SEVENTEEN PERSONS DROWNED. Hamburg, Aug. 20 .- A boat containing 25 passengers was run down and sunk yesterday by the steamer Concordia, from Stade. Seventeen persons were drowned.

VOTING ON THE ADDRESS. London, Aug. 20.-After rejecting several amendments to the address in reply to the Queen's speech, a Government motion to adopt closure was carried by a vote of 206 to 73. Then, by a vote of 217 to 63, the House agreed to

MADE THE MOORS PAY. Berlin, Aug. 20.-The warship Hagen has arrived at Wilhelm's Haven from Tangier, having on board the $50,000 indemnity which Germany, at the cannon's mouth, compelled Morocco to pay for the murder by natives of a German named Rockstroh.

EARTHQUAKE IN NEW ZEA-LAND.

Wellington, N. Z., Aug. 20.-A severe earthquake yesterday in the Tauranga district on North Island did much damage. At Tupo the residents were panicstricken and fled to the fields for

SIR CHARLES DILKE'S ODD CHAL-LENGE.

London, Aug. 20 .- A curious challenge was made by Sir Charles Dilke and R. McKenna, M.P., both muscular men. They offered to meet any two members of the Government in a paircared race on the Thames.

BISMARCK NOT THERE. Berlin, Aug. 20.-The North German Gazette publishes an inspired note, saying: "To the general regret, the great Chancellor of the late Emperor, the foundation stone of whose monu-ment was laid yesterday, was prevented by his advanced age from being present at the ceremony. In answer to the invitation sent to him by Chancellor Prince Von Hohenlohe, at the instance of the Emperor, Prince Bismarck begged the Prince to excuse his absence to the Emperor on the score of ill-

NIHILIST PLOT-300 KILLED. London, Aug. 20.-The Daily News publishes a dispatch from Trieste saying that newspapers there report an explosion occurred at the artillery barracks at Toola, capital of the Government of that name in Russia. Three hundred persons are said to have been killed, including many officers. The barracks are a heap of ruins. An examination into the cause of the explosion led to the discovery that the barracks had been undermined everywhere. Many arrests have been made of persons suspected of being implicated in the outrage, which is supposed to have been the work of Nihilists.

IMPENDING INVESTIGATION. Shanghai, Aug. 20.-The Mercury, of this city, states that the Chinese Government has refused to allow the British and American consuls at Foo Chow to make any inquiries into the massacre of Christians at Ku Cheng, where they and other members of the commission of inquiry, arrived a few days ago. London, Aug. 20.-The Times publish es a dispatch from Hong Kong, confirming the report of the refusal of the Chinese Government to allow the British and American consuls to inquire into the Ku Cheng massacres. The dispatch adds that the Chinese soldiers are plundering the people who feel that the foreigners are the cause of their sufferings, and believe that it is necessary to destroy them. Further incendiary placards have been posted in Canton.

RIOT IN MULHEIM. Berlin, Aug. 20.-The competition between two steamship companies caused a tumult in Mulheim on Sunday, and the trouble was continued yesterday. The local police were unable to suppress the disorder, and they were reinforced by police from Cologne. The combined forces of police attempted to disperse the mob that had gathered, but were met with showers of stones, bottles and fragments of iron, and revolver shots. Many persons were wounded, including vice-burgomaster, a police commissary and 22 policemen. Among the wounded was a boy, who is dying in an hospital. The police fired into the mob, but the effect is not reported. A large number of the rioters were arrested. The police, however, have not succeeded in restoring order, and it will probably be necessary to use troops to $20,000,000 SPENT IN LONDON. London, Aug. 20.-The amount of American money which has been spent over here this summer must be stupendous. American custom in London has retrieved one of the worst seasons which tradesmen have known here for years. A very simple calculation hints The Telegraph estimates the number of Americans who have passed through London since January at 130,-That seems impossible, so the estimate may be cut one-quarter, or to 100.000. Each of these 65.000 must necessarily have averaged $75 for hotel bills, and it is by no means extravagant to guess that other expenditures will average twice as much more. Sixty-five thousand times $225 are $14.625.000, and without extravagance of estimate, to bring it up to $20,000,000 for London alone. What must it be for the whole of Europe?

TURF PROFITS OF A PRINCE.

London, Aug. 20.-An examination of the winnings on the turf this year shows that the Prince of Wales has done very much better than ever before. In his first year's racing (1889) he won only two small races worth £204. These figures were trebled in 1890. In 1891 he won £4,148. The year 1892 was a bad one, and he only took £190. He did a little better in 1893, winning £372. Last year the Prince won five races worth £3,499. But this year, in addition te excellent stable prospects, he has made nearly £8,000. Fiorizel II., which has not been beaten, has won five races aggregating £3,968, and Persimmon won both races he ran in, taking

TO EUROPE BY LAND. London, Aug. 20 .- A reporter had an interview today with Harry de Windt, whose explorations and investigations of prison life in Siberia and walk from Peking to Calais have made his famous. Although he has been back from his Siberian wanderings only a few months, during which time he has twice crossed the Atlantic, Mr. de Windt will soon be off on another journey. "I am getting through with my book on Siberia," he said, "and in the middle of September I leave Europe by La Gascogne for New York. My contemplated journey will be the biggest I have ever attempted. In point of distance, it is exactly three times as long as any of my former journeys. I have not had much experience of sea traveling, my metier being land work. On this journey, however, I have a nasty bit of sea to encounter. But, as it will be ice when I cross it, I shall assume it to be land.

"I am going from America to Europe overland. My objects are to explore Alaska and the northeastern parts of Siberia-a task which has never been accomplished—and to study the condition of political exiles in Yakontsk. After the conclusion or a lecturing tour next March, I shall leave Vancouver and proceed to Sitka, on the Alaska-Canadian frontier. Thence an eight-days' journey will take me to Mount St. Elias, There I hope to form my expedition, and to pick up my dogs, fifty sledges, instruments and natives, Starting in a northwesterly direction, I intend to cross that absolutely un-known part of Alaska lying between Mount St. Elias and Prince of Wales Cape, the extreme northwestern point of Alaska, on the American Continent. This part of the journey will take at least four months. I can only proceed further in midwinter because the ice on Behring Straits will then be formed. "I expect to leave Prince of Wales Cape about January, 1897. In crossing Alaska there is no danger from natives, but the extremes of temperature are great and the cold is frightful. I shall sleep in the open, I know I shall also have to cross two chains of mountains, each of which is as high as Mount Blanc, Beyond this, Alaska is a terra incognita, and I can only imagine what I shall have to encounter. "One of the chief difficulties will be the crossing of Behring Straits. From Prince of Wales Cape, on the American Continent, to East Cape in Asia in the opposite shore of the straits (a distance of 32 miles) will take me about eight days. I have made special arrange-injured by ice floes or crushed by the pack. "On reaching East Cape, the most easterly point of Asia, I shall proceed to Ghigilja, a distance of 1,000 miles; thence to Okhotsk, a further stage of 800 miles and from there to Yakutsk. This part of my journey will be per-formed first by reindeer, then by dogs. and finally by horses. From Yakutsk I shall proceed by river steamer to Irkutsk, thence by post road to Yomsk, and by my old route home, through Russia. I hope to reach England at the end of 1897, after traveling over 22,000 miles.'

Resulting From a Boiler Explosion in Denver.

Twenty-Five Men, Women and Children Perish.

Several Others Injured and a Large Number Missing.

Denver, Col., Aug. 20.-Probably 25 men, women and children perished by an explosion of the boiler in the Cumry Hotel, on Lawrence street, shortly after midnight on Monday morning. Half a dozen others are injured and at the hospital. Eight burned and crushed bodies are at the morgue, and seventeen persons are reported missing, at least ten of whom are known to be buried in the ruins.

With a deafening sound and terrific force the entire rear of the building was demolished. The rear and side walls crumbled like a toy house. Soon afterwards the mass of timbers, brick and furniture caught fire, cremating many of the victims who lay pinned and helpless amid the blazing pile. Their piteous appeals for help could not be responded to because of the flames.

THE KILLED. The killed whose bodies have been re-covered are: R. C. Greiner, assistant superintendent of construction at the State Capitol, and his wife; George Burt, of Denver, a conductor on the Chicago, Rhode Island and Pacific Radiroad; Fred Hubbold, of Lisbon, Ia., a guest; F. J. McCloskey, of Longmont, Col., guest; Will Richards, of Denver, elevator boy; an unknown woman; an unknown child, 3 years old. The only means of identifying the body of the woman is by a gold band ring, with the initials "H. B." engraved thereon. THE MISSING.

Among those who are missing and supposed to be still in the ruins are: Peter Gumry, owner of the hotel and superintendent of construction at the State Capitol; Gen. Charles Adams, of Denver; James Murphy, a prominent Democratic politician of Omaha; E. W. Edwards, butcher, of Denver; J. W. Blake, N. J. Corson, F. French, county treasurer of Gilpin county, Col.; Mrs. G. R. Wolf and 5-year-old daughter, of Lincoln, Neb.; B. I. Lurch, of Black Hawke; an unknown woman; three unknown chambermaids.

Munal, Alex. K. Irwin, Fred Coleman, Nathan Burgess and Bud Hopkins. The latest information regarding the catastrophe is that a 17-year-old boy, Elmer Pierce, who was temporarily placed in charge of the boiler, was resible for the explosion. With the boiler almost at white heat he let cold water into the tubular machinery, causing an immediate explosion. He escaped uninjured, and is being hunted

The injured are: M. E. Letza, Joseph

The boy who was in charge of the boiler at the time of the accident, had attended a picnic during the day, and he was under the influence of liquor when he went on duty. How he managed to turn the injector cock and escane without injury is a mystery. The boilers are said to have been in excellent condition TERRIBLE DESTRUCTION.

The terrible destruction wrought by the explosion is in evidence everywhere within three blocks of the scene Stores in the neighborhood had their fronts demolished. Along Larimer street, in the rear of the building, there is not a whole plate of glass for a block. The loss, however, will hardly exceed $75,000. The hotel was worth about $25,000, and the furnishings $10,-Everything is destroyed. The building was five stories high.

The McMann block, which adjoins the hotel, was occupied as a furniture store by the A. Lillyblade Furniture Company, and was damaged $25,000. The boiler which wrought such terrible destruction to life and property, after crashing through the rear wall. rossed a ten-floot alley and struck a brick harn with sufficient force to destroy it.

IMPORTANT RAILWAY RULING. Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20.-A Washingon special says: Acting Secretary Wike has made an important ruling upon the question as to whether repairs made in Canada to railway cars, locomotives and other rolling stock engaged in traffic between the United States and Canada, are dutiable under the new tariff law. In rep y to a letter from A. C. Raymond, Detroit, Mr Wike says that the Treasury Depart ment has decided that no duties can be asssessed under the law of the United States on "locomotives and cars engaged in traffic between the United States and foreign contiguous territory," and that the same ruling will hold good as to repairs made to such locomotives or cars. Mr. Wike calls attention, however, to the fact that the ruling only applies to such rolling stocks as in regular use on lines coming into the United States, and does not refer to the dutiable character of stock imported for use on lines operated inclusively in the United States.

Over 4,000 People Attend the Afternoon Sports.

And a Still Larger Crowd Witness the Wedding.

The Day at the Park-Winners of Prizes - Juvenile Tight Rope Walkers - De Witt Brothers' Splendid Performance -Fogg Defeats Leys in the Half-Mile Championship Race.

Yesterday was London's Civic Holiday, and the railroad teamsters of the city entertained the citizens for the ffth time-and entertained them in a manner that completely eclipsed all the former occasions of a similar nature. In fact it was a threefold entertainment, consisting of the morning procession, the afternoon, and the evening specialties-and all three were well worthy of the large crowds that witnessed them. The crowd that turned out to see the morning parade apreared to be equalled only by that which matched the recent circus display, and demonstrated clearly that the many excursions had not carried all the citizens out of town. The column left the market square shortly after 11 o'clock, proceeding on King street to Waterioo, thence north to Dundas, and east to the park. The sides of the streets were black with people throughout the whole route. The cumbersome railway freight wagens were transformed into things of beauty by means of colored streamers. evergreens and artificial flowers. There were probably 30 of them in the procession. They met on Park avenue, near the First Presbyterian Church, and arrived on the square by way of Talbot street at II o'clock. The Meteor Bicycle Club, a great many individual clowns and fancy dressed riders, and the Musical Society Band were already awaiting their arrival. Cabs were supplied for the City Council, and were taken advantage of by Mayor Little, Ald. J. W. Jones, Ald. Brenner and Ald. Wm. Heaman. Ald. Carrothers, Ald. John Heaman and Ald. Callahan had private carriages, and brought along their families.

The weather was perfect, and the tarade easily proved the most attractive and original that has ever taken place in the city. The programme bestoke "All kinds of comic get-ups, clowns, statuary, masquerades, etc., and the programme was right. Threequarters of the procession was in masquerade, or character dress, and if the teamsters keep on their celebration will come to be known as the maskers' picnic instead of the teamsters'. Fancy attire, representing dresses of ancient knights, pages, troubadours, Spanish bull fighters, military men and buffoons were quite rlentiful, and some were rich in texture and design, and must have been expensive.

THE PROCESSION At 11:30 the Musical Society's Band, playing "Swim Out, O'Grady," began the task of making a lane through the crowd, and the procession started. About 35 bicyclists, nearly all of whom in masquerade costume, took positions in front of the band. They represented the Meteors, and made a fine turnout. The London Club was not represented, the members being interested in an excursion to Sarnia. The majority of the cyclists had their wheels gaily decorated, and two that won first prizes are worthy of passing mention. Willie Dean nad the best decorated bicycle. On each side of the front wheel the cow-catcher of a loecmotive was fashioned. Above that was the head-light, and above and behind that again was the smokestack with about a foot of fluffy smoke surmounting the top and bobbing into Willie's eyes every now and then. Patrick O'Neil, as "Coxey," had the test comic make-up. Mr. O'Neill is a man with artificial hands by which he is enable to ride a bicycle as well as anybody. During the construction of the C. P. R. he had both hands taken off by the steam shovel, in the cutting west of this city. The railway company, regardless of the statement "corporations have no that souls," did very well for the maimed man, paying him $2,000 and giving him $35 a month for life as "caller." bunch of whiskers surmounted Mr. O'Neill's chin, a regular mustache crnamented his upper lip, and a cuddy tipe, or nose warmer, protruded from among his hirsute appendages. His coat defled description. It was more ragged than Lazarus', and had more colors among the patches than had Joseph's. Attached to his bicycle was his supply wagon or commissiariat department. It contained the usual assortment of tin cans, two half loaves of bread, several old shoes, a tightly corked "Geneva brand" quart gin bottle containing space. A tea pot completed the outfit, which had to be seen to be appreciated.

Mr. Alf. Wick's costume, although It did not win a prize, was very beautiful. It was the attire of a page, in a golden shade, and the wearer was supplied with the requisite powdered

Two clowns on old-fashioned ordinaries furnished amusement for the crowd. F. Westman and George Sherbrooke were the riders, and the latter took second prize in the clown competition

Following the wheelmen came Mr. Wm. McCombe on horseback, and in the costume of a Spanish bull fighter. He was a prize winner in his line when the park was reached. A very fat boy on a very slim mule caused lots

A couple of floats containing ladies and children followed the band, and then came "Never Sweat" "Weary," otherwise Charley Caswell and a lad named Martin. They drove in state benind a bored looking donkey, on a chariot composed of a parrel fixed so that it would revolve and carry the clowns in lieu of wheels. Its only fault was a tendency to upset on slight provocation. This did not appear to nurt the grivers much, and afforded infinite amusement for the small boys.

A German band followed. And what music! It caused Piper Jack Wilson, of St. Thomas, who was making the shade trees ring a hundred yards behind to give up in disgust. Sandy Drennan played the cornet—when the others were stopping for breath. Williamson handled the slide trombone— which invariably slid at the wrong time. Fleming played alto-and for the sake of variety, a bar or so behind time, while Element, with his bass was always spoiling Drennan's solos. A tableau on a float followed the noise. It represented a fortune telling scene, in which two shy little girls, who did not care to have their names mentioned, played a central part. The display wagen that captured first prize came next. It represented the Hobbs Plate Glass Company, and was resplendent with costly mirrors and stained glass. Mr. Wm. Marriott followed with a prettily decorated float. A number of Chinese (?) idols popped their heads out of the side of the wagon.

A float with a turnstile tableau came next. Each corner was decorated with an evergreen bush blooming with artificial roses, while colored streamers encircled the whole.

The next float was inclosed with wire and made up to represent the cage of a wild animal. It contained two boys in clown's attire and a pig ornamented in all the colors of the rainbow. Paddy Taff followed on a hogshead fashioned into a sulkey, and labelled "Parnell's Road Roller." Taff was dressed as a clown, and caused lots of amusement. Then came another wild animal cage and an animal that might have been a fierce tiger if it had not been a large dog. It did not offer to narm the trainer, but looked very uncomfortable. The next float informed the gazing populace on behalf of the G. T. R. and M. C. R., that "We Are The Peo-

A float that was very striking in effect, represented a forest scene with Mr. Hammond as "Sitting Bull, after Custer's Massacre." The driver, Mr. Tyd. was dressed to represent Punch. Another float represented a hunter, shading his eyes from the sun as he stalked his game. A neavy cart horse with a twenty-minute gait followed, driven by a jockey who claimed a record of 2 1-4 for him.

A living picture, that joited somewhat as the float found the hollow portions of the pavement, composed the next tableau. The situation was not conducive to a graceful attitude, and the sun beat down on the face of the patient lay figure. Step dancing was in progress on the lext float, the music being supplied by Piper Wilson. Half a dozen decorated floats followed, and two wagons bearing the furniture that was to be given away at the marriage on the pound of tea principle, in the evening. brought up the rear. The judges in the parade were John Lawson, Ald. Brener, Ald. Jones and Ald. Wm. Heaman. At the park Ald.

Jones announced the winners, as follows: Bicycle club turning out the largest number of members in costume-

H. Backus. THE SPORTS. Nearly 4,000 people were on the stands in the afternoon, and they witnessed a programme hardly ever equalled locally for variety and originality. There were 42 events on the programme, but owing to the experience and skill of the starters and judges the list was concluded at 5:20. Mayor Little, standing on the grand stand rail, gave an address. In opening the affair the mayor took very much pleasure in saying he did not think there was a more deserving set of men in the city of London than the teamsters, and the citizens apparently thought so too, and showed their approval by patronizing their picnic. He further said that they were faithful to their employers, and always endeav-

The "special" attractions were decidedly good. The De Witt brothers (Messrs. Chas. Stevens, Effner and J. Partridge) performed some acrobatic feats that are scarcely excelled among professionals. Stevens' work on the slack wire is especially fine, and was deservedly applauded. The three performers on the bar do clever tumbling feats and make a very pretty human pyramid.

Masters Jackson and Smith, two 12year-old East End Calverlys, performed nearly all that gentleman's tricks on the tight rope, and were applauded loudly and often. To be sure the rope is not as high as Calverley's. Neither is it as thick. Neither are the boys as old by more than half. They are clever youngsters and intend touring the districts this fall. Charles Jackson, father of one of the lads, acts as manager. The boys walk forward and backward, sit down on chairs, lie on their backs, walk through hoops and stand on their heads on the rope. The most exciting contest of the afternoon was the half-mile bicycle race for the city championship. Three men entered-Fogg, the winner of the one mile, Class A, city championship, on Saturday, and Leys and Crabb. Fogg and Leys were known to be closely matched, and every one was on the qui vive to see how the race would result. Fogg set the pace and Leys and Crabb followed. On the home stretch there was a grand struggle, but Fogg had the advantage and led over the line, with Leys barely a wheel's length behind.

In the ten-mile bicycle handicap race to Crumlin and return the entries were: Trafford and Morgan, 4 moutes; Feeley, 3 minutes; Crabb, 1 minute; Horton, 30 seconds, and Brown scratch. When a short distance out of the city Horton was run into by a horse and received some severe scratches and bruises on his left side. Brown ran (Continued on page 5.)

Robert and Richard Warwick Drowned in the Thames

While Rowing From Springbank on Sunday Night.

The River Dragged-One Body Found-"Trusty" Warwick's Story.

Richard and Robert Warwick, two brothers, living with a widowed mother at No. 44 Miles street, were drowned in the River Thames just above the waterworks dam on Sunday evening. Robert fell out of a boat, and Richard jumped in to save him, but both went down. "Trusty" Warwick, a nephew of the two victims, was in the boat, but owing to his condition at the time of the affair, he is able to give but very meager particulars as to how it hap pened.

About 7 o'clock on Sunday evening the three men went to John Milne's beat house and hired a boat, stating that they were going to Springbank and would return in about two hours. They rowed to Mike Ward's hotel, directly opposite the waterworks property, and there they remained for a couple of hours. About 10 o'clock the trio started on the fatal return trip. "Trusty" was seated in the end of the boat, and the brothers undertook to row. It is said that the latter began to change seats after they had got into the center of the river, which at that point is very deep. Robert lost his balance in the attempt, and in a moment was struggling in the water. Richard, seeing his danger, jumped to his brother's assistance, but both men were soon overcome and sank together. While the two men were sinking to heir watery grave, "Trusty" Wartheir watery grave, wick was calmly sleeping in the boat. He had been having a very good time, but all he remembered was their going into the water and hearing one ask the other if he could swim to shore. Warwick slept until almost daylight on Monday morning, when he returned to the city with the boat.

It was not until late Monday morning that any alarm was felt. In fact. several parties claimed to have seen the deceased on the streets. Johnstone, a cigar maker, living on Herton street, says he spoke to them up town. Charles A. Ryan, another eigar maker, also claimed to have the missing men at the Sulphur Springs, while others were said to have seen them at different places during the day. When, however, the men failed to return home, a party was organized and a vigorous search of both banks of the river was made from the Cove bridges to the waterworks dam, but not the slightest trace could be found.

Anxious relatives this morning organized another party, and with Constable J. W. Ward, of London West, began to drag the river with grappling irons. After an hour's search the body of Robert Warwick was found lying close to the bank in a few feet of water just east of Ward's. It was first noticed by one of the men, whose oar was caught on it.

found by Miss Maggie Simmie near the Cooper property. Up to the hour of going to press the body of Richard had not been found. Richard Warwick was a cigar maker at Ward's factory, and was well known in the north end, where he has lived niferouseffect on the animals that graze upon it. Horses after eating the grass in nearly all cases sleep standing, while cows and sheep almost invariably lie down. It has occasionally happened that travelers have stopped to allow horses to feed in places where the grass grows thickly, and the animals have had time to eat a considerable quantity before its effects manifested themselves. In such cases horses have gone to sleep on the road, and it is hard to arouse them. The effect of the grass passes off in an hour or two, and no bad results have ever been noticed on account of it. Cattle on the ranches frequently come upon patches of this grass, where they feed for perhaps half an hour. and then fall asleep for an hour or more, when they wake up and start feeding again. The programme is repeated perhaps a dozen times, until thirst obliges them to go to water. Whether, like the poppy, the grass contains colum, or whether its sleep-producing property is done to the producing property is due to some other substance, is not known.-Pittsburg

A Lady Who Tried to Ride a Wheel at First Sight.

Her Lively Experiences Upon Victoria Park.

"Baby Mine" fell a victim to the cycling craze about three weeks ago, and flushed with the successful issue of her first wheeling adventure, came i.ome from the park with such glowing accounts of the pleasures of cycling, that that particular manner of annihilating distance was quite the nearest approach to a pair of wings vouchsafed to our poor fallen nature. "Baby Mine," let me observe, is one of those mortals beloved or the gods, who spring to the saddle of the so-called safety, as though all their lives had been spent in that precarious seat, and without any mischance, or even the sign of a "wobble" in the treacherous front wheel, make the entire circuit of the park. Viewed in the light of subsequent events, having learned by sad experience that such signal aptitude for cycling is only vouchsafed to one member of a family, the conviction has forced itself upon me that "Baby Mine's" object in chanting the praises of the "metal steed," and expatiating upon the vast deal of enjoyment I could derive from the possession of one, was not so disinterested as I at first fondly supposed. The fact of the matter is, that the damsel aforesaid has a very improvident habit of anticipating her allowance by at least a month, consequently her finances are in a chronic state of embarrassment, and not being herself possessed of a wheel, she was naturally anxious that the day's bicycle rent should be rather beguiled from my thrifty stock than from her own slender purse. But alack, these sage reflections came o'er late, and of what avail is retrospective wisdom? Being endowed with that rather dubious virtue, an unlimited confidence in human nature, which even long experience of the wiles of "Baby Mine" has been powerless to impair, I harkened to the voice of the siren and commissioned her to hire the safest "safety" to be had for

After a few preliminary trials in the trivacy of the back yard, supported on one side by "Baby Mine" and on the other by one or her friends and fellow conspirators, I was pronounced competent to make the tour of the park, whither we accordingly wended our way, the instigator of the mischief perched on my wheel, and I, imbued with the record-breaking ambition, ambling along by her side.
"The whole secret lies in balancing one's self properly," quoth the artless girl. When, after a few ineffectual struggles, I was securely established in the saddle, and given a preliminary bush to start me on my travels. My career was brief and inglorious. For a moment all went well, then the wheel, seemingly bewildered, began, quite independently of me, a series of startling gyrations, took the whole breadth of the path for a few breathless seconds, and brought its queer antics to an abrupt conclusion by precipitating me, head foremost, over the loulevard. Heedless of my injuries I hastily sprang to my feet, glancing furtively to left and right to see if there had been any spectators of my dewnfall. To my relief there was none but the laughing "Baby Mine," who assisted me to mount once more, with the trite quotation, presumably addressed to the nodding trees, "Oh, what a fall was this, my countrymen." Experience had made me timorous. So the next time I beheld my fair teacher edging gently away from me, I clung to her with a tenacity of despera-tion. "Wait, just a second. My hat is blowing away!" As the novelists say, there was a world of passionate entreaty in these brief sentences, but they were spoken to unheeding ears, the damsel to whom they were addressed having shaken herself loose from my agonized grasp, and left me to my own devices, while she took up her station "neath a spreading chestnut tree," awaiting further developments. With an energy, born of despair, I grasped the handle bar and, fixing my gaze intently upon space, worked the pedals with quite unnecessary vigor. All was going well, my spirits were rising, when there loomed in sight an object calculated to bring consternation to the soul of the bravest amateur. It was simply a topbuggy, drawn by what I have since learned to be the quietest of grey nags, but which, to my affrighted gaze, appeared a rampant steed of elephantine roportions, bearing down full upon me. From the first moment that I descried the vehicle I felt that I had met my fate. I endeavored to recall "Baby Mine's" instructions, and realized for the first time the depth of meaning in her seemingly simple advice to "maintain my equilibrium at all hazards." My hold on the handle bar tightened. There was a moment of breathless suspense, a lurch as wheel and rider struck the astonished Bucephalus full in the side, then a quick recoil, and both in the dust lay low, while before one cyclist's eyes danced luminous spots and celestial rhenomena unknown to scientists. Happily Bucephalus took matters quietly, or there would have been one cyclist and possible record-breaker lost to the world. As it was, when the starry manifestations had ceased, and I began to remember how it had all happened, the patient beast was calmly scanning the landscape for the cause of the catastrophe. dious "Baby Mine" assisted me to the grass, where, aching in every bone, I like Mrs. Gamp, "rose, morally and physically rose and denounced her. But to my stirring flow of invective the damsel made no rejoinder other than the meek query, "You shan't want your wheel again today, shall you, dear?" Which remark, though delivered in "Baby Mine's" meekest tones In some parts of New Mexico there vas somehow so much at variance grows a grass which produces a somwith my mood, that I turned and left her with all the dignity compatible with aching bones, a dusty skirt and hat awry.

So, for the present, my cycling adventures are at an end; but when the souvenirs of my recent exploits, in the form of "gouty" twings, shall have the the less frequent and harrowing, who knows what may happen? I may not be able to withstand "Baby Mine's" specious reasoning, and next summer may find me speeding over the asphalt pavement and distancing the trollevs. on the swift, noiseless, exhilarating

The Scrap Bag

The following notes of a conversation | with a well-known lady doctor will, we whose daughters are anxious to enter the medical profession.

"What kind of girls are best fitted for the work of a doctor?" asked our representative.

"The first and most important qualification," replied our informant, "is a love of the work for its own sake, as apart from the mere desire to make an income. No girl should enter the profession of medicine carelessly. The training is expensive, and involves a heavy strain both on body and mind, and candidates who have taken up the work in a trifling spirit are likely to tire long before their course is ended." "At what age should a girl begin to study medicine?" "She cannot begin before 18, unless It is essential for her to be earning her living at the earliest moment, I should advise her to wait till 21. A good general education-and some special attention to science is indispensable for a would-be doctor."

In answer to H. B. K., the editor of the Scrap Bag would say: Set a table or Ladies' Fancy Embroidered Night two under the trees on the lawn, put an embroidered doilie here and there, a little smattering of blackberries and cream, and you are all ready for a lawn fete. Unless you have the doilie the affair is a lawn party. They constitute the difference between a party and a fete.

"I must cross the river," He said with a shiver; "And, really, I don't dare walk. Then the Crocodile turned, and he

The Mongoose giggled a sickly gig. "Oh, thank you kindly, very! But a grinning facility

"The Japanese soldiers," says Popular Science News, "are being dressed in paper clothing. The shirts and trousers are all composed of specially prepared paper, of a yellowish color. They are bound with linen binding, and are partly pasted together and partly sewn with a machine. When the clothes, which are very durable, are worn out, they are thrown away."

"I love to make my Mabel cry, By jealous tounts and jeers. For then I get a chance to try And kiss away her tears."

"I do not ask much," he pleaded. "Please consider my request in a serlous light."

"What were you about to ask?" she said, in a respectful way. "If you cannot marry me, please be a summer girl for me."-Judge.

The following conversation took place a few days ago between a little 5-yearold boy and his mother at their summer home, a few miles from Boston: "Mamma, what do you do when you die?" "You just go to sleep and don't wake up again." "Don't you wake up again anywhere?" "Not in this world, my boy." "Oh! do you wake up in Boston?"—Boston Transcript.

Among the steps which every dancing master should teach little girls is the one of bowing gracefully to the inevitable. It seems difficult at first, but it is in reality much easier than From $1 Each Up. but it is in reality much easier than the only alternative, which is knocking against the inevitable and being badly worsted. The only quiet hours in old London during the season cover a brief period -from sunrise till half-past nine or ten o'clock in the morning. Then the not unmusical call or yodel of the milkman penetrates the heavy stillness, and gives way to other quaint street cries, relies of the past, among which the flower-vendor's refrain, "All agrowin' and a-blown', three a-shillen, four a-shillen!" is perhaps the most distinct; and with the sound of hurrying footsteps and the dull muffled roar of passing vehicles the machinery of life in this great center is set in motion. There is no pleasanter, more refreshing way of beginning the day than to jump into a hansom, drive to Hyde Park, and follow on foot the path which accompanies the equestrians in Rotten Row.

A New Jersey enthusiast in dietary reform adopted a course of bananas and soda water as a light and healthful meal for summer eating, and is now giving much trouble to the physicians of the city hospital.

To tell about hats would require such a vocabulary and so much space that one hope, be of interest to the many parents | hardly knows where to begin. There is such a variety of them, and they are all so gorgeous! There are white hats, black hats, and hats of every color and shade under the sun, and it seems almost impossible to say which is the favorite.

A very appropriate hat for street wear was seen on Broadway to-day. It had a low crown and a brim of about four inches. It was brown straw, and about the crown was box-plaited a mixed ribbon of brown and blue, which stood fully an inch above the crown. Some grass loops shot out of the center of four yellow crush roses above the crown at one side and three roses nestled in the hair beneath the brim at the back.

Another charming hat is of buttercolored straw, trimmed with pansies and ribbon of reddish-purple hues. For the country, the leghorn, with its fascinating twists and curves is, perhaps, the greatest favorite. Nothing can be prettier than the dashing bows of satin ribbon and American Beauty roses, which trim these hats.

A SAILOR SIMPLY TRIMMED. wearers desire to fly, and give an airiness not attained by other styles of trimming. Sailors are trimmed largely in this way, although in many cases a bunch of flowers falling over the crown seems sufficient adornment. For the greater part, brims are straight, or at least suggest the straight line. They may be very much curved in front, or turned up in the back. Any thing is permissible, so long as they do not sugget the old-fashioned cottage shape, high in front and sloping down to the ears in the back.

Laundry Lessons.

Warm wearther so crowds the hamper, the weary washer is usually ready to adopt any sensible method of reducing the labor of cleansing soiled linen. The one here recommended has been tried by good housekeepers, and not found wanting. Upon washing day the boiler is ed upon the kitchen stove and half filled with water; to this are added three spoonfuls of kerosene and either half a bar of hard soap shaved off, or a pint of soft soap; when at 212 degrees, the clothes are put into it and boiled for ten minutes. We would emphasize the fact that the water must boil before putting in the clothes. The dirtiest spots may require a rubbing, but bed linen rarely needs any time spent upon it. Some laundresses prefer the use of paraffin in washing clothes. One method is to half fill an ordinary boiler with water; shred into it half a pound of yellow soap; when dissolved, add a teaspoonful of paraffin. Boil the clothes in this for half an hour, then rinse in two clean warm waters. The odor goes off when the clothes are dry, and the paraffin brings out the dirt. No flannels or colored articles should be treated in this

White linen collars and cuffs being the proper finish for the popular shirt waist, how to successfully launder them is a practical question. It is unnecessary to state, that the entire waist should be well washed and rinsed in two waters. Put upon the stove a pint of water, and when it boils stir in a third of a cupful of the best potato starch dissolved in cold water. Stir until the starch boils and remove in twenty minutes; add half a teaspoonful of keroseve, two drops of liquid bluing, and strain through a cheesecloth bag. Having wrung the waist from a dish of thin starch, rub the starch just made into the collar and cuffs until every fiber has been pasted. With the fingers remove the surplus starch, smooth out the wrinkles and dry out of doors. The starch will be sufficient for three waists. Select a bright day for this work, as it is a waste of time and starch to attempt to stiffen wet linen when the air is charged with moisture. Do not let the waists remain upon the line after they have dried; for the flies are likely to choose them for a resting-place, and the breeze may veer to the eastward. About an hour before ironing, sprinkle the waist lightly with warm water, and wrap collar and cuffs in a cloth wrung from cold water and roll up smoothly.

Iron the cuffs, then the body and sleeves, finishing with the collar. Lay a thin cloth over collar and cuffs before using the hot, clean iron. If it adheres, a damp cloth will loosen it. The gloss depends upon the strength expended through a polisher, after the ironing. Detachable collars and cuffs are more easily laundered than those sewed to the garments, and they are a convenience in other ways.

Sleeves keep on spreading and widening as do the fashionable skirts to an enormous degree, and still never losing the modish general effect. The fancy changes as often as a woman's mind in the matter of sleeves. The fully puffed gigot with loose flaring puff to the elbow, and much wrinkled all down the lower arm, is quite the most favored of the swaggering styles. For gowns of muslins and all thin stuffs, the huge puff to the elbow is the mode, sometimes finished by a deep ruffle and sometimes by a twist of velvet, which latter has a faculty of making the flesh of the arm appear much whiter than it really is.

A woman should always select a wheel with a wide space beveen the steering centre and saddle post truss. This has a great many advantages, the principle one being that it makes mounting much easier. A woman mounts from the front, pushing herself back on the saddle; if the wheel has this wide space when you put the right foot on the pedal and pull the skirt around in the back and press the bust hard against the handle bar it will be found that mounting is easy, and four-Fancy Crepon Art Silk, worth 65c, : lemon: one-half cup of sugar; one- : fifths of the skirt won't be hanging on water; salt; two tablespoons of : the left side to catch in unprotected pedals and throw the unprepared rider headlone.

London, Tuesday, August 20. NO MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

YET APPOINTED.

There is delay in appointing a Minster of Agriculture to succeed Hon. Mr. Angers, who resigned because of the tortuous course of the Dominion Government on the Manitoba school question, and from various localities demands for the appointment have been sent to Ottawa. When Premier Bowell was in the Northwest, the other day, on a pilgrimage in the Government palace car-by the way, all Minexcept Sir Frank Smith, now an ordinary Pullman car not good enough for them-a special plea was put in for the appointment of the Minister of Agriculture from among members representing the great agricultural districts of the Northwest. Mr. Davin, M.P., who is quite sure that his knowledge of farming would enable him to fill the bill, winked the other eye when Sir Mackenzie deprecated the appointment of Ministers on sectional grounds, and defended the selection of four Ministers and a solicitor-general from among the Quebec members. Mr. Davin will continue to believe that this is little short of rank injustice until such time as he is named for an office of state.

Then we have Dr. Sproule, who thinks that he alone is entitled to enter the Cabinet as a representative of the agriculturists, and who got a portion of his constituents to petition the Premier to take him in when the last shuffle was made. Dr. Montague, however, was more importunate than the Grey doctor, and though the M. P. for Haldimand disagrees with his chief on the question of divisional representation, and recently wrote asserting that he represents the Niagara Peninsula in the Cabinet, he got the office, and Dr. Sproule has to live on expectations. To open his constituency at the present time would be a very risky thing. At last general election, his former majority of over 500 melted down to a bare dozen, and he would have been defeated if his opponent had worked a little harder. Even now he has to repudiate the policy of the Government which he seeks to join in order to save himself from utter rout. The panic into which Dr. Sproule and his friends have been thrown was evinced by his telegram to the Mc-Carthy meeting at Collingwood, repudiating the Government's school pelicy. The ludicrous straits of the fied by this incident. In one part of the country we find the most zealous efforts to make political capital for the Conservative leaders out of the fact that they passed a remedial order on Manitoba which went far beyond what the British Privy Council suggested as advisable; and in other parts we find men like Dr. Sproule tion will they support the policy of the Administration on this important question. And despite this expressed lack of cohesion, the Grey doctor would gladly forget the past if he only could get the coveted prize of a seat in the Cabinet, together with its trifling emoluments of $8,000 a year and in-

ANOTHER TWENTY THOUSAND. A demand for another $22,000 for work performed on the Tay Canal has been made by the contractor, and judging by past experience, the money will be paid over by order-in-Council, without the consent of Parliament. This canal, which was built to enhance the value of a mill owned by Hon. John Haggart, is only six miles long. Its estimated cost was $132,660; but up to last year there had been expended upon it $476,128. There would be less objection if it were self-supporting. But last year, while the cost of maintenance, paid by the Dominion taxpayers, was $2,458, the revenue was only $126,

The Toronto correspondent of the Ottawa Journal lets in a flood of light upon recent twistings and turnings in the Government at Ottawa. Among other things, he says:

A great deal of interest has been taken by our contemporaries in the attack made by the Rev. Dr. McKay, of Woodstock, on the Liberal leaders, and Hon. David Mills' reply thereto. The Hamilton Times quotes from each of the writers, and in reference to the latest declaration by Dr. McKay-that he and his friends are not prepared to trust the Liberal party to carry out their views, it has the following:

"The Reform party cannot be trust-ed to carry a prohibitory law, and everybody knows that the Conservative party will not touch prohibition with a ten-foot pole. Therefore, Dr. McKay and the other prohibition leaders are doing their utmost to defeat Reform candidates and keep the Conservative party in power. They are remarkably friendly with "the devil they know." But if they think by such tactice to get any friendship or help from Reformers who are prohibitionists. their minds must queerly constituted. Dr. McKay's influence is limited; if it were greater he would drive every Reformer out of the prohibition camp in short order."

Thomas Wright, Woodstock, Says These Means Were Taken

To Have Him Placed in the London Insane Asylum.

The Old Man Tells a Story of Harsh Treatment

By Relatives and Supposed Friends—Not Allowed to See His Sick Wife-Hustled Off to a Neighboring Station-Doctors and Neighbors Claim He Is Sane.

Thomas Wright, of Woodstock, who, it is alleged, was improperly placed in the London Asylum, has told his story to a Woodstock Sentinel-Review man. He claims that he was actually kidnapped from his little shop near his dwelling at Otterville, and hustled off to Norwich Junction station to avoid the scrutinizing gaze of the neighbors. which removal to the Norwich station would have caused. "I went out," said Wright, in the presence of his son Newton, "to my little workshop, which is just opposite my house, one morning four weeks ago. was working away with the window and door open to let in the fresh air. Shortly after getting nicely started to work, two men drove up in a rig. These were Freeman Moore and William Johnston. I thought probably that Johnston had returned about some goods that he hald bought from me the day before and paid for.

"But in this I was mistaken, for neither of them came into the shop. of them got out of the buggy and called to me to come out. I did so, and when I got near them the two men took hold of me and lifted me in the They told me they wanted me to go with them. I pleaded with them to explain matters, but they would not do so. I asked to be allowed to return and see my sick wife before going away, but they would not allow this neither would they let me go back and lock the shop door.

"Before lifting me into the wagon they stripped me of my working clothes and put new ones on me. These they had brought with them.

"They hurried me off as quickly as they could to the Norwich Junction station. On the road to the station they pulled out a pair of handouffs and threatened to put them on me if I offered any resistance. I was taken straight to the asylum in London that day, and the awful experience I had during my three weeks' incarceration there I shall never forget. It is a glaring piece of imposition, and I shall try to make the perpetrators pay dearly for it." concluded the old man, who had grown quite excited as he recalled the incidents connected with his ab-

Moore and Johnston, whom the old man claims abducted him, are neighbors of the Wrights, and landowners in that vicinity, the latter living on the old Cowan estate not far from Otterville Action has been taken jointly against

It seems that the first examination of the old man was made in consultation by Drs. Haight and Stockton. Their decision on this occasion, says Newton Wright, was that there was no ev! dence of any mental derangement. Mr. Wright subsequently received the folwing certificate signed by Dr. Stock-

"This is to certify that Dr. Haight and myself made an examination of Thomas Wright with respect to his sanity on the 25th June, and after a consultation decided that we found no evidence of insanity, so far as our examination went. (Signed.)

"FRED W. STOCKTON, M.D." Mr. Wright stated that the first intimation he received of the condition of affairs was in the shape of a communication from Dr. Stockton. In this the doctor stated that he had been asked by Albert Wright, the old man's son, to make an examination. Albert had asked the doctor to give him a certificate of insanity, with a view of having the old man incarcerated in the asylum. The doctor further states that the principal cause given him for such a diagnosis of the case was incendiarism on the part of the old man.

Newton Wright subsequently visited his father and investigated the charges of incendiarism. These, he says, were found to be foundationless. His father had on a few occasions burned up some brush heaps, but nothing of any value was destroyed A postal card dated June 19 was received by the Woodstock son and was signed by Albert. After referring to his mother's serious illness, he goes on to relate that his father was engaged in burning down some beautiful cedars. He further stated that the old man kept them awake "thumping" around during the night.

"When Dr. Stockton would not do what Albert wanted him to do, viz., sign a certificate of insanity." said Mr Wright," he went to Drs. Haight and Colver and got them to make out the certificate. Dr. Haight had previously been in consultation with Dr. Stockwrote to Dr. Haight warning him not to be drawn into a net, but he

When Mr. Wright visited his father at London on Wednesday for the puroose of releasing him, he found a letter lying on the table in one of the rooms addressed to himself and ready for mailing. It was signed by his aged father, and read as follows:
"London Asylum, July 28, '95.

'N. Wright: "Dear Sir,-On Saturday last I was seized at the shop and forcibly carried to London by Albert and two rough men, without a word of explanation. I don't like it a bit. Death would be preferred to such a state. Can any-thing be done for me? My will is at Tilsonburg, and I want to see it very much. Your mother is very low. Exert yourself to get me out of this smoke hole, and I will pay you well. Such bare-faced conduct towards a parent does not agree with 'Honor they father and mother,' if I understand the text. Pray, do what you think best? and may God in his mercy bless you and yours, is the prayer of our father,

"P. S.-I am unable to find out any thing from the authorities here." "When the asylum authorities were of the opinion that your father was What can be said of a cause that I not insane, why did they not release him?" asked the reporter.

"It is the custom to keep patients in custody for 21 days, and subject them to close scrutiny. I had paid two visits to the asylum previous to the day he was released."

On hearing of Thomas Wright's removal to the asylum the neighbors and residents in the vicinity circulated a petition for the consideration of the asylum officials, in which it was set forth that the old man at all times had appeared rational, and was apparently the victim of a plot. It was largely signed.

Albert Wright, the accused son, against whom action is being taken to set aside the deed of the old man's property, stands high in social circles in Otterville. He is an unmarried man, and lives with his aged mother and father. He is a member of the Baptist Church in Otterville, and was in many respects considered a good citizen. Twenty-three years ago he was confined in the insane asylum, London. He was released as cured after spending eleven months in the institution.

The Maple Leafs, of Guelph, strengthened their chances of winning the Canadian League championship yesterday by defeating the Alerts on Tecum-seh Park. The match was played in the morning at 10:30 and was witnessed by over 1,000 persons, many of whom ornamented the bleachers in the burning sun, and were repaid with one of the loosest exhibitions of ball ever given on the London West diamond. As Guelph needs every game they can possibly secure to wrench the pennant from Galt, they put Wood, Cobourg's ex-idol, in the box, and Powers behind the bat. And as the cranks confidently expected, Wood held the Alerts down to a very few hits, and they were scattered at that. At no stage of the game had the Alerts a chance of winning. The only branch in which they excelled was the manufacture of errors. Sam Thorpe was the lion of the hour, when in the third inning he made the first resemblance of a hit for the home team, and took second on a pass of O'Connor. Mike Carney advanced him to third with a nice, safe hit over "Daddy" Hewer's head, and he came home on a reckless throw to the plate. Thorpe was the first, last and only Alert to cross the plate. From then on the boys in blue did nothing but make small hits, strike out, and fail to score. When Bert Sheere took the box he allowed Benzie, the first Leaf on the list. to take his base on balls. Every Guelph player had his turn at bat in the inning, and a two-bagger by Mc-Elroy, and timely stick work by Hutchinson, Sneider, Powers, Hewer and Wood netter four runs. The second inning was good for five for Guelph, realized on a base on balls, and hitting by McEroy, Cockman, Sneider, O'Connor. Powers and Hewer. Until the sixth the Leafs rested easily. They got their wind again then, however, when Manager Reid introduced to London's ball-loving public Pitcher Cav-anagh, who proved himself to be anyhing but a phenomenon. He was felt Cockman on the first ball thrown, and that was only a starter. The home team went to pieces, and as hit after hit was made in rapid order, the onlookers became disgusted and many left the grounds. On his second time to in the inning, Cockman sent the ball into the corper of the right field and circled the bases. Hewer made a ewo-bagger, and many other hits, aided by loose playing on the Alerts' part, added eight runs to the Leafs' score. Taken all through, the game put up by the Alerts was decidedly of the school boy style, and included seven errors, mostly of a costly character. Joe Weber, ex-catcher, umpred the game, and gave continuous dissatisfaction.

THE AFTERNOON GAME.

Of all the exhibitions of baseball ever given on Tecumseh Park, none could have been more pleasing to an audience than that put up by the Alerts and Guelphs in the afternoon, before 1.800 spectators. Though the result was in favor of the visitors, none begrudged it. The game was won only by a de-cidedly hard fight. From the throwing of the first ball until the last maz was declared out, the game was marked with quick, dashing work by the fielders, both in and out, while errors were phenomenally few. It was practically a pitchers' battle, and was in striking contrast to the morning game. Bert Sheere was again in the box for the Alerts, and though not as speedy as in days gone by, he puzzled the Guelph sluggers with his curves. He held the base hits down to an even half-dozen, and at critical times made his delivery especially effective. Bradford, for Guelph, was reached for only five hits. He was a little loose at times, however, and gave seven men bases on balls. while Sheere did not give one. Guelph's only run was made in the fifth inning, when Powers led off and died at first. Hewer made a clean hit to left field, Bradford fanned the air, and Benzie made a three-bagger in Farnworth's neighborhood, scoring Hewer. A few interesting facts about the Donegan's Princeton2 Flannigan's Flannigan 3 3 There were a great many comical features in the various races. The kicking barrel race was an original one, the invention of Mr. Alf. Wicks, but not patented as yet. The racers had their hands tied behind them, and to win had to kick their barrels over the line. One barrel came into collision with a ring post and was smashed to pieces. Another was kicked so hard that it collapsed. In the watermelon eating contest there were so many small boys wanting to take part that they had to line up in three squads and eat in heats. The first three of each company were eligible for the final eat, as one boy put it. The platform afterwards looked as if a heavy storm had passed over it, while the boys' noses, lips and chins show-ed up a healthy, glowing pink. There was a big scramble for the remainders. Four very large melons were demolished.

The tarpaulin race was rather amusing. Two large tarpaulins were held on the ground by half a dozen men each. The racers went beneath them on the ground. While the men were all underneath the tarpaulins looked like a miniature storm at sea. The boot and shoe race was also ludicrous. The winner won a pair of top boots, and although they hindered him in his running, were easily distinguished among the collection of racing shoes which had to be thrown into the burrel. The results:

FINE WEATHER TO-DAY.

Is a very excellent motto. We al ways follow it when purchasing. We want to be sure that all we buy will be suitable to our trade. But with us you can leap and then have a week's time looking. You will be so pleased with your purchase that you will be lost in admiration, and at the end of the week you will keep on looking-looking well dressed and stylish.

Stores handling inferior qualities of goods seem always to be angling for the trade of unsuspecting persons who may have an idea that all drygoods stores are the same - that they can do just as well at one as another. Sometimes people are caught in this way but they are not held. One nibble at a bait like that is quite sufficient.

We do business differently. We buy only in the best markets from the best manufacturers, therefore have only the best to sell. We give everything exactly as we represent it-no more, no less. If we say we are selling $20 Jackets for $3, that's | Prices. exactly what we are doing. Having built our large business up on strictly straight principles it would not be business prudence for us to begin to deceive. So confident are we that our goods are well worth the prices put upon them, that, should anything in the quality, style or fit displease a customer, we request return of same, as we would far rather refund money than have | Prices. any dissatisfaction. We are the only drygoods house in London extending this privilege, and we do it because we know full well the returned article is well worth the price, and will readily sell to someone else. Other stores are only too glad to get rid of their goods, and won't on any account reimburse the purchaser. We are content to let others do as they wish, but as for us, we will please our patrons, not occasionally, but as often as they favor us with their esteemed orders.

IN THE EVENING. The crowd at the evening's entertainment was even greater than that of the afternoon, the drawing card being the wedding.

The Robin Hood drill corps, A.O.F., were present, and for more than half an hour went through their intricate movements. They were liberally applauded. Capt. Brown, their instructor. was in attendance. The Falcon Guitar Club had a negro cabin on the platform, and conducted a minstrel performance consisting of songs, choruses, guitar choruses, hoedowns, fancy step and clog dancing and stump speeches.

The tight rope performances Masters Jackson and Smith, and slack wire walking by Charley Stevens were repeated. At 9:30 a cab drove rapidly up the ring to the platform and the principals in the wedding ceremony, with their supporters, stepped out. happy man was William Henry Charles Cole, and Miss Ada Owen was the party of the second part. The bridesmaid was Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, and the best man was Mr. Wm. H. Elliott. The procession marched to the platform and stood before the clergyman, Rev. W. Willimott. The best man got in the wrong place and was nearly married by mistake, but ultimately everything went off smoothly after the mistake was rectified. As scon as the couple were pronounced man and wife the bride received the usual kiss from her husband, which was the signal for a great cheer from the crowd. After the necessary papers were signed and congratulations had been accepted, the party drove off at a gallop. The band played "God

By an Explosion of Gas at the Carnegie Mills. Braddock, Pa.

One Man Cut Clean in Half—Ten Men Cut and Burned-Damage $30,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 20.-Fourteen men were instantly killed and several others injured by an explosion of gas at furnace "H," of the Carnegie mills at Braddock. A few minutes before the explosion occurred one of the top fillers dumped a barrow of material into the bell of the furnace, which he had forgetten to raise. This clogged the top of the furnace and prevented the gases escaping. A gang of sixteen men, in charge of James Harrison, was sent at ence to the top of the furnace to remove the obstruction. All were closely crowded around the bell of the furnace removing the material which had been dumped on it, when there was a terrific explosion, and men, barrows, tools and material were hurled in all directions. Flames, deadly gases and smoke belched from the furnace top, and the gang of men fell as if shot. Only one man was killed instantly. He was blown from the furnace top, along " motal roadway to the elevator shaft, down which he fell, and striking on a car, was cut in two, one-half of his body falling on one side of the car, and the other half on the other side. The explosion was heard all over Braddock, and crowds at once rushed to the scene, but none expected to witness such horrors. A relief crew was quickly organized, and went to the top of the furnace, where lay fifteen men, bleeding, torn, burned and dying. The names and smoke were still coming from the furnace, and the work of rescue was very dangerous. But, covering their hands, faces and heads with cloths, the rescuers went bravely to work. The injured men were all leaning over the mouth of the furnace when the explosion occurred. These men died before they reached the bottom of the elevator shaft, and the others soon after. The contents of the furnace were blown out and scattered for hundreds of yards around, the furnace falling in all parts of the yard, cutting and burning about ten men who were working below, but none were seriously injured. The fierce showers fell on the carpenter shop of the company within 100 yards from the furnace, and it was soon in flames, and was destroyed with its contents. The bell of the furnace was shattered; the roof of the cast house was crushed in and ruined. The contents of the furnace was scattered abroad, and the belief is that the furnace is badly damaged, and may have to be rebuilt. If this should be the case, the total damage will be $30,000.

Later-A later dispatch gives the following result of the explosion: Six killed, three fatally injured, and fifteen seriously burned. All were Poles and Hungarians, except one, who was a German.

BURNING OF HOLMES' CASTLE A Coincidence That May Not Be Acci dental-Extinction of Important

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 20.—The big mysterious building known as Holmes' Castle at Sixty Third and Wallace streets was burned about I o'clock Monday morning. The fire did not extend beyond the "Castle." This famous building has for some time past been tenanted only on the ground floor, by a drug store and small restaurant, and it was in the latter that the fire originated. The interior of the building was practically ruined. The losses will aggregate $15,000. The destruction of this mysterious building will mean the extinction of much evidence bearing on the murders which Holmes is suspected to have committed. The coincidence of the burning with the release from custody of Janitor Quinlan, Holmes' confederate, and the only other person besides Holmes who knew the secrets of the castle, is not looked upon as accidental. It is much better for both Holmes and Quinlan that this bailding should be destroyed than sonic Temple, from Kennett, Hopkins Company. Chicago, Aug. 20.-Wheat continues its weakness. Nobody seems to have any confidence in prices, foreign markets keep declining, and this is disheartening. Spring wheat movement crop not expressed yet, but about to be, is the predisposing cause of the heaviness, and Europe stands aloof and lets the market take its own medicine, It is, however, remarkable, that these prices quoted show not only no strength, but apparently a tidal weak-Looking at the agricultural interests generally, they never were much worse. This year's crop of corn at about twice the quantity of last year's crop, will not, at the present price of new crop options, realize as much as last year's. This year's crop of oats will realize about one-half the money that last year's did at present prices. There is much to be deplored in such a condition as this. And where is the relief? Money is plentiful, but the grain trade does not find it so. and if prosperity can be argued from

To-Day's Meetings AND ENTERTAINMENTS ADVERTISED IN THIS ISSUE.

City Laborers, Labor Hall.

THE GRAND TRUNK'S FUTURE. Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, the new president of the Grand Trunk Railway, arrived in Montreal last night. He came over the line from Portland, and after a stay in Montreal, will journey westward to Chicago, visiting London and other centers of population en route. He and his party will remain in Canada till Sept. 25. Would it not be a good idea to get the new president to visit us during the holding of the Western Fair?

Sir Charles says that he is exceedingly well satisfied with the road so far as he has traveled. The line is in excellent condition, traveling is easy, and the employes he has examined give den, at Beachville. evidence of being trustworthy, careful men. Sir Charles will find this to be the record of the Grand Trunk gener-

The new president says there will be no revolutionary changes in the staff of the G. T. R., but that whatsoever is necessary to ensure economy, combined with efficiency, will be undertaken. In this resolve, we are sure, Sir Charles will have the aid of every employe. Sir Charles is very hopeful that the war of rates between the great trunk lines will be settled satisfactorily, and that a period of prosperity for the railway is approaching.

-Concert in Victoria Park on Thursday night by the Seventh Band. -York street, between Wellington and Waterloo, will be torn up, rolled and graded by the road roller.

-Ten a.m. weather forecast: Moderate winds; fine; stationary, or a little higher temperature. -The cool spell last night cooled the ovens of several city bakers and made them late with to-day's delivery.

-The G. T. R. trains from the east are crowded with Chicago excusionists from the Falls, returning home. -Messrs. Tambling & Jones have taken out a permit for the erection of a double two-story brick house on Waterloo street.

-A fire alarm wire and the trolley line came in contact in South London this morning and two magnets at No. 1 station were

--Adjutant Turner, the new divisional officer for London and St. Thomas, will lead the meetings in St. Thomas on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 24 and 25.

-The remains of J. P. R. Gundy, barrister, Windsor, were taken to Exeter yesterday, by way of this city. The services were conducted by Rev. G. W. Henderson, J. Godwin and John Reynolds. Several London friends of the family went to Exeter.

-A couple of fond parents gave their baby their purse to play with as the child evening. It contained three dollars and the nue. child tossed it out of his buggy. A policeman and a dark lantern were brought into requisition but the purse could not be found. -Contractor S. H. Craig is tearing up part of the walk on the north side of Caring, between Richmond and Talbot streets. It was laid three years ago, but was unsatisfactory to the city engineer and was never passed. The corporation has held back $500 of the contract money, which will be paid over when the work is completed.

-The local corps of the Salvation Army held their picnic yesterday at Port Stanley. Over 100 soldiers and lassies availed themselves. A salvation meeting was held on the heights during the day, and in the afternoon the picnickers enjoyed a sail in the Joe Milton. The S. A. Band received a free ride for supplying the music on the trip.

-- Roy Richardson, of Henry street, with a number of other boys, mounted the platform in the ring at the conclusion of the marriage ceremony at the teamsters' picnic last evening. A ring official threw the child off the platform. He landed on his shoulder, and lay there crying. He was after-wards removed in a hack to his home, where it was found that the injury was serious.

-Some months ago a meeting was held in Detroit by those who claimed to be the direct heirs of the Hyde estate in England, valued at millions of dollars. A company was formed, legal representatives chosen, and those interested contributed their share, several being from this district. The company has now been disbanded, and 45 per cent of the money paid has been refunded. The proofs were not deemed sufficient to go into court.

-Judge Edward Elliott this morning heard an appeal of Mahlen Burwell, of Caradoc, against a conviction made in June, by which he was fined $50 and costs, or six months in jail, for selling liquer to Indians. The case was prosecuted by Nelson Cady, county constable, at Middlemiss and was dealt with by A. S. McDougall, Indian agent, and Angus Camp. hell, magistrate of Appin. Judge Elliott dismissed the appeal with costs. -The treasurer's sale of city property for taxes took place at the City Hall this morning. About 75 pieces of land were sold. Messrs. D. McAlpine, H. Macklin, W. H. Gould, W. D. Buckle, M. J. Kent, Wm. Scarrow and G. A. McGillivray being the to good handy weight sheep, $2 75; fair to good mixed sheep, $2 25; culls and common lambs, the lots advertised were paid before the $252 Simcoe street.

Wanted—Good male or female agents in every county.

$1,271 27, of which about $200 were costs. City Treasurer Pope conducted the sale. THE ASPHALT WORK.

The Barber Company is pushing the work of asphalting Dundas and Richmond streets. Sunday had barely passed before a gang of men was put to work tearing up the blocks on Dundas street, west of Richmond, and Richmond street, south of Dundas. Only one side of each street is being torn up, and traffic is consequently somewhat interrupted. The total number of yards to be asphalted is 28,800, of which the street railway company pays for a strip 16 feet 8 inches in width, or a total of about 9,000 yards.

The street railway traffic is being greatly interfered with through the work. On Richmond street, from Dundas to York, one track has been entirely removed, but it will be immediately replaced by the electric rails and put into shape for Fair week traffic. The remaining track will be "bonded" to allow of the running of the trolley cars.

The car service to and from Queen's Park yesterday was very irregular, but was the best that could be provided under the circumstances. Linemen have begun stringing the trolley wires on Dundas street. The work is watched with interest by scores of idle men. Another shipment of electric rails arrived at Montreal on Saturday. The railway company have placed transfer agents at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, thus saving much annoyance to passengers.

The Secret Out.

But the doctor, who thought he saw the top of a buggy in the distance, renewed his prayers and protestations, which being seconded by the peddlar, whose blood seemed really to have been stirred by this chase, Mr. Lewis finally consented to drive them as far as a certain house, where, if they could get a man to drive them farther, well and good, if not he would carry them back to his own home. But more than this he would not promise. They could not blame him. The wind was blowing furiously and the horse showed signs of discouragement, so they accepted the alternative given them and drove as rapidly as possible to the house he had pointed out. 'Has a fellow been here in Hyde's new buggy?" was the shout they sent forth as they neared the spot and saw a man battling to shut the barn door against the wind.

The man nodded and pointed down the road, then turned again to his task. Dr. Cameron drew a silver dollar from his pocket, and leaping to the ground, vaulted the fence and approached the

"This much to tell me what he said," he cried, pushing the dollar under the man's nose.

The man looked at it, shook his head and reluctantly admitted that the man had said nothing.
Dr. Cameron, who had caught the sparkle of cupidity in the man's eye at sight of the coin, immediately

"Five times this, then, for a team to pursue him. This man's horse is worn out." "And so would mine be in ten minutes. Phew! but this is a gale!" "The horse ahead will give out sooner than yours. Come, earn a cent while you can. It may not be over a ten minutes' job.

"That's so," the man answered, reflectively, giving another tug at the doors and then flinging them open im-"Step in, sir, out of the wind. I'll harness up in a minute. But It's five dollars whether we overtake the chap or not."

Yes, if you go as far as you can, and don't leave me in the road when you are tired." Never fear, I'll take you into town,

And then Dr. Cameron learned they were on a fine but unfigurented road. which curving about on itself led back he had all the time supposed to be on his back.

"And how far is it from here to the tavern?" he asked. "Five miles, if you go through S—three if you turn off into H—direct." 'Very good, we will go as the man ahead goes, and that won't be through S—, I am sure." And with a somewhat apprehensive look at the sky, he left the barn to teil of his success to the couple awaiting him. He found only Farmer Lewis there. "Where is the peddler?" he inquired. "Gone in to warm himself. Says he has had enough of this kind of thing. I reckon he will stay where he is to-Is Noyes going to lend you

"If you won't take me inside I must run along at the back, for 'm going into H- tonight, if I have to frust to my two feet to carry me." Was this the shumbling, shuffling me'er-do-well of the evening before? Cameron began to doubt him, and questioned in his own mind as to whether this seeming peddlar could be friend of the enemy, bound to de-But upon a second look he ound the man so careless, so goodhumored and so free from all suspiious appearance, that he had not the heart to deny him a seat in the buggy. though he knew he was being imposed n, and was under no claim to urden himself with this audacious. intruder. Meanwhile the wind was increasing every minute, and the rain felling like a thick veil over the land-

"You want to catch that feller," he "wa'al, we'll git him." But they rode on and on without coming up with buggy or vehicle of any kind. There were times when they thought they heard the sound of them, but the wind was blowing so that they could not be sure of anything. When they reached the back into town?" "That's the question. If he knows about the Sunday train that goes through S- at midnight, he may think he can best escape that way. If he don't-"

"A train? A Sunday train going south?" ejeculated the doctor. Yes, sir, due at S- at 12 m." "Drive to S-. That train is what he is after. He knows he could not escape me by any other means."

And they turned off to S—,

The sky by this time was perfectly dark, but this did not seem to make much impression upon the determination of any of these three men. They rode on, and after a sufficient length of time reached S-

They drove at once to the inn. A horse and buggy were standing before it. Dr. Cameron, greatly excited at the sight, leaped to the ground, and striding up to this team, took a close look at it.

He had driven up to the house, it was true. had even entered the barroom to ask about the trains, but he had not remained long, and when he went he said nothing about coming back. However, he could not be far away.

The team was there, and as he undoubtedly meant to take the midnight train he would certainly reappear on the scene before /it was due. Cameron, feeling quite satisfied, dismissed the farmer and would have teen glad to have seen the peddlar disappear with him. But this person was evidently too comfortable in the warm corner he had at once appropriated upon entering the house, to be easily dislodged; so the doctor, ignoring him, comforted himself with a good supper, and then choosing as retired a spot as he could find, sat down to await the reappearance of Julius Molesworth.

The Use of Tears Set Forth by Dr. Talmage.

Comfort that Comes and Lasts for Aye.

Pathetic, Yet Cheering, Address by the Bereaved Erocklyn Pastor.

New York, Aug. 19.-Rev. Dr. Talmage could not have selected a more appropriate subject than the one of yesterday, considering the bereavement that has come upon him and his household. He had already prepared his sermon for to ay, selecting as a topic, 'Comfort," and taking as his text, "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes'-Rev. vii., 17.

Riding across a western prairie, wild flowers up to the hub of the carriage wheel, and while a long distance from any shelter, there came a sudden shower, and while the rain was falling in torrents, the sun was shining as brightly as ever I saw it shine; and I thought, What a beautiful spectacle this is! So the tears of the Bible are not midnight storm, but rain on the pansied prairies in God's sweet and golden sunlight.

Tears of bad men are not kept. Alexander, in his sorrow, had the hair clipped from his horses and mules, and made a great ado about his grief; but in all the vases of heaven there is not one of Alexander's tears. I speak of the tears of God's children. Alas! me! they are falling all the time.

What is the use of them, anyhow Why not substitute laughter? Why not make this a world where all the people are well, and eternal strangers to pain and aches? What is the use of an eastern storm, when we might have a perpetual nor wester? Why, when a family is put together, not have them all stay, or if they must be transplanted to make other homes, then have them all live—the family record telling a story of marriages and births, but of no deaths? Why not have the harvests chase each other without fatiguing toil? Why the hard pillow, the hard crust, the hard struggle?

First. It is the design of trouble to keep this world from being too attractive. Something must be done to make us willing to quit this existence. If it were not for trouble this world would be a good enough heaven for me. You would be willing to take a lease of this life for a hundred million years if there were no trouble. The earth cushioned, upholstered and pillared and chandeliered with such expense, no story of other worlds could enchant us. After a mian has had a good deal of trouble, he says: "Well, I am ready to go. If there is a house somewhere whose roof doesn't leak, I would like to live there. If there is an atmosphere omewhere that does not distress the ungs, I would like to breathe it .. If there is a society somewhere where there is no tittle-tattle, I would like to live there. If there is a home circle somewhere where I can find my lost friends, I would like to go there." He used to read the first part of the Bible chiefly; now he reads the last part of the Bible chiefly. Why has he changed Genesis for Revelation? That book of Revelation is a prospectus now of the country into which he is soon to immigrate the country in which he has lots already laid out, and avenues opened, and mansions built. Yet there are people to whom this world is brighter than heaven. Well, dear souls, I do not blame you. It is natural. But after awhile you will be ready to go. It was not until Job had een worn out with bereavements that he wanted to see God. It was not until the prodigal son got tired of living among the hogs that he wanted to go to his father's house. It is the ministry of trouble to make this world worth less and heaven worth more. Again, it is the use of trouble to make us feel our dependence upon God. Men think that they can do anything until God shows them that they can do nothing at all. I was riding with my child along the road, and she asked if she might drive. I said, "Certainly." I handed the reins over to her, and had to admire the glee with which she drove. But lafter awhile we met a team and we had to turn out. The read was narrow, and it was sheet down on both sides. She handed the reins over to me and said: "I think von had better take charge of the So we are all children, and on this road of life we like to drive. Ah! my friends, we get upset so often be-cause we do not hand the reins over soon enough. After a man has had troble, prayer is with him a taking hold of the arm of God and crying out for help. I have heard earnest prayers on two or three occasions that I remember. Once, on the Cincinnati express train, going at forty miles the hour, the train jumped the track, and we were near a chasm eighty feet deep: and the man who, a few minutes before had been swearing and blaspheming God, began to pull and jerk at the bell rope, and got up on the backs of the seats and cried out, "Oh, God, save us!" There was another time, about eight hundred miles out at sea, on a founder ing steamer, after the last lifeboat had been split finer than kindling wood. They prayed then. Why is it that you so often hear people, in reciting the last experience of some friend, say. "He made the most beautiful prayer I ever What makes it beautiful? It is the earnestness of it. Oh! I tell you a man is in earnest when his stripped and naked soul wades out in the soundless, shoreless, bottomless ocean of

It is contemptible in us when there is nothing else to take hold of, that we catch hold of God only. Why, you do not know who the Lord is. He is not an autocrat seated up in a palace from which he emerges once a year, preceded by heralds swinging swords to clear the way. No. But a father willing, at our call, to stand by us in every crisis and predicament of life. A young man goes off from home to earn his fortune. He goes with his mother's consent and benediction. She has large wealth, but he wants to make his own fortune. He goes far away, falls sick gets out of money. He sends for the hotel-keeper where he is staying, asking for lenience, and the answer he gets "If you don't pay up Saturday night you'll be removed to the hospital." in the same

The young man sends to a comrade n the same building. No help. He writes to a banker who was a friend of his deceased father. No retief. He writes to an old schoolmate, but gets no help. Saturday night comes, and he is moved to the hospital.

Gettling there, he is frenzied with grief; and he borrows a sheet of paper and a postage stamp, and he sits down. and he writes home, saving, "Dear mother: I am sick unto death. Come." It is ten minutes of ten o'clock when she gets the letter. At ten o'clock the train starts. She is five minutes from the denot. She gets there in time to have five minutes to spare. She wonders why a train that cam go 30 miles an hour cannot so 60 miles an hour. She rushes into the hospital. She says, "My son, what does all this mean? Why didn't you send for me? You sent to arrange but me. You know I could and would help you. Is this the reward I get for my kindness to you al-ways?" She bundles him up, takes him home, and gets him well very soon. Now, some of you treat God just as that young man treated his mother. When you get into a financial perplexity, you call on the banker, you call on the broker, you call on your creditors, or call on your lawyer for legal counsel; you call upon everybody, and when you cannot get any help, then you go to God. You say: "Oh, Lord, I come to thee. Help me now out of my perplexity." And the Lord comes, though it is the eleventh hour. He says: "Why did you not send for me before? As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you." It is to throw us back upon God that we have this ministry of tears. Again, it is the use of trouble to capacitate us for the office of sympathy. When we are in prosperity, we like to have a great many young people around us, and we laugh when they augh, and we romp when they romp, and we sing when they sing; but when we have trouble we like plenty of old felks around. Why? They know how to talk. Doctors Abernethy and Rush and Hosack and Harvey were great doctors, but the greatest doctor the world ever saw is an old Christian woman. Dear me! Do we not remember her about the room when we were sick in our boyhood? Was there any one who could ever so touch a sore without hurting it?

Where did Paul get the ink with which to write his comforting epistle? Where did David get the ink to write his comforting Psalms? Where did John get the ink to write his comforting Revelation? They got it out of their own tears. When a man has gone through the curriculum, and has taken a course of dungeons and imprisonments and shipwrecks, he is qualified for the work of sympathy. I would rather be the means of socihing one perturbed spirit today than to play a tune that would set all the sons of mirth reeling in the dance. I am an herb doctor. I put into the caldron the Root out of dry ground, without form or comeliness. Then I put in the Rose of Sharon and he Lily of the Valley. Then I put into caldron some of the leaves from the Tree of Life, and the Branch that was thrown into the wilderness Marah. Then I pour in the tears of Bethany and Golgotha: then I stir them up. Then I kindle under the caldron a fire made cuit of the wood of the cross, and one drop of that potion will cure the worst sickness that ever afflicted a human soul. Mary and Martha shall receive their Lazarus from the tomt. The damsel shall rise. And on the darkness | SIZES, shall break the morning, and God will wipe all tears from their eyes Jesus had enough trial to make him sympa-thetic with all trial. The shortest verse in the Bible tells the story: "Jesus

Have you any appreciation of the good and glorious times your friends are having in heaven? Oh, the difference between a funeral on earth and a jubilee in heaven-between requiem here and triumph there-parting here and reunion there Together! Have you thought of it? They are together. Not one of your departed friends in one land, and another in another land; but together, in different rooms of the same house-the house of many mansions. Together!

My friends, take this good cheer home with you. These tears of bereavement that course your cheek, and of perse-cution, and of trial, are not always to be there. The motherly hand of God will wipe them all away. What is the use, on the way to such a consummation-what is the use of fretting about anything? Oh, what an exhibaration you the pinnacles against the sky? It is the city of our God, and we are approaching it. Oh, let us be busy in the days that remain for us.

I put this balsam on the wounds of your heart. Rejoice at the thought of what your departed friends have got rid of, and that you have a prospect of so soon making your own escape. Bear cheerfully the ministry of tears, and exult at the thought that soon it is to be ended

There we shall march up the heavenly And ground our arms at Jesus' feet.

THE NORTHWEST HARVEST, Portage la Prairie, Man., Aug. 20.-The wheat harvest on Portage Plains is one week behind last year and it is about the same elsewhere in the province, except round Gretna, where 90 per cent is already cut. Only about 10 per cent. of the wheat is cut here now but by Saturday night, the 24th, over 75 per cent, will be cut if the present fine weather continues. The weather is very iavorable for ripening, no strong or hot winds. The proportion of grain lodged is very small and all can be cut with care.

There has been no frost whatever. Calgary N. W. T., reports 10 days to harvest, Regina says just commencing, while Prince Albert has not begun. All the reports are favorable.

WHEN ADAM WAS A BOY. This was years ago, for Adam has been dead quite a while, though to be sure he has left a progeny that keeps up pretty well the family characteristics. There are wise men to ay who delve into the misty past and tell us all sorts of things, but they are silent on those events that would make Adam interesting to the modern man. What did Adam do when he run a in the future and get a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor? Putnam's is the test, is sure, safe, painless, and acts in 24 hours.
