FRENCH AND BRITISH HAD ADVANCED 11 MILES UP TO NOON.

London, Aug. 9. The Franco-British advance on the battle front South of the Somme has reached a maximum depth of eleven miles according to news received here shortly after noon today. Advances from the battle front, south of the Somme today, report British Cavalry, Armored Cars, and Tanks in advance of the infantry to have reached within a mile of the Chaumes Railway junction. The reports received show the attack developing victoriously on a large scale.

NEWFOUNDLAND VESSEL HELD UP.

A Canadian Atlantic port, Aug 9. The Newfoundland three-masted schooner Gladys M. Hollett, 159 tons, was held up of the coast, on Monday last by an Enemy submarine and bombed. She was towed into port early this morning. The schooner is on her beam ends but can be righted and made seaworthy again. The vessel was bound from Twillingate Newfoundland for New York, when the U-boat attacked her. Captain Cluett master of the schooner and crew landed Tuesday.

BRITISH FRENCH OFFENSIVE NEAR AMIENS BEGAN TODAY

Progressing favorably on a Wide Front.

Paris, Aug. 8. French-British troops at five o'clock this morning began an offensive in the region Southeast of Amiens, the war office announces. The attack is developing under favorable conditions.

The attack is under the command of Field Marshal Haig and is on a wide front the statement adds. The troops engaged are the British Fourth Fifth and French First armies.

This attack, southeast of Amiens, probably is aimed at weakening if not to wipe out the German position in and about Mont Didier, where the battle line swings to the North.

The British troops hold a sector South of the Somme, which joins up with the French lines South of Villers Bretonneux.

Late last week the Germans with drew to the east of the Avre, in the region West and North West of Mont Didier. Since then the French have been gaining ground on the same front. A line from the Somme to Avre, and thence South along the river, faces fairly open country and the region of Picardy in front of it, is part of the region devastated by the Germans in their retreat from the Somme in March 1917.

A break through in the Mont Didier region would have a menacing effect on the German lines from Rheims to Ypres.

London, Aug. 8.

The statement of the Admiralty, in announcing the amount of the merchant ships constructed for the three months ending June 30 says the output of the United Kingdom and Allied and Neutral countries exceeded the losses from all causes, by 296,696 gross tons. The total output was 1,243,274 tons against 850,317 tons. For the first quarter of the year the United Kingdom built 442,966 tons.

During July the United Kingdom constructed 141,948 tons as compared with June 134,159 tons which compared with July 1916—1917 shows an increase of 174 per cent and 71 per cent respectively. The United Kingdoms total output for the first seven months of the year was 905,194 tons, for the year ending July 31 the output was 1,490,025 compared with the same period of the previous year 865,147 tons.

TWENTY-TWO GERMAN AIR-MACHINES ACCOUNTED FOR IN PICARDY

London, Aug. 9. In aerial fighting, Wednesday preceding the offensive in Picardy, British airmen accounted for twenty two German machines, fifteen of which were destroyed. The official statement says Eighteen tons of bombs were dropped during the day and night.

GERMANS IN ACTIVE BOMBARDMENT.

London, Aug. 14. There was no infantry fighting during the night on the British sector of the Picardy battle front says the official statement from Field Marshall Haig today. The German artillery was active. Tuesday the British threw back German local attacks, on the northern side of the Lys salient. Last night the German artillery was very active in this region.

BRITISH BEAR BRUNT OF NAVAL WARFARE.

London, Aug. 14. Interesting figures and percentages concerning allied warships engaged in Anti-marine warfare have been prepared in London. They show that in the Eastern Atlantic eighty percent of the vessels are British; fourteen percent American and six percent French. Submarine engaged in hunting submarines in the same waters are 75 percent British, 17 percent French and five percent American. Of the miscellaneous patrol craft 86 percent are British 11 percent French and three percent American.

ANOTHER STEAMER TORPEDOED OFF NEW JERSEY COAST.

IN GRIEF OVER HIS MANY SINS.

Geneva, Aug. 13. The German newspapers say that King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, who is at Nauheim, frequently is seen in tears and appears greatly depressed. A German mental expert has been sent to Nauheim from Berlin by order of Emperor William.

THE ENCOUNTER OFF AMELAND.

Copenhagen, Aug. 13. The following communication of the German admiralty dealing with the recent encounter off Ameland, in which several British motor boats were destroyed and a German airship was brought down, was received here. British naval forces approaching a German bay were immediately attacked with bombs and machine guns, destroying three fast boats and damaged another; a battle cruiser and a torpedo boat were hit by bombs the latter being sunk. Our naval force which immediately approached the field of battle, were unable to meet the retiring enemy. Our casualties amount to an airship, commanded by corvette, captain of Reserve forces, and an airplane.

The British Admiralty, referring to the statement of the German Admiralty with regard to the engagement off Ameland says: "Our losses have been correctly stated. No ship was hit or damaged in any way whatever." The British Admiralty report of the Ameland fight says: Motor boats engaged in the expedition failed to return but that there was no other damage nor any other casualties.

HUNS SUFFERING FROM THEIR OWN MEDICINE.

Amsterdam, Aug. 13. A despatch from Frankfurt says that despite the timely warning given several persons were killed and material damage done especially in the streets of Frankfurt during the British air raid on Monday.

INCIDENTS OF CANADIANS IN PICARDY FIGHT.

London, Aug. 13. Sir. A. E. Kemp has issued the following official statement regarding the work of the Canadian Cavalry and machine gun brigade in the recent Picardy offensive: "The Cavalry broke thru one gap in the German lines so rapidly that they captured the brigade headquarters intact, gaining valuable information as to the disposition of troops and taking hundreds of prisoners. Having insufficient men to take prisoners back, an officer ordered the latter to proceed along, unarmed to the advancing infantry. The prisoners obeyed forming an extraordinary procession of 'Hands up' along the Amiens-Roye road.

Between Mezieres and Baucourt a lone prisoner shouted to the cavalry captain to take the neighboring village where the brigade headquarters was situated. The squadron stamped the horses of the enemy and bombed his dugouts. The scared brigadiers and his staff emerged surrendering. "Three snipers, who were skirting the hill expecting to meet their own squadron, encountered fifty Germans with machine guns. All took cover and one returned to warn the squadron the other two swiftly changing their position, caused the enemy to think the position was strongly held. One trooper accounted for twenty Germans, at the critical moment, when the enemy rushed the gallant couple, the cavalry dashed up killing all.

The cavalry pay a great tribute to the infantry who often accomplish their task without the cavalry support. The Canadian armored cars, tanks and officers also did excellent work.

KING GEORGE IN FRANCE.

London, Aug. 14. Reuter correspondent at British army headquarters cables that the King arrived in France on Aug. 5, and immediately inspected the mode of landing heavy material, like tanks big guns, and lorries.

He inspected the base depots and then motored to the casualty clearing stations where he chatted with the wounded fresh from the fighting.

Then followed a strenuous tour of the front. The King covered an average of one hundred miles daily thru wet and dreary weather. Every where he was cheered by troops and civilians. Once the road was shelled as his majesty past.

OIL DISPUTE WITH MEXICO SETTLED.

Mexico City, Aug. 13. The Government announced today that Great Britain on last April 30 presented to the Mexican Government a protest against the provisions of the oil decree of Feb. 19 and similar to the protest made by the United States April 8, and made public last June. The new decree of Aug 1 abrogating that of Feb. 19 is believed to have settled the questions brought up by the protests.

STUBBORN FIGHTING IN VALLEY OF OISE.

Paris, Aug. 14. In comparison with the quick advance of the first four days the battle in Picardy now may seem to be stagnant, but nevertheless the French have pushed nearer to the Chaumes-Roye-Lassigny-Noyon line, to which the Germans are clinging desperately. It took the Allies a fortnight to get the Germans from the Marne to the Vesle, the ground between the Avre and the Oise is much more difficult than north of the Marne being a labyrinth of small wooded hills in and out of which the troops have to worm themselves surrounding and reducing each summit separately and successively. It is no easy task because the enemy laid out his positions long ago so he is able to defend them with groups of machine gunners, who have orders—which they invariably obey to the letter, to resist, until killed. Consequently every inch of ground requires not only great determination, in overtaking but experienced skill. Tuesday's fighting put the French more than a mile north of Cambroun, close to Attiche and Carmoy farms, which are two big machine gun nests.

The French left advancing on Lassigny met with vigorous resistance, north of St. Llaudie Farm and north of Mareuil—Le Motte; however they succeeded in fighting their way thru the woods and moved their line eight hundred yards north east of Gury. North of Gury they reached the southern edge of Loges Wood and also penetrated the park belonging to the chateau of Plessier De Roye; they also reached Belvial between Plessier De Roye and Thiescourt.

The enemy still holds the greater part of Thiescourt Wood and the formidable plateau of Plemont.

The French have now advanced their line to within less than a mile and a half of Lassigny. It will, however, undoubtedly require a tremendous effort to capture either Lassigny or Roye. The fall of Roye would automatically cause the evacuation of Lassigny.

THE GERMANS MAKING A STAND NEAR CHAUMES.

With the French army in France, Aug. 12—

Difficulty in bringing up artillery ammunition over battle roads brought a comparative lull on the French sector today. Infantry activity was confined to local engagements. The Germans guns have been more active with shells of all calibres and with gas. The enemy is now reinforcing his old line, which he held from 1914 to 1917, and it will require heavier armament to batter away through.

The Germans have attempted several counter attacks but they were repulsed with marked vigor, and gained no successes.

Aviators continue to play an important role in harrassing the enemy behind his front line. They are obstructing the movement of convoys of ammunition and supplies. It is believed that the stand the Germans are preparing to make in their old trenches is likely to prove only a temporary expedient to obtain time in which to get back the immense stores of material and to organize retirement of the artillery and infantry. There is great activity within the German lines east of Roye and Chaumes. All roads are encumbered with wagon loads trains indicating that the enemy is still giving out the ammunition and supplies he had gathered in that region.

ARCHIBALD-MCLAUGHLIN.

A pretty wedding was duly solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. McLaughlin, Lower Economy, N. S., on Wednesday, Aug 7th, at 5 o'clock, p. m. when their second daughter, Erma Reta, was united in matrimony to Stanley Ewart Archibald, son of Andrew Archibald, Truro, N. S., the officiating clergyman being Rev. Mr. Hartley also of Truro. Both the bride and groom were unattended. The bride was simply but sweetly attired in a gown of white voile, wearing the conventional veil and carrying a lovely bouquet of roses and maiden-hair fern. She was given away by her father, and entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, rendered effectively by Miss Sadie Graham of Saskatoon, Sask. Following the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served only the immediate relatives, and friends of bride and groom being present. The bride's travelling suit was of nigger brown taffeta, with hat of sand and peche chene. Both of these young people are held in the highest esteem of their many friends. Mrs. Archibald for the past four years been a most efficient and successful member of the Truro teaching staff, and the best wishes of her fellow teachers follow her. Their gifts were most appropriate and useful. The grooms gift to the bride being a Nordheimer piano. Mr. and Mrs. Archibald left immediately for a short trip thru the Annapolis Valley, from whence they will return to their residence in Truro, N. S.

MRS. CLINTON ARMOUR ACCIDENTALLY RUN DOWN BY TAXI CAR.

Mrs. Clinton Armour when crossing at the junction of Prince and Walker Streets on Saturday, was, by accident run over by a taxi auto. Mrs. Armour was violently thrown to the pavement by the auto and very seriously injured. She was at once placed in a car and taken to her home on Center Street where she received medical treatment and made as comfortable as possible. At the time of going to press, Mrs. Armour's condition was not improving. This was certainly a narrow escape from instant death for Mrs. Armour and should be a warning to all auto drivers.

GERMAN GENERALS AND MEN BEING CASHIERED AND COURT MARSHALLED.

Three German generals recently commanding near Mont Didier, have been cashiered for neglect of duty. A large number of soldiers were court martialled at St. Quentin on Saturday for high treason. 118 BIG BLACK FISH CAPTURED AT RIVER JOHN PICTOU CO., N.S.

On the 10th a large number of Black Fish were seen sporting in the water near the mouth of River John river, Pictou Co., N.S. Parties with motorboats drove the big fish up the river to within about a mile from River John Town. The men on the shore, armed with guns, spars, forks and axes, attacked these strange visitors from the sea and killed 118 of them. These fish are of the whale family and those secured at River John, were in size from 12 feet to 30 feet in length and weighing from a half a ton to three tons, each. These sea monsters are being hauled out onto the farm lands near by and are being buried to make compost fertilizer. The stench from the decaying bodies of these big fish is already becoming highly offensive to the smell, and detrimental to the health of the community. Some years ago a large number of Black Fish came up the river at Hantsport, N. S., where they were killed and taken to the land and composted. In a few weeks the poisonous gases rising from the composts so filled and polluted the air that an epidemic among the people of Hantsport and vicinity broke out and about half of the inhabitants of Hantsport died from the effects of the poisonous air. The River John people must see to it, that the composts are thickly covered with earth or they may have the same disaster that visited Hantsport.

The whole country is now passing thru a period of an industrial unrest as is seen by the demands of labor for increases in wages. This arises from the high cost of food and clothing and the scarcity of labor. In this crisis which, we fear will grow in intensity, wise mediation, in settling these difficulties of wages, was never so important. The outlook is indeed serious.

The interned prisoners who are working on the C.G.R., look a well fed, clothed and cared for lot of men. They are required to work only nine hours a day.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

AUGUST 18—WORKING IN THE CHURCH.

Acts 2:41- 0; 4:32-35; 6:2-4.

Golden Text—"Enter into his glory with thanksgiving, and into his glory with praise: Give thanks unto him, and bless his name." (Ps. 100:4.)

Comments.

Acts 2:41. The incidents of this lesson belong to the early life of the church in Jerusalem, and occurred from 30 to 35 A. D. The word "they" refers to the multitudes who had listened to Peter preach Christ upon the day of Pentecost. The occasion was unique, the preacher divinely appointed, the sermon divinely authoritative and the results remarkable.

Verse 42. Converts were steadfast in the principles they had adopted. The church should train its new recruits, as well as seek their enlistment.

Verse 43. Reverence to God, devotion to Christ and honor to the apostles characterized them.

Verse 44. They were united in heart and principle, and were therefore able to co-operate.

Verse 45. The actual needs of each of the at could not be met by himself, were supplied by the rest.

Verse 46. Worship to God and hospitality among themselves made things ideal.

Verse 47. God was pleased with these conditions and blessed beyond measure.

Acts 4:32. Persecutions soon began after Pentecost, but the effect was to intensify unity among the disciples.

Verse 33. The witness of the apostles has never been shaken. The resurrection of Jesus Christ is the one great outstanding fact of history.

Verse 34. Faith in Christ, not social theorizing, produced this banishment of selfishness. They were not a club of socialists, but a family of God.

Verse 35. Note that it was always the need that regulated the distribution.

Acts 6:2. The church had attained to considerable size. It needed simple organization. The apostles were busy with spiritual ministrations and had no time for business.

Verse 3. Here is our precedent for the selection of deacons. Note their qualifications—good reputation, spiritual-mindedness and common sense.

Verse 4. "We" means the apostles. This was four or five years after Pentecost.

The Church: Its claim and How We May Meet Them.

1. The Worshipping Church—Acts 2:41-47.

The ideal—ingathering, instruction, helpfulness, worship, growth.

2. The Witness Church—Acts 4:32-35. Unity, testimony, grace, brotherhood.

3. The Organized Church—Acts 6:2-4. The need for organization. The beginnings of organization.

4. Other considerations. The Church's purity. Church attendance. Christian Union. A praying church. An orderly church. Paul's picture of an ideal church.

The characteristics of an ideal church. How a church should affect its community. How a church gains power. Our duty toward the church. What the church does for us.

THE ERRING.

Think gently of the erring, Ye know not of the power With which the dark temptation came, In such unguarded hour; Ye may not know how earnestly They struggled, or how well Until the hour of weakness came, And sadly thus they fell.

Think gently of the erring, O, do not thou forget, However darkly stained by sin, He is thy brother yet. Heir of the self-same heritage, Child of the self-same God; He hath but stumbled in the path, Thou hast in weakness trod.

Speak gently to the erring, For it is not enough, That innocence and peace have gone Without thy censure rough? It sure must be a weary lot That sin-crushed heart to bear, And they who share a happier fate, Their chidings well may spare.

Speak gently to the erring, Thou yet mayst lead them back, With holy words and tones of love, From misery's thorny track, Forget not thou hast often sinned And sinful yet may be, Deal gently with the erring one As God hath dealt with thee.

KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.

ASONG OF SUMMER.

HELEN M. RICHARCON.

Sing a song of summer! With the birds a-wing, Skies aglow with sunshine, Joy in everything. Butterflies a-sailing Through the balmy air, Nature's emerald carpets Showing everywhere.

Sing a song of summer! Rose-crowned and bedewed, As the daylight fading Shows us skies bestrewn With the straws that twinkle Through the summer night, Guarding bird and blossom Till the morning light.

Raise your glad thanksgivings To the Father kind, Who our joys and sorrows Ever keeps in mind. And with all this beauty Through the world astray, Let us all be happy Every summer day.

One dose of Millers Worm Powders will clear the stomach and bowels of worms, so that the child will no more be troubled by its ravages. The powders are sweet to the taste and no child will object to taking them. They are non-injurious in their composition, and while in some cases they may cause vomiting, that must not be taken as a sign that they are nauseating, but as an indication of their effective work.

GOD'S ACRE.

Rev. W. A. Thompson

When the morning dews are clinging, And the roses odors flinging, There's a song the leaves are singing: (Leaves or angels who can tell?) All the bees the blossoms kissing, All the marguerites a' glistening, All the little lilies listen, In the garden down the dell.

This is why the doves a' crooning, And the myrtle-warblers June-ing Nestle mid the leaflets' tuning, 'Tis a music they know well. There the grasses nod and quiver, Dance the wavelets of the river, And 'tis holy Sabbath ever In the garden down the dell.

There's a father's sorrow-sharing, There's a sister's blitheness bearing, There's a mother's kindly-caring, In the music we know well. Let the feet fall softly, slowly, Where we leave the loved ones lowly, Ever mid a Sabbath holy, In the garden down the dell.

"Past the laughter and the weeping, Past the sowing and the reaping," We have loved ones lying sleeping, Mid the music they know well. So He loveth, softly seeking, And He loveth, gently speaking, All amid the silent, sleeping, In the garden down the dell.

When the evening dews are clinging, Home the bees are honey bringing, And the leaves are vespers singing, (Leaves or angels who can tell?) When my tired hands are holden, And the even's gleaming golden, Lay me in the garden olden— In the garden down the dell.

Stand close to all, but lean on none, And if the crowd desert you, Stand just as fearlessly alone As if a throng begirt you, And learn what long the wise have known— Self fight alone can hurt you. —Shurtlife

Military men the world over concede that Marshal Foch's counter-stroke against the enemy was the most brilliant move in the annals of the four years' war. How small some of the arm-chair war critics, who were in paroxysms of grief over Foch allowing the Hun to get so near to Paris, must now feel! Let it be a lesson to these home "war-lords" to look, listen and learn hereafter, but to cease their petty criticism.

A KICK AND A CAUTION.

"A Reader of the Truro News" complains of the notes lately printed from Noel Road over the signature "Fancy and Daisy,"—says they were the worst mess of trash ever published in a paper.

Our anonymous correspondent does not strengthen his charges by being afraid to attach his name to the "kick" he has registered. We do not believe him when he says the correspondence referred to had "hardly one word of truth in the whole article."

Give us your name in confidence and tell us exactly what statements were untrue. We want no general untruthful charge, but come down to business and tell us your individual grievance.

If you should give up your paper as threatened, the Truro News would probably still go on; as like the babbling "Brook" of poet laureate fame, it goes on forever.

We might here, would caution our ever thoughtful correspondents to be careful in their newsy notes, not to send us anything that would offend the most sensitive in their midst.

PLEASANT SOCIAL GATHERING

The Ladies Social Circle of Pleasant Street Church, had a social afternoon Tuesday, meeting on the Church Lawn at 4 o'clock.

The gathering was especially called, in honor of the first President, of the Society at its inauguration, some four years ago, Mrs. Alonzo McCallum, who with her husband intends leaving in a short time, for California.

This lady during her term of office, was most efficient and untiring in her efforts to promote the interests of this branch of the Church work.

During the afternoon the ladies presented her with a pretty cameo brooch, as a little remembrance, and token of esteem from the society.

This was presented by Mrs. J. D. Ross, president of the circle. After a few words of commendation for the circle and its work, from some of the gentlemen, present, and two much enjoyed readings by Rev. I. Nix of Brunswick Street, tea was served, and the pleasant afternoon brought to a close.

REMARKABLE EFFORT OF A GREAT SINGER.

Who in Nova Scotia but has heard of the great singer John McCormack, the greatest American tenor of his day. Wherever there is a gramophone in the homes of Nova Scotia people, Mr. McCormack's voice has been heard on occasions almost beyond number and it will continue to be a favorite for many years to come. But in addition to being a great singer, Mr. McCormack is also a man of intense patriotic feeling. He is now doing his bit to help his own people in the great work they have undertaken overseas. When he heard that the Knights of Columbus were in need of funds to build huts back of the firing line where the soldiers, no matter what their creed, could be made more comfortable during their respite from active fighting, he said: "I will undertake to raise $50,000 by my own personaleffort." And raise it he did by the proceeds of five concerts; in fact he over ran his objective by $2700, thus securing a total of nearly $53,000 which he passed over to the Knights of Columbus treasurer.

Now it is not to be expected that Nova Scotia will produce a John McCormack, but it certainly should without difficulty produce $100,000 the amount asked for from this province by the K. of C. organization. If everybody who can will only come forward and do his best, there will be no trouble whatever to secure the desired amount. The Knights of Columbus work in France is a good work. President Wilson has said it is and so has Colonel Roosevelt, and many other responsible men. We would ask our readers therefore, to be ready for the K. of C. canvassers when they come around on the week of August 19th. Give them a generous subscription, and give it promptly. Every dollar you give will help to make life just a little easier in a place where it is very hard. Try if you can to put yourself in the place of these soldier boys overseas who like home comforts as well as you do. Think of the discomforts they are suffering every day and how if you were in their place you would appreciate C. of X. huts where you could rest and find entertainment at no cost to yourself. If you do this you will want to give and give liberally. The organizations for securing K. of C. subscriptions is now perfecting plans which cover the whole province. Nobody therefore, who is able to give should escape. If, however, there are any who chance to be overlooked and who feel they would like to have their name enrolled with other supporters, they can make out a cheque and send it to R. G. Sare, Treasurer, Merchants Bank, Halifax, or J. M. Wall, Antigonish.

CANADIANS KEEN FOR MORE FIGHT

With the Canadian Forces in the Field, Aug. 14—
The enemy launched three counter attacks yesterday against the Canadian division, holding the northern part of our sector, but was repulsed on each occasion with sanguinary losses. We remain in possession of Chailly Today was relatively inactivity throughout the front, on part of our sector, made good progress in straightening out their line and consolidating the position.

Stories are beginning to come in of brilliant individual work during the course of the battle. In the dense fog of the early morning five men of a well known battalion got separated from their unit and in groping their way about they came suddenly upon a German trench fully manned, the corporal, nothing abashed, gave the word to fire when one after another of over a hundred of the Boches came tumbling up out of the trench to surrender to the little party that they shot was supported by a larger force. Five Tommies marched the whole party of Boches to the rear.

The tank "Dominion" led the tanks into action in this sector with a piper of a Manitoba unit sitting astride the top. Skirting his pibroch he came through unscathed; but another piper who piped his battalion into action was killed. The spirit of the entire Canadian contingent continues wonderful; notwithstanding their very heavy fighting of the first three days they are still keen to go over the top. They take pride in having established a record three days advance of twenty two thousand yards. The Y.M.C.A. men at the front deserve great credit for the manner in which they pushed up to the firing line during the rapid advance, serving hot drinks and food and cigars to all.

ANOTHER GOVERNMENT AGAINST THE HUNS.

The British Government has recognized the Czech-Slovak Government of Russia as an allied nation waging war against the Central Powers. Soon 400 Canadians will be in Siberia assisting the Czech-Slovaks in their fight against the Hun and any government that the Huns may have set up in great Russia.

FISHERMEN BACK FROM ANTICOSTI

The great French capitalist, Menier, of world-wide chocolate fame, carries on many of his industries in the island of Anticosti, that he has under lease from the Dominion Government, with the help of Canadian employees from all parts of the Dominion. The fisheries, that this enormously wealthy capitalist operates, are largely operated by Nova Scotians; and the lobster fishing is in charge of skilled men from the shore towns of Halifax County.

These men leave the coast about May for Gaspé, thence 60 miles across to Anticosti, and return the first of August—the fishing season closing July 31. Only a week ago the following sturdy fishermen have returned to their homes:

- Ruben Webber, Upper Lakeville.
- Vaughan Webber, Upper Lakeville.
- Ernest Webber, Upper Lakeville.
- Albert Webber, Ship Harbor Lake.
- Howard Webber, Ship Harbor Lake.
- Douglas Webber, Ship Harbor Lake.
- Burton Webber, Ship Harbor Lake.
- Jno P. Webber, Clam Bay.

Here is a clans of Webbers in earnest; skilful with net, line or trap; and industrious and first class citizens of their different districts.

This season the Anticosti Lobster fisheries were poor—the fish were scarce and the weather unusually rough and boisterous. The fishermen receive their transportation to and from Fox Harbor, Anticosti, good wages and then a bonus on the catch; so a poor season materially affects the pay of the fishermen.

Twenty years, when Mr. William Turpel, Ship Harbor Lake, first went to these far off fisheries, the lobsters were large and plentiful and there was fine money in these three months' work, but of late years the returns have dwindled down into a corresponding decrease in the catch of lobster.

There will be some fine bargains secured at the auction sale on the premises of Mrs. Alice Harris, Brookside, Col. Co., Aug. 14th, at one-thirty o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our daughter Doris Jean Scott who was "called home" Aug. 11, 1917, at the age of 2 years and 3 mos.
Safely, safely gathered in,
Free from sorrow, free from sin,
Passed beyond all grief and pain
Death for thee, is truest gain
For our loss we must not weep,
Nor our loved one long to keep
From that home of rest and peace,
Where all sin and sorrow cease.

THE WORLD WAR.

(The poem in Flanders Fields," by the late Lieut. Col. John McCrae of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, has been declared to be the greatest poem of the war. Lieut. Col. McCrae died at Boulogne, France, January 28th, 1918.)

In Flanders Fields.

By LIEUT. COL. JOHN McCRAE
Canadian Expeditionary Forces.

In Flanders fields, the poppies grow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved; now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you, from falling hands, we throw
The torch. Be yours to lift it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders fields.

(The following in reply to Col. McCrae's verses was written by Mr. C. B. Galbreath, of Columbus, Ohio, Ohio State Librarian, and was inspired by a spirited rendition of Col. McCrae's poem by Maj. Donald Guthrie at a meeting at Columbus.)

In Flanders Fields.

An Answer;
By C. B. GALBREATH.

In Flanders fields the cannon boom
And fitful flashes light the gloom.
While up above like eagles, fly
The fierce destroyers of the sky;
With stains the earth wherein you lie
Is redder than the poppy bloom,
In Flanders fields.

Sleep on ye brave. The shrieking shell,
The quaking trench, the startled yell,
The fury of the battle hell
Shall wake you not, for all is well,
Sleep peacefully for all is well,

Your flaming torch aloft we bear,
With burning heart an oath we swear
To keep the faith, to fight it through,
To crush the foe or sleep with you
In Flanders fields.

These poems have been sent the Truro News by Mrs. F. H. Moseley, 1200 Washington Street, San Francisco,—a Truro born girl—who writes, "believe me these American fighters will keep that Oath to the brave Canadian fighters."—Ed. News.

GERMAN PEACE TERMS.

Chancellor Von Hertling has announced Germany's peace terms, as follows:—

Recognition of Germany's integrity, as before the war.
Renunciation of all claim in Alsace-Lorraine by France.
Restoration of German colonies, or their equivalent.

Recognition of Austria-Hungary's integrity, as before the war, plus territorial and economic advantages obtained through Bucharest peace.

Recognition of the Brest-Litovsk peace.

Recognition of Courland, Lithuania, Estonia and Livonia as included in Germany's sphere of influence.

Payment of indemnities to Germany by the Allies.

Recognition of Germany's solution of the Polish question.

Liberty of the seas.

Renunciation by the Allies of every form of boycott against Germany after the war.

Renunciation of Italy's claims regarding the Adriatic.

Can you imagine more outrageous demands? Yet we have a lot of chicken-hearted old women pacifists of the Lansdowne stripe, in both Great Britain and the United States, who would agree to all this humiliation, if we would only stop the war!

Such cravens should be lined up and shot.

TRURO MADE STEERING WHEELS FOR SHIPS.

Mr. George J. Mosher, shipt on the 12th a very handsome and well made ship's steering wheel to Capt. Barkhouse, Westport, St. Mary's Bay, Digby Co., N.S.

Mr. Mosher has also built and shipt recently to the Windsor Foundry and Machine Co. at that place, four steeringwheels to complete the outfit furnished their numerous customers in the shipbuilding lines.

The workmanship on these ship's steering wheels is of the highest class and reflects great credit upon Mt. Mosher as an expert designer and mechanic.

THEY NEEDED A COMPASS.

We lately heard of a trio of fishermen, all more or less acquainted with woodcraft, getting lost in the strip of forest at Abbiecombe Lake, Ship Harbor Lake; but their mishap was nothing compared with that of the three women, who broke from the State Reformatory near New York city a few days ago.

The trio fled from the reformatory into the cover of dense woods nearby and lost their direction. After travelling several hours they thought they were safe and ventured onto an open road, where they were recognized by a chauffeur, who summoned the reformatory guards.

When the women learned they had got only two miles from the reformatory during the day, Marie Davis, one of the fugitives, said they had walked nearly twenty miles. The others, are Gladys Gauthier and a woman named Horton, who recently made an unsuccessful attempt to escape.

These three women and our trio of Bluenose anglers would make a "noble half dozen" to roam the woods together after the war.

ECHOES FROM ALONG SHORE.

Mr. Walter Stoddart, at Clam Harbor, still keeps that ever inviting summer hostelry and no guests ever weary of the restful days at that home. The long sand beach with surf-bathing and the Mary's River with sea-trout in season and staunch boats for the Mary's Lake are attractions for those piscatorially inclined.

Two miles from Stoddart's you can visit "Garden Knoll,"—a gem of a little garden perch on a bit of a hill—and located in the forest wilds, owned and worked by Miss Susan Murphy. Miss Murphy has lived for a number of years in the United States and her natural fondness for flowers and farm and garden products has been intensified by her associations in the neighbouring Republic. This garden-farm is well worth visiting. Here are field-products growing with a strength and a vigor that many a man-farmer may well envy; a plot of wheat that will show good returns; potatoes of extra fine growth; 20 or 30 fruit trees laden with fast ripening fruit; and within the center of these circling field products, (all bounded by dense forest trees) is a garden, near the neat and attractive home residence, filled with many colored and variegated flowers, that is beautiful beyond description. Do not fail to, visit "Garden Knoll," when next you are spending a day or two at Stoddart's.

J. R. Webber's mill at Clam Harbor, on the Mary River, has been a busy spot this Spring. Boards, staves laths and shingles have been turned out in great quantities and this mill is indeed a much prized desideration in the District. It was at the lath machine in this mill that Mr. Leander Webber had his left hand so badly injured in April last. It was a terrible cut and mutilation, but thanks to his pluck and nerve and the good ministrations of Dr. Kennedy of Musquodoboit Harbor the injured hand is fast getting back to its old-time strength.

Mrs. J. R. Webber has been an uncomplaining invalid, almost blind too, for years, but her faculties are unimpaired; and her great memory serves her in a wonderful way as she relates the old-time stories of buried treasure at Ship Harbor and Money Point; or tells of "Fiddler," (whose writings in the Truro News so interests her) as he appeared as a young man when gold was first discovered at Tangier. She is a history-book in herself.

Mr. Lou Pattillo on a business trip arrived in his Ford at Stoddart's, Clam Harbor on the 6th. Lee Crowe was his companion and the youngster was enjoying every hour of this trip "Lou" along the loud-sounding sea.

The Misses Maude and Joyce Webber, bright daughters of Mr. Howard Webber, Ship Harbor Lake, are home for the summer from their schools in Grand Pre and Moser River. Both are highly efficient and accomplished teachers and scored great success in their respective fields of labor.

You will only hear golden opinions of the mail route work from Musquodoboit Harbor to Tangier. Mr. Robert Stoddart keeps up good rigs; is urbane, kind and obliging; and his efficient coach line has a deservedly large patronage.

When salmon and sea trout are at the second or third falls, Ship Harbor Lake, the Webber House is a home-like resting place. A motor boat run of less than an hour will take you to the "third falls" and here is a splendid fishing pool if the fish are running. Then there are near-by trips to the loud-sounding sea at Moose Hill, Steady Head, Campbell's Hill and Stoddart's Beach, with magnificent surf-bathing or to Abbiecombe flats for delicious clams. When tired with your day's outing good meals and good beds await you at this ever home-like Webber House. Try it next season, when salmon and sea trout are reported at "The Falls."

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S EXHIBITION.

In less than three weeks the children of Truro and Colchester County, will bring their products to the annual Flower and Vegetable show at the Agricultural College. Already the members of the Women's Council are busy with their preparations. Are the children also busy?

Won't all the boys and girls in the County, as soon as they read this, go into their gardens with pencil and paper and make a list of the things they can exhibit? Then give the vegetables an extra hoeing and weeding in order to get them into perfect condition.

We shall be very much ashamed of the Truro children if they don't exhibit fifty times as much as they ever did before. This is a year when everyone has a garden. To neglect it is to be a slacker. To prove that you children, have not neglected yours, bring along your best to the agricultural College. Mark that now as a part of your Labor Day program.

Parents, will you urge the children to do their best? It is the highest kind of patriotism. Teachers, will you write to your pupils of last year, suggesting what they may do now. As soon as school opens, you will have bigger opportunity. Even if you will

"It only remains for me to speak of the sincere gratification with which I have learned of the Young Men's Christian Association and the Knights of Columbus and their harmonious and successful work in the training camps."

Everybody Welcome and Everything Free

You can help to hang this sign within sight of every Nova Scotian Soldier overseas by subscribing to the coming K. of C. Army Hut Fund. Every dollar you give helps to provide a home—music—games—coffee—cigarettes—eating chocolate—for men who are fighting for us. Nothing is sold in these huts, everything is given away. And every allied soldier is welcome regardless of creed or color or class.

You are glad to go on giving to them, as they are glad to go on fighting for you. So give—give generously.

PUBLICITY OR BANKRUPTCY?

Bradstreets statement that 84 per cent of all failures are among non-advertisers is significant.

Intelligent advertising has become absolutely essential to every modern industry—

But what shall the advertiser do in the face of war conditions, when he finds it difficult to get goods to fill the orders?

First of all, remember that the fundamental purpose of advertising is to fix indelibly the trade mark or the trade name in the public mind.

A let-up in that campaign must be fatal to any product.

The American Rolling Mill Company declares its purpose to continue its advertising, although for two and a half years it has been unable to supply the demand for its product.

"We are building," they say, "a permanent business edifice, and some day we would have to spend millions of dollars buying back the business and goodwill of our clients if they are forsaken in this emergency."

Unless advertising is kept up without break the advertiser loses the results of all previous effort.

Here is a warning to the advertiser who neglects the dull season in summer.

When advertisements are fewest is the very time when a message to the public may get the most attention, providing of course, that the character of the advertising deserves it.

Many advertisers hold it to be good "psychology" to push the advertisement of a winter product in summer, and of a summer product in winter.

not teach the same school this year, you have not lost interest in those children with whom you worked. A helpful word from you will count much. If you have a new school in this county, you can reach some of your future pupils by mail. Then when you arrive to teach you will not be a stranger. In olden days, children's exhibitions were unknown. Today, however they are a necessary and important part of school life.

The smallest school in the county has an equal chance with the best. Potatoes and carrots will grow as well for the boy at the foot of the class as for the one at the head. Industry counts.

Bible Hill, Tatamagouche, Stewiacke, Upper Onslow, Beaver Brook and Truro have exhibited on former occasions. These, of course, will all send good exhibits this year. But what about the rest of the county? Camden, Harmony, Greenfield, Hilden, Brookfield, Brentwood, Riversdale, Central Onslow, Lower Onslow, Masstown and Glenholme have promised to send garden produce. Let us hope they will not only keep their promise, but that they will surprise former competitors.

Dragged Down by Asthma.

The man or woman who is continually subject to asthma is unfitted for his or her life's work. Strength departs and energy is taken away until life becomes a dreary existence. And yet this is needless. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought a great change to an army of sufferers. It relieves the restricted air tubes and guards against future trouble. Try it.

Aug. 10th—Not having seen any items for some time we thought, Mr. Editor, we would send in a few, and, if these don't find their way to the "Waste Basket" we will come again. Deyarmond is back to France, in the "Forestry Corps," after spending a "seventeen days pass" to England, where he saw many of his chums from his own home town. He also states in his last letter, that he had been wounded, twice, but did not intend writing his friends, had it not been for sending a "photo" home, in which two wounded stripes on his right arm, told the tale, so he had to "fess up." Pte. F. A. Graham is still in England but has had a six days pass, which he spent in London, with his friend, Pte. G. R. Deyarmond, it being over a year since they had met. Pte. Allie Graham also had a pass from England to Scotland, he was also lucky enough to see his brother, Pte. Perley Graham, who had just landed in England safely. THIS A MARVELLOUS THING

When the cures effected by Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil are considered, the speedy and permanent relief it has brought to the suffering wherever it has been used, it must be regarded as a marvellous thing that so potent a medicine should result from the six ingredients which enter into its composition. A trial will convince the most skeptical of its healing virtues.

The Best Liver Pill.— The action of the liver is easily disarranged. A sudden chill undue exposure to the elements, over-indulgence in some favorite food, with excess in drinking are a few of the causes. But whatever may be the cause, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be relied upon as the best corrective that can be taken. They are the leading liver pills and they have no superiors among such preparations.

Editor News:— Please allow me space for a line or two. I see where they say that booze is brought from Montreal—1000 miles away. Why should they carry it that far, when 50 or 60 miles would do the trick, if what is said is true. I think we might as well have a licensed saloon in every town or city and save those peddlers. But if Rev. Mr. Grant would get a move on there may be something doing; so quit in time, moon-shiner, or stop before the fire and warm up for those auto drivers, or their owners may have a team or two to pay for, as they only own half the road, but want it all; but it may be cheaper for them to do with their half as some of them drive like the devil when out of town.

Yours truly, GAME.

London, Aug. 12. Fifty tons of bombs were dropped by our airmen on August 11, and the following night.

The two chief objectives both by day and night were the crossings and certain railway junctions of military importance.

Many direct hits were observed. At night the stations at Peronne and Cambrai were severely attacked with good effect. All our night bombing machines returned safely. Enemy aircraft, flying in large formations, were active on battle front. Twenty nine hostile machines were destroyed in air fighting during the day and twenty four others were driven down out of control. Four hostile battalions were shot down in flames. Five of our machines are missing.

The observation work for our artillery carried out by airplanes was continued and today a machine was brought down by our anti-aircraft in addition to those already reported.

AERTEX CELLULAR UNDERWEAR

The chief function of underclothing is to assist in maintaining the normal temperature of the body. The normal temperature is about 98 - Fahr. and a deviation from this is a recognized sign of disease.

It is evident that clothing to be healthy must not interfere with the action of the skin—it must be porous—it must be a good non-conductor of heat to prevent the undue access of out heat or cold as well as to prevent the escape of the heat generated by the body. Aertex Cellular is easily washed and does not shrink. It is light and comfortable to wear and does not irritate the most sensitive skin. It is very durable.

Shirts Short Sleeves—Trunk Drawers—$1.75 ea.
Shirts Long Drawers—$2.00 ea.

The above are less than wholesale prices today. Wearers of Balbriggan Merino, Cashmere, Cotton, Mesh Solsette Nainsook, underwear in singles or combinations can be supplied here.

MARITIME CASUALTIES. INFANTRY.

Killed in Action:
H. V. Davis, Stewiacke.
F. J. McDonald, Truro.
Gassed;
W. L. Ashe, Yarmouth.

SUCCESSFUL "ZEP" COMMANDER GONE.

Amsterdam, Aug. 8.
Captain Strasser one of Germany's most successful Squadron Commanders in Zeppelin attacks, and the entire crew of the Zeppelin which led the attack toward the British East Coast Monday night, perished when the dirigible was shot down over the North Sea.

JAP CAPT. FACES DEATH RATHER THAN DISGRACE.

A Pacific Port, Aug. 8.
Captain Y. Yamamoto, master of the Japanese steamer Canada Maru which was recently pulled off the rocks ended his life early yesterday, because it was believed here he feared the disgrace which he thought was upon him for allowing the big boat to go ashore during a heavy gale July 31.

FARTHER TROOPS ARE ACROSS THE VESLE.

With the American Army on the Marine Front, Aug. 7.
Under an inferno of shrapnel and machine gun fire, and waves of gas, the Americans forced their way over the Vesle river last night and early this morning, while rain drenched the batM gained positions on the American left and the joint movement has straightened out the line from a point west of Bazoches to Fismes. The Germans lost considerably in casualties.

Berlin, Munich and Dresden are quarrelling over rations. The other cities claim that Berlin has the larger ration. Berlin says its excess of rations consists entirely of bones. Munich, in reply to this, unequivocally accuses Berlin officials of lying.

A man in Texas has invented a process for making paper pulp from the stalks of corn cotton and intends to make practical use of his discovery by establishing a mill somewhere in his State. The process seems to have the double advantage of relieving the paper shortage and preventing the breeding through the winter of insects which live in the stalks of cotton and harm the new crop.—(Textile World Journal.)

THAT AWFUL CHILD.

The Bible says they went into the ark two by two, doesn't it, auntie?
"Yes, dear."
"Well, who went in with you?"

Tea in the Garden of Eden

A Tommy wrote to his mother from Mesopotamia :

"This may be the Garden of Eden, but the only thing that makes it endurable is our daily ration of Lipton's. In fact, Lipton's is the only thing hereabouts that I'm not 'fed up' on."

There is a universality about Lipton's that strikes home to English-speaking people wherever they may be.

To thoroughly enjoy Tea you must get Lipton's, and make it according to the directions on each package.

MR. AND MRS. W. N. MANNING VISIT TRURO.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Manning, of London, Ontario, arrived in Truro last week and spent several days in town, staying at the Stanley Hotel. Mr. Manning, who is one of the partners and general managers of The Sherlock Manning Piano factory, London, Ontario, makers of the well-known Sherlock Manning "twentieth century Piano, is taking a business trip thru the Maritime Provinces and made Truro his headquarters while transacting business at the different points in Nova Scotia.

We are pleased to hear our town is so attractive to visitors from Western Ontario and especially when Truro is compared in beauty to the city of London, Ontario, which is noted for its beautiful lawns, wide streets, shade trees, handsome residences, etc. The visitors enjoyed the music program and organ recital in Presbyterian Church Sunday evening and also spoke of the fine church building which they think compares favorably with churches in large cities. Our new modern station, civic building, court house, school of science, fire hall, etc., were interesting to the visitors; and, when they left Thursday for Yarmouth on their way home, they expressed the hope to visit Truro again in the near future.

Chas. F. McDonald & Co., are the representatives of this piano for central Nova Scotia and this firm is now planning to go into wholesaling pianos on a much larger scale than formerly.

MORE WHEAT—LESS LABOR.

The growing of wheat produces much more highly important food for each hour of man-labor put upon it, than do either potatoes or corn. When wheat yields 30 bushels to the acre, reliable figures show that our hour of man-labor produces 12-3 bushels of wheat. At prevailing yields, one hour of man-labor on potatoes produces about a bushel of that crop, while on corn, one hour of man-labor produces about 1-4 bushels. It is obviously a matter of labor economy to grow wheat.

By giving proper attention to all the factors which enter into successful wheat growing, much larger yields can be produced. This has been established, times without number, by efficient wheat growers of Europe. The average man is disposed to say that Europe had until lately an abundance of cheap labor, which fact in itself accounts for the 30 bushels of wheat per acre which Great Britain harvests, as compared with the 18 to 20 bushels per acre which are gathered in Canada. Cheap labor has its counterpart in our highly efficient farm machinery. By adding a horse to the team and by using wider, plows, wider harrows, disks, binders, etc., it is possible to reduce the man-labor required in raising wheat from 50 to 75 per cent. This is America's answer to European abundant and cheap labor.

Henry G. Bell, B.S.A.

Madeline Zejkie, arrested at Kitchener about two weeks ago at the Grand Central Hotel and held pending action of the immigration department, was arraigned in the police court charged with deliberately making wrong answers in connection with filling out her registration card. Wilfrid Lachapelle, a married man of Montreal who was with her at the time of her arrest, was charged with wilfully destroying a government document in destroying her certificate.

LLOYD GEORGE ON THE WAR.

Since August, 1914, Premier Lloyd George says, including those already with the colors, Great Britain alone, has raised for the Army and Navy 6,250,000 men, for the most part voluntarily. The Dominions have contributed 1,000,000, and India 1,250,000 men. One hundred and fifty German submarines have been destroyed, more than half of them in the last year. Until the allies are defeated at sea, Mr. Lloyd George declared, Germany can never triumph. In alluding to the subject of peace he said that the people who had made the war were still in evidence and they could not have peace so long as they were predominant in the councils of the enemy. Every one wants Peace, but it must be permanent and durable—one with power behind it. In further reference to the fighting in France, the Premier declared it was too early to say the German effort has been exhausted. The Germans still have powerful forces in reserve, but it was not too early to say that the chance which they had had on March 21, would not again present itself. The American army would soon be not far short of the German army itself.

CANADA HEADS LIST IN SALES TO THE U. S.

Nearly Half a Billion Dollars in Goods Exported There Last Year.

Imports into the United States the fiscal year ending last June 30 were $2,946,059,402, an increase of $287,000,000 over the previous year. Canada with $434,254,567, led foreign countries in the value of goods sold to the United States. Grain and nickel constituted the bulk of the trade. Imports from Cuba increased more than $9,000,000, while those from the British West Indies increased $70,000,000 to $296,606,000, largely due to heavy shipments of tin and jute. Japan also increased its shipments, particularly of silks, rice and cotton goods. Imports from European Russia showed an increase of almost $10,000,000, totalling $15,146,826 as the result of large quantities of hides and platinum being brought out early in the year. Imports from the United Kingdom, France, Italy and European neutrals decreased. England lost more than $100,000,000; France $33,000,000 and Italy $16,000,000.

PEACE RIVER DISTRICT.

Grains Crops Reported to be Making Best Showing in Alberta.

Smith, Alta., F. A. Crandall states: "I have just returned from a trip through the Peace River District extending into British Columbia, investigating conditions, particularly as regards grazing and winter feed. There is a fine luxuriant growth of pea vine, vetch and other grass affording practically unlimited grazing and winter feed. This is all going to waste for lack of stock. Extensive areas are now in wheat, oats, barley and timothy, these making the best showing of any district in Alberta. Frost on July 23 reduced prospective yields considerably. The district is being rapidly settled.

UNITED STATES OFFICERS THINK A CRISIS IN WAR IS NEAR.

Washington, Aug. 10—The startling rapidity of the British-French advance in Flanders coupled with new success in Flanders and on the Vesle, produced an impression among officers here last night that one of the decisive moments of the war—perhaps the beginning of the final battle was rapidly approaching.

On the basis of such reports as were available the German High Command seemed to stand face to face with a vital defeat.

Either his reserves must be rushed in and a pitched battle risked, or virtually all he has gained at staggering cost is his greatest offensive of the war must be abandoned and general withdrawal toward his old lines of last March begun without delay.

PIMPLES

AND RUNNING SORES. WOULD HOLD HEAD DOWN FACE WAS SUCH A SIGHT.

Pimples are caused by the blood being out of order. Those festering and running sores appear on the forehead, the nose, the chin and other parts of the body.

There is only one way to get rid of this obnoxious skin trouble, and that is by giving the blood a thorough cleansing by the use of that grand old blood purifier Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mrs. Victor G. Fry, North Battleford, Sask., writes: "I used Burdock Blood Bitters when I was about 15. I was so bad with pimples and running sores, that when I went down town I would hold my head down when I saw anyone coming, my face was such a sight. I got two bottles and my face began to clear, so I kept on until I had a beautiful complexion."

I recommend it to everyone who is in a rundown condition, as it builds up the blood, and when the blood is all the face is clear." Put up by The T. Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Dr. H. L. Daniels and Mrs. Daniels left today for Parrsboro, Cumb. Co., where they will spend a week with their parents.

Mrs. O. J. Vaughan, and little daughter, Phyllis, of Toronto, are spending a day or two in the city, the guests of Mrs. H. A. Matchett, Steadman street. Mrs. Vaughan is en route to Oxford, N. S., to visit her sister.

The diamond shoals Lightship, off Cape Hatteras, was shelled and sunk by an enemy submarine late Tuesday. The crew, who took to their boats, have reached shore safely. The submarine came within half a mile of shore.

Mrs. Parker Dodge and little daughter Beatrice, of Middleton, Anna. Co., are guests with Mrs. H. W. Rafuse Duke Street. Mr. Dodge is on active service overseas, where he has been for the last three years.

The crew of the British schooner Gladys J. Holland have landed at La Have, N. S., reporting that their vessel was sunk by an enemy submarine, Monday morning, fifteen miles southeast of Ironbound Island, LaHave.

Word was received last week that Lieut. J. B. Black, son of Mr. Paul C. Black, Vancouver, and grandson of Dr. J. B. Black, Windsor, N. S., has been awarded the Military Cross for distinguished bravery.

Mr. Allan Forbes, a prominent and respected farmer of River Dennis, C. B., has all his sons in khaki. One in the Princess Pat Battalion, at the front, one in England in heavy artillery, one in Ontario in the Flying Corps and one in the Canadian Engineers.

The new government of Archangel includes in its supervision the German territory; and it is prepared to assume relations diplomatic, financial and industrial with Foreign nations for the "Region of the north". The heads of the government, which include representatives of the Russian Northern Provinces, are members of the group which proclaims itself to be working for the restoration of democracy in Russia.

The death knell of the sombre type of hat which has been a great favorite with American soldiers in England is sounded in a general order issued by the American Headquarters last week. The order states that all officers and enlisted men on duty in England will cease to wear the service hat after Aug. 1, and will turn in such hats to the quartermaster. The regulation headgear in future will be the "overseas cap," similar to that worn by British aviators.

How a woman and baby accounted for a U-Boat is told. The submarine ordered a vessel to surrender and fired a few shells into her. The boats then left the ship, leaving on board a woman who ran up and down the deck with a baby in her arms as if mad. The U-boat came along side the vessel and the woman hurled the baby into the open hatch. The "baby" exploded and blew out the bottom of the submarine. The "woman" was decorated with the Victoria Cross.

A McLAUGHLIN SIX AUTOMOBILE STOLEN AND SMASHED TO PIECES.

August 6th, about 10.30 o'clock C.G.R. Conductor Dan McIntosh's fine "McLaughlin Six" automobile, when standing unoccupied in front of the Dominion Express Co's office was stolen.

The auto was seen going down Walker Street and onto Queen Street, East at a great speed.

Shortly afterward the car was found a complete wreck beside the road near Howard Davidson's residence on the Salmon River road.

The wheels are useless and the engine and body of the auto all smashed and twisted beyond repair.

It is supposed the party who took the car speeded it up to its fullest rate then jumped letting it go to destruction.

So great was the car momentum that it cut off a large post and an Elm tree about a foot in diameter.

If this big wily going auto had met another car there would have been a sadder story to tell.

The Policemen are looking for clues by which to run down and bring to justice the thief or thieves who caused this auto disaster.

GERMANS WAR ON HOSPITAL SHIPS.

In torpedoing the Canadian hospital ship Llandovery Castle the Germans committed an infamous crime. It was not possible to mistake the character of the vessel. At the time the U boat attacked it without warning by night, all the prescribed electric signal lights announcing its mission were brilliantly displayed. The marks that should have assured its safety only served as an aid in its destruction by a treacherous enemy. As pretext to survivors the submarine commander repeated the familiar German lie that the hospital ship carried American flight officers.

The Llandovery Castle is not the first hospital ship that the Germans have sunk. No doubt it will not be the last if the opportunity is presented to them. In their ruthless submarine warfare, time and again they have descended to the basest of methods. On sea no less than on land they manifest their contempt for the emblem of the Red Cross.

In deliberate defiance of the most solemn international covenants, they wantonly kill women nurses and wounded, doctors and medical attendants. The same murderous purpose revealed in the torpedoing of the Llandovery Castle was shown in the premeditated attacks day after day by German flying men on British hospitals behind the lines plainly marked with the Red Cross. The German principle that the killing of a doctor who saves human lives counts for as much as the killing of 1,000 men had been openly proclaimed.

In its desperation Germany will seek to excuse to itself its barbarous practices, but it is surely preparing for itself a day of fearful retribution. The Allies, from a sense of decency and honor, may resist the temptation to take full measure of bloody revenge for the bombing of their hospitals and sinking of their hospital ships, but they will never forget the atrocities to which their men and women have been subjected at German hands. The sins of Germany in this war will be visited upon its sons for generations wherever they mingle with civilized peoples.—New York World.

The Philadelphia Bulletin says: A remarkable achievement has been put through by the British government in England in co-operation with the wool dealers, cloth manufacturers and clothing makers, by which $75,000 worth of clothing for men, boys and youths is to be put on the market at low prices. Suits for men are to cost $16, with lower prices for youths and boys, while overcoats are to range from $15.50 downwards—all these at retail. This provides clothing for at least five million persons, and the samples are said to be precisely of the quality, and much of the style, of the suit which King George bought recently. Better and finer suits will cost more.

THE TALE THAT GREW IN THE TELLING.

A farmer was one day chatting with neighbors when one of them said: "Do you know that William Smith has been stealing your carrots? Mrs. Brown told me that he had taken away a wagonload the day before yesterday."

The farmer went off to Mrs. Brown and asked for further particulars. "A wagon-load!" said Mrs. Brown. "I never said any such thing. I said Mr. Robinson had told me William Smith had carried off a small cart-load of your carrots."

The farmer went to Mr. Robinson. "I didn't say a cart-load. All I said was that Mr. Smith had taken a wheelbarrowful of your carrots. Mrs. Anderson told me."

Mrs. Anderson declared that her story had been grossly exaggerated. All she had done was to repeat what Mr. Watson had told her, that William Smith had carried off a bunch of carrots.

"Well, I will go and see what Mr. Watson has to say," replied the farmer. "All I said," Mr. Watson declared, "was that Smith had pulled one of the carrots from your field and taken it away. I heard it from Mr. Wilkins."

"At last I shall get the truth of this," said the farmer to himself; and he went off to Mr. Wilkins, who laughed heartily.

"Well," he exclaimed, "the story has certainly lost nothing in its travels. Why, all I told Mr. Watson was that William Smith had said to me the other day that your carrots looked fine and healthy and were ready for pulling."

FIGHTING FOR HAPPINESS

When you get into a frame of mind that makes life seem an tiresome duty after another, with no pleasure in it; when ill-health seems to take all the joy out of life and you worry over things that are really not worth worrying about, then your nervous system is becoming exhausted, and you are on the way to a general breakdown in health. In this condition your health and happiness is worth fighting for, and good, rich, red blood is what your system needs. It is a hopeless task to try to restore your health while your blood is deficient either in quantity or quality. And remember that no medicine can be of any use to you that does not build up your weak, watery blood.

To build up the blood and strengthen the nerves there is one remedy that has been a household word for more than a generation—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It is the actual maker of these pills to make new, rich, red blood, which strengthens the nerves and tones the entire system. They give you a new appetite, make sleep refreshing, put color in the lips and cheeks, and drive away that unnatural tired feeling that oppresses so many people. If you want to experience new health and happiness give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, AUG. 7.

The Allies yesterday threw a force across the River Vesle.

It met and defeated the Germans. The enemy launched a strong counter-attack which was defeated by a violent barrage.

A Franco-American force gained a footing on the northern bank to the east of Braime last evening. It attacked the enemy and took more than a hundred prisoners.

Shortly afterwards the Germans launched a counter attack with a heavy artillery barrage but could not dislodge the Allies, who stuck to the position, which had been won.

The enemy appears to have strong forces in this neighborhood. On the remainder of the front there was comparative calm except for artillery fire.

MILDRED'S BLUE DAY.

"O, dear!" sighed Mildred; "everything has begun wrong to-day. I tipped over a pitecher of milk, I broke one of my dolls and now I've torn my new dress. It's going to be a blue day."

Her father looked at her woe-begone face.

"You have had a bad start," he agreed; "but if it's going to be a blue day why not make it a pleasant blue one?"

"How can it be pleasant and blue? Blue means disagreeable, father."

"Find the interesting and beautiful blue things. There are a great many of them. Look for those to-day instead of thinking of the unpleasant things."

Mildred thought this would be worth trying. After her father had gone she ran to the window. There was the blue sky. That was the first beautiful thing that was blue.

It was a lovely morning, and Mildred started for school she heard the twittering of bluebirds, and, looking up, saw several of them flying among the trees. By the roadside she found quantities of violets.

In the mineral cabinet at school she noticed a light blue stone and a deep blue one.

"The light one is a turquoise, the other a sapphire," her teacher told her.

When Mildred went home at noon she remembered the bed of forget-me-nots. Here was something else that was blue. As she stood beside them her older brother called softly to her. She ran toward him.

"Look!" he whispered. Some distance away a little bird was hopping about in the short grass. It was of the brightest blue she had ever seen, with wings and tail touched with black.

"What is it?" Mildred asked. "Isn't it lovely? It's a real peacock blue."

"It's an indigo bunting, one of the prettiest of birds."

After school Mildred went to walk with a few of her companions. From the top of the high hills they saw the mountain peaks, blue-shadowed in the distance. Far below lay a little blue lake.

That night at bedtime Mildred sought her father. It was a warm evening, and he was standing on the porch. It was growing dark, and the stars were coming forth one by one. Mildred related the story of her blue day.

"I've seen the blue sky, a bluebird, blue violets, a blue turquoise, a blue sapphire, blue forget-me-nots, a blue indigo bird, blue mountains and a blue lake," she enumerated.

"I'll show you another." Her father pointed to the eastern sky. "Do you see that bright star? That is Vega, which the astronomers say is blue."

"Are there blue stars, too?" Mildred asked. "Why, there's blue everywhere."

"That's what I told you," answered her father. "Hasn't this been a good blue day?"

"It's been lovely."

"You see, blue days don't need to be unpleasant. The right kind can be exceedingly pleasant ones."

One more surprise in blue awaited the little girl. As she looked up from her pillow at mother bending over her to say good-night, she found herself gazing into the sweetest blue of all, mother's eyes.

"Blue days are the best days," she murmured sleepily.—Selected.

WHEN A SOLDIER IS DISABLED

It is not always from wounds. A great many men are disabled through foot trouble. Even the bravest man cannot "carry on" if he is suffering from sore feet. Hence the necessity for Zam-Buk to keep the soldiers' feet in good condition.

A military authority in "The War Office Times" says: "If every man in the service were supplied with a tin of Zam-Buk it would, in my opinion, greatly add to the efficiency of the army."

For blisters, cuts, scratches, burrs and sores of all kinds Zam-Buk is unequalled. All dealers 50c box.

WHISTLE AND HOE.

There's a boy just over the garden fence, Who is whistling all through the live-long day; And his work is not just a mere pretence, For you see the weeds he has cut away.

Whistle and hoe, Sing as you go, Shorten the row By the songs you know.

Not a word of bemoaning his task I hear; He has scarcely time for a growl, I know; For his whistle sounds so merry and clear, He must find some pleasure in every row.

Whistle and hoe, Sing as you go, Shorten the row By the songs you know.

But then, while you whistle, be sure that you hoe, For if you are idle the briars will spread; And whistle alone to the end of the row May be good for the weeds, but is bad for the bread.

Whistle and hoe, Sing as you go, Shorten the row, By the songs you know.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Cholera Infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred Rose, South Bay, Ont., says:—"I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER.

"Did any of your ancestors do anything to cause posterity to remember them?" asked the haughty woman.

"I reckon they did," replied the old farmer. "My grandfather put a mortgage on this that ain't paid off yet."

DAILY SUPPLIES AT THE FRONT

M. de Maratray, a French war correspondent well-known on the British front, publishes some remarkable figures concerning the supply services of the British Armies in France. According to his statistics, a single division requires every day approximately 200 tons of material, representing 450 tons of shipping space. One good train every two days is employed for its conveyance, apart from horse and motor transport. This is in "quiet" times. When intense fighting is in progress, every mile of front absorbs something like 2,000 tons of supplies a day, so that a big battle on a fifty-mile front necessitates the daily transport of 100,000 tons. The transportation of a division of troops calls for the employment of thirty-five trains; the rail traffic involved in the simultaneous moving of several divisions therefore something to use the imagination.

THE FOOD QUESTION.

What the People Complain About Re the Matter.

Mr. Henry B. Thompson, Chairman of the Canada Food Board, spoke in Halifax the other day, before the Rotary Club, on the food situation. Amongst other things he is reported to have said:—"The general public for some reason seemed to get the idea that we were asking them to save food for the benefit of food profiteers. When we told them that the food was going overseas they would not believe us."

So far as our knowledge of the matter goes, gained from mingling with a goodly portion of the masses of the people, the general public hold no such idea.

They know the food is going overseas and are pleased that it is, the best food they are willing to deny themselves and feed on the inferior food, but they object to paying the price asked for first class food for the inferior. The outrageous prices charged the home consumer seems to have entirely escaped Mr. Thompson's attention, for he made no reference to that aspect of the matter.

The Hun Kaiser has boasted that he follows the policy of blood and iron. The Detroit News reminds the public that Wilhelm is careful to see to it that other men's sons furnish the blood while he and the Krupps furnish only the iron.

SEEKING SHARES BUT FEW LOOSE—FINANCIAL CONDITION CONTINUES TO STRENGTHEN

(Montreal Star 5th.)

The market for Nova Scotia Steel shares was quieter today after the sudden outburst of activity both here and in the New York market, but the early price at 7 1/4 was the highest in the present movement. Later it was offered at 70.

In looking around for some explanation of the sudden revival of interest, the Street was moved to the conclusion that strong New York interests in the stock, picked out the logical time for renewing the market for the issue, and found that there was comparatively little loose stock available at current prices which prevailed last week in New York, when it was selling at 62 to 63.

The local market did not begin to figure until the minimum of 66 here was reached, when it responded to the demand very promptly.

In New York it sold up to 69 1/4 and today was inactive at 66 bid to 68 asked.

The company's financial condition continues to strengthen; as at June 30, it had a working capital of over $11,200,000, of which nearly $6,000,000 was in cash. Especially striking, in comparison with the usual experience of companies in the U. S. is the shrinkage in the inventories, which in May alone declined $887,000. Its principal subsidiary, the Eastern Car Co., is rapidly cleaning up its account and its indebtedness to the parent concern, is now less than $1,000,000. Also during the month the Company's orders on hand increased by over 30 per cent.

The real possibilities of this enterprise will be realized, only with a return to a normal labor and a normal shipping market. Meantime, the company is putting itself in a position to take advantage of such a situation when it comes, both financially, as indicated above, and physically, by the completion of its new slope down to the ore bodies, which will have a capacity of over 1,000,000 tons of ore per annum.

In June it was able to clean up a considerable amount of unfinished business, so that the net profit realized in this month was probably the largest of any month in the company's history. The result was that for the first six months the net profits for this company, after providing for maintenance and renewal expenditures, but before deducting interest charges, depreciation, etc., aggregated $2,551,667. This compares with $3,069,447 for the entire 12 months of 1917.

Last year the interest charge amounted to $753,000. This year this item will be confined to the interest on its bonds and debentures and will be probably $140,000 less than last year. Last year the allowance for depreciation, taxes, etc., was $976,000. It is impossible, at the moment, accurately, to forecast the allowance for this item for this year, but these earnings for the first six months would seem to indicate a final balance for the common stock of pretty close to $20 per share.

Voluntary reduction of fifty per cent. in the production of passenger automobiles, as compared with last year's output, was voted by National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at a meeting in Detroit. The curtailment, it was stated, was the wish of the war industries board.

HALF THE ILLS OF LIFE ARE CAUSED BY CONSTIPATION.

NEW MILITARY SONGS.

Words by John W. Phillips, of Seattle, Wash.
To be sung to the Tune of "Maryland, My Maryland."

ALLIES LAND—MY ALLIES LAND

We heard the distant thunder hum,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!
Saw rockets glare and screeching bomb,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!
'Twas Belgium's brave, heroic throng,
Who fought for liberty so long!
We'll shout our cheering Allies song,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!

For grand old France we'll ever fight
All-ies land, our All-ies land!
There is no doubt as to its right,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!
For life and death, for woe or weal,
Its peerless chivalry reveal!
We'll guard its hallowed homes with steel,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!

We will not yield to Teuton's toll,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!
We shall not bend to his control,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!
Better extinction be our role,
Rather the shot, the blade, the brand!
Than crucifixion of the soul
All-ies land, our All-ies land!

Help maintain allies sacred trust,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!
We will not cower in the dust,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!
Our roaring guns shall never rust,
Remember America's war-like thrust,
For all our soldiers are but just,
All-ies land, our All-ies land!

MARCHING THRU GERMANY.

To Be Sung to the Tune of "Marching Through Georgia."

Sound America's bugle boys, We'll sing Liberty's song,
Sing it with a spirit that will shove the world along,
Sing it as we ought to sing it, many million strong,
While we are marching through Germany.

Chorus.
Hurrah! Hurrah! We'll beat the long range gun,
Hurrah! Hurrah! We'll make the HUN to run,
So we'll sing this chorus from America to the sun,
While we go marching thru Germany

How the Teutons shrieked when they heard our cannon sound!
How the Bosches grumbled, whom our khaki boys found,
Tho wounded and deserted, they bounded from the ground,
While we were marching thru Germany.

Chorus—
Yes, and there were men and women who wept with joyful tears,
When they saw the stars and stripes they'd prayed to see for years,
Hardly could they be restrained from shouting loud their cheers,
While we were marching thru Germany.

Chorus—
Pershing's rushing Yankee boys will never meet us HUNS,
So the boasting Teutons said, but 'twas an empty boast,
Oh! they had forgot, alas, to reckon with our host,
While we go marching thru Germany.

Chorus X
Allies we'll make a thorough fare for liberty and her train,
Miles and miles in latitude then back home again:
Mad Huns fee from before us for resistance is in vain,
When we go marching thru Germany.

STILLS IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

Liquor stills are reported in New Brunswick. A Fredericton paper says:

The third still to be reported to Chief Inspector W. D. Wilson as operating in the province was made known to him recently. On Tuesday the Chief Inspector assisted by other officers located a still at Grand Falls. The third still which was reported to him has not been definitely located although the men supposed to be operating it was prosecuted under The Intoxicating Liquor Act 1916 and convicted.

COOK'S SACRIFICE

"But, my dear," said his wife, after he had complained about the food the new cook had brought in, "you know during these terrible times it is absolutely necessary that we make great sacrifices." "Oh, of course, but what I object to is that cook making her in the form of a burnt offering."

THE PROFITEERS.

(By Berton Braley).

Did you vote for this? In Toronto, August 1st, 1918, bacon was 64 cents, a pound, fresh eggs 60 cents a dozen.

They think because the nation is at war
And all our eyes are turned on things abroad,
That now's the time they have been waiting for
To work the olden game of greed and fraud;
The men who profit from the children's toil,
The evil band of masters who oppress,
Scheme how the conflict shall increase their spoil
And feel anew their avariciousness.

"This is our chance" they whisper,
"this is the hour
To sweep aside the laws that hamper greed,
Now is the time to gain our former power
Under the cover of 'country's need';
And while men fight and die, and women bear
Their burden bravely for the nation's sake,
With craft and subtle cunning we shall share
In swollen profits that are ours to take."

We must keep watch upon the foes we face
And on these slinking wolves within the fold,
Who think no deed too low too mean too base
Which leads to power so yellow, nor gold;
We're fighting ruthless greed across the foam,
But still must watch the greed that lurks at home.

SOME DEFINITION.

"Dad," said little Reginald, "what is a bucket shop?"
"A bucket shop, my son," said the father, feelingly "a bucketshop is a modern coöperation establishment to which a man takes a barrel and brings back the bung-hole."

THE SUBMARINE MENACE.

We are informed that the German U boats, operating on this side, have begun their activities in home waters, that six vessels, mostly fishermen have been sunk near the entrance of the Bay of Fundy. We note in one of our contemporaries, that the U is reported to have remained on the surface six hours, near Seal Island, in full view from shore. What we would like to know is, where our fleet of coast defence boats was at the time? They are supposed to be patrolling the coast, some hundreds of them, and surely there must be some of them in the vicinity of Yarmouth, and around Cape Sable that could be reached at the time, by either phone or wireless. Perhaps the same conditions prevail on that coast, as in Sydney, snugly moored in the Upper Harbor, crew, officers, and men ashore, enjoying themselves, basking in the sunny smiles of some of our lassies, or tripping the light fantastic in a dance hall. We can forgive our brave tars for a desire to do a little mooning, as a relaxation from their arduous duties afloat, but when it becomes one round of gayety, that is another matter. Who is in command of this flotilla anyway? If he can be found, and when he is found, if he knows the difference between the Keel and the lubber lien, let him get busy before the Germans get a notion on to sink all the cockle shells yclept "coast defence" while at anchor in the harbour. The best thing that could happen would be for the Home Government to send some bluff old sea dog over here; we would like to be in hiding to hear his vocabulary of cuss words after he had a look around.

PATRIOTIC.

"Why don't you get an alienist to examine your son?"
"No, sir! An American doctor is good enough for me."

Rev. Robert Mitchell a native of Linden, N. S., and a former Presbyterian minister at Sussex, N. B., died at Montreal on Sunday. He was 56 years of age.

SUMMER COMPLAINT IS DANGEROUS.

The Old and the Young, the Strong and the Weak, are all affected the same.

There is not a summer passes without thousands of people being attacked by Summer Complaint.

The prostration, often verging on collapse—which sometimes accompanies this disease makes it one of the most serious and dangerous we have to contend with during the hot months.

Very few people escape an attack of summer complaint. It may be slight, or it may be severe, but nearly everyone is liable to it.

You cannot tell, when it seizes you, how it may end.

Let it go for a day or two only, and see how weak and prostrate it will leave you.

There is only one safe way to cure it, and that is by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has been on the market for the past 72 years, and has been proved and tried. You do not experiment when you buy it.

Do not accept a substitute or imitation, as many of these may be positively dangerous to your health. Insist on having "Dr. Fowler's". It does not leave the bowels constipated.

Mrs. T. Haggarty, Algoma Mills, Ont., writes: "I must recommend your Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. When my little boy was a year and two months old he had a bad attack of summer complaint. I got the doctor and he gave him some medicine, and said if that wouldn't do him good he could do no more for him. I wrote to my aunt and told her I was going to lose my little boy. She sent me a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I only gave him four doses when he was completely cured. It certainly saved my child's life."

Price, 35c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Kink In The Back

You bend over and can scarcely get straightened up again. This comes on you so suddenly you can't understand it.

This is lumabgo. Like backache and rheumatism, it is the result of poisons in the blood. The kidneys are deranged, but the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills will soon set them right. The pains and aches will soon disappear with the poisons when the kidneys do their work properly.

THE LIFE OF COSMOS.

By Catherine M. A. Morrison.

I met a man, whose hands were hard and scarred, clothed in garments patched and soiled. Great beads of perspiration fell like dew drops from his brow. His firm voice held me like a vice. The mighty hand that held the tool handle awoke every nerve in my body. On the Sabbath his spent strength, gave rest to weariness and my whole being became homesick for his love and protection.

In my childish language I asked—"Who is this man and what is his name?"

"He is the spring of activity and his name is labor," echoed in a crumbled stone wall.

"He is the secret of success and the life of the universe," sounded a voice underground.

"He is a link in the endless chain of creation and motion, the promoter of progress and wealth, the cause of improvement, science, art and war, without him commerce, invention, knowledge, luxury, rest, books, enterprise, music, love and labor would be unknown," answered the silent dead.

"He is the founder of civilization, and because of him nations have been built and have become great, ports have been opened to trade, men have become pilots on all waters, ships have been built to sail and trench the sea, to fly like a bird of prey and swim like a whale. By him all things move and form," signalled the man of war.

"He is the spirit of the world, by him all things function. He is toil and when men have him, business is prosperous and all things multiply, when men lose him all things crumble to dust and all works are dead;

"By him the rough soil is cultivated into fields of grain, of cotton of fruit, of plants, of seed, industry and beauty. Isolated lands have become cities, and gardens, tall trees have become ornaments, expensive pictures, costly paper and mansions, clay has been turned into precious vessels and massive walls. He has discovered hidden treasures in the earth contributed jewels, fiery splendor, machinery, structure and fabric. He has produced new food and sweetened the taste of fruit which cause the aged to suck their fingers and youth to love and marry," whispered the voice of ages.

"His voice is in all things, his strong arm holds and regulates force, clouds of smoke curl in the air, whistles blow, iron wheels turn and motion has become automatic," assured the modern men.

The man with hard hands and worn garments is the soul of Cosmos. He has planted the tree of knowledge. He is the foundation of production. He labors for all, and his children laugh, sing, play, and work. He is the master man of the world. The key to success. His name is labor.

PAT IN FRANCE.

Pat, who is "somewhere in France," had just received a letter from old Ireland. Being unable to read, he called in the aid of the chaplain, who readily agreed to decipher it for him.

But Pat was not wholly happy. Drawing closer to the reverend gentleman, and lowering his voice to a whisper, he said:

"I hope it's not angry ye'll be, sorr, but as the matter is of a very private nature, do you mind puttin' your fingers in your ears, sorr, whilst you are reading it out?"

Shell Shocked Nerves

Shattered nerves are the source of greatest suffering to many a returned soldier.

The doctor can give something to relieve physical pain but when the nervous system breaks down and you are sleepless, nervous an mentally worried, real cure only comes when the exhausted nerve cells are nourished back to health and vigor by such restoration upbuilding treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

GERMAN SOLDIERS TOLD THAT AMERICANS TAKE NO PRISONERS AND DIE IN ATTEMPTS TO ESCAPE.

A hill southeast of Fismes was littered with German dead, all shot in the back when the position had become untenable. They had fled rather than surrender. Two wounded Boches, who had been hiding three days, begged not to be killed when they were brought in. They said their officers told them the Americans took no prisoners.

An American balloon observer made a sixth daring leap to safety when a Hun plane brought down his gas bag. In five previous attacks the Boches had not got this balloon, but had forced him to jump. Yesterday afternoon his balloon was shot down in flames, but the observer landed safely after a parachute drop.

OBSERVATIONS.

Scotia comes into its own—The Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. is to be congratulated on the recent acquisitions to its official staff. A better combination than Brown as Manager, and McDougall as Assistant, could scarcely be arranged in Nova Scotia.

The Nova Scotia Steel is a Priori a provincial concern, at least, so it is considered by our people, and in restoring the management to Nova Scotia natives, the people of the province feel a security which was of late denied them.

Scotia may now be assured of peace between labor and management, and in these days, peace spells progress.

Both Coal and Steel Departments of Scotia suffered severely during the past year, through friction between the management and the men, and though the management ought not, to be supposed to shoulder all the blame for the tie-ups and strikes, there is no doubt, official stubbornness and pride, coupled perhaps with official stupidity, lay at the bottom of the most of the troubles.

In the best days of Sydney Mines and New Glasgow, before the advent of the experimentalists, outside of an occasional minor spasm, due often to a misunderstanding, there was practically a continuous peace. The management was known to be sympathetic with the wants of the men, and were desirous of giving all their men a sufficient wage to provide them with a decent and ample livelihood.

The receipt and expense accounts of the Company were thrown open to all investigating and labor commissions, and the workmen were usually satisfied that the management was allowing them in wages the very last penny that the Company could afford.

There was a feeling of mutual interdependence established between the management and a very large proportion of the employees and this encouraged in itself a mutual understanding and a mutual good will.

The Deadly Coal Car

BOTTOM WENT OUT AND YOUNG RAILWAY MAN WENT THROUGH TO DEATH.

A very sad accident occurred in Stellarton yard of the C. G. R. last Saturday by which a bright young railway man, John A. McIntosh, lost his life. The young man was standing on top of a car of coal that was being shunted, when the drop in the bottom opened, and the coal ran out, he going through with it; and under the wheels, receiving injury from which he died within an hour after the accident. He is survived by a wife and child, to whom deep and widespread sympathy goes out. Deceased was liked and respected by all who knew him.

At the inquest the jury returned a verdict of accidental death. The car inspector said he examined the car, which had come down from the mine the previous Wednesday, and that it was all right of course, so far as such examination as he was able to give it, revealed, but evidently there was something wrong with it. That is one of the dreaded things about mechanism.

By every reasonable test a piece of machinery may be pronounced all right only a short time afterward, to give way with loss of life, or serious injury.

It should be that railway cars, and locomotives should in the interest of "Safety First" be given more than a passing examination that can only be given by the regular inspectors, with so much work on their hands.

There is much improvement in coal cars in comparison with those of today, and the old fashioned hoppers, but in the interest of safety, there is yet room for improvement. It should not be hard to add improvement to cars such as the one young McIntosh lost his life by, by adding a contrivance so that it would be unnecessary for trainmen generally to stand on the coal in the car.

Laid to Rest

TOWN COUNCIL OF NEW GLASGOW HAS DISPOSED OF INSPECTORSHIP BUSINESS FOR A TIME.

Federationist. New Glasgow is breathing easier now—the Soy case has been disposed of for the time being. Three weeks ago the Federationist advised the council to either pay the inspector a living wage or dismiss him.

At the meeting of the council Monday night last, the good fathers blew on the ends of their thumbs and worked up enough muscle to tackle the job in earnest.

Coun. Osborne set the ball rolling by the remark that $50.00 a month was not a living wage.

He was right. Why it is less than the steel plant minimum.

The chairman of the police committee backed up Coun. Osborne with the remark that if you want a decent job you must pay a decent price for it.

Couns. O. R. Fraser and D. W. McDonald thought the inspector should receive more than $50. a month. Coun. D. F. Fraser wanted efficiency therefore wanted to know what guarantee there was of better service if the inspector's salary was increased.

Coun. Robertson moved that the inspector's salary be increased by $35 a month, making it $85, for three months, as an experiment, he to report frequently. If at the end of three months the work is not satisfactory, the police committee to deal with the matter. The motion carried.

The inspector will now have to furnish the guarantee referred to by Coun. D. F. Fraser by way of results.

But gentlemen of the council, do not expect too much of the inspector, for he is in the position of a man trying to bail out by the bottle, what a small sized army pour in by gallon can fill, tantamount to trying to keep back the tide in the Bay of Fundy, with a hay fork.

The fact of the matter is the people of Municipalities, some of the municipalities struggling to make ends meet, should not have to tax themselves the cost of enforcing either Dominion or provincial laws. The legislature body that enacts laws, and shifts the enforcing of them off onto some other body, is cowardly. It smacks too much of trying new medicine on the dog. If the dog lives after swallowing it you take it, if the dog gives evidence of bad effect, you leave it alone.

Rumors of Big Deals

COAL, IRON AND STEEL MAY HUDDLE STILL CLOSER—REPORTS OF OFFICIAL CHANGES

Talk about the transfer of Acadia to Scotia is still rife.

A gentleman pretty close to Scotia, in reply to a question by The Federationist, stated, that he thought there was something in the rumours.

Out of the talk about the transfer, or suggested transfer, has come the rumour, that in the event of the change, Mr. George Gray, would become general manager, and that Mr. William Maxwell, resident manager of the Drummond mine will go to Acadia as assistant in management transactions. Should they come to pass, this would be indeed pleasing to the employees of Acadia.

It is further stated that in the event of Scotia taking over Acadia, the property would be further developed, and greatly improved.

Another important feature of the reports going about is the statement, that the appointment of Mr. D. H. McDougall, as president and manager of Scotia, is a long stride, preliminary step, in the direction of merging of the company with the Dominion Iron and Steel. While the event of Acadia going over would mean another link in the Nova Scotia coal merger, begun when Springhill came under control of Dominion.—Federationist.

RECIPES FOR JAM-MAKING.

Prepared under the direction of experts for the Canada Food Board, and distributed through the Conservation Publicity Section.

Make More Jam.

The Canada Food Board calls the attention of housewives to the importance of jam-making. If large quantities of jam be made this year, the demand upon Canada from Overseas for butter can be met to a much greater extent than otherwise would be possible. When jam is used butter is not needed with bread.

With economy in the use of sugar, the arrangements which have been made by the Canada Food Board are confidently expected to provide a sufficient supply of sugar for jam-making as well as for preserving. Care in the use of sugar is still necessary. By using not more than is needed, housewives will find that their jams are much more palatable, and more digestible product than results from an excessive use of sugar. Sugar can be used in reasonable amounts for preserving, but persons who hoard sugar make themselves liable to a heavy fine or even to imprisonment.

Use Sugar With Care.

Canadian Housewives should make all the jam they can this year, but they should do so with the minimum of sugar. The Canada Food Board has issued regulations governing the use of sugar by public eating-places, candy manufacturers, ice-cream manufacturers, bakers, confectioners, etc., and these have resulted in an aggregate saving of a very large quantity. This saving has been increased by voluntary economies in private homes. The Anti-Hoarding Order providing limitations on holdings of sugar also has been effective. The Food Board has been able to arrange for a number of ships to carry raw sugar to Canada. The cumulative effect of all these measures is that a sufficient supply for the canning and preserving season seems now to be assured.

In order that the maximum use may be made of our fruit crop this year in all parts of Canada, housewives are asked to use no larger proportion of sugar than is needed for preserving and jam-making. The recipes in this book have been prepared by experts, having in mind the use of those proportions of sugar which will give the best results. No more sugar is required than the amounts stated in the recipes given below.

STRAWBERRY JAM

8 lbs. strawberries;
6 lbs. sugar.

Mix the strawberries and sugar in a kettle and let them stand over night. In the morning set the kettle over the fire on an asbestos mat and bring the contents slowly to a boil. Do not stir the fruit any more than is absolutely necessary. Boil gently without stirring until it is sufficiently thick and then put it away in sterile jars.

CURRENT JELLY.

4 lbs. currant juice;
3 lbs. sugar.

Boil the currant juice without the sugar about 10 minutes, or until the quantity is reduced. Heat the sugar in the oven, and add when very hot to the liquid, so that the temperature will not be greatly reduced. When all is dissolved, bring to a boil again, and continue from three to five minutes. Test, and when done remove and put away in unsealed jars. When cool, seal with melted paraffin.

APPLE AND PLUM JAM.

4 lbs. crab apples;
4 lbs. plums;
6 lbs. sugar.

Cut the crab apples into quarters and cook in just sufficient water to extract the juice. Strain through a double cheese cloth, and add the sugar to the crab apple juice. Put over the fire and bring to a boil. Stir until the sugar is melted. Then add the plums, and boil until the plums are thoroughly cooked.

Note.—Other apples can be used if crab apples be not obtainable, but on no account must the skins and cores be taken away, as the pectin is contained largely in the cores, and directly under the skin. Any sweet plum can be used for jam. The Damson is considered quite satisfactory. Because of its acid nature, the Lombard plum will not make a good jam with the proportion of sugar prescribed above.

PUM JAM.

8 lbs. plum;
6 lbs. sugar.

Put the plums and sugar together in a preserving kettle over the fire, with just sufficient water to start the cooking. Boil gently until the fruit is thoroughly cooked. Stir as little as possible.

BLACK CURRANT JAM.

For 1 lb. of fruit, not over ripe, allow ½ lb. of sugar.

Put the currants in a granite saucepan and mash to allow the juice to escape. Add no water. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally to ensure that all the fruit is being cooked, and to prevent burning. Cook without sugar until the quantity is reduced and the fruit is all broken. The time will vary with the quality of the fruit. Heat the sugar in the oven and add to the fruit, stirring until it is all dissolved. Then boil without stirring from three to five minutes. Remove from the fire and put into sterile jars, glasses or stone crocks. Seal when cold, by pouring melted paraffin over the top.

In making Black Currant Jam, the sugar must NOT be boiled from the beginning with the fruit, as in some jams; otherwise the currants will become hard and unpalatable.

RASPBERRY JAM.

8 lbs. raspberries;
6 lbs. sugar.

Pick over the raspberries and put the sugar on. Let the fruit remain this way over night. In the morning set the kettle over the fire, and bring the contents to a boil slowly, stirring

WRIGLEYS

Helps teeth, breath, appetite, digestion.

Sealed tight—kept right

"Give it to me, please, Granddaddy."

"Why Bobby, if you wait a bit for it you'll have it to enjoy longer!"

"Poo-poo! That's no argument with WRIGLEY'S 'cause the flavour lasts, anyway!"

Made in Canada

—After every meal

until all the sugar is dissolved. Then cook without stirring until the quantity is reduced and until, when tested on a cold plate, the jam is found to be sufficiently thick.

RASPBERRY JAM WITH CURRANT JUICE.

7 lbs. of fruit;
1 lb. or 1 pint of red currant juice;
6 lbs. sugar.

Follow the same directions as for Raspberry Jam, but, because of the juice of the currant that is added, it will require a little longer cooking, as some of the water will have to be evaporated.

OLD-FASHIONED BLACKBERRY JAM.

For each pound of blackberries use three-fourths of a pound of brown sugar. Pick over berries and mash them slightly. Add sugar and cook slowly until thick. Seal in jelly glasses.

SPICED PEARS.

7 lbs. hard pears
4 oz. bruised ginger root;
4 lbs. sugar;
1 lemon;
1 pint vinegar;
2 oz. stick cinnamon;
2 tablespoons whole clove.

Peel, quarter and core the pears. Make a syrup of vinegar and sugar. Put spices and ginger root in a cheese-cloth bag and boil in the syrup for ten minutes. Add the pears and lemon rind grated. Cook until the pears are soft. Remove pears from syrup and pack them in hot jars. Boil the syrup down. When thick, add it to the fruit in the jars. Seal while hot.

Be careful with sugar. Do not buy more than you need. Use just enough. Observe the Food Board's regulations. In this way there will be enough for everybody.

CANSO'S ROLL OF HONOR.

Jason Johnson, son of Mrs. B. A. Johnston of this town has joined the Flying Corps and is in training at Toronto.

Joseph David Long Jr., son of Joseph Long, Light Keeper at Harts Island Light, spent 22 days training at Alder. shot was unable to measure up to the medical standard and was discharged.

I Terestchenko, minister of foreign affairs in the cabinet of Premier Kerensky, has been assassinated at Poltava according to an announcement made by the Hamburg Fremdenblatt and reprinted by Paris newspapers. The identity of his assassins is declared is not known.

Voluntary Food Saving.

Do not eat bacon or ham unless you are engaged in extremely heavy manual work.

Do not eat meat in any form at more than one meal per day.

Do not eat both butter and jam with bread.

Do not eat candy which is made principally from sugar. There are plenty of candies sweetened with honey, molasses and dark syrup.

In place of a slice of bread eat one extra potato a day.

Use less cream and more milk and cheese.

Eat oatmeal, barley, corn and buckwheat cakes instead of wheat preparations.

Waste no milk; condensed milk is needed overseas.

Drink fewer sweet drinks and omit icing from cakes in order to save sugar.

Do not display the joint of meat on the table. It is an inducement to eat more than you need.

Children's Food Slogans.

1. Be canny with food.
2. Peel thin and win.
3. Spread butter thin—Help the soldiers get Berlin.
4. Bread and Buns will beat the Huns.
5. 'Every spud is a bullet.
6. Save bacon until Berlin is taken.
7. Wise wives won't waste.
8. The kitchen is your fort.
9. Little saving in the preparation of meals all count for your country. Kill Kaiserism in the kitchen.

Laugh When People Step On Your Feet

Try this yourself then pass it along to others. It works!

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain.

He says freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissues or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS GOOD.

Business conditions in Calgary, Regina and other cities have been good during the past year or so. There is now a lull, but it is felt that the reserve from war prices which have prevailed during the past couple of years should do much to prevent reaction. Smaller centres in belts which have been practically burned out have a more trying outlook, especially where there was little or no crop last year as well.

MRS. J. WEBSTER BERRY DIED AUGUST 9th.

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS PESSIMISTIC.

The Vorwaerts of Berlin, says that events of recent days at last have shattered the illusion created by inspired optimism that Germany is invincible.

It says—the Germans people at last realize the colossal gravity of the situation. Let us have courage to admit as long as the war is not ended it is not won and can be lost."

The principal north German organ of the majority socialists the Burger Zeitung of Bremen says:

Black and dark is the hour. The sacrifices made by the people are immeasurable—and those of the fifth year of the war will be gigantic; but no refreshing breath of freedom and civic equality blows through the oppressive night of our discontent."

Miss Miller, then of Orange, Mass., was named as custodian of the dogs, and was to use whatever of the income was needed to support them, the principal to go to her at their death. really now?"

"Yes, please," returned the young girl, in tears.

"Well, I sha'n't then—not till I've overhauled your pockets, and rummaged yer a bit, and that's all about it."

In a moment his ruffianly hands were upon her; the girl uttered a shrill scream and he a ferocious oath. I spurred forward my horse, reined him in with dragon-like precision, and with the butt-end of my riding-whip death would be thief a blow which tumbled him in a heap at the foot of the stile.

With a terrible malediction, while the blood poured over his face, he staggered up, and stopped his head, and thrusting his battered hat well over his eyes, was rushing on with uplifted cudgel, when I dexterously dealt him cut "one" full on the face, and made my horse rear for the purpose of riding him down. On he hit through the hedge, and taking a flight, disappeared, with his bull terrier barking furiously at his heels.

The young lady whom I had saved by such timely succour was still standing, pale and trembling, on the summit of the stile, irresolute which way to turn, when I dismounted, and throwing the reins over my arm, lifted my hat, and expressing the great satisfaction it afforded me to have been of such timely service, I offered my hand and assisted her to descend.

She thanked me in an agitated voice, and with a hurried manner, in language which was well chosen, but seemed perfectly natural to her.

I now perceived that she was older than her slender figure at first suggested. She seemed to be about five-and-twenty years of age, with a softly feminine and purely English face, long, tremulous eyelashes, and a perfect nose and chin. She was almost beautiful; but with an air of sadness in her charming little features, which, when her alarm subsided, was too apparent to fail to interest me.

"If you will not deem me intrusive," said I, lifting my hat again, and drawing back respectfully one pace, "I shall be most happy to escort you home."

"I thank you, sir."

"It is almost dark now, and your friends may be anxious about you."

"Friends?" she repeated, inquiringly in a strange voice, while a cough of a most consumptive sound seemed to rack her slender form.

"Or permit me to escort you to where you were going. It was in this direction luckily, or I could only have taken my horse over the stile by a flying leap!"

"But, sir—" she began, and paused.

"Consider that fellow may be within ear-shot, and he may return again."

"True, sir. I do thank you very much. There was a time when I was not wont to be so unprotected; but I am so loth—"

"To incommode me; is it not so?"

"Yes, sir."

"Oh, do not say so. I am from the barracks at Maidstone, though in mufti, as you see, and trust you will permit me to be your escort. My time is at present completely at your disposal."

"I live about half a mile on this side of the village; and if you will be so very kind—"

"I shall have much pleasure," I replied, with a respectful bow; and leading my horse by the bridle, I walked on ward by her side.

She conversed with me easily and gracefully on many subjects—the oddness of her being abroad at such an hour alone; but in the country folks thought nothing of it. She had been visiting a sick fisherman's wife, or child or something, at Herne Bay, and was detained on the roads were not unsafe thereabouts in general; but she must be careful for the future.

The we remarked, of course, the beauty of the evening, the romance the scenery along the coast, and its associations, by Herne Bay, the Reculvers, and Bitchington; and my fair companion seemed well read, for she knew all about the told kings of Kent, and, pointing seaward, showed me that where now the ocean rolled, there stood in other times a goodly Saxon town, with something about a king named Ethelbert, whose palace was close by the Reculvers; and so, chatting away pleasantly in a tone of which that was very alluring, for there was a musical chord in it, we proceeded along the highway, until she suddenly paused at the iron gate of a pretty little rustic cottage that stood within a garden plot, back some fifty paces or so from the highway.

"Here sir," said she, "is the gate my home; at least, that which is now so; and, with my best thanks, I must bid you adieu."

The girl's voice, air, and manner were certainly charming, and there was a plaintive sadness about her that was decidedly interesting; but my mind was too full of a pure passion, an exalted love for Louisa Loftus, to have much enthusiasm about pretty girls then, or to have any taste for running after them, as in the days when I first donned my lancer trappings.

Thus, quite careless of cultivating her acquaintance, I was about to withdraw with a polite bow, when she added—

"After the great service you have rendered, and so bravely too, I hope you do not deem me uncourteous in not having you to rest for a few minutes; but—but—"

"Papa might frown, and mamma have some fears of a light dragoon," said I, laughing. "Is it not so?"

"My papa!" she replied in a voice that was extremely touching. "Sir, of course you cannot know; but he is dead, and my dear mamma has lain by his side these seven years."

"Pardon me," said I, "if by a heedless speech I have probed a hidden wound—a sorrow so deep. But your friends, perhaps, might wish to discover the sturdy beggar from whom I saved you, and if I can be of any service, by sending a note to Maidstone barracks, address—"

At that moment the door of the cottage opened, and a comely old woman, dressed in good matronly taste, appeared with a lighted candle in her hand, and with an expression of alarm in her good-humoured face, as she exclaimed:

"La, miss! how late you are! I was quite alarmed for fear you had returned, as you often do, by the seashore, and met with an accident among the rocks."

"No, my dear friend, I am here in intervention I might have had a very different thing to say."

I bowed; but of course remained silent.

"She is, perhaps, a governess—some useful young person, some victim of a stenographer," thought I.

"I perceived that you were an officer though out of uniform, and—and—"

"You don't take every officer for a sad rake, I hope?" said I, laughing.

"Nay, nay, sir; the scarlet coat is very dear to me!"

"Your father, perhaps, was in the army?"

"My poor father was a man of peace, and a man after God's own heart, sir. No, no; you mistake me," she replied, with an air of annoyance and wounded pride; "but you belong, I presume, to the cavalry?"

"Yes, said I, as her manner puzzled her more and more.

"The lancers?" she asked, impetuously.

"Yes, the lancers."

I could see, even in the twilight, that her colour deepened, while a painful sigh escaped her.

"Do you know any one in my corps?"

"Yes;—no; that is, I never saw it; but I did know a—a—"

Who, or what she knew, I was not destined to learn, for, just at that moment, the postman passed with a lantern glimmering in his hand, a bag slung over his back.

"A letter! You have one for me, have you not?" she asked, in a clear and piercing voice, while holding forth her hands.

"No, miss, I am sorry to say," stammered the man, touching his cap, and passing abruptly on; "better luck in the morning I hope."

"No letter, Nurse Goldsworthy, no letter yet," she muttered. "How cruel, how very cruel or, nurse dear, is this but the way of the world—the world that he has lived in? Oh, it is cold—cold and selfish!" and, pressing her hands upon her breast, she tottered against the iron gate, and then a violent fit of coughing ensued.

"My good woman," said I, "the chill evening air is unsuited to such a cough as your young lady seems afflicted with."

"Yes, sir, yes, I know it," replied the nurse, while supporting the girl with one hand, she closed and locked the iron gate with the other; and, kissing her forehead the while, said, "Patience, my poor suffering angel, thou wilt get a letter in the morning I tell thee."

"Pray tell me if I can assist you. I am Captain Norcliff, of the Lancers; do please say if I can be of service?"

"Oh, no, sir, you cannot serve me in that which afflicts me most," replied the girl, weeping; "but a thousand thanks to you; and now, good evening!"

"Good evening," I replied, and rode away, feeling strangely puzzled and interested in this girl, by her beauty, grace, and singular manner.

At the village inn, the signboard of which I may mention by the way actually bears the head of King Ethelbert, whose spirit seems somehow to hover still about his Anglo-Saxon hamlet of the Reculvers, I drew up on pretence of obtaining a light for my cigar, but in reality to make some inquiry concerning the pretty enigma who dwelt in the cottage on the Margate road.

Just as I reined in, a man on horseback passed me at full speed, and from his figure, seat, and dress, I could have sworn that he was—Berkeley! And he was riding in the direction of Chillingham Park too.

From two to three Kentish yokels, in hobnailed shoes and canvas frocks, I endeavored, after the distribution of a few shilling for beer, extract some information, and it was yielded cunningly and grudgingly, and after much leering, grinning, and scratching of uncombed heads.

One informed me that she was "thout to be, somehow, the wife o' yun o' them cavalry chaps at Maidstone?"

Another "thout as she was the vidder of a sea hofferer;" and a third, who thrust his tongue into his fat cheek, remarked "that as I had paid my money I might take my choice," on which I gave him a cut over the head with my whip, and rode away, followed by a shout of derisive laughter from these Anglo-Saxon chawbacons, who, as far as civilization was concerned, were pretty much as if his Majesty King Ethelbert were still upon his throne.

It seemed to me also that I heard among their voices that of the fellow Potkins, whom I had so recently thrashed at the stile.

CHAPTER XVI.

Still as a moonlight ruin is thy power, Or meanness of carved marble, that hath prayed

For ages on a tomb; serenely laid As some fair vessel that hath braved the storm.

And passed into her haven, when the noise That cheered her home hath all to silence died.

Her crew have shoreward parted, and no voice, Troubles her sleeping image in the tide. Alfrod.

My mind was a prey to great inquietude—shall I term it undefined jealousy as I galloped back to my hotel if any letters came for me during the two days I was to be absent from barracks, he was to mount my spare horse and bring them to the spur direct to Canterbury; but none had come, in my solitary room at the Royal, reflecting on the evening's adventures.

Was the horseman who has passed me really Berkeley?

If so, he was riding to Chillingham Park, and would just be in time for dinner—a fact that, if he was uninvited, argued considerable familiarity with that proud and exclusive family.

Then there was the girl whom I had rescued at the stile. What a puzzle she was! I reviewed all her conversation with me, and her strange bearing.

Her literary information and education seemed to be of a very superior kind, and her manner was unexceptionable. She seemed gentle, too, and to have been on an errand of charity or mercy.

Why was she so agitated when our corps was mentioned! Her love for a red coat might be natural enough; but who was "the captain" to whom the ruffian referred when threatening her? Then there was undisguised anxiety for a letter. That was natural also; and it was an emotion in which I could fully share.

Those yokels in frocks and hobnailed shoes had called her wife, and even widow; but the servant, or nurse, only named her as "miss."

What if she and her nurse, the old spider-brusher, were but a delusion and a snare? What if her modesty and trepidation, and the old woman's love and anxiety were but a specious piece of acting!

Prudence suggested that such thing were not common in this good land of Britain.

Next morning I was up and break-asted betimes, and the sunny hours of the forenoon saw me mounted, and, after passing the gate of Chillingham Park at a quick canter, I now trotted, slowly walking my horse in the neighborhood of the Reculvers, and inhaling the pleasant breeze that came from the sea, whilom, as my companion of last night said, ploughed by the galleys of Caesar, and along the same shore where the Kentish barbarians gathered, in their war paint, to oppose him.

The sunshine fell redly on the quaint spires of the old church and picturesque cottages of the secluded village. I passed the sign of King Ethelbert, and hovered for a moment at the gate of the cottage ornee, where I had been overnight. Its blinds were closely drawn; but a bird singing gayly in a gilt wire cage that hung in the porch, which was covered with climbing trailers, already in full flower.

I passed on, and soon reached the rustic stile—the scene of last night's encounter—with that interesting individual who had solicited alms with the aid of a black beard and a cudgel. It led to a narrow pathway through the fields and coppice to the sea. The birds were chirping, and some of the trees were already budding. The yellow blaze of noon streamed between their stems upon the green grass, and I could see the blue waves of the sea glittering in the glory of the sunshine far away.

On the summit of the moss-grown stile fancy conjured up the figure of the young girl and I had a vague, undefined longing to meet her again, and learn something of her history, if she had one.

What was this girl to me, or I to her? Yet I had the desire to see her once more, and, as luck or fate would have it, something glittering among the grass caught my eye, and, on dismounting, I found it to be a little gold locket, containing a lock of brown hair, attached to a black velvet ribbon.

Bore the initials "J. D. B." and the date, 1st June."

It had, no doubt, fallen, or been torn from the young lady's neck in the struggle of the night before. I resolved at once to restore it, and turned my horse's head towards the cottage.

Not without the unpleasant reflection that this was the 1st of April—All Fool's Day—and I might simply be courting a scrape of some kind.

Leaving my horse at the gate, I rang the bell, and the door was promptly opened by the old woman (whose face expressed such evident disappointment that I saw someone else had been expected), and whom I may as well introduce by name as Mrs. Goldsworthy.

She curtsied very low, and eyed me doubtfully, as if the words of the mess-room song occurred to her—

The scarlet coats! the scarlet coats! They are a graceless set, From shoulder-strap of worsted lace To bullion epaulette.

The deuce is in those soldiers' tongues; What specious fibs they tell! And what is worse, 'tis so perverse, The women list as well.

If such were her speculations, I remembered that the lancers were blue, and the alleged seductions of the scarlet were inapplicable to one who was in mufti.

"My dear madam," said I, in my most insinuating tone, "passing by the stile this morning, where, last night, I had the pleasure of rescuing your young lady, I found this trinket, which, perhaps, belongs to her?"

"It do, indeed sir, it do. Lawkamery! she has well nigh cried her poor eyes out about it, the dear soul! Ah, me, don't you hear her a coughing now!" said the worthy woman, sinking her voice.

"Ow appy she will be to get it back again! ay, main appy! For whether it was lost by the seashore, or in the fields, or whether the thief had taken it, she never could ha' guessed by no means. Oh, sir, 'ow she would be thankful' you!"

"I hope she has not suffered from her alarm last night?"

"No, sir," said the woman, eying me earnestly through a great pair of spectacles, which she carefully wiped with her apron, and put on for that purpose; "but she do have such a terrible cough, poor thing! Please sir, just wait a minute."

She hurried away, and returning almost immediately, invited me to enter saying—

"My young missus will see you, Mr. Hossifer."

I was ushered into a prettily-papered and airy little parlour, the open windows of which looked seaward over the green fields. Another bird in a gilt wire cage hung chirping at the opposite, where the spotless white muslin swayed to and fro in the soft breeze of the April morning.

Everything was scrupulously neat and clean, though plain. There were a number of books, chiefly novels on the side-table; a few landscapes in water-color, in gilt frames, evinced the taste of the proprietor; an open workbook of elegant design stood on the centre table and very tiny kid gloves with a few shrews of ribbon, showed that a worker had recently been busy there.

On the wall a garland of artificial flowers encircled the miniature of a lovely little golden-haired boy, whose face, somehow seemed familiar to me.

On a small pianette, which was open lay a pile of music. The two upper pieces were "La Forza del Destino," and "La Pluie de Perles," which were inscribed "To Agnes. From her dear Papa."

Everything bespoke the presence of a neat, brisk, and tidy female resident of elegant tastes; but in one corner I detected a cavalry forage cap, pretty well worn, and on the end of the mantelpiece, where it had evidently eluded Mrs. Goldsworthy's duster, the faded of a cigar.

I had just made this alarming discovery when my friend of the last evening entered, and frankly presented me with her hand, half-smiling, and thanking me for the locket, which she at once proceeded to suspend at her neck, saying, as she kissed and hid it in her bosom that for worlds she would not have lost it!

Unghed now, I could perceive the delicate beauty of her small hands, and moreover, that on the third finger of the left hand there was no marriage ring.

Her face was very pale, but singularly beautiful, and her tightly-fitted dress revealed the full symmetry of her arms, waist, and bosom. Her eyes expressed extreme gentleness, and sadness, and consorted well with the delicacy of her pure complexion. The extreme redness of her lips seemed rather unnatural, or at least unhealthy; but she coughed frequently, and the consumption, under which I greatly feared she was labouring, made her delicate loveliness still more alluring, and the earnest and searching gaze of her dark eyes more interesting and touching.

The common phrases incident to first introductions and everyday conversations were rapidly despatched, and, while I lingered, hat and whip in hand, I repeated that, but for the purpose of returning her locket, I, as a total stranger, would not have ventured to intrude upon a lady. I begged to be assured of that.

"Be certain, sir," said she, nervously smoothing the braids of her rich, thick hair, and adjusting the neat white collar that enriched her delicate throat, and edged the neck of her plain grey dress; "be certain that it is no intrusion, but a great kindness, though I do live here almost alone, and—and—"

She paused, and coloured deeply.

"You were anxious about letters last night. I hope this morning has relieved your mind?"

"Alas, no, sir," said she, shaking her pretty head sadly. "The postman has always letters for every one but me. I have been forgotten by those who should have remembered me."

"I can fully share your feelings," said I, with a made-up smile. "I, too, am most anxious for letters that seem never likely to come."

"I am sorry to hear this; but I thought that you gay young men of the world had no sorrows—no troubles, save your debts, and your occasional headaches in the morning; the first to be cured by post-obits, and the second by brandy and seltzer-water."

"Is such your idea?" said I, smiling.

"Yes."

"Well, I have other and more heartfelt sorrows than these."

"How often have I wished that I were a man—a strong one to fight with the world in all its wiles and strength; to wrestle and rattle with it, and to feel that I was powerful, great—greater than even destiny—instead of being the poor and feeble thing I am! Then could I show mankind—"

What she was about to say I know not. Her eyes were sparkling, and her cheek flushing as she spoke; but a violent fit of coughing came on. She put her handkerchief to her lips, and when she took it away it was stained with blood.

"Permit me," said I, with kindness, and handed her to a chair.

This access of coughing so promptly brought Mrs. Goldsworthy in that I think she must have been listening outside the door. Her caresses and care soothed the young lady, though she lapsed into a flood of nervous tears, and, for a minute or so, withdrew.

"Your mistress seems extremely delicate?" I observed.

"Yes, poor thing! She will never again be the girl she was."

"Are you, may I ask, her mother?"

"Her mother? Lawkamery, no! I ain't worthy to be more than what I am."

"And what is that, my friend?"

"Her servant, poor angel! Her mother is, I am sure, in Heaven."

"Pardon me. I remember that she told me last night that she was an orphan."

"Ay, poor child, a orphan indeed—a orphan of the 'eart," she added, shaking her head, as she became unintentionally poetic.

"I fear my visit excites you," said I, moving towards the door, as the young girl reappeared, and seemed to have quite recovered her composure.

"Your cough requires the greatest care, and those open windows—"

"Oh, I should die without air," she exclaimed, while her eyes sparkled; "for there are times when even my own thoughts seem to stifle me."

"La, miss!" said her attendant, warningly, and glancing impatiently at me.

"A strange girl," thought I: "but can she be subject to flights of fancy—insane?"

"If I can at any time be of service pray command me, though we shall not be long in Britain now, as we soon start for the Crimean."

"Very soon?" she asked, with her eyes and voice full of earnest inquiry.

"I cannot say exactly when; but soon, certainly."

She pressed her left hand upon her breast, as if to restrain her cough, and cast down her eyelashes. At that moment she seemed remarkably bewitchingly, soft, modest, and Madonna-like.

I was again about to go, and yet stayed, for I longed to learn, at least, her name.

"And you go cheerfully forth to face danger and death?" she asked, looking with a mournful smile in her pleading eyes.

"Not cheerfully, for my path is not without its thorns; but for all that I don't dread death, I hope."

"Death!" she said, musingly, as if to herself, while looking at the blood spot on her handkerchief. "Daily I feel myself face to face with him, and shall bid him welcome when he comes nearer, for death has no terrors for me!"

"Don't 'ee talk so, darling," said her follower, with a mixture of sorrow and irritation in her manner; "though he you weeps for is had 'un at 'art and I know it."

"Oh, don't break mine by saying so nurse."

"I trust that you only fancy yourself worse than you really are," said I, with genuine sympathy in my tone and manner. "Remember, the long and sweet season of summer is before us. You are so young, and life must still be full of hope to you."

"Hope! oh, no, not of hope! My destiny has already been fulfilled!" she replied, with a strong bitterness of manner; "so hope has done with me."

"Pardon me; but may I ask your name—I told you mine," said I, laying my hand on hers.

"She coloured deeply, almost painfully. It was but the hectic flush of a moment, and when it passed away she became pale as marble."

"Captain Norcliff, I think you said? To be Continued"

IF YOUR CHILDREN ARE DELICATE OR FRAIL under-size or under-weight remember—Scott's Emulsion is nature's grandest growing-food; it strengthens their bones, makes healthy blood and promotes sturdy growth.

THE RED CROSS IS YOUR TRUSTED AGENT FOR GOOD —HELP IT NOW.

Mary Roberts Rinehart, who was at the front in 1915, in "Kings, Queens and Pawns," says: "The Red Cross is the wounded soldiers' last defence.... It is greater than cannon, greater than hate, greater than vengeance. It triumphs over wrath as good triumphs over evil. Direct descendant of the Cross of the Christian faith, it carries on to every battlefield the words of the Man of Peace: "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy."

The only haven in this black picture of war as I have seen it, as it has touched me, has been the scarlet of the Red Cross. To a faith that the terrible scenes at the front had almost destroyed, came every now and then again the flash of the emblem of mercy. Hope then, was not dead. There were hands to soothe and labor, as well as hands to kill. There was still brotherly love in the world. There was a courage that was not of hate. There was a patience that was not a lying in wait. There was a flag that was not of one nation, but of all the world; a flag that needed no recruiting station for the ranks it led were always full to overflowing; a flag that stood between the wounded soldier and death; that knew no defeat but surrender to the will of the God of Battles." Isaac F. Marcossou, whose "Personalities Along the Highroad of War," in the May number of the Red Cross makes very interesting reading, has probably seen more of the war than any other American, having made five trips to Europe since 1914. His tribute to the Red Cross is well worth quoting. He says "The stay-at-home American cannot realize what the Red Cross means in this war. Just as it is the world's most colossal struggle, enlisting more millions and creating a wider havoc than any other war, so are the demands for mercy greater than ever before. Without the Red Cross this war could not be waged; certainly it cannot be won. I have been with six armies on half a dozen fronts. Wherever I have gone the Red Cross has been in the thick of battle—first to aid, last to rest. It needs every dollar that can be raised for it; every bit of loyalty that can be mustered. No money expended in the war repays so rich a harvest of gratitude and service. The Red Cross is succor and sustenance. It is the Supreme Antidote."

I cannot do better than close with the words of Annie Fellows Johnston: "Oh, who shall staunch such world-wide woe— Such universe of pain? And who has oil and wine enough? And must they cry in vain? Nay! On the road to Jericho There be a million now, Who bear Christ's pity in their hearts, His sign upon their brow. And millions more shall follow them To bind and to restore. Till all the highway is made safe And war shall be no more. Now God give grace to all who bear, And may his love suffice To blaze upon each heart today The Cross of Sacrifice." —R. T. G. in Manchester Cricket.

NEAR SHAVE. Miss Ina Ficks flounced up to the glove-trotter, who was surrounded by an admiring crowd eager to hear his adventures. "Ha, is it true, Mr. Trotter, that you were once captured by cannibals?" she gushed. "Quite true, my dear young lady. I was once on the bill of fare for a wedding feast," answered Trotter. "Oh, help! How did you escape?" "Well you see, the young lady broke off the engagement."

HUN BARBARISM.

(Written for the Light by B.B.Fox of Yarmouth returned Soldier.)

Once more we are brought face to face with Hun barbarism, in the torpedoing and sinking of the Canadian hospitalship Llandovery Castle. To those who know the enemy the deed is not a surprise, but to many who have of late expressed sympathy for the Germans and Austrians, and who are clamoring for a compromised peace, the awful sea tragedy, in which hundreds of Red Cross workers were pursuing their acts of mercy were ruthlessly murdered, it will surely show the impossibility of civilized nations sitting at the round table discussing peace with such barbarians.

Reprisals are demanded by the enraged citizens throughout the allied countries. Patience now has reached the stage where it fails to be a virtue. In our air reprisals for attacks on undefended towns in England and France, the enemy has been forced to squeal. No act performed by the Allies since the war began, has had a greater effect on the morals of the German people than has the recent bombing of the Rhine towns. The mad enemy has destroyed hospitals as well as the ships that convoy the wounded from the scene of battle. We have protested, but what is the use of protesting or trying to reason with a race of people who send their men into action drugged with ether; while we are protesting he continues to murder. Action of the most drastic nature is needed.

We have the air fleet, the airmen, and the bombs; all that is needed is the order, and everything under the German flay will be bombed. If one of our hospitals is destroyed, ten of the enemy's should meet the same fate. For every woman or child murdered by Hun airmen, ten should receive the same in German towns and cities. It is hard for British or any of the Allies to resort to this method but it appears to be the only way. The German nation is mad. It is blood-thirsty mad. Its object is to murder and destroy. No protests or argument have any results. He laughs at us for protesting, thinking we are alarmed, and weakening. Why waste further time? The way is clear; that it will break the spirit of the Hun is proven already by the few attacks on their towns and cities. Let us fight the devil with his own weapons.

In the sinking of the Llandovery Castle several personal friends are among the missing. Nursing sister M.E. MacKenzie was in charge of the ward in the Ontario Military Hospital, at Orpington, Kent, in which I was placed during the last surgical operation I underwent while in the Army. For her, all the patriots who were fortunate enough to go through her ward, have nothing but good to say. As with all the brave girls who have given up the comforts of home, the associations of loved ones, she entered the service to render aid to the wounded and to comfort the suffering, and the dying. For this great sacrifice in the cause of humanity, the Hun ruthlessly murders here. Sister McLean is another of the Canadian heroines who is classed as missing. While in hospital in France I met this Sister as she performed her deeds of mercy; taking charge of the mangled humans as they were brought in from the line. Sister McLean tenderly and skillfully dressed the wounds and comforted the sufferers.

Thus it is that after one has personally watched these brave girls perform their acts of mercy, and has been comforted and nursed back to health and strength by their skillful care and treatment, that we urge, yea demand, retaliation as revenge for so brutal a murder—Yarmouth Light.

ROADWORK.

Mr. R. J. Bethune, Guysboro superintendent under the new road commission for Guysboro Co., started road work the last week in June from the Canso boundary line working towards Queensport Bridge. Mr. Rogers of Salmon River is for man with Charles McDougall in charge of the road line. The gang of men at work are all experienced road makers and are doing excellent work which is highly spoken of. Satisfactory wages are being paid and the result is cheerful and willing work. Mr. Rogers expresses considerable satisfaction with the fine team work of the four span horses engaged. The Canso road commissioners engaged the services of Mr. Rogers and his men for two days machine work on the Town district and were quite satisfied with the work performed. Unfortunately rainy weather entered as an undesirable factor. It is the intention to finish the work with a split log drag.

It may be well to explain that the road work this year under the new commission is not to be the work of the future. It was found impossible to advance the plans and finance the undertaking for permanent road building this year and the work in hand at present is merely repair work to tide us over until next season when it is hoped a proper money grant will be available for the larger undertaking. The intention is to widen the road with 18 feet of a crown on the highway from Hazel Hill to Guysboro. It would be a very wise plan if section men could be appointed to keep the main road in condition from now on until next season and conserve the work done as far as possible. With the appointment of Section men one of the main difficulties of road upkeep will be solved and not until then. The work of hauling gravel could be undertaken late in the fall this year, say from Fox Island Beach with a pit off the main road ready for distribution East and West as soon as operations start in the spring. A motor tractor would be an ideal distributor and do valuable work at a minimum cost.

TO KEEP OUT THE FLIES.

Any odor pleasing to man is offensive to the fly and vice versa, and will drive them away. Take five cents' worth of oil of lavender, mix it with the same quantity of water, put it in a common glass atomizer and spray it around the rooms where flies are. In the dining room spray it lavishly even on the table linen. The odor is very disagreeable to flies but refreshing to most people.

Germanium, mignonette, heliotrope and white clover are offensive to flies. They especially dislike the odor of honeysuckle and hop blossoms.

According to the French scientist flies have intense hatred for the color blue. Rooms decorated in blue will help to keep out the flies.

To clear the house of flies, burn pyrethrum powder. This stupefies them but they must be swept up and burned. My brother wrote me about a dinner some of the soldiers gave for two visitors at camp, members of a famous Canadian regiment, who were home on sick leave.

The sergeant had been carefully coached about giving the toast, but became flustered, and this is what he made of it: "Here's to the gallant Eighth, last on the field and the first to leave it." Silence reigned then the corporal came gallantly to the rescue: "Gentlemen, he began "You must excuse the sergeant, he never could give a toast decently; he isn't used to public speaking. Now I'll give a toast: Here's to the gallant Eighth, equal to none."

CREW OF TORPEDOED SHIP LANDED AT CANSO.

As can be well imagined excitement was occasioned on Wednesday morning, 17th inst, when it became known that some twenty-two men, the crew of a Norwegian ship, which had been torpedoed had landed during the night at Cranberry Lighthouse. Harry Hawes brought Capt. Nyhus ashore that he might communicate with the Norwegian Consul at Halifax. Later in the day two large lifeboats under sail with the Norwegian flag flying came up the harbor with the crew and landed at Whitman's wharf. The men could speak good English and seemed no worse for their journey of two or three hundred miles in the open boats. On instructions from the Norwegian Consul at Halifax A. N. Whitman & Son Ltd. forwarded the shipwrecked crew to Halifax the following morning.

Briefly the story of the torpedoed ship "Marosa" as told by Capt. Nyhus is as follows: On Sunday afternoon, 7th inst, while about seven hundred miles off the United States coast bound from Newport News to Buenos Ayres with coal, the ship sighted a submarine about three miles off throwing shells at the "Marosa." Capt. Nyhus braced his ship and waited for the submarine to come aboard but shells continued to land in the water about the "Marosa" until the crew thought it wise to launch their boats and pulled up to the submarine. After examining Capt. Nyhus's papers and getting what information he could the German Captain (speaking good English) told Capt. Nyhus that his ship would have to be sunk, but gave him and his crew twenty minutes to take what provisions and personal effects they needed. Capt. Nyhus saw the German take aboard of his ship a bag of bombs with which to blow her up but did not wait to see the operation. Capt. Nyhus and his crew pushed off on the boundless ocean and soon lost sight of the ship and the submarine. On the following Thursday the shipwrecked crew were picked up by another sailing ship engaged in the same trade as the "Marosa" on which they remained until Sunday 14th inst. Leaving the rescue ship they set sail for Canso, covering a distance with open boats of two or three hundred miles.

The men did not complain, and suffered no hardships, being well provisioned and watered. This is the second ship Capt. Nyhus has lost in a similar manner. About one year ago his ship was torpedoed off the Irish Coast.

INCREASE OF 250 PER CENT IN GREAT BRITAIN'S FLEET.

Upon the fourth anniversary of Great Britain's entry into the war, the Secretary of the British Admiralty makes public figures and facts which throw an encouraging light upon the naval situation of the Allies.

The British Navy, apart from the American forces which form an integral part of its fighting strength, consists at the present time of warships and auxiliaries craft whose total displacement reaches 6,500,000 tons, against 2,500,000 in August 1914. During that period about three quarters of a million tons have been lost, but at the present day the growth of the fleet shows an increase of 260 per cent.

Similarly with the personnel. The original 148,000 officers and men have grown to 394,000.

LETTER FROM FLIGHT CAPTAIN ELLIS ANTHONY OF SELMA, N. S.

July 15 1918. R.A.F. Aerodrome, Guston Rd., Dover, Kent, England.

Dear Father: Received a letter from you today, glad to hear you are all well at home, it has been dull weather yesterday and today.

I had quite an experience on last Saturday; I left to escort a convoy of ships at six p. m., about forty miles down the channel at seven thirty my engine went bad, as I was not high enough to glide to land, I dropped in the water, about six miles from land. When we hit the water I went all under as I was strapped in the front seat. I got my belt undone quickly, and managed to get out all right; was not hurt, only a slight scratch on my face. I climbed up on top of the machine; I had my observer with me, he was also O.K. except for a sprained wrist. In ten minutes time a trawler came alongside and took us off, not too soon as the machine sank five minutes after we got off. We were all right once aboard the trawler; they fixed us up with dry clothes, and gave us hot tea. After staying on board for an hour, another trawler came alongside, and took us to Dover, where we arrived at one o'clock there was a car waiting for us, when we got in. I do not feel any worse, except that I have quite a cold. It was my Observer's first trip with me, rather exciting for the first time, hope you are all well at home, love to all.

Your son, ELLIS.

PEGGY AND HER MA.

"Summer is certainly upon us with 'veniges,' said Ma. "It isn't the heat that I mind so much, it's the stupidity." "It infects me that way, too," said Peggy. "But our mornings and evenings have been quite cool. In fact, some of them have been almost frigate. Ma I do wish to goodness you wouldn't masticulate with your hands when you talk. People are liable to mistake it for a sign of poor breathing. They'll think your proper bringing-up was sadly elected." "Well, of all the imprudents?" exclaimed Ma. "The idea of you calling your mother to flass for camphorizing her remarks with digesture! You leave this room this instant, before I lose my temper and do something rasp." "Oh Ma," said Peggy, "I'm sorry I didn't mean to defend you. I didn't think how it would sound. Will you pardon me this time?" "Why, of course, my child," said Ma. "A tongue of a slipper is on fault of mine, as they say."
