Love a Conqueror

WEDDED AT LAST!

CHAPTER XI.

When he returned, Alice held out her hand to him to button one of her long gloves, and while he was bending over her wrist there was a soft rustle of silk on the stairs, and the patter of tiny high-heeled shoes.

"Here is Shirley," said Alice suddenly. "She does not look as if she were wearing the willow! Poor Major Stuart!"

She was coming down slowly, fastening her gloves as she came, her eyes fixed on the little buttons, the long silk folds of her dress making a soft "swish" as they swept over the crimson carpet. Perhaps it was due to his having to stoop over Miss Fairholme's wrist that Sir Hugh's face flushed so darkly as he lifted his head, but the next moment, as he turned his eyes upon Shirley, his face was white as death, while it was with difficulty that he repressed the sudden passionate exclamation of admiration and love which rose to his lips.

Alice Fairholme caught the swift gleam of longing which flashed into his blue eyes; and for a moment they both stood watching her silently as she came. Hugh Glynn never forgot, even in the changes and miseries of the future, how she looked then. It was the last time he ever saw her smiling and serene.

She was dressed in white: long spotted folds of lustrous gleaming silk fell straight and shimmering round her, cut square upon her shoulders, where they were finished off with some soft old lace. There was not a touch of color anywhere, save in the vivid carmine of her lips; nor had she any jewellery. Her arms were bare above the elbow, and she carried a fan of carved mother-of-pearl and satin and Brussels lace which had been Guy's gift.

Years after, Sir Hugh Glynn could have given every detail of the girl's dress, which seemed stamped indelibly upon his recollection. Never had she looked more lovely. Regret that Guy was not present to see her in her "silk attire" made her hazel eyes somewhat wistful and sorrowful, but the story her mirror had told her had made her carry her pretty head haughtily erect and there was a little triumph brightening her beautiful eyes. And, as he looked upon her, Sir Hugh Glynn's heart beat high with passion and longing and love and the last remnants of resistance under temptation fell away from him, and the tempter conquered.

"You might be wearing your wedding dress, Shirley," said Alice carelessly; and at the heedless words the color rose, swift and scarlet to Shirley's face, and Sir Hugh smiled to his lips.

Also keep it at home. A lunch in a minute. In Lunch Tablet form, also, ready to eat. Convenient—nutritious.

"Oh, thank you! Yes, I think I may indulge myself with five minutes longer quiet," she said, and took the letter from his hand. "Will you allow me?" she continued, smiling slightly, and Sir Hugh bowed a quiet acquiescence.

He had turned away from her as she opened the letter. The sight of her sitting there in her loveliness made the remorse which he could not quite cast away from him sting almost as keenly as Guy Stuart's trust had done. She was so fair and gentle, she was so compassionate for his pain, that he might have had compassion upon her.

A slight cry, faint, terrified, anguish-stricken, made him turn quickly. Shirley had risen, white as death, and trembling in every limb, was looking with fixed staring eyes at her brother's letter.

"Good Heaven, what is the matter? Are you ill?" he exclaimed, going to her side, and regarding her with intense anxiety. "Shirley, let me get you something—let me call—"

He was hastening from her side, when her voice—her voice yet so unlike Shirley's sweet even tones in its broken hoarseness—arrested him.

"Get me nothing! Call no one!" she said faintly. "Let no one come—"

He went to the door, locked it and came back to her again. She seemed dazed and bewildered as she looked at him; the horror of some great trouble was upon her face, over which had stolen an ashen-gray tint which robbed it of its brightness and beauty and started him greatly, while her eyes looked up at him full of a bewildered pain pitiful to see.

"My child, my poor child, what has happened? What is the matter?" he said, gently, only anxious now to soothe her; and at the anxiety and tenderness in his voice Shirley's composure failed. She sank upon the seat from which she had arisen, and burst into a passion of tears, bowing her head in helpless anguish upon the arm of her chair.

Patently, but with the same intense anxiety on his face, Sir Hugh waited; then, as the heavy sobs ceased, he said gently—"What is it, Shirley? Your brother is he ill?"

"No, Oh, Jack—oh Jack!" "He is not ill? Then there is nothing which need distress you like this," said Sir Hugh very tenderly. "Tell me what it is, my child, and let me help you."

"But—but—" "But what?" he asked, soothingly. "Don't let any fancied scruple prevent you, Shirley. You know that if I can do anything I shall be only too glad. Tell me, dear—what is it?"

She was lying back in the chair now, pale and exhausted, her lips quivering and great tears still resting on her long lashes; she looked up at him pitiously and shook her head with a weary little gesture of denial.

"Will you not tell me, Shirley? Remember Guy left you in my care. How can I fulfill my trust unless you confide in me?" he said softly. "Forget all my folly, and remember only that he told you when he was leaving you, if anything went wrong to come to me as frankly as you would go to him; Shirley," he added, in earnest entreaty, "let me do what Guy would do if he were here now."

Two harvies one tall and the other very short, were working side by side in an excavation when the foreman told the tall man that he was not doing his share.

"Well, suv'nor," said the man, "you don't expect me to do so much as my mate, do yer? He's much closer to the ground than I am!"

Bishopric Wall Board.

BEATS LATHS AND PLASTER.

MADE TO LAST.

Bishopric Wall Board is made by imbedding kiln-dried dressed lath in hot Asphalt-Mastic, under a pressure of 500 lbs. to the square inch. The other side of the Asphalt-Mastic is surfaced with smooth, heavy sized cardboard.

COSTS LESS.

Bishopric Wall Board saves 75 per cent. of the labor cost and about a month's time in finishing walls and ceilings. With it there is none of that expense for repairs and re-decorating that you incur so often when plaster cracks or falls.

DRYER AND WARMER.

The layer of Asphalt-Mastic in which the laths are embedded is absolutely air-tight and damp-proof. It blocks all drafts, and keeps the inside of the house dry, warm and cosy.

RAT AND VERMIN PROOF.

These pests find it impossible to gnaw or bore through the tough, gummy Asphalt-Mastic.

EASILY DECORATED.

Bishopric Wall Board is surfaced with heavy sized cardboard, which forms the ideal surface for Wall Paper or Burlap. Artistic paneling adds to its attractiveness.

THE ONLY WALL BOARD MADE WITH LATH

Laths are positively necessary to back up wall board and Bishopric is the only Wall Board that has them. They make it rigid and substantial and prevent it from working, cracking or pulling away at the joints.

INVESTIGATE.

Whether you intend to build or remodel, don't overlook this opportunity to get a better house—at lower cost—in less time—by using Bishopric Wall Board. Ask your dealer for information. Write or phone for sample and descriptive circulars to G. I. ANDERSON, AGENT.

You and I.

(A Retrospection.)
We've seen some lovely spots of earth together.
You and I—
The field of corn; of purple heather.
Wheat and rye—
The storied greatness of historic lands
Surcharged with memories born of warrior hands!

We've view'd the restless ocean's anger.
You and I—
And half'd the goal, by faithful ship to reach!
The flaming beacon on the sea-dash'd beach—
The crowded city's tumult loud and high—
And voices cheering as the ship went by!

We've travers'd far-fame'd Fame and Forum.
You and I—
With sculpture laden! stood in ancient dreams!
The fire-flies glancing where the flex gleams.
'Neath untold glories of a Southern sky!

We've heard some thrilling music.
You and I—
And sweet-toned bells from ancient turret high!
As deep as those from lovely Shandon flung
O'er Lee's fair waters! As the poet sung.*

We've seen some gorgeous glowing sunsets.
You and I—
Clouds turn'd to crimson, purple, amber gold!
As 'bove the "Hills" they piled their glories high!
And eyes with ours that watch'd
Have long grown cold!

We've stood aside and ponder'd.
You and I—
Which were the fairest? Land of burnish'd Dome
And bellied steeple soaring to the sky!
Then turn'd with yearning fondness, misty eye
To one dear land! Our little island HOME!

At the City Hall.

The weekly session of the City Council was held yesterday afternoon. At the opening Mayor Ellis and the Councillors expressed their regret over the critical illness of the Secretary, Mr. J. L. Slattery.

Rev. Bro. Ennis's request for a new water service for Mount Cashel will be considered at a special meeting.

Mr. J. B. Sclater was appointed arbitrator by the Council re land taken from St. Michael's Convent.

Permission was granted Parker & Monroe to erect porch to factory on Alexander Street.

E. Leo Carter, solicitor, on behalf of J. McDonald, asked permission to use a stable on Casey Street for a forge. Referred to Engineer.

A Mercer, McKay Street, said his house was continually being flooded after rain storms. Referred to Engineer.

J. R. Johnston submitted plans of house for W. Moore. Deferred.

The Public Health Officer recommended the erection of a stable in William Street by W. Simmonds.

On motion of Councillor Ryan it was ordered that the sanitary men postpone for two hours later than usual on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve their usual rounds.

The meeting then closed.

Anniversary Services.

To-morrow evening there will be anniversary services held at the King George the Fifth Seamen's Institute. Manager Jones will give an illustrated lecture. The lantern slides are the best yet as they include excellent views of Canterbury Cathedral, some of which have never been seen here before.

LAST NIGHT'S ARRESTS.—Six arrests were made last night for inebriation. They were dealt with this morning.

COMPLAIN OF DISORDERLIES.—Several disorderlies congregated nightly at the junction of Cookstown and Freshwater Roads and create disturbances, much to the annoyance of residents of that vicinity, who request that an officer be placed on that beat.

CARGO OF HERRING.—The Stella cleared from Bonne Bay yesterday, taking 1,602 barrels of herring to Gloucester for W. H. Jordan.

"We Would Talk About It."

By RUTH CAMERON.

In a certain household which I know, the head of the house has a way of settling all discussions in which his wife takes a view different from his own by saying "I m l y. We won't talk about it."

"We won't talk about it."— we won't compare our views; we won't try to understand each other's ideas; we won't try to compromise our diverse desires; my will must be law and you can't even try to make me understand how you feel—that, in effect, is what he is saying.

In another household the man takes a superficially different but essentially similar tact. He meets all his wife's attempts to make him see her point of view in the following manner. His wife asks him to go out with her one evening a week; she tells him she thinks it is good for both of them to mix with people at least that night. "Very well," he says, "I'll come home and get into my dress suit every night and trail around with you until midnight, but don't expect me to get ahead at the office when that's the kind of preparation I have for my day's work."

I can't think of any type of man I should be less willing to marry than the one these two represent. Of all the qualities which are needed to make married life happy, it seems to me the quality which these men lack stands near the head of the list, and that quality is reasonableness.

Reasonableness is not a showy quality; it does not look particularly well in print; it does not seem like a quality the Prince Charming would need to have. But believe me, you who wait for the Prince, no prince would long be charming without it—at least not after you were married to him.

The happiest married couple, if they be people of any individuality at all, must find many subjects on which they have opposite views. They have been brought up under different conditions, they have a different heritage, and it stands to reason that they will not think alike on every point.

Now, this unavoidable difference may bring unhappiness or it may not. That depends largely on whether the two parties are equipped with the quality of reasonableness. Is each one ready to lay prejudice aside and put himself in the other's place and try to get his viewpoint? If either or both of them are incapable of doing this, or unwilling to do it, the marriage is a risky business. The bond itself may endure but the love here is a present passion for selfishness, jealousy, quick temper, in short with almost any quality, buter than with unreasonableness.

A sense of humor and a sense of reason and justice are not at all romantic qualities, but they make a mighty good basis for a happy marriage.

Ruth Cameron

Fashions and Fads.

The most fashionable coats for children are cut along Russian lines, having the long or dropped waist line, with belts of crushed velvet or plain velvet.

There are times when the small hat which is unrivaled in popularity, cannot be worn. The picturesque hat demands a picture hat of corresponding beauty.

Amongst the winter fashions, black heifion, velvet and velours souple in dark shades of taupe, elegant gray, mordore, seal brown and dark current red are immensely popular.

Coffures for evening are decidedly oriental, being close-fitting jeweled caps or fllets of jewels, which are single strands of brilliants or pearls worn low over the forehead.

Black velvet hats have created a great furor, and they are made in many styles, mostly small and close fitting, while wing bows, stiff and originally shaped, plume fantasies and paradise feathers are among prominent trimmings.

Everywhere we see ropes of brilliants and pearls employed as shoulder straps as corage decorations or sweeping along one side, looped over a pannier or flowing free from the waist, sometimes caught up in a festoon style, with jeweled ornament.

Short coats almost in bolero smartness are worn side by side with long three-quarter coats, having basques displaying hip pleats.

The newest evening gowns have the corsage cut very low in the front, and show a V in the back, which reaches almost to the waist line.

A new street coat has a panel inserted down the middle of the back, which is cut six inches longer than the sides, hanging like a sash to the knees.

Pat was the servant of a farmer, and in his charge was a donkey, which was kept to amuse his employer's children. The donkey was following the farmer's wife round the yard one day, and the farmer, turning to Pat said:—

"I think that donkey is taking a liking to my wife."

"Och," said Pat, "sure, and it's not the first donkey that's took a liking to her, sir."

Woman Arrested at Railway Station.

A young woman, who arrived in the city from Gambo, recently, was arrested at the railway station just before the departure of yesterday evening's train, on a charge of breaking open a trunk at a residence in the West End, and stealing therefrom the sum of ten dollars. She was about to leave for Broad Cove by the train, and had her trunk, which had lain in the baggage room since her arrival, checked for that place. Just before the train pulled out, a man came on the scene and pointed her out to two officers who arrested her and took her to the police station. On the way down she wanted to hand over the money to the officers.

Evening Telegram

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor
W. F. LLOYD, Editor

SATURDAY, Dec. 20, 1913.

BROUGHT TO BOOK.

We are glad to have the assurance of the Daily News this morning that "whatever is done in connection with the present position of affairs in the executive and departmental offices will be strictly constitutional, and in the best interests of the country."

We take this as confirmation of the announcement we made yesterday that something would be doing shortly in reference to the two defeated Ministers.

It shows that the agitation against doing nothing in reference to these officials has borne fruit, and that the Governor's intervention brought about by the agitation, embodied eventually in resolutions passed by the Supreme Council of the F. P. U., is stirring up the Government.

A perusal of the Governor's reply to the resolutions will convince any one of this. His Excellency's decision, to exact from the Prime Minister a statement of his intentions has brought the Ministry to book.

We hope that the editor's glowing anticipation of the "strict" constitutionalism of the move is based on a sound foundation, and is not founded on "the gossip of the streets," which sets forth the preference of the Hon. John Alexander Robinson as a feature of "the air-castles of amateur cabinet-makers."

Whatever hope may be based on the feeling that the Governor has his eye on the Prime Minister, and on the feeling that they know the public have their eyes on both, it is not based on any feeling of certainty that Sir Edward Morris is inclined to do the right thing regardless of party expediency.

His course of conduct in regard to the Morrison Memorials negatives any such expectation, and this distrust is confirmed by the fact that he has done nothing for seven weeks in regard to the ministers defeated and disgraced at the polls.

The reasonable period for the Prime Minister to make up his mind what to do has already been stretched to the utmost limit, and Sir Edward Morris has kept on doing nothing for this time with an utter disregard of the best interests of the country.

That he has done nothing is clearly evidenced by the closing paragraph of His Excellency's letter. For that paragraph makes it clear that His Excellency has been constrained to come to a decision as to the limits of the reasonable time which he can permit these ministers to hold office without any assurance from the Prime Minister of his intentions.

It is an extraordinary position for a Ministry to thrust a Governor into, and shows that the Ministry is guided rather by party expediency than by an adherence to what is "strictly constitutional."

It shows how hyper-critical the editor of the Daily News can be when he blinds himself to this aspect of the case and focuses his criticisms on the bringing mere rumours about increases in the Legislative Council before the Secretary of State for the Colonies. Had such rumours about contemplated increases been objected to in the past, the objectionable increases in the Legislative Council advised by Sir Edward Morris, might have been stopped in the best interests of the country. The objectionable acts of Sir Edward Morris afford full justification for these resolutions. To wait until after the event would have been too late; and undoubtedly it has blocked Sir Edward Morris from contemplating now what he says he has not contemplated during the past several weeks. But to ask any one to believe after the attitude of the Prime Minister in regard to the Morrison Memorials that whatever he does will be "strictly constitutional, and in the best interests of the country," unless forced to do so, is to ask the public to exercise a faith not justified by the past conduct of the Prime Minister.

Reply of the Governor, SELLING OUT

To Resolutions of the Supreme Council, F. P. U., Government House, St. John's, Nfld., 16th December, 1913.

The President of the Fishermen's Protective Union of Nfld., St. John's, Sir,—In continuation of my letter dated the 6th inst., in connection with the three Resolutions passed by the Supreme Council of the Fishermen's Protective Union and handed to me by you on the 6th inst. I have the honour to communicate to you for the information of the Supreme Council the action which I have taken on the Resolutions:

(1) The three Resolutions have been forwarded to the Secretary of State.

(2) With regard to the Resolution dealing with the rumour that another increase is contemplated to the membership of the Legislative Council to provide places for two Ministers of the Crown defeated at the late General Election, the Prime Minister informs me, that in so far as the Government is aware, the rumour is absolutely without foundation. Such an increase was never contemplated by the Government.

(3) I reserve any reference to the two Resolutions which were submitted for the purpose of being transmitted to the Secretary of State, until the Secretary of State's reply has been received.

(4) As regards the Resolution addressed to myself, praying that (the offices of Minister of Justice and of Agriculture and Mines be no longer held by the present incumbents, that their successors should be appointed at once, that elections be held without delay and that failure to act with expedition will be represented as a violation of sound principle, and public right, I am guided in my reply by constitutional usage and precedents derived from the British Parliament and from the practice of all self-governing possessions, and I now enunciate the following principles:

In the case of a Minister of the Crown who has been defeated at the polls, there is no constitutional rule or precedent requiring immediate or early resignation of his office, providing, of course, that the Government of which he is a member is sustained by the country. How long he may remain without a seat is a matter of convenience. He is entitled to a reasonable time to secure election if he desires to continue in office and if the Premier and his Parliamentary party desire to retain his services. The principle is clear, that under responsible Government members of the Government and heads of departments may hold seats in the cabinet and retain their offices, provided they intend procuring seats in the Legislature, in either branch, within a reasonable time.

The term "within a reasonable time" is incapable of precise definition as the reasonable time must vary according to changing conditions. In the case of the appointment of Mr. J. R. Bennett on September 16th last to the office of the Colonial Secretary with a seat in the Executive Council, I held that his assurance that he intended to seek re-election on October 30th covered the definition of a reasonable time.

An Interrupted Snicide

CAUSES MUCH FUN.

The Crescent Picture Palace was crowded to the doors last night, and many who visited the Theatre for the first time like hundreds of others, speak highly of the show and the Palace which is an ideal movie picture theatre. The headliners: The Girl of the Branch and From Death-life, two dramas of different types, held the audience spell bound. The comedy pictures: An Interrupted Snicide, A Trim and a Shave and a Quiet Smoke, created barrels of fun and amusement, the various situations were very enjoyable. David Parks, scored a hit in his catchy song, The Parisian Ball which proved very popular with the crowd. On Monday night he has a specially selected solo which is bound to be a success. This afternoon and night the same bill as last night will be repeated. The Crescent is absolutely fire-proof and it is the intention of the management to retain its cleanliness and refinement.

Change of Programme.

At the solicitation of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Elder W. C. Young, of the Cookstown Road Church, will change the subject "Science and the Bible" announced last week for next Sunday's discourse, and substitute for it "The Cry of Peace." This movement to secure a world-wide effort in behalf of International peace at a time when, in no age of the world has there been such colossal preparation for war, is not passed by in prophetic utterance, but is unmistakably noticed and fraught with universal consequences. All seats free.

Healthy and Unhail by Lighting.

Gas, it may be said, vitiates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not viliate, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:—

Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation of air. It is for this, amongst other reasons, that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Dudley, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

Be a Sunbeam.

When the stern assessor comes to tax your warts, chaffers fret and lesser, all your household goods that's the time to fret and to throw your tile; never let the colic overcome your smile. Anyone can amble down a sunlit road, anyone can gambol when he bears no load, but the test of gameness lies in wearing grins when Fate, bringing lameness, strikes you on the shins. Whensome, strikes you on the shins, when your teeth are aching with a rumbling sound, then you should be shaking sunshine all around; that's the time to cheerle with a princely grace, while the pain immortal gallops round your face. We can all be joyous when this world presents nothing to annoy us—but the weedy gent is the one who whistles and refuse to swear when they find a thistle placed upon the chair. Here's the sawbones coming to remove your limb; let him find you humming a triumphant hymn. Growing never made us calm in hours of grief; cussing will not aid us, will not bring relief. Though the worst may face us—sorrow, sickness, pain—howls "I'll never brace us to withstand the strain."

Amsterdam.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Stwash."
Amsterdam, the metropolis of Holland, is firmly imbedded in the mud near the Zuider Zee, and rises precipitously in spots several feet above the level of the sea. It is the terminus of three railroads, a dozen steamship lines and several dozen canals, and contains over a million souls, a majority of which are woeden.

Amsterdam was first discovered in the thirteenth century and has enjoyed great vicissitudes in the last seven hundred years. In the old days, one of the principal diversions of the European tyrants was to go over into Holland and kill off Amsterdam. Whenever the city had accumulated a hundred thousand people and a good chamber of commerce some tyrant would swarm down on it and mess it up until there wouldn't be enough voters left to hold a ward caucus. Finally, the citizens adopted the plan of cutting the dykes whenever the enemy got too insufferable. After that the Amsterdammers lived in peace and dampness, developing webbed feet and an enormous maritime commerce.

Amsterdam is noted for its streets, which are deep enough to float the fattest canal boat. It has vast numbers of tall slim houses, which stand with their feet in the water and cannot be reached by book agents unless he is a good swimmer. Taxicabbing in Amsterdam is a difficult and dangerous adventure owing to the rough and turbulent cobblestone streets, but the owner of a good seaway tub can travel from ward to ward with the greatest ease. Amsterdam is noted for its quaint suburbs, which are connected with the city by electric boats, canal boats, gasoline boats, sail boats, steam boats and canoes.

Amsterdam was once famous for its painters. Van Dyke lived in Amsterdam and any Antwerpian who came up there and bragged about Rembrandt was sent home on ice. Amsterdam was also at one time the greatest banking center in Europe and a man who had a bank there was as proud about it as a member of the New York Stock Exchange. Most of the diamonds of the world now come to Amsterdam in their crude country state to be pared down and given an air of refinement.

Amsterdam is greatly beloved by tourists, because of its quaint houses with no visible means of support, its large acreage of early Dutch art and its honest, hard-working guilders, which does as much work as an American dollar, though it is only worth forty cents.

If you are troubled with any of the above, go to your druggist, get a box of Zylex, and use it faithfully. It does not matter how bad it is, or of how long standing; it does not matter that you have used a dozen other things without getting sensible relief—Zylex delights to show its power where other remedies have failed. Pauperism at low Ebb in England.

London, December 15. — Thanks to the present industrial prosperity and old age pensions, pauperism is at a lower ebb in Great Britain to-day than it has been for some years past. Early this year the total number of paupers in England and Wales was under 800,000, as compared with 950,000 four years ago. The number of paupers per 1000 of the population, which was 27 four years ago, is now less than 22. J. Herbert Lewis, Parliamentary secretary to the local government board, who gave these figures in his presidential address to the poor law conference, said there were many influences which had brought about the reduction, but he gave first place to old age pensions, which had reduced old age pauperism among the outdoor poor to a very small figure.

One of the great aims at present was that children should be removed from the poorhouses. Already something has been done in this direction, and in England and Wales for every two children in these institutions there were about five children receiving relief from the municipality while boarded out in families.

Attorney General McReynolds last night made public the details of an agreement for the reorganization of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. This will prevent litigation and dissolve the corporation under the Anti-Trust Act under which competitive conditions will be restored. The telephone service will dispose of its holdings in the Western Union Telegraph Company. Coming on the heels of the announcement the Postmaster General Bullson is seriously interested in the Government ownership of telephone lines, the action of the Department of Justice took on an official significance. Some officials went so far as to express the opinion it indicated that legislation to acquire the country's telephone business would not be pressed by the Administration in the present session. In brief, the agreement provides that the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will dispose promptly of its holdings in Western Union Telegraph Company, so that each concern shall be under a distinct management, and so that all shall be entirely independent. The Company promptly to make arrangements by which all other telephone companies in the States shall have access to its toll lines.

Mount Cashel Water Supply

At last evening's meeting of the Municipality the following communication was read concerning the extra water supply for Mount Cashel:
Mount Cashel, Dec. 18th, '13.

City Council,
St. John's.

Gentlemen.—As we are depending entirely on small wells for our water supply and having absolutely no protection in case a fire broke out in the Institution, we have decided to ask you would it be possible for us to get a connection with the City water supply, and on what conditions?

I might suggest that if you could see your way clear to furnish the necessary piping, the Brothers would undertake to obtain the right of way for the laying of the pipes, and the right of way for repairing in future. The Brothers would also do the excavating and backfilling and whatever would be necessary to complete the work.

Hoping to get a favorable reply.
Sincerely yours,
(Sgd.) J. F. ENNIS.

Peace on Earth

There can be no Peace on earth unless there is Good-will among men. The Christmas evangel goes to the root of the world's problem. All there is of sorrow and pain and evil in human life, and all there is of confusion and loss in the world of nature, has to do with the disease of the mind and the rooted sorrow of the soul. The hates and strifes that embitter everyday life, and the wars that waste the nations, are but the fruitage of that spirit which sent Cain a fugitive upon the face of the earth. Barrenness and blight are part of that barrenness which the whole creation groans and travails waiting for the deliverance which comes only when the curse of selfishness and hate is lifted from the life of man. It is for this reason the promise of Peace on earth is linked in the angel-song with Good-will among men.

Good-will among men must grow out of the good hearts which love us. It is the fruit of the spirit. "The crowd cannot cultivate it, for the way of the crowd is wild and straddling as the waves of the sea. Whosoever makes his own heart pure and true, casting out all bad will against his neighbour and nurturing desire for another's good, makes possible the fulfilment of the Christmas promise and brings nearer fruition the Peace of the world."

Good-will among men is both the soil and the seed from which alone will spring that Good-will of the nations the fruit of which will be Peace on earth. When suspicion, and hate, and greed, and all the roots of bitterness are cast out of the hearts of men, the nations will hang the trumpet in the hall of Peace and study war no more. The old-world nations are slow to learn the new code of honor that wipes out status, not in blood, but in service, and that feels not the lust for power, but the impelling of Love. But the nations must learn it, or there can be no Peace on earth. Avarice among men breeds distrust between nations. Hence comes the occasion for battalions and battle-ships. But it is still true that he who telleth the sword shall perish by the sword. The nation alone shall survive whose foundation is Truth, whose defence is Love, and the fruit of whose spirit is Peace on earth. —T. A. M.

THE GIFT.

A mother sat watching one Christmas night,
Rocking her babe by the candle light,
As she raised her eyes in the gathering gloom,
The Christ-child stood in her lowly room:
"What shall I give to thy child?" He said,
Softly caressing the sleeping head.
"Nay," said the mother, "oh - angel,
Give her whatever Thou deemest best."
"What shall I give her, oh mother mild?
Ask what thou wilt for thy little child,
Shall I kiss her brow that her eyes may shine
With a beauty that men may call divine?
Shall I kiss her lips that her words may flow
The sweetest the world may ever know?
"Nay," said the mother, "that will not stay;
Songs are forgotten and hair turns grey."
"What shall I give her?" He said again,
"Ask and thou shalt not ask in vain."
And the mother raised her eyes above,
"Oh, give her purity, truth and love!"
And the Christ-child turned to her soft and mild—
"Thou hast chosen the best for thy little child,
Be not afraid, though life be sore,
I shall be with her forevermore."

"Hark! the Christmas bells are ringing, thro' the midnight, loud and clear;
Hark! the happy voices singing, once again is Christmas near!"

The Spirit of Christmas.

BY EZRA.

THE first thought of Christmas associates it with an open heartedness: a time to feel happy and a time to make others happy; when the very essence of what life should be is awakened in us and happiness seems to depend not on our own feelings but on the well-being of others. Why should it not last the whole year through? Why not let the heart always remain open to those who need and be eager to give its love to those who are ever ready to welcome it even as the King of Love who gave Himself and became the Great Founder of the Feast we now celebrate?

The sooner this Christmas spirit is felt all the year round the sooner will hasten the day when we shall no longer need to pray to be delivered from "envy, malice, hatred and all uncharitableness."
It is a delight to know some that do carry the true spirit of Christmas with them all the time, but pity 'tis that so many people carry "their own low temperature" always about with them.
Charles Dickens thought a lot about Christmas and there is great delight in reading him at this time.
His "Christmas Carol," that dream-phantasy in which old Scrooge, a close-listed old sinner whose office was his world and whose bowels of compassion were ever shut, was shown the error of his ways and brought to honour Christmas in those feelings of brotherhood that were lacking in him before, is ever new.

You will remember him in his office that Christmas Eve. "Out upon Merry Christmas!" said he. "Much good may it do you! Much good it has ever done you!" And his nephew's simple, yet eloquent reply:
"There are many things from which I might have derived good, by which I have not profited, I daresay, Christmas among the rest. But I am sure I have always thought of Christmas time when it has come round—part from the veneration due to its sacred name and origin; a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time; the only time I know of, in the long calendar of the year, when men and women seem by one consent to open their shut-up hearts freely, and to think of people below them as if they really were fellow-passengers to the grave and not another race of creatures bound on other journeys. Therefore, Uncle, I believe it has done us good, and will do me good; and I pray God bless it!"

And that very night Scrooge's regeneration began when Ghostly visitors showed him all he might be doing in making his fellows happy. He saw the shop where he was apprenticed and the jolly time his employer gave him on Christmas Eve.
"To, ho, my boys," said Fezziwig, "no more work to-night, Christmas Eve. Dick, Christmas, wherever you are, and let's have a bit of room here!" And in came a fiddle with a music book and tuned the fifty fiddlers' keys. In came Mrs. Fezziwig, one vest smile. In came the three Miss Fezziwigs, beaming and

Just be Good.

If you need a lot of things
Such as dear old Santa brings—
Trumpets, bats, and things with springs—
Just be good.
He won't come within a mile
Of the boy who has no smile—
And is grumbling all the while—
Just be good.
If you need some whips or drums,
Or a top that "sleeps" and hums,
Every day, till Santa comes,
Just be good.
Santa never tries to see
Any bad boy's Christmas tree.
"I've no use for him," says he,
Just be good.
He would never wish a boy
To be missing fun and joy
Just to get some little toy.
No, He's fair.
Keep a manly, smiling chap
Underneath your little cap!
Then you need not care a rap—
He'll be there!
—James Rowe, in St. Nicholas.

children; wretched objects, right-fol, hideous, miserable. "They are Man's," said the spirit. "This boy is ignorant. This girl is want." Poor old Scrooge was getting it hard. He who refused to subscribe to the Poor and Destitute this very day.

Those who have not read the Christmas Carol should get it and realize the charm with which Dickens interweaves his tale with the moral, and shows in a practical and none-like way how anyone can do good; that there are many things you cannot buy with money nor is money necessary to obtain them, and in this way he does more good than all the homilies that were ever preached.

And Scrooge awoke! And best and happiest of all, Time before him was his own to make amends in! And he said, "I will honour Christmas in my heart, and try to keep it all the year," and the silly old boy hardly knew what to do with himself, he felt so light and happy. He sent a turkey to Bob Cratchit (and raised his salary also next day) as big as Tiny Tim, and when he got on the street he looked so irresistibly pleasant that three "four" good-humoured fellows said "Good morning, sir, a Merry Christmas to you!" And Scrooge said afterwards that of all the blithe sounds he had ever heard, those were the blithest in his ears.

He had no further intercourse with spirits; and it was always said of him that he knew how to keep Christmas well. If any man alive possessed that knowledge, and as Dickens says "that that he truly said of all of us, and so as Tiny Tim observed, "God Bless us Every One!"

Plenty of Room
Little Katherine was busily engaged in eating her Christmas dinner. One of the family thinking she was eating too much, said, "Remember, Katie, there is the pudding coming."
"Yes, I know," replied Katie seriously, "I'm saving my neck for that."

Edward Sheldon's Famous Play

Will be Presented Christmas Night.
"The Silent Barrier"—a splendid adaptation of Edward Sheldon's first great American dramatic success—will be staged at the Casino, Christmas Day and Night, with a most capable cast and a strong supporting company, all of whom are well and favourably known in local theatrical circles.

Christmas Night is just the festival when people like to gather at the theatre, and enjoy a bright, wholesome play, which has an interesting story and comedy of the sparkling, pleasing order. "The Silent Barrier" is put that class of show. The language is beautifully written; there are deft touches of humour, and an air of pathos pervades this tragedy of Southern ancestry until a clever wit, with a "good memory" for faces, clears up the mystery. There is love and romance in this play; thrills and laughter, and good wholesome entertainment.

The leading parts will be filled by Mr. J. J. O'Grady and Miss Murphy. Mr. J. J. Frowse will be the bluff, honest Irish American Senator, Mr. Jack Fagan will be the sympathetic Simon; Mr. J. Spears will be the villainous Clifton Noys; while we understand that the comic roles—these of a light-hearted Yankee Secretary and his fiancée—will be filled by Mr. Leo Murphy, of Bell Island, and Miss Carroll, both of whom are well known for their good work in this connection. The entire cast is capable and popular, and we feel sure the play will be an immense success.

AS THE CAMEL
is indispensable to the traveller crossing the African deserts, so also is SUNLIGHT SOAP indispensable to a careful housewife. A Camel can go for several days without drinking, but a good housewife cannot afford to let a single day pass without putting SUNLIGHT SOAP to some use. The first duty of every housewife is to economise; the duty of SUNLIGHT SOAP is to help the housewife to economise. The daily use of SUNLIGHT SOAP is practical economy. It does the most washing in the shortest time, with least labour, and with no discomfort. Use a piece in your next wash, and you will be convinced as to its value.

Mrs. Tapper Surprised.

A surprise party, which proved a most enjoyable affair, was given at Captain Robert Tapper's residence, 1119 Thirty-seventh street, last Saturday in honor of Mrs. Tapper, who leaves for Fernandina, Florida, next week to meet her husband, who is spending the winter in the South. A short address was given by Alexander J. Byrnes before a large gathering of friends. After supper dancing was indulged in. Mrs. Tapper was the recipient of a beautiful present.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. J. Condy, Mr. and Mrs. M. Powers, J. H. Renouf and Miss Rose Tapper, Alex. J. Byrnes and Miss M. Hollarian, Mr. Von Stein and Miss A. Geary, J. Martin and Miss M. Boyle, J. Kenna and Miss Alice Lilly, C. Hanson and Miss M. Gevy, Mr. Lamer and Miss Cecil Hart, C. Lee and Miss Ethel Powers, James Guffin and Miss M. Lee, C. Tombs and Miss Hannah Powers, Andrew Devn and Miss B. Elliott, E. Schafrauk and Miss Hollaren. Songs and recitations were given by Miss Cecil Hart, Miss L. Woods and James Guffin. Brooklyn, N.Y. paper.

[Messrs. Renouf, Von Stein, Kenna and Miss Alice Lilly are Newfoundlanders.—Ed.]

Rev. P. W. Browne, P. P. St. Jacques, visited Holywood and Harbour Main on Sunday last. He officiated at Holywood on Sunday and preached an eloquent and impressive sermon to the great delight of many of his old friends who heard him.

A Fine Job.

The Star of the Sea Association of Holywood have just finished a fine job in extending and improving their hall. With the addition of ante-rooms the hall has been considerably enlarged and improved. The stage, too, has been enlarged and finished with pitch-pine—all combine to make suitable accommodation for theatrical and social events. Messrs. Farby, architects, of Brigus, had charge of the work—a sufficient guarantee for a good and substantial job and they were capably assisted by local carpenters, Richard Harding, D. Boland, Aaron Lewis and Daniel Walsh. To defray the expenses of this construction work a concert was promoted by the Society at the last quarterly meeting, to take place on St. Stephen's and New Year's night. The concert, under the management of Miss Flynn, organist, is in course of preparation, and promises to be a pleasing and successful affair. Miss Flynn and her youthful troupe will exchange greetings with their patrons and present them with an entertainment that will make them feel both interested and amused. The concert will be supplemented with a dance and supper so that quite an enjoyable feast for body and mind is in store for happy patrons.

The plans for extension were drawn up by the chairman of the building committee, Mr. J. Carroll and the construction work supervised by him in a satisfactory manner.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Joseph's, by Rev. Father O'Flaherty, when Mr. Francis Lineham married to the altar Miss Mary Ellen Tupper. The bride looked charming in a suit of blue, trimmed with white with hat and veil to match. The bridesmaids were Miss Angela Lineham, Miss Sara Lineham, the groom being supported by Mr. Barnard Lineham and Mr. Augustine Davis. The bridesmaids wore blue, and looked charming. After the ceremony the party returned to their future home, John's Pond, where a wedding supper was prepared, in which fifty couples participated. The event was kept up until next day when all returned satisfied to their homes. The bride received many presents showing the esteem in which both were held by their friends. When returning home volleys of musketry and flags greeted them. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Lineham every happiness and a bright future.

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Thomas's Church at 6.30 Thursday evening, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. G. R. Godden, Rector. The contracting parties were Miss Annie Wiseman and Mr. Stanley White. The bride was neatly attired in cream voile and black beaver hat. The bridesmaids were Miss Gladys Wiseman, sister of the bride, and Miss Violet Crocker, niece of the bride. The bride entered the Church leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Cyril Wiseman. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Charles Snow. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to 23 Springdale Street, the residence of the groom, where a splendid reception was held, eighteen couples being present, which ended in the wee sma' hours of the morning. The presents received were numerous including a beautiful crest stand from Capt. J. Keen, of the s.s. Porfiria, and a handsome set of cutlery from the officers and crew of the ship.

A very pretty wedding took place at the S.A. Citadel, when Bandmaster L. Martin was united in matrimony to Miss Annie Goodwin, both of this city. The bride was supported by her sister Minnie, while the groom was ably assisted by Bandsman King. Before the ceremony commenced, a solo was sung by Bandsman King the popular singer of the corps, and was listened to with great attention. After the ceremony the party drove to their future home on Patrick St.—Com.

Annual Meeting of Hockey League.

The Hockey League met, the first time for the season, last night in the office of the President. All last year's teams were represented. On behalf of the League, President Higgins presented Messrs. J. Tobin and C. Strong with souvenir gold stick pins duplicates of those given by His Excellency the Governor recently to the referee and seven men who played against the Canadian visiting team last season. The recipients expressed their thanks for the handsome gifts.

The reports of the League for last year's work were then submitted by the Secretary-Treasurer and showed the Association to be in good healthy financial standing. The election of officers resulted in the re-election of W. J. Higgins, President, and J. M. Tobin, Sec.-Treasurer. The Crescents, Victorias, Feildians and St. Bon's, which comprised the League last year, will again take part. It was decided to correspond with the St. Francis Xavier team with reference to their proposed visit here. Messrs. W. J. Higgins, J. C. Parsons and W. Hecker were appointed to pick seven men to play against any visiting team. The season's fixtures were then drawn as follows:—

Crescents vs. Victorias.
Feildians vs. St. Bon's.
Crescents vs. Feildians.
Victorias vs. St. Bon's.
Feildians vs. Victorias.
St. Bon's vs. Crescents.

The second round will be in the same order as the first, and an interesting series of games is being looked forward to.

Vesels Overdue.

Some of our vessels are making long passages from the European shores this season. The Checkers, Captain Giddens, is due out over 50 days from Quebec, while the Banker, Captain Williams, is due in the way here from Cadix, with salt to blend with Co. The brigway, Capt. Rundle, is over 20 days left short for here and the Little Gem is now over forty days out. These vessels must have met adverse weather on the way over, as the Little Gem which arrived in port recently was 21 days on the passage.

LONDON, Dec. 19.
An Atlantic war now seems inevitable. It is stated on the authority of the Journal of Commerce that two of the most important German Companies have failed to arrive at a settlement, and that the situation has been aggravated by the Hamburg-American line deciding to reduce rates before the North Atlantic Conference of Jan. 21st, coming. British lines have notified their agents that they will be compelled reluctantly to follow suit. It is apparent that existing agreements will determine after Jan. 21st in shipping and government circles. There is an intense feeling of resentment against the Hamburg-American line, which is regarded as purposely aggressive, and in attempt to assert its world-strength. All companies are preparing to enter on a rate-cutting war, which is likely to be the most disastrous on record, and which will involve the loss of hundreds of millions of kroner (a kroner is about 20 cents.)

CHIHUAHUA, Dec. 19.
General Francisco said to-day he would be disposed to follow the suggestions of the States as to the rights of foreigners in Mexico. In conformity with this plan he named a committee to take an inventory of the property of the expelled Spaniards, and said he would indemnify such as had not actively supported the Huerta government. Villa had received through the United States Consul representations which expressed the position that the United States was assuming moral responsibility for the welfare of citizens of other nations, and would call upon Villa for a strict accounting of his acts should the rights of any foreigners be violated.

STRASSBURG, Germany, Dec. 19.
A sentence of 43 days' imprisonment was pronounced by a court-martial to-day on Lieut. Baron von Forstner, of the 99th Infantry, who was found guilty on a charge of cutting down with his sabre a lame shoemaker of Zaborn, Alsace, on Dec. 2nd. The sentence of imprisonment in the penitentiary involves loss of his commission as an officer. The prisoner argued that he acted in self-defence, but several soldiers testified that the shoemaker, whose name is Blank, was held by both arms, and was unable to move when Forstner sabred him. The prisoner has entered an appeal against the sentence.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.
While recent advices failed to carry any intimation as to the progress of negotiations to bring about a renewal of the Atlantic shipping pool, it was hoped here that the present agreement, which expires on Dec. 31st would be extended for another year, and reconstruction be satisfactorily accomplished. The existing unrest in shipping circles dates back to October 1st, when the Hamburg-American line denounced the agreement as partial to the North German Lloyd line. A rate war would involve all British and Continental lines.

EL PASO, Dec. 19.
More refugees who arrived at the border to-day, reported that the rebel leader, Villa, before he allowed their train to start for Chihuahua city exacted from Mexican families sums ranging from $1,000 to $5,000. The refugees were mostly Americans and wealthy American families, who had closed their places of business since the occupation of the city by the rebels. They said Villa permitted those who had passes to board the train, but as it was about to leave, personally appeared and ordered assessments to be made and collected.

MADRID, Dec. 19.
Premier Dato to-day presented to King Alfonso for his signature a decree involving the principle of decentralization, extending the rights of local self-government to the Spanish provinces, a measure which is generally commented on favorably.

ROME, Dec. 19.
Cardinal Sebastian Martinelli, Papal delegate to the United States from 1896 to 1902, is seriously ill. The Cardinal, who is 65 years of age, is Prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Rites.

Great Lubin Picture at the Nickel

There was a great Lubin picture at the Nickel Theatre last evening. It is two reels and entitled "The Power of Silence." It was written and produced under the direction of the well known actor Romaine Fielding, who appears in the leading role. Everybody was charmed with the picture. "The Wolf of the Sea" is a splendid story of great interest. "The Heroes" is a very funny comedy. Mr. Cameron sang "It's a funny feeling, isn't it?" The entire programme will be repeated this evening and no one should miss it.
