"THE KNOCKOUT" MADE IN CANADA

Milton Sills and a company of First National players made "The Knockout" being shown at the Imperial today and Saturday, in the lumber camps of the Ottawa River logging districts, a country familiar to lumber dealers in Saint John and to a considerable number of men who have worked up there. Some Saint John people are still in that tract, and have written home to their folks to be certain to see the picture, for it is a highly dramatic phase of their own work. "The Knockout" has been criticized by some as too sensational, but if record log jams, raging rivers, dynamiting and intrepid log rolling, with plenty of hero stand-up fights is "too sensational," then anemic critics are dead right. See it for yourself, tonight or tomorrow.

PERSONALS

The condition of F. G. Spencer, who was operated on at the Saint John Infirmary recently, was reported as fairly good this afternoon.

The St. Croix Courier says: "James Myers, the popular bandsman, has returned after a pleasant visit of a few weeks at his old home in Saint John."

COLLISION

A taxi owned and driven by Harry H. Holt and a street car were in collision about 11:30 this morning in Main street near Acadia. Mr. Holt said that the collision had occurred at the intersection of the street car up Main street and he was driving in the track when the car stopped suddenly and backed a little and as there was a skid on the side of the street he could not turn out and struck the rear of the street car. One of the wheels of the car's frame bent, the fender damaged and the steering gear injured. Two passengers in the taxi were considerably shaken up.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., JANUARY 15, 1926.

OTTAWA—AND CANADA.

What is going on at Ottawa is an exhibition of political tactics, an exhibition which to partisans seems natural enough under the circumstances, but which is not particularly admirable from the standpoint of the country at large.

All three parties in the House have shown a reluctance, and more, indeed, than a mere reluctance, to face the country again.

Both Liberals and Conservatives have been bidding, from the hour the House opened, for the support of the Progressives.

The Progressives, having witnessed the prostrations and genuflections of both the old parties for five days, have split in such fashion as to throw a majority of three to the Government and so carry it over the first bridge.

The Progressives have a measure of excuse for their action in that the programme brought down by the Government is much more nearly in line with the Progressive platform than anything Hon. Mr. Meighen has to offer.

thing will be favorable to settling the question of all-round speed supremacy. Although Thunberg was beaten handsomely, it is not to be forgotten that he made a new record for two miles, which indicates how fast the pace was, and which is sterling proof of his speed, remembering that his style was cramped materially by the frequent turns, and that he was skating under conditions to which he is unaccustomed.

Interest in the Saint John meeting—the greatest of the year—is constantly stimulated by these preliminary contests, and Gorman's feat in winning the Middle-Atlantic championship, together with his excellent showing at Madison Square, has increased his prestige with the American skating public and will have a powerful influence in bringing skating enthusiasts from all over the country to the championship event at Lily Lake.

The ice is much thinner at Ottawa than it was in Madison Square Garden. The House of Commons seems to be going on for fancy skating of a rather timid order rather than speed toward the goal.

Professor McGibbon, who fills the chair of Political Economy at the University of Alberta, brought the merits of the ports of Saint John and Halifax before the Saskatchewan Agricultural Societies at Edmonton yesterday.

The United Farmers of Manitoba had before them yesterday a resolution calling upon the Government to make use of the Transcontinental for export traffic from Winnipeg to Saint John and Halifax, for shipments of livestock and grain.

Before the court in circuit in the country on a summer day, with the windows of the building open, a donkey in an adjoining field happened to bray loudly.

Both Moore and Gorman are Thunberg's masters at the three-mile distance on a twelve-lap track, but mastery at the other distances remains to be decided, and it may be well thought that the Finn will prove much more formidable on the six-lap track in Saint John at any distance than he was in Madison Square Garden, where the frequent turns had him almost constantly in trouble.

The Best of Advice

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

THANKING OUR FAULTS.

IT IS an old saying that every man in his lifetime needs to thank his faults. When Emerson observed that our strength grows out of our weakness, he was only repeating what many wise men had said before him.

"Not until we are pricked and sorely shot at, is awakened the indignation which arms itself with secret forces," Emerson wrote.

"While a man sits on the cushion of advantages he goes to sleep. "When he is pushed, tormented, defeated, he has a chance to learn something."

"He has been put on his wits, his manhood; "He has gained faith; "He is cured of the insanity of conceit; "He has got moderation and real skill."

THE wise man always throws himself on the side of his assailants. It is more to his interest than theirs to find his weak point.

AFTER all, whatever folly men commit, be their shortcomings or vices what they may, forbearance is our duty, remembering that when these faults appear, they are OUR follies and vices that we behold.

They are the shortcomings of humanity, to which we all belong; Whose faults are one and all we share; Even those very faults at which we usually wax so indignant, merely because they have not appeared in ourselves.

As Shakespeare advises, "Condemn the fault and not the actor of it."

Poems That Live

THE TIGER.

Tiger, tiger, burning bright In the forests of the night, What immortal hand or eye Could frame thy fearful symmetry?

When didst thou creep or skies Burnt the fire of thine eyes? On what wings dare he aspire? What the hand dare seize the fire?

And what shoulder and what art Could twist the sinews of thy heart? And when thy heart began to beat, What dread hand and what dread feet?

What the hammer? What the chain? In what furnace was thy brain? What the anvil? What dread grasp Dare its deadly terrors clasp?

When the stars threw down their spears, And water'd heaven with their tears, Did He smile His work to see? Did He who made the lamb make thee?

Tiger, tiger, burning bright In the forests of the night, What immortal hand or eye Dare frame thy fearful symmetry?

"ARE there any bootleggers in Crimison Gulch?" the visitor asked. "No," answered Cactus Joe. "How did you get rid of them?" "Sent 'em out of town with a solemn warning that if they ever showed up again we'd put 'em in jail."

"And that scared 'em?" "We hope so. Only the jail is waitin' appropriations and won't be built for at least a year."

AS PAT boarded the train and took a seat there was a smile of triumph upon his face.

"What's the matter with you?" asked his friend.

Pat's countenance beamed satisfaction. "Sure, I've been riding on this road for ten years, and I've got the best of the company for once in me life."

They became naturalized and changed the family name from Modziewski to Modjeski. (His mother always spelled her name with an "o" ending instead of "i.") He became a civil engineer, having been graduated from the College des Ponts et Chaussees in Paris with honors at the head of his class.

Modjeski has been a consulting bridge engineer in Chicago since 1892. His present firm is that of Modjeski & Angier. He has built bridges in Illinois, Missouri, Oregon, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Washington, Tennessee and many other states. Some of his best known bridges are the government bridge at Rock Island, Ill., McKinley bridge at Celina, Ore., new Memphis, Tenn., bridge, Delaware river bridge at Philadelphia, and Columbia and Wilmette river bridges for the Portland and Seattle railroad. He is a member of American, British, French, and Canadian engineering societies.

His latest project, the Mississippi river span, will be the longest railroad bridge in the United States.

GETTING MARRIED

(Los Angeles Times) A judicial writer says that the man who sits down and coldly and calmly decides what kind of a wife he will have will never have any. It is reasonably certain that the sort of wife he wants is not to be had that way. Love has to be spontaneous and not by rule of thumb. At the same time, there are lots of weddings being pulled off from day to day in which deliberation and calculation dictated the courtship. Whether such matings are happy or not is another matter.

LIBERAL GOVERNMENT WINS FIRST VICTORY WITH 3 MAJORITY

Liberals Receive 123 Votes, Opposition 120; 5 Progressives Support Meighen Amendment

Commons Divides Amid Wild Excitement; Both Major Parties Cheer Frantically as Result is Announced

HOUSE ADJOURNS UNTIL MONDAY

One Conservative Ill and His Ballot Isn't Cast; Speaker Lemieux Also Not Counted; Address Will Be Considered at Beginning of Next Week

OTTAWA, Jan. 14.—Amid scenes of the wildest excitement the government at one o'clock, this morning, secured a majority of three on the non-confidence amendment proposed by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader. Five Progressives voted with the Conservatives. The total vote stood: Against 123 For 120

Majority against 3 As the figures were announced by the clerk, both Liberals and Conservatives rose, cheering frantically and flinging masses of paper in the air in their excitement.

When the debate was resumed in the House of Commons this afternoon, J. Denis (Liberal, Joliette) continued the speech which he began yesterday. He reminded the Progressives and Independents that, because they held the balance of power, a very great responsibility devolved on them. Mr. Denis had no doubt that they would meet that responsibility worthily.

Members voting against the amendment did not by their action vote confidence in the Government, Mr. Denis maintained. The amendment followed a motion which asked that consideration of the Speech from the Throne be given precedence over all other sessional business. The purpose of the amendment, he submitted, was to prevent consideration of the Speech from the Throne. If the amendment were passed, the Speech from the Throne would not be discussed. He submitted that the amendment was premature and that so far as the Progressives were concerned, it was important to allow discussion to proceed on the Speech from the Throne.

BELL QUERIES DENIS. C. W. Bell (Conservative for West Hamilton), asked Mr. Denis why the Government was so anxious to have the Speech from the Throne discussed, it had introduced a motion of non-confidence at the very opening of the session? How could the introduction of such a motion facilitate discussion of the amendments?

Mr. Denis said he could not speak for the Government in this regard. He thought that the confidence motion might have been introduced in order to put a stop to the sessional business of the House which was being introduced.

He claimed, with emphasis, that the amendment was premature. The Progressives were not in the House to serve the interests of either of the larger parties. They were here to serve their constituents. How could they return to their constituencies and claim that they had not received justice from the Government, if they themselves, had prevented the passing of Speech from the Throne?

CHANCE FOR FORKE GROUP. What the Progressive Party had received in the past was only what had been fought for by the Government against Conservative opposition. The Progressives had now the greatest opportunity ever offered to any party. The statement was greeted with considerable applause.

LADNER QUERIES HIM. "Why did not the honorable gentleman's colleagues fulfil those opportunities during the last four years," asked L. J. Ladner (Conservative, South Vancouver).

"That is not the question," replied Mr. Denis, adding that the honorable gentleman opposite might have a chance of finding out what a worry it was to be in power without a majority. If in the face of the present situation the Progressives forbade the House to consider the Speech from the Throne, they would not be doing justice to themselves or to their constituents, because that speech contained all their wishes.

The Speech from the Throne was worthy of the attention of the House, irrespective of the confidence or non-confidence which the Progressive group might have in the Government.

STEVENS SPEAKS. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre, followed Mr. Denis. The attitude of the Conservatives was that "the attempt of this group of individuals who assumed the right of advisers to the Government of constitutional practice." Mr. Stevens failed to see how any member of the House could not be in accord with the viewpoint of the Opposition. Mr. King, Mr. Marler and Mr. Massey, "the three men who are the directing and most influential spirits of the Government," had been defeated at the polls, he said.

He disagreed with the suggestion from the Liberal benches that to vote for the amendment would be to express non-confidence in the Government; while to vote against the amendment would not be a vote of confidence in the present administration. The opinion of three of the members of the cabinet had been expressed on this point. The Solicitor-General for one had declared that Parliament had been called to decide whether the Government would remain in office or not, and if the members supported the action of the King administration in retaining office, it would remain, otherwise it would go out of office.

NON-CONFIDENCE VOTE. The whole amendment, declared Mr. Stevens, called for a vote of non-confidence in the Government. Members were called upon to say "yes," or "no" on the question of the continuation of Minister did properly in refraining from advising His Excellency to forming a new Government and that he did right in summoning Parliament to consider the speech from the throne and any amendment which might be moved by the Opposition. A vote against the amendment would not constitute a binding by any member to support the government on any other measure. If supported, the government would have the right to carry on until defeated by a vote of want of confidence.

WHAT ISSUE IS. "The issue is, did we do right in summoning Parliament, and letting Parliament decide," Mr. Bolvin contended that the amendment was limited to certain specific things and that it was upon those things that Parliament should decide. Parliament, said Mr. Bolvin, alone had the right to decide who should carry on the government. If Mr. King had resigned and Mr. Meighen had met Parliament, the Conservative leader would have been defeated, he said. Mr. Bolvin thought that was a foregone conclusion, because the Progressives and Independents who held the deciding vote had repeatedly said in the House that they were "more Liberal than the Liberals" and they certainly could not have supported a Conservative government. The Liberal party in Canada today was of necessity a minority party. It could only carry on with co-operation and that co-operation they were justified in seeking from the group which was manifestly closer to the Liberals than it could be to the Conservatives.

EDITORIAL READ. He would say to the Progressive members, that the government did not intend to bind the future. No party could ever hope to carry any legislation in the House against an adverse vote of the popular representatives. He would like to read to them, and he proceeded to read, an editorial from the Manitoba Free Press, which admonished the Liberals and the Progressives in Parliament to "get together or get out."

He would also say to the Progressives that Hon. Hugh Guthrie's offer expressed in his speech of Tuesday, that the Conservative party would carry on from session to session if the Progressives would support them, meant only that a general election would be avoided long. The Progressives were willing to "swallow the Tory doctrines and vote for Conservative policy."

SANCTITY OF CONTRACT. Dealing with the constitutional aspect, Mr. Stevens said the Conservative party stood four-square upon British constitutional practice and believed in the sanctity of contract, not only for Parliament but for people and believed further that Government should be responsible government. Much had been heard of precedent, but Parliament should be more interested in established principles which were the growth of precedent, than in individual cases from history. The House of Commons was a trustee of certain principles which had been established after great struggle.

SEES DANGER THERE. In the Prime Minister and his executive rested the full power of government. They were the governing power of the country. But there was a danger there, not from the aggression of a monarch, but from the party organization behind the executive—an invisible irresistible power. There was only one check against such power, and that was that the Prime Minister and his executive should meet the representatives of the people in Parliament. There was no Prime Minister in the present House. Yet it was known that Mr. Marler and Mr. Massey, defeated ministers, were deep in the confidence of the Government and had had much to do with the speech from the throne; so much, indeed, that members of the Government were indignant when they found they had not been consulted.

PREPARED BY OUTSIDERS. Thus, the speech had been prepared by men outside Parliament. If confidence was voted in the Government without a Prime Minister, what would interfere with their moving, voting and carrying of a measure which would make it unnecessary for the Prime Minister to be in his seat? No nation had ever lost its liberties overnight, but it was little by little in such small measures that Confederation could be undermined.

REASON HINTED AT. "Why did the Government continue in office? It is the consciousness of this Government that the moment they relinquish office, the moment they resign, that the moment others have access to the files and secret information of the departments, there will be revealed a condition which they, if they can cling to office, would fain hide.

"My friend," interjected Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, "has either said too much or not enough. It seems to me he should pursue a little further."

Mr. Stevens retorted that he had not in mind the Minister of Finance or his department. Mr. Stevens added that "at the earliest opportunity we will say more."

BOVIN SPEAKS. Hon. George E. Bolvin, Minister of Customs and Excise, congratulated Mr. Meighen on his election in Portage. He then said that, if a Conservative Government was ever formed, it would have to embody in its speech from the throne the high tariff principles advocated by Mr. Meighen everywhere in Canada except in Quebec, where he dared not, or perhaps was not allowed, to come. If the amendment was carried, he declared there was nothing the Government could do but resign.

The Government, however, would not consider the defeat of the amendment in the terms of the Government's acts during the past four years. (The Government would not consider any votes in its support as a blanket authorization to carry on for four years.)

STAND RE AMENDMENT. "Answer me yes or no—does the Government consider the amendment a vote of non-confidence?" asked Mr. Meighen.

The Government considered the vote limited to the terms of the amendment only, replied Mr. Bolvin. If the amendment was adopted it would be the duty of the Government to resign and the Prime Minister would advise His Excellency to form a new Government. Those voting against the amendment would only be proclaiming their Prime

Mexico where when a president could attempt to retain office after defeat, at the polls, he would employ one of three methods: Bribery, intimidation or military force. "I take the responsibility of suggesting that if a government refuses to abide by these precepts governing parliament, there are only three plans by which they can keep in office. When these fail, we are on the eve of a revolution."

PREMIER'S STATEMENT. The Prime Minister had stated at Richmond Hill that though his term of office had not expired, he had found it impossible to solve the problems facing the people, and in order that he might carry on efficiently, he was appealing for a majority. He intimated at that time that if he did not secure a majority of more than one over his opponents, it would be impossible for him to carry on. Mr. Cahan was proceeding to describe the Speech from the Throne and it was upon those things that he was tempted to use unparliamentary language. He thought it was an attempt worthy of a "South American autocrat" to induce by corrupt inducements and methods. He was interrupted by a chorus of protests from the Liberal benches, which did not abate until Mr. Speaker intervened. Speaker Lemieux ruled that Mr. Cahan's language was not within the scope of parliamentary debate.

WITHDRAWS LANGUAGE. Mr. Cahan agreed to withdraw. The Speech from the Throne, he said, was framed so as to convey to a Progressive group which largely was elected to oppose the Government an offer of certain Inducements which the Prime Minister had not dared to offer during the election campaign. Such inducements, Mr. Cahan thought should have been offered not to a small political group, but to the whole electorate for its verdict. The Speech from the Throne was not only a reflection upon the Government but a reflection on Parliament. If the Progressives were willing to accept such a speech, then Mr. Cahan thought that the general estimation of the Progressive party would sink very low.

QUERIED BY MILLAR. John Miller (Progressive, Qu'Appelle), interrupted to ask if Mr. Cahan, as a member from the Island of Montreal, would be willing to have freight rates reduced from a point on a Canadian National Railway due north of Fort William to the Port of Montreal. Mr. Cahan replied that he did not know enough about it to give Mr. Miller an answer, but he was prepared to confer with any member on the subject and to assist in finding a solution of such a problem, so long as the solution did not involve a sacrifice of the general interests of the whole country.

Debate Is Held By High School Alumnae

The mental capacity of women was valiantly defended at the meeting of the High School Alumnae held last night at the home of Miss Barbara Dobson, Mecklenburg street, when a spirited debate was conducted on the resolution "Resolved that man's mental capacity is greater than that of woman." The decision rested on the vote of the meeting which was overwhelmingly in favor of the negative. The supporters of the negative were Miss Roberta Smith, Miss E. Lawrence and Miss Katie Bates. Those who upheld the affirmative were Miss Lucy Smith, Miss Dorothy Sinclair and Miss Mary Short. The evening was greatly enjoyed.

Dorothy Dix

I Have Never Known of a Single Case Where a Woman Who Was a Money-Earner Did Not Give With Both Hands to Those Depending Upon Her, Says Dorothy Dix, Defending Woman's Place in Business World.

I HAVE received a letter from a man who says that he is violently opposed to women working outside of the home, and that it is a shame for a girl to work in an office or a store when there are so many men who need good jobs. Then my correspondent asks: "Do you ever think of the children who are starving because you have got a job that some man ought to have?"

Well, no, Mr. Man, I really have not thought of myself as one who snatches the bread out of the mouths of little children, but I do think sometimes—with thankfulness that I am able to do it—of several people into whose mouths I put bread, and even occasionally a little cake.

Now, in my turn, I desire to ask a question of this man, and of all the other men who see red at the thought of a woman being able to draw down a respectable pay envelope. And this is what I want to know: On your honor, did you ever know a single solitary working woman who wasn't helping somebody else with what she earned? Did you ever know any working woman who had a family who wasn't helping to support it?

I have never known of a single case where a woman who was a money-earner did not give with both hands to those who were dependent upon her. Virtually always there are a lot of helpless people clutching at the working woman's petticoats, and she never shakes them off. She divides with them to the last penny.

BECAUSE women are more sympathetic, more tender-hearted than men; because they have felt the sting of want and poverty more than a man does, they are much quicker to answer the calls for money made upon them than men are.

If you will investigate you will find that in any poor family where the sons and daughters both work, that the girls contribute far more to the household expenses than the boys do, although the girls earn less.

The boys will give their mother a small part of their salaries every week, but the girls turn over the whole amount that they earn to her. It is the girls who buy better furniture for the house, who get mother a new dress, and father a warm overcoat—not the boys who are spending their money on having a good time themselves.

ALL of us know old maids who sacrificed their youth and beauty, and their opportunities of marrying and having husbands and homes and children of their own, because an old father and mother had no other support than the money they earned, so they couldn't give up their jobs. Or they were putting a brilliant young brother through college, or giving a pretty sister the chances in life she needed, or saving some little nephews or nieces from the cold charity of an orphan's asylum.

Ask any working woman what she does with her money. Nine times out of ten she will tell you that she supports a sick husband, or little children, or a feeble old father and mother, or that her sister's husband doesn't get along, and that she helps with the rent money every month, or that she pays the board somewhere for an old aunt or cousin. Virtually there is always somebody with whom she is dividing her earnings, somebody for whom she is denying and sacrificing herself, somebody for whom she is working.

If today every woman who follows a gainful occupation were ousted from her job, and the job given to a man, as my correspondent desires, there wouldn't be enough orphan asylums and old people's homes and blind and deaf and dumb institutions and hospitals in the world to hold the hordes of helpless and afflicted people, now supported by women, who would be thrown out on the public for sanctuary.

THAT is what makes so unjust and so cruel the charge that the working woman takes the place of a man and robs him of his just desert, and that she should be ashamed of herself. The truth of the matter is that just as many working women support families as working men do, and the pay of the working woman goes into hungry mouths and clothes naked backs instead of going into finery and chignons for herself.

Of course, in reality a woman has just as much right to work and to earn an honest living as a man has, and there is no more reason why a man should object to a woman having a position in an office or business that he covets than he should object to another man having it.

Life owes each of us just exactly what we have the brains and the industry to collect from it, and because an individual happens to be born of the female persuasion does not invalidate her claim. Nor is there any justice in the assertion that the working woman keeps men from marrying. On the contrary, it releases men for matrimony.

IN THE olden days, when women were parasites, a man who had sisters could not marry until he was lucky enough to unlock them on other men, because he had to support them. Many an old bachelor has had to stifle his love dream and put away his romance because it took everything he earned to feed and clothe a pack of useless, idle women at home.

Nowadays sister rolls up a millstone around brother's neck than he thinks of depending on her, and brother is at perfect liberty to marry whenever he sees fit.

So the man who wants to do the baby act and demand that women shall be shut out of gainful occupations because they fill positions that some man would like to have will have to find some better excuse than that the working woman is depressing the matrimonial market and taking the bread out of the mouths of starving children. We all know too many working women who are the stay and support of their families to listen to that.

Sills Writes Own Script For "Men of Steel"

By JACK JUNGMEYER. WITH all the powers of persuasion, actors are constantly trying to talk themselves into "performance" roles. Failing, they surreptitiously criticize or stragglingly accept parts toward which they feel unsympathetic. In this respect most stars are in the same boat with lesser screen lights. They are slaves to the story.

Timely Views on World Topics

THE world will come to an end eventually, but there will be a gradual disintegration rather than a final catastrophe. said Sir Oliver Lodge, noted British scientist in a recent speech.

Regarding evolution my thesis is that there is no essential opposition between creation and evolution," he declared. "One is the method of the other. They are not two processes but one gradual one. Everything, the undifferentiated, all-extensive substance, the raw material, is composed of the ether of space. Every second the sun is consuming 4,000,000 tons of its substance to make energy, and now how long this could continue depended the habitability of the earth and the future of the human race.

Matter Will Disappear. Comfortingly Sir Oliver added: "It will take 150,000,000 years for the sun to lose one per cent of its substance," so the "catastrophe" is not so very imminent.

The Magic of the Medicine Man

In the pioneer days of this country, the Indian Medicine Man knew a remedy in the roots and herbs of the field for the alleviation of almost every ailment of mankind. So potent did it prove, that the relief from suffering seemed like magic. More than 60 years ago Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., compounded her now famous Vegetable Compound from the roots and herbs of the field, and in all these years nothing has ever been found to equal it in overcoming ailments of women.

They raised their umbrellas and followed Two Noses into a big room that acted most queerly. It kept stretching and snapping back like a rubber band. And whenever it snapped you flew up and bumped the ceiling. At the first bump the umbrellas closed with a snap and at the second bump all their pockets turned inside out.

THE HOUSE THAT CAME OUT OF THE GROUND. It was a most astonishing thing to see a house come right up out of the ground at their feet the Twins thought. But it was still more astonishing to see water pouring off the eaves of the house and out of the spouts, when the sun was out and the morning quite fine. Oh, yes, I know it was dark night when they left the house in the woods, but time changes ever so fast by magic. And now the sun was out and it was quite blue and the morning as fine as a piece of satin.

"How did he know we were here?" asked Nancy. "I stopped on the magic spring. It's a secret," nodded Inch o' Pie mysteriously. "Come on." A tall man with two noses let them in, or at least I should say, opened the door. "Is his nose the Nib Nob in?" asked Inch o' Pie. "I mean his nose the Nib Nob in?" "Yes, sir, he is in, but he is out," said the tall man wiggling one of his noses. "He is in but he is out, that is, he is in the house but out of humor. His sausage began to squeal when he was eating it at breakfast, and he can't stand squealing sausage. It upsets his temper and he loses his liver. I mean he loses his temper and it upsets his liver. Wait until I get some umbrellas and you may come in."

Before the visitors could answer, the tall man disappeared, but came back presently with three umbrellas. "It's so dry in the house with so many history books around," he said, "you might get wet. Come on into the dining-room." "What! Are you going to kill us?" cried Inch o' Pie, making a wry face. "Oh, no," said Two Noses calmly. "In Nobody's Land we call things by their right names. Some people call them living-rooms, but we call them dining-rooms as half the people are dying to get out. Come on."

THE seeds of bronchial trouble are sown during the present trying weather. For both strong and weak-chested a few Peps tablets afford the best and surest defence. Peps quickly soothe and heal raw, sore throats; they banish coughs, colds, and chills, and strengthen the whole of the bronchial tubes. As a Peps tablet dissolves in the mouth, certain healing and germicidal fumes are released which permeate the whole of the respiratory tract. Thus, the healing Peps medicine is brought deep into lungs and to all the vital parts. It reaches sore and inflamed membranes never touched by mixtures and syrups swallowed into the stomach.

Good Report From Young Girl Recently Placed in Foster Home

The monthly meeting of the board of management of the Children's Aid Society was held in their home, 68 Garden street, last night.

The vice-president, Sheriff A. A. Wilson, was in the chair. The treasurer, K. A. Wilson, told of his appearance before the finance committee of the Municipal Council, and expressed his pleasure that they had agreed to recommend a substantial increase over last year's grant.

He was confident, he said, that the society could live within the sum granted. All the members of the board concurred in the remarks of the treasurer.

The correspondence read by the secretary included a very gratifying report from a young girl recently placed in a foster home, where she is progressing well in every way.

SLEIGH RIDE ENJOYED. The choir of the Waterloo street Baptist church and a few of the friends of the members enjoyed a sleigh ride last evening and afterwards returned to the church where they found a bean supper ready waiting for them. The outing had been arranged by Mrs. James Paterson and Mrs. S. B. Gregg.

SHE: A kiss speaks volumes, they say. He: Don't you think it would be sporting to start a library?

"THESE are the greatest minutes of my life," said the secretary, as he read an account of the previous meeting.

Balanced food will help your nervous child

Oats and milk give greatest nourishment and relieve digestive troubles

Fretful, fidgety children usually have trouble in the digestive tract. Happy dispositions are largely the result of proper nourishment.

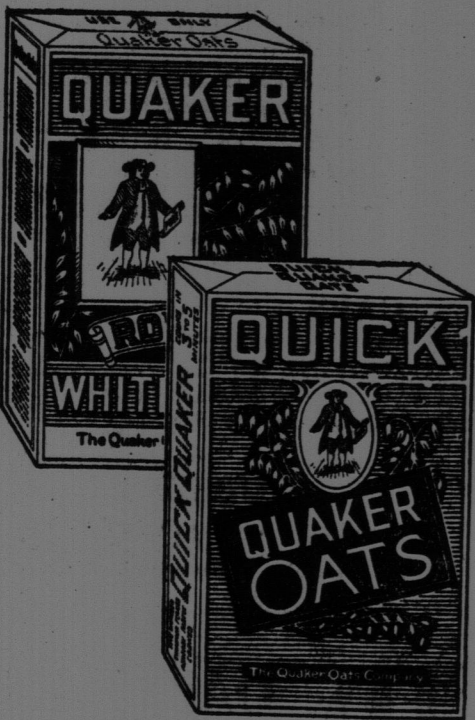

Balanced food helps to make nervous children healthy, because it satisfies every craving of the appetite. Quaker Oats contains many essential food elements in correct proportion... carbohydrates, which give energy... proteins, which build bone and muscle... vitamins, which are vital aids to food assimilation.

SECRETARY DENIES TILLEY PLAN WOULD HELPLIQUOR PROBLEM

Rev. T. Marshall of the N. B. Temperance Alliance Cites Various Authorities to Support Contention Freer Sale Makes Conditions Worse

FREDERICTON, Jan. 14—Rev. Thomas Marshall, secretary of the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance, has issued the following statement relative to the recent pronouncement in favor of Government controlled liquor selling in New Brunswick, made in Saint John this week by Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, President of the Executive Council of the New Brunswick Government:

"Hon. Mr. Tilley is reported in the Telegraph-Journal, as giving his views on the liquor question before the Rotary Club in Saint John. He is said to have assured his audience that the whole like to see a system of government control in New Brunswick. Backed by public opinion he believed that such a system would be more effective than present methods. The change, he said, would not only curb the business of bootlegging, but would provide the Government with a surplus of at least a million and a quarter dollars, instead of saddling it with a deficit as at present."

SAYS CONTROL ALREADY.

"In New Brunswick we have already a large measure of Government control. The wholesale business is altogether under Government control. The Government also controls the appointment of retail vendors, the method and amount of their sales, and the supplying them with liquor, and it also controls the enforcement of the intoxicating liquor laws; and a sorry mess they have made of the whole business. Government control has already wrecked one government, and brought government control into contempt of right thinking people in this province, as the last provincial election abundantly proved.

"An intelligent man like Mr. Tilley ought to know that there is no foundation for his belief that government control would curb the business of bootlegging. The facts of experience disprove it. Respectable witnesses like the Attorney-General of British Columbia and other equally reliable men speak of British Columbia, where they have Government control, as the Paradise of Bootleggers, and the statements show a far worse condition than in New Brunswick.

QUOTES OPPOSITION.

"If the Attorney-General of British Columbia is to be believed, the brewers have done their utmost to contravene the will of the people and tear down the law of the land. The Government looks like Government control promoting obedience to law. The Mayor of the city of Winnipeg, where they also have Government control, says: 'Conditions in regard to liquor were a thousand times worse than during prohibition.' The Attorney-General of Manitoba said they certainly were worse, and the conference of the United Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches branded the Government sale as a complete failure.

"In Quebec the facts are against Mr. Tilley's ideas. The Montreal Star of Oct. 31, 1925, says: 'A widespread and growing bootlegging trade exists in wet Montreal and is engrossing the attention of the Quebec Liquor Commission.' In The Montreal Standard of Nov. 28, 1925, is this suggestive paragraph: 'The menace of the blind pigs is increasing in Montreal every day, said a member of the Quebec Liquor Commission Police to a representative of the Standard this week.'

CALLS IT DELUSION

"J. F. Foster, Labor leader, says he knows of 1,000 blind pigs operating in Montreal. The Montreal Presbyterian 'warns workers in the cause of reform against believing that Government control eliminates the evils associated with the liquor traffic; and that bootlegging flourishes in and from this province as never before, and that drunkenness and the drug traffic flourish as never before, and that the Quebec system of Government Control is socially injurious, and not a success.'"

"The above facts out of very many that might be given out to satisfy any reasonable person that to claim

PARISHES WILL PAY FOR OWN PATIENTS

Kent Council Names Three to Look After Bonar Law Memorial

RICHBUCKTO, Jan. 14—The County Council, resuming business today, decided to allow each parish to pay its own hospital bills for free treatment at hospitals, any patient going for treatment to have an order from the councillors of the parish. The equipment to be purchased with the $400 voted for the Rexton Hospital yesterday is to be the property of the county. Kenneth B. Carson addressed the council this morning and, in the name of the committee who had charge of the erection of the Bonar Law cairn at Rexton, asked the council to take over and be responsible for its care. Councillor Daniel McInerney, of Richibucto Parish, made an eloquent appeal in favor of the council doing so and a committee of three was appointed to carry out this responsibility, namely Councillors McInerney, H. Hillbert Depres, of Dundas parish, and Joseph Pheasant, of Acadiaville parish.

SPLIT DEVELOPING IN BAPTIST CHURCH

Toronto Pastor's Dismissal is Said to be Sign of Division

TORONTO, Jan. 14—The dismissal of Rev. G. W. Allen by the congregation of Ossington avenue Baptist church, is stated to be a surface sign of a definite split in the Baptist denomination in Canada, which will take effect soon.

The Toronto Star today says that some churches which are distantly fundamentalist, have cut off financial support to McMaster University. The Ossington avenue congregation rejected Rev. Mr. Allen's recommendation that the contribution to McMaster, among other boards be discontinued, and they passed by a majority of 161 to 61 a resolution expressing appreciation of the work of McMaster University by the same vote they dismissed the pastor.

"Our pulpit is now vacant," stated C. E. Lillie, a deacon of Ossington avenue church, to the Telegram today. "The Baptist church is a democracy and the pastor was using the pulpit for controversial subjects without the consent of the people who rule."

Self-Poisoning Takes Huge Toll

Thousands of men and women are today victims of their own neglect. Grouchy, listless, quickly tiring, suffering from headaches and biliousness, they spend enormous sums in medicines without avail. They would give much to regain their old vitality. Can it be done? Yes! How? Simply by recognizing the importance of one fundamental rule of health—the proper elimination of the bowel contents. Poisons that are allowed to remain in the system quickly lower the stamina, weaken the nerves and thus pave the way to ill-health. Stop this self-poisoning by taking Nujol—the scientific lubricant that completes the work of Nature's lubricant when, through modern living conditions, the natural supply fails. Nujol can be taken indefinitely without injury to the system. Try Nujol today. Ask for it at your nearest drug store, but remember there is only one Nujol. Watch for the name "Nujol" in red on the label and package.

SAINT JOHN MAN ESCAPES DEATH

Leaps From Top to Safety—Three Are Killed and 300 Injured

Calvin Fraser, a former well-known West End boy, who went to Los Angeles, Cal., last May to reside, was in the crowd, who were on the large reviewing stand in Pasadena, when it collapsed on New Year's Day, while the famous Rose Carnival parade was being held, so he writes to R. H. Parsons, West Saint John.

FIRST WARNING "The first warning I had of it was a board snapping and then the crash came. I was sitting on the topmost board at the back of the stand and as it started to move I jumped about 20 feet, not getting hurt but getting a bad shaking up. I am still feeling the effects of it. The centre caved in and then the back fell forward, luckily for me, for if it had fallen the other way I would now be playing a harp."

Fire Sweeps Quebec Hotel Wing; 6 Hurt

QUEBEC, Jan. 14.—With a loss that is unofficially estimated around two million dollars, with five firemen taken to hospital and a commercial traveler named Boyd, of Montreal, suffering from asphyxiation, the Chateau Frontenac Hotel, one of the premier hostilities in Canada was the victim tonight of a conflagration that raged for nearly five hours before it was finally controlled.

The principal damage was sustained by the older portion of the building, that wing which overlooks the St. Lawrence River and which contained the great drawing room and the old tower. The new portion, which is situated in the lofty 15-story central tower, was saved and did not suffer much damage beyond that of smoke and water.

HUGE DEPOSIT OF IRON ORE REPORTED IN ONTARIO

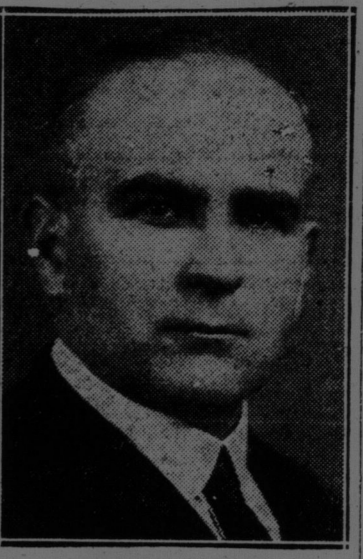

Believed Largest Body of Kind in North America; Situated Forty Miles West of Fort William, is Magnetite and Tests Higher Than Minnesota Product

The ore, the newspaper says, is situated 40 miles west of Fort William. It is magnetite and tests 14 points higher than mesabi ore in Minnesota. After it is crushed, the story says, it yields 65 per cent iron, free of moisture.

After testing five tons of sample ore, the story says, the University of Minnesota reports it of the highest quality treated there.

JOE MOORE MASTERS THUNBERG OVER THE THREE-MILE INDOORS

TURNS ARE TOO BIG HANDICAP FOR THE FINN

Gorman, Who Finished Second, Congratulates European On Race

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Clas Thunberg, of Finland, champion skater of the Olympics, has met defeat in his United States indoor test, but he has lost none of his prestige, for while accepting a beating, he shattered the two mile record.

Three miles of racing at Madison Square Garden, where Thunberg faced Joe Moore, champion of the indoor performers, and Charles Gorman, of Saint John, the Canadian title holder, last night, required just 168 corner turns or 84 long sweeps. For 36 of the 42 laps, the Finn held the lead with Moore in second place, and Gorman third, but his turns were crude, both feet brought together to avoid spilling.

Moore jumped ahead at the end of 21-2 miles and Gorman followed, with Thunberg, fearing a broken leg against the boards at either end of the rink, refused to extend his pace.

Moore won with ease, 9 min. 25.1-5 seconds, with Gorman 10 yards behind. Thunberg was half a lap behind the Canadian.

Thunberg's time for the two miles, which shattered the world's indoor record, was 6:13-4.5. The previous record of 6:17 was made by Charles Pliser of Pittsburg, in 1916.

It was evident that Thunberg had made up his mind to break the hearts and legs of his opponents, and his setting the pace, so stiffly created wonderfully fine time. It must be considered that the track instead of 12) laps (14) at the final show-down and he skidward one for everybody at the end.

In the long list of metropolitan sports which preceded the big race, followed it, every heat had a kind of and skate artists of experienced campaigning went into the clear by tumbles on the turns whilst inferior skaters were surprised to get their places.

Without partially it can be said that Gorman was the most likely contender for the big event from the first and tonight's New York sport editors gave him the odds. He skated beautifully and displayed superb style. In the tenth lap he stumbled on the painted lines but did not fall, quickly recovering his close-up position behind Moore.

When the race was over, he hurried around the rink and shook Thunberg's hand warmly amid loud applause. Charlie says he did his best to win but acknowledge as does Moore that the Finn lived up to his interviews about disappointing the slow tactics of long races on this side. He certainly set a lively pace. Thunberg was not interviewed after the race and Joe Moore was of course the New York hero. Gorman also got a big hand from the crowd while scores of Canadians besieged his dressing rooms after the event.

Exciting Struggle Expected Between Moncton and Locals Tonight

Along The Sport Trail

By JOHN J. DUNLOP

TROJAN SENIORS are not having very much trouble these days in getting into the series for the Maritime title and, if anything, are a greater team today than they ever were. They have picked up a coming young forward in Plumpton, who works well with Gordon Wilson and "Cyke" Lea. "Beet" Malcolm is still the kingly of centremen while getting past Kerr and Hollies on defence is like trying to climb over a prison wall.

It is probable the Trojans will try and arrange a basketball attraction for the skating meet week. The Nationals and the Y. M. C. I. have put up game fights, the Y springing quite a surprise the other night when they downed the Nationals. In the Intermediate League, the Knox boys have not lost a game with four more to play. With Lloyd Stirling, Josselyn, and Murray Stirling on the forward lineup, Cunningham at centre with Reid and Woodruff on defence, the Knox team looks like probable winners.

WHAT'S the matter with holding an amateur boxing card some of these days? They used to go big and always gave the fans a good run for their money.

SOME of our boy skaters are getting a wrong impression about the elimination races being conducted by the special committee of the Saint John Skating Association. It has kind of spread around that this is a sort of elimination for the world's championship meet here in a few weeks and that if a boy loses out in the eliminations he must stay out of the big meet and they are urged to do this promptly.

THE COPS and their friends sure had a grand time at the Vic last night. It was one of the most successful they ever held.

RUNNING true to form, we picked Clas Thunberg to win in New York last night and the handicap proved too great for the Finnish comet to be home in last. Joseph the Moor and his years of experience on indoor tracks proved too much for both Thunberg and Charlie Gorman and when the time came to take charge of affairs, Mr. Moore stepped out in front and was never headed, with Gorman and Thunberg floundering in the rear.

Without partially it can be said that Gorman was the most likely contender for the big event from the first and tonight's New York sport editors gave him the odds. He skated beautifully and displayed superb style. In the tenth lap he stumbled on the painted lines but did not fall, quickly recovering his close-up position behind Moore.

LOGAN IS STAR OF POLICEMEN'S SKATING MEET

Large Crowd Present to See Excellent Program

SCORING 140 points, 10 less than the maximum, with an accident robbing him of a chance to set a new mile record at the Victoria Rink, Willie Logan, Maritime and provincial champion, practically swept the boards at the Policemen's Sports last evening with more than 2,000 in attendance.

Logan won the 220, 440, mile and three mile and placed second in the 880 behind Ed Snodgrass. Snodgrass and Frank Howard were tied for points for second place with 40 each, the former winning the 880 and placing third in the 440, while Howard, a promising youngster, got a second in the mile and the three mile. Logan's great work was the feature of the meet. Despite the length of the program, the meet was run off in snappy style with "Ernie" Sterling directing matters.

THE COPS and their friends sure had a grand time at the Vic last night. It was one of the most successful they ever held.

Another rink record that had a close shave was Hilton Belyea's mile mark of 2:52-5. It was announced that Logan had clipped one-fifth of a second from the record. On checking up it was found that the tape had been stretched just before Logan lapped another skater right on the finish line.

THE COPS and their friends sure had a grand time at the Vic last night. It was one of the most successful they ever held.

Without partially it can be said that Gorman was the most likely contender for the big event from the first and tonight's New York sport editors gave him the odds. He skated beautifully and displayed superb style. In the tenth lap he stumbled on the painted lines but did not fall, quickly recovering his close-up position behind Moore.

Armour, will be held on St. Peter's rink Monday, commencing at sharp 7 o'clock. There are more than 20 entrants. The officials are: Referee—H. L. Nixon. Starter—Fred Logan. Timers—W. H. Turner, C. W. Ellsworth. Judges—John Thornton, Dr. J. Kerr Higgins, C. F. Stevens. Score—A. L. Roberts. Clerk—R. Cleary. Chairman Armour announced he skated on Lily Lake on Saturday, Jan. 23.

FIFIELD - QUILL BOUT ARRANGED

Canadian Welterweight Champion Anxious to Get Back Here

George Fifield, Canadian welterweight titleholder, and Frankie Quill, New England's premier welterweight, will feature an all-star boxing card for Tuesday night, Jan. 26. Final arrangements have been concluded for the staging of this pair, with the local Armories as the scene of action. In Fifield, Saint John fans will see a much improved boxer over the lad who gave Jimmy Cox such a sensational battle here. It was the best battle seen here for a year.

HALF HOLIDAY FOR SECOND DAY OF SKATE MEET

Council Asks Citizens to Observe Wednesday Afternoon, Jan. 27

CITY HALL HELPS IN CHAMPIONSHIPS

Will Give Trophy to Winner and Entertain Visiting Writers.

The City Council decided this morning to aid in making the World's Skating Championship Meet here January 26-27-28 a success by requesting the citizens to observe a half holiday on Wednesday, January 27 giving a trophy to the one crowned world's champion and by giving a banquet to the visiting newspaper men.

A delegation from the world championship skating executive met the members of the council at a special committee meeting this morning. The delegation was composed of A. P. Peterson, D. J. Corr, P. D. McAvity, Thomas Nagle and C. A. Owens. Mr. Peterson said they had come to see if the council would give a trophy, entertain the outside news men and declare a half holiday.

Discussion followed and it was decided that the city would offer a trophy for the highest point winner, the cost not to exceed $200.

HALF-HOLIDAY.

Mr. Corr and Mr. Nagle said the proposition for a half-holiday was endorsed by the Retail Merchants' Association, and the Skating Association would like to suggest that if a half-holiday was given that Wednesday be the day chosen.

Acting Mayor Frink said he would not like to declare a half-holiday, but would request the citizens to observe a half-holiday on the second day of the meet.

Mr. McAvity, for the entertainment committee, suggested that the city give a banquet for the visiting newspaper men who would be here representing the biggest papers in America. It was decided that the city should give a dinner for the newspaper men, foreign consuls and officials of the Skating Association.

IS BOOSTING CITY.

Mr. Corr said the prospects for a large attendance from outside points were very bright and the city had received many valuable advertising already because the meet was to be held here.

HAMPTON HOME IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Old Residence of Late Judge Wedderburn Goes up in Flames

One of the landmarks of Hampton Village disappeared when the residence of J. W. Lehrle, better known as the old home of the late Judge Wedderburn, was destroyed by fire which started at an early hour on Wednesday morning. The fire broke out about 1:15 a.m. and is believed to have had its origin in the explosion of a furnace in which soft coal was being burned. The building and its entire contents were a total loss and Mrs. Lehrle and her two small children had a narrow escape, only getting out with very little apparel. The fire was greatly aggravated by a high wind. The house burned very quickly and although a call was made for help, it was not available in time.

The house was set in its own grounds with no others very near so there was little danger of the fire spreading. It was a very beautiful old home with fine grounds and its loss will mean quite a bit to the Village. Mrs. Lehrle was a daughter of the late Judge Wedderburn.

OLD PAPER IS SENT TO ACTING MAYOR

Has Illustrated Story on Visit of Late King Edward to Saint John

An interesting copy of the London Illustrated was received today by Acting Mayor Frink and will probably be placed in the city files. It is dated September 8, 1869 and in it are found articles dealing with the visit of the late King Edward VII. to this city and province.

One of the illustrations shows the Suspension Bridge and Falls, another shows the parade in Carleton, with the Queen Victoria in the carriage in which the then Prince of Wales was seated, and the triumphal arch which had been erected in West Saint John. Still another shows the Government House at Fredericton.
