SQUIBOGRAPHS.

Bush fires are raging in the Cobalt district, it is feared that some of the mining speculators will get singed.

Nicholas Wilson, the veteran London teacher, who is approaching his eightieth anniversary, is certainly entitled to a space in the nick of time.

Longboat, the champion long distance runner, was billed to appear in London on Dominion Day but arrived forty hours late. Thomas appears to be a gasoline "Injun."

Square parasols are the latest fad, but if the sun strikes you the freckles are around just the same.

The new Lord's Day Act aims to do away with Sunday cheese making, but skippers keep on boring just the same.

A New York pickpocket has the proud distinction of having got the best of a bookmaker. He received one of six thousand dollars while crossing the Brooklyn bridge at midnight. Here is a pointer for race track speculators.

The days are getting shorter but they still seem long enough if you have a note coming due.

If the shade of the late lamented G. Washington could return to earth and glance over the casualty list after a fourth of July celebration he would deeply regret the fact that his army was not equipped with firecrackers instead of flint locks.

Since a live alligator escaped in St. Thomas it is not necessary to ring the bell to get the small boys home early.

The "unwritten law," quoted so frequently in American criminal courts, is equivalent to a blank license to kill, the victims name filled in, and filed with the court.

When it comes to observing a holiday Toronto has them all faded. Col. Denison had 274 drunks before him the morning after our fortieth anniversary.

Tim Flood, a member of the Toronto ball team, got fifteen days in jail for kicking an umpire in the stomach. If Timothy had reached as far as the wishbone he would be doing a life sentence now.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier sails for home on July 12th, and will therefore miss all the celebrations held on that memorable day. It is an occasion that cannot be properly observed exclusively on water.

A Virginia Judge, who has been drunk for eight years, was acquitted of killing a man during temporary sobriety, the Jury bringing in a verdict of American booze-brina.

"Faith, if I had I'd let ye."

"WELL, Casey," said Wagley "I hear the crops are so poor in Ireland that they can't even afford to keep scarecrows there." "The truth is not in ye," replied Casey. THE Port Huron Herald has the following: "Miss Ida Stewart, who has been a popular clerk at A. M. Slay's office in the Maccabee Temple, has resigned her position and returned to her home in Forest. Miss Stewart's marriage to Mr. George Nash, of London, formerly of Watford, will be an event early this fall."

A SMALL boy who lives near Bean Lake was fishing the other day, and his mother had to call him five times to make him hear. Finally, she landed on him, and, shaking him in a terrible manner, wanted to know why he did not answer. THE most wonderful bird flight noted is the migratory achievement of the Virginia plover, which leaves its haunts and taking a course down the Atlantic, usually from four to five hundred miles east of the Bermudas, reaches the coast of Brazil in one unbroken flight of fifteen hours, covering a distance of over three thousand miles without a stop at the rate of four miles a minute.

ON July 1st, the new immigration regulations of the United States came into effect, and are expected to have a stimulating effect upon casual passenger travel from Canada. The present law, which has been in force for some years, and has resulted in friction and annoyance, authorizes the collection of a head tax on all passengers entering the United States from the Dominion who cannot prove Canadian citizenship. Under the new law, the poll tax is raised to $4 upon all aliens except Canadians and Mexicans, while free entry will be accorded to any passenger from this country who can prove residence in Canada for one year.

ONE of the most successful garden parties ever held in Watford was given on the beautiful grounds of Mr. R. C. McLeay, Quality Hill, on Thursday evening last under the auspices of the Young Ladies of the Watford Presbyterian Church. A profusion of electric lights, artistically arranged, together with flags and bunting, gave the grounds a gala appearance that was much admired by the large crowd in attendance. The electric light display was a credit to Mr. McLeay's genius and good taste. The program was in keeping with the surroundings, and was high class in every respect. The pastor, Rev. E. B. Horne, M. A., presided, and interesting addresses were given by Mr. J. Pettypiece, and Mr. Jno. Farrell. Mr. Farrell gave an interesting account of his recent visit to Europe, to M. Morrow, of New York City, and an old favorite here, delighted all with his vocal numbers, and the Watford Orchestra added to the enjoyment by their well rendered selections. The proceeds amounted to nearly one hundred dollars.

BEAR in mind that next Wednesday is Watford's civic holiday and all places of business will be closed. Do your shopping the day before.

Changes in Farm Life.

One fact mentioned by Henry Glendinning in his contribution in the Weekly Sun on the farm labor problem, must have caused a number of our older readers to reflect on the changes that have taken place in farm life in Ontario within their recollection. These changes are scarcely noticed in the hurry and bustle of everyday affairs, and yet they are nothing short of revolutionary.
The mothers of Ontario women of middle age would no more have thought of bringing baker's bread into the house than they would have considered a proposition to buy their cooked meats at the nearest store; today, it may safely be asserted that in a majority of the farm houses in older Ontario, baker's bread is in daily use. Even so recently as twenty years ago, practically every farm home was heated by wood, cut in winter from the original forest, still standing on the farm; in some counties of the province ninety per cent. of farmers now depend wholly on coal, save for summer cooking and there is scarcely a county in which more or less coal is not used in rural homes. So completely has the timber been removed in some cases that sons, or at least grandsons of the men who cleared up the original bush could hardly do an hour's real chopping if their lives depended on it. In the first decade of the latter half of the past century fresh meat was scarcely ever seen on a farm table in summer, save when an occasional lamb was killed; the number of such tables are now few which are not supplied either from the beef ring or nearby butcher. The fruit supply of the fathers of the present generation was limited to fresh wild berries in summer (dried for winter use) early apples in the fall and dried apples in winter; their more fortunate sons begin the season with strawberries grown in the home garden, continue it with raspberries gathered from the same source, follow it up with cherries, plums, pears and grapes, and finally pick in fall apples which will keep fresh until apples come again. Dresses for the women and coats and trousers for the men were within the recollection of those not yet past their meridian made in the home from cloth manufactured by hand looms from the farmers' own wool. In the matter of farm implements the change is even greater—from the hand rake to the horse rake, from the scythe to the mower, and the cradle to the binder, while the telephone is rapidly taking the place of the old-time road fence conversation. Still, even yet, it comes as something of a surprise to hear of soiled linen from the farm house going to the Chinese laundry. But we will grow accustomed to that in time, and to even greater changes which make for reduction of labor and increased comfort on the farm and in the farm home.

Let us at least pause long enough to remember with heartfelt thankfulness the pioneers who amid toil and privations laid the foundations of those comforts and conveniences, which, but for the toil and privation of those who are gone, we would not be enjoying today.—Weekly Sun.

Training Children.

"Mothers have not the time to train up their children; with their balls and their parties, and their golf and their bridge, and their five o'clock teas, the children go to the bad and are left to servants." Such were the words of S. H. Blake, K. C., at a recent meeting of churchmen in Toronto. That they strike at the root of the present-day evil which exists in many homes, of allowing children to "just grow up" like Topsy, cannot but be admitted. The magnitude of this growing evil among those who are charged with the rearing of a family can hardly be comprehended, unless one quietly sits down and takes abird's-eye view of those in his range of acquaintances who are "building homes," the progeny of which will some day rule in our courts, preach in our pulpits, and teach in our schools. Here and there one may catch the glimpse of homes where boys and girls are being carefully trained and nurtured in all that is best for them by wise parents—these are the redeeming features of what otherwise would be a hopeless picture of the future generations. Young boys and girls run the streets to their hearts' content, apparently under no restraint whatever, right here in the city of St. Thomas, when they should be in bed. Parents are continually being brought face to face with the evil results that follow this sort of child-training, but the evil continues. What are parents going to do about it?—Journal.

Does Your Heart Flutter?

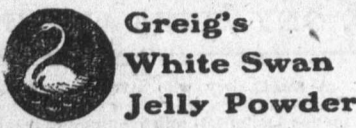

You know heart fluttering means you're not as well as you should be. It's an evidence of impaired nerve and muscular power. To obtain cure, try Ferrozone; it has a special action on the heart as seen in the case of Thos. Grover, of Cole Harbor, N. S., who says: "If I exerted myself it would bring palpitation. To carry any heavy weight or go upstairs completely knocked me out. When bad attacks came on I lived in fear of sudden death. Ferrozone gave me the very assistance it needed, and now I am quite well." For heart or nerves it's hard to excel Ferrozone, 50c per box at all dealers.

Be Observant.

The successful farmer must be observant. He must have his data in print also. A diary is the best thing any farmer can keep. A record of to-day's crops, to-day's weather, and the apparent and real results of his work, will do more to aid his successful husbandry than whole bundles of literature.
The soil is a great study and the action of barnyard manures, salt, plaster, green manures and other fertilizers upon it forms subjects as far reaching in chemical and physical research as does the work in the laboratory. No young man is so poor but can find in his lowly home the golden opportunities of delving into the unknown but knowable arena of the universe.
Agriculture, viewed in this light, is not only the basic industry of the world, but the mother of all sciences, arts and research. It will yet be seen when things are righted, that the common-places beneath our feet have contained the gems we so much prize, and when that time comes, how will the historians rate us who leave the farms and slave our lives in the whirl and toil of a dirty city?—World.

Nothing looks more ugly than to see a person whose hands are covered over with warts. Why have these disfigurements on your person when a sure remover of all warts, corns, etc., can be found in Holloway's Corn Cure.

Tough on the Editor.

Tennyson could take a worthless sheet of paper, write a poem on it and make it worth a fortune—that's genius. Vanderbilt can write a few words on a piece of paper and make it worth $5,000,000—that's capital. The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an "eagle bird," and make it worth $20—that's money. A mechanic can take material worth $5 and make it into watch springs worth $1000—that's skill. A merchant can take an article worth 85c and sell it for $1,—that's business. A lady could purchase an 85c hat but she prefers one that costs $27—that's foolishness. A ditch digger works ten hours a day and handles several tons of earth for $1.50—that labor; The editor, of this dept, could write a check for $80,000, and it would not be worth a dime—that's rough.

A SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE.—Everyone wishes to be successful in any undertaking in which he may engage. It is therefore, extremely gratifying to the proprietors of Parmentier's Vegetable Pills to know that their efforts to compound a medicine which would prove a blessing to mankind have been successful beyond their expectations. The endorsement of these Pills by the public is a guarantee that a pill has been produced which will fulfill everything claimed for it.

Congratulations, Miss Canada.

Forty years ago last Monday was the anniversary of a happy event—the Confederation of the Provinces of the Dominion. The Dominion was originally formed of the four Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Other Provinces came in speedily and in 1871 "Canada" meant a vast empire stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In 1885 the C. P. R. linked the East with the West and, to-day, a second great transcontinental line is under construction. The vast natural resources of the country are being developed rapidly and in no land in the world is there greater individual freedom, and more unbounded prosperity.

Educationally, morally and financially, Miss Canada is in the forefront of the nations of the earth.

Seed Time and Harvest.

Fears are chronic in mortal man. A slight turn of the elements and he is at once pessimistic. A cold spring breeds blue ruin in the minds of financial and business men. But all the time the world moves on in its own right economy. Floods and winds come and go, all to the purpose of the making of the world's economy. There is nothing useless in this eternal change.

Canada, and especially Ontario, has ever been blest with good crops. The failure of crops and abject misery of her people has never been witnessed. Howbeit then that we must deplore the situation? Our crop situation to-day is as good as has been of recent years. Our agricultural outlook is as good and just as assuredly will harvest time fill up the needful baskets in our little world of plenty. If man's inventions were on a par with the apparently aimless wanderings of the winds and streams, a more contented business pendulum would swing between its seasons.—World.

Egg Holds Two Gallons.

Recently the was exhibited in Liverpool an enormous egg, that of a tall, flightless bird, the Aepyornis maximus, which formerly made its home on the island of Madagascar. Only 20 of these mammoth eggs are known to be in existence, and they bring prices ranging from $175 to $300. Each egg is about a foot long and nearly a yard in circumference, and the shells will hold about two gallons of water.

THE trustees of Sylvan school have engaged Miss Helen Newton as their teacher for the ensuing year. Miss Newton takes charge of her new duties after the holidays.

A MINISTER in Toronto the other day stated that there were just as great heathens to be found on the back concessions of a country parish, as in any foreign country, and were just as hard to handle.

EARLE T. Showler, of Toronto, a former Strathroy and Arkona boy was one of the intermediate candidates who were successful in passing the examination in connection with the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario.

WE may name a hundred drawbacks in life; we may say it's all a battle and a never ending strife, then resolve to meet it bravely—stand the test—to do and dare. But the secret of true victory lies in one word be "square."

THE Leamington Post says:—It costs fifty cents to send a parcel from Amherstburg to Harrow, a distance of twelve miles, when the same parcel can be sent to Montreal, a distance of 600 miles, for 25 cents. It's about time this express rate business was regulated.

It is rumored that the future of the Consolidated School at Guelph may not be just what was expected. Some of the rural school sections are said to be intending to withhold their support in future. The matter is likely to receive the attention of the Education Department at an early date.

REV. Jasper Wilson, of Leamington, has been given a month's holiday by his congregation, and will leave for Muskoka next week. He will occupy Crossley and Hunter's cottage during his stay. On Sunday next he will, as usual, take the services morning and evening. The pulpit will be supplied regularly during his absence.

BILLY ran from the head of the stairs where he had taken in the gist of the talk at the dining table below. In the nursery he found his younger brother. "Gee, Jimmy," he cried, "mother's goin' to give it to daddy after the company's gone." "How do you know?" demanded Jimmy. "Why," answered Billy, "she's told her three times hand runnin' she was mistaken about something," and she only said, "Why, darlin'."

THE Adams Express Company pays a regular 8 per cent. dividend. Nine years ago it paid a special dividend of 100 per cent. Now it is about to pay another special dividend of 200 per cent. That would seem to be a case for a public utilities commission to whistle off some of the excessive profit. Some other express companies might be looked into at the same time.

THERE is nothing that will molest the modesty of the young man who buys his father and mother out with the specie of self-appropriation, and then pays them off with the imperial air that, being old and invalid they are nothing but his wages. Bound to exercise themselves to the end of their days for his glory. No, nothing will shame this young man, not even the truth, and it is said that it is the truth that cuts.

NO one is so independent as the farmer; he doesn't have to tuck; if he is insulted he can resent the insult without the fear of losing trade, and there is no earthly reason, with the improved farm machinery he now has in use why he should not have the eight hour day and such leisure for reading and study as would soon make him one of the best informed men in any calling. Why shouldn't the farmer be all this and more? Surely he has the possibilities.

THE best way to build up a town is for each and every man in it not to strive to rend and tear down. Whenever a man in the town is doing well do not try to tear him down. All the residents of a town are partners not opponents. In all likelihood the more business done by your rival the more you will do. Every gentleman who treats his customer honestly, courteously and fairly, will get his share, and the more business that can be secured by united effort the better it will be.

If your children moan and are restless during sleep, coupled, when awake, with a loss of appetite, pale countenance, picking of the nose, etc., you may depend upon it that the primary cause of the trouble is worms. Mother's Graves Worm Exterminator effectually removes these pests, at once relieving the little sufferers.

ADVERTISING is a science and is done now largely by experts in the larger concerns. It has become a recognized fact, too, that the newspaper is the best medium in which to advertise. Thousands of dollars are unwisely and almost uselessly spent in books, directories, programs and otherwise. The ludicrous part of the game is that men who are not regular advertisers are the most easily caught by the drummer for some fake advertising scheme.

BECAUSE he appeared in the pulpit wearing baggy, unpressed trousers, Dr. James H. Ecob has been forced to resign from the fashionable First Unitarian church, Philadelphia, Pa. Dr. Ecob said:—"The average man, without an independent income, has no business in a protestant pulpit. The average wage of the minister is below that of a day laborer. Yet a laborer can live in such a house as he pleases, and fix the scale of his household expenses. But for a minister all these things are determined by the church."

THERE is not a man in town, however indifferent to the claims of Christianity, who would want to rear his family here if there were no churches or church influence, for he at once recognizes them as the guardians of the morals of the community. What would be the condition of the town at the end of the next ten years if from this time until then the churches were closed? To what extent would life and property be safe? And yet, with all the organized agencies of the churches, the devil too frequently holds high carnival. What might one not expect if wholly divested of these good influences?

THE WORLD IS FULL OF PAINS.—The aches and pains that afflict humanity are many and constant, arising from a multitude of indistinguishable causes, but in the main owing to man's negligence in taking care of his health. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was the outcome of a universal cry for some specific which would speedily relieve pain, and it has filled its mission to a remarkable degree.

A Peculiar Death.

Cornwall, June 26.—A peculiar death, believed to have been suicide, occurred at Harmony, Dundas County, last week, when Mrs. Thomas Keys was found dead in a barrel of rain water. The deceased lady, who was about 60 years of age, had been in ill health for some time, and this is believed to have affected her mind. Her son and husband were milking at the time, and on their return found Mrs. Keys dead in the barrel. An inquest was deemed unnecessary.

Sir Wilfrid's All Red Route.

A well-known citizen of Toronto, who came back from England recently, had several conversations with Sir Wilfrid Laurier in London. He says the premier is very much interested in promoting the All Red route and that he intends to work out a 22-day service between London and Australia via Canada, and to have the fastest and best express steamships on the Atlantic that can be got, and to have them land at the nearest available ports on either side.

Canada, My Native Land.

Canada, my native land,
I love to sing of thee,
Land of my birth I prize thee most,
Sweet home of liberty:
Though other lands and other scenes,
My dazzled eyes may see,
Thy first and best, take all the rest,
My native land for me.

CHORUS.
Fair Canada, my native land,
(May discord never sever)
Blest are the ties that bind us,
To the Maple Leaf forever;
In spring behold the tiny gem,
Its tender tints of green unfold,
Till kissed by summer skies it glows,
In Autumn's burnished red and gold.

O, what tender memories cluster,
Shall they ever be forgot?
'Round the happy scenes of childhood,
And the old familiar cot;
Where first I saw thy beauty,
Of my own dear native sod,
And learned to honor Freedom,
My country and my God.

Star of the North in beauty shine
And speak true words to me,
And tell me of the glories,
Of a nation yet to be,
Whose flag floats proudly, grandly,
And loved from sea to sea,
Whose valiant sons unite to stand,
For home and liberty.

YOUR BLOOD UNHEALTHY IN THE SPRINGTIME.

You Should Cleanse the System at Once with Proper Medicine.

Spring house-cleaning is the solemn-duty of every good housekeeper,—this time, let it commence with your own system. All the organs are depressed, the liver is slow, kidneys are unhealthy. In consequence you are listless, vitality is low, color is bad, appetite is poor and you need medicine.

This is just the time to use Ferrozone; it excites splendid appetite, gives digestion splendid aid, supplies nourishment for all weak organs. As once you feel buoyant and strong. Nutritious blood courses through your veins, supplies strength and life, makes you tingle with animation and ambition.

No more headache:
None of that tired languor.
You feel like doing things because Ferrozone completely renews and strengthens your whole system.

For spring debility no medicine on earth gives such quick, lasting benefits as Ferrozone. It has raised thousands from downright weakness, gives them perfect health simply because it contains the fortifying elements that rundown systems require.

One week after using Ferrozone you'll feel like new. In a month you'll scarcely credit the push your vigor and spirits have received. Ferrozone is more than a tonic because its work lasts, its benefits remain and are not temporary. It restores health where other treatments fail, and especially in the springtime it should be used by every man, woman and child. Try it, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by all dealers.

Hard Luck Spoiled This Barn Raising.

Chatham, Ont., June 22.—Four men were severely injured in a succession of accidents at a barn-raising on the farm of Nelson Clark, Harwich.

John Houston was the first to sustain injury. A beam flew out of place and struck him, dislocating his thumb, and severely bruising his arm. Shortly afterwards Albert Forham was standing on the ground, when a plate fell from the building and struck him on the knee. He was severely injured.

A few minutes afterwards William Scott and Samuel Saitor were standing on a platform when the building was jarred, and the two men were thrown to the ground 30 feet below. The plate fell also, but luckily fell between them. Scott's condition is very critical; he received a severe gash in his forehead, and was rendered unconscious. Saitor also is in a very bad shape. He received a couple of broken ribs and internal injuries.

There is considerable doubt whether the last two will recover.

$10,000 ROBBERY.

Priceless Mementoes of Late Queen Victoria Mysteriously Stolen.

Victoria, B. C., June 28.—A sensational robbery was discovered last night following the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Victoria Alexander G. Elliott, who were married in the presence of royalty at Westminster on May 6.

The groom, who is a son of the dean of Windsor and a grandson of the late Queen Victoria, gave to his wife, who was Miss Daisy Langley, of Victoria, a large number of jewels and family heirlooms valued at $10,000, including miniatures of the late Queen Victoria, and lockets enclosing locks of hair of the late queen.

The couple left England by the steamer Empress of Britain on June 14 and the valuables mysteriously disappeared en route from a locked dispatch box placed inside a secured trunk.

TWO CENT RATE ALL OVER THE U. S.

Old Three Cent Rate to be Practically Abolished Across the Line on July 1st.

Chicago, June 22.—The Inter-Ocean today says:
"Passenger rates on all railroads of the United States will be reduced to two-cents a mile. The lowering of the price and complete abolition of the old three-cent rates will begin on July 1."

"This was the decision reached in Chicago yesterday after a long and heated discussion by the leading railroad presidents of all the Western and trans-continental roads.

"It was not a formal agreement, but is equally binding for two large loads doing a trans-continental business are said to have served an ultimatum to others that they would put the rate into effect immediately."

BOW TO INEVITABLE.
Following the meeting, officials of several of the roads admitted that they had been forced to bow to public opinion and anti-railroad legislation. They said that no further fight would be made on the two-cent laws already passed, and that the roads would accept the inevitable.

Doctors Change Their Methods.

Years ago they fought catarrh by internal dosing. They saw this ruined the stomach and changed to the exorated air cure, better known as "Catarrozone." This cure is sure to cure. It goes to the source of the disease; it destroys the causes that maintain catarrh and even in the worst cases permanent cure is guaranteed. Failure with Catarrozone is impossible. Antiseptic and far-reaching, it's bound to cure every time. Endorsed by more than twenty thousand physicians in America alone and sold in 25c and $1.00 sizes by all dealers.

Good Old Summer Time.

The first real summer weather of the season, such as gives crops the long-looked-for boom, has been with us the greater portion of the week. The sudden transition from cool days to midsummer heat has given such an impetus to plant life that much of the lateness of the season has already been overcome. The plant beds have shot up with an amazing growth that tobacco growers find they must work long hours to prepare their fields in advance of their needs in transplanting. By the close of this week a good start will have been made in the planting of the 1907 crop. The extreme heat of midday, however, has not been quite a favorable for the transplanting as growers desire, but they are making the best of the opportunity, in putting out the crop. They find that the plants have acquired an exceptionally fine root during the time they were making slow progress, which will be very much in their favor when transplanted to the fields, as it should take less time to overcome the shock in transplanting.

Why Chest Golds are Dangerous.

They lead to pleurisy and pneumonia, follow the advice of W. H. Powles of Powle's Corners, Ont., who says: "I used to be subject to attacks and although I used most everything nothing relieved quickly till I discovered Nerviline. I have used it for pleurisy and sore chest and found it just the proper thing. For lumbago and neuralgia it's quick as lightning. I cheerfully recommend Nerviline." Strongest, cleanest, most pain destroying liniment on earth is Powles' Nerviline, 25c bottles sold everywhere.

His Lordship Bishop Williams, of Huron diocese, recommends strongly that a man be appointed in this diocese to look after the organizing of young people's societies and Sunday schools.

The adjourned county court sittings were held at the Court House in Sarnia on Wednesday before Judge MacWatt when the case of Webb vs. Webb, a dispute between father and son, over the rental of a farm, was heard. J. I. Towers appeared for the plaintiff, and J. McEvoy, London, for the defendant. After a number of witnesses had been examined the case was settled, a consent judgment of $100 without costs being awarded the plaintiff.

G. T. E. Men Must Rest.

Attention is again being called by the heads of operating departments of the Grand Trunk, it is understood, to the need of train crews having sufficient rest after one trip on the road before they go out with another. This is being done through a notice sent out to those supervising firemen, engineers, conductors and brakemen. It is believed the company intends to strictly enforce the rule that such men will have, so far as possible, a fixed number of hours off duty so that they may have an opportunity of recovering from an weariness which the service might bring.

CHOP STUFF.

A new Bell Telephone line has been opened between Theford and Arkona. Arrangements are also being made to build a line from Theford to Sylvan.

Prof. Casselle the aeronaut, had an accident in making an ascent at Goderich last week. His parachute struck against a barn and the Prof. was somewhat injured.

The Detroit Free Press contains the following death notice: On June 24, at the home of her daughter, 425 Hubbard avenue, Mrs. Allison Roberts. Burial at Wyoming, Ont.

London Free Press: Rev. Father Stanley, formerly attached to St. Peter's Palace here, but now parish priest at Woodstock, was here on Thursday, when he was surprised by a number of friends of St. Peter's Cathedral congregation, who presented him with a very beautiful silver chalice, lined with gold.

Miss Eleanor Kent, who has severed her connection with the teaching staff of the Strathroy Collegiate Institute, where she has successfully taught for upwards of eight years, was waited upon by the students in the assembly room on Friday, before the school broke up for the summer vacation. Prin. Kerr occupied the chair. An eulogistic address expressing the sentiment of the students in regard to their high appreciation of her diligent efforts on their behalf and feelings of regret occasioned by her intended departure, was read by Miss K. C. Caidhead, while Miss Beryl Chalmers made the presentation of a beautiful silver tea set consisting of pitcher, sugar bowl and cream jug. Addresses, suitable to the occasion, were made by the faculty and a number of the pupils.

Monarch Broken Up.

Visitors to Isle Royale report that the decks and sides of the steamer Monarch, wrecked on the island last fall, were burst asunder by the swelling of her cargo of wheat and oats. The furniture and small effects of the steamer are said to be scattered through the homes of the residents of the island. Deputy Customs Collector McCallum, of the Soo, was at Isle Royale last week to confiscate these goods.

Conditions in the West.

The turnover of every business house in Regina exceeded last month what it did a year ago; the freight returns are larger in volume, and the Dominion Express Company's returns show a remarkable increase. Money, however, is tight as there is so much of last year's crop in the country yet that business is consequently tied up. It will keep the railways busy clearing up the wheat of last year in time to handle this crop. Notwithstanding the stringency of the money market the prosperity of the country continues and the settlers are pouring in, and taking possession of the vacant lands. Every train is loaded and the hotels are full all the time; the business houses are busy, and the carpenter's hammer beats time in the march of progress.

The Right to Dodge.

The statute says that the pedestrian has some right—in fact, first right—on the highway, but it is this motion lingers with any visit to some large business centre, such as Montreal or Toronto, will dispel the delusion. The pedestrian's right to walk on the earth is fast passing, if it has not already passed, into a tradition. His business on the highway consists principally in dodging every kind of vehicle in use.

MARRIED.

John Ivor, Respected Pioneer Passes Away.

Strathroy, June 27.—John Ivor, J. P., one of Strathroy's oldest business men, passed away at the family residence early this morning after a lingering illness.

About two years ago the late Squire Ivor was stricken with nervous prostration, and, despite the best medical aid, he passed peacefully away as above stated.

The deceased was born in the township of Adelaide seventy-two years ago, and when a young man was elected reeve of the township, a position he held for many years. About thirty-six years Mr. Ivor with his family moved to Strathroy, where he successfully carried on a retail grocery business for about twenty-five years, after which he launched into the general produce business, and with his three sons conducted one of the most successful produce businesses in Western Ontario.

The deceased gentleman was very enterprising and energetic in business affairs, and it must be said of him that he was at all times strong-opinioned man. Besides a wife, he leaves four sons and two daughters, George in British Columbia; David, Sidney, at home, and Frank, Mrs. F. B. Allan, Penchmont, Vt., and Mrs. David Lamont, Glencoe.

Conservative Convention.

There was a very fair attendance at the Conservative convention, held in the Victoria opera house, Sarnia, Friday afternoon, to nominate a candidate for the Dominion House.

The names of John R. Logan, R. Kenney, A. J. Johnston, J. M. Diver and R. E. Le Sueur were brought forward and all retired with the exception of Mr. Le Sueur, who was declared the unanimous choice of the convention.

Speeches were also delivered by Mr. W. J. Bennett, M. P. for East Simcoe, J. E. Armstrong, M. P., and Hon. W. J.

Hanna. The usual resolutions of confidence in the policy and leaders of the party in the Dominion and local Houses were passed.

One Each at Forest.

Forest, July 2.—The Chronicle baseball team, of Port Huron, played two games here yesterday. The first game was a fine exhibition, both teams putting up star ball. Port Huron made three runs in the first innings and held the lead to the end of the game, and won by a score of seven to four.

The second game was called for 6 o'clock, but did not end so favorably for the visitors. Forest commenced the run getting in the first inning, and batted well and often, outplaying the visitors at every stage of the game. Lucky for the Vankees, rain stopped the game at end of the sixth inning, when the game stood fourteen to two in favor of Forest.

The attendance was good and the two games were thoroughly enjoyed by Forest citizens.

Unfortunate Accident to Alvinston boy Results in Death.

Alvinston, July 3.—Alton Irving, 6 years of age, son of John Irving, tailor, of Alvinston, fell off the overhead Grand Trunk Railway bridge on to the M. C. R. track here last night, and when found was in an unconscious condition. Medical aid was summoned, but could do nothing for him and the little fellow died about two o'clock this morning.

Hicks for July.

Hicks, the St. Louis weather prophet, predicts some cloudbursts July 2 to 4, followed by a very warm wave about the 5th, with blustering thunder storms, changing to cooler about the 10th. Seismic and volcanic disturbances centre around the 10th, the date of a solar eclipse and heavy storms up to the 15th, possibly the 17th. Rainfall covering 18th to 20th will be light and scattering, far below actual needs. After the 23rd, cooler. Month winds up much warmer.

The death of Mrs. A. E. Ladell occurred at 6 o'clock Thursday morning, of last week, at the family residence, 353 Oxford street, London. Mrs. Ladell had been suffering from an affection of the heart for the past six weeks, but for some days past her condition had been improved, and she was able to be about as usual. Thursday morning she arose at 4 o'clock, when she was taken seriously ill again, and became unconscious. A physician was summoned, and although everything was done for the patient, she did not rally. The deceased was a daughter of the late Donald McColl, who lived near Ivan, and in addition to her husband she is survived by a brother, John, a merchant of Arkona, and a sister, Mrs. George Webster, of Forest.

BASE BALL.

Two of the best and cleanest ball games ever presented to the fans in Arkona was played here on Monday with the crack ball team of Oil City, Arkona winning both games. Owing to the rain in the morning the game was postponed, and a double header was played in the afternoon.

First game—Stan Smith tossed the ball and had them guessing all the way. From the go in the result was never in doubt. The game was marked by sharp clean fielding on both sides. Score—Arkona 9, Oil City 4.

Second game—The second game was the far more exciting of the two, from the beginning it was clearly seen it was going to be a pitcher's battle. "Short" Lankin delivered the goods for the Arkona boys and during the game showed great head work in keeping the ball away from the batters. Only two errors are recorded for this game. Everything was picked up in professional style. Score—Arkona 5, Oil City 3.

Diamond Glints—"Babe's" double play unassisted was brilliant work. "Cassie's" fielding in left was superb. "Perry," the one armed player is a wonder, he had the best batting eye on the field. "Slats," behind the bat had the base runners nervous about stealing second. "Longboat" handled the willow in great shape. "Grandpa" on first played his usual professional game. "Muldion" did his part amongst the rooters. The Oil City team are a gentlemanly lot of players. "Seagram" handled the indicator to the satisfaction of both teams. New York has offered "Short" $4,000 a minute, but says "Sovereign Bank is good enough for me."

Attendance 500. Gate receipts $30.00.

DIAMOND WEDDING.

One of those rare events, which but few live to celebrate, took place at Mandamin on Saturday, June 29th, when Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Smith observed the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding.

About a hundred guests were present, and the day was commemorated in royal style. Dinner was served in the hall at 2 p. m., Rev. J. Burkholder presiding. The groom is 83 and the bride 81, and they have a family of 15, 7 boys and 6 girls all living. A photo of the four generations, also the whole party, was taken by T. A. Adams, the Watford photographer.

CANADA THE QUEEN OF THE NORTH.

Written for Dominion Day, July 1, 1907.

O, Canada, thou wondrous land,
Our heritage and home;
A fairer one can ne'er be found,
Though o'er the world we roam.

High-throned on earth's primeval rocks,
The North Star on thy brow;
Auroral glory is thy crown,
A very Queen art thou!

From broad Pacific's sun-kissed waves,
To stern Atlantic's shore,
E'en to the mystic untrod North,
Thy rule extendeth o'er.

This vast "Dominion" is thine own,
None may dispute thy claim;
To hold it firm 'gainst every foe
Be this thy steadfast aim.

The flag is Britain's triple cross,
With Maple Leaf bedight;
And 'neath its folds thy stalwart sons
Will aye maintain thy right.

This proud inheritance they'll hold,
With never quailing heart;
And surely prove to all the world,
"Queen of the North" thou art.

Land of our faith our hope our love,
Upon thy natal day:
This trine homage of our hearts
Now at thy feet we lay;

And pledge ourselves, should foes assail,
In serried ranks we'll stand;
And as in past, e'en unto death,
Defend our matchless land.

Thy destiny, O Canada,
No prophet can foresee;
Yet if but true unto thyself,
Most glorious it must be.

Then rise, O Queen, thy future grasp;
Let not thy sceptre fall,
Till 'mid the nations thou shalt stand,
The noblest of them all.

A GREAT MEETING.

Pt. Huron Races will be Held July 9, 10, 11, and 12.

What promises to be the greatest harness race met ever held in Pt. Huron will be given July 9, 10, 11 and 12, when the fastest and best class of horses ever entered on a half-mile track will compete for the purses offered by the local association. Everybody enjoys a good horse race. From the time the starter says "Go" to the finish there is something fascinating about the movements of the horses and the applause of the crowd. The banner races at Pt. Any person enjoying an outing and desiring to see the best and cleanest sport in horsemould should not fail to attend the races on the above dates.

It is the purpose of the association to make the four days devoted to racing lively and interesting from beginning to end. It is certain that the meeting will be a grand success and full of interest to the many hundreds of people who have always found a day or so's pleasure and recreation at the Pt. Huron track.

Norman Gets One Year.

The trial of John Norman and George Ellinor, for assaulting and robbing Daniel Graham at Normandia hotel, Sarnia, took place before County Judge Mac-Watt at the court house, Sarnia, Friday afternoon. Particulars of this case appeared in these columns when the prisoners were before the police-magistrate for preliminary hearing. After hearing the evidence His Honor discharged Ellinor, as it was not shown that he took any part in the assault and robbery, though present in company with Norman when it occurred; neither did it appear that he shared in the proceeds. His Honor, in discharging Ellinor, said he would remember his connection with this case should he ever come before him again.

Norman, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was convicted and sentenced to one year in the Central prison. His Honor in passing sentence said he had been lenient considering the nature of the offence because Norman had pleaded guilty. Had he been convicted after hearing evidence he would very likely have given him five years and a flogging.

Graham, whose drunken habits had made him an easy mark for thieves and bar-room loafers, also came in for a severe lecture from the judge, who advised him to go back to his home and keep away from bar-rooms.

Mr. Johnson, P. S. I., for West Middlesex, has sent out notices that the arbitration in the school dispute in S.S. No. 1, Ekfrid, will be commenced at the school house on July 23. The trouble arises over the location of the school, many of the ratepayers claiming that it is not as near to the centre of the section as it should be, and that a number of the pupils are subjected to great inconveniences as a result. The school was only recently re-built.

ZAM-BUK
SAVED THIS BABY

Mrs. M. Barrett, 602 Moran St., Montreal, says: "A horrid rash came out all over my baby's face and spread until it had totally covered his scalp. It was irritating and painful, and caused the little one hours of suffering. We tried ointments and powders and salves, but he got no better. He was so fretful all day long that it made it very hard for me. He refused his food, got quite thin and worn, and was reduced to a very serious condition. I was one day advised to try Zam-Buk, and did so. It was wonderful how it seemed to cool and ease the child's burning, painful skin. He gradually became more easy and able to sleep. Zam-Buk from the very commencement seemed to go right to the spot, and the pimples and sores and the irritation grew less and less. Within a few weeks my baby's skin was healed completely. He has now not a trace of rash, or eruption, or eczema, or burning sore. Not only so, but cured of the tormenting skin trouble, he has improved in general health. He has got fat and plump, weighs no less than 32 lbs., although only 7 months old, and is in first-class condition."

Zam-Buk is sold at all stores and medicine vendors, 50c a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50.

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every particular for the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation is unfounded and accurately describes the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

The Harridan-Ormsley
Elopement
By Mary Wood
Copyright, 1908, by C. H. Sutcliffe

Katrina Harridan was the sixth of seven daughters, red haired and undersized, but that did not prevent her from being a power in her world. At the young ladies' seminary she was the acknowledged leader as well as the most intimate friend of her twelve classmates, each of whom had the promise of being bridesmaid at her wedding. In this they were prescient, since Thorndyke Ormsley had for some time made her the object of his attentions.

Thorndyke Ormsley did not altogether meet with the approval of the class. They thought him lacking in the dash and daring requisite for a suitable match for their president.

Katrina, however, viewed the matter from a different standpoint. As she confided to her youngest sister Pamela: "There is something restful in Thorndyke's conventionality. I always know just what to expect from him, and I fancy that I can furnish more of the element of the unexpected than is found in most orthodox families."

She therefore smiled upon her admirer. It followed that she had been graduated but a few months when he made up his mind that to marry her was the only proper course of action. He was too well regulated a young man to propose to Katrina without having first spoken to her father. This was a procedure that the astute morsel of girlhood had foreseen and arranged for.

As he afterward complained to Katrina: "I cannot understand it. Your father was brusque, nervous, quite unlike himself. All that I could get him to say was that you were too young and that he entirely disapproved. When I tried to argue, Pamela came in, and he intimated that the interview was closed."

Katrina buried her face in his shoulder. "Oh, dear, oh, dear!" she wailed. "What shall we do?"

Thorndyke attempted to comfort her, and he found the process so agreeable that he prolonged it for some moments before saying soothingly: "Do not be discouraged, dear. I will call on him again. He must be made to see reason." As a happy thought struck him: "Why don't you speak to him yourself? You girls have always seemed to get your way pretty thoroughly. He will say 'yes' to you."

"He won't," Katrina's voice, though smothered, was decisive.

"Why not?"

"Because I won't let him." Without giving her lover time to recover from the shock she hurried on: "Papa has lost a great deal of money these last years. He has hardly a hard time to get along, so that another wedding is out of the question. You don't know what a wedding costs. We have had five. So we do. There would be the presents and dresses for those twelve bridesmaids, the flowers, music, caterer, trousseau—oh, it is awful!" and she clasped her hands despairingly. "Papa is always so good. He wanted to mortgage the house, but I said 'no.'"

Light had begun to dawn upon Ormsley. "Let me, Katrina," he began.

Two red spots appeared in Katrina's cheeks. "And have you all ashamed to look you in the face? Never! Pamela and I have decided never to marry unless we elope."

Thorndyke Ormsley stiffened. "That is impossible."

Katrina began to cry in earnest. "I always knew that you were proper, but I never thought you were so horribly proper that you cared more for what people would say than you did for me," she sobbed.

"Your lover could not resist her tears. "You know that I love you better than anything else in the world," he said tenderly. "It is not entirely on my own account that I object. There is Aunt Harriet. She would be utterly scandalized by an elopement. Is it right to distress her when she has done everything for me and I am all she has?"

At this virtual capitulation Katrina's tears ceased to flow. "Then if I get Aunt Harriet's consent you will be willing to elope?" she asked guilelessly. "I would do anything to marry you," he answered, with unusual recklessness.

Katrina threw her arms around his neck. "Then it is as good as settled."

"You don't know Aunt Harriet," Ormsley admonished.

"Yes, I do. And, what is more, I wager that if you do exactly as I tell you she herself will suggest an elopement."

So the two put their heads together. Most men would have wished themselves in Ormsley's place. He must have been sensible of his privileges, for he left the house more in love than ever and vowed to play his part in the comedy. Katrina refused to admit the possibility of a tragedy.

Miss Harriet Ormsley lived in a big old fashioned house called the Larches. She had the only victoria in town, her butler always stood behind her chair at dinner, and her parlor maid wore French caps. In all respects her establishment was most correct. But its rhythmic order and the mind of its mistress were alike disturbed by the strange behavior of young Mr. Ormsley. For three or four days he had eaten scarcely anything, although his aunt ordered his favorite dishes, and Jenkins served them to a nicety. Instead of going out of an evening he brooded over the fire or feverishly paced his room. His rapid footfalls could be heard long after the rest of the family had retired.

Miss Harriet loved her nephew, as she had his father before him. When he had successfully refused to take a tonic, see a physician or consider a sea trip alarm overcame her usual stiffness, and she implored an explanation. Thorndyke gave it reluctantly. He loved Katrina Harridan. Katrina loved him. Her father objected. That was the end of it.

Miss Harriet listened in amazement. An Ormsley, her nephew, refused by a Harridan, a mere upstart in society! It was ridiculous, preposterous!

Thorndyke refused further discussion of the subject. His aunt lay awake most of the night, and as the clock chimed the hours of the early morning so did her indignation grow.

It was almost at boiling point the next day when Katrina was announced. Before her hostess could speak the girl threw herself in her arms.

"Oh, dear Miss Harriet," she cried, "of course Thorndyke has told you. I suppose I ought not to be here, when I am forbidden to have anything to do with him, but it can't be wrong to come when he is away."

Miss Harriet found herself patting Katrina's head.

"Do not cry, my dear," she said with difficulty, due to a remarkable stricture in her throat. "It is a deplorable situation, but your father cannot be an entire—He must be made to see reason. I will call and explain."

This conclusion was far from reassuring to Katrina. Yet the young diplomat managed to murmur with a fair assumption of gratitude: "That is so good of you, dear Miss Harriet. If Thorndyke and I are ever happy, it will all be due to you."

On her way home Miss Harridan found it imperative to call at her father's office—or, rather, to call on the office boy. Tommy Jenks was her staunch admirer, for she had a way of treating him as if he were already a member of the firm.

"Tommy, if Miss Harriet calls to see father during the next few days just tell her that he is engaged. She would only worry him. Do you think that you could keep her out—for me?" She smiled engagingly.

The office boy was flattered by this proof of confidence. "Sure I can, Miss Katrina," he declared stoutly. "Just you trust to Tommy Jenks."

Miss Ormsley called at the office several times. At each visit Tommy blandly assured her that Mr. Harridan was out.

"It is impossible," she declared indignantly. But the office boy played his role to perfection.

Katrina's next visit to the Larches found its mistress in a state of mind quite at variance with her usual elegant calm. "Your father, in coalition with his impudent office boy, has refused to see me. He shows regard neither for my age and position nor for the happiness of my nephew."

Katrina listened meekly, for she saw that no suggestions were needed. The Ormsley blood was up. Yet even she was surprised by the suddenness with which Miss Harriet seized her by the shoulders and half swung her round as she cried, "If you had any spirit in you, you would marry without his consent!"

"Elope!" Katrina's tone was horror struck.

"Yes, elope!"

"But what would people say?" the girl objected.

"An Ormsley is above the vulgar criticism of the general public," Miss Harriet answered majestically. And indeed you can scarcely call it an elopement when I will see you married and give a reception at the Larches in the evening."

So finally Katrina and Thorndyke allowed themselves to be won over to Miss Ormsley's way of thinking. That fiery old lady insisted on making all of the arrangements and was filled with exultation whenever she thought of Mr. Harridan and his discomfiture.

She was the only witness at the ceremony, for when she suggested a few guests Katrina demurred.

"If I cannot have my own family I do not want any one but you," she declared. "I would have liked to have had those twelve bridesmaids," she added, with a self sacrificing sigh.

"They will all be there in the evening," Miss Harriet comforted.

So they were, but it was an eleventh hour guest that had the place of honor. It was on the way home from church that Katrina begged Miss Harriet to break the news to her father and to implore him to forgive her on her wedding night. Softened by the sight of the youthful happiness, Miss Harriet could not refuse.

In this embassy she was successful. Mr. Harridan presented a bold front, but he speedily capitulated before her eloquence. Miss Harriet almost forgave his former obduracy since it made her victory the more signal. Thus it happened that Mr. Harridan kissed the bride and drank to the health of the groom with equal fervency.

When Mr. and Mrs. Thorndyke Ormsley were driving to the station, the first step on their wedding journey, the groom gave voice to a presentiment which all evening had clouded his happiness.

"I noticed that young Croxton was very attentive to Pamela tonight. Does that mean another elopement?"

Katrina gave a happy laugh as she held up a slip of paper.

"Did you not see this, stupid boy? It is Aunt Harriet's present to me, a check for $5,000. She said she wanted me to be sure of my welcome in the family. Dear Aunt Harriet! It was a shame to fool her. Yet I think she enjoyed it, and it was absolutely necessary. Part of this check shall go for Pamela's wedding. I can promise you that this shall be the last Harridan elopement."

Soldiers and Rain.

The rain fell in torrents on the soldiers tramping sturdily down the muddy street.

"Why don't they put up their umbrellas?" said a spectator.

With a sneer an elderly man replied: "Don't you know, sir, that soldiers never carry umbrellas? History records just one instance of their having done so. It was in an engagement of the civil war, and a group of officers were holding up umbrellas to shield themselves from a thunderstorm when General Grant passed. The general frowned at the sight and sent an aid to the officers with this historic message: 'I do not approve of the use of umbrellas in war and will not allow any of my soldiers to make themselves ridiculous in the eyes of the enemy.'"

"Since that time," ended the old man, "no soldier has ever dared to protect his uniform with the effeminate umbrella."

Polite Star Singers.

Prima donnas in the same city having the habits of polite society are particular about making formal visits to each other.

It happened in Detroit that Patti and Nicolini, her husband, and Albani and her spouse, Ernest Gye, were staying at the same hotel. Patti and Nicolini had gone out for a drive, and Albani, seeing them pass her window, called to her husband: "Ernest, they have gone out. We had better leave cards for them at once."

On returning Patti received the cards and later, when Albani and Gye had gone to rehearsal, said to Nicolini: "Ernest" (his name was Ernest), "they have gone to the theater. This is a good time to return their visit."

How He Got Even.

During civil war times Gilman Fay, a local character known by all as Gil, being in need of groceries and household necessities, went to the general store in Fayville, kept at that time by Colonel Dexter Fay, to make his purchases. The amount was 68 cents, and Mr. Fay tendered the clerk a one dollar bill. Change being scarce in the store, as was often the case during these strenuous times, the clerk passed him some slips of paper with figures on them to equal the amount of change due. Gil looked at the slip, then at the clerk, and slowly said, "What's all this?" "Why, that is what we are giving for change now. When you get one dollar's worth, we will redeem them," replied the clerk, and Gil went out. A day or two after this occurrence Gil went to the store again for some tobacco. The clerk passed out the plug, and Gil put his hand in his pocket, pulled out a handful of pumpkin seeds and handed them to the clerk, saying: "These are what I am using for change now. When you get a dollar's worth, I will redeem them."—Boston Herald.

A Custom of the Yuma Indians.

Burning the dead, as observed among the Yumas, is interesting. The body is first thoroughly wrapped and then placed on logs and brush over a hole in the ground. A bed of logs is built up at each side and at the head of the bier, which is next covered over and strewn about with dry fagots. The flames are applied, and while they burn the clothing, blankets, etc., of the deceased are added to the fire. The horse of the dead man, however, is not burned among the Yumas, as is the custom with some Indians. A day or two after death the wigwam of the deceased, if an adult, is burned, the rest of the family then going to live with some relative. The Yumas make a great show of sorrow over their dead. Later they are never mentioned at all.—Southern Workman.

Circus Folk Hard Workers.

The amount of physical work done by the performers of the circus is scarcely believable. These people make the care of their bodies their religion and they will do nothing that militates against their strength of their health. When the performers rise in the morning they hurry to the cook-tent for breakfast. Then they must get into their trappings for the parade, failure to report at ten-thirty involving a fine of $5. If the big tent is up early, the chances are that the arena will be filled with performers practicing for an hour before the parade. After the street display the performers have their dinner and then they must dress for the grand entrance from which none is excused. Only a few of the circus folk escape with a single act. Nearly all of them do two and most of them three acts, for each of which they must change their costume. A woman performer often works in a gymnastic act on the ground, another in the air, rides in a menage act or two, and in the flat races at the end of the performance. In addition she will very probably "do a turn" in the concert after the show, and she must change her costume for each appearance.

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;

Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;
Mix, and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, drinking plenty of water.
The above prescription has been found invaluable in the treatment of kidney, bladder and urinary troubles, and diseases arising therefrom, such as rheumatism, sciatica, lame back and lumbago, and we feel that the public are entitled to particulars concerning it.
A prominent physician states that the excellent results that have been obtained from the use of the mixture are due to its direct action upon the kidneys, assisting them in their work of filtering all poisonous waste matter and acids from the blood and expelling same in the urine, and at the same time restoring the kidneys to a healthy condition.
He further states that anyone suffering from affections of this nature will find it to be very beneficial, and suggests that it be given a trial.

Toad Superstitions.

Superstitions as to toads having been early inculcated, it has been exceedingly difficult to get rid of them. One remnant of this ancient credulity still exists. It is in regard to the absolute imperishable character of the toad. There are well educated Americans who believe that a toad hops out alive from a slab of stone though he has been imprisoned there for several millions of years. We give in brief Dr. Buckland's experiments with toads in 1825. He took twelve toads and had the toads put in twelve cells cut in sandstone, and over these he put plates of glass. They were buried in a garden for over a year. When exhumed they were all dead. Then some were put in porous sandstone, and at the end of a year a few were found "greatly emaciated." When buried for another year, they all died. Toads were inclosed in wood, and they all died. The conclusion is that, deprived of atmosphere or without food, toads must die. If a toad as a tadpole could have entered a crevice in a rock, it might have grown, but would have died in time for want of air and food. This toad nonsense is so ineradicable that it is supposable it never can be dissipated.

Pellisson's Little Adventure.

Pellisson, the famous French historian, was frightfully ugly. One day as he was walking down the street a beautiful lady took him by the hand and conducted him into a house close by. Dazzled by the lady's charms and flattering himself that this adventure could not possibly entail any unpleasant consequences, he had not the strength to offer any resistance. His fair captor introduced him to the master of the house, saying: "Line for line, exactly like this," whereupon she took her departure. Pellisson, on recovering from his astonishment, demanded an explanation. The master of the house, after sundry apologies, confessed that he was a painter.

"I have undertaken," he added, "to supply the lady with a picture of the 'Temptation in the Wilderness.' We have been debating for a couple of hours as to the mode of representing the tempter, and she ended by saying that she wished me to take you for a model."—Revue Anecdoteque.

The Judge Sinned Too.

Wirt Gerrard, in his volume on "Greater Russia," says that in the czar's country one may not call another a fool. There is a Scriptural injunction against that, and it is consequently a legal offense too. Not long ago a "vint" lawyer called his partner a fool for needlessly trumping their trick. The offended man brought his accuser before the court. The culprit pleaded provocation and, knowing that the judge was a passionate follower of the national game, explained the matter in detail. The judge became interested and got excited as the particulars of the play were given. "I took the trick with my queen, and instead of throwing away, my partner played the king!" shouted the accuser. "The fool!" said the judge. Then he hastily dismissed the case.

The Berry He Was.

When Bishop Berry of the Methodist Episcopal church was a young preacher he once gave a lecture in a rural community. Wishing to be witty, he announced to his audience that he was a berry and called upon them to state what kind of berry. Nearly every berry known in the vicinity was guessed, and the speaker refused to share the qualities of any of those named. At last an old lady who was not sympathetic with the seeming levity of the lecturer, arose and exclaimed in a squeaky voice: "I know what kind of a berry you are. You are a gooseberry and a very green one at that. Go on with the lecture." And the lecturer did quickly.—Christian Work.

Animal Shells.

It is a curious fact that the shells of certain animals, such as cephalopods, brachiopods and some bivalves, are commonly marked by retrogressive changes as age advances. "The old man returns to second childhood in mind and body," states a well known scientist at Washington, "and the shell of the cephalopod has in old age, however distinct and highly ornamented the adult, very close resemblance to its own young."

Started Early Enough.

"I want to talk to you, Mary, about that young man of yours," said her father. "When did he say good night to you last evening?" "At 10 o'clock," replied the fair girl. "What? Why, it was 1 o'clock at least!" "Oh, that was when he finished saying it!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Second Book.

"Your first book, if it is a success, generally leads to the success of the second," remarked a rising author. "Yes, indeed," said another. "It was the success of my first book that made my second. My second book," he added, "was a bank book."

A Bluff With a Cork Leg.

"Cork legs are not bad in their way," said the man who had one. "Some people are rather sensitive about theirs, but I'm not. I even have a little fun with it sometimes. I was in the smoker of a railroad train the other day talking with three other men while we puffed away at our cigars when the conversation turned on stoicism. Every man had an incident to relate about some acquaintance's remarkable ability to bear extreme pain without a murmur. When the third man had finished his yarn I mentioned casually that I rather prided myself on my ability to put up with a good deal of pain without making a squeal. 'To illustrate,' I said, and then opened my pen-knife and slowly forced the point of its long, keen blade into my leg just above the knee, at the same time smiling pleasantly. One man fainted, and another became deathly pale, and the third got up and hastily left the car."—New York Press.

Stories of Brahms.

Many stories are told of how the composer Brahms treated pianists and singers who were eager to get his criticism. If one of these aspirants for his favor was fortunate enough to find him at home and be received, Brahms' first concern was to seat himself on the lid of his piano, a position from which he rightly deemed few would have the temerity to oust him. If this failed, he had recourse to the statement that the instrument was out of tune. "Oh, that does not matter," remarked one courageous individual. "Perhaps not to you, but it does to me," replied the master. On one occasion he was just leaving his house when a long haired youth, with a bundle of music under his arm, hailed him with, "Can you tell me where Dr. Brahms lives?" "Certainly," answered the master in the most humble manner, "in this house, up three flights." And, so saying, he hurried away.

The Treacherous Lioness.

"Lionesses are far more dangerous than lions," said an animal trainer. "Their tempers are more uncertain. They are more treacherous. They are more wily. If a lion is in a bad humor, he shows it. He growls and snarls and lashes his sides. You know what is in the wind and prepare accordingly. But a lioness in a bad humor is as affectionate as a girl. She brushes, purring, against your leg, and she minds you with the joyous alacrity of a good fox terrier. Then, as soon as your back is turned, whizz—a yellow streak shoots through the air, and you are on your back, and she is at your throat. With all the cat tribe it is the same. Whenever you hear of a trainer mauled or mangled, be sure it was a female, not a male, cat that did the deed."

Greenland's Glaciers.

Nearly all the Greenland glaciers and tongues from the internal ice cap terminate in vertical faces from 100 to 1,000 feet high, presenting facilities for investigation. The vertical faces reveal pronounced stratification on the basal ice, even earth-materials in the bases carried by the ice being arranged in layers. Fine laminations were seen twelve or twenty to an inch. The layers are sometimes twisted and contorted and even "shoved" over each other. The glacier movement at the ice border is a foot per day to a foot per week.

Force of Example.

"Talk about the instinct of the lower orders! I built a little two story house for our parrot not long ago, and the very next morning after I put her in it she looked out of the window and greeted me in a very profane fashion." "Why should she do that?" "Complaining about the house, I fancy." "But why should she swear at you?" "Took me for the janitor, no doubt."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TORONTO.

Toronto, July 2.—The run at the city cattle market today was 25 loads, with 279 head of cattle, 764 sheep and lambs, 100 hogs and 128 calves.

The market today apparently had not got over the effects of the holiday, for there were very few cattle offering and dealers were not particularly anxious to do business. There was a light run of only 25 cars, with less than 300 head of cattle, the balance being made up of sheep and lambs, hogs and calves. The market was somewhat of a disappointment to the few sellers on hand, as with such a light run they naturally expected there would be a keener demand to buy. As it turned out the buyers evidently were content to wait till a little later in the week, rather than run the risk of paying too high prices today. The market was therefore, steady, with trade slow and draggy. The stocker trade is quiet, but there is a steady demand for good quality at weights from 300 pounds and up. The lighter stuff is not wanted.

Sheep and lambs—Spring lambs are now quoted at 8c to 9c per pound; export ewes, unshorn, $4.50 to $5; shorn, $4.25 to $4.75; bucks, $3.50 to $4; market easier and prospects lower.

Export market—Medium export, $4.90 to $5; choice, $5.10 to $5.45; extra choice, $5.50 to $6.

Butchers—Market easier, choice picked butchers' cattle, $5 to $5.40, and ordinary to good butcher cattle at $4.60 to $4.90; common butcher cows and mixed cattle easier at $3.50 to $4.

Light stockers—Market dull and easier at $3.50 to $4; fair demand for real good quality, but the rough stuff not wanted.

Heavy feeders—Steady for good feeders, 1,050 to 1,100 pounds, at $4.75 to $5.

Calves—Market steady at $5 to $10 each.

Hogs—Market weak and 15c lower; select, 60; lights and lats, $8.45.

Milk cows—Market very dull and cows almost unsaleable.

The Western Crop Outlook.

Mr. J. J. Williams, of Lipton, Sask., formerly of Kingscourt, has forwarded the following crop report. Mr. Williams reports the crops in the Lipton district as just as good, and even better on the Touchwood trail. The wheat, barley and oats look extra good. No frost since the 27th of May. Fire rains, rapid growth, and excellent climate. The Watford colony at Lipton are all well. A supplementary crop report, covering a portion of the points on the main line, a portion of the prairie section, and the Moose Mountain section, was issued by the Canadian Pacific railway yesterday. The reports came from a portion of the country where the rainfall has been abundant and are entirely satisfactory. Grain is up to a height of six to eight inches, the weather is warm and the progress of growth all that could be hoped for. The report is as follows:

Accident Proves Fatal.

Petrolia, June 27.—Henry Garrison, foreman of the oil property of William English, in Osborne, lost his life yesterday afternoon in a sad accident which occurred at the well where he was working. No one witnessed the accident, but as far as can be learned Mr. Garrison became caught by the legs in the machinery of the pumping rig. When discovered both legs were horribly mangled, and the unfortunate man was suffering awful agony.

As quickly as possible medical aid was summoned, but nothing could be done, and Mr. Garrison passed away during the night. He was widely known among oil men throughout the district and was universally esteemed.

NERVOUS INDIGESTION.

A Severe Case Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I suffered so much from nervous-dyspepsia that I feared I would become insane," says Mrs. Alfred Austin, of Varney, Ont. "For months," says Mrs. Alfred Austin, "I was prostrated with this monthful of food without it nearly shocking me. I was affected with such terrible feelings of dizziness and nausea that I had to leave the table sometimes with just two or three mouthfuls of food for a meal. My nerves were all unstrung and I grew so weak that I could not even sweep the floor. In fact my nerves affected me to such an extent that I feared to be left alone. I could not sleep at nights, and used to lie awake until I feared my reason would leave me. I was taking medicine constantly, but it did not do me a bit of good. I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on a former occasion with good results, and at last I determined to try them again. I can say nothing better than that these pills have been a blessing to me, as they have made me a well woman. Every trace of the indigestion is gone, and my nerves are as strong and sound as they were in girlhood. Now I can eat anything that is on the table, and I get sound refreshing sleep at nights. All this I owe to the faithful use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I shall never cease to praise."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills fill the veins with new, rich, red blood. That is why they strengthen the nerves and every organ in the body. That is why they cure all troubles due to bad blood or weak shattered nerves, such as anaemia, with its grinding, wearing headaches, headaches and sideaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, heart palpitation, indigestion, St. Vitus dance, partial paralysis, kidney troubles, and those special ailments that render the lives of so many women and growing girls a burden. But you must get the genuine pills with the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, on the wrapper around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FAMILY REUNION.

A very enjoyable time was spent last week at the home of Rev. C. A. Parson, pastor of the Baptist Church, Watford, the occasion being the home coming of the family. For the first time in ten years the sons and daughters were all home at one time. Among those from a distance, were Mrs. G. A. Campbell, son and daughter, from Lachute, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Zimmerman, and three children, Collingwood; Miss Nina Parson, Collingwood; Mrs. Della Pettit, and daughter, Villa Nova; Mrs. W. E. Merio, and son, Mt. Pleasant; Miss Alma Parson, London, Ont.

The occasional reunion of loved ones is always a source of pleasure and profit. One pleasing feature of this gathering was the presentation by the daughters to their parents, of a beautiful Morris chair. May the gracious Father of love guide by His counsel this family into the grand home gathering above.

EARLY ADVICE SAVES TIME AND OFTEN PROLONGS LIFE.

My representative will be with you on Wednesday and Thursday, July 10th and 11th, 1907, at Rogers' Hotel, fully authorized by me to demonstrate to you my famous patent invisible ear druggery advised by experts to be the wonder of the age. My advice to all who suffer from head noises, ringing in the ears or the most complicated cases of defective hearing should sacrifice time and other appointments and make this the appointment of a life time by having my representative Dr. Bell do for you in a few minutes what some of you have longed for for years. The virtue of these ear drums is at once apparent and the price so reasonable that all can afford. Remember that this is the original and latest invention of M. D. Tugendhaft, and Dr. Bell is my authorized agent.

Rainfall was Light.

Compared with the same month of 1906 June was somewhat dry in London. The rainfall a year ago amounted to 4.35 inches, while last month the fall amounted to only 3.26 inches, a decrease of 1.02 inches.

The warmest day of the past month was the 18th, when the thermometer registered 87 degrees above. The lowest reading was on the 7th—35 degrees above.
