The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER XLVII

"I can understand those words," Leah added, musingly; "a passionate misery must be a burning pain." The dinner-bell rang, and the general offered his arm to Leah.

"We will leave these two to make friends," he said. And Basil in silence went to Hettie.

"We shall never be able to bear it," he thought. "I must retire, or she." Hettie laid her hand timidly upon his arm. He seized it with a vehement, passionate grasp—his very heart was on fire—and the next suddenly let it go.

How many hours of this torture would there be to pass? He thought. The blood ran like fire through his veins; every nerve and pulse thrilled with the sense of her presence; yet he must sit there as the happy lover of Leah, smile and talk and laugh unconcernedly.

"What, in Heaven's name, shall I do with my life," he cried to himself, "if I find one day so hard to bear?"

Hettie was excused from all effort, and her pale face was accounted for by the fact that she had been ill.

The dinner passed, and Leah was dimly conscious of something being wrong, something she did not understand. She was just a little disappointed that Sir Basil was not warmer in his manner to Hettie. He spoke to her but seldom, and it was always with averted eyes. She wondered if it were his great love for her which made him so indifferent to the charms of her sister.

The ordeal was over at last. When the two girls had left the dining-room, Sir Arthur turned with a laughing face to his companion.

"It is not of much use for you to remain here," he said. "Your heart has gone into the drawing-room, and you may as well follow it."

"That is true," assented Sir Basil. "I told you," continued the general, "what a difference it makes to have two pieces instead of one, though happy love out of his sight, he would have felt less distressed. "Better than all the world!" continued Leah. "How weak and worthless a half love is! I would sooner have hate. When Genone's love was over, her life was ended. No half love is worth having—is it, Basil?"

"Heaven knows that it is not," he said, with a great sigh. He saw the golden head move with a gesture of weariness. "How hard it must be for her to bear this!" he thought; and his mind went back to that one hour by the sea, when mad hope, love and despair had mingled. He whispered some words that comforted Leah—she was so easily made happy by him—and then he said to her: "Let us do something to amuse your sister; she looks very lonely there."

And Leah, full of regret for her momentary forgetfulness, hastened to her. The face that Hettie raised to her sister was ghostly in its pallor.

"You are ill, Hettie!" said Leah. "Oh, my dear, what is wrong? I will get a glass of water for you" and she hastened away.

"I cannot bear it, Basil," said Hettie, looking at him with miserable eyes. "I have no strength."

"Oh, my darling, I would give my life to undo it, to save you from the consequences of my fault, my wretched, miserable fault!"

"What shall we do?" asked the girl despairingly. "What will become of us? Leah loves you so. Help me to be true to her and true to myself, Basil. How can I turn traitress to the sweetest of sisters, the kindest and the dearest? I must go away; I cannot stay here!"

Was it fancy? When Leah returned with the water in her hand, it seemed to her that Sir Basil suddenly drew back from Hettie. Was it fancy? And, as she opened the door, she thought she heard the words, uttered in a soft, murmuring sigh, "I cannot bear it!" She must have been mistaken. She smiled as she thought what an absurd fancy it was.

CHAPTER XLVIII

Sir Basil's thoughts were gloomy ones as he walked home to Glen. What was he to do? This state of things could not last. Even if he could control himself, Leah was so quick that she would soon perceive what it was that was amiss with Hettie and then—well he thought it would be far easier to meet death in any shape than to meet Leah after she knew his secret. He could not witness Hettie's suffering, nor could he bear to think of Leah's despair. He could not understand the difficulties by which he was encompassed; he was like one groping in the dark. He determined that he would rest his brain and his thoughts, and then decide.

It was easier to plan than to do. No rest, no sleep came to him that night. The sisters seemed to stand on either side of his pillow—Hettie whom he worshipped, Leah who loved him. He told himself that, if this lasted much longer, she should go mad.

The morning brought him sad intelligence—a note from Leah saying that Hettie was ill, and that the doctor, for whom they had sent in all haste pronounced it a dangerous case of brain fever.

"Come over as soon as you can and comfort me, Basil. I cannot endure to think that I have found my sister only to lose her."

"If she dies, I have murdered her," he said to himself bitterly.

He went over at once and found the whole household in despair. The general met him with outstretched hand and grave face.

"Brain-fever!" he said, "Basil, what can have caused brain-fever? I cannot understand it. And she is in danger—really in danger? Poor pretty Hettie! What is to be done?"

There was no need for Sir Basil to express his sympathy. If anything could have comforted Sir Arthur in this hour of his distress, it would have been the hearty, honest, evident grief of his young companion.

"I have seen and known very little of illness," continued the general. "I can tell a case of jungle-fever, and I understand ague; but brain-fever—it is positively awful. Basil! I thought brain-fever was the result of trouble, worry, sorrow, or some great mental anxiety."

"So I have always understood," said Sir Basil; "but then you tell me she has had a troubled life."

Trees Give Milk in British Guiana.

In British Guiana and the West Indies, particularly on the banks of the River Demerara, there grows a tree known to the natives as the hyahya, which yields from its bark and pith a juice slightly richer and thicker than cow's milk. The tree is about 40 feet high and 18 inches in circumference when full grown, and the natives use its juice as we use milk, it being perfectly harmless and mixing well with water.

The Guianese have a tree—they call it kirighams—which yields a fluid in all respects like milk; while in the forests of Para grows a tree called the massenodron, which gives a milklike juice. It can be kept for an indefinite time and shows no tendency to become sour.

On the other hand, certain trees in the valleys of Aragua and in Canguana yield a similar fluid, which, when exposed to the air, begins to form into a kind of cheese which soon becomes sour.

MYSTERIOUS RUSSIA.

In Russia men are starving and starving are their wives; there are no roasts for carving when dinner time arrives. The kids in vain are calling for liver-wurst and pie; the cultures see them falling, and tear them when they die. These facts I said by reading a book just from the press; I see poor Russia bleeding, and weep in my distress. But here's a volume printed a few brief days ago; and in this book it is hinted that Russia has no war. The people, fat and hearty, have cake and pie and bread, and laugh at any smarty who says they are not fed. The yarn that Russia suffers, is reckless and unkind; it's spread abroad by dufers who have an ax to grind. They have it in for Trotsky, and Lenin's name they hate, and they are writing rotals at quite a vicious gait. I read one book and matter, in sympathetic tones, "Poor creatures in the gutter! I'll send them fifty bones!" And then I read another, and say, "I'll keep my mon; the Russian man and brother is having lots of fun." Alas for human vision! Two people look at things; one says they are elysian, and one the hammer swings.

A skirt of coarse green cheviot is worn with a sports coat of plain yellow, collared, cuffed and sashed in the green.

Optimism in Official Circles.

Government Statement May be Made Tomorrow—Disorders Continue in Belfast—British Troops Yet at Dublin—Incendiary Fires Cause Millions Loss.

OFFICIAL CIRCLES MORE OPTIMISTIC.
 The day has passed without an announcement of progress towards the crisis in the Irish situation which is rapidly passing from a more optimistic feeling to official circles late yesterday. A more optimistic feeling is reflected in the official circles late yesterday. A more optimistic feeling is reflected in the official circles late yesterday. A more optimistic feeling is reflected in the official circles late yesterday.

WHERE THE SITUATION IS MENACING.
 BELFAST, May 30. Although in the British Parliament yesterday the danger from the Republican concentration near Londonderry was emphasized, Belfast is chiefly concerned over the situation on the Fermanagh border, where the situation is menacing at three points, notably at Belleek. An artillery battery is the latest addition to the Belfast garrison.

BRITISH TROOPS BEING KEPT IN IRELAND.
 LONDON, May 30. British troops are being kept in Dublin not at the request of the Irish Provisional Government, but because the process of evacuation has been temporarily suspended, Winston Churchill, Colonial Secretary, stated in the Commons to-day. Mr. Churchill said the military no longer believe that the three British officers and privates captured at Macroom several weeks ago are alive and their relatives have been so informed. The British Government, Mr. Churchill said, had suspended delivery of all supplies to the Provisional Government since the date of the agreement reached between Michael Collins and Eamonn De Valera.

£5,000,000 LOST IN FIRES.
 BELFAST, May 30. Since the outbreak of incendiary fires 75 square miles with a loss of £5,000,000, including rural residences, have been reported. British troops were under fire to-day when the Republicans started firing across the border at Pettigo, County Donegal. Two soldiers were wounded and the fire of the Republicans was returned.

ANOTHER CUT IN RAILROAD WAGES.

CHICAGO, May 30. Another $50,000,000 slash in the yearly wages of the nation's railway employees will be announced before the end of the week, according to information printed to-day by the Chicago Herald and Examiner. The reduction will affect more than 400,000 shop craft employees, with a minimum of five cents per hour cut from the pay of each employee, the newspaper said. This action with the slicing of the wages of the maintenance of ways employees on Sunday will save the railways $100,000,000, or half the amount necessary to bring back the payroll to where it was in May, 1920.

HIT ICEBERG OFF CAPE RACE.

MONTREAL, May 30. Having disputed the right of way with a gigantic iceberg off Cape Race, the American ship Westkober is now in port with twenty plates to be replaced round her stem and starboard quarter.

GERMANY COMPLIES.

PARIS, May 30. The German reply to the Reparations Commission's demands says that the German Government will undertake, on the hypothesis that it be given another loan within suitable time, to maintain its paper circulation within the limits reached March 31, and in general comply with the conditions fixed by the Commission for a partial moratorium.

NEW RECORD.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30. Jimmy Murphy, of Los Angeles, California, the winner of the French Grand Prix in 1921, won the 500 mile automobile race at Speedway here to-day before a crowd of 125,000, winning $28,000 in prizes. His time was 5 hours 17 minutes 30 seconds, an average of 94.48 miles per hour and a world's record for the distance.

Handing the People a Gold Brick.

The remission of duties on fishery supplies to the amount of $300,000 will lighten the burden of taxation upon the majority of fishermen, especially the larger crews and planters. It is evidently a set-off against the non-guaranteeing of supplies by the Government, the experience of last season's effort showing that the scheme was not working in the form then followed, having proved a failure. The worst feature of this action is that the amount remitted will have to be made up in some way—the taxing of other articles, necessary or otherwise, to make up the apparent shortage. One of the items in the list of that of rubber boots, which of late years have become a supposed necessity to the fishermen. There is some doubt as to whether rubber boots are to be preferred to the old-time serviceable long leather boot, and while the former are very useful to the user while engaged at trap-hauling, etc., there are many who condemn the general use of that footwear. Besides there is the labour side of the question. Most of the selling price goes to the manufacturers of rubber boots and is a direct loss to our people. The making of the leather article provides work for our shoe factory employees, and the introduction of the rubber article has practically killed the manufacture of the leather boots for the fisherman's use. Some of our local factories made a specialty of that class of footwear but of recent years that work has more or less been abandoned. We believe in a limited protective policy, and in this matter of the encouragement of the use of the rubber boot, local leather is a sufferer—in the manufacture of the leather as well as the boot. The present reduction in the duty of fishery supplies is doubtless a tentative measure until the tariff revision shall be completed and the whole subject of taxation considered.—H. R. Grace Standard.

ADJOURNED TILL THURSDAY.

The House of Assembly, which held a short session on Monday, adjourned till tomorrow, (Thursday) No Railway policy was presented by the Prime Minister.

MRS. FRANK WILKIE, of Syracuse, N.Y., formerly married at the State Reformatory at Industry, N.Y., who says she is delighted with Tanlac since it restored her health after she suffered eight years.

"This is the first time in eight years that I have been free from stomach trouble and it is all because of the wonderful good Tanlac has done me," said Mrs. Frank Wilkie, 229 Cedar St., Syracuse. Mrs. Wilkie formerly resided in Buffalo and for two years was matron of the State Reformatory at Industry, N.Y. "I was eating scarcely enough to keep alive," she declared, "for I would rather not touch a bite than suffer the misery I knew would follow. Even sweet milk disagreed with me. I was sick in bed for two and three days at a time, and gas on my stomach made such awful pressure on my heart it almost cut off my breath. I had horrible dreams at night and in the morning was all tired out, and I was the longest day I live I will praise Tanlac, for my improvement has been simply remarkable. I have no more heartburn, my appetite is wonderful, I can eat most anything I want and my sleep is sound and restful. I am thoroughly delighted with Tanlac. It is wonderful." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Bullinger's Guide.
 A USEFUL REFERENCE BOOK.
 "Bullinger's Postal and Shipping Guide for the United States, Canada and Newfoundland" is a valuable edition to the reference library of any office. Within the space of 1240 large pages will be found the name of practically every town and settlement in the United States, Hawaii, Canada and Newfoundland with the location of the nearest railway and the name of the nearest express company. Water routes are also given. The compilation of such a work requires the expenditure of an immense amount of time and labor, and although the publishers do not lay claim to infallibility, very few mistakes, if any, are likely to be found. Published originally in 1873 by E. W. Bullinger, the guide issues this year for the first time from new publishers. In a message of thanks to his many friends, Mr. Bullinger announces that at the advanced age of 79 he has reached a point where he thinks he should rest from his labors, and he has therefore transferred all of his interest in the guide to the New England Railway Publishing Co. of Boston, whom we thank for a copy, recently received.

Now—here is a Breakfast

Appetite says so; taste says so—and a sense of well-being says so

CRISP! There's an irresistible appeal to eat delicious Grape-Nuts. SWEET! There's the wholesome, natural sweetness developed from wheat and malted barley as the result of over 20 hours careful baking. NUTRITIOUS AND SATISFYING! There are the splendid building and sustaining food qualities put in the grains by Nature and perfected by skilled processing.

There is no other food like Grape-Nuts

Grape-Nuts provides well-balanced nourishment in easily digestible form. It is ready to eat with cream or good milk.

Let this happy food gratify your taste and satisfy your appetite at breakfast or lunch. Especially fine for the children's evening meal.

You can get Grape-Nuts wherever good food is sold or served.

Bryden's Cottage Destroyed.

FIRE CAUSED BY DEFECTIVE CHIMNEY.
 That picturesque and well known country residence, Bryden's Cottage, situated on the Freshwater Road, and owned by Mr. Chas. Coffin was razed to the ground on Monday afternoon by a fire which is supposed to have been caused by a defective chimney. When the blaze was first noticed it had gained considerable headway, and fanned by a high wind, the building was quickly consumed. The Central Fire Company were called by phone, and though they responded in quick time their services were of no avail. Only a few articles of furniture were saved from the lower part of the building. There was very little insurance carried, and the loss is a heavy one. The place was purchased by Mr. Coffin nearly three years ago, and since has been extensively improved.

Drowning Fatality.

AVONDALE MAN FALLS FROM BOAT.
 Thrown from a motor boat by a heavy sea while crossing Monday, from Bell Island, Joseph Mason, a young resident of Avondale, was drowned. There were some twenty or thirty passengers in the boat which was owned by a Capt. Wade. The crossing was rough and several people felt ill and had to come on deck. A sudden lurch of the boat caused him to fall overboard and no assistance could be rendered. Mason is unmarried, but both his parents are living.

K. of C. Delegates

ATTEND CONVENTION AT GRAND FALLS.
 Mr. C. J. Cahill, State Deputy, accompanied by Messrs. C. J. Fox, C. J. Ellis, Joseph Fitzgibbon and J. Pigeon, delegates from Terra Nova Council, and Rev. James J. McGrath, Messrs. J. M. Greens, D. J. Jackman, delegates from Conception Council, Bell Island Knights of Columbus, left yesterday's express for Grand Falls where the Annual State Convention is being held. Delegates from Avalon Council, Bay Roberts, and Dalton Council, Mr. Grace joined the party at Briggs Junction.

Fashions and Fads.

Parasols promise to be very gay. One model of dull silk has a wide border of contrasting silk, and where the border joins the dull silk there is a ruffle of another color. Another model is fringed.
 Fabric flowers play an important part among dresses of silk crepes. One model of light orchard crepe is trimmed with flowers of dark orchid; and another of pearl gray charmeuse has a stridle of coral pink roses.

She could eat anything —without indigestion or sleeplessness
 For a time she had been troubled with gas after her evening meal. The distress was most painful after eating potatoes or other starchy foods, of which she was very fond.
 Then she started taking two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every night before her evening meal and bed-time. She poured about a half cup of boiling hot water over the yeast cakes, stirred them thoroughly, added a little cold water and drank. She found she could eat anything and sleep splendidly afterward.
 Thousands of men and women are finding that Fleischmann's Yeast corrects stomach and intestinal troubles. It promotes the flow of bile and pancreatic juice. Appetite is always kept normal and you are protected against indigestion.
 Add 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your daily diet. You will find that your whole digestive system is greatly benefited. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

PATRIOTISM AND CITIZENSHIP.

Sermon Preached by Canon Bayly, R.D., of Bonovista, in the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist, Sunday, May 28, 1922.

Jeremiah XXIX: 7—"Seek the peace of the city."

The purport of this sermon is to set forth the conviction that God the All-wise is not without a plan for the well being of mankind, that nations as well as men who wish to be saved must believe in, and serve the Lord Jesus Christ who is ascended into Heaven and who is the supreme authority in Heaven and in earth. "God blessed for ever."

According to the picture there are intelligences in a spiritual world who not only refuse to submit to the rule of Jesus Christ, but actively resist His authority. These forces have at their command all the worst passions of men to frustrate His work on earth. Our interest in this struggle cannot be passive. We must take sides. "He that is not with me is against me." The slow working out of the Divine purpose for the good of the race as history shows, carries conviction that the spiritual hosts of wickedness are fighting a losing battle.

The text "Seek ye the peace of the city" urges the servants of God to seek the peace of the city, i.e. of the State or Government. This is in agreement with the general teaching of the Bible. The Kingdom of God is spiritual. It is the alignment of angels and men under obedience to one Lord Jesus Christ. He is "King over the House of Jacob." His servants are "in the world," not "of the world." "The Kingdom of Heaven is like heaven," to work intensively in the whole lump of humanity. So the people of God though captive in a heathen country must seek the peace and not the hurt of those who govern them.

We are suffering in our age from an exaggerated individualism. In practice people give little thought to the importance of a man's attitude towards the State. Good stress is rightly laid upon the important question of what a man is in himself, in his secret life and inward character, what he is in his family, as a husband, a father, a son, or what he is in the church sustaining its honour, and sharing its work. But what he is to the State, what he is as a citizen is too often regarded as a matter of indifference. And yet we profess to believe that "the powers that be are ordained of God."

To the ancient Greeks, the chief end of man was to make the State greater and prosperous. Everything was sacrificed to the common weal. It was a kind of "Who dies if England live" spirit. No matter what kind of England. But whether the individual was good and happy, or whether family life was pure and harmonious was not held to be of the same consequence. This want of balance was the cause of their undoing. God forbid that it should be ours!

The Gospel of Christ in the ideal of human life therein set forth glorifies the possibilities of personal character, but does not overlook the almost sacred functions of the state—"Thou couldst have no power at all except it were given thee from above." nor the duty of rendering to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and of giving obedience to and praying "for Kings and all in authority." The impact of the Kingdom of God upon the Kingdom of the world is subtle and is to be effected through the sincerity, the righteousness, the consideration, and faithfulness of men whose weapons are not carnal, "whose swords are bathed in heaven" and "whose citizenship is in heaven."

Patriotism is the soul of the people. It is universal. It has the almost unique and magnetic power of bringing all men of one country or race into psychic sympathy. The mother land and the mother tongue are all powerful, except in the degenerate. Patriotism is strong in youth, and rekindles in advantage.

"I find it well, in early days When I was heedless young and blithe And first could throb the barn. Ev'n then a wish (I mind its power) A wish that to my latest hour Shall strongly heave my breast, That I for poor old Scotland's sake Some useful plan or beak could make Or sing a song at least."

We love the natural scenery of our native land. But patriotism is associated chiefly with the men of our race. We glory in the institutions, the literature, the great traditions of the liberty of candid and wholesome speech, in British justice and fair play. Sundered from us by the great Atlantic, Britain is "home" to us, as it is "Mother England" to Americans. Speaking of things English an American writes: "In no other legislative body is the plea to conscience based on principles of truth and justice less likely to be openly made, or if made more certain to be received with doubt, if not with ironical laughter, than in the House of Commons. In no great legislative body is it so sure ultimately to make its way and bring results. Wilberforce fighting the Slave Trade, Romilly reforming the Penal Code, Ashley pleading for the 10 hour bill, all illustrate my contention from the records of yesterday. To-day in the midst of social revolution the same process goes on—lame to be sure, or it would not be English, yet so certainly as to comfort the onlooker with the assurance that here he is watching progress that will not invite reaction."

In his heart he knows that what he has solved her problem he will be forced as so often, before, to go to school to her experience.

Whether there be any truth in the story that Queen Victoria when presenting a Bible to an African Chief said, "Here is the secret of England's greatness." I do not know. But just as Newfoundlanders extend their patriotism to the Mother Country—even so do British people, and all other Christian nations, extend theirs to the Holy Land and the Holy City. The statesman-prophet with face towards Jerusalem is symbolic of us all. We cannot but associate ourselves with the great sages and heroes and literature of the Scriptures. "The hills of Zion is the joy of the whole earth." The halls of time echo with the tread of Abraham the friend of God, Moses the Law giver, David the King and Isaiah the prophet, and most of all do we associate ourselves with the Saviour King, and with the ideals of His everlasting Kingdom. We believe that His teaching and His ideals have uplifted our nation and that the all-wise God has designed a method which in the fulfilment will uplift all mankind.

Our task is to perfect ourselves in our relationship with Him, and with His ideals. Nothing can compensate us for the loss of the vision of God working in history and in life about us now. "O wise men, God is also wise" not by fits and starts of a benevolence similar to that of our own foolish and inconsistent hearts does He work.

Consistency, reason, and law, are the methods of His action, and they apply closely, irresistibly, to all our life. His political outlook (I speak it with reverence) is to make free for efficient service, and to bless with His peace every class of every nation upon earth. In this great work as men and Christians we are asked to help seek the peace of the city.

The uplift of all classes of all nations is the unique objective of revelation of religion. God is no respecter of persons. Ancient philosophers had no word of hope for the workman. The labourer was catalogued as a chattel, a piece of property, an implement on his master's estate. The persistent teaching of revealed religion has "raised the poor out of the dust, and lifted up the beggar from the dung hill." This same teaching can only be ignored at great peril. The labouring man as we know him is the creation of Jesus the carpenter of Nazareth of Galilee. The wages, the home, the liberty are all His gifts. The labouring man to-day "sits with the prince."

He exercises enormous political power, and must bear the responsibility which power carries. It is in his turn to be the sport of the kingdom of wickedness, or is he to seek the peace of the city of God, and the uplift of all others by patriotic loyalty to high moral ideals. The events of to-day are not reassuring, but Nebuchadnezzar's transit. We all have our shoulders under the burden. No man can safely shirk his responsibility. It must not be "laid up in a napkin," for fear of mistakes. It must be invested to give returns. The citizen who fails to invest his rights, either from scruple or from sheer indifference is a worse foe to the State than the man who uses his dagger, the revolver, or the bomb. "He wrongs himself by leaving his opinion unrepresented, he wrongs the State by refusing a factor on which its counsels depend, and he wrongs his religion when he declines to support the cause of righteousness by obvious and legitimate reasons."

It is a plain duty to study imperial, local and world politics, and to employ all manly and lawful means, influence as well as vote, to secure their right settlement, for "there is in the best Christian lives a power, which within narrow limits and on a small scale exerts Christianity—the power of the spirit, which in itself and ostensible, bears down opposition, and in the end triumphs over it." This is never more remarkable than when it is seen in obscure unambitious lives which following in the steps of Christ's sufferings, are at the same time marked by a dignity, a strength and a victorious purpose that tell of their union with His life in heaven, and of His aims for earth.

It may be, that the human race is just entering upon its life, and has before it countless ages of development. "One day is with the Lord as a thousand years and a thousand years as one day." The Church is the servant of God to leaven the world with the life and spirit of Christ. She is "in the world." She must not be "of the world." Her alliance with the world in the time of Constantine, and her claims to exercise temporal power in the middle ages have long been discredited. In a lesser degree the union of Church and State in England has been disastrous to the spiritual character of her mission at home and abroad. Temporal power is alluring and is coveted in this country when denominational influence is strongly used on behalf of men who are seeking place or position. We are often more loyal to our denomination than we are to Christ. Sectarian bigotry is just as much the work of the devil as class feeling, political partisanship and God's work is hindered by unwieldy acts now as it was when Moses by an outburst of temper delayed the Exodus of the Israelites for 40 years. A better spirit is shown in a defence of the principles of Christianity dating back to the 2nd century A.D. "Christians dwell in their native lands but as sojourners; they share all things as citizens, and endure all things as strangers; every foreign country is their fatherland, and every fatherland a foreign country to them. They are in the flesh; they pass their time on earth, but they live their lives as citizens of heaven."

This is the faith, and the spirit which overcomes the world. Embodied, this faith, and this spirit, are idealized to the children of God as One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. The city of the Living God. Pray for the peace of the city. This is the field for the highest kind of Patriotism. This we believe to be God's instrument for the salvation of all men, and of all nations—the plan of the all-wise God for the well being of every man and every country. Who then is willing to consecrate himself all that he is, and all that he has to the carrying on of God's great ideal? Who is willing, by his conduct all round, in the home, in the church, and in the city, to proclaim himself a citizen of heaven? The Assumption of the Lord Jesus to His Throne of Glory calls for nothing less than this. The tide is rising, though slowly.

"For while the tired waves vainly breaking Seem here no painful inch to gain; Far back, through creeks and inlets making Comest silent standing in the main."

God has all eternity to work in, but we have not. Our time is short. Now is the day of salvation for us and for the world. Let us as members of His Church militant believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and resolve to serve Him; let us persist in the endeavour, so that our influence may help and not resist the extension of God's Kingdom over all the earth, and find its expression particularly in the villages and towns and cities of our own land, to seek "peace of the city," for therein shall ye have peace."

At the Yarmouth Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp, held at Tusket Falls in August, I found Minard's Lullam most beneficial for sunburn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

Alfred Stokes, General Secy.

A Fine Display.
The special display made by the leading manufacturers in the various shop windows is attracting much attention and should stimulate greater interest in home made goods. One of the best displays is that of the White Clothing Manufacturing Coy., Ltd., in Anderson's window. The ready-made goods shown look well, and a card states "that the goods shown were taken from stock and not specially made for this display." This information should be of special interest to prospective purchasers.

Prophy-lactic
THE WORLD'S STANDARD TOOTH BRUSH
A CLEAN TOOTH BRUSH
PREVENTS THE TEETH FROM BEING SOFTENED BY ACID
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. MAR. 2, 1910

Prophy-lactic
Tooth Brush
GOOD teeth need regular attention from both dentist and tooth brush—four times a year with the dentist and twice a day with the Prophy-lactic Tooth Brush. This is the brush that thoroughly cleans even the places that many brushes miss. Tufted bristles and curved handle make this possible.

Always sold in the yellow box. Look for name on the handle. Sold by leading druggists.

Functions at Bay Roberts.

service. Although a very small number of the members of the ence of the four bands was a pleasing need, Shearstown, the Band of the S.

A. Corps, Bay Roberts, and the C.L.B.
Band. The Rev. J. O. Britnell conducted the service, and preached very acceptably from the text, "For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieh to himself."—Rom. XIV, 7.

On Wednesday night last, 24th inst.,
the officers of the G. L. R. Legion Auxiliary met in the C. of E. Academy for the purpose of giving a "send off" to Mr. Henry Morgan, bandmaster of the C. L. B. Band. Mr. Morgan has worked untiringly to bring the C.L.B. Band to a high standard. His work has been rewarded, and the band indeed does credit to his training. A while ago he was dismissed from his position and with the exception of a few, who thought otherwise, all keenly regretted that such a man had been forced to leave a place where his work and talent have won for him the admiration and respect of everybody.

He left on Thursday morning for the States.

Fads and Fashions.

A charming afternoon frock has a bodice of white crepe de Chine embrodered in jet and a skirt of black mousseline.

A white crepe de Chine frock has a giraffe of white silk and straw, and a cape of black lace, which also forms the sleeves.

A new blouse is smocked around the neckline, and has full sleeves at the wrist. It is worn under the jumper dress.

A charming summer hat has a crown made of flowers, a poke-brim, and a flat taffeta bow placed in the middle of the back.

A silk bodice embroidered in bright colors is worn over a skirt of dark blue, and there is a little button-on apron of the dark blue.

The quaint dress with fitted bodice and puffed sleeves is never out of vogue. The latest version of this model has a scalloped hem.

With a red and white costume, is carried a white parasol with a deep black border. The handle is painted in black and white squares.

A dress of yellow voile has a large large red flower placed at the giraffe, and is worn with a floppy red hat.
The combination of colors is novel.

The bracelet in favor is made of small stores or carved ornaments connected with a gold or silver chain.
Other ornaments dangle on chains or their own.

White linen frocks are to be cross-"itched. Combinations of colors used in the stitching are red and dark blue, usually used as the lining of panels or wide sleeves.

Many of the simple morning frocks are a combination of colors, or white and colors. The bodice is often of white, the skirt being in color, with neck and sleeves piped in the same.

A frock of orange crepe with scalloped hem and long flowing sleeves is worn with a cream crepe cape, and a large hat of the cream crepe, trimmed with orange-centered white flowers.

Jet is a much-used trimming for the black afternoon gown. It is the more effective because scarlet is seen

VALE.

To take farewell of a friend, only going on a journey from which a return is expected, is at most times a wrench to the feelings of affection held, though there is always the anticipated joy of meeting again.

There is no death
What seems so is transition
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life Elysian
Whose portal we call death.

Last Respects Paid.
A LARGE FUNERAL.
All that was mortal of the late W. J. Herder, Proprietor of the Evening Telegram, was laid in its last resting place in the General Protestant Cemetery, yesterday afternoon.

Outport Store Burned.

COVERED BY INSURANCE.
Fire last night almost completely destroyed the store owned by William N. Hopkins of Hearts Content.

Mrs. Christian, Miss Ryan, Miss Mitchell and Mr. Trappell will sing to-night at Canon Wood Hall.—may31,11

A Parliamentary Tribute

LEADERS OF THE HOUSE REFER TO LATE PROPRIETOR OF TELEGRAM.
A glowing tribute to the late W. J. Herder, Proprietor of the Evening Telegram, was paid by the Prime Minister and other leading members of the Legislature during Monday's session of the House.

Sir M. P. Cashin joined with the Prime Minister in expressions of sympathy to the family. For more than thirty-five years Mr. Herder has striven to mould public opinion in Newfoundland and with a great measure of success.

Mr. Bennett desired to be associated in the expression of sympathy voiced by the Premier and Leader of the Opposition. Mr. Herder's activity in public affairs was well known to the House and the country.

Last Respects Paid.

A LARGE FUNERAL.
All that was mortal of the late W. J. Herder, Proprietor of the Evening Telegram, was laid in its last resting place in the General Protestant Cemetery, yesterday afternoon.

LOCAL.
S.S. Susu arrived last night from the Pogo Mail Service. She sails again on Friday.
S.S. Prospero left Tilt Cove this morning and got as far as Gull Island, but was compelled by ice to return again to Tilt Cove.

Legislative Council.

The Council met at 4 p.m.
The Bill dealing with Customs Bonds passed its third reading. Hon. Mr. Bishop, before the Bill went through, thanked Hon. Mr. Shea for having the information tabled that between 1918-1920 no loss on Bonds whatever, was made by the country and he reiterated his previous statements that the Government should not introduce these measures at the present.

Express Passengers.

The following passengers arrived at Port aux Basques at 8:15 a.m. on S.S. Sagona and are now on the express which left for St. John's at 10 a.m.—Mrs. J. Waterfield, Miss B. Waterfield, Miss G. Neal, W. J. Pulins, Mr. J. O. Mond, W. J. Brown, W. A. Brown, R. J. Brown, C. R. Garcia, Miss G. Strickland, Rev. H. W. Cunningham. The express is expected to reach the city early to-morrow afternoon.

Long Service.

TOTALLING OVER A CENTURY.
The years of service of the three oldest employees of the Telegram staff is the large total of 114 years. Mr. Robert Mercer, the foreman of the Press Room, has been 43 years with the Telegram. Mr. Geo. McF. Hennebury, chief compositor, has been 41 years in the employ of the "People's Paper" and Mr. John French, foreman of the composing room has nearly 30 years of service with the Telegram to boast of. This is a local record.

Good Fishing.

HAUL OF 15 QTL. FOR ONE TRAP.
A man named Morris took 15 quints of codfish at Trinity on Monday in his trap. This was the first good fishing there this season. A message from the sub-collector at Grand Bank states that the schooners "Admiral Dewar" and "William M. Richards" had arrived yesterday from the Banks with 700 qtl. and 800 qtl. of codfish.

Fire Box Damaged.

POLICE AFTER CULPRITS.
Some vandals who have nothing to do but go around smashing public and private property, confined their attentions last night to disconnecting the fire alarm box on a pole near the Dry Dock. The box was badly damaged and parts of it were broken. The matter is a serious one and has been reported to the police.

Tennis Club Started.

IRON ISLE STRONG ON SPORTS.
Bell Island has now a tennis club of its own. This was organized a short time ago by members of the Dominion staff in co-operation with prominent citizens. A site has been obtained on the front of the island and two grass courts will be ready within a fortnight. The islanders hope to be able to challenge a team from the St. John's Club this season.

Derby Winners.

FAVORITES OUTLASSSED.
EPSOM DOWNS, To-day. (Special).
The enormous crowds which assembled on Epsom Downs to-day to see the Derby, were treated to a series of surprises when Captain Cuttle which started at 9 to 1, passed the winning post first. Two outsiders, Tanager and Craig-na-Gowar, took second and third places. The three favorites, Pondoland, Re-echo and St. Louis were completely outclassed. The first prize of £5,000 in the Cable Sweep goes to London. It is not yet known if any local sweepstake holders drew horses. The day is a beautiful one and Epsom is a brilliant mass of colour. All day yesterday and this morning horses, charabancs and cars were arriving and adding to the immense crowd. The dresses of the ladies were wonderful, and the long skirt appeared to have come back to its own Derby Day 1922 is indeed reminiscent of those glorious events prior to the war.

Motor Field Day.

SPEED TRIALS MAY BE HELD.
At a recent meeting of the Newfoundland Motor Association it was decided that the Association would hold a Motor Field Day during the summer in which all members of the Association would be invited to take part. Among other events reliability trials will be held and subject to a suitable place for same and the permission of the Inspector General being obtained, it is possible that something in the nature of a speed contest might be attempted. Events will be open to members of the Association only. The arrangements in connection with the project are in the hands of Messrs. Jos. Crocker, R. G. Silverlock and R. C. Harvey and an interesting day is anticipated.

S. S. Neptune Sails.

TAKING CREWS TO STRAITS.
S. S. Neptune, Capt. W. Kennedy, sailed for Bay Roberts and Trinity this morning to take Grant's Crews for Straits ports. From the latter place the ship goes to Blanc Sablon direct, and after debarking passengers and unloading gear and supplies, will lay up for the summer. The ship will undergo a thorough overhauling during this term, and will be cleaned and painted by the officers remaining on board. Some 300 people we understand will go along by the ship. Mr. Samuel Ballam is Marconi operator, and after the arrival of Neptune at Blanc Sablon will proceed to the Battle Harbor station for the season.

New Headmistress.

SUCCESSOR TO MISS RICHARDS.
The Board of Directors of the Church of England College announce that Miss Violet M. Cherrington has been appointed headmistress of Bishop Spencer College to succeed Miss Richards, who leaves this year. Miss Cherrington was educated and trained in the Training College and the University of Birmingham. For five years she served on the staff of the Grammar School, Handsworth, near Birmingham. Since 1918 Miss Cherrington has held a senior position on the staff of Haverall College, Toronto. Miss Richards, the present headmistress, has been here for nearly two years and has rendered valuable service during that time.

Sachem Due.

MAKING QUICK RUN.
S. S. Sachem is due in port at 7:30 a.m. to-morrow from Liverpool. She is bringing the following passengers the list of which was radioed the Telegram via Cape Race.—Mr. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Branscombe, Mr. Ryan, Mr. Blackburn, Mr. A. Delgado, Mr. Henry, Mr. Crocker, Mrs. Pitts, Mrs. McNell, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Goodridge, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Watson and Miss McKay. The Sachem left Liverpool on May 24th and is making a quick trip. She is bringing a fairly large freight and a big mail.

Preferred a Fine.

WOMEN WANT TO SELL BEER.
Two women charged before Judge Morris to-day with selling overproof hop beer, preferred to pay a fine and refused the alternative of suspended sentence if they gave up selling the beer. One of the defendants keeps a shop in George's Town and the other in Holywelltown. The Government analyst gave evidence to show that the beer sold by the parties was overproof. In the case of one woman, a drunk had been found on her premises. The Judge said he would impose a fine of $100 each unless they promised to discontinue selling the beverage. This offer was refused and the fines were paid. Apparently there is money in hop beer if people can afford to pay large fines rather than give up selling it.

Deserters Held.

BRISTOL MEN LEAVE SHIP.
Two natives of Bristol, evidently imbued with a love for this country inspired by the fact that John Cabot sailed from their native city, deserted from their steamer on Bell Island and came to St. John's. They were taken into the Police Station for safe keeping and are now in the penitentiary, where they will be held until the authorities find some means of getting them home. Their steamer has sailed.

Seaman Drowned.

DORY CAPSIZES ON BANKS.
Albert Miles, a member of the crew of the schooner Ornate, which returned yesterday from the Grand Banks, was drowned on May 24th, through the overloading of a dory. His dory mate was saved by clinging to the boat. Miles belonged to Jersey Harbor, Fortine Bay. The above news was conveyed in a message to the Assistant Collector of Customs from the Sub-Collector at Mr. Breton. The Ornate arrived at that place yesterday with 600 qtl. of fish.

Personal.

Mr. P. Humphries of Melrose, T.B., is now in town on business.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Branscombe, who have been spending their honeymoon abroad, return by the "Sachem" to-morrow.
Miss Muriel Rogerson, who has been visiting friends in Canada, returns to-morrow by the "Rosalind."
Mrs. Pitts and Miss Mary McKay who have been on a visit to England are passengers by the "Sachem" due to-morrow.

Tennis Club Meets.

PREPARING FOR SEASON'S PLAY.
The annual meeting of the Nfld. Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club takes place on June 8th in the Club grounds. The courts are being rapidly put in condition for the ensuing season and will probably be ready for use about the second week in June. The President of the Club is Mr. W. Angus Reid and the Secretary, Mr. J. Peterson.

Dr. Balance, Current Account	64,943.51
Cost of raising money for equipment purchases	7,002.37
	$598,255.02

The Commission is prepared to pass credits on its books to this amount to an amount of $81,496.93 being amount expended by the Reid Ntd. Co. on the completion of equipment covered by agreement of Aug. 13th, 1920 $81,496.95 Total due by the Reid Ntd. Co. subject to revision and interest charges $516,758.07

The Premier added the following: "Whilst the Reid Newfoundland Company decline payment of the above sum on the grounds that they do not consider that any sum will be due to the Commission by the Reid Newfoundland Company on the final account, they have so far failed to submit any counter claim although they promised to commence preparing same immediately after the return of their Directors from England. That was about the middle of December, 1921."

Our Local Displays.

During the past week quite an interest has been excited by the many attractive and practical displays of NEWFOUNDLAND MADE products at present on exhibition in the windows of the Water Street Stores.

It is indeed an eye opener and an education to pass down Water Street, and view the variety of products which are being manufactured by local concerns—products which really stand the test of workmanship and quality, in comparison with any foreign made article.

Our local manufacturers are alive to their interests and are making every effort to meet the most exacting demands of the public, and deserve the whole hearted support of every Newfoundland.

The shoe displays of the Newfoundland Boot & Shoe Co. in Ayre & Sons lower window; Archibald Bros. in the Royal Stores window; H. Grace Boot & Shoe Co. in Knowlton's, and also those of Parker and Monroe and F. Smallwood, are well worth seeing.

Footwear to meet the demands of the most fastidious, as well as the most practical—the large purse as well as the small purse, are here displayed—in quality and style equal to the best. See them once and you will want to buy them.

Every citizen realizes that the most practical way to help relieve the unemployment situation is to keep our local factories running at full speed, and this can be very easily accomplished if every man and woman insists on getting NEWFOUNDLAND MADE GOODS.

THREE STEAMERS TAKE CREWS. S. S. Home left Humbermouth at 11.30 p.m. yesterday for the Straits with Capt. George Whitely's fishing crews. S. S. Portia will leave next week for the Straits with crews and supplies and may not get back on the western mail service until late in the year. S. S. Neptune left port this morning and will stay at Blanc Sablon for the summer.

Vehicles Collide.

WOMAN THROWN FROM CAR. A cab turning up Springdale Street yesterday afternoon collided with a country wagon in which were two women. One of the women was thrown to the ground by the force of the impact, but was uninjured beyond a severe shaking. A police constable had to disperse the large crowd which quickly gathered at the scene of the accident.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CANTONESE JUBILANT.

LONDON, May 30. The army of Sun Yat Sen has captured the Tay Ling position, considered the most important stronghold in the Province of Kiangsi, says a Times despatch. Sun's army is pursuing the enemy, and soon will attack Kanchow. The despatch says there is great rejoicing in Canton over the victory.

BELFAST'S DAILY LIST.

BELFAST, May 30. Fierce fighting was in progress along the Donegal-Fermanagh border last night, according to a report from Enniskillen. Casualties in yesterday's disorders in this city were four dead and twenty-one wounded.

CHANGE OF SCENE.

LONDON, May 30. Another contest has been arranged between Ted Lewis and Georges Carpentier, says the Daily Mirror, the arena, this time, being the Law Courts. The English pugilist has entered a suit for libel against the publishers of "Town Topics" and Carpentier, for an article in that publication, May 18, under the caption of "What I think of Kid Lewis," the authorship of which is attributed to Carpentier.

CIVIL WAR INDEED.

BELFAST, May 31. Strong forces of the Irish Republican army are now well within the six county territory, and are consolidating the ground won. Special constabulary comprising Ulster forces, have withdrawn from the Belleek Salient in Fermanagh County, and this is now occupied by Republicans. British military are confining themselves to sending out observation forces from Enniskillen. Border fighting between Ulsterites and Republicans has occurred at various points. Refugees are flocking to relatives throughout Fermanagh, where every able bodied man is either an "A" or "B" special and the tide of wrath is surging. One thousand Republicans are concentrated on Tyrone front.

GERMANY'S PROMISE.

PARIS, May 31. A disquieting prospect that France would bring further pressure on Germany, by the extension of her military occupation, was eliminated to-day by Germany's reply to the Reparations Commission. Political circles believe that Germany promises to comply with the conditions imposed by the Reparations Commission with a proviso that she has aid in the form of Foreign Loan.

Woman Rules Over 17,000 Natives.

The life story of Mrs. Elisabeth Mahoney, forms the subject of a message from a Sydney, New South Wales correspondent.

Mrs. Mahoney is described as "a tall, commanding elderly figure, who now spends the greater part of her life in Sydney."

Trader, engineer, carpenter, overseer, stock-raiser, agriculturist, prospector, and even master mariner for the best part of 23 years she has been the uncrowned Queen of a little Papuan kingdom. Sudest Island, which lies at the extreme south-eastern corner of Papua, and which, because of its location, was called Sud Est (south-east) by the French mariners who formerly sailed those seas. Not merely has she directed wisely and well the affairs of this island kingdom, 57 miles long and 9 miles wide at its narrowest point, but she has trained up, out in these Pacific backwaters, as a widow, a big sturdy family, one of whom, a son, who saw war service, is now, as manager of the island, a sort of Viceroy of Sudest, with the good, democratic rank of plain Frank Mahoney.

Over 20 years ago Mrs. Mahoney set out with her husband to seek fortune in Sudest Island, which with the Island of St. Almon was the home of the first Papuan gold rush back in 1889. Dangers and hardships were the common lot of this sturdy band of prospectors. Mahoney and his wife, however, battled through almost insurmountable difficulties and gradually extended their activities until the island became a big success. Mr. Mahoney died in Papua 18 years ago.

Mrs. Mahoney buys and sells copra, trochus, and black-lip shell and gum chiefly. She also buys gold from the natives, although latterly, owing to slackness of business, she has her own indented "boys" out digging for gold also. She does a little in the way of agriculture and she has recently taken to raising cattle and horses. She has a fleet of sailing boats, which she navigates.

The last census of this Pacific domain, over which Mrs. Mahoney holds sway, showed that there were five whites and 17,000 natives on the island.

Married After Week's Courtship.

George Miller, of New York, assistant stage manager of "And Very Nice, Too," playing at the Princess Theatre, Toronto, last week, was taken into custody on May 19. Miller is held on a nominal charge of vagrancy pending inquiries. The arrest of Miller was brought about by Arthur C. Budd, proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, who asked the police to locate his sixteen-year-old daughter, Thelma, who was attending Haverall College, and who was subsequently found with friends in South Parkdale.

According to the police, Mr. and Mrs. Budd learned from one of the bellhops at the hotel where Miller was stopping, that he had been married to Thelma on Thursday evening. Miller and Miss Budd met for the first time on Monday, May 15, and the police say that Miller had arranged for her to accompany him with the Troupe to New York. According to the marriage certificate produced by Miller the Marriage was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Grant, who lives in the Athena Apartments. When Miller was searched at police headquarters in the City Hall another certificate issued to a man named Miller in New York four years ago, was found in his possession. This certificate, Miller told the police, belongs to a brother who is living in Chicago. The police state that Miller's explanation concerning the New York marriage certificate was not sufficiently clear, hence the charge of vagrancy, together with instructions that, no bail be accepted until the matter has been taken up with the police in Chicago and New York.

WEDDING CAKES.

STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY.

The Wedding Cake in the Marriage Ceremony occupies a central and altogether unique position and is rightly considered indispensable to the success of the function. It is peculiarly the Bride's Cake, and is an object of thoughtful care and concern. It must not be only ample in quantity and of the best quality, but also from an artistic point of view, worthy the occasion. STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY do not hesitate to claim for their Wedding Cakes a position unequalled for quality, artistic finish and good value. The materials used are the finest, and the workmanship is such as ensures complete satisfaction.

It is to be understood that no matter what size cake may be ordered the quality of the materials used is the same.

YOU WILL REMEMBER

and not want to forget

An unusual tale of an unusual chorus girl.

Where maternal love shines brighter than the white lights.

Her choice was the one the magnate least expected.

Showing how a marriage certificate became a mere scrap of paper.

In which a large check has no value—when offered for a baby.

A thrilling mixture of high life and wild life.

Wherein the bonds that bind grew tighter as they loosened.

Again a chorus girl proves that 'you never can tell.'

It was the weak voice of the stronger call that the angry girl heard.

Harbor Grace Sons of England.

CELEBRATE SILVER JUBILEE.

The members of Lodge "Diamond Jubilee," S.O.E.B.S., celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary on Wednesday evening, May 24, says the Harbor Grace Standard of current issue. A special meeting was held in Coughlan Hall first, after which the members repaired to their lodgeroom below, where tables had been erected and a banquet arranged by an enthusiastic committee. The Hall was tastefully decorated with flags and the appearance of the tables was all that could be asked. Among the guests were Rev. F. S. Coffin, Messrs. F. C. Archibald, M.H.A., T. G. Ford, R.W.M., Lodge "Harbor Grace," A.F. & A.M., W.M. of "Buckland Lodge," S.U.F. W. Harris, W.M. and L. Sheppard, Rec. Secy. of "Rising Sun" Lodge, L.O.A., E. L. Oke, and Mr. Ewing of St. John's. Owing to the recent tieup of the trains many of the city brethren were unable to be present. Mr. A. J. Goodland, President of Lodge "Diamond Jubilee," ably filled the chair, and after a goodly repeat the following programme and toast list was gone through:—

TOAST LIST.

HIS MAJESTY THE KING—Prop. The Chairman; God Save the King.
THE EMPIRE—Prop. Rev. F. S. Coffin; Resp., Rev. W. R. J. Higgit; Rule Britannia.

OUR COUNTRY—Prop. A. W. Heath; Resp., F. C. Archibald, M.H.A. Song—Mr. C. Pike.

SISTER LODGES—Prop. E. E. Parsons; Resp., P. Higgins, Pres. C. B.B.S.; T. G. Ford, R.W.M., Lodge "Harbor Grace" A.F. & A.M.; W.M. "Buckland" S.U.F.; W. Harris, W.M. "Rising Sun" L.O.A.; E. Ewing, Lodge "Empire" S.O.E.

OUR GUESTS—Prop. A. J. Goodland; Resp., L. Sheppard.

THE PRESS—Prop. A. Parsons; Resp., E. L. Oke.

THE COMMITTEE AND LADIES—Prop. Rev. W. R. J. Higgit; Resp. E. Simmons.

SONG—T. G. Ford.
GOR SAVE THE KING.

The speeches were of a high order and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The Supreme President and Secretary are visiting this country this year. Lodge Diamond Jubilee was money to keep the business going, so they claim. However, a hold-up is now a reality and this handicaps both parties, as all boats as well as all trains are at a standstill, the Reids refusing to pay their hands until the question is settled.

It seems that all the trouble has sprung from the branch railway proposition inaugurated during the Morris term and although warned by Sir R. Bond, in words quoted by Mr. Walsh in speaking on the Loan Resolutions, who said he remembered being in the House as a visitor when the branch railways were being discussed, when he heard Sir Robert Bond, who was leading the Opposition at the time, made the remark that "the reckless expenditure of borrowed millions is causing a temporary shelter which must necessarily bring disaster before long, and then we shall feel the full blast of the storm." Yet the policy was adopted merely because of a promise in a manifesto which gave Sir E. P. Morris poll to gain election. Yet the Reids, receiving $15,000 per mile for construction of these lines, were unable to run them without help from the government, and this help they seem to have received up till now—the Squires administration having to follow suit—and a clash has come. We hope for a peaceful settlement and one beneficial to both the Reids and the Government.

No doubt the Reid Mfd. Co. has had losses and only for the aid of the government in the past they would not have been able to carry on. Thus we must place the blame where it belongs and that is undoubtedly in the construction of branch lines in a not very-well-to-do country. The Reids are partly to blame for ever accepting such a proposition even if the government guaranteed payments to maintain the railway, and if the main line had been kept from costly branching, the Coy. would have been better financially and would have not had such a heavy burden as is now laid-up on them. With a mail subsidy and a regular rate for freight and passengers as in days of old they would be aloof from such fancy obligations and there would not have been such a drain on the wealth of Newfoundland.

Millions of money has gone to the bad just for a petty party pull, when aiming at honor and power, men have sacrificed law and constitution. How can any business prosper under government control. It has failed in every country in the world; yet to gain a little popularity and win over their opponents, money is used as a lever to buy their way which only blast comes and their house built on the sand, and a heap of rubbish—Twillingate Sun.

"Why?" I cried, "should it be God must so punish me?"

Why should my baby die. When are hundreds near by, Old and feeble of breath, Waiting only for death?"

And they answered me low: "God has ordered it so."

But to-day through the years That have faded our tears, We have memories rare That no others may share; We can look back and see Why the blow had to be— By that mound and its sod, We are closer to God.

Salvage Notes.

Nearly all of our schooners are from the Bay—cargo laden for St. John's. Some are already gone, others following to-day. May their "full cargoes" of birch junks, etc., be but the happy augury of the "bumper" trip of codfish later in the season.

We note the Government has taken the super tax off oil, etc. Allowing full credit for such measure reductions, tions, the majority of voters must feel that a reduction on some staple article as salt or flour would have a far more reaching and beneficial effect.

We understand that Mr. Edward Brown of Bishop's Harbor is at present trying to make the "Maggie," Thomas Turner's schooner, seaworthy for the ensuing fishery season. We wish skipper "Ed" the best of success.

We were congratulating ourselves on the absence of infectious diseases this spring, when lo! to-day we are informed that Mrs. Stanley Brown is suffering from a slight attack of Diphtheria. We sincerely trust the malady will be slight and short lived in our midst.

Mr. John Moss, general supplier for Bishop's Harbor, went to St. John's in the "Lady Williams."

Mr. Edward Oldford, Salvage, went to St. John's by the schooner "Mab" to buy his usual spring's stock of merchandise.

The general tieup of the train and coastal service has caused all our people to whom the trip to St. John's is necessary at this time of year to forsake the accustomed route of "bumper down" for the sailing schooner. (We cannot help thinking that all lovers of the sea are glad to exchange the

"It is all for the best," so they said As I stood by my dead.

But I doubted the word That so often I heard; I could catch but the mean Of the mother, alone, And feel but the blow Which had stricken us so.

Why should my baby die. When are hundreds near by, Old and feeble of breath, Waiting only for death?"

We were congratulating ourselves on the absence of infectious diseases this spring, when lo! to-day we are informed that Mrs. Stanley Brown is suffering from a slight attack of Diphtheria. We sincerely trust the malady will be slight and short lived in our midst.

Mr. John Moss, general supplier for Bishop's Harbor, went to St. John's in the "Lady Williams."

Mr. Edward Oldford, Salvage, went to St. John's by the schooner "Mab" to buy his usual spring's stock of merchandise.

The general tieup of the train and coastal service has caused all our people to whom the trip to St. John's is necessary at this time of year to forsake the accustomed route of "bumper down" for the sailing schooner. (We cannot help thinking that all lovers of the sea are glad to exchange the pleasures of a rail trip for the ten knot breeze aboard a clipper.)

Mesdames Barnabas and James Moss, Bishop's Harbor, have gone to St. John's on a short pleasure trip.

A most unwelcome visitor greeted us this morning (May 24). The harbors are filled with ice and about 30 salmon and herring nets and traps are torn up and lost; a serious drawback to the summer's fishing.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an itching corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Dear Sir.—The enclosed clipping taken from the American Pictorial of the New York American, is written by one John McGrath of St. John's, where he quotes 'out native island home as the "Island of Despair." You would greatly please a bunch of Newfoundlanders here in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, if you would publish this clipping in your esteemed paper, and try and locate this patriotic son of Newfoundland, who is extensively advertising his country abroad. Thanking you for the above space and with best wishes for the future; success of dear old Newfoundland and its people. I remain Fighting Giraffe.

The giraffe has neither claws nor sharp teeth with which to defend itself or to attack its enemies, so when it is out of temper with one of its own kind it does not attempt to disembowel its adversary, as a rhinoceros might, or tear it, as a tiger would. But nature has given it a long and pliable neck, which terminates in a very solid head, and it uses the upper part of itself like a fish, swinging its neck round and round, and bring its head down at each swing with a thump on its antagonist.

The other combatant uses precisely the same tactics, and the two animals, planting themselves as firmly as possible by stretching out on all fours to the utmost, stand opposite to each other and hammer away with their heads until one or the other has been enough.—Washington Star.

THE LOST HATE.

What a dangerous business it is to get acquainted with someone you could dislike!

Perhaps you started out with a perfectly healthy dislike of the facts that you feel sure looked at you sniffling that day were your last year's hat to the hat and that you heard she sent her daughter to a private school because she didn't think the schools in town were good enough.

You had that dislike on the tip of your tongue and envy when you heard that she had just returned from a trip abroad and brought back a trunkful of lovely clothes.

And then she sighed and said: "Poor Edith, you can just imagine how hard it is to send her away when you have such fine public schools here but I suppose you've heard she isn't strong and has to go to school where all the teaching is done in the open air. Perhaps in a year or two..."

And actually you saw the tears standing in those blue eyes that you had told your husband were so hard and critical when they looked at you in your old hat.

Began to Wobble.

Somewhat that healthy dislike of yours so well fed up to now, suddenly got wobbly on its legs just in those few minutes.

And a few days later when you ran in to have a cup of tea, as she had begged you to, and she chattered that the lovely clothes she had brought back from abroad were only two Paris gowns which were all she could afford as she had been over just to take Edith to a specialist; and when she told you what she was hoping to do to the old house and asked your advice about draperies, and gave you some advice straight from Paris about making up your crepe mar-

And then you met her.

She discovered first that she had a perfect handshake and that she said: "I think we are neighbors I've been wanting to meet you since I came," in a way that made you feel that she was not only convincing (though of course it doesn't mean anything, you told yourself, just her big city manners), but she told you that she had been talking to your little girl on the street and that she thought she was a perfect dear, and that she hoped she would come over and play with Edith, as soon as Edith came back from school.

And then she sighed and said: "Poor Edith, you can just imagine how hard it is to send her away when you have such fine public schools here but I suppose you've heard she isn't strong and has to go to school where all the teaching is done in the open air. Perhaps in a year or two..."

Don't Get Acquainted.

No, it certainly isn't safe to know anyone very well if you want to enjoy a thorough-going dislike.

Just a few days ago I was introduced to a woman whom I have had a "hate" on.

We talked for an hour. After we came away the Authorman said: "Well, what is she like?"

"Oh she's not half bad," I admitted. "It's a surprising thing," said the Authorman, "how few people are, or even a quarter bad."

Blood Thicker Than Water.

Nearly half a century ago Sir Lambton Lorraine, a British naval commander, had the freedom of New York conferred on him while visiting that city and during his stay there received from admirers of the Commodore Minea in Nevada a bar of silver ore, on the burnished face of which was engraved his name, with the words: "Blood is thicker than water. Santiago de Cuba, November, 1873." A few weeks ago a memorial to Lorraine, consisting of a bronze bust mounted on a prism of marble, was unveiled in front of the town hall at Santiago, and thousands of Cubans joined in the ceremonies of the occasion. The bust was modelled by the daughter of a Cuban patriot, and the inscription in Spanish on the front of the memorial shows it to be dedicated to "the illustrious memory of the English admiral, Sir Lambton Lorraine," as "a tribute of gratitude and justice rendered by the Cuban nation." Henceforth the Avenue in which it stands will be known as the "Avenida de Lorraine."

What the British commander did to merit these honors is fairly well suggested by a letter he wrote in Nov. 1873, the text of which reappears on the reverse of the memorial. The story begins in October of that year, when the American ship, Virginia, flying the stars and stripes, left Fort San Prince, with a consignment of war materials destined for the Cuban insurgents. The vessel had previously aroused the suspicion of the Spanish authorities and had occasionally been detained by them; on this trip she was pursued and captured by the Spanish man-of-war Tornado. As the compromising cargo had been thrown overboard early in the chase the Spanish commander found no war material to seize, but he did not hesitate to take the passengers and crew of the Virginia as pirates, and a mock trial held on the Tornado they were condemned to death as such. Despite a strong protest from the American Consul, four of the men were shot immediately after the landing, their dead bodies being mutilated by a mob. The rest were placed in the goal at Santiago, and Joseph Fry, an American, Capt. of the Virginia, fell first of the second batch of fifty shot there.

The victims are said to have suffered terribly before being despatched; "in some instances the firing party placed their guns in the mouths of the wounded men and shattered their heads, and in others fired shot after shot into their bodies until they were quiet." A wall and a firing line awaited the remaining 100 prisoners, and they would also have been executed but for an unexpected interposition.

The Spaniards were reckoning without Lorraine. His ship, the Niobe, was in Cuban waters at that time and happened to turn into the harbour of Santiago just as preparations were being made for the final act of vengeance. He promptly sent a message to General Barriel, the local military commander, declaring that while without instructions from the British Government, he assumed responsibility in the matter, convinced that his action was "on behalf of humanity and civilization," it would receive the approval of His Majesty. "And I require you," he proceeded, "to immediately suspend the filthy butchery now going on," adding: "I do not think it will be necessary to say what my procedure will be should my demands not receive attention." Lorraine had with him the guns and ammunition needed just for such an emergency, and it is said that he followed up his message by threatening to bombard Santiago. His vigorous protest, asserting inalienable rights under the United States flag, assured life and freedom to the China's Sage Did Not Teach a Religion.

There is a mistaken belief that Confucius is a religion. Confucius, "China's Most Perfect Sage," taught expressly for the purpose of making the younger generation adhere to one word, virtue. Legend has it that on the night of his birth bright lights shone forth, as during the day time; two dragons encircled his home; five old men came down from the heavens and a unicorn is said to have spat out a book of jade.

During his boyhood, Confucius excelled all the other lads at school. At the age of 18 he married and was blessed with a son and a daughter. For his marriage he was given an official post, in which his diligence soon won him one of the foremost positions of the state.

As he was clever and well versed in politics, he was appointed one of the ministers of the Duke of Lu, who placed in him much trust. During a term as prime minister, Confucius effected many reforms. He conducted his administration in a very able manner, much to the peace and benefit of the state and the people, who loved him dearly.

It was not until some 300 or 400 years after his death that Confucius' memory was ordered by the government to be honored, and even to the present day his sacred memory is duly preserved. He died 479 B.C.—Detroit News.

Bitter Fighting for Circulation by London Dailies.
 Americans are frequently charged with being boastful and of claiming that everything done in the United States is to be described only in the superlative. This is so when it comes to crops, manufacturing and the production of wealth from raw materials. We have often flattered ourselves that the newspapers of the United States were "at the head of the class," as compared with those anywhere else on the foot-stool. But it must come as a bit of a shock to the Daily Mail of London is selling 1,295,709 copies a day. It has run this average up from 1,295,837, which was its record, Feb. 25th, 1921. In the race for the two million mark in circulation, the Mail has hot competitors in the Daily News, Daily Chronicle and the Daily Express of London.

We are all familiar with some of the literary battles of the past and can recall with keen relish the satirist's story of the "Battle of the Books," but it has nothing on the present battle of the newspapers in England, Scotland and Wales, among the great London dailies. The battle is waged with every possible weapon of offence and defence. Perhaps, the most interesting and effective is the insurance policy idea. The newspapers carry coupons which, if filled out by the readers, will protect the owner of such a daily coupon to the extent of $15,000 in case of death by accident and $30,000 to an estate, if the man and his wife are killed while travelling in a public conveyance and either of them has a filled out newspaper coupon. This is newspaper largesse with a vengeance. This can be done for a few dollars. It is costing the four dailies in London, according to the statement of the proprietor of one of the quartet, something like $25,000 a week. In an interview with the New York Times, Ralph D. Blumenfeld, editor and part proprietor of the Daily Express of London, gives some interesting facts. He states that the papers are competing with each other in hurrying free insurance to the British public and that some of the papers not only extend death insurance, but are giving policies that protect the purchaser of the paper from sickness, giving a weekly drawing of $10 to $20 for a specified time. The London publisher says: "It is a fierce and desperate battle in which circulations are soaring up by the thousands daily. If it goes on, we shall be insuring people against work. It is not only the $25,000 a week that is expended for insurance premiums, this is only one-quarter of the costs, and the four newspapers are easily spending at the rate of $100,000 a week."

We must breathe a sigh of honest relief and regard our own newspapers with large daily circulations as honest-to-goodness newspapers, and they are getting in valuable circulation without throwing in a house and lot. One thing is certain, circulation for a newspaper either in the United States, Great Britain, or anywhere else is recognized as the life-blood of the paper, and it must be secured. In England at the present time, unusual methods must be employed to gain attention, and the Englishman with his usual determination, is taking this present phrase of journalism as seriously as he takes all business undertakings and is going through with it. The liberality of the London papers to gain new subscribers passes anything heretofore recorded. The latest inducement to purchase a paper is that announced by the Daily News, which offers to insure not only the man of the family, but with his wife and all his children under 16 years of age if any of them are taken sick, and the malades run the gamut from typhoid and mumps to sudden death. A penny in London to-day can buy so much if it is invested in an evening or morning paper that it would take an ox-cart to carry back one's gifts. Such methods to gain circulation can only be regarded as a temporary yielding on the part of executives to the after-war hysteria that is attacking all lines of business and invading legislatures and affecting rulers everywhere. It might occur to some who keep their feet on the ground, and their heads cool, that the merit of a newspaper's news, editorial and the feature pages can better be exploited and counted upon for a healthy circulation. The advertiser who is led away by an inflated circulation, secured at an enormous cost, and upon a catch-penny plea cannot expect to get valuable returns from the space purchased.—Newspaperdom.

Houses! Houses! Houses!

Now is the time to make some good investments and not wait until the value of property increases. I have the following property for sale on very easy terms: Five houses on Bannerman Street (no reasonable offer will be refused as this estate must be realized); one three-tenement house on Cochrane St., partly brick, all fitted up with toilets and sinks in each tenement, ground rent only twenty dollars per month; one house on Belyiders Street, fitted up with all modern improvements, suitable for two tenements or can be made to suit one family; one house about two miles from the city; other properties too numerous to mention. Terms of payment made easy. Apply to
