MESSAGE FROM KING EDWARD

Sangay's Calm in the British Metropolis Broken by Tumultuous Demonstration of Joy.

London, June 1 .- An official cablegram from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Saturday, May 31, 11:15 p.m., says: "A document containing terms of surrender was signed here this evening at 10:30 o'clock by all the Boer representatives, as well as by Lord Milner (the British high commissioner in South Africa) and myself."

He said he could not summarily dismiss any proposal for the closer union of the British Empire, but that the advantages must be demonstratively great to justify such a departure as a zollverein would necessitate, and that this departure would mean giving up the control of Great Britain's financial system to the British colonies.

WILL ROSEBERY BE LEADER? That Lord Rosebery hopes to lead a reunited party could be read between the lines of his speech at Leeds last night.

They assert that the conclusion of peace will be followed by a revival of Dutch ambition for the control of the confederation which is destined to be formed in South Africa, and that there are only two men of sufficient force to protect British interests-Mr. Chamberlain and Lord

Milner. Reflecting men find, however, in the new field of Dutch political activity a guarantee of permanent pacification, since the warriors will be more likely to settle down in contentment if they are convinced that their day is not ended and that confederation implies self-governing colonies with equality of race rights and opportunities. BOERS LOST A GOOD LEADER UNANIMITY IN SUBMISSION

But the Vast Majority Will Give In.

London, June 1 .- It is peace at last, and on Britain's own terms. News came of the signing of the terms of Boer surrender early this afternoon. The authorities wisely decided not to wait for Mr. Balfour's promised announcement in the House of Commons tomorrow. Therefore, they gave the welcome tidings to the people after a short delay. The details of the terms of the Boer submission have been published. The bare announcement of the surrender of all the forces of the former republic is all that is vouchsafed. The terms which the Boers have accepted are on the whole

LESS LIBERAL. and their future rights and privileges are more strictly curtailed than in the offers of which they might have availed themselves earlier in the war. This will occasion surprise here and elsewhere. The explanation is that the Boers have struggled throughout the negotiations not for their own interests, but for those of their allies from the Cape Colony, who in their charater of rebels are liable to grievous penalties. A FURTHER SURPRISE.

It is a further surprise that the Boers have preserved unanimity even in their final submission. All the recognized leaders have joined in surrender, Mr. Stevn, ex-president of the Orange Free State, is the only prominent representative who has not signed the capitulation, and this signature is absent simply because he is prostrate with paralysis and unable to hold a pen. As for the rank and file, the chief commanders have assured Gen. Kitchener that while there

There is no faith cure about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You do not need to imagine it is doing good. You can prove it by keeping a record of your weight. This food cure acts in a per-fect natural way. In fact, it is nature's own cure. and is composed of the most powerful restoratives and invigorators that science has yet discovered.

Take the case of Mrs. West, as described in her letter quoted below. She was pale, weak and run down in health. Her blood was thin and watery, and her nerves so starved and exhausted that she was prostrated. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured her, and added new, firm flesh to her body to the extent of eleven pounds. You will find her letter interesting. Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Wellington county, Ont., writes: "About two years ago I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of good results from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I used three boxes with great benefit. In a short time I gained eleven pounds, and as I was very thin when I began to use the remedy I was very proud of the increase of

Then the following spring I became rather poorly, and they again built me up, and gave me such a good appetite that I wanted to eat nearly half the time. I was so pleased with the cure the Nerve Food brought about that I recommended it to others, and they have told me of the benefits they had obtained from this preparation. You may use this testimental in order that others may learn of the good there is in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

If you have been affected as Mrs. West has, if you are not feeling real strong and well, you will be surprised at the good that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do you. It puts color in the cheeks, rounds out angular and wasted forms, and brings new hopes, new confidence and new life to take the place of despondency, weakness and disease. 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2 50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

people throughout the country were called upon to return thanks, Dr. Palmer preached his great secession sermon, in which he declared that there was no hope in the union for the South, with its views on slavery, and he insisted that it must secede. The sermon had a marked influence in hastoning the secession movement.

Dr. Palmer took the lead in the movement which split the Presbyterian Church of the country into the North-ern and Southern Presbyterians. He refused to obey the General Assembly of the Chuch, and called an assembly of all the Southern Presbyterian Churches, at Augusta, Ga., where he was elected moderator and where the was elected moderator and where the was elected moderator when a dissipated, disorganized and dissipated, of hungry men who breach was made complete. When a year ago the Northern Presbyterian Church proposed amity to the Southern Church, the suggestion was de-clined on the ground that it would be a reflection on Dr. Palmer. His death may bring about a reunion.

Dr. Palmer served as chaplain with South, died last week in his 84th year. He was run over and badly injured by a trolley car on May 13. The injury returned to his old church, the First Presbyterian of New Orleans. He took the lead in the anti-lottery movement in Louisiana in 1892. He was the ora-tor at the funeral of Jefferson Davis, while his oration over Gen. Robert E. Lee was one of the most brilliant ever delivered in the South. The City Robbed From Year to Year by Officials.

Startling Exposure Made by Grand Own, died of wounds. Jury-A General "Graft."

St. Louis, June 1 .- The grand jury which has been investigating municipal corruption with the assistance of District Attorney Jos. W. Folk, made its final report to Judge Douglass. The

'While there may have been corruption in other cities as great as we have had here, yet in no place in the world and in no time known to history has so much official corruption been uncovered. These revelations have been so appalling as to be almost beyond belief, and it will be years before the extent of the discoveries are fully realized. "If the affairs of St. Louis had been properly administered for the past fifteen years, and if all officials had been honest, there would today be enough money in the treasury to put public buildings in repair, pave streets that are now unpaved, make sewers that are now unmade and build new buildings so much needed. The high tax rate, the deplorable condition of public institutions, the depleted state of the city treasury, are a heritage left by officials who have proven traitors to the interests of the people and have trafficked in their votes, influence and official actions, to the city's detri-TAXPAYERS OUTRAGED. "These disclosures make plain that the taxpayers of St. Louis have been mercilessly and piteously outraged for years, that the money they have paid in taxes has been squandered; instead of being used for the public welfare it has been feloniously dissipated and benefited chiefly corrupt officials who have grown opulent on small salaries. "It is in evidence before us that a former collector of the city of St. Louis, who was afterward mayor, received interest on public funds for his ewn private account. The sum so received was something over $13,000. which with interest to date would amount to about $20,000. Any possible criminal charge arising out of this condition has been barred by the statute of limitation, which unfortunately, is three years. A civil action to recover the money, however, can still be brought, and we understand, will be instituted. The secretary of the late mayor made a practice of selling permits and of extorting money for remittances of fines in criminal cases. "The charter of the city provides that no member of the assembly or city official shall be interested directly or indirectly in city contracts, or in furnishing supplies to the city. This beneficient law is, we find, most grossly violated by members of the munici-Late this afternoon indictments were

ANNIVERSARY OF RIDGEWAY FIGHT

How the Canadians Met the Fenian Invaders.

SIX TORONTO BOYS KILLED

Interesting Account of the Battle Which Occurred Thirty-Six Years Ago Today.

Thirty-six years ago today on the now historic battlefield of Ridgeway, Canadian boys gave evidence of the possession of the same dauntless spirit which has since been so nobly displayed on the South African veldt. Most of them were raw lads, totally unfamiliar with the conditions of warfare, and most of them had never heard a shot fired in anger, for not since the rebellion of '37, twenty-nine years before, had been witnessed the spectacle of bodies of armed men contending on Canadian soil. Though the success of the Canadian troops at Ridgeway was not as complete as could rallying a sufficient number of the have been wished, their failure was not due to any lack of bravery on their part, and more than one brave lad laid down his life for his country, and now sleeps in the little cemetery at Ridgeway. The forces present were drawn from Toronto, Hamilton and the Niagara peninsula. But other parts of the province were equally ready to do their share in the defense of Canada's soil. London's contingent of citizen soldiery was hurried to the western border of the province, where attack was also anticipated, and many a local veteran can tell of the weeks spent at Sarnia, Windsor, Goderich or other places where the Fenians were expected to make a landing and where they would certainly have met with as hot a reception as was the case on the Niagara frontier.

A well-written article on the Fenian invasion appears in the Toronto Globe of Saturday last. It is from the pen of Mr. C. M. Sinclair, who is well known throughout Ontario through is the period of the pening contributions to various magazines and periodicals. The article traces the movements of the Fenian army from a dissipated, disorganized and dis-gusted rabble of hungry men, who hung around the city until the munici-pality and self-defense issued 1,566 railway passes to convey them to their various homes. The following extract from Mr. Sinclair's account of the bat-tle of Ridgeway will prove of interest on this, the anniversary of the famous

"Go strew his ashes to the wind; Whose sword or voice has saved man-And is he dead whose glorious mind To live in hearts we leave behind

Is not to die." If you ever visit the pleasant little village of Ridgeway-it seems like a bit of old England transplanted-go in the white-walled memorial church there, dear reader, and you will see, carved on a marble tablet, the above lines. If you will examine this tablet further you will read: "Sacred to the memory of the Ridge-way martyrs, who fell defending their

The number of Fenians killed at Ridgeway will never be known definitely, since they, being the victors, had an opportunity to remove or bury their But several bodies were afterwards found as they had fallen, among the bushes or in the fence corners, where they had dragged themselves to where they had dragged themselves to die. In the minute book of the town-ship of Bertie (where Ridgeway is sit-uated) for 1867 may still be read this grimly humorous motion: "Moved by Duncan Schooly, seconded by J. J. Sherk, that Hiram Sager be paid $3 burying four dead Fenians killed at the battle at Limestone Ridge in

The morning was a delightfully hazy one, the day June 2, 1866, the university company of the Queen's Own, with the joyousness of youth, caroled forth college glees as they moved to battle. On the extreme right the University and Highland com-panies of the Queen's Own pushed on in splendid style, the men taking cover as they advaced by short rushes, driv-ing the Fenian pickets out of the woods, and pushing them back, till the extended line of Canadians actually overlapped the Fenians' main position. So persistent was the advance that Fenians felt compelled to call in their forward line, who, half concealed, by their breastwork of fence rails, had been pouring in a galling fire on the companies operating across the Ridge road. Immediately upon the withdrawal of the Fenian pickets, the 13th Battaiion moved forward, and for half an hour or so their fire never once slackened, whilst two companies of the Queen's Own worked around on the right flank of the Fenians-it certainly looked as if the invaders were about to The psychological mobe encircled. ment of the battle had arrived, the chances seemed about evenly balanced, with the odds favoring the Canadians. But just here word came back from the front that the 13th Battalion had fired their last round. The reserve of Queen's Own hurried up on the double to relieve them, some confu-sion resulted from one set of men coming back from the firing line and another set hurrying forward. Col. O'Neill and some other mounted Fenian officers now rode forward in front of their lines to see what was going on in the opposing ranks. This movement on their part had a totally unexpected result among the Canadians. Word was hurriedly passed back "Cavalry are coming," and an attempt was made to form a square by calling in the troops operating on both sides of the Ridge road. Three sides of the square were actually formed, but the rear side could not be lined up properly,

To Recognize Purity.

Adulteration has grown to such a fine art, that it is almost impossible for a woman now-a-days to detect the false from the true; but a chemical analysis will always detect adulteration. Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, after a number of analyses, reports that "Sunlight Soap is a pure and well-made soap.' the double and leaping over the fences, which Col. Booker had neglected to level. The Fenian leaders, trained by their previous experiences of actual warfare to take advantage of every confusion in the enemy's ranks, order-ed a general advance; their compact little army swept forward firing incessantly as they came on, a perfect hail of lead encircled the Canadians, who, noticing their previous mistake in supposing they were being attacked by cavalry, were now gallantly endeavoring to extend their close formation to its original fan shape. In vain; it was not to be. A frightened bugler on the right sounded the retire, the partly away, men hurried past intent on no-thing so much as their own personal safety. It looked indeed at one time as if there might be a panic, the University company narrowly escaped being cut off from their comrades. But Col. Booker and his officers succeeded Queen's Own and 13th Battalion men to check the Fenians' advance, and thus enabled the University and Highland companies on the right to rejoin their regiments, though, to do so, they had to cross the enemy's line of fire, where the greatest loss of the day was suffered. The pursuit did not last beyond Ridgeway, as the resistance of the Canadians grew stiffer and stiffer, and "hanging on their hocks" seemed likely to develop into a troublesome job. Thus ended the Battle of Ridgeway, or "Limestone Ridge," as the Fenians called it, the loss on the side of the British being nine killed and 35 wounded; the Fenians admitted they had six killed and 21 wounded.

After the battle the Fenians swarmed in and around Ridgeway, requisi-tioned supplies from the neighboring farms, looted the shops in the village but abused no person, their chief care seemingly being a supply of eatables, since they were hungry as wolves How they expected to get along in a hostile country, without a semblanc of commissariat service, is one of the deepest mysteries in this strangely ordered expedition. Probably, though their leaders were loosely trusting to two unknown factors: (1) living on the country, (2) the capture of supplies, and in both they were bitterly disappointed, since they did not reach any large towns, and Col. Booker had taken the precaution to send all his supplies back to Port Colborne before going into battle.

Whilst Col. Booker was reforming his scattered column at Port Colborne that lovely June afternoon, the Fenian leaders were taking counsel among themselves as to what their next move should be. Their scouts had brought in word that Col. Peacock's column, with artillery, was moving steadily in their direction, and the prospects were that their line of retreat to Fort Erie would speedily be cut off, in which case, to surrender unconditionally, or fight at a very great disadvantage were the only alternatives, since they had no artillery themselves. When retreat to Fort Erie motion to was brought before his ficers by Col. O'Nelli there not a dissenting voice, and the mer obeyed with noticeable alacrity the orders to set out at once along the Garrison road for Fort Erie. Both officers and men were thoroughly sick their Canadian experiences, all thoughts of freeing Ireland were swallowed up in the one supreme wish of getting safely out of Canada again. Thus the victors of the forenoon be-

Canadian Enterprise Reaches Out to the Old Land-The Increase of Orders for Dr. Chase's Remedies Necessitates the Opening of Laboratorids in London, Englana.

While so much attention is being given to the prosperity of Canada and the development of New Ontario and the Northwest Territories, the enter-prise of Canadian firms which are introducing their goods into the old lands is to some extent lost sight of. It is not many years ago that Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous physician and recipe-book author, of Ann Arbor, Mich., sold to Edmanson, Bates & Co., of Toronto, the right to manufacture and sell his great prescription in Canada. Subsequently this firm purchased the American rights and established offices laboratories at Buffalo, N. Y., from which the whole of the United States is supplied with these popular family remedies. Gradually the fame of Dr. Chase spread to the Father Lands, and from the British Isles, France, Belgium and Germany came orders for Dr. Chase's Ointment, Kidney-Liver Pills, and Nerve Food. This foreign demand has nereased so rapidly and to such an extent that it is now found absolutely necessary to open up an establishment in Europe, and Mr. W. J. Edmanson sailed for London on the Oceanic on Wednesday to look after this new departure of the company parture of the company. As in many instances of Canadian success, the prosperity of this concern is in the first place due to the intrinsic merit of the goods manufactured, and next to the energetic management and the liberal use of newspaper space. There is scarcely a man, woman or child in America but knows the name of Dr. Chase as a household word, and is familiar with his famou recipe book and celebrated family remedies. It is only a question of time until the countries of Europe as It is only a question of well as the isles of the seas will be familiar with the name of Dr. Chase, and speak it reverently, because of the benefit they have derived from his great prescriptions.

FRIGHTFUL DEVASTATION!

Caused by the Recent Earthquake in Guatemala.

Details of the Disaster-1,400 Dead Taken From Ruins of Quezaltenango.

San Francisco, June 1. - Later details of the earthquake in Guatemala only add to its horrors. Passengers arriving here on the steamer City Sydney say they understood that 1,400 were taken from the ruins of Quezaltenango. One man who there and aided in the work of taking out the bodies says that over 1,000 had been taken out when he left there on May 13, twenty-five days after the city had been destroyed. Reports of loss and damage on the coffee plantations are beginning to come in, and they practically double the total reported from the towns. The estimated figures run into the millions. Tapacuchulta is a city of about 10,000, and the damage to the town is estimated at or about $200,000. San Marios, a town nearer Quezaltenango, was also destroyed with great loss of life. There were 140 prisoners in the jail, and every man was killed, crushed and buried under the falling walls. In Tiachico, a town of 2,000 inhabitants, not a house was left standing.

DO YOU FEEL SEEDY?

If You Are Nervous, Depressed Sleepless, and Suffer From Sick Stomach, Headache, Constipation and Indigestion, You Need a Good Tonic Like Ferrozone to Build Up the System.

Thousands are in this dreadful condition, only half alive, unable to stand the strain of work and worry. There There's a new heir to the title and is no sense or reason in trying to be comfortable with the idea that it will pass off, and that you are going to be better soon. Unless the system is cleansed of the impurities that poison the blood, you will never be better. The best remedy is Ferrozone. It achieves marvelous results in chronic wasting diseases, nervous prostration, faulty nutrition, heart disease and stomach troubles. Ferrozone promotes healthy digestion, which results in all food being assimilated. Nutrition is vastly improv ed, the blood grows rich and red and gives stability to the entire system. The store of nerve energy and force increases daily by the use of Ferrozone. The process of waste is arrested, and in its place a rebuilding of the whole system takes place.

Diseased conditions cannot exist where Ferrozone is used. It attacks disease at its very foundation, and by keeping the body well nourished and supplied with strong blood and a powerful nervous organization prevents and keeps away all manner of sick-

There is no blood builder, nerve tonic and strength producer that can equal Ferrozone, and few people are so well but they could derive great benefit from its use. It is valuable in Nervous Dyspepsia, Anaemia, Weakness, Impure Blood, Bronchitis, Neuralgia and Rheumatism. It is prepared in the form of a chocolate-coated tablet, and is both pleasant and convenient to use. Ferrozone produces that high standard of health so much desired by everyone. It brings back the rosy tint to the pale cheeks of the Anaemic girls and women. It puts grace and elasticity into their movements, gives lustre and brightness to the eye, and symmetry and roundness to the form. It gives a man new strength and energy with which to pursue his daily

The War Is Over.

"I wonder if there will be a place for the coronation," murmured the Peace as she stood with drooping wings and pensive mien, gazwistfully toward the dim towers of Westminster Abbey in the distance.

It was one of Punch's pregnant cartoons, which appeared not long since. The prayer of Peace is now answered, and from the whole British Empire ascends a Te Deum. The agonizing chapbe reopened, let us hope. The hand of war ever be laid upon her. the statesman, not the soldier, must write the new page.

Little did Great Britain dream three years ago that she was entering upon her greatest struggle since the Napoleonic wars. In this respect the Boer had more prescience than the Briton. When Kruger declared that humanity would be staggered, he spoke with a true appreciation of the actual conditions. But there is little need to recount recent history in South Africa. It 1s burned into the soul of the British people. They can now look back and see clearly the catastrophic blunders and shortcomings of the campaign, but while the retrospect is sad and humiliating in many features, it is glorious in others. It is glorious in the calm courage, the steadfast confidence, with which the British nation met the first shock of defeat, and bore itself through the dark days after Buller's repulse at the Tugela River. It is glorious in the unflinching spirit with which the British braced themselves for the task, and the inexhaustible energy and resources which they were able to summon. It is glorious, too, in the display of valor and all the virtues of the battlefield, of which humanity and mercy to the foe are not the least; but the most glorious and memorable feature of all is the common consciousness which thrilled the Empire to its remotest part. When Kruger flung his insolent ultimatum in the face of the mother country, he insulted not only pope, is made from the fleece of a the Briton at home, but the Briton over-seas, and from every red spot on has since the middle of the sixteenth dignity of British citizenship, and assert the rights of British free-Kruger builded better than of an empire in arms, but better than that, he has helped to forge new ties of Anglo-Saxon unity, and draw the scattered children of the race together in a closer sympathy and understanding. The Empire today is greater and grander than before, and more deeply sensible of its sublime mission and

The work of reconstruction must now begin in South Africa. British statesmanship has faced no graver problem in modern times; but that its patient wisdom will triumph, who can doubt? The dream of a united South Africa-united in sentiment and in loyal attachment to the Crown-may not be realized in this generation, but the foundation of dishes of which we know considerable, a new British commonwealth has now been laid, and, as in Canada, the work will be carried to its completion. From the Dominion, no doubt, lessons will be drawn which will be applied in the task of federating politically two peoples of different blood and language. The narrow ideas of colonial policy which drove Canada into rebellion, sixty years ago, no longer govern British statesmen, and they will avoid the errors of the past in dealing with South Africa.

For the mother country the war has been a great practical lesson which she eral, the fruit is cut up, cooked with is laying to heart. While Great Brit- very little sweetening, and boiled down ain has done what no other nation could have done in the same period of time, transported above 200,000 men over sea in her own ships, yet she was sadly disillusioned as to her military organization. It revealed the gravest defects, reaching to the very core of the system. Though British valor never shone more brightly, there is no denying that British military prestige has been damaged by bad generalship in the early stages of the campaign. fourth. Some 30 or 40 combinations South Africa has proved the graveyard of more than one brilliant reputation, though the names of Kitchener, Roberts, White, French, and Baden-Powell have taken on new lustre, and prove that the genius of war is not wholly extinct. But it has been painfully impressed that the system must ter and quince butter in our own marbe renovated; that the army must be kets. There is no reason why they more than an avenue of social preferment or a mere pastime for scions of the aristocracy, The officers must be rigidly and scientifically trained; the whole machinery reconstructed on a scientific basis. The Boer war has given the death-blow to many military traditions; it has revolutionized modern conceptions of warfare; it erased whole chapters of the drill book, and Great Britain should be the first of the powers to profit by the Yessons of which she is eating the bitter

While there may be much that is humiliating to the pride of the mother country, Canada can regard with unmixed pride her own share in this epochal struggle. Canadian officers made no blunders; Canadian troops fought with a steadfast bravery that proved them worthy companions-inarms of the disciplined veterans of England, Scotland and Ireland. They contributed some of the most glorious chapters of the war. They have proved that military virtues may be nourished in the bosom of a country eschewing militarism and devoted to the arts of peace. They have given Canada an ter of war, written in the bravest blood inspiring assurance of her own ability of two brave races, is closed, never to to care for herself should the hand of

In Lent, the papal raiment from shoes to cap is of scarlet. The Eastern season calls for white. Other holy days demand other colors. Every item of each costume is the finest and richest of its kind. The surplices worn at audiences are of priceless old lace. Nowhere in Europe is there a more valuable and interesting collection of lace. The slippers of the pope are legion and each pair is of finest velvet. The right slipper which is kissed by pligrims and other pious visitors, bears a cross in gold embroidery; while, on the left, are embroidered the crest, keys, tlara and pallium which make up the crest of the Roman Church. But the slippers fade into insignificance before the value of the innumerable pairs of gloves. These gloves are

The year being passed, the lambs are shorn and the nuns weave the fleece into palliums for the pope. The pallium, a long strip of white wool, adorned only by a gold cross at each end is the most sacred of priestly vestments, and is worn around the neck and body, the ends falling over the left shoulder. Before Pope Leo wears one blow and blew dirt around the roots, of his many palliums it must lie for a and Stephenson now has about ten certain length of time upon the sar- acres of perfectly planted onions from cophagus of St. Peter.

Many of the papal vestments are set rich jewels and stiff with gold and silver; but these gorgeous garcan lost its temporal power and the pope has given up grand public ceremonies. One of the jeweled robes, the famous cappa magna, or great cape, is alone would prevent the old and frail pope from wearing it.

Pope Leo XIII. is fond of jewels and mitting them to equal privileges and has a remarkably valuable collection opportunities with the conquering race. of rings, but only three of them are The Fisherman Ring, carved with a representation of St. Peter fishing, is the pope's official signet ring ly heal. Some of these days a clever historian will discover and publish the daily bill of fare which Montezuma offered the nobles of his court. It must have been very excellent, judging from the relics which have survived the clash of war and centuries. The tamale, the chili con carne, and the tortilla are three and of late years we have begun to learn something about the sweetmeats upon which the children of the Aztec homes once regaled themselves. They are still made by the Mexican Indians, and more especially the Mayas at the present time, and occasionally a few are brought by travelers to this

They are manufactured chiefly of fruits, and sometimes of nuts and fruits mixed, and with but little sugar. They are more . like macedoines of fruits than ordinary preserves. The favorites are guava, loquat, lemon, lime, cocoanut, custard-apple, pineapple, fig, banana, pawpaw, grape, current and berry. The cocoanut is used just before maturity, when the meat is still soft and pulpy. In gento a granular paste and then preservby the addition of some vinous fluid. The Mexicans today employ brandy, aguardiente, mescal, or strong wine, so that the finished product vague resemblance to our own brandied peaches. With the exception of the guava, it is seldom that one fruit is used alone. The common practice is to combine two or more; cocoanut, guava, and orange are one pleasant combination; cocoanut, orange and pineapple and pawpaw a third; raisins, orange, banana and cocoanut are a

"They're finding new stunts for the messenger boys right along," remarked the manager of a local district messenger office the other day. "Airing babies and dogs, taking care of jagged individuals, accompanying out-of-town women on shopping expeditions, and jobs of that sort are now old stories for the kids. But every once in a while something new for them to do turns up.

"I sent a boy over to the shop, and it went through all right. The youngster peeled his coat and kept a wary eye out that he wasn't skipped in his turn. A couple of minutes before the boy was due to be summoned to a chair as the 'next,' the business man who had rigged up the little scheme dropped in, and when the lad was called by the barber the man just slipped into the chair, and the boy doned his coat with a crin. fussy doctor of our school who calls in the doctor of a rival school when he himself falls ill. Transplanted by a Storm.

Will Stephenson, residing near Atchison, Kan., grows onion sets for a large seed house under a contract, and he planted twenty acres this spring. When the high winds blew recently nearly all the onion sets were actually blown out of the ground and into an adjoining cornfield. The wind continued to blow and blew dirt around the roots, and Stephenson now has about ten acres of perfectly planted onions from a quarter of a mile to a mile from the spot where they were originally planted. They have since sprouted and are doing nicely.

In the days following the baby's birth there is often a long up-hill struggle to recover strength, and the nurse busies herself in the preparation of jellies and broths for the invalid.

When Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is used as a preparative for mother-hood the baby's advent is practically painless, there is abundant strength to nurse and nourish the child, and a rapid recovery from the shock and strain inseparable from maternity.

"I was pleased that Dr. Pierce answered my letter," writes Mrs. C. W. Young, of 21 South Regent Street (Lee Park), Wilkesbarre, Penna. When I had those mishaps I began to think I would never have children. My back used to almost break and I would get sick at my stomach and have such headaches I did not know what to do; they used to set me nearly crazy, and I used to dread to get up, I felt so bad; then I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When baby was expected I took it all the time I was that way. I felt fine all the time, and I never get those dizzy spells now. I hardly ever have a nervous headache any more. I have a perfect romp of a boy; he is the light of our home. I am now twenty years old and my baby is almost eight months old. I now feel well, and weigh 180 pounds, and the baby 23% pounds. SOUTH AFRICA'S HILLS ECHO WITH GLAD NEWS OF PEACE!

day afternoon when London presents a sadly dead and deserted appearance. Very late Satur night a dispatch was received from Lord Kitchener, in which he said the Boer delegates were coming to Pretoria, that they had accepted Great Britain's terms, and that they are prepared to sign terms of surrender. Mr. Brodrick, the war secretary, personally communicated this message to King Edward, who was at Buckingsage was allowed to leak out. At 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon ham Palace, but the government declined to take any chances and nothing concerning the receipt of this meswar office received the dispatch from Lord Kitchener quoted above: THE NEWS GIVEN OUT. The clerk on duty at the war office transmitted the message to Buckingham Palace, where King Edward was lunching.

At about 5 o'clock word was receiv ed permitting the publication of this message, and the small notice which was stuck up outside of the war office consisted of a copy of Lord Kitchener's cablegram. A similar notice was put up outside of the colonial office. Beyond these two skimpy bits of paper, London knew nothing of the great event. In clubs, the hotels and the newspaper offices, which were almost all deserted the momentous news was ticked out on the tape. Then, like wildfire, at about 6 o'clock, and without any visible means for the transmission of the news, London awakened to the fact that the SOUTH AFRICAN WAR WAS OVER The inhabitants of the east end flock ed to the Mansion House just in time to see the lord mayor of London, Sir. Joseph C. Dimsdale, come to a balcony on the front of the municipal head quarters and announce that terms of surrended had been signed in South Africa. Amid many cheers the lord mayor made a short speech. "Let us." said the lord mayor in conclusion 'now pray for a long and happy peace. At this statement the assembled rowd shouted lustily, gave hearty cheers for King Edward, followed by others for the men who had died in South Africa since the war had commenced. LONDONERS GO WILD. By 8 p.m. the news had become generally known, and the enterprising nawkers, who for a long time past had kept Union Jacks, feathers and horns stored up in anticipation of the preseat, were much in evidence. The efforts of the hawkers received lucrative rewards, with the result that till long after midnight the national flags were waved indiscriminately by wellmeaning roysterers, while many improvised processions marched up and down the Strand and Piccadilly cheering and blowing horns. Thus the demenstrations of the night resulted in a genial and harmless sort of jubilation, which continued long after midnight. Outside of Buckingham Palace, where King Edward kept himself in seclusion, a crowd of fairly good proportions gathered and here, as elsewhere, the national anthem was sung lustily. Two sentries and many policemen guarded the historic passage outside of the war office. "GOOD OLD KITCHENER." and "We're bloomin' glad it's over," were among the phrases shouted by the crowd. A large number of those who had relatives at the front participated in the night's street scenes and lent a serious and often pathetic touch to what would otherwise have been an amusing jollification. While the general public celebrated the news of peace in the streets society was equally joyous athough perhaps not quite so demonstrative. At the fashionable hotels and restaurants patriotic airs were played, and those present repeatedly stood up and cheer-ed when the bands played "God Save the King." In the meanwhile the news had been conveyed to most of the churches whose bells clanged to the message of peace. Preachers stopped in their prayers and sermons to read Kitchener's laconic message to their congregations.

TO BE ANNOUNCED TODAY. The cabinet will meet this morning and will probably announce the wording of the statement to be made in the House of Commons. Cabling from Pretoria, the correspondent of the London Daily Mail says the British authorities absolutely rejected the suggestion of the Boer delegates that the terms of surrender should be ratified by Mr. Kruger, and declared that Boers in Europe had no hand in the settlement. "The terms will show," continues the orrespondent of the Daily Mail, "that the British Government carried its contentions on every vital point, while the minor concessions, particularly those in regard to generous financial treatment, will greatly appeal to the Boers in general."

PRESS COMMENT. In the absence of any knowledge of the terms of peace the editorials in this mornings papers express generally, and without any undue exultation. thankfulness that the long and arduous struggle is ended, and a hope that the peace will be enduring. The papers recognize also that there is still rreat and difficult task ahead in reconciling and reconstructing South Africa. While expressing the need of admiration for and gratitude to the British troops, almost all the newspapers ungrudgingly testify to the oravery of the Boers.

Cape Colony, with a constitutional government, is impossible, and with a Dutch population still embittered and demoralized, offers difficulties even more serious than those presented by the two Boer colonies under a military administration. The proclamation of peace will rethe necessity of taxing food move supplies for war services. If the registration duty be retained it will be a decisive demonstration of Unionist hostility to free trade, and it will be even more significant if the penny on incomes be remitted or if some compromise be effected in relieving the ratepayers "of the expenses for elementary education." A NICE QUESTION. The decision of the government on this question is awaited with anxiety the supporters of parliament, who are themselves divided in opinion, one section clamoring with the Spectator for the immediate abandonment of the duty, and another and stronger body insisting that it must stand as a basis for a system of privileged trade within the empire. No forecast can be made with confidence, but since the remodeling of the budget is more diffi-Sir than the making of it, Michael Hicks-Beach is likely to take ecourse in the argument that to balance the direct by indirect taxation requires the taxation of food.

ANTHRACITE MINERS BACKED BY PUMPMEN

Engineers and Firemen Also Respond to the Call to Strike. Hazelton, Pa., June 2.-There has been an almost unanimous response in the Hazelton district by the engineers, took place this afternoon to Woodland firemen and pumprunners to the strike order of the executive boards of the United Mine Workers. All the companies where men struck promptly filled their places with non-union men from Philadelphia, and their agents say the operation of the pumps will not be interfered with by the strike. In order to avert trouble, the coal companies will keep their special officers at the mines until the strike is over. The situation is so acute that the presence of these men in the city is liable to cause an outbreak.

Shamekin, Pa., June 2.-At the nineteen colleries within a radius of twelve miles of this place today, at least 95 per cent of the pumpmen, firemen and engineers struck for the eight-hour work day. When the firemen ceased work at 7 o'clock this morning their positions were filled by company hands, principally sub-bosses. No policemen guarded any of the local collieries today and strikers remain away from the mines.

sembled at 2 p.m. today for its June session. The members in attendance were Warden G. B. Campbell and Councilors Brady, Hodgins, Jackson, Elson, Neely, Salmon, McLeod, Trafford, Campbell, Grigg, Gray, Murray, Piper, Gough and Graham.

Warden G. B. Campbell, in his opening address, welcomed the members of the council. He referred with pleasure to the fact that peace had been declared, and hoped it would be lasting. A gratifying feature was the fact that there would be no dual language question in South Africa. The letting of bridge tenders, left by the January session to the care of committees had been satisfactorily carried through. The repairs to the jail and courthouse carried out at a cost of $1,200. County debentures to the amount of $24,000 had been advantageously disposed of. It will be necessary to raise about $6,-000 or one-half more than last year's figures, for the year's expenditure. There is a surplus of about $12,000 on hand, but this and more will be needed to carry out the construction of bridges and other works undertaken. The council may have to consider the question of erecting a new courthouse. The ratepapers of the county seem fairly well satisfied with the present courthouse, but those in authority think a new one should be provided. It would be for council to decide. COLONY'S PART IN THE WAR BOUNDARIES OF NEW PARISH THE LIST IS A LENGTHY ONE

A Brief Review of the Terrible Struggle, Which Has Now Happily Terminated.

The Boer ultimatum, demanding the removal of British troops from the borders of the Transvaal within 48 hours, was issued on Oct. 9, 1899. This, as has been seen, proved to be the signal for a costly and bloody war between the British and the Boers. It proved, also, an opportunity for the colonies to show their loyalty to the mother country in a way more substantial than mere lip homage. The Canadian Parliament not being in session at the time, efforts were put forth as soon as possible for the mustering of a Canadian contingent for service in South Africa. The movement was to be entirely a volunteer one. The government made the proviso that "only men in the very best physical condition would be accepted and that preference would be given to good marksmen." For reasons that are obvious, chiefly valent in Manitoba and the Northwest unmarried men were chosen to form the contingent. The first Canadian contingent consisted of eight units, of 125 men each, the highest officer in command being a major. One hundred and twenty-five men were to be chosen from the London district. Col. Holmes, D.O.C., received numerous applications for enrollment, which indicated that the supply was far in excess of the demand.

A second Canadian contingent, consisting of mounted rifles, left early in January, 1900. Thirty members of this contingent were selected from this district. The first contingent left upon a venture that was shrouded to a large extent in uncertainty. The second contingent went with a clearer knowledge of what was before them.

THE DARK SIDE OF WAR had already manifested itself, and it seemed that Britain was on the threshold of what might prove a prolonged and disastrous war. In March of 1900, Lord Strathcona, at his own expense, equipped a regi-ment, which has been called the Strathcona Horse. The force consisted of 28 officers and 512 of other ranks and 599 horses. The Strathconas were followed by force of 1,000 Canadians, who formed a part of Baden-Powell's constabulary. The organization of the last Canadian contingents is still fresh in the public RECORD OF THE WAR.

At the outbreak of the war General Buller was put in command of the British forces in South Africa.

Among the first notable events of the war was the battle of Ladysmith, which was begun on Oct. 30. General White was forced by the Boers to capitulate on the following day. His declaration exonerating his men from any suspicion of incompetency will be re membered. "I formed a plan," said he, "in the carrying out of which the Consignment Secured for London By disaster occurred, and I am alone responsible for the plan. There is no blame whatever to the troops, as the position was untenable." Ladysmith was relieved March 1 of the following

Edmund Hayden, the deputy returnis laid, provides in sections 188, 189 and 195 a means of punishment for offenses The act committed under that act. provides that the election trial judge may direct the prosecution of offenders any one who enters suit for them. Mr. McEvoy contended that when an offense is created by act of parliament, and the act provides specifically a means of disposing of the case and punishing an offender, that means and that only should be taken. It would be a curious condition of affairs, said Mr. McEvov, if in the heat of an election contest any irresponsible person could rush to the police and have a citizen arrested on suspicion of bribery or other wrongdoing. If this were the case half the citizens in the city might be in jail at election time. An adjournment was made till Thursday to allow Mr. McEvoy and

Agnes bent her head in troubled thought for a moment; she longed to do comething to tame this "heart of fire"—to win her for a better life and spirit.

At last she asked, in a friendly tone:

CHAPTER XLV.

The future home of Max and Agnes was at last ready for occupancy, every portion of it having been put in the daintiest order and elegantly furnished through-

In a description it would be impossible o do justice to the taste, beauty and legance which prevailed in every room. Mrs. Remington, out of the exceeding mrs. Remington, out of the exceeding gratitude of her heart for the restoration of her daughter, and for the great happiness she experienced in the union of the two whom she loved best in the world, had spared nothing. She had determined that nothing should be left undone to make their start in married life as perfect as possible.

It was thought best, upon talking the matter over, that they should move into the new house and get settled before the redding as such an arrangement would onvenient and comfortable for ent home before he went away, and thus ree his mother from all care or respon-bility in the matter. The suite of rooms that had been apopriated for the use of the young uple was in the front of the mansion, d directly overlooked the lawn, which was now like a carpet of emerald velvet. These rooms, three in number, besides the bath, were perfect gems. The spa-cious private parlor, or boudoir, with its double glass door opening upon a bal-cony that was just over the grand entrance porch, commanded a magnificent view on three sides, and was a delightful apartment. The carpet was of white ful apartment. The carpet was of white ground, its pattern clusters of forgetme-nots and golden rod, mingled with fine running vines and variegated moss. The furniture, of a light and graceful pattern, was upholstered in some silken fabric to match the carpet. Quaint and beautiful tables stood here and there. An etagere, of exquisite design, and ornamented with rare and costly articles of virtu, was a treasure in itself. Lovely vases of silver and porcelain and cut glass were arranged upon tables and mantel. Pictures, not too many nor too large, but each a gem, adorned the white and gold walls. Silken curtains of light blue, overhung with others of delicate olue, overhung with others of delicate ace, were looped back from the large blate-glass windows with heavy cords, terminating in ponderous tassels of the same hue.

The chamber beyond was furnished in the same delicate tints, as was also the dressing-room, which was a little bower dressing-room, which was a little bower of luxury, even to the dainty toilet articles, which were elaborately ornamented and marked with a monogram composed of the letters "A. W. R." "They are too pretty to live in," Agnes had remarked the first time that she was allowed to peep into the rooms after they were all in order, and Mrs. Remington felt more than repaid for all her thought and care as she saw the look of delight on her expressive face. delight on her expressive face. Mrs. Remington's rooms, also comprising a suite of three, were in the left, or south, wing, while those set apart for Mr. Trowbridge were in the north wing. There were other suites for guests, while the servants' rooms were in the story above.

Everything of value which they cared to retain was taken to the new house, while all else was consigned to an aucrejected.

This blunder was not discovered until a couple of days afterward, when Mrs. Remington, who was superintending the putting away of her costly china and the putting away of sictures, suddenly stopped, anging of pictures, suddenly stopped, the midst of her work, and exclaimed, "Max, what was done with your cradle?"

"Do. I would not have anything happen to it for the world." said Mrs. Remington, anxiously. "It is an heirloom that you must never part with." Max went at once to look after the ancient relic, but the teamsters had fully obeyed their orders—"to take everything left in the house to the auction rooms"— and the closet under the stairs was and the closet under the stairs was empty.

Greatly annoyed that he should have been so negligent. Max hastened to the auction rooms, thinking he should surely find the cradle there, for he imagined that no one would care to purchase such an ancient, clumsy article, in these days of pretty brass cribs and swinging beds.

-New Orleans States.

The bad defeat of the London lacrosse team by the Tecumsehs at Toronto Saturday, again makes apparent the folly of pitting a team lacking practice against a team in the best of training. At the same time, in the opinion of every man who has the real interests of the team at heart, Saturday's Waterloo was the best thing that could possibly have happened. Experience is a dear teacher, in sports as in everything else, but it is none the less a valuable one. The Toronto papers will sneer and laugh in derision at "London's imported players," but we will not mind. We will take to heart the lesson that a fast team on paper is not necessarily a fast team in the field, and give thanks to grim old Experience, who taught us. It may as well be admitted frankly that London was hopelessly outclassed in Saturday's game, but it doesn't follow that we haven't the material to win. As a matter of fact, the Tecumsehs' periority does not lie in the individual skill of their players, but in their admirable system of passing and in their excellent all-round team work. It was admitted by Toronto experts who witnessed Saturday's contest that Paddy Kelly, O'Brien, Bretz, Tommy Lawlor, Laura sat staring blankly at the spot and others of the London team, are as brilliant players as any who board in Toronto. What the team lacks is practice, and this must be supplied at once. Brilliant individual plays will not win lacrosse games. Paste that in your hat, Mr. London, and get down to work. There must, of course, be some weeding out, and some strengthening, and the work will be commenced at once. It is said that the management of the Londons have a line out for two of the best men on the Toronto team which has just returned from an English tour.

Saturday's game, while not rough in few of the Londons escaped some sort the champion will make. Attell is of injury. Little was left in the Em- wonderfully clever, and by most judges ergency Hospital at Toronto with a broken nose; O'Brien suffered a severe cut on the back of the head; and Lawler received two nasty cuts over the eye. All the other London payers were more or less bruised. Tierney, Varkon and Dowse were all given a rest for their pugilistic proclivities.

'Way out on the slope of the Pacific Coast, between the shadow of the Rockies and the glint of the Golden Gate, old Pete Lohman, once the most talked-of-man in London the lesser, is doing wonderful stunts on the green diamond, You can't forget Pete, and you wouldn't wish to if you could. To be sure his residence in London was a brief one, but somehow you think of him still as an Old Boy, just as you think of the other fellows who come home to the Forest City every year or so from outlandish corners of the continent. Pete gave London a winning baseball team, and it is doubtful whether any other player ever endeared himself so much to the fang in this corner of the woods. One can still pleture him, grim, grizzled and strenuous, calling out cheerily from behind his catcher's mask: "Now then, everybody on their toes! Work hard, men! Yes, Pete is still "Co:kney Pete."

"Everybody on their toes": that is the secret of Pete Lohman's success. He is the possessor of two qualities not often, alas, found together-a talent for organization and hard work, good combination plays. and a conscience. These qualities have made Pete the king-pin of the California diamond. You'll find Rube Waddell's name oftener in the papers, perhaps, but it's runs that count, and runs are what Pete is after. When he determined to win the pennant; and a long way ahead of the bunch and is They took possession of this beautiful still climbing. Week before last they home just a week previous to the date won five out of a series of six games set for the wedding, and Max began imwith San Francisco. Writing of the team a correspondent of the Sporting News says: "They are playing the most consistent ball of any club in the league and deserve much praise for their magnificent work thus far. Their fielding and base running has never been equaled on a California diamond, while their batting is on a par with the other three teams."

> By the way, Kid Mohler, another old Cockney, whom Pete Lohman induced to jump from cold, inhospitable Denver to the land where oranges are plentiful as cabbages with us, is playing the game of his life, and is reckoned the fastest second baseman. But that little parcel of animated fly-paper has himself in the bad books of the National Association by his grass-hopper act. The Denver fans raised Teams: a howl of despair when Mohler packed is bag; now, however, they claim to have landed a second baseman, who, while not such a spectacular player as Mohler, covers the second bag quite as satisfactorily.

One of the most remarkable games in baseball annals was played between Mohler's team and the Sacramento aggregation the other day. For nineteen long innings Oakland and Sacramento struggled and when Umpire Jim Mc-Donald called the game on account of darkness, the score board showed these results: Oakiand 4, Sacramento The contest was the more remarkable because the opposing teams were the leaders and the tailenders of the league. During the game, the former made but six hits off young Thomas, made but six hits off young Thomas.

this extraordinary contest, the Sacramento team has done pour work, and one disgusted follower writes pathetically: "The club is now away for a series of 23 games, 12 with Oakland, 6 with San Francisco and 5 with Los Angeles, and may the Lord have mercy on their souls. We fear the worst."

Tecumseh Park fans will remember Grim, the ex-International League player. Last year Grim managed the Portland team of the Pacific Coast League, and to such purpose that the Harry Struthers pitched half the game, team landed the pennant. His services and Sam Lee, the veteran, was also in for some reason not to be accounted for were not appreciated, and at the opening of the present season Spokane secured him as manager. The other day he had the exquisite satisfaction of defeating his former team four games out of a series of five. 'Dutchy" Kostal, the good little pitcher who was on London's staff when Pete Lohman's team was at the height of its glory, and McKevitt, formerly of Hamilton, are both also doing good work for Spokane. The latter is batting at a .379 clip and fielding .917. Walter L. McCallum, writing from Spokane, says: "Kostal is now in form and pitching great ball. He has pitched four games, won two and lost two. The last game he pitched against Portland he made them look like 30 cents.

Champion Titus' defeat by Scholes in the Harlem regatta of Memorial Day gives his Henley chances a dubious appearance, writes Joe S. Jackson in the Detroit Free Press. Both of his very best now, but that very best does not apparently approach the form of young Ten Eyck, the New England lad whose sensational work in the old country will ever remain a bright page in the history of American row-ing progress. Scholes' chances, on Friday's showing, appear to be much the better. The Canadian finished with a good lead, and he was strong and fresh when he went over the line. Titus was all in. Speed alone does not win the Henley event. It is not a race sprinters. Condition and stamina are necessary. The English oarsmen are older men, better developed than our athletes, and can stand the grueling of a Henley week better than Titus seems able to.

The feature boxing bout of this week will be that between Abe Attell and Young Corbett, at Denver, on Friday. They are to do 126 pounds at 3 o'clock, a weight that is pounds above Attell's appearance, was really a bruiser, and real scale, but that is the lowest that who have seen him work is expected to out-box Corbett without difficulty. In a finish or distance fight he would hardly have a chance with the champion, as Yanger showed at St. Louis This go will be for ten rounds, and by mere cleverness. TECUMSEHS WON. Toronto, June 2 .- The Tecumseh lacrosse team defeated the London team less said the better. Southams were "up by 18 goals to 1 in a poor exhibition of lacrosse. The bright feature of the game was the fine combination and effective shooting of the Tecumseh home, the London defense being unable to withstand the onset. Durkin, Kelly, Pennock, Angus, Grimes and Dobbin did good work, while, for London, Mooney in goal was the star, while O'Brien and Sorvey worked some At the face-off London secured the ball, but Kelly stole it, and after a pretty run passed it to Pennock, to Samuels, r. f. 6 Greatrix, the latter scoring by a neat shot. THE CITY LEAGUE. "Al" Watts, the Aberdeens' clever pitcher, deserves a very large share of credit for winning the game between the Aberdeens and Rockets, played at Tecumseh Park on Saturday. He pitched the game of his life, letting the Rockets have only three hits. The Rockets, who, previous to this game, had not been beaten, were not in good shape, and played rather shabby ball. Five errors by the Rockets and eight hits by the Aberdeens tells the story. The game was interesting, however, Waud pitching fairly well, although the loss of Phillips and several other members of the team was felt sorely. The game had more attraction to the 200 spectators than the one played between London and Struthers, which at its best was slow. The Struthers aggregation were beaten from the first. the box. Bert Sheere did good work for the Londons. The score:

offer to Napoleon Lajole. Of course, Lajole is much too expensive a man for Montreal to carry for any length of time, but, from June 9 to July 2, the team could assume the burden with profit, for he would be a great drawing card among the French-Canadians. Manager Dooley figures out that, if Lajoie could get a good round sum for playing ball three weeks in Montreal, outside the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania courts, he might be willing to play out the remainder of the season with the Philadelphia National League team on the terms of-fered him by Col. Rogers. Montreal, of course, would not play Lajole anywhere except in Canada. The club has a solid series of games, beginning June 9, on the home grounds and lasting three weeks, and that is about

CRONYN, PRESIDENT, LITTLE, VICE-PRESIDENT, SOMERVILLE, MAN. DIR.

Large congregations were present in St. James' Church, South London, yesterday, to hear the Bishop of Huron. In the morning the bishop took his text from the 1st chapter of Jonah, dealing with Jonah's conversion by being swallowed by the whale. The bishop said that when Jonah received the command to go to Nineveh, he shrank from the task and fled to from his duty. He should have known that it was useless to try and escape from God, an act which man cannot do. After they had started on the journey the Lord sent a great tempest, which overtook the ship and she was like to be broken. Jonah was at this time fast asleep in the hold of the vessel, and the shipmaster came and commanded him to call upon his God that they might be saved. His lordship compared the people of today with Jonah, whose conscience did not trouble them and who slept, forgetting that God lived. He went on to say that when Jonah awoke and found the storm raging his own sin found him out, and he knew God was dealing with him. The preacher explained that God dealt with us in the same way; when we are caught in a storm our ship is steered into a harbor, a harbor of eternal rest. When Jonah awoke he told the sailors to throw him into the sea, for he was the cause of the tempest. The preacher concluded by saying that three lessons could be learned from this experience of Jonah: 1, That the large work of Christ is all being done for us; 2, that credit is due

$500,000,000 ASKED FOR NEGRO EXODUS

Convention Asked That Sum of Congress as Solution of Race Troubles.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 2.—The Colored Emigration and Commercial Convention was in session here last week. A long memorial was adopted unanimously praying congress to appropriate the sum of $500,000,000 to deport such negroes as desired to leave the United States to Africa, or some other country.

The memorial is in the form of a pe tition and is addressed to the President of the United States and the members of Congress.

The convention points out at great length the alleged wrongs of the negro, asserting that he has not the rights of a human being in this country, other country where he can enjoy more freedom than he is allowed here.

Bishop Turner, of the African Methodist Church is the least of Bishop Turner, of the African Methodist Church, is the leading spirit of the movement. Plans are now being considered by the convention to raise a fund of $100,000 with which to buy ships on which negroes are to be trained to a sea life.

Haitian Hon sty.

Haiti is the only country in the world "where black rules white." Al-though the present republic is not successful because so large a portion of the citizens are lazy and uneducated, yet the people have many good qualities, which, according to Mr. Hesketh Pritchard, show themselves in sunexpected and contradictory ways. One of the things that strike one most is that Haiti is a country of extremes and contrasts. Logic is always at fault. A Haitian's honesty is like a Haitian's mind; it is apt to surprise you round odd corners. For example: Hundreds of thousands of Haitian dollars pass annually along the lonely track between Jacmel and Port-au-Prince. The men who bear them are low-class Haitians; ragged, uncouth, uneducated, wild and un-tutored. Yet only once have the dollars failed to arrive. I have heard it said that ten dollars might tempt the Haitian's cupidity, but ten thousand awes him into immaculate honesty. During the last thirty years uncount-ed couriers have made the desolate journey over the mountain passes, each

THEIR KILLING SIMPLY MURDER

Official Report of the Butchery of Filipinos

Captives Dug Their Own Graves Before They Were Shot Down by U. S. Soldiers.

Washington, June 1 .- The secretary of war has transmitted to the senate committee on the Philippines a copy of the report made by J. G. Livingstone, governor of the Philippine Province of Sorsogon, of the killing by soldiers of two native officials of the town of Santa Magdalena, of that province. One of the men was the presidente of the town named Ysidro Gallanosa, and the other a policeman. The secretary of the town, Quintam Gamit, also was tortured for the purpose of forcing a confession from him. Governor Livingstone says that a native who was trusted by the American authorities was sent to the town to spy out men connected with the movement known as the "anting anting" movement; that he arrested some such men and took them with their papers before the presidente, and that while all were there a detachment of troops under a corporal entered and arrested all such insurgents. They were then taken before Lieut. Harker, of the 5th Infantry, who put them to work on the streets. The report con-"The next day the presidente and

Gamit were taken out in the woods and hanged until their feet were nearly off the ground, and were asked if they would 'talk,' to which they re-plied that they would, naturally. They were returned to Matnog, where the secretary was again questioned by Lieut. Harker as to the conduct and character of the presidente, giving, ac-cording to the secretary's statement, satisfactory answers. He was returned to the jail, and later he, with the presidente and Giriaco Funes, a policeman of Magdalena, were again taken to the hills, being compelled to carry a rope, a pick and a spade, and on reaching a certain spot the presidente was put to work digging what would appear to be a grave. Then the presidente was bound and shot in the

The secretary states he saw all of this himself, and also saw the policeman bound in the same way, and little later he heard some shots which he presumed were fired at the policeman, as he was also killed.

The report also says: "It is claimed that the presidente and policeman tried to escape, and the soldiers concerned have made affidavits to this effect, but I believe this to be

Inclosed with the governor's report are affidavits of the private who shot the presidente and also an affidavit from a native prisoner saying that the presidente had allowed him to escape for pay. There also is a report upon the case by Capt. F.

Wittenmeyer, of the 15th Infantry, as follows: "I wish to call your attention to the fact that, at the time this occurred, some 400 persons had been captured, most of whom were members of the Anting-Anting Society, and I have no doubt that this presidente was a member of this gang. It is a fact, that cannot be disputed, that a company of Anting-Anting from St. Magdalena was in the fight at Gati, Sept. 7, and some of their wounded were cared for by this presidente and his subordinates. CLEARED $1,000,000 ON HIS OATS CORNER

Successful Deal in the Chicago Market-Price Jumped 6 Cents.

Chicago, June 2.-James A. Patten, mayor of Evanston, and a prominent board of trade operator, on Saturday brought to a successful close the corner in May oats which has dominated the oat market since early last fall. The profits credited to Mr. Patten on the deal are estimated at nearly $1,000,-

About the time prices in corn began to mount skyward last year on account of the crop shortage it was learned that someone was taking in all the May cats offered on the Chicago market and elsewhere. Prices began to advance steadily, and around 37 cents it was known that Mr. Patten was trying to work a corner. On the big flurry on the Chicago board last December, May oats were pushed to 47% cents. Since that time, reactions occurred, and when delivery day came last month many speculators thought the bottom had fallen out of the corner. It was said Mr. Patten had 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 bushels of the May options. Everything that was offered to him on deliveries he took, and in turn sold practically all the contract stocks to shippers at good inducements. This left nothing for the shorts to acquire with which to settle, and prices ac-cordingly were pushed up by Mr. Pat-ten personally in the pit on Saturday.

May cats closed Thursday at 43% cents. Saturday the price jumped about 6 cents and closed at 491/2 cents. There was a little flurry of excitement at the close, but the corner did not affect the other options.
