The tollowing account is given by one of the missionaries of, a native who was brought to a saving knowledge of the truth in the evening of of life: "One of the cases of baptism was an old man. He remembered the days of heathenism. When the Gospel reached the island he clung to the old heathen customs and refused to receive the truth, and up to a recent period he has manifested a total disregard to the Word of God, and has lived a very wild and abandoned life. He felt a dreadful fear of God, and believed the God of the Gospel was angry with him for neglecting to worship him. At this time one of the deacons visited him, and the old man disburdened his soul to him; and desired him to teach him what to do. At another visit of the deacon, just after my arrival here, he asked If the men and women of good society wish him if he were willing to receive Christ for lite? to have less drinking to excess let them stop He said, Yes, he was willing to do so. From the London Spectator. DR. LIVINGSTONE'S LETTERS PROVE THAT HIS MIND IS IMPAIRED.

Four or five letters from Dr. Livingstone-two to the New York Herald, and others to Dr. Waller-have been published this week, and others have been received by the Royal Geographical Society. They contain some interesting intelligence about the native races, particularly one about the people of Manyema, a race which are more sprung up. They are, however, full also the Dr. Livingstone whom we have all years, seeing no white face, believing himself abandoned, sick, hungry, and heartbroken, has become ulcerated in mind, has even perhaps sustained some temporary in-jury to his intellectual power. His discoveries evidently puzzle Sir H. Rawlinson, and he has forwarded his diary to his daughter, sealed, with orders that it shall not be opened until his return or death.

It must be American, for I have had glimpses of a good many English noblemen, and Msama was the only specimen of a 'bloated aristocrat' on whom I ever set eyes." But think of the following from the pe of the man who wrote Dr. Livingstone' earlier works; from the pen of the great, the good, the humble, the self-sacrificing missionary of Jesus Christ: " Many of the women are very pretty, and, like all ladies would have been much prettier if they had only let themselves alone. Fortunately the dears could not change charming black eyes, beautiful toreheads, nicely rounded limbs, well shaped forms, and small hands and feet, but must adorn themselves, and this they do-'oh, the hussies!' by filing splendid teeth to points like cats' teeth. From the Presbyterian.

We cut the following items from our hanges, to place them in juxtaposition: Father Beckx, the "General" of the Jesuita vill visit the United Siates in August.

Monsignor Capel, the "Catesby" of Lo of aristocratic converts that he has led into the Roman Catholic Church, and for his recent at-tack upon the Ritualists, is to visit this coun-try during the coming autumn.

We do not know what authority these statenents rest upon but there is no reason why they may not be true. We believe that the Black Pope," as the General of the Jesuits s called at Rome, has not been accustomed to leave that city for distant travel, or for any length of time; but times have changed in Rome, and there is not so much for Father Beckx to do now as there has been in time past, and tar less to enjoy. He may find it to he interest of his order to survey the new fields for effort and conquest which have opened up this side of the Atlantic Besides, his subordinates have been at work here for many years, and he may come to see how his creft i prospering. As for Monsignor Capel, who has been so successful among the aristocracy of England, he may have heard that foolish Ritualists are not unknown in our large cities, and come to snare them with his smooth sentences and cunning traps of words. We think we know some who would esteem it quite an honor to be numbered among "aristocratic con verts."

It is well, moreover, for all Protestants to remember that the expulsion of the Jesuits from European States, and the consequent conraction of their fields for effort in the Old World, may contront us on this side of the water, with a new, or at least with an increased danger. Bismarck cares little where this turbulent scheming order go, so that they are $2.50 each, before the first of October next, beyond the bounds of the German Em- we will give a copy of "Foster's New Cycle pire. Austria does not want them, and other States in Europe fear their restless plotting, and watch them with ceaseless vigilance. But two countries, and these the great Protestant States of the world, remain open to them; and the very freedom which Great Britain and the United States give to all religious orders and teachers to come and stay, makes them the lands of rest and fields of effort markable. But the liquor traffic is carried on to a woeful extent. I have seen more principles of our national polity, forbid these principles of our national polity, forbid these Both of which ought to be in every Methodist dangerous men from coming, but we should not family. be forgetful of the fact that their coming is a 2. An influx of the Jesuits, which seems to us to be very probable, is a new peril to which it becomes all true Americans to awake, and the sooner we awake the better.

The bear and cubs were about two yar's from the woods. Miss McDonald made a noise, intending to frighten off the bear, but he turned at the girl, knocked her down, and scratched and tore her badly. The little girl screamed and clung to Miss McDonald, and was also severely scratched on the head. Miss McDonald called for assistance, her father's house being a quarter of a mile distant from where she was. When she did, the bear caught hold of her again, and bit her. At length her brother and some young men heard her cries, and ran to her assistance. The bear attacked them, but they being armed with sticks, succeeded in driving him away. When they reached Miss McDonald, they found the poor girl shockingly injured. Her arms, breast, shoulders, and neck were tonand scratched, and her head almost completely scalped.
