded until Monday, when the magistrate will give his decision. The charge was "having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling."

P. C. Gavin Monahan said that when the men were arrested Hogan stated that the whiskey was being shipped legally.

J. William Middaugh quoted one of the prisoners as saying: "One of us will claim the shipment, and only one of us will be fined."

Bannan said that he went to Kitchener with Hogan in the Cadillac motor car for a ride. He stated Hogan invited him. While they were at the hotel at Kitchener, their car was taken, without their consent, to Waterloo to Seagram's distillery and loaded with 25 cases of whiskey. Seventy-five cases were placed on the truck. The car was used because it was thought that 100 cases would be too heavy for the truck. Bannan said that he understood the liquor was being taken to Windsor to Robert Anderson, 30 Campbell street. He declared that it was legally acquired. He knew June and Moran.

When asked why he ran when the police overtook him, he said: "Wouldn't you run if there were four or five guns in your face?"

The police say that one of the men offered them a slip of paper, which he claimed was a bill of lading, but they did not accept it. The whereabouts of this document is unknown now.

June said that he was paid $500 to truck the whiskey for Anderson.

The greatest memorial service ever held at sea took place over the sunken wreck of the submarine K-5, which lies many fathoms deep, 100 miles southwest of the Scilly Isles. The 14,000 officers and men of the Atlantic Fleet, returning from the spring cruise, paid a last tribute to the memory of their comrades by holding services on their ships, with the flags at half-mast. Volleys were fired and the "Last Post" sounded over the ocean grave of the victims of the terrible disaster of January 20. Photo shows the chaplain and other officers at the funeral service on H. M. SURPRISE AND HOPELESS INDIGNATION FEELING OF ALDERMEN OVER GAS BILL

Talk Is Their Only Solace So Far As They Can Learn — No Use Putting Up Fight, Says Ald. Watt — Higher Rate To Go Into Effect Soon.

Surprise and hopeless indignation were the only feelings London aldermen could register today when they learned that the City Gas Bill had been passed. Talk is their only solace so far as they can learn. There is no course open now but to accept the ruling of the Legislature.

The formality of having the measure signed by the lieutenant-governor, has still to be complied with, but it is thought that it will only be a few days before the new rate of $1.25 for 1,000 cubic feet of gas will be charged from the day the bill receives the royal assent. If it occurs before the end of this month all meters will be given a second reading. The first part of the month will be charged at the old rate of 90 cents a 1,000 cubic feet, and the remainder of the month at the new figure.

Ald. Hartley, who was acting mayor today, pointed out that however the members of the council might feel in the matter there was nothing they could do. "The Legislature apparently has seen the justice of the company's appeal for relief, and has decided to grant it in spite of local opposition," he said.

What's the Use? "It shows how little use there is of the council putting up a fight," declared Ald. P. J. Watt. "I don't know what is the object of the Legislature in putting over such a measure. The thing is settled now, and we can think what we please, but we cannot do anything. The responsibility rests with them."

"I went through awfully easily," was Ald. W. A. Wilson's comment. "I am certainly surprised. I expected there would be a fight against it, and I am certainly disappointed that there wasn't." Dr. Stevenson's amendments to the bill were good, and it is a pity the Legislature didn't consider them."

Ald. B. F. Brighton said he was surprised at Dr. Stevenson's amendments to the bill. "It was very one-sided," he said. "I am disappointed that more members of the Legislature didn't take up the fight. There seems to be little use of the council trying to do anything."

GOVERNMENT CARRIES SHIPBUILDING ITEM BY 24 OF MAJORITY

House of Commons in Session Until 2:25 o'Clock This Morning.

Ottawa, April 14.—At ten minutes past two this morning the House divided on the two items specified in the motion of closure, moved when the House went into committee of supply at midnight, namely, the vote of $5,330,000 for shipbuilding and the interim supply vote. The motion had been debated since midnight under rules of closure, the speakers being limited to twenty minutes each.

The final vote on the mercantile marine stood 107 to 23 for the Government, a majority of 24, by which the two items carried.

An amendment introduced by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux that the total amount of interim supply vote be reduced by some $15,000, salaries of the purchasing commission, was lost by 26 votes. The National Progressives voted with the Government on the interim supply, and the motion was carried by 65, the vote standing: For 117; against 64.

The House adjourned at 2:25 a.m.

FRENCH AMBASSADOR CRITICIZED BY PRESS FOR ALLEGED NEGLECT

Paris, April 14.—Criticism of Jules Jusserand, French minister to the United States, for his alleged failure to keep the French public informed as to the state of affairs in Washington, appeared in editorials published here today relative to the message of President Harding to Congress. A number of this morning's newspapers, notably L'Homme Libre and the Gaulois, joined the Temps in deploring the state of affairs.

FORCED TO MARRY OR BE MAROONED ON DESERTED ISLAND

Chicago, April 14.—Declaring that she had been forced with twenty-four other couples to take part in a wholesale marriage ceremony while an inmate of the "House of David," a religious colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., Mrs. Hilda L. Hessel told her story to Judge Jesse Baldwin in circuit court here yesterday in an effort to have the marriage annulled. According to her testimony, all of the victims were forced to undergo the ceremony under threat of being marooned on a deserted island in the northern extremity of Lake Michigan.

She said that she was given only four hours' notice of the wedding and hardly knew the man she married.

Mrs. Hessel said that since the ceremony, which took place five years ago, she had left the House of David.

LORD CHALMERS COMING TO U. S. TO NEGOTIATE FOR FUNDING OF DEBT

London, April 14.—Lord Chalmers, permanent secretary of the treasury, will leave here Saturday for Washington to negotiate with the United States treasury department the funding of the British debt to the United States, according to the Daily Mail.

ERIVAN IS RECAPTURED.—London, April 14.—A Teheran dispatch to the London Times dated April 11 says that it is learned from reliable Armenian sources that Erivan was recaptured on April 2 by a mixed force of Reds, Russians, Georgians and Turks. The remnants of the Armenian army is reported to be in Zangazur, which is the only portion of the Armenian state not occupied by enemy forces. This is Erivan's fifth fall in four months.

NEUTRAL NATION WILL PRESENT GERMANY'S NEW PLANS TO SETTLE

President Harding Will Be Requested to Intervene.

Berlin, April 14.—Germania says today it understands the German Government probably will make use of an intermediary through whom it will submit new proposals to the Allies concerning reparations. The newspaper adds that a neutral power has offered to attempt to induce President Harding to intervene with the view to bringing about renewed negotiations between the Entente and Germany.

TEMPERANCE FORCES CONFIDENT OF LARGE VOTE NEXT MONDAY

Liberty Leaguers Predict Heavy Returns for the "Wets."

"Judging by the movement made along the temperance line this week, I feel confident that a large dry vote will be polled for London on Monday," said Rev. T. D. McCullough, secretary of the London Prohibition Association this morning, in respect to the referendum voting on Monday. During the past week scores of people have called at the headquarters of the temperance forces in the Bank of Toronto Building offering any assistance, motor cars etc., on the day of voting.

The Liberty League workers are also confident that a large wet vote will be cast on Monday, due to the fact that there are many who, though not advocating the open bar, are in favor of liquor being under Government control. The Liberty League workers will also be ready to take their voters to the polls on Monday.

Arrangements have been in London and in East Middlesex to have the results telephoned in to headquarters on Monday evening so that an estimate can be given out. It will be impossible to give the exact figures until some days later.

TARIFF BILL UP FOR DISCUSSION TODAY IN HOUSE OF CONGRESS

Washington, April 14.—With predictions of almost solid Democratic opposition, the emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill was slated for general debate in the House today under the progress contemplating a final vote on the measure before adjournment tomorrow.

EX-IMPRESS FUNERAL DELAYED.—Dorn, Holland, April 14.—German Government authorities have insisted that the taking of the body of the late former Empress Augusta Victoria from Dorn to Potsdam for burial be delayed, and the remains will not leave here until 24 day morning. It is announced.

Germany's Minimum Debt To Allies 130 Billion Marks

Paris, April 14.—Germany's obligation to the Allies will be fixed at between 130,000,000,000 and 150,000,000,000 gold marks by the Allied reparation commission, says the Echo de Paris. The newspaper adds the exact figure will depend upon the solution of cert. in questions still being considered. In case Germany resists settlement, the newspaper declares, it is accepted by the Allies that France will recall two classes of recruits to the colors and proceed to occupy the Ruhr basin. This district includes the most important coal mines and industrial plants in Western Germany.

BOTH "DRYS" AND "WETS" CONFIDENT AS VOTING DAY FOR PLEBISCITE APPROACHES

Intensive Campaign by Both Parties Has Been Waged Throughout Province — Prohibitionists Depending On Rural and Small Town Communities, While Antis Base Their Hopes On the Belief That Electors Have Worned of Liquor Legislation in Province.

Toronto, April 14.—(Canadian Press).—Ontario's "bone dry" prohibition race is in the home stretch. The province is in the latter half of the last week in what has been probably the warmest plebiscite campaign in its history. While meetings have been numerous and canvassers will be active on both sides of the question until the last minute before the polling on Monday next, it is thought that the peak of the activity of the pro and anti campaigners has been reached.

The question to be voted on by the registered men and women voters from one end of Ontario to the other is this: "Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the province be forbidden?" Already there is provincial law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in the province. The question of the referendum on Monday is simply to also stop the importations of the same from other countries, provinces or states. If the majority of the ballots are marked "yes," the Dominion Government will close the doors of Ontario to such importations, and the Ontario Government will seal the bargain by putting into operation what is known as the "Sandy bill" preventing "short-circuiting" or delivery from manufacturers and consumers in Ontario—there will still be no law to prohibit the manufacture within the province.

Government Control Discussed.—In the discussion at the meetings of both "bone drys" and "antis," has been much debated. There is, however, no question of Government control before the electors of Ontario in October, 1919, and was negated by a majority of more than 250,000. If Ontario votes "yes" the Dominion Government will be placed in the same category as the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Nova Scotia, which have already by popular vote of the electorate, prohibited the bringing in of liquor from outside their respective borders.

Both Sides Confident.—As might be expected, the leaders at the provincial headquarters of both sides of the fight are confident of victory. The executive of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, with their allied church and other organizations, predict an overwhelming victory for "bone dry prohibition." Some of the less optimistic, while conceding that some of the cities may vote "wet," count upon the rural districts and smaller villages and towns to turn the tide to a "dry" aggregate for the province. On the other hand, the provincial headquarters here of the Citizens' Liberty League hold the view that there has been a tremendous change in public opinion since the last referendum, when the "drys" obtained big majorities. The "drys" majorities, they say, will be changed to "wet," leaving the province just where it is in the matter of importation of liquor. Any form of sale of liquor in the province will still be illegal, of course, under the Ontario temperance act, no matter how the vote goes on Monday.

BOLSHEVIKI CLOSE FRONTIER AGAINST U. S. IMMIGRATION

Only Those Now On Way To Russia Will Be Admitted.

Liverpool, April 14.—Russian Bolsheviki authorities have closed the frontier of that country against immigration from the United States, according to a cablegram received by a local shipping company from its agent in Ljbaiv, on the coast of the Black Sea. The cablegram was accepted, however, from steamers already on their way to Russia from the United States.

The Soviet consul at Ljbaiv has issued a notice that immigrants arriving later than April 20 will not be admitted to Russia.

FIRST HUSSARS ATTENTION.—For the purpose of signing the payroll to be forwarded to Ottawa there will be a complete turnout of the First Hussars at the armories tonight. The announcement was made today by the commanding officer of the unit, Lieut.-Col. C. H. Reason, who stated that the roll would be ready for signature at 8 o'clock.

Lloyd George Appeals in Vain To Triple Alliance To Avert Biggest Walkout in History

Electric Sign At Prohibition Meeting Advised "Vote No"

Toronto, April 14.—There was practically no interruptions and absolutely no hecklers at the gigantic and fully enthusiastic "vote yes" meeting in the Arena last night, but it cannot be said that there was no dissenting voice. In the midst of the opening devotional exercises there appeared a sign in a corner of the rafters in great electrically-projected letters of black and white, the jarring message: "Don't be foolish—vote no." It had been sandwiched in among a lot of advertising slides on an electric lantern screen by some enterprising and jocular anti-prohibitionist. The appearance of this phantom in the roof caused some distraction among the 12,000 "bone drys" present. It remained in full view for some time till an usher climbed up to the big lantern and muzzled it with its "overcoat."

POLICE SEARCHING WELLS FOR EXPRESS COMPANY STRONG BOX

Operations Being Conducted Near Murrell's Home.

MAYOR LITTLE'S FARM

Possibility of Box Being Hidden On Delaware Farm.

Police are continuing their search for the strong box which was stolen from the Grand Trunk station last January. Their hunt has led them to a well near the home of William and Sidney Murrell, 210 Paddington avenue, Manor Park. Pumping operations are being conducted at this place, as it is said that there is a possibility that the strong box may be at the bottom of the well. Search has also been made in the neighborhood of the farm of Mayor E. S. Little at Delaware. There is also a deep well on the mayor's property.

POLICEMAN KILLED IN AMBUSH ATTACK BY SINN FEINERS

Two Persons Arrested in Raid On Bomb Factory.

Dublin, April 14.—Five policemen were ambushed last night at Fennemore County, Limerick, one of them being killed and three wounded.

Sinn Feiners then attacked the Fennemore barracks, but were repulsed after two hours of fighting. There were no casualties.

A Sinn Fein shoe factory here, which was used as an assembling shop for bombs, was raided last night, and two persons in it were arrested.

SINN FEINERS SHOT.—Dublin, April 14.—Sinn Fein Edward Vickers, a former Irish King-of-Arms, was shot dead this morning at Listowel and his residence burned.

Daylight Saving Lengthens Lives of Doomed Men

Chicago, April 14.—The lives of four men today were prolonged one hour.

The quartet is to be hanged Friday morning. Sam (the devil) Cardinella, leader of the dread Cardinella gang, one of the four, Wednesday morning asked George Lee what time the hanging was to take place. He was informed that 8 o'clock was the time set.

"Centrally standard or Chicago daylight saving time," asked Cardinella. "Chicago time," replied Lee. "It's in Chicago you're going to be hanged."

"Yes, but I was sentenced before the time was changed. This rearrangement of time deprives me of an hour of life. That won't mean anything after I am dead, but it will mean a lot Friday morning," was the comeback. "While there is life there is hope. I intend to stay alive just as long as I can."

The jail officials after a conference, granted the plea, and changed the time of the hanging to 9 o'clock.

Conference Between Union Officials and Premier Ends Without Any Progress Towards an Adjustment of Dispute Being Reached—J. H. Thomas States He Sees No Hope of Avoiding Strike.

1,500,000 MORE PROMISE SUPPORT.—London, April 14.—The Federation of General Workers, representing 1,500,000 persons in more than 100 industries outside the triple alliance, decided today to support the triple alliance in its strike in the interest of the striking miners.

London, April 14.—A conference held this morning between Mr. Lloyd George, the premier, and a delegation of officials of the triple alliance, which has called a strike for Friday night in support of the striking miners, was concluded within two hours without any progress apparently having been made toward an adjustment of the grave labor situation. It was reported from the conference that the premier made a long statement, appealing strongly to the railwaymen and transport workers, who, with the miners, made up the "triple alliance," asking them to exercise restraint and not precipitate a crisis.

The situation early this afternoon appeared unchanged, and the outlook gloomy.

THOMAS SAYS PROSPECTS GLOOMY.

London, April 14.—Officials of the triple alliance of labor visited Prime Minister Lloyd George at his residence in Downing street this morning and began a conference which may have a vital bearing on the industrial crisis.

Journalists were told by J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, that the call of laborers was at the invitation of Mr. Lloyd George, but the public was left to speculate whether this might indicate a new move toward a settlement of the labor controversy or whether the triple alliance was merely delivering its answer to the prime minister's letters, asking the grounds on which the labor forces had decided to call a strike on Friday. This letter, which was delivered yesterday, was considered as an effort on the part of Mr. Lloyd George to keep the way open for further negotiations.

The labor delegation left the prime minister's residence after a two-hour conference, Mr. Thomas saying he saw no prospect for re-opening pourparlers for the adjustment of the strike situation.

GARFIELD BROTHERS WITHOUT JUDGMENT, SAYS JAIL DOCTOR

Every Prisoner Guilty of Indictable Offence Mentally Deficient.

MURRELL STRUCK MOTHER

Dr. Wilson Tells of Conversation With Arrested Bandit.

Every prisoner, who has been placed in the county jail charged with an indictable offence and who afterwards has been proven guilty, has been found mentally deficient in some respect, Dr. James D. Wilson, jail physician, told an Advertiser reporter today.

The time to get the criminal in when he is going to school, at the age of about seven years. At this time the mentally deficient pupils should be weeded out and given special attention. As they grow older, they should be locked up, if their case warrants it."

"Those men in the jail, convicted of indictable offences lack judgment, and will be back at their old game again if given another chance. They can't help it."

"Those Garfields who were here lacked judgment. I never saw people with such weak faces in my whole life. Denton did not have the judgment of a 7-year-old child."

"One of those Murrell brothers, arrested Monday, was in the jail on one occasion because he had pounded his mother. I became quite friendly with the boy, and one day said to him: 'What was your object in pounding your mother, after she had worked hard while you were young to help put clothes on you and keep a roof over your head?'"

"He looked at me for a moment, and then said: 'None of your business.'"

THROGS ATTEND BURIAL OF VICTIM OF BANK BANDITS

Funeral of Russell Campbell
Is Held To Longwood Cemetery.

FULL MILITARY HONORS

Life of Deceased Should Be Inspiration To All, Says
Pastor.

(By Staff Reporter.)
MELBOURNE, April 13.—Russell Campbell, the victim of four youthful bandits who attempted to hold up the Home Bank here last Monday morning, was buried with full military honors in Longwood Cemetery here today. Never in the history of the township was the attendance at a funeral so large. Practically every citizen and farmer from the country for ten miles surrounding Melbourne was at the church and cemetery.

200 Cars in Line.
The funeral procession of nearly 200 automobiles was led by a firing party of sixteen from the Royal Canadian Regiment of London. The hearse then followed, and six Great War Veterans of Glencoe marched beside it. The chief mourners, namely, his mother, four sisters, Miss Jennie, at home; Mrs. McLaughlin, St. Thomas; Mrs. Lockwood, Elfrida; and Mrs. Whitefield, of Detroit, and three brothers, Dan, Robert and Stewart of this village, followed. Automobiles, estimated a mile in length, comprised the procession.

"Last Post" Sounded.
As the body was being lowered in the grave three shots were fired and the "last post" sounded. Soldiers stood at attention during this part of the ceremony. Rev. Dr. Rose of Delaware conducted the services at the grave.

When the body was taken from the home two lines of war veterans stood at attention and the firing party at "present arms." The boy and girl members of Mr. Campbell's Sunday school class carried the flowers to the grave. Wreaths were sent from relatives, the village, numerous residents, the church, the Home Bank, G. W. V. Association of London and the Automobile Association and his Sunday school class.

Services at Church.
The body was then taken to the church, where services were conducted by Rev. John Elder, and Rev. Dr. Brown of Melbourne, and Rev. Dr. Stewart of Dutton. Rev. Dr. Elder preached the sermon. In his opening remarks he said that Mr. Campbell was one of the most highly respected citizens in the village.

"Our dear departed brother will be missed by the community, church and Sabbath school," he declared. "He was one of the average young men of this district. His kindly presence in the streets, and the happy smile with which he greeted all, will no longer be here. Little did I think that last Sunday would be his last day in the choir. When I went to him while he was teaching his Sabbath class, not a single thought of the tragedy that followed on the next day came to me."

Russell Campbell has gone to a higher and nobler sphere. Powers and possibilities are there that are not within our reach here. He learned his lesson on this earth and was well prepared for the future life."

He told of his early enlistment for active service, and the way he helped to win victory.

Should Be Inspiration.
In conclusion, he said the life of this young man should be an inspiration to all who follow.

The church was filled at 1 o'clock, although the body did not leave the home till after 2 o'clock. At the conclusion of the service in the church, the casket was then opened in front of the edifice, and hundreds of people viewed the body.

All places of business were closed. Gen. H. A. Faneel, general officer commanding Military District No. 1, was represented by Col. W. H. Robinson of London. Major Arthur Mortimer, accompanied Col. Robinson. Traveling Representative A. Johnson of the Home Bank was also in the village. S. T. Stevens, district representative of Toronto, also attended the funeral.

All places of business in the village were closed at 1 o'clock. A number of carloads of Londoners were present.

Donations to Protestant Orphans' Home.

Mrs. F. Earl Johnston, secretary-treasurer of the Protestant Orphans' Home, gratefully acknowledges the following donations to the home:

W. C. A., candy and Easter eggs; Kent's Confectionery, buns and doughnuts; Girls' Social Service Club, a jolly motor ride for all the children; Chivas's Confectionery, two fruit cakes.

WOULD SELL FISH CHEAPER THAN CITY IF GRANTED STALL

W. J. Forrestal's Application
For Lease Is Laid Over,
However.

An investigation of the possibilities of obtaining cheaper fish for London will be undertaken by a special committee which was appointed by No. 1 committee of the city council Wednesday. This course was decided on after W. J. Forrestal had asked permission to open a fish stall in the basement of the market house. The municipality-owned stall is located there already.

Mr. Forrestal declared that the fishing industry had never been in such a state as the present. Large quantities of fish were being caught in the country because the owners cannot get rid of them. He claimed that he was in a position to obtain large quantities of these and to sell them at prices considerably below those now being charged at the city market. Fish is being sold at the city stall for 23 cents a pound, which could be sold for a profit at fourteen cents a pound, he asserted.

Highest in Canada.
Ald. Watkinson declared that London had the highest prices of any city in the Dominion. More competition is needed here, he said. Ald. Harley contended that if anyone should be able to bring down the price of fish, it should be the city fish stall. He saw this way by could not buy as cheaply as anyone else. Ald. Cameron Wilson said it was too important a matter for off-hand decision, and moved the appointment of a special committee to investigate the matter.

The committee's protest against the gas bill now before the Legislature was reiterated. Dr. Stevenson will be asked to continue his opposition to it, but will also be told that neither of the amendments he introduced are satisfactory to the city.

Ald. Wengle's plan to appoint a city press agent, was laid over. He declared that London was badly in need of such an official because many pamphlets and other booklets printed in the United States and elsewhere still credited the city with a population of 38,000, whereas it was nearer 70,000. City Clerk Baker reported that he had done some work for the city by sending 200 copies of the official year book to the travelers' club.

The Helena Power Company gave notice that it would close its plant for repairs and could not supply heat or power until October or November. One of the city buildings will be affected by the shutdown.

Altermann and Cameron Wilson were appointed delegates to a mass meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday to urge the Government to make an appropriation in its supplementary estimates for Port Stanley harbor improvements.

Ald. Watt attacked the policy of building an overhead bridge there. A jack-knife or swing bridge would be much better, he declared.

The Hydro Radial Electrical Association's account for $150 for the city's membership was filed. The committee some time ago referred it for payment to the public utilities commission, which referred it back again.

Provisions were made for expanding the bylaws governing restricted areas in the city. The committee will recommend that all classes of buildings which provincial laws permit the city to exclude from certain areas be prohibited in the new bylaw. This will include undertaking establishments.

The money paid by the city for the high cost of living committee's action against the City Gas Company. Examination of the minutes showed that the amount had been passed for the purpose of paying the account of J. M. Donahue, the solicitor of the committee.

This came to $350 and was duly paid over to him by J. F. Thompson, who happened to be an onlooker at the meeting, stated that the high cost of living committee had paid Mr. Donahue $5 on account before the grant from the city was received. As a result the committee was in the hole, he said.

"MOTHER" SHUTS DOOR
ON PAINTING GIRL

Young Woman Who Collapsed On Street Now in Hospital.

A young woman who fainted at the corner of Horton and Wellington streets about 8 o'clock Wednesday night was taken by a York Bonnet taxi driver to an address on York street east, where she claimed her mother lived. The taxi driver helped the woman, who had fainted twice also in the taxi, to reach the door of the house, but in answer to a ring an older woman appeared and refused to admit the woman, who called her mother. The taxi driver was ordered to take the sick woman away, but left her resting on the veranda while he telephoned for the police ambulance. When the police arrived the woman was still on the veranda, and she was taken to Victoria Hospital, where this afternoon it was stated she was recovering from her attack of illness.

HAS NOT DECIDED.
ST. JOHN, N. B., April 13.—Archdeacon Cody of Toronto, who is visiting St. John today, confirmed the cable from Sydney to the effect that he had been elected Archbishop of Melbourne. He added that he has the matter under consideration, but as yet had given no decision. The offer came to him wholly unexpectedly.

CHANGES OF SUCCESS GREATER THAN ARE THOSE OF FAILURE

Premier Drury's Verdict On Hydro's Chippewa-Queens-ton Scheme.

SECRET SESSION

International Questions Make It Inadvisable To Make Report Public.

TORONTO, April 13.—At a late hour this evening, Premier Drury, having returned from addressing the prohibition meeting at the arena, made a statement on the hydro-electric policy of his Government.

With the original scheme, he said, his administration had nothing to do. When the issue came before the public had reached their ultimate proportions, halting was impossible. There was only one possible course for the Government to pursue, and that was to shove through the project to completion.

"That we have done to the very best of our ability," said the premier. "We have encouraged and stood by the hydro."

Ignore the Report.
Regarding the Chippewa-Queens-ton power canal, the premier said the Cooper report was not encouraging, but after he and Col. Carmichael had spent two days at Niagara Falls it was decided that there was nothing to do but to go on—that the chances for success were many many times greater than the chances of failure.

Dealing with the report of the Lethbridge committee to consider ways and means for equitable distribution of hydro power, the premier said the committee had done great service in pointing out the needs of rural communities.

Tax Plan Not Best.
Something must be done to make life liveable for the women on the farms. He was not sure that the remedy suggested by the committee (the $2 per horse-power tax) was the best. When the present depression had passed away, possibly next year, the Government might do something to help distribute hydro power through the rural districts. The premier promised that the Government would not set apart for consideration of the Lethbridge report.

A session in camera to consider the Cooper report was suggested by Premier Drury on account of the important international bearing of some points touched in the report. Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and H. H. Dewar, K.C., are going to read over the report, and the premier will express his opinion regarding the secret session.

The hydro estimates were passed. The House adjourned at midnight.

Many Curious People Attracted To Scene of Tragic
Hold-Up.

[By Staff Reporter.]
MELBOURNE, April 13.—Interest resulting from the attempted hold-up of the Home Bank here last Monday morning, in which Russell Campbell met death by a bullet fired from one of the bandits' revolvers, is still high. The village has been visited here by curious people, and Manager B. E. McCandless has been asked numerous questions as to how the would-be robbers attempted the hold-up. Nearly all have been shown through the bank and pointed out the marks the bullets left. Some of them even attempted to extract a bullet from the ceiling of Manager McCandless' office. Pieces of glass in the door of the manager's office that had been hit by a bullet were taken as souvenirs. One unique fact was made known by an owner of a local store. A party from London was shown through the bank, and when shown the place, where a bullet had lodged in a telephone pole at the front of the bank, succeeded in carving out a piece of the wood which still bore the mark of the bullet.

Was Campbell's Fate
A B. Handley, a transport driver of Wolseley Barracks in London and a pal of Russell Campbell while overseas, did not know until arrival in the village this morning that the unfortunate victim was the one he knew while in France until he saw the remains in the home. "I had read," he said, "in the papers that a Russell Campbell had been killed, but I never noticed his picture. We were in the trenches side by side, and were together practically all our time while in France."

Numerous Congratulations.
Numerous telegrams of congratulations from different branches of the Home Bank throughout Ontario have been received by Manager McCandless, Miss Aggie Campbell and Miss Ida Wright for their heroic and assisting in the capture of the bandits. It was intimated that Miss Campbell will be rewarded by the head office of the Home Bank. Miss Campbell turned the combination of the safe, although a revolver was held at her breast. Both Miss Campbell and Miss Wright are in a nervous state and will not return to duty at the bank till next Monday. A teller and ledger keeper from London are taking their places.

Mr. McCandless is still suffering from the wounds on his head when he was hit with the butt of a revolver.

NATURAL GAS BILL
GOES TO COMMITTEE

Given Second Reading—Place
Control in Hands of Minister.

TORONTO, April 13.—A special committee of the Legislature will deal with Hon. Harry Miller's new gas control bill, which will place in the hands of the minister and a gas referee control over the production and distribution of gas, and the right to fix prices irrespective of contracts and franchise agreements. After being given a second reading today it was sent to the committee, which will be composed of the following: Hon. Mr. Miller, Messrs. Crockett, Stringer, Tolmie, Mosser (Welland), Henry, Allen and Bracklin.

EDUCATION BOARD CALLING TENDERS FOR NEW SCHOOL

Construction of Memorial Collegiate To Be Done by Contract.

Tenders for the construction of the Great War Memorial High School, or in other words, the new central collegiate institute, will be called for at once, according to a decision reached at a meeting of No. 3 committee of the board of education on Wednesday. All tenders must be in by April 15 or 19.

It required only a few minutes for the board to decide that the work should be done by contract instead of under the supervision of the public utilities after the plan followed in the building of the new Medical School. In awarding the contract the question of time as well as the cost will have considerable bearing on the choice of the committee.

No changes will be made to the plans as they now exist. Several proposed minor changes were discussed at the meeting, but they were rejected after some little discussion.

Beauty Hints
By Louise Glaum

That beautiful actress Louise Glaum says: "A girl or woman who is passed by without a glance of admiration has only herself to blame. No matter how irregular the features anybody who possesses a beautiful complexion will attract attention anywhere. It is now possible through the use of Derwillo for anyone to have a beautiful rosy-white complexion." If you would have a beautiful skin, soft, smooth, and velvety, just follow Miss Glaum's advice. You can get Derwillo from the toilet counter of any up-to-date drug or department store. It is famous for the instant results it gives. Put it on one side of your face and compare it with the other. Solving the Dressmaking Problem

DRESSES Made to $9.50 Measure

Beginning tomorrow, a special dressmaking sale will be conducted in the Dress Goods Department. We have perfected a plan whereby we are enabled to take orders for one-piece dresses and have them made from any material you may choose in the Dress Goods Section for $9.50, which price includes all trimmings, sewing, etc., everything but the bare cost of your goods.

Three Styles To Choose From

You see your dress finished before you leave your order—the models are on exhibition today in Dundas street window, and will be in the Dress Goods Section tomorrow for your examination. This system of dressmaking is so simple. You choose your material and decide on the style you prefer, no fitting or worry over trimmings, etc. Style 1, 2 or 3 is placed on your order, and your dress is completed to your measure and delivered all ready to slip on and wear. This opportunity will be appreciated by many owing to the difficulty in having materials made up at present caused by the scarcity of dressmakers. Order tomorrow and get first delivery.

Three Beautiful Styles $9.50 Includes All Trimmings and Making To Your Measure

Select any price wool dress goods, have your measures taken, select one of the three styles, and you'll have one of the smartest spring style one-piece dresses. The braiding or embroidery work, trimmings and sewings are included in the price for making.

THORNDALE, April 13.—The return of warm weather finds farmers all over this district making splendid progress with their spring work. No greas with their spring work. No recent heavy frosts. The outlook generally is regarded as most favorable and farmers predict splendid crops. A great deal of seeding is being done.

The Young People's Guild of St. George's Church held an afternoon tea on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Morrison. An interesting program was rendered.

Rev. R. J. Bowen, district secretary of the Western Ontario Bible Society, conducted union services on Sunday at Bethesda Church, at 11 a.m., at Grace Church at 3 p.m., and at St. George's Church, Thorndale at 7:30 p.m. Special music was rendered by union choirs.

On Monday evening an interesting illustrated lecture was given in the Methodist Church on "How We Got Our Bible" by Rev. Mr. Bowen and it was very largely attended.

The financial report given, showed that the total contributions to the Bible Society amounted to $860.22. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, W. N. Wright; vice-presidents, clergymen of West Nisour; executive committee, J. B. Harding, K. M. Whitehead, F. Lee, and H. B. Mossip.

A special feature of the meeting was the presentation by Rev. R. J. Bowen on behalf of the Western Ontario Bible Society of a beautiful Bible and life membership certificate to Miss V. M. Sinker, the retiring secretary.

Rev. Mr. Bowen in his address stated that the Thorndale branch is the first one in Western Ontario of which one of its members has been presented with a life membership certificate by the board of directors of the Western Ontario Bible Society for services rendered to the society.

SEIZED WHISKEY SHOULD BE SENT TO THE HOSPITALS

Would Save Institutions Much Money, Says Chief Birrell.

Should the whiskey which is confiscated by the local police be turned over to charitable institutions of the city for their use? Chief of Police Robert Birrell, who is in charge of the London officials believe that it should. There was a time when, with the permission of the Ontario Government, the police here were able to send the whiskey to the hospitals. Although some of the liquor was not fit for internal use it was good enough for external purposes.

The practice of donating the seizures to the hospitals saved the institutions considerable sums of money. No donations were made to them until the Government officials had been communicated with and their permission received.

When the last donation was made, a letter was received here from Toronto stating that the whiskey then in the hands of the police could be turned over to the hospitals, but the law should be carried out to the letter.

The whiskey which the police seize nowadays is turned over to Licensee Inspector J. E. Kneenleyside, who turns it over to the hospitals, and if it is found of a sufficiently good quality, is resold through the dispensaries.

Easy Money for the Government

Whiskey Fines Over Week-End Total $1,000.

Sergeant Thomas Noonan and Constable Leo Chamberlain made $1,000 for the Ontario Government in a half hour late Sunday night and for their efforts received $7.

Two small flasks of whiskey containing about one quart each were the means through which the money was secured. Two men in an auto were arrested with the flask, and gave information as to where they had purchased it. The man who sold the whiskey was arrested and fined $500 and costs and the two men were fined $200 and costs each. It took the donors a day behind the bars in the county jail to decide whether they would turn over their money to Police Court Clerk John Moulie.

PARTY OF IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE IN LONDON

Ninety Per Cent Married Men—Twenty Placed on Middlesex Farms.

A large party of immigrants arrived in London on Wednesday night in connection with the scheme of the Ontario Government for supplying help to the farmers in this part of the country. The party was in charge of John Farrell, chief of the department of immigration and colonization, who was recently appointed immigration officer here.

The immigrants came out on the steamer Corsica, which sailed from Liverpool, and they were met at Toronto by Mr. Farrell, who conducted them to London. On their arrival here they were taken to the Chances where they were to stay for the night, and this morning they were all distributed to different farms in Western Ontario.

About 30 per cent of those who came out from the Corsican are married men with their families, and about twenty families have been placed on farms in the London district, besides a number of single men. The immigrants are English, Irish, Scottish and Welsh, and they come from all over the United Kingdom. They are mostly men with experience in agricultural work, and, as a local official remarked, "are a very good-looking bunch."

A few immigrants who came out independently of the Ontario departmental scheme also passed through the city, and one or two of them have found situations here.

There were about 900 third-class passengers on the Corsican, and the vessel carried altogether about 1,300.

Another large party is expected by the Victorian, which is now due in port, and Mr. Farrell has gone to Toronto to meet those who are bound for points in Western Ontario.

MANY CIGARMAKERS STILL UNEMPLOYED, UNION OFFICIALS SAY

Thirty Leave City To Seek Employment in United States.

Although a settlement was reached with several of the local cigar factories one week ago, conditions among the cigarmakers of this city are still bad, according to officials of the Cigarmakers' Union. Owing to the fact that some of the largest factories in the city are still considered unprofitable, the unions think that many cigarmakers are leaving the city to take positions in the United States, where the trade is reported to be in a flourishing condition. More than 30 men have left London for this purpose during the past two weeks, according to local officials.

E. N. Compton, the fair wage officer of the department of labor in the Dominion Government, is expected in the city again this week. Although he was in London only one day last week he effected a settlement with several of the shops. It is expected that he will endeavor to open negotiations with some of the larger firms during his next visit.

Mr. J. Campbell Molnes, the distinguished baritone, who sings at the Crown Memorial choir concert in the C. M. C. auditorium tonight, has appeared recently in recital in New York. Mr. Molnes is singing a wonderful program tonight. Mr. George Reeves, pianist, will play a Chopin and Debussy group. Rev. Quilton Warner will contribute 'cello solos. The choir under Mr. Gilmour's direction will sing glees and part songs.

NOON-DAY FIRE.—The fire department extinguished a small fire at H. Hoffman's blacksmith's shop at 269 Adelaide street today at noon.

BANK CLEARINGS.—The bank clearings for this week were $3,257,749. For the same week last year they amounted to $4,045,357. This shows a decrease of $887,608.

COAL STOVE EXPLODES.—A coal oil stove in the home of Mrs. Williams, 175 Central ave., exploded last evening at 8:10 o'clock. The fire department was called and extinguished the blaze. The loss is estimated at $10.

NATURAL GAS WELLS.—London Chamber of Commerce will inquire into the claims of owners of wells in London East, who say that there is a flow of natural gas at the rate of 600,000 feet per day. Commissioner Estlin, of the natural gas commission, will inquire into the matter and submit a report as soon as possible.

PIPE LINE ROAD WIDENED.—Approximately 200 feet of the Pipe Line road west of the Woodland cemetery is being widened considerably. The road crosses a gully at this point and formerly was only 18 feet wide. When completed the road will measure 32 feet in width. The work, which is being undertaken by the county, will cost $1,000, it is estimated.

BUYS MORE PROPERTY.—Following definite assurance that A. L. O'Brien will not open an undertaking establishment on Queen's avenue, and had sold the property to the McClary estate, it was learned today that he had purchased the Teasdale property on the west side of Waterloo street, near the armories. The price paid is understood to be $14,000.

OLD-TIME PLAY COMING.—An old-time play, "The Young Country School-marm," will be presented by New St. James' Young People's Society in the schoolroom Friday evening, April 15. The play is a four-act comedy, old-fashioned in the main, but brought right up to date by some of the characters. The cast is headed by Misses A. Mahoney and L. Mottashed, and G. Reeve and S. Whyte. An augmented orchestra, under Madame Grant-Harris will furnish the music.

MIDNIGHT AUTO FIRE.—The fire department last night answered a call to 758 Dundas street, where a Ford auto, owned by Bert Jones of Wood's Fair, was destroyed by fire. Mr. Jones was fixing some part of the car, when it caught fire, but he escaped injury. The flames fortunately did not spread to the building, which is in an important East London business block. The burned car was standing at the rear of the store.

C. OF C. ADDRESS.—It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the Tecumseh House this evening at 8 o'clock to hear Henry Ledyard, the well-known Detroit barrister, give an address on "The Obligations of Citizenship." Mr. Ledyard is a brilliant speaker, and there will also be a select musical program submitted, in which Mrs. Ed. Wyatt and Harry Carson will take part. The dinner at which the address will be delivered is being given under the auspices of the members' council of the chamber of commerce, and women are specially invited.

Select Restaurant For Chinamen Only in Full Operation, Clarence St.

Advertiser Reporter Allowed One Peek Into Dim Interior, But Receives No Pressing Invitation To Enter—Chinese Dishes Make Up Menu.

There is one restaurant in this city where white men may not eat or where no one else may enter who cannot prove that his ancestral tree originated in the Orient. It is a Chinese cafe operated in the heart of this city by Chinese for Chinese only.

That anyone but Chinamen would have a difficult time entering the eating house was discovered by an Advertiser reporter this morning when he sought to visit the place just before noon. Liberally interpreting the new Chinese signs on the door to read "Chinese Restaurant," he turned the knob, but before the breach had widened beyond a few inches the crack was filled by a Chinaman who spoke English with a utmost difficulty. While effectively blocking the door by bare toes, peeping out of ragged straw sandals, the Oriental made it known that only Chinese could enter the place.

The disciple of Confucius admitted, however, that it was an eating place and that he had been questioned about several tables covered with oilcloth which could be seen in the dim interior through the narrow opening. The fact that the place was cleaned and renovated he could not recommend it to the London Board of Health.

The place was discovered by R. H. Sanders, the city's sanitary inspector, and as far as known, Mr. Sanders is the only white man who has been inside of the building. He told the proprietor that unless the place was cleaned and renovated he could not recommend it to the London Board of Health.

Old-Time Book Agent Practically Has Gone

NEW YORK, April 13.—Without any definite realization of the fact on the part of the present generation, the old-time book agent, who until comparatively recently was a familiar figure in all parts of the country, is vanishing slowly from contemporary life. His boon companions, the lightning rod agent and the raucous voiced vender of nostrums, who sold his wares and various other compounds under the glare of the gasoline torch, already have slipped into oblivion.

The increasing intelligence of both the rural and urban populations has done much to eliminate the traveling quack doctor and the lightning rod man from our social life. But it is the growth of advertising—the realization on the part of the publishers that books can be sold in greater quantities and at lower cost through the medium of newspapers and magazines than by the use of agents—that is responsible for the passing of the last figure in the once familiar trilogy of the traveling book agent. It was only a comparatively short time ago that publishers commenced to learn how to advertise their wares effectively—how to appeal to the emotions and curiosity of the book-buying public. Several nation-wide campaigns of publicity and advertising were conducted very successfully. The phrase "finish this story for yourself" became, and still is, one of the best known of all advertising slogans. The works of O. Henry, Kipling, Mark Twain, Jack London, Du Maurier and other noted authors were exploited according to modern commercial practice and the results obtained were effective. You cannot slam the door in the face of an alluring magazine ad and it is folly to set the bulldog on your favorite newspaper just because it is attempting to sell you a set of short story masterpieces or a universal compendium of knowledge. So, in the publishing business, as in many other enterprises conducted along lines that permit of advertising, the printed word has taken the place and usurped the function of the personal salesman.

Romance and Pathos.—There was a certain romantic and, at the same time, pathetic aspect to the wandering profession that practically has disappeared before the efficiency of new commercial methods. Book agents for the greater part were either innocently young or pathetically old. The field attracted those who were starting out in life because always it offered an opportunity to make a living; and it was a refuge to life's failures, who turned to it when there seemed to be no other niche in the world wherein they could fit.

There were a few agents who were fitted by temperament to the arduous task of selling books to people who were determined not to buy them, and agents of this type found the business a lucrative one. The book agent who was successful, however, probably could have reaped rewards as great, if not greater, selling oil stoves in equatorial climates. For the book agent generally was considered a peddling that he was given a greeting that accorded with his reputation at the majority of doors at which he knocked. He needed cunning of Machiavelli to secure an opportunity even to start a sales talk, and before a sale could be "closed" he must have recourse to a forceful and insidious type of salesmanship.

Before an agent was sent into the field he was thoroughly coached in the present and was obliged to commit to memory various "patterns" that might be used in selling his offerings. It is there where he does not remember the type of agent who lacked the faculty of salesmanship altogether? He may have been a young cherub checked the summer to pay his tuition during the winter months at school; it may have been an old man with a goatee and an air of faded respectability; but in either case, once having gained admission to a home or office, he would recite his sales arguments in a singsong, mechanical manner which at once disclosed their origin to an observant person.

The "instructions" to agents included not only various statements intended to prepossess the prospect in favor of the set of books or the ponderous tome which the agent was peddling, but they also provided for the handling of the busy housewife, whose workaday temper was never improved by finding an agent at the front door after she had discarded her apron and apron and dust cap in response to his knock.

Easiest of Victims.—The book agent, however, preferred to deal with women; for they are easier victims than men, particularly when his appeal to them could be founded on the assumption that the literature he was selling would be of inestimable value to their children.

Perhaps the last distinctive phase of book agenting came a very few years ago with that type of salesman who urged his wares on the basis that he was endeavoring to work his way through college. For a short time agents who used this method of approach were very numerous. They were both male and female, and their introduction consisted of the simple request for the "vote" of the prospect. This opened the conversation and it then developed according to the plausible agent, that there was a country-wide contest being conducted by some benevolent association and that the person getting the most "votes" would get a free college education.

Needless to say, in order to cast a "vote" in behalf of the apparently sincere and earnest young person who applied for your patronage it was necessary for you to buy a certain book or set of books. This game produced splendid results for two or three years, but the public soon became aware of the fact that, in most instances, the assertions of the agents were devoid of truth with the result that the "aspiring student" type of agent lost much of his or her effectiveness.

Throughout the country what might be termed the genius itinerant is disappearing. Chatterboxes and quacks of various kinds still linger in the backwoods districts, but for the greater part they have gone and left only memories behind them. The book agent, however, has left his imprint in every community—the book shelves in homes in the rural districts and the smaller cities testify to his activities long after his species has become extinct. Now, and for a long time to come, the gloomy libraries in old-fashioned American homes will contain the inevitable volumes of the "which, madam, will save its cost in three months by eliminating the necessity of summoning the physician for those slight ailments to which mankind is heir," the encyclopedia "which is a beacon light of knowledge and which should be in every family which desires the innumerable benefits of erudition," the impressive little volume with the black cover which exposes the wiles and the wickedness of slick city crooks and which states emphatically, among other precepts, that one "must never sign a paper for a stranger."

And those few, save those who deplore the passing of certain picturesque phases of American life, will mourn the passing of the book agent. For, in the face of obstacles that only the less or desperate spirits could surmount, they carried the first flickering light of culture and education into byways that otherwise might long have been left unilluminated.

Trades Union Resent Bureaucratic Methods of the Soviet Government.

STOCKHOLM, April 13.—Russian peasants south of Moscow gladly sell a horse for three boxes of matches or a kilo of salt, it is declared by persons said to be in touch with conditions in the interior of the country. Observers cite this state of affairs as the cause of the counter-revolution in March when, they say, began to take definite form in January. Unwieldiness of the soviet administrative machine, the difference among the Bolshevik leaders, and the fuel crisis, the consequent stoppage of transportation and lack of food, are given as the reasons for the subversive movement.

Discontent which was prevalent throughout Russia during the war period, but concealed in the presence of the invading enemy, could no longer be repressed when the fighting returned home to find want and distress. The first signs of revolt against the existing order are said to have been apparent at the Russian trades union congress in Moscow last November. There were further evidences of dissatisfaction in the eighth All-Russian Soviet Congress, which convened in splendid at Moscow. These symptoms of dissatisfaction, it is stated, were unapparent on the surface, but made themselves felt among those behind the scenes. Harmonious resolutions were adopted, but the attack came from a quarter whose importance could not be doubted. In this eighth congress, the metal workers and miners' unions, led by Schliapnikoff, urged the democratization of the government, which, it was charged, was military and bureaucratic. Schliapnikoff also demanded that the food administration be placed entirely in the hands of the trade unions. This was plainly an attack against the communist executive committee and the highest soviet authorities.

Press Aggressive.—More recently the press of the country has shown signs of greater freedom, and has not hesitated to attack policies of the government, which, it is said, has intrusted itself by appointing thousands of petty officials.

Press controversies have revealed animosities between leaders. For instance, Trotsky and his followers are declared to be set upon a policy of nationalization of trade unions, whereas Lenin believes it wiser to maintain the independence of the unions apart from the government, and to use them as training schools for communism.

And there are numerous other groups which, it is stated, are bent upon other projects, revealing a tendency to destroy the former unity of front in Russian policy. Within recent weeks the transportation of coal from the Donetz valley has grown steadily less. The production was between 300,000 and 400,000 tons monthly, but only about 150,000 tons were loaded for rail haulage, due to the practice of expropriation by subordinate soviet corporations or councils. Simultaneously with the reduction in the coal supply, there was an almost complete cessation of delivery of wood.

In addition to this, the snowless winter and the slaughter of horses in 1920 added to the difficulties of local transportation. Lack of fuel resulted in the shutting down of rail traffic. According to soviet newspapers no trains are running on 30 lines, and on the others only the minimum schedules are being maintained.

Little hope for improvement is held out unless supplies of naphtha at Baku can be brought into the centre of the country.

LIQUOR SLEUTHS HAD CLOSE CALL

Tasted Nitro-Glycerin To See If It Was Booze.

TORONTO, April 13.—Two liquor sleuths had a lucky escape from death at Mount Forest, Ont. "Bel" Mullen of Leamington, who shot for the Canadian Oil Field, Limited, now on a visit to this city, states that two days ago he was on his way to the oil fields near Flesherton with a load of nitro-glycerine, a highly explosive material. In compliance with the law, he left his load outside the limits of the town of Mount Forest when he arrived there. He did not tell everybody his business, either. The automobile, with its cargo of cans, soon excited the interest of the booze detectives and a couple of them decided to investigate. They did so, Mullen even swears that they tasted the stuff to see just what brand of booze de month it was, whether they liked the taste is not reported, but anyway they handled the stuff rather roughly and left the cans scattered all over the ground. "The wonder is," comments Mullen, "that they weren't blown to a country that is even drier than this. It's a miracle that they are alive."

T. AND L. COUNCIL WORKING HARD TO HELP UNEMPLOYED

Opens Bureau in Machinists' Hall To Find Jobs For Jobless.

M. C. R. SHOPS ARE BUSIER

Staff To Be Increased by Taking On Thirty Additional Men.

ST. THOMAS, April 13.—The trades and labor council in their endeavor to help the members of the unions out of employment are meeting with all sorts and conditions of people.

A bureau has been opened at the Machinists' Hall, Talbot street, to receive donations and advise intending employers where they may secure every kind of help. So far employment has been found for half a dozen of the members, and contributions amounting to $25 have reached the bureau from those employed throughout the city.

The M. C. R. Helps.
Over 20 men were taken on at the M. C. R. shops today, and another 40 employees will return to the shops on Saturday. The merchants, too, are showing practical sympathy for the families of the unemployed, and are finding odd jobs for the heads of the households. Over 600 men are idle in the city, but with the opening of the spring season employment will be found for many of them. There are many serious cases of destitution in the city.

Roof on Fire.
The fire department was called to the residence of Mrs. A. J. Ward, Wellington street, tonight, to put out a blaze in the roof, caught from a spark falling from the chimney. The fire was controlled before making any headway, the damage amounting to about $20.

No Pay For Sunday.
Judge Ermatinger decided at an action in the division court today that, although hired to work for seven days, payment for Sunday's employment was included in the week's engagement. J. M. Wilson was hired by the local garage proprietor as driver and mechanic's helper. He sued to recover for Sunday's work. Wilson testified that he engaged with Mr. Leitch for six days a week at $25, 10 hours a day, and he had also been giving his services on Sunday, and demanded an extra allowance. Mr. Leitch swore he had employed by the week, and there was arrangement as to additional pay for Sunday. His honor held that Mr. Wilson failed in his action to recover for the Sunday work, and was not entitled to extra pay. Mr. Wilson was given judgment for $7, claimed for the portion of the week included in the dismissal notice. Hugh C. Cameron acted for plaintiff, and A. A. Ingram for defendant.

A S. O. S. Call.
Besides affecting the coal humps in the local dealers' yards, the atmosphere, too, is dealing kindly with the municipal code output at the gas works. For the first time in months Manager Coughlin has sent out a S. O. S. call for customers.

Several Cars Derailed.
The journal of a fast freight on the G. T. R. Wabash giving way near Thamesville this morning, several cars were derailed, and both lines were blocked for some hours. Wabash passenger train No. 3 and No. 5 were derailed over the Pere Marquette Railway.

Gleaners Mission Circle.
The Gleaners Mission Circle of the First Methodist Church organized for the year last evening, and named as president, Miss W. Graham; first vice-president, Mrs. Eckel; second vice-president, Miss Stone; recording secretary, Mrs. Mann; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Turnbull; treasurer, Mrs. O. Jones; mite-box superintendent, Miss M. McKellar; birthday box, Mrs. Elliott; pianist, Mrs. T. J. Kennedy; Mrs. E. McElroy was appointed delegate to the branch meeting at Listowel, with Miss A. Osgood as alternate.

VETERANS LOSE $900 BY SALE OF BONDS

Finance Committee of Government Refused Any Consideration of Case.

BRANTFORD, April 13.—In a statement issued today, the local G. W. V. A. show that over $900 was lost last year through the necessity of selling Victory bonds on hand. The veterans appealed to the finance department for consideration, but they received no consideration.

Water street, for many years a mere back lane for front street merchants, will be widened and placed in condition to accommodate overflow traffic from the east and west sections of the city.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT MAKES STATEMENT

Claims Made That Miners Have Misunderstanding of Government's Proposals.

LONDON, April 13.—An authorized statement in behalf of the Government removing misunderstandings, said to exist among the miners on the interpretation of the Government proposals. The statement emphasizes the national character of the proposed wage adjustment, and says that every district adjustment is to be made on national principles, nationally determined, and that if there is any dispute it shall be referred to a national committee of owners and miners.

"It will be seen, therefore," says the statement, "that the proposal carries out in all its details the principle of national wages board."

The statement further describes as a fallacy the miners' contention that a national settlement of wages depends on a national pool of profits.

SARNIA C. OF C. APPROVES AID TO WESTERN UNIVERSITY

Opposed to Railway Board Control of Steamship Lines.

SARNIA, April 13.—At a meeting of the directors of the chamber of commerce today a resolution was adopted urging provincial aid to Western University, London.

After hearing an address by E. W. Holton, of the Northern Navigation Company, with reference to the Armstrong bill, which proposes to place steamship lines on inland waters under control of the railway commission insofar as rates are concerned, the board went on record as being unanimously opposed to the proposed bill.

WEAK POINTS SEEN BY SEA EXPERT IN U. S. BATTLE CRAFT

Briton Doubts Advantage of Sacrificing Speed For Higher Gun Power.

SEES JUTLAND IGNORED

England Sure Her Latest Will Hold Supremacy For at Least Two Years.

LONDON, April 13.—Rear-Admiral Sir Walter Cowan, who has taken over command of the battle cruiser squadron of the Atlantic fleet of the British navy, replacing Rear-Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, will have the distinction of flying his flag aboard what the British call the world's most powerful warship, the Hood. British naval experts think that the Hood will hold her position for at least two years before she is out-classed by America or by Japan. By then, however, Great Britain's four new capital ships will be well advanced in building.

Rear-Admiral Sir Walter Cowan is one of the youngest flag officers in the British navy, being still under 50 years old. He was last employed in command of the Battle force.

The British think that America disregarded the lessons of the Battle of Jutland in planning and building the sides of warships, which proved so successful in the British navy, it has not yet disclosed its alternative principle of defence against submarine attack.

Two Slow Says Russell.
Attention was called to the fact that while the United States naval construction board declined to adopt the so-called "bulge" principle, applied to the sides of warships, which proved so successful in the British navy, it has not yet disclosed its alternative principle of defence against submarine attack.

Sir Herbert Russell, naval correspondent for the Western Morning News and Mercury of Plymouth, thinks it is rather a remarkable fact that the ships of the Colorado group are only designed to make 21 nautical miles an hour.

"They were not planned until after the Battle of Jutland, and so there had certainly been an opportunity to embody all the more obvious lessons of that fight in their specifications," Sir Herbert says. "And surely one of the most self-evident of these lessons was the high value of mobility. Admiral Viscount Jellicoe told in his history of the Grand Fleet of the disadvantages which he found himself placed in by the unsuspicious speed of the new German capital ships. Yet for some inexplicable reason the American naval designers appear wholly unimpressed by this tactical demonstration."

Sir Herbert admits that what is gained in speed is lost in power and in other directions, the principle of which is illustrated in the distinction between battleships and battle cruisers. He says that the saving in space and in weight effected in the Colorado as against a British battleship of the near, yet corresponding design would permit the development of other essential features in a greater degree.

Victory to Fastest, His Theory.
"It may be taken as a definite tactical doctrine that henceforth all naval battles will be running fights, both sides ceaselessly manoeuvring for the better position," he continues. "Superior power of gunfire might possibly be regarded, at any rate, as neutralizing the benefit of higher speed, but within such limits as are very rarely applied in fleet action, this is very questionable. The 16-inch guns of the Colorado may deliver heavier, more smashing blows than the 15-inch guns of the Queen Elizabeth, but seeing that both weapons have an effective range beyond the limits of visibility in ocean battle, it is more than doubtful whether the small advantage had by the harder hitting gun is an adequate compensation for the sacrifice of four knots in speed."

"Lord Fisher in the early days of the war declared that the battleship was at such a relative disadvantage as compared with the battle cruiser, that he revised a prearranged program for new construction, substituting the latter for the former. The consequence was that this gave us the Repulse and the Renown, and the extraordinarily fast 'hush hush' ships (Glorious and Furious, with 15-inch guns and light armor), and had the war lasted a few months longer we would now possess four Hoods instead of one."

LACK OF PROTECTION CAUSES CLOSING OF BIG STEEL PLANT

Armstrong, Whitworth of Canada, Ltd., Blames Government For Situation.

MONTREAL, April 13.—The plant of Armstrong, Whitworth, of Canada, Limited, at Longueuil, will be closed down. On behalf of the management it was stated that owing to the failure of the Dominion Government to give protection on manufacture of locomotive steel tires this line of manufacture had to be discontinued. The company also made high-speed and carbon tool steels. During the war the company employed several thousand men, but this number has dwindled gradually to a few hundred since the armistice. The company is a branch of the great steel firm which operates the Elks yards on the Tyne in England.

WEST ELGIN MEMBER IS VERY INQUISITIVE

TORONTO, April 13.—P. G. Cameron, U. F. O. member (West Elgin), inquires of the Government:
1.—How long have private living rooms been furnished for cabinet ministers in the Parliament Buildings?
2.—How many rooms were furnished and used by cabinet ministers prior to the present Government taking office?
3.—Were any rooms occupied by others than cabinet ministers?
4.—If so, by whom?
5.—Has it been the custom for cabinet ministers to take furniture and other furnishings from these rooms when vacating their office?
6.—Did any of the cabinet ministers of the late Government take any furniture or other articles from these rooms when retiring from office?
7.—If so, who were they, and what were the articles taken?
8.—Who gave them authority to take them?

AN ILL-ADVISED MOVE.

Premier Meighen will not gain anything in the estimation of the people of Canada by his action in using closure to stop discussion of estimates in the House. Canadians have had ample opportunity to test Meighen and the principles he stands for, and there is little doubt what the verdict will be. The instant the closure has been imposed in connection with supply, and there are many even among his own supporters who believe the premier was a little hasty in its imposition, and would have been better advised had he permitted the Opposition a period of discussion. As it is, he has opened the way for quick action in the matter of getting through the interim supply bill, and of passing the $8,000,000 shipbuilding estimate, but, on the other hand, he has taken from the Opposition the heavy responsibility of further blockading tactics. Few governments since Confederation have been pressed so hard as has the Meighen Government in this its first session of Parliament. The Borden Government was pressed hard in 1912-13, but the Borden Government commanded a majority of over 40, and Premier Borden had a fairly strong and resourceful cabinet behind him. Because of circumstances over which he had little control, Premier Meighen was compelled to renege what, after all, was only the residue of the Union cabinet of 1917, and it is becoming more and more evident, as the session proceeds, that he can only rely upon himself at a pinch. To be called upon at all times to answer for the Government is a tax on any man's strength, and the premier is not physically strong. A continuation of the present tactics by the Opposition—and there is no indication that the Opposition intends to let up—is wearing on the nerves. The handy antidote is closure. The premier wants to get away to England in June. Closure will be used to get him there, regardless of the rights of the people of Canada. There comes a time in the life of all autocrats when they must answer to the people. The fall of the autocrat is hard, and unless all signs fall Premier Meighen is due for the most terrific bump that any Canadian premier has ever received. Every day that he insists on remaining in office, for which he has no mandate from the people, and committing acts which arouse all lovers of fair play and justice, means just that many more electors antagonized.

THE LONDON DRAMA LEAGUE.

The London Drama League is demonstrating that there is a place in the cultural life of London for more attention to the drama. The program that was given in Cronyn Memorial School Hall this week was an indication of the much greater work that might be done if London possessed a community theatre. That is one of the aims of the Drama League, to bring about the establishment of a community theatre that will encourage local players and local playwrights, too, if we develop them as we should.

The union in the drama of all the arts, music, painting and sculpture, was emphasized by Sir Martin Harvey in addressing the Canadian Club recently. The combination of all three was charmingly illustrated Monday evening in the dramatic reading, accompanied by music, of Robert Browning's poem, "A Toccata of Galuppi's," to which the original prologue, read by Miss Grace Blackburn, contributed so much. No more artistic setting and reading has been seen or heard in London in some time.

The Little Theatre movement, as it is sometimes called, is making headway all over America. In Mon-real 25 citizens put up a guarantee fund to insure the success of this first season's work of the Community Players. So successful has the work been that already the guarantee has been returned. During the season Montreal people have been able to see a series of most interesting plays, several of them Canadian, of a type which seldom secures presentation in the ordinary professional theatre, while the performances themselves have been of a high order of merit. Toronto's community theatre work centres in Hart House at the University of Toronto, and is perhaps as noteworthy as any work of its kind being done on the continent. But, great or small, as the work may be, the point is that there is brought to bear upon the community an influence that is educative, artistic and cultural, and it will not be denied that in a new and growing country, where material things always obtrude, we need all three of these higher qualities.

SERIOUSNESS OF THE HOUSING PROBLEM.

The high cost of building material, the rapidly increasing population, and the enormous annual destruction of dwelling houses, in which there were 5,644 fires last year in Ontario, have combined to make the housing problem one of the most serious and acute proportions. Ontario is noted for its extravagance through unnecessary fire waste, which is nothing short of an economic crime, caused chiefly through our careless habits and indifference.

Statistics show that 64 per cent, or practically two out of every three fires which occur, are in our homes; 80 per cent of which are preventable.

The Ontario Fire Prevention League, in affiliation with the fire marshal department, has inaugurated a province-wide publicity campaign for the purpose of conserving our homes, as well as our lives, from destruction by fire. The boys and girls of the province will be called upon to assist in this most desirable and patriotic movement. Through the principals and teachers of our schools the league will distribute 250,000 copies of a "Home Inspection Blank," so that the pupils, with the help of their parents, may answer the questions. The primary object is to clean up attics, cellars, backyards, and remove hazardous conditions, the underlying thought being to prevent fires by removing the cause, and thus save our homes.

BOLSHEVISM DEFEATS ITSELF.

The world is learning little by little what happened at the recent Bolshevik Congress, and as the facts come out it is becoming more apparent all the time that Lenin has right-about-faced on some of his principles; that he has forewarned communism, and that the whole soviet system, as far as economic organization goes, is at an end. The latest news from Russia indicates that it has been borne in forcibly upon Lenin that the Russian peasants, and that means the majority of the Russian people, are not to be induced to accept communism. Lenin and his colleagues in the dictatorship are going to let the peasants have their way. The peasants will keep the land they have, raise what crops they choose, and sell these crops in the best way they can. Until very recently it was the ruling of the soviet that each peasant family keep only enough food for its requirements. The soviet appropriated the rest for general distribution. Under the new plan the soviet will follow a system very similar to that of the old church tithing system. It will levy a 10 per cent tax, only to be taken in kind.

Lenin has seen the handwriting on the wall. If the soviet had insisted on the old form of government it was only a question of time when there would be a general revolt. The Russian peasants were growing tired of having their crops commandeered for the workers in the towns and cities, and were ready to stop producing. In the long run, the peasant, the producer, undoubtedly had the whip-hand, and Lenin knew it. The soviet leader had tried to defy many economic laws, but he was shrewd enough to see that ruin lay ahead if he continued confiscating crops.

This is a most important development. It means that over the immense Russian territory the basic principle of communism has been dropped, and the basic principle of private profit revived. There are many who believe it means a good deal more. It may mean the beginning of the end for Lenin. Those who have been wondering why the British Government was the first to renew trade relations with Russia see in recent developments a partial answer. The British Government does not enter blindly into commercial pacts. The recent statements of Sir Paul Dukes, head of the British secret service in Russia, who returned after spending two years there in disguise, shed a little further light on this subject. Unquestionably the reports of Sir Paul were a factor in the decision to again enter into trade relations with Russia. He predicted a new day dawning for Russia. The peasants, he stated, were disgusted with what has been happening, and millions of people were longing for a change. Apparently that change is coming, and with it may shortly come new leaders in Russia. In one way perhaps Bolshevism may be said to have defeated itself.

THE PRINCE IN TEARS.
[Quebec Telegram.]
The many sided character of the Prince of Wales was further illustrated the other day in a very human incident, in which he was taken quite unawares, and though for a moment caught without his usual sang froid was the centre of a scene creditable alike to his heart and to his manhood. He had been visiting a number of homeless soldiers and was about entering his car when he was attracted by the cheers of a number of other soldiers on a stand close by. Hurrying across to greet them he extended his hands to Pte. Campden of the Leinster Regiment, before noticing that the man was armed, and his hands immediately filled with tears. He entered into conversation with Campden and his companions, but for some time his voice betrayed his deep emotion. Sympathy is indeed the one touch of nature that makes the whole world kin.

IN WIERLAND.
[Edgar's Zavis.]
I fared on a journey to Wierland! I went with my love down to Wierland; And there we wandered together 'Mid the fragrant flowers of the brain.

The posies of poetry gathering
As we passed through the aromatic plane.

It's delightful to wander in Wierland! To go with my love down to Wierland! Where the roses and posies are found All budding and blooming perennial. As the pictures the poets have penned Of the perfect, poetic millennial.

"But what do you hear in your Wierland; Astray with your love in your Wierland?"

We hear the singing of angels,
The music we hear of the spheres;
And the prayers of penitent mortals
Too holy for mortal ears.

"Pray! what is it like in your Wierland; Astray with your love down in Wierland?"

The weather rare as the springtime,
With the dreamy-like haze of September;
You drink the old wine of delight
Made mellow by joys you remember.

It is lovely to linger in Wierland,
Astray with your love down in Wierland;
The air it is perfumed with spices;
The colors are like a sunset; And the stars are like a night sky;
Are the laws of love and of duty.

"Pray show me the way to your Wierland; I would wander alone down in Wierland."

The way it is simple and easy,
But you can't go alone, my Brother!
But the portals will open at four
When once you are helping some other.

LENIN AND THE AMIR.
[Manchester Guardian.]
Full evidence is to hand of the lengths to which the Soviet Government has gone to secure the co-operation in its international affairs of the Middle Eastern peoples. A correspondent of the Times is able to send the full text of the treaties which the Soviet Government has concluded with Persia, and with Afghanistan. They prove, for the first time, that in foreign affairs Lenin practices what he preaches. Russia gives away, both hands the concessions, spheres of influence, buildings, railways, and even territories which Russia has acquired, and loses no chance, in the clauses which announce her generosity, of denouncing the former "capitalist" and "imperialist" regime. The propaganda is no doubt directed in part towards the Afghans, but the Persian gets solid benefits in cash, land, and freedom, which may well serve to establish the friendship and the trading facilities which she so badly needs. The condition is made that Lenin's party permit him to receive the benefits which Russia relinquishes.

RECALLED.
[Edwin Arlington Robinson.]
Long after there were none of them alive
About the place—where there is now no place
But a walled hole where fruitless vines embrace
Their parent skeletons that yet survive
In evil thorns—none of us could arrive

At a more cogent answer to their ways
Than one old Isaac in his latter days
Had humor or compassion to contrive.
I mentioned them, and Isaac shook his head:
"The Power that you call yours, and I call mine,
Extinguished in the last of them a line
That Satan would have disinherited.
When we are done with all but the Divine,
We die." And there was no more to be said.

THE WING-MAKER.
[William Thompson, F.R.G.S.]
One day a little Elfish man,
Amid his wanderings,
Espied a funny little Crow
Who manufactured wings,
And to his factory all the birds
With any wings to mend,
Would go as fast as they could hop,
And he'd their needs attend.

The Crow, friend of the little man,
And much to his surprise,
Presented him a pair of wings
Of most unusual size.
It pleased the little man so much
The wonder-wings to see,
He lost all self-control, 'tis said,
He ekipped and danced in glee.
And when the Crow tried on his wings,
To see that they were right,
The little Elf said "Thank you, Sir,"
And flew right out of sight.

JOHN BURROUGHS.
[Isabel Fiske Comati.]
There was a singing in the trees.
Like a keening when one grieves.
"We have lost him who long loved us,"
Said the leaves.
"He was one who walked our ways
To the fullness of his days.
This, our friend, we shall remember
In our mourning next September,
We shall mourn for him in gold,
Brilliant shall our grief be told."
There was a singing in the trees.
There was a singing in the branches,
And those first of April birds
Echoed far in heaven's ranches.
Where bird-minds are as words.
"Let us sing of him with joy,
Face of sage, and heart of boy.
Heur nesting was bafflingly
Now he hears us without ending.
We around his ways shall gather
In the land of the All-Father."
There was a singing in the trees.

OTHERS' VIEWS

FARMERS AND MANUFACTURERS

[Farmers' Magazine.]
Farmers and manufacturers should understand each other better. Give each side a fuller appreciation of the viewpoint of the other, and it will be found that their interests are not so antagonistic as the extremists and fanatics of trouble on each side would have us believe. Fire-eating farmers who would upset all barriers to trade and national unity everything but their own farms, as well as the selfish interests among the manufacturers who think the whole country must contribute to their support, no matter who is hurt, a La Murray type—both together should be relegated toreland, where kicking around the pamperium seem the order of the day.

BANISH THE BOOZE.

[Farmers' Magazine.]
Old John Barlevorn is the most persistent scoundrel out of jail. We thought we had him dead and buried in October, 1919, but he has been kicking around in jail ever since that the people of Ontario are going to give him another, what they hope will be a knockout blow on April 18 next.

Ever since the Dominion Government lifted the war-time ban on liquor importations, the stuff has been coming in here in trainloads. And the present state of affairs is a travesty of justice and decency. Liquor of all kinds has been coming into the cellars of the province until the bedevilment threatens to undermine our social and national well-being.

By the way, is it not a strange circumstance that the Union Government should think it is duty bound to release the war-time restrictions and not duty bound to go to the country for re-election?

Now the people of Ontario are asked to vote against the importation of liquor, and by the Dominion act as well as by the Sandy bill in the Legislature the thing looks as if it would be sewed up tight as is humanly possible if the people vote right. And they owe it to themselves to do so.

The wet forces are resorting to every known tactic to secure a loophole in the present law, and to discount this vote in the eyes of the people. The Liberty League is a most persistent fighter for run. And it would seem as if the law makers are in league with those who want the traffic to continue.

Else how can we explain away the belated date for this vote? How can we explain away this middle of the revision of the voters' lists? The main plea by the Dominion Government for the postponement of the date of the referendum is that the lists are in the worst shape they have been in for some time. So much for Union Government efficiency!

KEEPING SECRET OF FUNERAL PLANS FOR FORMER EMPRESS

Services Postponed at Doorn Until Sunday Next.

Doorn, Holland, April 13.—Elaborate precautions were taken here today to keep secret the time when the body of the late former Empress of Germany was to be taken from the House of Doorn to the railway station at Maarn. Every effort was also made to prevent the route over which the train would go to Potsdam from becoming known.

SERVICES ARE DELAYED.

Paris, April 13.—Funeral services in memory of the late former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany at Doorn have been delayed, according to a dispatch received here. It is said they will be held at Doorn on Sunday, and at Potsdam next Tuesday.

HARDING'S POLICY ON LEAGUE ANTICIPATED BY FRENCH OFFICIALS

Paris Newspaper Sees No Cause for Either Alarm or Joy.

Paris, April 13.—Perrinax (political editor of the Echo de Paris), dealing with President Harding's message to the United States Congress, said: "There is no longer any doubt as to the policy the new American president and his advisers intend to pursue. It was not generally expected that Mr. Harding would announce immediately his desire to see the theoretical state of war with Germany ended. France for the past two years has been consistently mistaken about America. Shall we now see the opposite? Washington capable of enlightening and defending us?"

The writer asserted the last phrase was not meant as a reference to former Premier Viviani, who, he declared, had "done his best."
"Prudence," declared the Paris Midi, "which is a customary quality of American presidents, reigns supreme in Mr. Harding's message. There is no occasion for us either to light bonfires in celebration or be alarmed, for if the president is reserved, American public opinion is much less so. In all cases, the desire to see the people are showing a sincere desire not to hinder France."

"Information missed in the message the 'great inspired' which sometimes vibrated in President Wilson's public utterances, and which may be found in the speeches with which former Premier Viviani is galvanizing American opinion."

COMMENT ON LEAGUE STAND.
London, April 14.—President Harding's message to Congress was received too late for editorial comment in this morning's newspapers, although summaries of the message appeared in their news columns, crowded otherwise with news of the critical industrial situation. The editorial writers of the afternoon journals, however, devote considerable attention to the message, particularly to the passages dealing with the League of Nations and United States.

WORK-WORN WOMEN

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy toll, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches and nervousness. Too many women accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and relief at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one way to get this good blood so necessary to health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills enrich the blood, and through their use many weak, ailing wives and mothers have been benefited. If you are ailing, easily tired or depressed, it is a duty you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

States foreign relations in general. The Westminster Gazette pays especial attention to the declaration in the message of the United States' intention to have no part in the existing League of Nations.

IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

DURHAM, April 13.—Never has the Garafraxa road from Arthur to Owen been in better condition for traveling, than at present. F. Robbins, the resident engineer from Guelph to Owen Sound, intends doing little or no construction work north of Arthur this year, as this portion of the highway was put in fairly good shape last fall. The province has taken over part of all plans to take action.

Garafraxa street in town, from the northern limit down to the Review office, and also from the cement works corner to the southern limit. Durham hill and throughout the business section of the town, also requires a good deal of attention, and as the province does not take charge of this the council plans to take action.

To Free Your Arms Of Hair or Fuzz

(Boudoir Secrets.)

No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatone, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to create a thick, creamy mass. This is then rubbed on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or bluish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.

EVERY I. O. D. E. CHAPTER WORKING FOR HOSPITAL FUND

Adjourned Annual Meeting Hears Reports.

"COUNTY FAIR"

Children's Hospital Is Now Built Up To Third Story.

The principal business with which the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., was concerned yesterday afternoon at their adjourned annual meeting was the reading of the yearly reports of the different primary chapters. And every report was in itself evidence that the order is in a flourishing condition, and principally concerned with the raising of money for the Memorial Children's Hospital. Plans were made for the chapter's share in the big County Fair, which is being held in the armories in May and in the entertainment of the Lieutenant-Governor, Miss Lionel Clark and Miss Clark, while they are in the city on May 11, for the laying of the corner stone of the new hospital, which, by the way, is already built up to the third story. A luncheon is to be given in honor of Mrs. Lionel Clark and Miss Clark, under the auspices of the Municipal Chapter, to which the members of the Children's Hospital Committee will be invited. Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. F. C. Greenaway and Mrs. Emerson Nichols announced their intention of attending the provincial chapter meeting in Hamilton on April 20.

WARD-SMITH.
A pretty wedding took place at St. Joseph's Church, Stratford, on Saturday morning, when the Rev. Father Gahney united in marriage Miss Annie Smith, second daughter of Mrs. George Smith, 2000 Huron street, to Mr. Thomas Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, 174 Dufferin street. The bride, who was prettily gowned in white silk crepe de chine with brilliant and wreath of chrysanthemums, carried white carnations and was attended by Miss Annie Ward, sister of the groom.

PURTELL-DWYER.
A quiet but pretty wedding took place at a quiet morning, April 11, in St. Mary's Church, Woodstock, when Mary Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwyer, became the bride of Mr. Robert J. Purcell of La Salette. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Dwyer. The bride was escorted by her father, and the wedding music was furnished by the wedding party. The bride wore a lovely gown of navy blue with touches of grey, a hat to match and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her attendant was Miss Evelyn Dwyer, a French pearl necklace and the groomsmen, gold cuff links.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was given at the Commercial Hotel, after which Mr. and Mrs. Purcell left for Sandwich, Detroit and other points west.

WOMEN'S GARDENING ASSOCIATION.

Miss Louise Carling, of the London Women's Gardening Association, is very anxious that the citizens of London take a special interest in their private gardens this year, and special prizes are being offered to that end. The community gardens are now being ploughed and will be given over to their workers very shortly. The London Women's Gardening Association is a splendid piece of land which, so far, has had no applicants. The plots there are 80 feet by 40 feet and the anxious that they should be taken over. Applications for these plots are being made to the secretary, Miss Millar, 270 St. James street.

TRAVEL TALK.

An interesting program has been arranged for Thursday evening by the Ladies' Aid of the Egerton Street Baptist Church in the form of a travel talk.

FIRST METHODIST M. C.
The Easter meeting of the First Methodist Mission Circle, held in Wesley Hall on Tuesday evening, was of special interest. The speaker of the evening was Miss Helen Childs. Her address on "Investments" was most interesting and original, and proved an inspiration. In closing she made an earnest appeal to the members to assist in the work of the Mission Circle.

Miss Laura Kirkwood gave a delightful piano number, Liszt's Rhapsody No. 6, and responded with the Cathedral (Debussy), and "Etude" (Cherubini). A very appropriate and altogether delightful Easter solo was rendered by Miss Mary Taylor. Miss Ida Grant also contributed a bright, suggestive reading, entitled "Tillie's Thanksgiving."

During the evening the Easter thank-offering was received, and the treasurer announced the total as $215, with more to hear from. This announcement was received with enthusiasm.

OVERSEAS CHAPTER.

At the regular meeting of the Overseas Chapter, held recently at the Y. W. C. A. residence, King street, arrangements were made for the chapter to conduct a tea room at the Western Fair this fall as well as to take the coming "County Fair" tea room for one day. The chapter is holding a rummage sale in a Talbot street room on Saturday next. A feature of the meeting was the drawing for a gentleman's silk umbrella, donated by Mrs. Norman Gault and Mrs. Ira Owen, ticket No. 88, winning the umbrella. The raffish of a lovely bouquet of flowers was also carried out by Mrs. Gault, the flowers being won by Mrs. W. K. Welling. At a bridge held recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Laur, the prize, won by Mrs. Smith, was auctioned off by him, bringing in a goodly sum to the Children's Hospital. In some such manner is every member of the chapter endeavoring to raise $5 for the hospital fund. At this meeting $27.50 raised in this way was turned in to the treasurer.

At the close of the meeting tea was served. Mrs. Heard, Mrs. A. H. Clinger, Mrs. Crodwen and Mrs. Fitchett acting as hostesses.

DUNDAS CENTRE CLASS 27.

Class 27 of Dundas Centre Methodist Church met recently at the home of Mrs. James Haskett, Queen's avenue, when the reports of the month were given. The secretary reported $15 handed over to the Tuxis Boys of the church, while Mrs. Allison, who finds social service work in the close to do, reported for the month. A letter was read, acknowledging a layette recently given. During the social hour, which followed the meeting, a guessing contest was held. Miss Buckle winning the prize.

CYNTHIA GREY DEPARTMENT.

In this department one of the correspondents made reference to American Beauty aster seeds and catalogue not being received, making a search of the letters received by Messrs. Young & Ferguson, seedsmen, 139 King street, London. The advertiser was shown that the party making the complaint had been sent a catalogue and package of seeds very promptly after the correspondence reached them. It was unfortunate that our correspondent criticized the action of this firm, because the advertiser is a very good fellow, and his letter is sent to the correspondent at once.

Sends Thanks.

Dear Miss Grey—Just a line to acknowledge with thanks the dollar from A. Young Mother, also dollar from A. Widow, and Miss Grey, kindly tell those kind friends through the Mail-Box that it is being used for a very useful purpose towards getting something for the children, and I have every confidence that things are going to be better. If the friends of old lady, or young mother care to give me their address I will write, for we are all sisters of the Mail-Box, are we not? Now Miss Grey, I am sending a quarter of a dollar to the children's hospital, and I have made up my mind to send something to the fund every month. I am sending a dollar to the fund, for making sacrifices one can always help if it is ever so little. I guess I must close now as it is wash day, so with very good wish to the kind friends of the Mail-Box, and many thanks to Miss Grey for her patience, etc. I am sincerely yours,

MOTHER OF THREE.

P.S.—I forgot to mention I received the ribbon from Lily of the Valley. Many thanks from my little girl for same.

Has Patches.

Dear Miss Grey—This is my first letter to your cozy corner, but I do enjoy reading your page so much. I saw where some reader wanted quilt patches. I have forgotten who it was. I have quite a bundle that she can have by paying the postage. I am sending a dialogue that I wrote off at Christmas, intending to send it to the children's hospital, but neglected doing so, so will send it now; someone may want it some time. Will you please send me the stocking foot pattern, and the quilt patch pattern for the kiddies—wish it were more. Will sign my pen name,

QUEENIE.

Ans.—I am quite sure there will be a large demand for the quilt patches. Queenie, but I am sure your intentions were of the best. I'm mailing pattern. Thanks for hospital mite.

Attention, Sunny Jim.

Dear Miss Grey and Readers of the Mail-Box—I see where I am of some help. A. P. or Mrs. A. P. I don't know, but I have a quilt patch pattern, and I am sending it to you. I have been interested in the book discussion, but have not seen my favorite writer mentioned. Who has received the quilt patch pattern? It is poetry, and a love romance. I have read it three or four times. I also enjoy reading "The Winning of Barbara Worth," by Harold Bell Wright. But I can't find it. The "Yellow Bird" still, everyone can't be suited by the same book. I don't care for "The Love of Betty." April is certainly an extraordinary creature, and I can't imagine anyone stooping so low as to ask for a quilt patch pattern. I would like the sleeper pattern that Mona sent in, and would copy one or two for Mail-Box use if I get it. I enclose a mite for C. H.

I wrote to you (but it went astray), asking for the sleeper patterns. Also I have received the flower seeds, and planted them yesterday. I don't wonder the seeds received such a demand as they are! I am sending you a mite for my lines.

I should like some morning glory seeds if you have any. Must close now, with best wishes for the success of your wonderful, helpful page.

BARBARA WORTH.
Sunny Jim—The answer to your riddle, my hubby says, is "His wife." Ans.—You were a trifle late for the riddle, but thank you for sending it in, also for hospital mite. Am mailing pattern and seeds.

Si.
Dear Miss Grey—I have never visited your Mail-Box, but have enjoyed the letters very much, and decided to come to you.

Would you please send me one of your satchel bags? Will close for this time, hoping I may call again. Inclosed find dime for S. C. H. Best of luck to you and the fund.

Ans.—Thank you for the hospital mite, Si. Thanks also for recognition. There are no satchels at present.

Attention, Fuzz Wuzz.
Dear Miss Grey—As I have been reading your Mail-Box, I thought I would like to join your circle too. Inclosed find my mite for C. H. F. Would Fuzz Wuzz please send me the quilt patches she has offered to send to someone. Will send her postage as soon as they arrive. I wish the Mail-Box every success.

Ans.—Many thanks for the hospital mite. Possibly Fuzz Wuzz will see your request and send patches.

Whispering Pines.
Dear Miss Grey—It is some time since I wrote to you. The Boxites were busy exchanging ideas. I thought I would fall in line once again. Considerable interest has been aroused by the article on "The Love of Betty." I am sorry to say the middle course seems to be the best. I have two of the dearest little cousins (four and five years respectively) who have a perfectly formed sense of right and wrong. They have been ruled by love and a sprinkling of that spicier punishment, the strap. There is no use denying the fact that too much love does more harm than benefit. But we must stop to consider. How is it that the world today has become so nearly impoverished of the good old-fashioned love? The girl who is not ashamed to own she loves and scrubs? A girl not ashamed to mother a baby? Most of those girls tasted the rod when they were young. I'm sure a little smart of the rod would not hurt some of our modern lassies.

Ans.—I am sure you seem to be books. I'm very sorry to say that I don't over-admire some of my fellow-boxites' taste for literature. Many of our so-called book worms do not seem to read what they are reading the dime novel under the sign guise. I could never like Gene S. Porter's writings and I very much disliked Ralph Connor's books. But in my idea, "The Love of Betty" is a poor writer. Of all the stories backbones, silly and unlike true human life, "Revelations of a Wife" and sequel, "Helene's Married Life," "The Marriage of Anne" and "For Love of Betty" are the very worst. They seem to me to be entirely empty of any noble, inspiring sentiments and good moral. Read one and you may guess the rest. Without any great amount of missing, why, if the multitudes of readers want good fiction why don't they turn their attentions to worthy objects? If you want beauty of description and an ideal of upright character, turn to Harold Bell Wright's "When a Man is a Man," "The Shepherd of the Hills" and "In the Eyes of the World." If something soul-stirring is desired, something that will picture the struggles of a pure, true human mind in a manner that tugs at your heart-strings, read J. Boyle O'Reilly's "Moondyne Joe." But mustn't waste your precious space on Miss Grey. If I have encroached on please just tell me and I'll know better next time.

I wonder if any of the expert gardeners in our extensive family could tell me how to care for a Siberian Pea. I would very much like to know. Tra Kidd, didn't you start the discussion of books? Come along with a better description of your likes and dislikes. Where are you? Come along even your pen-name has been taken. I know you.

Well I must sign up now. I ask your pardon, Miss Grey, if I have encroached on your space with my lengthy epistles for shorter and sweeter letters in the future. WHISPERING PINES.

Ans.—Can any of our flower-loving Whispering Pines help me to take care of her Siberian Pea?

Some Reviews.
Dear Mail-Box friends—I wonder how many of you have read the book "The Mask," by Florence Irwin? In some respects it is a strange story, and yet on the whole a strange and good one. It is divided into three parts, following the life of the three children, and the life of the three children, and the life of the three children.

The first part, "The Mask," is a story of a girl who is a very beautiful girl, and who is a very beautiful girl, and who is a very beautiful girl.

The second part, "The Mask," is a story of a girl who is a very beautiful girl, and who is a very beautiful girl, and who is a very beautiful girl.

BOXING

Why not have boxing classes for boys in the public schools of this country?

A few of the big colleges have taken it up, and with success, but little encouragement has been given to the suggestions that the public schools and some high schools take it up and teach the boys how to box. A few years ago, or during the war, R. L. "Snow" Baker, manager of the big stadium in Sydney, where all the big boxing matches are held, took it upon himself to establish boxing classes for all schools as a preliminary to training the young men for the army. It was very successful and many of the schools took it up as a regular course for the boys. The department of education in Sydney, Australia, made the following report regarding the progress made with boxing in the schools:

"The schools for the teaching of boxing in schools introduced by the minister for education, Mr. Nutch, under the supervision of Hector Melville, has met with tremendous success during the period it has been on trial. The department of education in Sydney, Australia, made the following report regarding the progress made with boxing in the schools:

"The headmaster claim that the system has developed in the pupils a keener perception, a greater energy, and, generally speaking, a decided improvement, both mentally and physically. The reports also claim that the boys learn to control their tempers and show a good sporty feeling towards their school fellows. Opinions are held by parents and others for and against boxing."

It was recognized by the minister when properly handled, schoolmasters who, at the inception of this scheme, held the opinion that boxing was not desirable, have now altered their views entirely, and have nothing but the highest terms of praise for it. This is a short period during which the system has been on trial. Mr. Melville intends submitting this new scheme for organization throughout the state for the current year for ministerial approval."

John Kibane is coming to New York at last to cast his title into the ring for those ambitious youngsters to take a shot at.

John has coveted that pennant as champion of the feather for many years and no one ever seemed quite good enough to relieve him of it. John has not flaunted his laurels here since the new Walker law went in with its provision governing titles and decisions, however, and many thought that the Clevelander had decided to stay away from these quarters and nurse his championship a little while longer.

Now we are to have Jonathan, championship and all, in a 12-round struggle to take place next month. The champion's opponent will probably be Sammy Siegel, the rough little east sider, who has been coming along pretty fast.

No definite date has been set, but

It is believed that May 2 will be the selection.

"Moving day" is approaching for Jack Johnson and the former heavyweight champion of the world has a busy program outlined ahead of him the day he steps forth a free man from the federal prison here.

Johnson's sentence of a year and a day does not expire until July 5, but he expects to secure a parole within a week, according to his manager, Elmer Tenley, of New York, who is directing the effort to secure the colored pugilist's early release.

Johnson has received vaudeville and motion picture offers, his manager stated today, adding that he will not pass them up either. Tenley also said that Johnson has been offered $36,000 to meet Carpenter, the French champion in Paris, in September and has another offer with a fat purse attached if he will meet Harry Williams, colored heavyweight champion at the ball park, Jersey City, N. J., late this summer.

The former colored champion has been training constantly while in prison and now weighs 214 pounds. When he fought Jess Willard he weighed 219 pounds.

FIRST HOMER OF 1921

CHICAGO, April 12.—Catcher Bob O'Farrell of the Chicago Nationals made the first home run of the major league season today, when he drove the ball over the right field fence, scoring a man ahead of him. The homer was scored off Haines of St. Louis in the fourth inning of the opening game.

DELAWARE, Ohio, April 12.—London Canadians went seven rounds with the college lads this afternoon, and a tilt that finished in an 8-to-2 climax, with the Tecumseh crowd hanging on the heavy end. The game proved more interesting than any yet, but will be a marked touch of practice in it, but it does well for a training camp. While the major leagues were parading in celebration of the season's opening, Buzz, Wetzel's champs were getting a good drilling.

Rookie Pinto, who continues to show as a probable staff man for Wetzel, was loaned to this university nine, and was given a good try-out by his own teammates. He stood the test well, and allowed but two hits during his six innings. Randy, a student, was given a try at facing the hard-hitting Canadians, but he allowed five hits and four runs in the last frame.

New Hurler Shoved In.
Ernie, an Erie, Pa. aspirant who arrived today, was shoved in the box the first inning. He worked good during three innings, but with some of the other material that is being high, it has not been decided that this new man will stick.

McCallum Cup Trustees
Order Return of Trophy

Uphold Protest Against Ferris of Selak Team, Present
Holders of Silverware.

The trustees of the McCallum trophy in Toronto have ordered the cup returned to the trustees of the Queen City club in by the Glendon Varnish vs. against Selaks, the present holders.

Tom Ferris was protested as ineligible by the Toronto team's management, and the trustees of the cup have decided the protest in favor of the Queen City crew.

Much correspondence has passed between the local and Toronto trustees, culminating in a demand for the return of the cup to Toronto.

Ferris was released by Hyman on January 8, and signed on by Selaks on the same night. He decided a protest of the London Bowling Association, a player is still liable for recall by the club from which he draws his release, any time within thirty days for any reason.

Ferris was recalled by Hyman in the meantime changed to the Arcadians, for a game with St. Kitt's trundlers on January 15. This nullified his first release, and made a second one necessary.

Under McCallum cup rules, Ferris would not be eligible for 30 days after signing on with a new club, therefore he was ineligible to play for the club until March 15, so that as far as that rule goes Ferris was apparently eligible by a clear margin.

In the last letter to the local club the claim is made that no proof exists of the second release of Ferris and his second signature to a Selak contract, but this is not in accord with the facts of the case.

A "sporting proposition" was offered in one of the letters to the effect that the protesting team were willing to have the Londoners take the cup to Toronto where and they would bowl them again, with Ferris barred. This seems rather an illogical proceeding, as barring Ferris doesn't necessarily prove his ineligibility.

Unless the Toronto people want to take advantage of a rule that says that the "trustees have a right to players of any team," as some other such technicality, it looks as if the matter is coming on thin air.

BOTH BASEBALL AND LACROSSE GOING STRONG
ON ST. MARYS FLATS

St. Marys, April 12.—Every evening now the flats are occupied by lacrosse and baseball teams, which present indications point to being the finest aggregations that ever came out of St. Marys. It is understood the junior lacrosse team is hoping for an invitation away on May 24. They were counting on playing at home that day, but were unable to secure the grounds. The G. W. V. A. baseball team is showing up fine and are eager for the fray. The South Perth League will be organized this week, and teams will this year participate from Kirkton, Mitchell, Granton, Fullerton and St. Marys, so the whole town is promised some real live games this season.

Church There.

GALT, April 12.—While this city has held a prominent place on sport map for the past half century, an active participant in all lines of sport and holder of the world's championships in football and canoeing, besides local honors in other branches, there was never a greater gathering held to pay honor to the conquering heroes than that held tonight in the G. W. V. A. Memorial Hall, where over 300 citizens, men of all classes in the community, manufacturers, businessmen, mechanics and laborers, assembled to show their appreciation of the good work of Galt's intermediate hockey team during the past winter, when they brought to this city its first O. H. A. championship and placed Galt on the hockey map.

The gathering was favored with some of the most prominent men in sport in Ontario today, including Mayor Thomas Church, P. J. Mulqueen, Toronto; President A. E. Copeland, Midland; Secretary W. A. Hewitt, Sheriff Paxton, Kuhn was in uniform today and worked during the morning, but he did not perform in the fracas this afternoon. The only veterans who have not reported as yet, and who will be here, are Shay, Malmquest, Scroggie and Powikes. Cal Calbert has not been heard from directly, but he is also expected some time soon. It may be, however, Wetzel said today, that he will join the club somewhere on its way north.

Present Cup.
President A. E. Copeland, in behalf of the O. H. A., presented the John Ross Robertson cup, emblematic of the intermediate championship, to President W. W. Wilkins, who, in replying to the fact, referred to the showing made by the Galt team under trying circumstances, with two of its regular players lost to the team in the game after they won their group, and to the fact before meeting Sault Ste. Marie in the Allen cup final, they had played six games in ten days.

President Copeland, then presented each player of the team with O. H. A. medals. The G. A. A. A., as an appreciation of the good work of the players and the honor they had brought to the organization and Galt through President Wilkins presented each player with a handsome gold watch, suitably engraved and a group photograph of the team, while to Herb Carter, chairman of the hockey committee, a watch was also presented. Secretary W. A. Smith, treasurer; J. W. Scott and the representative of the local newspaper also received gifts of appreciation. Players also received a gold watch, suitably engraved and a group photograph of the team, while to Herb Carter, chairman of the hockey committee, a watch was also presented.

BOSTON, April 12.—Pitcher Joe Oeschger cracked and so did his support in the eighth inning today. Brooklyn made three runs in the eighth and two in the ninth, defeating Boston 5 to 4 in the opening game of the season here.

Governor Cox threw out the first ball. One of the biggest crowds that has witnessed a Boston major league opening game took advantage of the perfect spring afternoon to attend.

The score:
Boston 000 000 002—5 8 2
Brooklyn 000 010 200—6 1
Cade, Mameaux, Smith and Krueger, Miller; Oeschger and O'Neill.

PIRATES FAIL TO RALLY.

CINCINNATI, April 12.—Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh today, 5 to 3, before the largest crowd that ever witnessed an opening game in Cincinnati. The Reds scored four runs in the eighth inning by bunching hits, and started a batting rally in the ninth after two were out and scored two runs. Luque was hit hard throughout, but was saved by his support when runners were on base.

The score:
Pittsburgh 000 000 102—3 12 1
Cincinnati 001 010 04X—5 9 3
Hamilton and Schmidt; Luque and Wingo.

KELLY'S HOMER WON.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—Kelly's home run with Frisch on first base decided an eleven-inning struggle in favor of New York here today, 10 to 5. Each team had one big inning. Philadelphia taking the lead in the fourth, but losing it in the seventh, when New York batted Frisch out of the box. The pair of local heroes won their half, and Betts held New York safe until the eleventh.

The usual opening day ceremonies were indulged in, marking the debut of William Donovan as the Phillies' pitcher. The score:
New York 000 102 400 03—10 15 3
Philadelphia 000 410 200 01—8 18 3
Douglas, Bunch and E. Smith; Ring, Betts and Brugg.

EVERS COPS FIRST.

CHICAGO, April 12.—The Chicago Nationals, with Grover Cleveland Alexander pitching, ushered in the major league season here today with a 5 to 2 victory over St. Louis. It was the first opening game Alexander has been credited with since he joined the Cubs. Haines weakened and was pounded for five hits in the fourth inning, one of which was a home run drive over the right field wall by O'Farrell. More than twenty thousand persons were present, despite the chilly air and an overcast sky, the crowd overflowing into the streets.

Numerous gifts of flowers and a loving cup were presented to Manager Johnny Evers.

The score:
St. Louis 000 000 200—2 0 0
Chicago 100 400 00X—5 10 0
Haines, Petrick and Clemens; Alexander, Freeman and O'Farrell.

Junior and Senior Soccer
Schedules Clash At Sarnia

SARNIA, April 12.—Unless something is done between now and Saturday in the rearrangement of the Junior and senior soccer schedules there is going to be a jam when it comes to playing the games that is going to take some figuring out to solve.

The London lacrosse squad will get down to work next week if this weather keeps up. Road work for the first week is on the program this year, instead of starting right in with the sticks, and it should be a successful way of initiating the outfit to work in conditioning. A meeting will be held next week to get final details of the season settled, such as showers, a trainer and arrangements for practices at Tecumseh Park.

London already has a good defence in sight, but whether there are any real home stars remains to be seen when the squad gets down to real work. There never has been as much lacrosse material as there is at the present time in London. It is touted as sure fire high class.

The two Hodgins boys, who played with Mike Collins, finalists in 1915, are back in the city, and will turn out as soon as the outfit gets down to work. There are two ex-Huron Oaks from Wingham; Dickson and Spearman, former Owen Sounders, the former rated as one of the best defence men in the game, and a lot of local material that just needs some experience distributed through them to make a really formidable line.

Way the game is coming back in all Western Ontario cities and towns, is a sure sign that lacrosse has returned to make a permanent place for itself again amongst the summer sports. The game has been brought to London's gates practically this year, with every surrounding city and town boasting a lacrosse team. The fact that the game is a solid footing in London won't be such an isolated attempt as it has been in past seasons.

Chatham is anxious to arrange a game with the London team for May 24, and, as far as is known at present, will be accommodated. Chatham has gone in strong for the once national pastime this season, and is reported to have some good talent under cover down there. It would be a good test for the local team, and definite answer will be given to the question during the course of next week.

IMPROVEMENTS FOR M.A.A.A. MEET WILL BE FORTHCOMING

Meeting Last Night Brought Out Many Good Suggestions.

Organization plans were completed by the "Manufacturers' Athletic Association" for the 1921 field day and modified marathon, which will be held at Queen's Park on June 18, at a meeting of the representatives of the various manufacturing concerns, held in the Young Men's Christian Association last evening.

Creditable suggestions which will undoubtedly assist the officers in improving the meet were made by the delegates, and present indications are that the meet this coming year will be a record one. Industrial men and athletes in all parts of the province have become keenly interested in the annual affair held by the M. A. A. A. M. Morrow, president of the Grand Trunk Amateur Athletic Association was chosen as first vice-president of the association for the ensuing year. F. H. Westbury, McClary Manufacturing Co., was re-elected treasurer. W. P. Mitchell, Richard-Wilcox Co., was elected second vice-president.

Relay Race.
It was proposed that an invitation relay race be held for the students of the collegiate and technical school. If this suggestion is adopted by the committee the teams will be composed of eight boys, and the distance will be one mile.

Competitions for junior employees of the factories was also one of the many plans dealt with by the delegates. Events for girls may also be arranged, and it is expected that novelty events for men over 35 to 50 years of age, will be included on the sports program.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at the Y. M. C. A. next Wednesday night at 8.30 o'clock, when further details will be worked out by the members of the association.

The following committees were appointed last evening, and additions may be made to the committees later.

Sports Committee—F. J. McNamee, Scott Chamberlain Co. chairman; L. A. Betts, G. Summers, Ken Robinson, W. P. Mitchell, C. B. Partridge.
Finance Committee—Fred St. Lawrence, D. S. Perrin Co. chairman; H. B. Ashplant.
Grounds and Equipment Committee—Fred Delaney, McClary Manufacturing Co. chairman; F. Burton.
Referee Committee—Fred St. Lawrence, D. S. Perrin Co. chairman; H. B. Ashplant.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Showing the same impressive offensive as last season, the New York Americans today opened the season here with a 11 to 1 victory over Philadelphia.

"Babe" Ruth, New York batting star of last season, started the 1921 campaign with two doubles and three singles in five times at bat. "Babe" cleared the bases with a three-bagger in the eighth inning. Mays pitched a strong game for New York, only four Philadelphia players reaching first.

Major Hylan threw out the first ball. The score by innings:

CHAMPS WILD.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 12.—St. Louis got away to a flying start in the 1921 American League pennant race today by defeating Cleveland 4 to 2.

Two wild throws in the third inning gave the Browns their first run, and four bunched hits in the fifth accounted for the other three. Smith's home run, followed by three singles, gave Cleveland its two tallies.

The score:
Cleveland 000 000 002—2 10 3
St. Louis 001 000 00X—4 5 0
Coveleskie, Odenwald, and O'Neill; Thomas, Shocker and Severid.

PRESIDENT THROWS FIRST.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The president and Mrs. Harding, Vice-President and Mrs. Coolidge, General Pershing, members of the cabinet and Congress, the diplomatic corps and President E. B. Johnson of the American League were in the record-breaking crowd which attended the opening game today of the baseball season in Washington. Boston won, 6 to 3, by bunching hits on three Washington pitchers. President Harding threw out the first ball.

Walter Johnson started in the box for Washington, and for the first time in his long career failed to finish an opening game. He gave way to Erickson after four innings, when Boston had obtained a one-run lead.

The score:
Boston 110 200 110—6 18 1
Washington 120 000 000—3 9 1
Jones and Ruel; Johnson, Erickson, Zachary and Picnich, Gharriety.

RAIN AT DETROIT.

DETROIT, April 12.—A steady drizzle which began in mid-morning thoroughly soaked the playing field at Navin Park and caused a postponement of the American League season inaugural here today.

TREASURE-FREIGHT
COMES FROM TIBETAgain a Corner of Curtain of Silence in Strange Land
Is Lifted.

New York, April 12.—Out of Tibet, the secret, remote and forbidding, there has come to us a treasure-freight to which clings a poignant and somewhat sinister atmosphere of oriental mystery and barbarism. Once again has been lifted a little corner of the vast curtain of silence behind which the strange and colorful drama of Tibet goes on, and we have been given a vivid revelation of life in the secluded land.

Often before, missionaries returning from far-off countries have brought back costumes, weapons and implements which have thrown light on the customs and culture of the people who had made them. And now again a missionary—the Rev. H. B. Marx, for sixteen years attached to a Moravian mission on the Indian side of the Tibetan border, shawl, belt, collection—large and rich in variety and interest.

Through funds provided by Mr. J. P. Morgan, the collection has been secured for the American Museum of Natural History in New York city, and has already been placed on exhibition and examined by many visitors.

Cover Tibetan Life.

There are over 250 pieces in the new Tibetan collection, and they cover probably every phase of the life of Tibet. There are native costumes—the men's consisting of a small hat trimmed with artificial flowers, long woolen trousers, and shoes with heavily felted soles. The women's civil dress is much the same, but includes great brass pins and silver filigree ornaments set with turquoise and coral. There are large earrings and finger-rings also of silver, and set with turquoise. The necklaces, made of very large beads of amber, coral and turquoise, are worn as ornaments, but have also a religious significance. For their colors are recognized as symbolical. In some parts of Tibet there are three, in other parts five, colors recognized as symbols: yellow for the earth, blue for the water, red for light and warmth, green for the wind, and white for the clouds or heaven.

The five colors are used in the elaborate costumes of the "Dance Dancers," and in the masks used in the ceremonies for driving away demons. Of these, "Togdun," the five-skull mask, is especially celebrated and sacred. The five skulls surrounding the mask are supposed to be the skulls of five slain enemies, trophies of the devil dancer, who represents a warrior of the old Tibetan mythology. Also of great religious significance are the "dorje" and the "djorje purbu," representing the thunderbolt.

Devils Exorcised.

There are powerful weapons for the exorcism of demons. They are buried into the ground by the lamas, or holy men, to whom they are the most sacred and revered of all religious objects. Regalia made of human bones, carved with "potter's lances," its made of clay and crushed lama bones; lamellar rosaries of shell; amulets and charms against bad dreams and fears in the dark, sickness, and the snow-leopard and wolf; prayer-wheels and sheaves of prayer-leaves; Buddhist idols; dice for use in divination; sacred temple banners; these are among the religious objects collected by Mr. Marx.

Supplemented by what we know of Tibetan religious practices they invoke a striking picture of the sacred temples, the pilgrimages and sacrifices, the self-inflicted mortifications, and the great religious communities in which the lamas, living thousands strong, as in a vast, barbaric monastery, carry on their weird traditions and ceremonies.

In his calmer moments the Tibetan's savage breast is charmed by the strains of his primitive guitar, and three-stringed harp, the double flute of reed or bamboo, and the cobe, which is particularly the instrument of the beggar. And for his enjoyment he has fashioned pipes for smoking both dry and cooled through water, and opium. These are all represented in the new collection in the American Museum, as are also books in commercial and the more ornate classical Tibetan writing, and the first Tibetan newspaper which was printed on the Loh Mission Press of the Moravian Missions.

By no means the least interesting among so many curious objects are the bright, thick Tibetan rain shoes and the primitive scale consisting of a bamboo rod, with a carved stone weight at one end, and at the other a square of skin, suspended by thongs, for holding the article to be weighed. At all times attractive to the curious-minded are the household utensils—the cooking vessels, dishes, tea cups (both porcelain and wooden), and cup stands, and the cup holders, in which the Tibetans carry their tea cups when traveling.

A low tea table, of red and black lacquer, and elaborately worked tapers of brass and silver, have a beauty of their own. And a small churn standing beside the tea-things in the museum's exhibit is appropriately placed. For "battered tea" is the staple food of the Tibetans. They make it by melting butter in hot tea, stirring and rolling the resulting batter into a little cake.

Up to 1720 trade relations with Tibet had not been established by the outside world, and only a very few Europeans had ventured into the vast Central Asian plateau country. In 1720 China conquered Tibet, and established the still existing system of government, according to which the whole of Tibet is under Chinese suzerainty. The actual government of the country, however, is administered by the Great Lama of Lhasa (the sacred Buddhist city), and local kings or chiefs whose authority is also, in effect, subject to that of the ruling lamas.

While the Tibetans themselves have always maintained a fierce secrecy in connection with their religion, it is often claimed, and is quite probable, that the isolation of Tibet was originally inspired by the Chinese in the hope of creating a buffer state against European aggression from that direction. All attempts of Europe to open up trade relations and routes in Tibet, and even to explore, were vigorously repulsed throughout the last century.

Toward the end of the century a

Russified Mongolian Buriat named Dorjiev, obtaining a commanding influence over the head lama, inspired him with the fear of aggression from England, and with the idea of securing Russian protection and converting the entire Russian Empire to Buddhism. Such a move being disapproved by the Chinese, the head lama, still incited by the Russian, took steps to bring on a crisis by provoking England by various slights and encroachments on British territory. In 1904, therefore, the British armed mission to Tibet was sent out. This put an end to Tibetan aggression.

The peace treaty, concluded on September 7, provided for the establishment of three marts for British trade in Tibet, and included a prohibition against the granting to any foreign power of any concessions, territorial or mercantile, in Tibet, and against the participation by any foreign power, other than China, in the government of the country. Tibet, therefore, has continued in practical isolation under the rather loose suzerainty of China. Today it holds the position of a living fossil nation.

Small wonder, then, that so great interest attaches to this new collection at the American Museum—a collection brought straight from the closed and inscrutable heart of Asia.

ADIRONDACK TRAILS
DELIGHT TRAMPERSEach Year Increasing Number
Turn To Mountain Hikes
For Recreation.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Predicting that with the appearance of the conservation commission's circular map, revealing the opportunities of the Adirondack trails, trappers will flock to the mountains from near and far for recreation, the writer of an article in the commission's August bulletin points out that save in a few instances this country has more little to encourage walking, as compared with European countries. "The Adirondacks have long been on the maps of the hunters, the canoeists and the campers as a region well stocked with fish and game, traversed by fair waters in infinite variety, pervaded by the restful atmosphere of great woods and mountains," continues the author, Allen Chamberlain, "and lately they have been put on the motorist's map, through the improvement of mile upon mile of modern highway over which an endless procession of cars of every class moves unceasingly the summer through."

Changes Are Many.

"There have been changes, in some cases for the worse, in many for the better, since the days when, as boys, we read 'Adirondack' Murray's stories of his camps in the great north woods. The mountains, however, remain as of old, while their invitation to the vacationer is heard more widely than ever before."

"Trails old and new into the highlands are trodden by an increasing multitude of feet each year, not solely by those who climb such summits as Marcy and White Face for a day's excursion and the view, but more and more each year by those men and women who travel foot-free day by day—the ever-growing brotherhood of trappers."

"As one of that ilk, a new enthusiasm for the Adirondacks has been fired within me at the news that the conservation commission purposes now generally to put the forest preserve on the trapper's map. Every toter of the pack-bag will look forward eagerly for the appearance of that issue of the official circular series designed to unlock more fully the walking opportunities of the region."

Maps Not Necessity.

"For the experienced hiker well-marked trails and maps and guide books are a convenience, but not a necessity; the old-timer knows how to find his way without these accessories, but even he will welcome them as being helpful. There are hosts of others, however, who will be encouraged to join the clan, could they feel that the road was clear before them, with the danger of getting lost reduced to a minimum."

"The trapper is not a fickle person, but there is a touch of the gray spirit in him that keeps him ever on the watch for new worlds to visit. Often such a new world lies within but a mile or two of one of his favorite or well-known routes, and is revealed through the discovery of a hitherto unknown trail. All that they are waiting for is the information which the circular will naturally give—that the way is open, that the trails are clear and well marked at all otherwise blind turnings, and that bed and board or camping-places are available at the end of the normal day stages."

"Probably New England has been developed more completely than any other district in the United States to meet the peculiar whims of the walker, but it has required fifty years of intensive cultivation on the part of the Appalachian Mountain Club and similar organizations to make it what it is in that respect. In the White Mountain area of New Hampshire, with its great national forest reserves and several large state forests, the government officers and the walking clubs co-operate to make the most of tramping possibilities."

Cabins Dot Trails.

"The Appalachian Club's guide book and special trail maps and its chain of cabins to remote points, often above timber line, where food and lodging may be obtained at a minimum fixed price all through the season, are more accessible enabling the public to know and make use of the several hundred miles of clearly-blazed and signed trails—some built and maintained by the club, others by the government—that lead in all directions."

"Then there are the log lean-to camps of a type so well known in the Adirondacks, and prepared camping spots where a man may pitch his own shelter cloth for a one-night stand, all of which are freely open to whoever may fare that way."

More recently the Green Mountains have appeared on the trapper's map simply because the Vermont people saw in that 200 odd miles of forested range a neglected natural resource. They organized the Green Mountain Club, and now its Sky Line trail along the crest, with its camps and shelters liberally located to serve the nightly needs of a steadily increasing host of tramping visitors, is all but completed from Canada to Massachusetts.

To Link Highlands.

"Lately the something more than twenty walking clubs and similar organizations of all New England, including the federal and state forest service, have banded together to coordinate their trail enterprises. Their aim for linking the highland section of the New England States together, through the development of trunk line trails of attractive routes where the odor of gasoline may not penetrate, is well on the way to realization. Nor does the plan end where New England borders on the great New York."

"Both the Appalachian and Green Mountain clubs glory in their well-organized and active New York chapters, and through those agencies, in co-operation with the conservation commission and the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, it is hoped that the through trails from the east will, in the near future, link up with the systems that are in contemplation along the Hudson Highlands, in the Catskills and in the Adirondacks."

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

OTTAWA, April 13.—The trial of Philip Konowal, Y.C., who stands indicted on a charge of murdering William Artick, a naturalized Austrian, was commenced in the Hull assizes this morning. The murder was committed on Sunday afternoon, July 20, 1913, but Konowal has since been at liberty on bail of $3,000.

The crown will endeavor to establish that Konowal murdered Artick in cold blood. It is claimed he stabbed his victim with a butcher knife, the weapon being twisted by the blow. It is alleged that the murder was the aftermath of a fight in Artick's home. Since the murder the prisoner has been confined to federal institutions, where he has been receiving treatment for mental disorders.

FIRE LOSS $100,000.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 13.—Although the fire which on New York day afternoon in a big pile of pulpwood and waste paper at the Thorold Beaver Board plant was still smoldering tonight and may continue to do so for several days, all danger of the mill catching fire is past. It is thought the loss will be close to $100,000, though no estimate has yet been made by the company. Spontaneous combustion is given by officials of the Beaver Board Company as the probable cause of the blaze.

AFTER THE "FLU"

Four Children Had WHOOPING COUGH

Whooping Cough, although specially a disease of childhood, is by no means confined to that period, but may occur at any time of life. It is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in females than male children. Whooping cough starts with sneezing, watering of the eyes, irritation of the throat, feverishness and cough.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the congested air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way bring on the "whoop" which brings the so-much-sought-for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. J. M. House, Imperial, Sask., writes: "After the 'flu' last fall, my four children took whooping cough and one of them developed bronchitis. After using two or three bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup they were greatly relieved of their nasty coughs. It is an especially good remedy for children, and is so nice they take it readily, and ask for more."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c and 60c a bottle at all dealers. Put Limited, Toronto, Ont. Solely by The T. Milburn Company.

HOME ECONOMICS

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MACDONALD COLLEGE.
INSTINCT OF JUSTICE.

There is no stronger instinct of the human reason than that for justice, none therefore that carries with it more passionate feeling or more important effect upon the character. Rewards and punishments are the inevitable experience of every human being, and during the early years of his life, a child receives indelible impressions of the working of human and natural laws upon him.

Nature deals with him impersonally, with no regard for his feelings. If he plays with fire, he is burned, if with dirt, he is soiled if he ignores the laws of every human being, and during the early years of his life, a child receives indelible impressions of the working of human and natural laws upon him.

There are two laws of right punishment and reward, one that the child should recognize it as the natural result of his action, the other that it should be on the same plane as the act. To whip a child for an accident is to produce in him nothing but resentment and the feeling that you take advantage of your superior strength. Find rather some simple obvious way of letting him take the consequences of his act. If he has broken something of great value to you, let him feel your grief rather than your anger; it will punish him more effectively, and let him make it up to you in some way he can understand.

Money rewards for spiritual virtues are degrading; do not pay a child for unselfishness with money or candy. Reward him with appreciation.

Personal Health Service

(By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D., Noted Physician and Author.)

Autobiography. Probably the most important period of a man's life as regards the selection of his food, is from the second to the seventh year of his boyhood. From father's exhaustive study of the science and my personal experience of the art of boy feeding in the past six years we have arrived at some practical conclusions which I here set down.

As soon as a boy or child is equipped by Nature with teeth those teeth should be used for mastication, which keeps them clean and makes them strong. At the age of 2 years most boys have a set of about sixteen teeth—eight incisors, four canines and four molars—and that is an ample machinery for the mastication of real victuals. It is a great mistake, based on ancient ideas of infant feeding, to keep the diet of a youngster restricted to liquids, and sundry supposedly "easily digested" substitutes for real victuals. A great many cases of digestive difficulty are due during many years occur from such ill-advised mollycoddling of a boy's eats. Have it that a child is a sickly proposition if you will, but for goodness' sake don't train a boy to be afraid of his victuals.

For instance, some sanitarian diet fanatics teach that Nature's most wonderful food, sugar, is rank poison for children. Stiff and nonsense. Those sanitarian food specialists ought to get out and meet a few real boys. I tell you sugar is one of the most nutritious, most quickly available (quickly

How you give food to a person recovering from illness is scarcely less important than what food you give. General points to be remembered are first, that food should be given regularly and promptly. Time is long for the sick person; his meals are the most important thing in the day to him, and he is not patient, but impatient.

It is not good for his nerves or his digestion that his meals should come late or skip a time.

Second, too little rather than too much food should be served; the sight of too much food is likely to destroy an uncertain appetite.

Third, food should look and smell good. The patient's appetite, far more than the well person's, is in his eyes and nose.

Fourth, the greatest possible variety, subject to the doctor's orders, should be served, especially when several extra meals are given; even well people tire of a monotonous diet, ill people cannot eat it.

Fifth, portions should be served in dishes of the right size and shape, and never too small; liquids to be eaten with a spoon in deep, not shallow dishes and liquids to be drunk in small glasses, not filled to overflowing.

Lastly, any little thing that will make it easier for the patient is important; take the consequences of his act. If he has broken something of great value to you, let him feel your grief rather than your anger; it will punish him more effectively, and let him make it up to you in some way he can understand.

Money rewards for spiritual virtues are degrading; do not pay a child for unselfishness with money or candy. Reward him with appreciation.

FOR LOVE OF BETTY

[BY MAY CHRISTIE.]

(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

LXI.—GROWING SENSIBLE.

"You're clever, April—but you'll over-reach yourself one of these fine days!" Charlie Davon leaned back in his deep armchair and lastly watched the smoke-rings curl up from the end of his cigarette.

"Optimistic, as usual?" April laughed.

Then she added: "I'm considerably more subtle than you are, anyhow, my friend!"

"Oh, I've got to hand it to you—you're the original Eve—with a dash of Delilah added," came the rather cryptic answer.

A little frown crinkled April's brows. She looked at Davon anxiously. He wasn't surely possible that he, too, had grown tired of her, like Trevor?

Davon, studied in the psychology of women, saw the look.

"You're pretty enough to twist the devil himself round your little finger," he said roughly, but with a rude admiration in his tones.

"Meaning—yourself?" April was instantly restored to her own piquant self.

Davon laughed. "There's a bit of the devil in every man—and in every woman, too." He stared at the girl with a bold light in his eyes. "Your little intrigues entertain me vastly, April."

"Indeed?" There was a tartness in her voice. "You flatter me! For, if I recollect aright, you were the originator of the said intrigues!"

"Oh, no, I wasn't—not in every case." Davon flung the stump of his cigarette into the fire. "Not yesterday, for instance."

April flushed and bit her lip. "I haven't got to the bottom of the snapshot mystery, went on Davon coolly, lighting another cigarette. "But I've more than a suspicion that you sent it up to Trevor—and for no good purpose, either."

April was silent.

"Those little games don't pay, my child—there's always a more or less embarrassing show-up in the end." Davon adopted a mock-paternal air. "Trevor will see through you . . . and I'll only queer you with him."

"No doubt you speak from past experience," she remarked. "He's quered one of your own little games, didn't he, Charlie?"

It was Davon's turn to flush. "I don't know what you mean," he stammered, taken aback.

"Oh, yes, you do," said April, a hard light in her blue eyes. "But, since you evidently want me to be more explicit, I'll oblige. I'm referring to that curious notice in the papers, anonymously inserted, and stating that Jack Trevor had failed in business."

"And what had I to do with that?" Davon sat bolt upright in his chair and glared at April.

"The latter shrugged her slim shoulders, no whit daunted.

"If you are innocent, why get so angry?" she remarked. "He's quered one of your own little games, didn't he, Charlie?"

"No, I am not mad—only growing sensible," said April in a flat, conclusive voice which put a summary end to argument.

She rose and left the room, walking across the hall.

She hesitated for a moment, then composedly passed Davon's chair and turned into the library—the same apartment in which Jack Trevor had first written Betty Gordon.

"I'd better write old Jack at once," reflected April slyly. "Just to carry on the good work that I've started!"

She gave an odd little smile as she seated herself at the table.

It was a difficult game that she was playing—but April had the sporting instinct strongly developed—and the stakes were high!

"I'd better not be too gushing, or I'll over-reach myself, as dear Charlie so thoughtfully suggested!" The odd smile deepened on her lips.

Yes, she would write to Trevor in platonic vein. After receiving the epistle presumably penned by Betty, he would be in a mood for quiet, platonic sympathy. A heart caught at the rebound—there wasn't any knowing what this scheme would lead to!

"I'll make him think that Betty herself showed me his precious love-letter—how lucky that I intercepted it!" April smiled again. "There's nothing in the world a man dislikes more than to think that he's been made a laughing-stock—and by his own particular lady-love! Yes, that'll do the trick, or I'm mightily mistaken!"

She paused for a moment, pen in hand.

There must be no bungling of this business—the stakes were much too high.

She felt angry and irritated with both

himself and the situation.

She felt angry and irritated with both

himself and the situation.

She felt angry and irritated with both

himself and the situation.

She felt angry and irritated with both

himself and the situation.

She felt angry and irritated with both

himself and the situation.

She felt angry and irritated with both these men—Jack Trevor and Davon. She wasn't sure now that she even cared for Davon! "The only tangible thing in this stupid old world is—money," reflected April. "Money talks, and money is silent. Jack Trevor's thousands would make all the difference in my life."

Tomorrow—April's Letter.

BIG HOTELS OF PARIS GIVE WAY TO BANKS

PARIS, April 13.—The latest worry of Paris is that the rate at which hotels and apartment buildings are being bought and transformed into banks or exchange agencies will cause tourists to transfer their affection either to London or Rome. Some of the most luxurious buildings in the centre of Paris have been remodelled for banking purposes recently, as, for instance, the Hotel Edouard VII., the Hotel Bristol and the Hotel Elysée Palace, and in these districts there is hardly a corner that does not shelter a couple of foreign banks. It is even said that negotiations are pending for the transformation of a group of hotels, including the Grand, the Crillon and the Louvre, but this has not yet been confirmed. Hotel proprietors are pointing out that American visitors will be unwilling to take up quarters in outlying districts, and the Government must do something immediately if Paris is to remain a tourist centre. But the French bankers, despite their natural desire to divert competition, are not willing to recommend that foreign banks be taxed more heavily than native banks, lest the branches of French banks abroad suffer reprisals.

WOULD MEND BROKEN HEART OF WAR BRIDE

Whole Dozen Chivalrous
Yanks Seek To Marry Marie,
Little French Maid.

OWOSSO, Mich., April 13.—There are no less than a dozen men in nearly as many states, willing and anxious to mend the broken heart of Mrs. Marie Le Goff Bennett, the little French bride whose war romance was shattered a few months ago when her soldier-husband, George Bennett, of Morris, told her no longer cared for her and offered to pay her $200 to sign an agreement relinquishing all claims she might have on him. The remedy they would apply is marriage.

The writers of the letters to Mrs. Bennett, range in age from a 22-year-old drug clerk, drawing $25 a week and hoping to get more later, to aged bachelors and widowers, well provided with worldly goods, but with a longing for a mate and a real home.

One Suiitor Visits Her. Since the story of Mrs. Bennett's plight was published in January, few days have passed, that have not brought letters to Roy D. Matthews, prosecuting attorney, and counsel for Mrs. Bennett, proposing marriage to her. One farmer, living near Battle Creek, came here to see Marie.

Most of the letters have been shown to Mrs. Bennett, but she has refused to become embarrassed or to get excited. She says she likes Shawansee county very well and is contented to stay here.

The writers of the letters say they read of Mrs. Bennett's romance and its shattering, in newspapers in their home towns, in New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Indiana and Ohio.

They all declare they were touched by her story, and wanted to do something for her. The best thing they could think of, they said, was to offer themselves as the bridegroom at her next wedding, if she would consent to have one.

Two Homes and Touring Car. The drug clerk in New Haven, who pours out his sentiments in an amazingly frank way, says that he had decided to offer his hand at once.

A Hutchinson, Kas., man writes that he owns two homes, a big touring car and a truck and that he is eager to make a good home for Marie. He stands ready, he says, to tell her all his past life, if she will reveal hers to him, that they may start life together with a perfect understanding. He names a Hutchinson banker as his reference.

The Battle Creek farmer, indicated that he was worth thousands of dollars, but said he was a bachelor and wanted a wife and baby around the house. After meeting Marie, he doubted if she was large enough to do much housework.

KAISER, PRINCE ESCAPE TALKED

They Have Many Chances To Flee, But Where Could
They Stay?

BERLIN, April 13.—In the spring the Hohenzollerns fancy lightly turns to thoughts of getting away from Holland. At least such are reports from various sources where Constantine's come back and Charles' adventure have aroused the highest hopes and led to renewed plans for escape.

Wild Schemes Talked. Hohenzollern followers are discussing the former kaiser's desire to go to South America and a rumored proposal is that a yacht-owning American millionaire stands ready to rescue the crown prince from exile on Wieringen Island and take him to an American or East Indian island.

This wild scheme is treated of in a weekly review named "Roland von Berlin," who states that a prominent American prima donna, who has not forgotten past favors received, has offered to help the crown prince. It is said she tried to induce an American millionaire to place his yacht at the disposal of the crown prince to enable him to quit the hated island of Wieringen.

"But no country has been found which will allow the yacht to set its passenger ashore. Even the idea of taking him to the Dutch Indies would meet with the refusal of the Holland Government."

Mention of the American opera star's name in connection with the crown prince did not surprise monarchist followers here, who remember the crown prince's favors toward her. It is commonly stated that his influence brought about her first hearing before royalty.

Lures Are Numerous. Recently the owner of a large Berlin woodwork company offered the crown prince a detachment, but it was impossible for the crown prince to return to Germany, even in a private capacity.

Another proposal provided a Hungarian estate for the crown prince, but the Hungarian Government could not permit this without the emperor's approval. The former kaiser's desire to settle in the state of San Paulo, Brazil, is vouched for by Otto Friederich, a servant who accompanied the ex-kaiser into exile and then became a sailor and has recently visited at Doorn. Friederich declared the former kaiser planned to go to South America as soon as the former emperor's health would permit.

UKRAINE RULE CHANGES OFTEN

Seventeen Revolutions Since 1917 Record of Neighbor of Soviet Russia.

PRAGUE, April 13.—Seventeen different governments have been up and down since 1917, says the "Pravda," a Russian daily paper, published here by Socialist Revolutionists. The revolutionists, it is said, have been due to the struggles of the peasantry against the successive rule of the Germans, the Cossack hetman, the land barons and, finally, the Bolsheviks.

After telling about the revolts of the Little Russians against "authority imposed upon them without their consent," the article says:

"A radical change has occurred in the psychology of the peasant masses, a change which may be termed 'psychologic atavism.' It is as if the souls of the people were changed back to the times of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, the slave markets of Constantinople in the struggle for the right to live on the ground drenched with the blood of their forefathers."

"Starving North Russia has sent forth scores of thousands of Soviet employees and bag speculators (persons dealing in foodstuffs carried in bags on their backs) to the fertile Ukraine provinces, in quest of food, while about 200,000 Soviet troops are stationed in the cities, towns and hamlets of the Ukraine."

"Many families from North Russia are migrating to the south to escape death by starvation. At the same time, the Soviet authorities have taken steps to mobilize the male peasant population and send them away to the north and to the Urals, in an effort to combat the rebellion of the peasantry. The cruelties of the Austro-German period of occupation are as nothing compared with the horrors of the Soviet activities in the Ukraine."

The earlier cruelties toward the peasant rebels, such as flogging, confiscation of farm implements and depletion of their resources, has been followed, the article says, "by punitive expeditions, wholesale executions, hangings and shootings." The peasants in reprisal are reported as ambushing Bolshevik detachments many of which "disappear without a trace." Masses are on record, the newspaper states, whose "commandants have been buried alive by the score."

URGES DRIVE IN WEST TO COMBAT GERMANS

Former American Woman Advises French Government.

PARIS, April 13.—French propaganda in the United States must be concentrated in the middle west if German efforts are to be defeated and American friendship retained. This is the view of Mrs. Julia Taftlieb, wife of an Alsatian general. Being herself an American (formerly Mrs. Trenor Parr), she has advised the French Government, as well as commercial and social organizations, to form a series of missions to be sent to America which would strike out for St. Paul, Milwaukee, Chicago, Indianapolis, Madison and St. Louis.

One of the first missions, if the scheme is adopted, would be one sent to Milwaukee to thank the people there for their tribute to Strasbourg last year. Other missions would be composed of eminent financial, economic, political and technical experts, headed by some personality well known in America, who would prepare the way for the opening of French schools in connection with American colleges and high schools, as well as a free exchange of professors than has ever been attempted.

LONDON TO SEE FUTURE MIKADO

Crown Prince of Japan Will Pay Visit To England
Early in May.

LONDON, April 13.—The Crown Prince of Japan is expected to arrive at Portsmouth on the morning of May 9, and will be met on behalf of the King by the Prince of Wales, who will accompany him to London. For three days the Crown Prince will be the guest of King George at Buckingham Palace and for a week subsequently he will be the guest of the Government.

The place of residence for the royal visitor has not yet been decided. There will be three banquets given in his honor, one by the King at Buckingham Palace on the night of his arrival, one by the Prince of Wales and one by the British Government. There will also be a banquet and reception at the Guildhall. On the part of the Japanese, there will be a banquet and reception by the embassy and entertainments by the Japan Society and the Japanese colony. Afterward, the prince will make a tour of the provinces. He is expected to be in this country about three weeks, and it is thought, will then visit France and other countries on the continent.

Carries Big Retinue. The prince's official party will number 18 in addition to servants and valets. With the Crown Prince will come Prince Kan In, who was selected by the Emperor to accompany his son. Count Chinda, member of the privy council and former ambassador in London; General Nara, in charge of the Prince's military education; Viscount Iriye, grand chamberlain; Viscount Tsuchiya, chamberlain; Mr. Satoh, master of ceremonies; the secretary of the Tokyo foreign office, naval and military aide de camps and two doctors.

The King has appointed the following attaches to the royal Japanese party oneduring the prince's stay in England: Admiral the Hon. Sir Stanley Colville, first naval A. D. C. to the King; Gen. Sir Charles Monro, A. D. C. general to the King, late commander-in-chief in India; Capt. Sir B. Godfrey Faussett, equerry to the King, and Messrs. Lamson and Ashton Gwatkin of the foreign office.

U.S. REPRESENTATIVE MAY BE PRESENT AT THE NEXT ALLIED CONFERENCE

PARIS, April 13.—Decisions of the utmost importance regarding Germany will be sought by the supreme allied council at a conference to be held, probably in Paris, early in May. This conference is regarded by France as decisive, it is declared here.

There is speculation in this city whether President Harding's policies, as outlined before Congress yesterday, do not foreshadow the presence of a United States representative.

"At Forty-Five"

"YES, at my age I suppose I should expect a change in my condition. But I am so nervous and irritable, so easily excited and worried, that I cannot understand what is wrong."

"I know just how you feel, my dear, for I have gone through exactly what you are experiencing now."

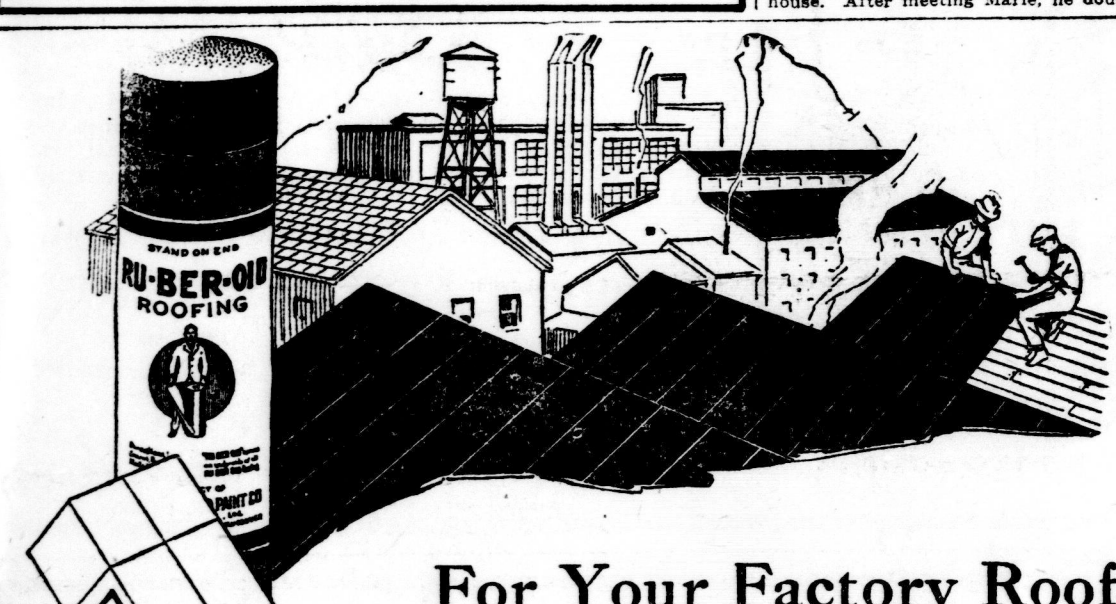

"But you are not nervous."

"No, not now, but I was in a far worse condition than you are, when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I need not tell you more, for you know how well I have been for the last few years."

Mrs. H. Alchorn, 23 Gerald St., Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was recommended to me by an aunt who used it, while passing through the change of life and was completely built up by its use. From my experience as a wife and mother I find that the majority of users are women, especially women passing through the change of life; next by young mothers to regain strength after baby comes, and also by mothers for their young daughters entering their womanhood. While it is good for all classes of humanity, I am sure it is especially so for women, as they seem to be troubled most by nervous diseases."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box. All dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

For Your Factory Roof

Make your new buildings good and your old ones better by covering them with Ruberoid Roofing.

Ruberoid is without question the roofing to use for factories. There is no roofing made that stands up so well under extremes of temperature, constant vibration or the action of smoke and acid fumes. On many a factory roof, Ruberoid Roofing, laid more than 20 years ago is still in active service—the limit of its endurance yet to be determined.

A Man's Pie

Fresh—Delicious—Try it now

Just phone to your grocer or bake shop and say, "Send a Sun-Maid Raisin Pie," or make one at home according to the recipe below. You'll get the pie that men like best because of its flavor and nourishment.

The Raisins are Sun-Maids, plump and tender. The pie is baked so the juice forms a luscious sauce.

It's a man's pie—and a woman's, too, because it is delicious and easy to prepare. Healthful, too, for raisins are nutritious. Rich in assimilable organic iron, which brings the tint of roses to women's and children's cheeks. Eat raisins daily in some delicious form and you'll get all the iron you need.

Every first-class baker sells Sun-Maid Raisin Pie

SUN-MAID RAISINS

Always use Sun-Maids for your every cooking need.

Made from California's tenderest, sweetest, juiciest table grapes, noted for their fragile skins.

Packed in a great sun-lighted, glass-walled plant. Sweet, clean, wholesome American raisins—the kind you know are good.

Three varieties: Sun-Maid Seeded (seeds removed); Sun-Maid Seedless (grown without seeds); Sun-Maid Clusters (on the stem). All dealers. Insist upon the Sun-Maid Brand.

STEVED RAISINS.
Cover Sun-Maid Raisins with cold water and add a slice of lemon or orange to each half pound. Place on fire, bring to a boil and allow to simmer for one hour. Sugar may be added, but is not necessary, as Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins contain 75 per cent natural fruit sugar. Serve with or without cream.

RAISIN RICE PUDDING.
1/2 cup Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins
1/2 cup rice
1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup water
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg (may omit)

Wash rice and place in double boiler with 1 cup water. Cook until water is absorbed. Add 2 cups milk, cook until rice is tender. To the remaining 1 cup milk add the sugar, spice and well-beaten eggs, combine with rice and raisins, pour into pudding dish, set in pan of hot water and bake until custard is set.

RAISIN PIE.
2 cups Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins
2 cups cold water
4 tablespoons corn starch
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Cover raisins with one cup water and bring slowly to boiling point. Mix corn starch, salt and sugar with remaining cup water and add to boiling raisins, stirring constantly. Allow to boil ten minutes. Add lemon juice and rind and pour into butter-lined pie pan. Cover with pastry. Put into very hot oven, decreasing the heat after ten minutes or less. Bake until done.

RAISIN SALAD.
1 cup Sun-Maid Seeded Raisins
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 cups cold water
2 cups coarsely shredded lettuce
1 cup cream mayonnaise
Wash and dry the raisins, add to the apples and lemon juice. Line bowl or plates with shredded lettuce, then raisins, apples in centre, cover with mayonnaise, serve with Neufchatel cheese balls and garnish top with small pieces of red leaf lettuce. Shredded lettuce is a matter of taste. It will go farther and decorate better if shredded.

Men! Come To Me!

MY METHODS ARE THE LATEST AND MOST SCIENTIFIC IN ALL CASES
Dr. Zauner and Associates

Invites Every Ailing Man for Free Examination, Consultation, Advice

If you are suffering with a Nervous, Blood or Skin Disease you should call at my office at once for a thorough examination. My treatment will help you. No power of words can describe the wonderful benefits my Direct Method Treatment has given to hundreds of ailing men. If you have Pimples, Eruptions, Blisters, Acne, Eczema, Bad Color, Boils, Itching or Burning of Skin, or any symptoms of Blood Disorders, Skin Diseases or Nervous Ailments you should call at once and let me explain to you—prove to you—the wonderful benefits I am rendering every day in all such conditions. The fact that you may have been treated elsewhere without benefits should not discourage you in the least. Hundreds of patients are being restored to a sound basis of health after they had tried numerous doctors and other treatments in vain. My charges are reasonable, and no more than you can afford to pay. A visit will convince you. Call today. No discount on Canadian money.

I Have a Safe and Certain Treatment for Every Man Suffering to His Case

Do you feel tired in the morning and easily exhausted? Is your back weak? Is your memory failing? Do you have difficulty in fixing your thoughts? Are you losing ambition? Do you feel that you are not the man you once were? Do you have hot flashes up and down your spine, or sudden weakness, especially after eating? Have you palpitation of the heart? Dull headaches, pain at the base of the brain, sudden spells like fainting from no apparent cause? Are you very restless or sleepless at night? Are you nervous and irritable, with a feeling that you want to be alone? Are you gloomy, with a sense of some great oppression upon you? If you need my treatment, a visit will tell. Call today.

Certain and Safe Methods for a Reasonable Fee.
BY MY ADVANCED METHODS OF TREATMENT, THE WEAK, DISEASED BODY TAKES ON DAY BY DAY NEW POWER.

NO MAN should suffer the loss of health, which renders life worth living, or allow himself to become less than nature intended, when there is at hand a certain relief for his Debility. Most of the PAINTS, most of the DEBILITIES of the DIS-EASES OF MEN from which men suffer are due to an early loss of Nature's reserve power. You need not suffer from this. Why not be relieved and enjoy perfect HEALTH? The very element which you have lost you can get back, and you may be as happy as any man. YOU CAN BE ALLEVIATED BY ME AT A REASONABLE COST. WHAT FAIRER PROPOSITION COULD ANY MAN ASK? HONORABLE, SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT IS WHAT YOU WILL GET HERE. A VISIT WILL TELL. Call today and talk things over. This does not obligate you to begin treatment.

GAS COMPANY'S BILL APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

Dr. H. A. Stevenson's Single-Handed Fight Against Increased Charges Fails.

FREE SUITS "IF"

R. L. Brackin, West Kent, Makes Novel Offer in the House.

TORONTO, April 13.—When the London City Gas bill came up for committee consideration in the Ontario Legislature today, Dr. H. A. Stevenson, Labor member for London, stood absolutely alone in opposing the imposition upon London citizens of the increased gas charge schedule, drawn up by the sub-committee of the private bills, and approved by the whole committee. He voted alone in the House for his amendment to make the price of gas $1 per 1,000 cubic feet, with 25 cents additional to be set aside into a possible refund account, and in face of overwhelming opposition was compelled to withdraw a second amendment to delay the increased charge until the Gas Company refunded to the citizens the $60,000 it had illegally exacted in service charges.

Although the London member lost out in his fight on behalf of London citizens, he may have secured gratis for them the services of one lawyer, generally regarded as a pretty fair one, to fight the Gas Company for a refund of $60,000 service charges. Vigorously opposing Dr. Stevenson's amendment, stipulating a refund of the $60,000, R. L. Brackin, Liberal member for West Kent, declared that if one London citizen secured a division court decision for the return of his particular contribution in illegal service charge, the company would have to refund the claims of every user in the city.

"If the London citizens get one division court decision in their favor, and the company does not pay all the others," declared Mr. Brackin, "I will take the suit of all the others into court and sue the company for nothing."

Dr. Stevenson was hardly satisfied with even that proposal. He pointed out that the amounts at issue were distributed in $1, $2 and $3 lots between thousands of London citizens, every one of whom would have to go to court. Despite, however, his plea that surely the Legislature, supposed to protect the rights of the people, would afford that protection, the committee passed the bill as it went through the private bills committee.

NO NIGHT WORK FOR THOSE UNDER 18 YEARS

TORONTO, April 13.—M. M. MacBride (South Brant) introduced bills in the Legislature this afternoon providing that no person under 18 years of age shall be employed at night in a public or industrial undertaking, and fixing the minimum ages at which children may be employed in industries at 14 years for boys and 15 years for girls, and providing that no woman of any age shall be employed at night in any industrial undertaking.

LEAN PURSE MAIN CAUSE OF RELAPSE TUBERCULAR CASES

Col. Wm. M. Hart Makes Appeal For 100 Per Cent Pension.

SHELTERED EMPLOYMENT

Majority of Tuberculosis Returned Men Need Lifelong Treatment.

OTTAWA, April 13.—(By Canadian Press.)—Sub-standard shops, an efficient nursing system, sheltered employment, the establishment of industrial colonies and the development of clinics in all centres throughout Canada, are recommended as efficient aids in the fight against tuberculosis by Colonel William M. Hart, tuberculosis expert of the department of Soldiers Civil Re-establishment before the parliamentary committee of soldiers' civil re-establishment this afternoon.

Colonel Hart presented the report of the board of tuberculosis sanatoria consultants, which was compiled after an extensive examination of the whole problem, both among the soldier and civil populations throughout the Dominion.

In explaining his report, Colonel Hart said that the care and continued treatment of patients discharged from sanatoria was indorsed by medical experts all over the world. Adequate compensation was necessary. Sanctions of one hundred per cent should be supplemented in order to give patients an opportunity to care for themselves. The relationship between the permanency of sanatorium results and sufficient income was exceedingly close.

Mr. Hume Cronyn raised the point as to whether it would be possible to pay a helpless allowance to tubercular patients and not pay it to soldiers helpless from other causes.

Colonel Hart said the whole question of amplified pension to the tubercular was involved in the question of sheltered employment. It might not be necessary to issue a flat increase in pension in a majority of cases.

"A lean purse is the main cause of relapse," Dr. Hart said. "Ex-patients' home life should be made to conform to sanatorium conditions. Moderately advanced patients were fifty per cent disabled, and if this were realized, arrested cases would not have their pensions cut fifty per cent. The majority of tuberculosis ex-service men would require skilled treatment as long as they lived. Provision for this was inadequate. There should be no difference between the standing for treatment of actual patients and pensioners."

Iron Fist Used By Government To Save Its Life

Closure Approved by Party Majority in Early Morning Vote.

OTTAWA, April 14.—(By Canadian Press.)—At 2:10 this morning the House divided on the two items specified in the motion of closure, moved when the House went into committee of supply at midnight, namely, the vote of $5,320,000 for shipbuilding, and the interim supply vote. The motion had been debated since midnight under rules of closure, the speakers being limited to 20 minutes each.

The final vote stood 103 to 79 for the Government, a majority of 24, by which the two items carried.

TWO NEWBURY MEN FINED $100 EACH FOR BREAKING O.T.A.

Dr. G. Gordon Issued Too Many Prescriptions To James Richards.

Dr. G. Gordon of Newbury was fined $100 and costs in Squire W. H. Chittick's court at the courthouse Wednesday afternoon, after pleading guilty to issuing liquor prescriptions improperly, contrary to the provisions of the Ontario temperance act. James Richards first pleaded not guilty and then changed his plea to guilty, on a charge of improperly obtaining the prescriptions and was fined $100 and costs. Crown-Attorney J. B. McKillop stated that for a period of three months Richards had been securing an average of one prescription a week from the other defendant. It was said that he did not obtain them all for his own use.

ANOTHER TWO PER CENT INCREASE ON PHONE RATES

Increased Rates Are Effective on or About April 21.

OTTAWA, April 13.—(By Canadian Press.)—A further increase of 2 per cent on rates and charges for exchange service has been allowed the Bell Telephone Company by the board of railway commissioners, in a supplementary judgment to that issued on April 11. An error in computation by the Assistant Chief Commissioner, S. J. McLean, takes responsibility and expresses regret is the reason given for the increase from 16 to 18 per cent.

The equalization of rates, whereby Montreal was placed on the Toronto basis, resulted in a decrease in Montreal Exchange revenue, and this was a contributing factor to the inadequacy of the return from increased rates. The long distance increases allowed will go into effect on April 21, and the exchange rate increase on the same date or within two days afterwards.

EXPERTS' REPORT ON CHIPPEWA SCHEME TABLED

Whole of Report Not Being Made Public At Present.

REPORTS VARY

Later Figures Are Generally Lower Than First Report Showed.

TORONTO, April 13.—The report of Hugh L. Cooper and Company, New York, on the Chippewa-Queensdown power development was tabled in the Legislature this afternoon by Hon. H. C. Nixon, provincial secretary, as well as reports from other experts dated later than the Cooper report.

Premier Durney, in a brief statement, made it clear that the whole of the Cooper report was not being tabled. At the request of the Government at Ottawa certain matters were not being made public, he intimated, because of their international importance.

Basing calculations on the development of power with a flow of 15,000 second feet and a development of about 450,000 horsepower, Mr. Cooper estimates the total cost of the undertaking at $71,988,626. He figures that up to May 1, 1920, $14,000,000 had already been spent on the work. Another estimate calculating on the basis of a development of 20,000 second feet with a production of approximately 600,000 horsepower, amounts to $88,920,506.

Much Lower Estimates.
Five months later Francis L. Stuart and K. S. Kerbaugh, who report under date of September 30, 1920, make a much lower estimate. Basing their calculations on the canal plans actually being followed, Messrs. Stuart and Kerbaugh figure that $27,271,759 is approximately near the amount for the cost of the development of 15,000 second feet, with a power capacity of between 450,000 and 500,000. In this figure allowance is made for salvage recoverable, estimated at $4,000,000, and $2,600,000 receipts for broken stone. The total cost per horsepower under this estimate would be $16.16. These gentlemen think that power should be generated by September 1, 1921.

"In general, we have to advise you that while this is a large undertaking, it is in excellent shape for early completion," Messrs. Stuart and Kerbaugh state.

Credit To All Concerned.
"The project and its purposes appeal to us in all its phases. The conception and design is simple and effective and the construction work is being carried out with a proper present-day equipment and in an intelligently capable way, with credit to all concerned."

One month later, R. S. and W. S. Lea of Montreal, under date of October 26, 1920, report that with the present levels the calculated capacity of the canal, as now designed, is about 15,000 second feet.

R. D. Johnston of New York says that "the Queenston-Chippewa development, when completed, bids fair to furnish the best material for instruction in guidance of the students of hydraulic engineering as a magnificent exposition of the art and a display of the utmost proficiency of its period in all particulars."

SIR SAM HUGHES ILL.

OTTAWA, April 13.—(By Canadian Press.)—It was ascertained at the residence of Sir Sam Hughes here this afternoon that he is confined at home with a cold. He is progressing favorably and expects to be about again in a day or two.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN TORONTO GROWING WORSE, SAYS MARSH

TORONTO, April 13.—Secretary J. F. Marsh of the Grand Army of United Veterans sent a telegram to Premier Meighen and Hume Cronyn, chairman of the parliamentary committee on pensions and soldiers' re-establishment to the effect that the unemployment situation in Toronto was growing worse; that six hundred veterans who had been employed three days a week in the city parks department were laid off today; that several hundred railwaymen had been dismissed from employment and that the Government employment bureau reported no work available.

"Please recommend to Government immediate action regarding public works or unemployment allowances for unemployed," the telegram requested.

DEATH OF W. E. TATHAM.

LISTOWEL, April 13.—W. E. Tatham, for many years in the hardware business here, and one of Lis-town's oldest residents, died at his home here this evening, aged 72. He had retired from business several years ago.

PEACH CROP NOT HURT.

ST. CATHARINES, April 12.—The peach crop was not injured in the recent cold spell, so far as learned, but some varieties of apples, notably the Duchess, may be scarcer this year as a result of the cold snap. Sour cherries also may be less plentiful, as the cherry blossoms were affected by the cold. The plum crop was slightly injured.

Honest Advertising.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Honestly advertised as such, without a claim for more than its over 30 years of use have amply proven. A Baby's remedy for Babies. And not an adult's remedy for all the family and all the ails that human flesh is heir to.

Children Cry For

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

Mix Super Cement the same as ordinary Portland Cement by hand or by mechanical mixer

Plenty of Super Cement Now Available

LAST year the demand for the new SUPER CEMENT was far beyond the supply.

But manufacturing facilities have been largely increased and there is now plenty of SUPER CEMENT available.

During the past year there have been many tests of SUPER CEMENT made on actual jobs in Canada, and this new cement has proven to the entire satisfaction of users that it is absolutely waterproof.

We will be glad to give particulars of these jobs to architects, engineers, builders, contractors and private individuals who intend to use cement for any building work this year.

SUPER CEMENT is sold in the same size barrels and bags as ordinary Portland Cement. It is mixed and looks the same as Portland Cement.

But SUPER CEMENT is far superior, because it is made by a new and improved process.

This process causes 65 per cent of the particles of SUPER CEMENT to unite with the mixing water, while only about 30 per cent of ordinary Portland Cement particles combine with the water. This means that the activity of a SUPER CEMENT mix is twice that of one of ordinary Portland Cement. As the strength of the concrete depends upon the activity of the mix that binds the stone and sand together, it is readily apparent why SUPER CEMENT produces such a wonderfully strong, dense, adhesive and absolutely waterproof concrete.

Write SUPER CEMENT (America) Limited, for book telling all about this new SUPER CEMENT—the discovery of a leading English engineer and patented all over the world. The information is both interesting and valuable.

RATEPAYERS PLEASED WITH INSTALMENT PLAN

May Break Up Tax Payments into Three Periodic Sums.

ST. THOMAS, April 12.—The periodic payment of taxes in three instalments appears to meet the practical approval of a large section of the ratepayers as well as a bit of very pleasing testimony that there is still considerable money moving from the people of St. Thomas towards the municipal establishment at the city building.

City Treasurer Perry stated today that he had received up to last night $82,000 in this year's taxes, as against $58,000 for the like period a year ago, or an increase of $24,000. A number of property owners and businessmen are taking advantage of the 2½ per cent discount, and are paying the entire year's taxes in advance.

WILL OF LATE BARONESS IS FILED FOR PROBATE

OTTAWA, April 12.—An estate, all personal, of a total value of $23,395, was left by the late Right Hon. Susan Agnes Macdonald, known as the Baroness Macdonald of Ernescliffe, widow of the Right Hon. Sir John Alexander Macdonald, premier of Canada, and one of the father of Confederation. Baroness Macdonald died in England on September 5, 1920, and the will, which was made in England on June 12, 1914, has now been filed for probate in the surrogate court here. The petitioners are the Royal Trust Company, who are also appointed executors of the estate.

The principal beneficiaries under the will are the Hon. Mary Macdonald, daughter of the London, Eng.; Sir Hugh Macdonald, stepson, Winnipeg; the Hon. Agnes Anastasia Pepler and Agnes Louise Fitzgibbon, nieces. The will is incidentally the first English will to be filed in the surrogate court here for a considerable length of time. The terms and conditions of the will are set forth on several large-sized sheets of parchment. The will provided for the creation of a trust fund, out of which annuities will be paid.

Tariff Reciprocity Would Be Welcomed By the United States

Hon. W. S. Fielding Claims Reciprocity Pact Would Meet Disadvantages Threatened To Canada by Passage of the Fordney Bill—Amendment Defeated by Government Majority of Nineteen.

OTTAWA, April 13.—Canadian Press.—The House of Commons today discussed tariff reciprocity between the United States and Canada. The ship-building appropriation and the interim supply resolution which led to the 32-hour sitting were scheduled for the continued debate under closure rules, but as the preliminary motion to go into supply was put, Hon. W. S. Fielding immediately rose with an amendment. He moved that the government should bring in a measure to approve, ratify and confirm the agreement respecting reciprocal trade between the United States and Canada, signed at Washington on January 21, 1911.

Mr. Fielding, as minister of finance in the Laurier Government, was one of the two who signed the reciprocity agreement on behalf of Canada. He argued that there was a considerable element in the United States which would be glad if the reciprocity agreement were adopted. He referred to the Fordney emergency bill as having manifest disadvantages to Canada. The bill was again before Congress. There was danger of it becoming law, and both countries would be along better with friendly trade relations. As the reciprocity agreement was still on the statute books of the United States, Canada was justified in assuming that it was still open for adoption.

"There never was a time," Mr. Fielding declared, "when good commercial relations were so needed between Canada and the United States." It would be a good thing, he thought, for Canada to make a move for adoption of the reciprocity agreement.

Encourage Cordial Relations.
Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, asserted that the most cordial relations with the United States should be encouraged. But there might be difference on ways and means of obtaining those relations. It might look like sharp practice to try to put the reciprocity pact through under emergency conditions. As to the suggestions that Canada should take immediate action in view of the Fordney bill, Sir Henry did not think a retaliatory measure would be proper. Americans were merely conducting their own business. A Canadian tariff should be viewed from the standpoint of the Dominion's best interests.

Amendment Lost.
Hon. W. S. Fielding's amendment was defeated 109 to 73, a majority of 21.

The closure motion carried on a standing vote of 109 to 81, a Government majority of 19.

Will Answer Tomorrow.
At the opening of the House today J. A. Robb (Chateaugay-Huntingdon) called the attention of the prime minister to a recent press dispatch which stated that 30 nations would be represented at a conference on trade matters of ambassadors and consuls, to be held in New York on May 1. He asked if Canada would be represented at this conference. The prime minister replied that he had no recollection of this matter being brought to his attention. If Mr. Robb would repeat a question tomorrow when the minister of trade and commerce was in the House, it could probably be dealt with, as the conference was in relation to trade matters.

Brig.-Gen. W. A. Griesbach (Edmonton) questioned the premier regarding delays in the issuing of oil leases in Northern Alberta. The member for Edmonton said he was being harassed with telegrams and letters protesting against the delay. The prime minister stated that when Gen. Griesbach had indicated a week ago that he would ask this question, the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, had been provided with a memorandum on the subject. The question had been delayed, and he was now without the memorandum at hand. He would attempt to answer the question tomorrow.

A. H. McCoig (West Kent) questioned the Government regarding a press report which stated that the civil servants were to be paid their salaries for the year. He asked if the House would have an opportunity of discussing the amount of bonus which should be paid. The prime minister replied that that which he had stated some time ago. There would be a reduction this year of 25 per cent. The subject could be discussed in the House when the item in the estimates for this bonus was brought up.

H. M. Mowat (Parkdale) asked if the Government was aware of the statements which were being made in Pacific coast papers by Hon. F. B. Carr, chief commissioner of the railway board, Mr. Carvell, the member for Parkdale, said, was reported as having said that the action of Parliament in suspending the railway board was "capricious and ill-considered." Mr. Mowat asked if the Government had considered whether the suspension of the chief commissioner could not be limited.

Hon. Mr. Meighen said he had observed the reports. Mr. Carvell was not an officer of the Government. The only reason for his suspension was by Parliament, and would be found in the railway act.

Hon. W. S. Fielding asked if the chief commissioner of the railway board was a judge, and therefore should not be subject to criticism in the House.

F. S. Cahill (Pontiac) asked if, in view of the suspension of the Grand Trunk Railway arbitration proceedings, the Government was relieved from its obligation in that regard and whether it intended to take any action. The prime minister said this was a question which could not be answered on orders of the day, neither could a legal opinion as to the Government's obligations be expressed.

Rumanian Debt Unpaid.
S. W. Jacobs (George Etienne Cartier) asked if the interest on the Rumanian loan had yet been paid. Sir Henry Drayton replied that it had not.

The House then went into committee on a bill to extend the time for construction of a portion of the Quebec and St. John Railway between Centerville and Andover, N. B.

The House passed a resolution by which the suspension of the Grand Trunk Railway arbitration proceedings, amending the animal contagious act, providing for the extension of the time during which compensation may be paid for diseased animals, slaughter, for a three-year period, from May 24. First reading was given a bill based on this resolution.

The act to define Canadian animals. Second reading was given the bill after considerable discussion. Second reading was given a bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to copy-right.

Wants Speedy Action.
Premier Meighen urged a speedy

GENERAL ELECTION FACES CONSERVATIVES

Manitoba Provincial Government May Be Forced To Go To People.

WINNIPEG, April 13.—(By Canadian Press).—Possibilities for a general election in Manitoba during the coming summer were never brighter than today, says the Winnipeg Free Press this afternoon, in a news story on the authority of "general opinion at the Parliament Buildings." The division in the Legislature yesterday, when by the deciding vote of the speaker, the Government was saved from defeat on a resolution which called for its resignation and the reconstruction of the cabinet to represent all groups, is said to have "placed the Government in a position where it feels that an appeal to the people is almost imminent."

Failure to pass the Government bill to provide for proportional voting in constituencies where more than two candidates are in the field, which comes before the law amendments committee this week, might precipitate the long-deferred crisis.
