The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

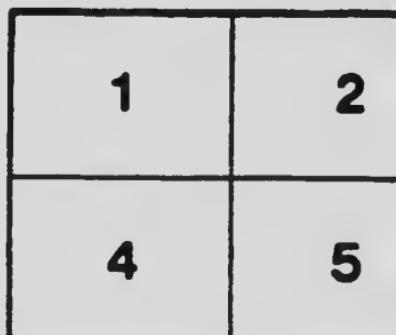

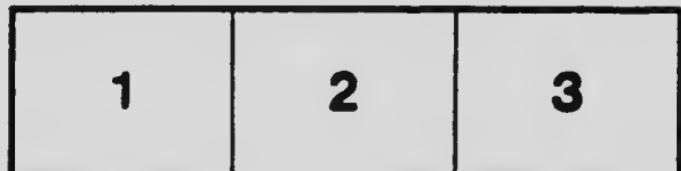

Library of the National Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ↵ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

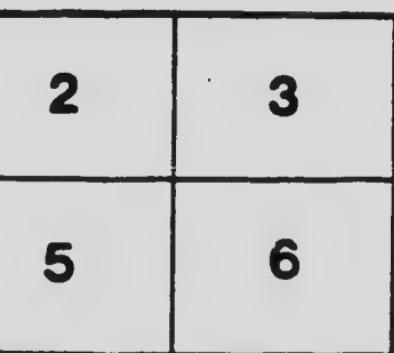

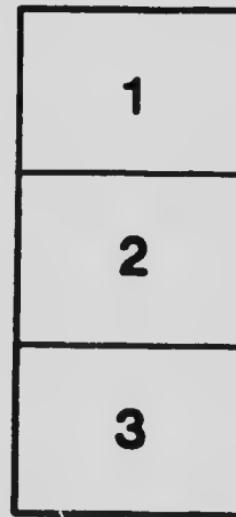

La bibliothèque des Archives nationales du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

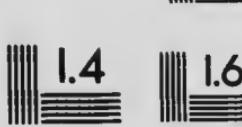

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▽ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

THE TRUTH ABOUT TWO RAILWAYS

Two Railways

In defending himself against Sir Wilfrid Laurier's complaints that the Borden Government were enormously increasing the annual spending at a time when the annual income was falling, Hon. Mr. White, Finance Minister in the Borden Cabinet, replied that they had found on their doorstep some expensive projects left there by the Liberals. The reference was to the National Transcontinental and Canadian Northern Railways.

Borden Changed People's Contract with G.T.P.—Then Came the Present Trouble.

The National Transcontinental was almost completed when the Liberals left office, and a great part of its cost had been paid out of the annual surpluses of the Laurier-Fielding times. The history of the road since 1911, briefly, is that the new government has made certain changes which have given the Grand Trunk Pacific Company an arguable case for declining to take over the "lean" part of the line. The very foundation of the original contract was that the Grand Trunk people should be satisfied during the construction period, which was but right, as the road was built by the country to be leased to them. The present government has altered this fundamental understanding, and now a long, bitter and, for the country, destructive controversy looms ahead.

Liberals Aided C.N.R. but Insisted on Supervision of Rates by Railway Commission.

As to the Canadian Northern affair, it is necessary to cross some t's and dot some i's. The Laurier Government and the Liberal party did, from year to year, as the rapid growth of the West manifested itself, accord the usual railway grant encouragement to the Canadian Northern people according as they advanced their lines into new sections of prairie country. With this assistance, the company financed its undertakings. Later on, the Laurier Government recommended similar grants in encouragement of connecting the western with the eastern system of the company. Practically all the Provincial Governments aided in this great work according to their means and requirements.

In return for these grants, the Laurier Government uniformly demanded and obtained the agreement of all railway companies requiring them to submit to the supervision of the Railway Commission of Canada.

The British Columbia Tory Government Spoiled Commission Supervision.

One day, Mr. McBride, Conservative Premier of British Columbia, announced that he had made an agreement with Mackenzie and Mann under which their road would reach the coast. The Legislature was dissolved, an election was held, and Mr. McBride was returned to power. With this costly adventure, the origin of the difficulties which later brought the company to Parliament seeking rash measures of financial relief for their whole system, the Laurier Government at Ottawa had nothing whatever to do.

The Laurier Government Then Declined Further Aid.

Not very long before the general elections of 1911, a demand was nevertheless made upon the Railway Department for the usual grants in aid. Hon. Geo. P. Graham, then Minister of Railways, replied that the Mackenzie-Mann contract with Sir Richard McBride's government made this impossible. That contract not merely provided for control of the railway in British Columbia by British Columbia authority, but obligated the Canadian Northern to resist in court any attempt that might be made to bring the road under the control of the Dominion Railway Commission. Hon. Mr. Graham pointed out that they must get rid of this engagement with Mr. McBride, and be prepared to sign the same engagement as to control of rates which they had taken for all other parts of their road, before he could recommend payment of the subsidies.

The C.N.R. Fought Against the Liberals in 1911.

The Canadian Northern, therefore, had an interest amounting to millions of dollars (the subsidy in mountain country being $6,400 a mile) to procure the election of a more amenable minister and cabinet.

Their political influence was thrown, as all know, against the Liberals in the 1911 elections, their influence was admittedly per-mount when the Borden Ministry was constructed, and in due course they were given the subsidy they asked for, Hon. Mr. Graham's public protest and relation of what had happened being ignored by men who owed their party's success, and in some cases their personal advancement, to these causes, and who were willing to suffer the resulting impairment of the authority of the Railway Commission, probably the most effective instrument for securing private and public right against the usurpations of grasping corporations that has been devised in the whole history of the country.

Since 1911 Borden Has Given the C.N.R. Whatever It Asked.

And this, as it turned out, was only a prelude to other and still vaster demands made by the Canadian Northern people on the Cabinet it had practically created, and which that Cabinet obediently honoured and forced Parliament to ratify.
