MERCHANTS CLUB HAVE A GALA DAY

Accompanied by Bridgetown Band
Local Business Men Put in a Busy Afternoon and Evening at Margaretville, in Their Annual Outing

On Wednesday afternoon last the Merchants Club of Bridgetown enjoyed their annual outing in the pretty village of Margaretville, famous for its cooling breezes, its banana royals and the hospitality of its inhabitants.

About 1.30 the cars began to roll away toward the seashore and in all about forty-five of the merchants, business and professional men generally took in the outing which was promised a howling success. All roads led to Margaretville even if one or two cars went through Port George and Melvern Square. The only halt was made at Spa Springs where the merchants drank of the invigorating waters and pursued their way to the bay shore.

On arriving at Early Hotel the Bridgetown band discoursed a splendid programme which drew a large audience for the merchants were not alone on their picknicking. At least two other large picnics also were on. At the close of the musical programme the procession wended its way to a large open field near the shore and for a considerable period two baseball teams chosen from the members "The White Sox and Red Sox", put up a mighty struggle.

The line up was as follows:

Red Sox:
M. Young, (p.); C. Troop, (c.); H.
T. MacKenzie (1st. b.); P. Longmire
(2nd. b.); R. Longmire 3rd. b.); H.
S. Maceo (s.s.); J. Bugles (1.f.); P.
Connell (c.); B. N. Messinger (r.f.).

White Sox:
J. A. Myers (p.); J. McLean (c.);
H. Young (1st. b.); E. Burns 2nd. b.);
A. J. Burns 3rd. b.); A. B. MacKenzie (1.f.); Clifford Porter (c.); Capt.
W. E. Gesner (r.f.); J. S. Moses (s.s.); Umpire at plate, W. D. Lockett; on bases, A. C. Charlton.

There were many features including a three bagger by H. T. MacKenzie. Home run Dr. Jack Ruzgles.
Double play, Troop. P. Longmire, MacKenzie. The field was not exactly favorable for avoidance of errors but the work was snappy and kept the Editor on the quiver and he may have missed a few brilliant plays at that. After mature consideration and careful calculation it was found that a draw was the result and it was decreed that the second match in the series would be played a year from date, the winners to be present with a loving cup.

After this match a short exhibition was played by some of the younger members with the Torbrook team, which resulted to the advantage of the former. The last three innings of the first match were umpired by Mr. Bruce Graves, of Kingston, who proved very strict in the rules and let nothing get by him. Everything went according to Hoyle at his best.
After baseball quits were pitched and general sports took place including rifle shooting competition. 1st.
R. V. Arnold 64; 2nd, Ross Bishop 59. Cash prizes were awarded in these. The hundred yard dash for contestants under 175 pounds proved a stubborn and strenuous contest.
Harry Magee by superhuman efforts ramped in a winner with Max Young a close second. The first gentleman won the box of cigars and the second

MILBURY'S DEATH STILL A MYSTERY

Detective Melsaie's Investigation Throws Some Light And Disposes of a Number of rumours, Exact Facts Likely Never to be Known.

Detective Melsaie left on Saturday after investigating as fully as possible circumstances connected with the death of Rupert B. Milbury, whose body was found floating in the Annapolis River on Monday afternoon of last week. The Detective was sent down here at the instance of the Attorney General's Department and while the investigation failed to disclose the manner in which Milbury came to his end (this will probably always remain a mystery) still it cleared up a number of points and appears to have done away with any theories of foul play by establishing pretty clearly any absence of motive.
It will be remembered in last week's report that it was stated by Mrs.
Henshaw that Milbury had told her he had been robbed of watch and $150.00 in money but by whom he did not know. (In last week's report an extra "and" was showed in somewhat and made it appear that the unfortunate man's watch and chain were found. This should have read watch chain as no watch was found on him when taken from the river.

INSTALLATION OF SESSION

Programme of Much Interest at Gordon-Providence United Church.
Special Music And Inspiring
Address by Pastor.

The service at Gordon-Providence
United Church on Sunday evening last was largely attended, and greatly appreciated by everybody. A pleasing and impressive feature of the service was the installation of the members of Session.

The following were installed into office: Messrs. Dr. M. E. Armstrong, R. J. Messinger, H. B.

THE GASOLINE TAX

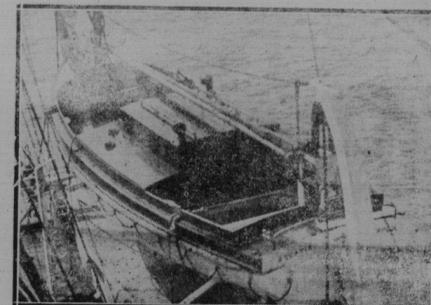

During the closing session of the last Nova Scotia Parliament an act was introduced, but did not become effective, re the establishment in this province of a gasoline tax. That act was also sponsored by the executive of the Nova Scotia Motor League, which organization very strongly supported the late Government in its undertakings along these lines.

Without dissenting voice over 4,000 cattle owners in 200 districts have voted to make Prince Edward Island a disease-free area under the Department of Agriculture arrangement which calls for a two-thirds vote of all cattle owners.

Here and There

Canada spent $49,656,179 last year for pensions and re-establishment of Veterans of the Great War, according to a report recently issued from Ottawa by the department in charge of this work.

Wireless For Lifeboats

The Cunard liner Ascania, constructed for Canadian service, is equipped with motor lifeboats fitted with wireless installation. Each one of these boats is capable of travelling at a speed of 8 knots, with 10 ordinary lifeboats in tow. The Ascania is due at Montreal on her maiden voyage Sunday evening, May 31.

Opposition to the gasoline tax has been met by a comparison with the tolls collected years ago on improved roads. Mr. Trumbower estimates that average mileage and gasoline consumption, that a three-cent tax is equal to 2.20 cents per mile, whereas on turnpikes in Virginia and Maryland only a few years ago the tolls according to this authority, averaged 2.7 cents per mile.

The record established recently at Acme when 114 horses worked in one field at one time seeding the crop of Mrs. C. W. King, has been broken at Gadsby, Alberta. When the neighbors of J. B. Ball who recently suffered a broken arm, put in his 100-acre crop, 39 outfits were at work on one day and 175 horses. The crop was put in in a single day.

WHAT THE VEGETABLES SAID

Out in the garden the wind blew fresh Twilight was just about due; I heard the vegetables talking, Listen! I'll tell what I heard to you.

EPITAPH ON A PROFITEER

CLEMENTSPORT

"THE QUEEN OF THE BASIN"

Clementsport is well filled with summer visitors, every cabin and bungalow is occupied and the hotel is full to overflowing. What is needed is more accommodation. There is a splendid opening for a large bungalow colony.

Quite a round of party! Dances, Club Bakes and Garden Parties. On Thursday 6th inst. Mrs. Saville Johnston and Mrs. Colin McDonald entertained a number of their friends at a dance in Ely Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Porter were host and hostess at a dance on Monday evening, 10th inst. in Ely Hall. During the dance Miss Lily Porter gave an exhibition of fancy dancing which was exceedingly well done, and as thoroughly appreciated by all present.

Thursday, 13th inst. witnessed another dance in "Ely Hall." This was a "Poverty Dance" and some of the "shillings" were artistically amusing, making things go merrily. Mrs. Saville Johnston and her sons and daughters were the genial hostesses and hosts. Another dance is slated for Thursday, 20th inst.

The great event of the season was the annual St. Clements Garden Party. Busy workers had been actively employed all day Tuesday getting the grounds ready, and Wednesday morning getting the booths decorated and the flags and bunting in place, and on Wednesday afternoon it took place. Long strings of autos were parked on the main highway and up the hill. Motor boats lay at Ely Hall slip, and some six hundred jolly people crowded the grounds. All the booths were well patronized. Afternoon tea was served on the Rectory verandah, and the tea was served at 3 p.m. under canvas on the tennis court, some 100 being given tea at a sitting. All the decorations were beautiful. The candy booth, presided over by Mrs. Stamper, Miss Ethel Purdy and Miss Mary Romans, being most unique. The total receipts were $601.17, being the largest amount yet received at our garden parties here.

The St. Clements Parish wishes to take this opportunity to cordially thank its many friends for their patronage, and hopes to welcome them all again at the Garden Party of 1926.

A number from here attended the "Trinity" Garden Party in Digby on the 5th inst. and St. Lukes Garden Party in Annapolis Royal on the 7th inst.

The Baptist sale and tea held here on the 5th inst. was well patronized. A number attending from outside the village. The receipts amounted to over $100.

Mr. Todd of Southington, Mass., who has been visiting his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. Chase, returned home on Saturday 8th inst. He expressed himself as most favourably impressed with the beauty and charm of the "Queen of the Basin." We trust Mr. Todd will decide to make his summer home here.

Several bridge parties have enabled those who enjoy this memory training game to keep in practice. On Friday afternoon 7th inst. Mrs. Howard L. Potter entertained a number of her friends at "bridge." On Friday afternoon 14th inst. The Misses Ward gave a "bridge," which was most enjoyable.

We notice that Capt. W. Willett has had Mr. "Bert" Hardwick and Mr. George Wells of Annapolis Royal finishing his bungalow and that he now has a sign attached to his flag pole announcing his whole property for sale.

Miss Reid of Yarmouth arrived on Tuesday 4th inst. and is visiting her friends, Mrs. Robt. Dittmars.

Mrs. "Bert" Jones of Syracuse, N.Y. is visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. Watson Jones.

Mr. Sam Boudreau has improved his property wonderfully by painting his house and buildings. They are white with yellow trimmings. A big improvement has been made by widening the road under the overhead D. A. R. crossing as you come into Clementsport from Annapolis Royal. This was a dangerous spot, and still is, but has been improved. There is room for a number of DANGER signs on the road in the vicinity of the village. We trust the authorities will get busy in this matter. We have called their attention to this every year for several years.

On Friday evening from some of the bungalows, came the strains of a cornet with accompaniment. This concert was most thoroughly enjoyed. We wish to express our thanks and trust the musicians will repeat frequently.

On Thursday 20th inst. "The United Church" will give a musical concert in the Methodist Church. Miss Evelyn Crowell of Halifax, Mrs. Frank Dargie of Annapolis Royal and others assisted by local talent have charge of the programme. This annual concert is most popular. We bespeak a liberal patronage.

There are probably many interesting events not recorded here, and many visitors who are not mentioned. If those interested would phone or get in touch with your correspondent, we shall be delighted to chronicle them.

Mr. Alfred Shaw of Boston who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Shaw returned on Saturday 1st inst.

Mr. Jas. MacDonald of Halifax, passed through on Saturday, en route to New York.

Mrs. McGregor and Miss Willey are in "Chalet" for a week.

Mrs. Eliza Sanders of Round Hill, arrived Saturday 15th, to visit her sister, Mrs. L. V. Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry and child of Lynn, who have been visiting Mrs. Barry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ruggles, returned Friday 14th inst. by motor and intend going via Niagara.

CHANNEL TERRORS SWIMMER FACES

Lowell Man Describes Tremendous Test. HE TRIED SIX TIMES AND FINALLY WON

How Alkali and Lime in Water Bother Swimmer.—The Action of The Tides.

(Robert Harron, in Boston, Transcript.)

Miss Gertrude Ederle of New York, who has been spending a few weeks on the coast of France, plans to move over to the English coast next Monday.

That statement, in itself is not particularly interesting. Hundreds of thousands of persons have gone from France to England and from England to France before. They, however, have done it by steamship or airplane. The bobbed-haired mermaid of New York is going to try to do it by swimming.

Since that feat, the "Channel Swim" was first attempted in 1813, it has been tried by 2,738 swimmers. Five, all of them men, have succeeded. Miss Ederle hopes to be the first woman to succeed when she plunges into the channel at Cape Griz-Nez determined to remain in that icy, turbulent water until she wades ashore on English soil near the white cliffs of Dover.

If any man now alive knows what soul-trying trials and tribulations lie ahead of the New York girl on her all-day and probably all-night swim, that man is Henry P. Sullivan of Lowell. After several unsuccessful trials, he finally accomplished the swim—from Dover to Calais—in 1923, after being in the water twenty-seven hours and twenty-five minutes. Although five men have succeeded in swimming the Channel, Sullivan is one of three who have done it offically under English rules which require that the swimmer shall be on English soil on the French side, rather than the other way.

It is not the first time that a swimmer has been obliged to make five trials as in many different years before his efforts finally were rewarded. The estimate of the chances of success are more than twenty to one against him.

HARDER FROM ENGLAND TO FRANCE

The big chop, apparently in the pink of perfect physical condition, was found a day or two ago in front of his home in Lowell constructing a new walk which is to further beautify the pretty surroundings.

"What do you think of Miss Ederle's chance?" he was asked.

"I wish her the best of luck in the world," was the reply, "but I'm afraid that she is up against a swimming which is beyond the power of any girl athlete to withstand."

"The North Sea contains more than 150,000 square miles of water, the statistician told me when I was over there, and that water drops from fifteen to seventeen feet on a tide, rushing through the channel into the Atlantic in about five hours. That's the reason for the terrific run of water. Now this water, coming from the North Sea, cannot turn directly into the channel owing to the swift tides, but strikes the coast of Belgium and crossing from France to England in a steamer may be a bit more prosaic but it is the way most of us will prefer, probably, for some time to come. Gertrude Ederle, however, is made of sterner stuff.

"The only answer to the question, 'Why are young people not so good as they used to be?' is, 'They never were.'"

"It is scarcely a quarter of a century since the old folks who today are worrying about the younger generation were giving their elders goose-toss because of roller skates, high bicycles, hustles and bangs.

"Much of the criticism of the young people is ridiculous and unfair. It must be remembered that they are not responsible for the world into which they have been catapulted. Their elders have written and published books that are unfit to be read, and blame the young people for reading.

The generation in power is responsible for the questionable amusements, the bad pictures and the low grade of entertainment that is injuring the youth of today.

"The unspanked generation is not to be blamed, but the generation that failed to do the spanking. The question, 'what ails our youth?' might well be countered with another, 'what ails our parents?' Find the answer to the latter and you will be able to answer the first. Not the flappers of fourteen, fifteen and sixteen, but the flappers of forty-one, fifty-one and sixty-one are at fault.

BLEMISHES OF THE SKIN

Are Proof the Blood is in a Weak and Watery Condition

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order are the pimples and unsightly eruptions that break out on the face or body. The same condition is indicated by an attack of eczema of scrofula. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines, as so many people try to do. Purgatives merely gallop through the system and leave it still weaker. What is needed when the blood is shown to be out of order is a tonic which will restore its missing elements and leave the blood rich and red. For this purpose there is no other tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, every dose of which helps enrich the blood, drives out impurities, and brings a new feeling of health and energy. Mrs. R. E. Bishop, Hawthorne Ave., Hamilton, Ont., tells for the benefit of others what these pills did for her. She says: "I was suffering terribly from scrofula. I doctored with several doctors, but without success. My complexion was sallow, I had no strength, feeling very weak and languid. My neck was full of lumps called scrofula, and at times they were very painful. After trying several so-called blood medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I got half a dozen boxes. After taking them I found a decided improvement in my appearance, and to my joy the lumps were disappearing from my neck. I persevered in the treatment, and finally the only sign left of the trouble was a scar on my neck where one of the swellings broke. Since that time I have been in robust health and heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering from impure blood."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE INDIAN DAY CELEBRATION at Banff, it is announced, will take place as usual this year on the third Thursday and Friday in July. Edward G. Taylor, one of the best known game fishermen on the continent is authority for the statement that New Brunswick is losing none of its lure as a fisherman's paradise. Just back from a trip to the Cains River, N.B., Mr. Taylor said salmon were steadily increasing in numbers and size in the province. He added that he had caught on this trip a salmon 42 inches long and weighing 24 lbs. In the autumn such a fish would likely weigh up to fifty pounds.

The following story is told of Sir William Van Horne, first president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and a Major Rogers, who was in charge of the supplies for men working along the track. Van Horne said: "Look here, Major, I hear your men won't stay with you, they say you starve them."

"Well, I've told you feed 'em on soup made out of water flavored with old ham canvas covers." "Taint so, Van, I didn't never have no hama."

The Western railways of the United States comprising 67 roads serving Chicago and the West, have petitioned the Inter-State Commerce Commission for permission to advance rates. They state that for the years 1921 to 1924 inclusive, the average rate of return on capital was 3.55 per cent., which they claim is so small as to render it impossible for them to secure working capital for extensions and improvement of service by the sale of stock or issue of bonds at reasonable terms. They ask for rates that would give them a net return of 5% per cent., which it is generally admitted is what railways should have.

INDIANS MAKE UP FAKE WOLF EARS TO COLLECT BOUNTIES

Brandon—Indians like many others practice "get rich quick" schemes. A case in point was brought to light here at the Indian reserve at Griswold, Man.

Collecting honny returns on wolf ears, manufactured from skins of young cubs, was the ingenious method employed.

The ears were turned in to the wolf bounty from the municipalities. The Redskins figured it was much easier to make ears than catch wolves. So well did they make the artificial ears, that municipal officers were fooled for some time. Finally the authorities discovered the ruse and provincial police started an investigation. Three men and a squaw were apprehended. They pleaded guilty to the charge and were warned with a year's suspended sentence.

Here and There

The popularity of the Nova Scotia apple is rapidly growing in Europe. 1,103,980 barrels and 8,693 boxes were shipped in 1924-25 to ports in England, Scotland and Germany. Shipments also went to Newfoundland, West Indies, Central Canada and the United States.

Production of sugar beets in Canada during 1923 amounted to 159,200 tons, valued at $1,922,668, and grown on 17,941 acres, according to the Bureau of Statistics. 6,000 acres have been planted to beets this year in Southern Alberta, due to the establishment of a sugar beet factory.

Milton Sills, the well-known movie actor, with a company of 32 other screen artists, passed through Montreal recently to take scenes in "The Come Back" in which he is featured. The party went to Beauchese, in Northern Quebec. Travelling by another train was a mother skunk and five kitten skunks which will also figure in the picture.

The 286 passengers on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France completed their 30,000-mile tour of the world on Saturday, May 23, when the vessel docked at New York. At their last stop at Havana, President Machado of Cuba invited the passengers to attend his official inauguration and to witness the unveiling of a statue to the preceding President.

Another aristocratic rancher recently passed through Montreal on a return visit to the ancestral estates in Transylvania, Hungary. This was Baron Josef Casavoy who, with his brother Andre, took over a 1,600-acre ranch last March near Cochran, Alberta, on the Bow River. Incidentally the Baron was a passenger on the Trans-Canada on its first return trip of the season from Vancouver.

WOMEN GROWING HANDSOMER

Abuse of the fappers, or the typical girls of today, will receive a setback from a recent statement of Sir William Orpen, the noted British painter. The faces of today show a distinct improvement over the beauties of the past, as "preserved for us by the artists of those days, or rather the average has been lifted, and there are more men and women with attractive features. "When I see better looking men and women about me," says Sir William, in the Sunday Pictorial, "I know they are inspired with better thoughts, and that these will be handed down to and multiplied in our great-grandchildren." The "graceful backs of Charles' court compare very badly with the average strong-faced, square jawed citizen of the present day," he says. "Without the curls, the ruffs and trappings of the Restoration, the average man of 1925 can beat his ancestors hollow for looks, physique and manliness." He adds: "The average, modern man cannot squeeze into the largest sizes of mediaeval coat of mail, and the modern girl would find it even more difficult to wear an Elizabethan stomacher."

"Woman has not been left behind in the race. It may seem unfair to compare an outstanding beauty like Mrs. Siddons with the modern girl. Mrs. Siddons' beauty was famous because Siddons' beauty was rare in her day. I can readily think of a dozen now who would outshine her; I see rivals for most of the other canvas beauties daily.

"The average of beauty is rising, and it is rising because there is going on a steady rise in virtue. I do not use the word in any priggish sense, but for the want of a better term to describe the inherent decency of instinct and goodness of mind which are evident all around us. Exercise has improved our bodies, but it is the healthy mind that puts men and women into the sports field."

Being exceeded only by Mexico and the United States, Canada now ranks third among the silver producing countries of the world. Records of Canadian production have been kept since 1858 and show a total recovery of 451,000,000 fine ounces to the end of 1923. In 1924 production was slightly in excess of 20,000,000 ounces. During 1858-1923 the value of production totalled $290,705,532, while for last year it amounted to $13,519,043.

The first lot of Buffalo, numbering some 200, to be transferred from the Wainwright Park to the new Buffalo Park, north of Edmonton, left Wainwright, Alberta, recently. For some time past the herd at Wainwright had been growing too rapidly and the Federal authorities decided to ship a number to the Buffalo Park to determine whether or not they can acclimate themselves in the southern area. Altogether two thousand buffalo, in lots of two hundred each, will be shipped to the Buffalo Park.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the home may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the new born babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DIGNITY AND IMPRUDENCE

A Study in International Manners.

By A. R.

(From the Manchester Guardian)

The American press has been hailing us democrats because our King shakes hands with a tourist from the States. The French have been dismissing us as aristocrats because our King rides on a toy railway at Wimley. What a slap in the face is here for the pessimists who say that the world is standardized and that the Babbitts of London and Paris have just the same ideas as their brother in New York!

For, reading the American and the French comments on these two incidents, one finds it impossible to decide whether the praise or the blame gives the false picture of English ideas. The American papers talk as though King George's handshake was a self-conscious, demagogic gesture—a recognition that all men are the same whether they wear crowns or Stetson hats. Whereas the truth is, as all Englishmen and apparently no Americans realize, that the King was polite, not because he is a doctrinaire democrat but because he is a gentleman and dislikes scenes in public. Had he snubbed his handshaker there might have been a scene, so his subjects, who would rather die than be guilty of a pushfulness that in the English view is appalling bad manners, feel that he did the right thing, while feeling at the same time no particular resentment against the American, who is excused as intending no offense and as acting up to a quite intelligible code accepted in his country but not in ours.

So much for our being democrats as the term is understood across the Atlantic. We must refuse to be decked with that particular laurel wreath. Are we to accept instead the cap fitted to us by our critics across the Channel?

They say that the King may wander about the Exhibition and Admiral Jellicoe slide down a spiral toboggan because we are a caste-ridden nation. The gulf between our classes is so deep that nothing our leaders do can lower them in the eyes of the people. Our officers can play football with their men, but when the game is over the gulf remains. Marshal Foch, if he whisked down a water-chute, would find that he had left his hat on at the top. His dignity would have been lost, and in a democracy like France a great man dare not compromise his dignity without running the risk of losing his office.

Our classes, it is true, strike the eye even of a foreign visitor. There are no institutions in France that stamp a man so obviously as do public schools. But when one has granted that, one has stated the only accurate thing in the French analysis of the Wimley exploits of our rulers. The real reason why Admiral Jellicoe mounts a toboggan and Marshal Foch mounts nothing less impressive than a war horse is that the English sailor enjoys fooling while the French soldier does not understand it. If M. Poincaré knew that he could increase his popularity by disporting himself at Neully Fair he would do so only as a painful political necessity. If Mr. Baldwin knew that his Ministry would fall if he were seen amusing himself in a frivolous manner he might very well slip off innocent and chance being found out by the photographers. Apart altogether from how their antics appeal to their countrymen, most middle-aged Englishmen are fond of a rag, and all middle-aged Frenchmen have never heard of such a thing. Like dogs, Englishmen keep young at heart when they are old in years, but like cats, Frenchmen give to each age and rank the behavior to which it is entitled. While they are kittens they gambol, and when they are mature they keep up an appropriate dignity.

But this difference between us and our neighbors is not to be explained away as a class distinction. It goes far deeper than that—it has its roots in the beginnings of our two histories, and it accounts for more important matters than the Amusement Park at Wimley.

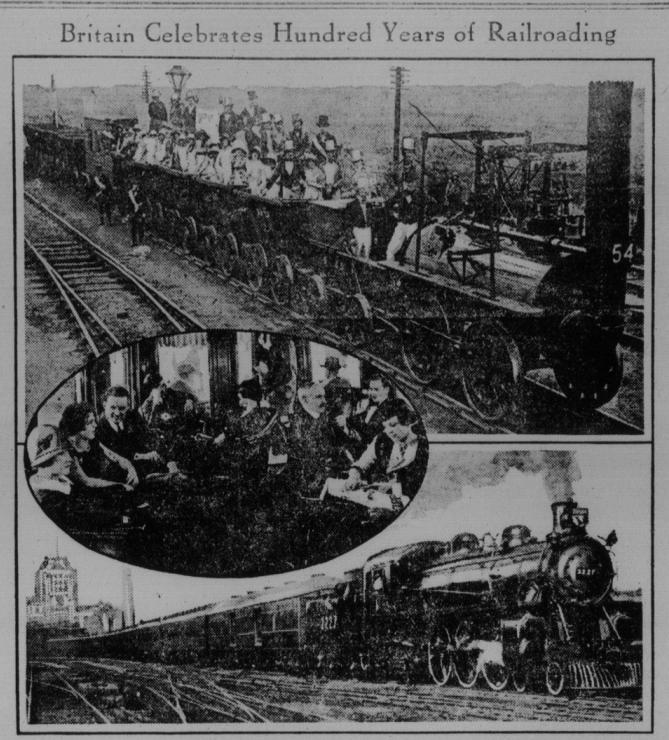

The shortest cut to making this clear is a flat reversal of the French verdict, a declaration that we have never had a caste system and that the French have always had one. Up to the Revolution—only five generations ago—they supported a rigid caste which had come down to them without a break from the Middle Ages, which was hedged about by the sternest formalities, and to which we have experienced no parallel. Our ruling caste has always been fluid and open to new blood. At no time in our history was it not being enriched by the sinking of some of its members and the addition of others from below.

Even in normal periods this process was at work, and crises like the Tudor Reformation and the Industrial Revolution acted as social earthquakes. So our classes were too much subject to a 'circulation of the elite' for them to become static and to have their privileges legally recognized as happened in France. The oddity that French critics have just noticed about them has traditionally puzzled Europe. The relations between our officers and men in Armada days perplexed the Spanish dons, and the Georgian squire of the West-ern type who could get drunk with his farmers without losing 'face' was unique outside, perhaps, Germany.

As soon as the Revolution swept away their aristocrats the French fell instantly under another caste-system—that of the bureaucracy which the Republic set up and which remains to this day meticulously tenacious of its privileges to an extent that in England would provoke a revolution. But the fact that France has always acknowledged a caste and that we have never done so is a symptom and not a cause of our attitude towards personal dignity. The French are the oldest civilized people in the West. Their culture traces an unbroken descent from Rome. And this settled way of life has flourished in a stable agricultural land where comfort was easily accessible, but sudden prosperity was out of reach. The French therefore, have traditionally been accustomed to making the most out of what they had without gambling to increase it. Each one of them has always been perpetually conscious of the status he possessed. Honors have sat gracefully but not lightly upon them.

Our own experience has been precisely opposite. We had hardly finished assimilating our various stocks and clearing our island of its primitive forests and adventuring on the Continent when the New World was discovered and geography had rushed us into a fresh adventure. Circumstances have necessarily led us to tackle new tasks. We have never sat down to sip the flavor of our achievement and to regulate our lives on a systematic pattern. Looking back regretfully toward the past and distrustful of ourselves and of the future, we have nevertheless hurried forward. Had we the French past behind us, we might have their decorum. But we have gambled through the centuries and have had no leisure to pick up a single fixed theory. Our rulers are not ashamed to join in ordinary amusements, because they have no theory of the dignity of rank. The seize indeed, all the practical advantages they can from it. They are proud, but they do not stop to analyze or to decide just what are all the theoretical implications of their pride.

On the whole this seems the wiser plan. Rightly such as is bred out of an ancient, stable society, like the French needs a shock to make it move with the times. Our fluidity moves naturally. So before a French caste can be moved a revolution has to be staged, while we have never had a real revolution. It is because they shun water-chutes that the rulers of France have sometimes to face barricades. It is for the same reason that France stands today a lonely, dignified figure seeking to revive a settlement of the world that we with our indifference to formality know to be dead. It explains why Paris and not Oxford is the true home of lost causes.

Britain Celebrates Hundred Years of Railroading

The old Stockton and Darlington Railway, in England, is a matter of history now. Its board of directors is no more; its inventor has passed to his reward; its rolling stock, or what survives of it, rests in peace in museums—having served its day and been left behind in the march of progress.

But this year—a century since the time when the Stockton and Darlington Railway was regarded as a marvellous engineering achievement and threatened the supremacy of the stage coach as a means of long-distance transportation—the ancient engines have been taken down from their pedestals, the wheels oiled, the rust removed and once again high hat gentlemen and bonneted maidens have been bumped along from Stockton to Darlington behind the first real locomotive England ever had.

Thus the people of Great Britain celebrated its railway centenary. Processions of defunct rolling stock, and rolling stock that is almost defunct illustrated the evolution of railway transportation and gave to the rising generation an insight into the agonies our grandparents had to endure if they wished to go from one place to another by train. The Duke and Duchess of York attended the celebrations and, watching the parades, became thoroughly infected with the spirit of the occasion. All those who took part in the processions, and some of those who didn't, dressed in the costumes of the period, giving to the celebrations an atmosphere altogether in keeping with the nature of the celebration.

By way of showing the wonderful development that has taken place in railroading since the first engine painfully puffed its way from Darlington to Stockton there is shown above one of the engines used in the centenary celebrations pulling a replica of the original train contrasted with the ultra-modern Trans-Canada, the all-steel Canadian Pacific Train, which nowadays conveys its passengers from one part of the Dominion to another, three thousand miles at a speed considered unattainable by our forefathers, and in greater comfort and security than many of them enjoyed at home.

while it is not yet definite he hoped to rebuild on the same site and open the works to the public within twelve months from the beginning of reconstruction.

THOSE ERRORS

Next time you hear a citizen talking about typographical errors in his home paper, or in any other paper, just hand him these figures, says an exchange:

In an ordinary column there are 10,000 pieces of type; there are seven possible wrong positions for each letter; there are 70,000 chances to make an error, and millions of possible transpositions.

In this one sentence, To be or not to be, by transpositions alone, it has been figured out, 2,759,022 errors can be made. Newspaper people from the "devil" up to the boss are only human, and are liable to err. Don't be nosing around for errors, but read for information and the good you can get; you'll find errors in your daily walk of life without having to hunt for them in your newspaper.

"In the Cascades and falls of the Canadian Rockies there is enough hydro-electric power to supply the American west with all the electric energy it will need for ages to come," declared W. Paxton Little, treasurer of the Niagara Falls Power Company, who recently visited Banff with a party of distinguished American electrical magnates.

That the Province of Quebec abounds in historic and romantic material for the construction of popular novels, is the judgment of two popular writers—James Oliver Curwood, author of scores of best sellers, and Edwin Balmer, well-known short story writer—who have recently toured the province and Western Canada in quest of "local color."

There has been an unusual distinction conferred upon Prof. Camille Couture, a Montreal musician, who, besides being a violinist is also a maker of violins. He has been honored with a medal and diploma from the British Empire Exhibition at Wimley for a magnificent violin of his make, which he exhibited there.

In order to dispel the existing impression in England regarding the coldness of the Canadian climate, five thousand peony blooms are being distributed at the Canadian Pacific Railway Pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition. These plants were produced by W. Ormiston Roy, of Montreal, who states that peonies are the best landscape flower and can be grown in all parts of Canada, irrespective of climatic conditions.

Hon. W. G. Nichol, Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia, and D. C. Coleman, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, opened Crystal Gardens, the new and unique indoor salt-water swimming pool at Victoria, B.C., recently. This amusement centre, which has two dancing floors, a gymnasium, art gallery and tea-rooms, is regarded as the largest and finest of its kind on the continent.

Being exceeded only by Mexico and the United States, Canada now ranks third among the silver producing countries of the world. WHAT CONSTITUTES A NARROW MIND?

How Much Broader is The Woman's Outlook on Life Than That Which She Criticizes?

(By Winifred Black)

The woman of the world took out her lipstick and painted her lips a deep and rather startling crimson. Then she attended to her eyebrows and then she put a nice fresh blush on her cheeks and then she dusted her face with powder and then she leaned back in her seat and said:

"This play bores me awfully—it's all about common people. Narrow-minded things without an interest in life, outside their little old narrow walls."

"Me and my husband, Julie and his doings, sister and her tonsils, mama and her rheumatism—Church and the Missionary Society. The new minister and the gossip about the soprano and the tenor in the church choir."

"Pout, it makes me feel if I were smothering only to think about it."

"I can forgive anything on earth but narrow-mindedness, but when I meet one of these narrow-minded live-in-a-grove and think-in-a-rut people, I just want to shake them as hard as I can to wake them up and give them a scare or something. They don't know they are alive poor things."

I looked at the woman of the world in her smart frock and impudent little hat and delicious little shoes—and thought: "I wonder why you don't realize that you are just as narrow minded in your way as the other woman in her way."

Why can't you realize my dear that there are a good many people in this world all of them different and every one of them has just as much right to live as you have.

How much broader is your world, after all? Let's see, how many people do you really know? The husband you divorced and a few of his friends who are so much like him that it is hard to tell them apart in the distance. Poker, bridge, golf, a bit of swimming, a little gambling in stocks a cabaret evening or so—the same old round over and over. They wouldn't know what to say to a farmer or a woodsman or a vineyardist or a street car conductor to save their lives. They live in a rut and they can't get out of it.

Your four friends—the women. What do they ever talk about? Bridge the new song from the cabaret, what town they got on the radio last night. How perfectly awful the new maid is and what an impossible price she asks for her services. The newest thing in bathing suits—and whisper, is Tibia really going to run away with Tommy or not, do you suppose?

So many cocktails, so many highballs, where do you get yours, how much do you pay a quart—nothing so very broad and universal about that is there.

Seems to me I wouldn't call people narrow minded, if I were you my dear. I really wouldn't. Not if I were either type of woman. The church choir type or the highball type.

Somebody might feel like laughing at you.

CONVENTIONS AT ANNAPOLIS ROYAL

N. S. Municipalities Meeting And a Sportsmen's Gathering.—Community Service.—Narrow Escape of Capt. King.—Other Notes.

Annapolis Royal.—The Community Service for August held on Sunday evening in Fort Anne Park, was one to be long remembered. The sunset hour of an ideal summer's day, the music, and the eloquence of the preacher, all tended to inspire and uplift the large assemblage gathered on the ramparts of the old fort. Rev. T. C. Mellor was chairman of the meeting, which opened with the Doxology and Invocation by Rev. A. Gibson. The Scripture reading was taken by Rev. M. H. MacInosh, the prayer offered by Rev. R. B. Thomas, and the Benediction pronounced by Rev. B. C. Borden. Dr. Clarence McKinnon, Principal of Pine Hill College, Halifax, preached a forceful and appealing sermon from a most appropriate text—"Things New and Old." (Matthew 13:52) The Annapolis Royal Concert Band led the music, and the assistance thus rendered was much appreciated.

The engagement of Miss Nettie Caswell, of Granville Ferry to Mr. Roland H. Bond of St. John, N. B., has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Austin S. Caswell. Miss Caswell was for some time stenographer with Mr. W. A. Livingstone, and has the good wishes of many friends in town.

Capt. W. J. King had a narrow escape from drowning on Wednesday afternoon when in superintending some repairs on the King's wharf, he fell through an opening into the river below. Capt. S. Mills and Mr. D. Parker of Granville Ferry were working there, and with great difficulty got him into the boat. Apparently he had struck his head, as he was unconscious and lying on his face. Dr. Byers was summoned, and applied methods of resuscitation, after which he was conveyed to his home, where he is now resting comfortably.

The town has been full of visitors this week—over eighty registered at the Town Hall the first day of the twentieth Annual Convention of the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities. The delegates were cordially welcomed by Mayor Hawkesworth, the meetings well attended and many interesting and instructive papers read. Annapolis Royal was honored by having one of its citizens, Mr. F. C. Whitman chosen as President of the Union, and Town Clerk Harris appointed a member of the executive.

The Convention was favored with splendid weather throughout its three days session, and on Wednesday evening the visitors were entertained at Kink's Theatre by moving pictures, under the personal supervision of J. D. O'Connor, chairman of the Nova Scotia Board of Censors. On Thursday the museum at Fort Anne was inspected, followed by a motor drive to Bear River, where a bountiful supper was served in the I. O. O. F. Hall by members of the Rebekah Lodge. After their return to the Annapolis Royal Concert Band rendered a pleasing programme of selected music from the band stand in Fort Anne Park. The convention closed on Friday, and will meet next year in Halifax.

Another interesting convention was held on Monday, when nearly forty sportsmen met in the Town Hall to
