U. S. SENATE OPENS INQUIRY INTO STEEL STRIKE, HEAD OF CORPORATION CANNOT APPEAR

Investigation Is Called To Ascertain If Federal Action Can in Any Way Help To Relieve Situation—Judge Gary Will Be Asked Why He Refused To Deal With the Union Organizers.

CANNOT CALL OFF STRIKE.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Even should the United States Steel Corporation consent to meet representatives of the men, the nation-wide strike of steel workers could not be called off, in the opinion of John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' committee, as expressed today at the opening of the Senate labor committee's investigation of the strike.

"The 350,000 men on strike," Fitzpatrick declared, "are going to demand from the United States Government justice, decent justice."

Washington, Sept. 25.—Senate investigation of the nation-wide strike of steel workers, to determine whether remedial action can be taken by the Federal Government, was opened today, with John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the union committee conducting the strike, as the first witness before the education and labor committee. Fitzpatrick, accompanied by William H. Rubin, counsel for the steel strikers, who at the outset of the hearing, asked what assurance had been given by Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, that he would appear before the committee next Wednesday.

Senator Kenyon replied that Judge Gary had telephoned him that he would be present on Wednesday, and added that "until that time we will not question his being here."

Rubin requested that the committee place in the record correspondence between Joseph H. Tumulty, secretary to the president; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Chairman Fitzpatrick regarding efforts to postpone the strike. Senator Kenyon asked Rubin to read the telegrams and letters, which already have been published.

JUDGE GARY WILL BE ASKED POINTED QUESTIONS AT PROBE

Washington, Sept. 25.—Investigation of the nation-wide steel strike by the senate labor committee, which begins today, was called to determine "if the situation in any way can be relieved by federal action."

John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' organization, has assured the committee he would present "labor's side" of the controversy, and he was summoned as the first witness.

Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, was summoned to present the other side of the controversy, but will be unable to appear until next week. He will be asked to make a detailed statement and then submit to cross-examination.

Failure of negotiations to avert the strike, committeemen said, also would be investigated, and why it was not postponed at President Wilson's request, and why Judge Gary refused to deal with the union organizers. Senator Kenyon, chairman of the committee, believes the investigation will serve to enlighten the public on the underlying causes of the strike, and in that way affect its progress.

GARY MILLS OPERATING.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—An official announcement that the slab and rail mills of the United States Steel Corporation at Gary, Ind., would be in partial operation today, which would be the most extensive resumption of work in the Chicago district since the strike of the steel workers was called on Monday, was counterbalanced by the 195 steam engineers at the Illinois Stel Company at Gary being ordered out on sympathetic strike by their local union. Union leaders asserted that action would close the Illinois steel mills.

STEEL STRIKE SITUATION

With no radical change reported in the actual strike centres, interest in the great struggle in the steel industry shifted today to Washington, where the labor committee of the Senate opened an investigation with the avowed intention of discovering "if the situation in any way can be relieved by federal action. It was labor's day in court, for the first witness called was John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the National Steel Workers' Committee. The employers' turn will come next Wednesday, when E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the U. S. Steel Corporation, will present the case for capital.

BOTH CLAIM ADVANTAGES.

As far as actual conditions on the battle line were concerned, the most important definite news came from the Chicago district, where both sides claimed specific and significant advantages. Steel Corporation officials announced that the steel and slab mills of the corporation at Gary would resume partial operations today, the most extensive resumption claimed in the district since the strike was declared. Offsetting this, 195 steam engineers employed in the Illinois Steel Company's plant in the same town, were called out by their local, raising again the possibility of a general strike by this most important branch of the workers.

All Ohio Mills Closed.

In the Mahoning Valley district of Ohio the complete paralysis of the industry achieved by the strikers continued, and the success on the Ohio sector was emphasized by the closing of the plant of the Bar Mill Empire Rolling Company, with the exception of the sheet mill department, which employs only 600 men. This department is the only mill now operating in Cleveland.

But the issue in the great Pittsburg area, where both sides concede the battle must be lost or won, remains uncertain.

Delegates at Hamilton Convention Making Every Effort to Land Next Gathering.

MINISTER MAKES SPEECH

Sir Henry Drayton Urges Co-operation in Victory Loan Campaign.

Hamilton, Sept. 25.—Officials in Moose Jaw and delegates from that city to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, are making every effort to have next year's convention held in that city. Telegrams from the city clerk of the western city and three trades unions were received this morning, urging the selection of Moose Jaw. London and Sydney delegates are also anxious that the congress should be held next year in their cities.

Urging co-operation in the Victory Loan campaign, Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, addressed the delegates.

"There has been a war," he declared, "and there is a mess to be cleaned up. There are our commitments to soldiers which must be fulfilled to the last letter. There is not a man in this audience who does not want to see everything possible done for the returned soldier.

"A working capital would have to be provided for the country to see that the wheels of industry did not cease to turn."

Speaking on behalf of the Ontario Labor party, H. J. Halford, Hamilton, advocated the election of labor candidates to both Federal and Provincial parliaments. "We have got to take a stand in the political field," he declared. "It has been shown to us that we will not get anything until we send our own representatives to parliament."

Mr. Halford was supported by James Simpson, Toronto, who said that the trades unionists of the country needed

Garibaldi Says Italy Will Keep Fiume Even If It Means Starting New War

Paris, Sept. 25.—Havas.—The crisis through which Italy is passing is imputed to the great powers by General Giuseppi Garibaldi, in an interview printed in the Petit Parisien this worning. He reproaches them for not having given Italy all that was promised in the Treaty of London, and declares it to be the intention of the Italian people to keep Fiume, "even at the price of another war."

"It depends on Great Britain and France," he says, "whose populations are with Italy in the Fiume affair. Whatever should be President Wilson's answer to Italy's proposals, we will say to him that this dispute is between Europeans, and must be settled between Europeans. We know the British, French and American peoples are with us in this matter."

Italian Forces Advancing On Jugo-Slav Towns On Adriatic Coast--Plans Are Under Way To Restore Throne To Nicholas

ITALIAN MINISTERS IN DILEMMA OVER FIUME SITUATION

Members of Cabinet Regard Present State of Affairs As Serious.

PERSUASION IS USELESS

D'Annunzio Will Not Consent to Slightest Compromise.

Rome, Sept. 25.—Cabinet ministers do not conceal the enormous gravity of the situation, and the serious difficulty, not to say the impossiblity, of finding a satisfactory solution to the Fiume problem. They do not want to use force against Capt. d'Annunzio, wishing to avoid fratricidal conflict, and it is said that this hesitation may be partially due to the fact that troops ordered against the poet's forces might refused to obey orders.

Persuasion, it is said here, is useless without agreeing to Capt. d'Annunzio's conditions—the annexation of the port of Fiume and the hinterland to Italy proper. It is asserted that if the Italian Government should accept such conditions, she would have against her not only her allies, but her erstwhile enemies, headed by Jugo-Slavia, which perhaps would already have acted but for internal troubles and the lack of a responsible man in power. The Italian Government was the first to recognize the impossibility of expecting the Allies to acknowledge as an accomplished fact the occupation of Fiume, for if they admitted of this view there would be "accomplished facts" everywhere.

Cabinet Not to Resign.

The advisability of the cabinet resigning has been examined, but the idea has been abandoned, since a ministerial crisis would not help to solve the problem, nor is there a man available with greater authority or more energy than Premier Nitti, who is generally considered the strongest statesman possessed by Italy. He has considerable opposition, however, which is fomented by Nationalists and Baron Sonnini. Besides the present chamber of deputies may be said to be almost considered illegal and hardly representing the will of the people, since its term expired during the war, being prolonged to avoid general elections during the conflict. It is pointed out that this naturally weakens the significance of the support given the cabinet. Hope is entertained that the crown council will succeed in bringing about an agreement by all parties on a stable policy.

Peace Conference Circles Are Greatly Alarmed Over Latest Turn in Events—Reign of Terror Reported To Be Prevailing at Dalmatian Town On Montenegro's Frontier—Garibaldi Says Serious Results Will Follow Unless Italians Are Allowed To Settle Fiume Question According to the Will of the People.

Paris, Sept. 25.—Apparently in emulation of Captain Gabriele d'Annunzio, whose dramatic seizure of Fiume centered the attention of the world on the eastern littoral of the Adriatic, other Italian leaders are reported to be advancing on Spalato, Sebenico and Trau, important towns along the coast which have been under the control of Jugo-Slav forces. Peace conference circles are plainly concerned over the situation, which seems to have become quite grave.

Jugo-Slavs Overpowered.

Belgrade advices declare Italian soldiers have overpowered a small Jugo-Slav force at Toguire and have entered the town. It is probable that the place mentioned is Trogir, the Croatian section of the city Trau, about fifteen miles northwest of Spalato. Further south, there appear also to be disorders, reports from Rome indicating there is a virtual reign of terror at Ragusa, a Dalmatian town, close to the frontier of Montenegro.

Nicholas To Get Throne.

In addition there are rumors that the Italians plan to restore King Nicholas to the Montenegrin throne, from which he was ousted by action of the national assembly last April. This action of the national assembly has never been recognized by the royal Montenegrin Government, which has maintained its headquarters near Paris for several months. King Nicholas is the father of Queen Helena of Italy.

May Consider Compromise.

So far as known definitely no answer to proposals made by Italy relative to Fiume has been received from President Wilson, although it is intimated in unofficial Italian circles that it has arrived. There is a disposition on the part of the Italians to reject any proposition looking to a compromise, the claim being made that the storm throughout their country can be calmed only by giving Fiume to Italy. There are hints, too, that a governmental crisis may develop as a result of the situation.

City Not Blockaded.

General Guiseppe (Peppino) Garibaldi who arrived here yesterday declared: "Serious results would follow if Italians were not placed in a position to settle the Fiume question according to the will of the people." He said the city is not closely blockaded, and that the Italian Government was sending supplies into the city.

MOVE STARTED BY D'ANNUNZIO IS SPREADING ALONG ADRIATIC

Another War Is Feared Among Italians and People in the Adriatic Coast Towns Unless Immediate Measures Are Adopted To Suppress D'Annunzio.

Rome, Wednesday, Sept. 24.—Reporting rumors that Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio's partisans are advancing toward Trau, Sebenico and Spalato, the Messaggero severely censures "elements which are thus creating occasion for further conflict." The newspaper says a number of deputies have signed a demand for a secret session of the chamber.

"Do you want another war?" asks the Messaggero in commenting on reports from Fiume and Dalmatia, showing that the D'Annunzio movement is spreading and that others are trying to repeat at Zara, Sebenico, Spalato, Trau and other chief centres of Italian population along the Adriatic his achievement at Fiume. The immense gravity of the situation is now thoroughly understood by everybody.

CONFERENCE BEING HELD IN EFFORT TO AVERT BIG STRIKE

Sir Eric Geddes and British Railwaymen Discuss the Transport Problem.

London, Sept. 25.—Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transport, and the entire executive committee of the National Union of Railwaymen, conferred for two hours and a half this morning over the railway wage question which is threatening a nation-wide railway strike. At the end of this time the conferees took an adjournment until 4 o'clock this afternoon. Before the session, it was stated by the president of the union that if the conference failed to avert a strike the walkout would begin at midnight on Friday.

GEDDES AND RAILWAY WORKERS MEETING TO DISCUSS SITUATION

Nation-Wide Strike Will Be Called Friday Unless Settlement Is Reached.

London, Sept. 25.—Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transport, will today meet representatives of the National Union of Railwaymen, which yesterday presented a virtual ultimatum to the government demanding that a basis for the standardization of wages be settled. In the event the situation is not adjusted, according to J. H. Thomas, secretary of the union, a strike that will be nation-wide, will be called on Friday.

The cabinet was in session yesterday afternoon for three hours, and discussed the situation. An announcement after the meeting said the government was willing to continue negotiations with the union, it being declared a "misunderstanding" existed. Members of the union are now working under an agreement with the government, by which the men will continue to draw their war-time wages until December 31. The sudden demand for an immediate settlement, therefore, came as a surprise yesterday, and there were hints that the union's action was of political significance.

$3,000,000 INFLATION IS CHARGE AGAINST WINNIPEG COMPANY

Sensational Developments Due to Investigation of Railway Company's Books.

Winnipeg, Sept. 25.—Charges that the Winnipeg Electric Railway Company's capitalization has been inflated to the extent of over $3,000,000, that melon-cutting in the year 1912 cost the company $3,450,000, and that there was an issue of $2,000,000 worth of bonds of which the investigators can find no record, were among the sensational developments at the meeting of the transportation committee of the Winnipeg city council yesterday afternoon. C. A. Hunt, K.C., counsel for the city, who made the charges, based his allegations on the report by John Scott & Co., chartered accountants, which firm was instructed by the public utilities commission of Manitoba to make an investigation of the company's financial affairs when the company made an application for permission to increase the price of street car fares some months ago.

Leamington Man Sees This As Next Move Following Referendum.

Leamington, Sept. 25.—"In Toronto at the present moment there are ten tons of printed anti-tobacco propaganda ready to flood the country should the referendum on October 20 be in favor of continuing the province under the yoke of the Ontario temperance act," said Chairman Hes Milkins at the inaugural meeting of the Liberty League held here Wednesday evening.

"Should these people succeed in curtailing our liberties on the liquor question their next move will be to cut at the very root of an honorable occupation that means bread and butter to hundreds of families."

POLICE AND FARMERS OF QUEBEC SEARCH FOR BANDITS' LOOT

The Authorities Are Confident Money Taken From Ocean Limited Will Be Recovered.

Quebec, Sept. 25.—With circumstantial evidence which the police say will prove that George Topping and J. T. B. Proteau, who are now in custody, are the masked bandits who stole $71,000 from the mail car of the Ocean Limited train on the morning of September 18, the police are now turning their attention to the recovery of the missing money, and they are confident that within two days at least the stolen banknotes will have been found.

The theatre of police operations has again shifted to the County of Montmagny, and there the police and the farmers are busily engaged in hunting in every nook and corner in the woods, and in every barn and stable in the entire district, trying to find the money.

The preliminary investigation into the case of Topping and Proteau has been adjourned to await the arrival of Peter Bercovitch, K.C., who is acting for Lloyds Agency in the case.

PICHON UPHOLDS RIGHT OF BRITISH DOMINIONS TO LEAGUE MEMBERSHIP

Paris, Sept. 25.—In the course of the discussion in the chamber of deputies on the peace treaty, Foreign Minister Pichon upheld the right of British dominions to membership in the league of nations. LONDON LIKES NEW DANCE STEPS; SHIMMY DEAD, SAYS TEACHER

James McCormick, Back From the Teachers' Convention, Helped Write Obituary.

JAZZ GETS R. I. P. TOO

Long Live the Good Old-Fashioned Dances Is the New Cry.

"Shimmy dancing and all other modern forms of the dancing pastime that are done from the hips up, born of a desire for thrill and sensation some time in 1917 or 1918 have died by request."

This is the obituary written in the annals of the Ohio Association of Teachers of Dancing, at a convention just concluded in Cleveland, Ohio.

James and Mrs. McCormick and Leonard McCormick of this city had a hand in signing the death warrant of all syncopated "jazz" movements at Cleveland, but they have returned to London with a bit of consolation for dance fans—they brought back some brand new dances which were demonstrated at the convention.

Like Tamer Ones.

"Long live the good old-fashioned dances" is the new cry, says James McCormick. He says Londoners do not seem the least bit crestfallen over the relegation of the "naughty shoulder dances" to the dance halls of memory.

"The American people are coming back to the slow glide waltz and the Scottische movements. The demand for jazz and freakish styles of dance steps is dying out," says Mr. and Mrs. McCormick. "The shimmy was only one of these freaks, and its time has more than come," the local dancing teachers declare.

The London dance season promises to be a huge success in spite of, or perhaps as a result of the absence of the dead and buried shimmy and jazz steps, they believe.

New Steps Are Here.

Local dancers displayed unrecorded enthusiasm to learn "The Flirtation Dance" and "The Black Trot," when Mr. and Mrs. McCormick opened their Palace Dancing Academy here this week with these two "nice" dances included in the program, they say.

The convention at Cleveland was attended by 200 teachers of dancing from Ohio and Ontario. Next year the meeting will be held at Cincinnati.

Shimmy's Life Short Gay.

Speaking of the shimmy, a prominent delegate to the convention just concluded, said, "It lived a gay and happy life during its short career and should be content to die. We have come to the parting of the way in the realm of dancing. Vulgarity and all forms of familiarity must go, never to return. The money and time of dancing teachers all over the country is behind the movement of dancing reform."

Following this edict, the convention intoned its approval of the words: "The Shimmy is dead. Long live the latest—the good old-fashioned dances."

CHU CHIN CHOW COMING AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Dozens of persons in the city have been calling The Advertiser and the Grand Theatre to find out what has happened to the popular musical extravaganza, Chu Chin Chow, which was billed to show here on September 29. In answer to these queries Manager J. R. Minhinnick of the Grand, announced today that the play could not be here on that date because of the strike which disturbed all arrangements. However, it is coming, and its manager, in a letter received this morning, tells Mr. Minhinnick to keep all the papers and advertising matter intact as the show will be here as soon as possible, London taking its regular turn. The delay has been the same in all cities where it was booked to play.

WESTMINSTER FAIR EXHIBITS, RACES AND SHOWS ATTRACT 3,000

Vegetable Exhibit Larger This Year—Potatoes Few, But Good Quality.

Westminster Agricultural Society Fair, held at Lambeth on Wednesday, attracted a crowd of nearly 3,000 people. Ideal weather conditions prevailed, aiding materially in making the affair a success. A great deal was crowded into one day, and one found it impossible to see everything, as so many attractions were being staged at one time.

The horse racing, ladies' driving, a relay race and a baby show were the chief attractions, although the exhibits, by their splendid qualities, though not as plentiful as in some other years, drew much attention. MacDonald's juvenile pipe band of London supplied music for the day.

More Vegetables.

The showing of vegetables was much larger than in the past years; the pumpkins and squash were the features of this class. Few potatoes were shown, but those on view were exceptionally good ones. Many roots were entered. Trott Bros. of London, W. A. McCutcheon of Glencoe and R. W. Bogue and H. Cornell of Lambeth were the chief winners.

The fruit exhibit was smaller than usual. Chiefly apples and pears were shown. Most of the prizes were awarded to J. Trott, W. J. Bartlett and W. Campbell. Corn was the feature of the grain shown. Never before has such a large quantity and such good quality been exhibited. The honors for grain went to W. A. McCutcheon of Glencoe, R. W. Bogue and H. Cornell of Lambeth.

Public schools of the county entered into a keen competition for collections of vegetables, fruit and grain. School Section No. 17 won first prize, No. 23 second and No. 5 third.

Tempting Eatables.

In the main tent of the grounds products of the dairy, collections of canned fruits, pies, cakes, bread and biscuits of various kinds were temptingly arrayed. The winners in the cooking were: G. Fox, Mrs. Post and Miss E. Vanderlinder; for cheese, McMillan of Pond Mills and Donnelly of Scottsville, and for butter, Mrs. G. W. Hopkins and Miss M. Campbell. W. A. McCutcheon of Glencoe won first prize on a collection of canned fruits. The exhibition of ladies' work and fine art was held in the Masonic Hall. Both these classes were largely entered and some splendid work was shown. Mrs. D. Thomas of London, Mrs. G. R. Mills of Thamesford, Mrs. H. Thomas of London and Mrs. W. A. McCutcheon were the chief winners.

The poultry show, following the tone of the whole fair, had an excellent entry list of fine birds. Chiefly chickens, and a couple of pens of ducks, were shown. D. Bogue took many of the honors, with fourteen firsts and seven seconds. Other winners were James Tunks, J. R. Dengate and G. Vanderlinder.

Fewer Horses.

Not as many horses were exhibited this year, but the light horses were of a particularly fine type. Prizes were awarded for teams and harness to C. Woodhull; brood mares to C. Parsons and A. K. Sadler; foals to G. W. Hopkins, C. Parsons and E. Hunt; for heavy draft mares A. McFarlane; foals, A. McFarlane; heavy draft team in harness, R. Bogue, and team for general purposes, H. Poole; yearling for general purposes, A. T. Sadler; two-year-old, general purposes, F. Poole, and for any other breeds, A. Sadler & Sons. The banker's special was won by A. Sadler, L. Fox and W. Wright. For light horses the winners were W. F. Shore, E. J. Shore and Dr. Routledge, while E. S. Hunt took first on his two-year-old roadster.

G. W. Keays, H. Poole, R. W. Bogue and F. Cornell cleaned the boards in all classes of cattle, G. W. Keays winning firsts on this registered cow, yearling heifer and bull, heifer calf, registered herd and bull calf. H. Poole won on his Durham grade cow, heifer calf, yearling two-year-old heifers, two-year-old steer and on a fat cow. F. Corneli won on his steer calf. The banker's special for calves under six months was won by G. W. Keays, G. Smale and W. Harris. Among the young farmers, J. Fox and W. Marsh were the biggest winners.

Close Races.

In the horse racing, every heat was well-contested. In the open race, Hal T., owned by I. Harris, won first on three heats. Archie Brino, owned by J. Walker, three seconds. Tilly, owned by Peter Campbell, three thirds, and Jubilee Boy, three fourths. In the 2:20 trotting, Dr. B., F. Perkins, won first in three heats, Fred C., J. McDonald, three seconds, and Ola Bar three thirds. Mrs. D. Campbell was first and Miss L. Bolton second in the ladies' driving contest. Two teams entered the relay race. A team composed of L. Dunn, T. McPherson, F. Smith and H. Willis won.

The baby show attracted much interest. Only one baby girl, daughter of Mrs. C. Howlett, was entered. Mrs. J. Lang's baby boy won first, Mrs. F. Cornell's second, and Mrs. Rose of St. Thomas third.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A JUST DEMAND.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The demand for $2,000 by the soldiers who served overseas appears to me to be a just one. Where is the man who would be satisfied to be separated from his family and his friends and risk his life for the paltry sum of $1.10 a day, while his fellow-workman at home, who risked nothing, received from $5 to $6?

It is all very well to erect arches and inscribe the touching motto "Welcome to Our Returned Soldiers." But is this sufficient remuneration for a broken-down constitution or the loss of an arm or leg? Apparently some of our barons at Ottawa think so.

If Mr. Doherty, who has had the brazen effrontery to turn down these unfortunate heroes, could be placed in a mud and slush trench, with a liberal supply of vermin in his clothes, and a pair of paper-soled shoes on his feet, and a man to shoot at him with a gatling gun every time he poked his head above the trench, I question if he would not, after three years of this kind of treatment, think he was as much entitled to $2,000 as the members at Ottawa to the extra sessional indemnity.

No money for soldiers, but millions for Flavelle.

No money for soldiers, but millions for McKenzie & Mann.

No money for soldiers, but $30,000,000 for a padded voters' list.

No money for soldiers, but money for Mewburn's apartments.

No money for soldiers, but a $5,000 pension for Col. Labatt.

Nothing for our returned heroes but cork legs, wooden arms, glass eyes, spruce arches and empty flour barrels.

MIDDLESEX HAS HAD ONLY SIX HANGINGS AT THE COUNTY JAIL

First One Carried Out in Year 1868.

ONE WOMAN EXECUTED

Phoebe Campbell Paid Penalty for Slaying Husband in 1872.

Following inquiries received at this office recently, a reporter visited the county jail, and scanning the records of executions taking place there during the history of London, learned that six condemned murderers have been hanged at the county jail, including one woman. The first unfortunate to pay the extreme penalty here was Thomas Jones, who was executed on October 15, 1868. Three years later, on October 28, 1871, Cyrus Pickard was hanged.

The Only Woman.

The first and only woman in this county to mount the scaffold was Phoebe Campbell, who paid with her life for the murder of her husband. The execution was carried out on June 20, 1872, the condemned murderess going to her death in a violent rage, cursing all involved in the case, including the executioner. She was the last person to be publicly executed in front of the courthouse, the practice being discontinued after her death, and the gallows for later executions being erected in the jailyard.

A Lapse of Fifteen Years.

After a period of fifteen years the fourth hanging took place here, when Benjamin Simmonds died on the scaffold on November 27, 1885. Henry Smith, who murdered his wife in the north end of London, was executed on June 14, 1890.

On May 17, 1899, Marian "Peg Leg" Brown was hanged here under dramatic circumstances, for the murder of Constable Toohey of the local police force. Protesting his innocence to the end, Brown mounted the gallows, amidst a severe storm, and just as Radcliffe, the hangman at that time, was about to draw the lever that would precipitate the unfortunate man through the drop to eternity, a bolt of lightning illuminated the sky, followed by a terrific crash of thunder. Eye-witnesses of the execution who survive to this day, state that everyone present, including Radcliffe, were severely unnerved by the occurrence.

Morbid Disappointed.

They also state that several score of local citizens congregated on the roofs of buildings near the jail, and on top of the King street bridge in an effort to view the hanging, but their watchful waiting was in vain, as the scene of the execution was surrounded by a high wooden inclosure, and the condemned man was dropped into a hole dug beneath the scaffold.

It is interesting to note that in a separating wall in the jailyard there is a gate known as the "murderers' gate," through which the condemned were marched en route from their cell to the scaffold, and this gate has not been opened since the execution of Marion Brown, over twenty years ago, when he passed through it to his death.

From the above records it is seen that the county of Middlesex has been comparatively free of executions, six being a very low number, but on the other hand many murders have been committed in the county without capital punishment resulting.

CLAIMS $300 FOR DAMAGE SUSTAINED

C. E. Marley Sues Huron County and Stanley Township.

Charles E. Marley, 372 Tecumsen avenue, through his solicitors, McPherson & Perrin, has issued a writ in the county court against the county of Huron and township of Stanley, claiming $300 and costs for damages sustained by plaintiff in driving over a bridge on the road from Brucefield to Varna, alleging that a raised plank on the bridge caught the rear wheels of his car and caused serious damage.

On behalf of E. H. Zick, Ivey & Ivey, solicitors, have issued a writ against W. J. Fleming of Kent County for $525.28 and costs against defendant as the maker of three promissory notes in favor of plaintiff.

These cases will be threshed out in the county court here.

Had Audience With King and Queen and Saw Palace

Sergt. W. Johnston Also Found Long-Lost Brother in England.

After having been entertained by their majesties the King and Queen, high dignitaries in this country do not hold any great glamor for Sergt. William Johnson, who returned from overseas on the Regina. He was drill instructor at Wolseley Barracks before the war.

Besides getting a private audience with the King and Queen Sergt. Johnson says he got a thorough look at the interior of Buckingham Palace, where he was shown a collection of valuables worth millions of pounds, including the first issues of all British war medals.

Looking for a long lost brother led to his introduction to the British rulers and the palace, Sergt. Johnson says.

While visiting his birthplace in the north of Ireland the sergeant asked for news of his brother, whom he had not seen in eight years.

"You'll find him wherever the King is. He is his majesty's master of horses, and travels with the King," he was told.

In London, the sergeant, visited his brother and the audience with their majesties and the inspection of Buckingham Palace followed.

MANUFACTURERS THINK STRIKES WILL LOSE IN U. S. STEEL CENTRES

Col. W. H. Moore of Lambeth, and T. S. Lawrason of this city, left Monday night for a few weeks' stay at Excelsior Springs, Mo., the famous health resort. While in Chicago they met some of the large manufacturers, and report that the consensus of opinion among the largest manufacturers of that city and contiguous cities is that the strike which was launched Monday at Pittsburg will, after a long battle, end in absolute defeat for the strikers or employees.

They appear to think that a strike at this time is unjust, when skilled laborers are drawing the highest wages of their lives and in the face of what must be a declining market. They believe that it will bring only disorder, misery, suffering and possibly a far-reaching panic.

PLAN ARCHES, FLAGS AND LIGHTS IN CITY FOR PRINCE'S VISIT

Decorations To Cost $4,800 —To Call For Tenders For Street Displays.

Decorations to cost $4,800 for the visit of the Prince of Wales were planned by the decoration committee at the city hall Wednesday. Tenders will be called for decorating Dundas and Richmond streets and other street intersections, including Dundas and Adelaide streets.

One of the chief decorations will be an illuminated crown, which will be suspended above the principal corner. Arches erected to welcome the soldiers will be suitably decorated. Shields bearing the Prince of Wales' insignia will be placed on them.

The public utilities commission is planning a large illuminated shield in addition to its other decorations, and one of these will be placed on the entrance to the armories. The parks commission will likely look after the decoration of Victoria Park, and will erect a large evergreen arch at the entrance.

All the downtown streets will be decorated with lines of flags, and shields will be placed on all the electric light standards.

BOYS' BRIGADE TO TRAIN ON ARMED CRUISER AT PORT

A government boat equipped as a light cruiser, with torpedo tubes and guns will be placed at the service of the London Boys' Brigade next year on Lake Erie, according to word received by H. Beswick, in charge of the London unit.

Each boy in the city who belongs to the Naval Brigade will be given a two weeks' cruise on the boat, and taught practical navigation.

More than 75 youngsters, varying in age from 8 to 14 years are now members of the brigade. They meet every Tuesday and Friday in the armories for instruction in gunnery, musketry, squad drill and seamanship, and boys of marked ability are receiving wireless courses.

The brigade plans to fit boys for the various occupations in connection with the mercantile marine and the Royal Navy, and trains them for efficiency and both theoretical and practical understanding of seamanship.

The Naval Brigade will take part in the procession here upon the arrival of the Prince of Wales in London, and one of the guards of honor may be formed of the boys. The prince is reported to have promised to wear a naval uniform while he is in London, in honor of the Navy League, for which he opens a fund campaign on the day of his arrival.

NEW NURSING DIVISIONS ARE NOW BEING FORMED

A new St. John Ambulance Nursing Division has been formed in the city to be known as the Florence Nightingale Nursing Division, No. 11. This was organized by Mrs. J. E. McKillop, lady superintendent for Military District No. 1, on Tuesday night, and has for its superintendent Mrs. Emma Swindall of Brookside street. The organization meeting, held in the home of Mrs. Swindall, was largely attended and beautiful bouquets of flowers were presented to Mrs. McKillop and Miss Ella Davis, superintendent of No. 28 Division.

The first classes in First Aid will be formed at 8 o'clock on Friday night, September 26, in the schoolroom of the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, and many girls in this district are looking forward to becoming members. Dr. J. E. Kidd will be the lecturer.

Last night Mrs. McKillop and Miss Davis were in Galt in regard to the organization of a division there. An enthusiastic meeting was held at the home of Mrs. McKenzie Kennedy, who will probably be the superintendent of the new division.

The work of the St. John Ambulance Order is growing widely in this district. Both No. 28 Lord Kitchener Nursing Division and No. 4 Nursing Division will commence fall classes shortly.

A PIMPLY FACE OR POOR COMPLEXION QUICKLY RESTORED

Thousands of young men and women would be handsome and attractive were it not for unsightly pimples, blackheads and rough, uneven skin. Custom seems to recommend lotions and salves, but unfortunately their effect is but temporary. These disfiguring blemishes do not originate in the skin—their birth in every case goes further back, to the blood, which must be cleansed of humors before the pimples depart for good.

A physician who has made a careful study of such cases says that the quickest cure comes from a blood-building medicine like Ferrozone. The minute Ferrozone strikes the blood its good work begins. Poisons and foul matter are expelled. Every trace of humor is driven out, and the whole life current is supplied with nutriment and health-giving qualities. You can always tell a Ferrozone complexion when you see it—the cheeks are clear and rosy, no signs of sallowness—the eyes are bright and expressive because rich, red blood is circulating through the whole system, carrying health, energy and strength with it. Not only will all skin eruptions disappear, but an increase in vital strength, an all-round improvement will be apparent. No rebuilding tonic could be more efficient. Get Ferrozone today—good for young and old, for well folks and sick ones, too. 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or direct by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

This afternoon Mrs. Pat Foley of Newbury also had a severe fall down the steps of the tailor shop here, resulting in a sprained wrist and a bad shaking-up. Dr. Glenn attended to her injuries and took her to her home.

SAYS ALCOHOL WAS LEFT IN HIS PLACE BY UTTER STRANGER

Judgment Reserved in Case of Joe Berbesech.

SIX GALLONS IN SHED

So Charge of Having It For Sale Was Laid by the Police.

Judgment was reserved for a week by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in the case of Joe Berbesech, a Russian, who was in police court this morning charged with having liquor for sale.

Inspector J. E. Keenleyside went to the house, 538 Philip street, and confiscated six one-gallon tins of alcohol which were lying in a canvas sack in the back shed. Analysis proved that the liquid contained 78.7 per cent alcohol by weight, 84.6 per cent alcohol by volume, and 148.03 per cent proof spirits.

Berbesech stated that at 1 o'clock in the afternoon a stranger came into his house, laid the bag on the floor and out. Then the police came.

Exactly one year ago today the ac- was fined in Hamilton for selling liquor. This he admitted, but would not admit that the six gallons which were found were part of a consignment of forty gallons that had been said to have been in his possession.

His wife had not seen the alcohol at any time.

It is not lawful to have alcohol in any place, not even a private dwelling, without a permit, as this liquid is intended for manufacturing purposes only.

OPINIONS ASKED ON THAT TIME QUESTION

Manufacturers Invited To Express Their Views.

Mayor C. R. Somerville is awaiting expressions of opinion on the continuance of daylight saving. An advertisement was inserted in local papers asking the manufacturing interests in the city to give their views on the advisability on continuing the plan until the end of October or ending at midnight next Sunday.

The city has no power to deal with the matter, but the mayor will make known the expressions of opinion sent to him and will urge action along the lines suggested. The city council operates on standard time as do the street railway and some factories. It is a matter of choice for other institutions, many of them must be governed by the railroad timetables, which will continue on daylight saving time until the end of next month.

Ald. C. G. Moorhead, who moved the resolution appointing Mayor Somerville and City Clerk S. Baker a committee to inquire into the matter, says that he speaks for a large number of workingmen in urging that all citizens revert to standard time. He points out that many of the workingmen rise now before it is daylight and any advantage which is gained at night is lost then. Workingmen have told him that they realize that shipping rooms must be governed by the train schedules. They condemn the railroads for what they term arbitrary action in forcing the daylight saving time on the country. If daylight saving is continued until the end of October the season will then be within six weeks of the shortest day in the year.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL ON BIG SCALE FOR PRINCE'S VISIT HERE

Four Local Bands and Other Outside Organizations.

A musical festival, surpassing anything which the city has seen before, will be one of the features of the Prince of Wales' visit in October. The band committee of the general reception committee met this morning and discussed the matter.

Four local bands will participate in the parade and review of troops, in addition to giving concerts on the main streets during the carnival in the evening. The four local bands which will take part are the 1st Hussars, the 7th Regiment, the Great War Veterans and the Marconi Club.

To Bring Others.

Major J. H. Woodward, chairman of the committee, was given power to arrange for bands from outside points. He has already communicated with organizations at Clinton and St. Thomas, and in Lambton, Waterloo and Oxford counties.

It is not likely that the bands will be massed except for the playing of the National Anthem during the review of the troops at Carling Heights. They will each render separate programs. Following the inspection they will leave the heights through Wolseley Barracks compound, down Rattle street to Adelaide street, along Adelaide street to Dundas street, and thence to the centre of the city.

Evening Program.

Their arrival there will end the afternoon's program, but after an hour's interval concerts will be commenced on all the main street intersections from Talbot street to Waterloo street on Dundas, and from King street to Queen's avenue on Richmond street. In addition to this a band will be parading the streets. Platforms will be erected on the street corners so that the moving crowds will not interfere with the bandsmen.

SUCCESS IS HEALTH, SAYS DOCTOR; URGES DRUG, BOOZE REMOVAL

Dr. R. C. Barklie On "Health and Business Efficiency" in Ad Club Talk.

For over a half hour, Dr. R. C. Barklie of this city held the atention of the London Advertising Club at the initial banquet of the season at the Tecumseh House on Wednesday night, when he gave a very interesting and instructive address on "Health and Business Efficiency." Health, he said, was without doubt the supreme question of the world. There was a tremendous amount of illness on the earth today.

Referring to the impure water of some cities, he said that it could not be made pure by adding something to it, but only by taking the poison from it. In the human body the prevention of the cause of a disease removed the possibility of a secondary disease or of an operation.

Scores Drug Sales.

Dr. Barklie scored the people of the present century for allowing drugs to be sold to a person, especially those addicted to drugs. Although there was a social service organization and men's federations, this was allowed to continue. "We should remove all drugs which have a disastrous effect on a fellow-citizen," the speaker told the club. Liquor was another thing that should be removed. From the aspect of health, it was very injurious.

In reference to the length of a working day he declared, "I hold that a man if he does nine hours' work of any kind whatever, he's gone a big day's labor." Recreaton should occupy six hours per day. There was something wrong with the health of every man on the street. "Men have an idea," he told the club, "that they can do a whole lot with a body and get away with it. "Persons who did not do laborious work should not eat heavy meals. Everyone should occupy at least 30 minutes for each meal. The greatest trouble with London's citizens was nervousness or lack of business stability.

Success, he remarked, was not the building of some high building or other accomplishment, but was good health. "Success is within," he declared. Sleep and plenty of fresh air were essential to good health.

Insurance statistics showed that a high percentage of deaths occurred during early life. "A person ought to be as good at 80 as at 40," Dr. Barklie asserted.

Houses Too Warm.

Houses of this country were kept too warm. The temperature in a house should not exceed 66 Fht. People of the present age did not open their windows enough. Farmers especially failed to observe this rule. Clothing worn was too heavy also.

Diet was an important matter. It should not be heavy, and the food should be thoroughly masticated. Rotten teeth should be pulled out and false ones put in their place. In the hotels in the United States plans for regulating diets was being made.

"Man should drink a great deal of water."

Children growing who were not in the best of health should be confined to some institution where they could receive the necessary treatment in order that they might grow to be strong men and women.

Veneral diseases should be treated by the patient being taken away to an institution where he would be isolated from civilization, the doctor said.

Arthur Frederick Sheldon, the world's greatest businessman, has arranged to speak at the Auditorium on October 29, 30 and 31. There are 702 seats available, but 500 of these have been taken by the Ad Club and the Underwriters, leaving but 200 for sale. The lectures comprise a special course for men. Among the subjects dealt with are "Salesmanship, the World's Greatest Asset." On the last night "The Industrial Rest" will be explained.

With George Wenige as captain, the Ad Club is raising a team to take part in the Y.M.C.A. campaign which starts on October 6.

After an excellent meal the Brunswick trio delighted those present with its singing and music.

FIRST HOUSE FOR COMMISSION READY FOR ITS OCCUPANTS

Completed for $2,100, But Would Cost More Now.

The first house purchased through the London Housing Commission has been completed except for minor interior details. This is a dwelling which was erected for W. Bird on Price street. Work on it was commenced about three weeks ago and has gone steadily forward since then. It was completed at a cost of $2,100, but members of the housing commission estimate that a house of this type would now cost from $2,150 to $2,200 because of the increase in the price of building materials.

The housing commission will meet tonight. There are no special matters for discussion. The body is still awaiting the appointment of a new member to succeed John G. Richter, who resigned.

This cannot be made until the next meeting of the city council October 6.

HURON COLLEGE CLASSES ARE BIGGER THIS YEAR

There are a great many more applications for entrance into Huron College classes this year than last, according to the meeting of the Huron College Council, which was held this morning. This year there will be about 28 students as against 8 of last year, which, of course, does not come up to the pre-war enrollment. Of these, nine will be new men and the others last year's students and returned men, several of whom have entered to complete their course.

It has been found necessary to seek further accommodation for the students, in the attics of the Huron College Building.

TEACHERS FAVOR A UNION.

Paris, Sept. 25.—The teachers' congress has voted for the affiliation of a new teachers' union, with the general confederation of labor.

'MUST,' 'FORTHWITH' PROVE ANNOYING TO SOME CIVIC BODIES

Words Used by Council Are Not Appreciated.

DEMANDING IMPOSSIBLE?

Power of Education Board To Touch Estimates Is Questioned.

The friction between the city council and other governing bodies of the city has always existed to a greater or less extent, but it has once more increased to the point where it is posible it may break into flames.

The city council at its last meeting adopted a motion to the effect that all spending bodies of the city which expected to need a greater debenture issue than $25,000 next year "must submit estimates, forthwith." The two words, "must" and "forthwith" are the ones which are deemed to be incendiary.

Members of the governing boards of the city, other than the council, duly elected by the people to administer the affairs of their departments, do not relish having the city council tell them that they "must" do anything.

The board of education members in particular, questions whether they have the power to submit such an estimate. Half of that body will go out of office at the end of the year and new members will be elected. Some of the members maintain that the present body, therefore, has no power to draw up estimates for the coming year.

When the resolution comes before different bodies at their next meetings there may be some lively discussions.

FINAL BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP WILL COME ON SATURDAY

Postoffice and Manhattans To Settle Question.

Final arrangements for the final game in the fight for the amateur baseball championship of the city will be made tonight at a joint meeting of members of the Manhattan Club and the postoffice staff. The postoffice team is the champion in the Manufacturers' League, while the Manhattans have carried off the honors in the Inter-Club League.

These two champion teams will meet at Tecumseh Park Saturday, and the battle promises to be a royal one. The time of the game and other details will be settled tonight.

All receipts will be turned over to George Prodgers, a member of both clubs.

'GOLDIE' PRODGERS LOSES FINGER BY AMPUTATION

Had It Injured While Playing Ball Some Time Ago.

George ("Goldie") Prodgers, one of the city's most popular sportsmen, has had one of the fingers on his right hand amputated at Victoria Hospital. Some time ago his hand was injured when he caught a "pop fly" in a baseball game at Tecumseh Park. The injury was not thought to be serious, but developments made amputation necessary.

"Goldie" was best known through his hockey playing. He was the star of London's champion team and also played in Montreal.

GREAT RECEPTION GIVEN TO VETERANS BY STRATHROY FOLK

Gen. Currie and Major-Gen. Lindsay Present.

BANQUET IN THEATRE

Tributes Paid to All Who Contributed to the Allied Victory.

[By Staff Reporter.]

Strathroy, Sept. 25.—One of the largest, most brilliant and popular events of the year was held here last evening in the form of a banquet to Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, Major-Gen. W. Bethune Lindsay and the 150 nursing sisters and returned men of the town, by the chamber of commerce, in the Lyceum Theatre. Exceedingly successful in every respect, the ceremony started at 9 o'clock in the evening and lasted until the small hours of the morning, for after a six-course dinner came a lengthy toast list, which, though extensive, was thoroughly enjoyed.

Theatre Transformed.

Beautifully decorated tables took the places of the theatre chairs in the centre of the building, with two raised guest tables at either side, and the stage, also prettily decorated, formed a pleasing background to the scene. At intervals throughout the course of the evening a local orchestra played from the stage, and scores of ladies watched the proceedings from the balcony. Two chapters of ladies from the I. O. D. E. and representatives from the Women's Institute and the Mary Armstrong Chapter took charge of the banquet and were responsible for its success.

At the conclusion of the dinner the toast list was opened with a silent tribute to the honored dead, proposed by William Geddes, the chairman. This was followed by the response to the toast of "Our Country," by Hon. W. D. McPherson.

Got New Position.

Never before has Canada occupied such a prominent position in the world's standing, he stated, for before the war her reputation in Europe was insignificant, compared with that of the present time. From the thousands of miles of sparsely-populated territory, a wonderful, gallant army had been raised, equipped and sent overseas in record time, which had made further records for the country on the field of battle.

The speaker dealt with the renowned achievements of Canada during the war, and concluded by expressing the opinion that the future generation will acquit itself, if the occasion arises, just as gloriously as the boys who have recently been welcomed home. There must be greater efficiency in the arts of peace and the same devotion now as in the time of war.

Honors to All.

"The honors coming to the Canadian corps," said General Sir Arthur Currie, the next speaker, "should be equally shared by all in that corps, and not by any particular section, or by the officers, non-commissioned officers, staff officers or the general. I have been censured by a few because I was a strict disciplinarian, but I am not sorry now that I was strict, for without discipline you cannot trust a man on active service. Given the training necessary, the discipline, leadership, sound plans and the soldiers, the corps made a record second to none. The leadership meant a great deal, and our officers did lead—there were more casualties to officers in proportion than to any other rank. During the last few years of the war, the majority of the Canadian officers were chosen from the rank and file, from the men who had experience, from the n.-c. o.'s, who were the backbone of the whole corps.

"The sound physique of our men was outstanding, and when a Canadian got his teeth into anything, he held on with an endurance that was indomitable, and in addition, he possessed great cheerfulness, stoicism, initiative and resource. It is the duty of everyone, now that those boys are at home once more, to see that all returned men who are not employed and who wish to work (there are only a few who don't), be given a more remunerative position in civilian life than they held before the war. They are quickly settling down to the new life, and I am sure that the social, economic and national problems will be overcome now that Canada has discarded the suit of armor."

Gen. Currie then reiterated his statement on the Mons assault.

Engineers' Work.

Major-General W. B. Lindsay was the next to speak, in response to the toast to the honored guests. Because of the general addresses which had been delivered, the commander of the Canadian Corps of Engineers felt that a more specialized address concerning the work of the corps would be more in place. The purpose of the engineers in a general way was the application of engineering science to the exigencies of modern warfare—the accommodation of men and horses, defences, the construction of roads and railways, offensive and defensive mining, bridging, demolition, the supply and manufacture of engineering stores. The success of the corps, he said, was that it worked like a well-oiled machine. In France and England, from the best military critics of the world, he had never heard, as he alleges to have heard since his return, the question raised whether the Canadian corps had ever failed in any respect or whether it was skillfully led.

R. M. Trueman, M. P., replied to the toast to "Our Heroes," in an appropriate manner. He divided his remarks into three parts, and paid tribute to those who are under the white crosses and poppies in France and Belgium, to those who have returned, of whom the country is justly proud, and to the patient mothers, wives and sisters, of whom there are no grander heroes.

Tribute to Providence.

Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown, the A. A. G. of this military district, spoke on behalf of the army and navy in a telling manner. He stated that tribute should be paid to Providence more than to any individual, when people are praising the work done by the Canadians at the front. Many times has Providence intervened and assisted the boys. In an address full of rhetoric and highly entertaining, the officer spoke proudly of the British navy, that wonderful, silent arm of his majesty's forces, which played such a conspicuous part throughout the years of the conflict, and which safely escorted the Canadian troops across the ocean. Then he spoke of the glorious British army, the army that the Germans have called the "little contemptible army," and to which the British Empire can never repay its obligation.

The following addresses were made brief because of the lateness of the hour. Mayor L. H. Dampier replied to the toast to the town in a spirited and appropriate manner, and on behalf of the ladies E. Rowland delivered a fitting and humorous address.

DROWNED MAN WAS TO HAVE BEEN MARRIED ON WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

A tragic sequel to the story of the drowning of Pte. Charles Cuerden of the District Depot Unit, at Port Stanley on Tuesday evening, was unfolded yesterday afternoon in the office of Lieut.-W. J. Cuerden was, stating that he was to be married that afternoon, and that the bridal party had been waiting his appearance for almost two hours.

NOT EVEN COVERING FOR SOLDIER'S BODY IN STREET AT PORT

Conveyed in Open Wagon to Town Hall.

AUTHORITIES INDIGNANT

And Residents at the Lakeside Express Their Opinion in Decided Terms.

Considerable indignation has been expressed today by officers at military headquarters here regarding the manner in which the body of Pte. Charles Cuerden, drowned at Port Stanley on Tuesday night, was handled by the authorities at that place on Wednesday night. According to reliable information the body when found on the beach was taken charge of by Chief of Police H. McIntosh of Port Stanley, and after identity being established was placed upon a stretcher.

Not Even Covered.

The stretcher was then lifted on a flat wagon with no sides, and without even so much as a sheet to cover the remains, the wagon with its gruesome burden was drawn up William street and down the main street of Port Stanley to the town hall. Chief of Police McIntosh, it is alleged, sat on the end of the wagon with feet hanging over the edge, while everyone passing was permitted involuntarily to gaze upon the body, slightly bloated, and with a deep gash in the forehead, as it lay face toward the skies on the flat vehicle.

Residents Indignant.

Several residents of Port Stanley, who viewed the spectacle, were vehement in their condemnation of this mode of treatment of the body of a returned hero and their opinion is shared by officers at military headquarters here. "Even in France, under far different conditions," said one officer today, "the body of a soldier killed in action is covered with a blanket before being conveyed down the road for burial. Cuerden was a fine soldier, yet his body was treated as if it were so much junk by the Port Stanley police."

Another officer stated today that the law compels citizens to cover a dead horse when being taken through city streets, and all are severe in their condemnation of the conduct evinced yestrday at Port Stanley. The military authorities here will likely investigate the matter in the near future, as it has been reported to the A. A. G.

Mr. Simpson declared that it was time the trades unionists of Canada participated in the political movement. In this connection he referred to the political power of the labor party in England. Between four and five thousand trades unionists in Toronto had in recent weeks applied for affiliation with the Ontario Labor Party, he said.

Ben Tillett Speaks.

Counselling wisdom and patience in dealing with labor problems in Canada, Ben Tillett, the British Labor M. P., spoke of the great growth of the labor movement in Great Britain. He declared that the trades union movement embraced some 5,000,000 workers, whose power was increasing rapidly. Events in the old country, he said, were driving the various elements making up the movement together.

He then detailed the remarkable progress made by the so-called unskilled workers' union, including the dockers.

After a reference to the trials of the pioneers of the dockers' organization, Mr. Tillett declared: "And we now have the temerity to go before representatives of the Government and talk with an air of wisdom and confidence. We are inspiring a very healthy respect on the part of the other side, too. In fact it might be called a two-in-one movement."

Mr. Tillett then took up the political labor movement in Great Britain, pointing out that it included 2,000,000 trades unionists and a small percentage of extremists. The movement, he said, was based on a substantial organization with great ideals and which is able to wield tremendous power.

"We have got to have a keener sense of citizenship as well as a keen sense of the trades unionism," he said.

In humorous vein the British labor leader reviewed the different methods pioneers of the labor movement employed when endeavoring to obtain from British employers better conditions for their workers, comparing them with the attitude now adopted by employers towarsd their employees.

"I am not pandering to the powers that be when I say that we have been met with all possible courtesy," he said.

"The real power of the trades union movement is expressed in its organization," he reiterated. "We in Great Britain did more by organization than by all the talk of revolution that has prevailed for thirty years. Our class is not satisfied to be slaves of capitalists for ever."

Movement is Growing.

"Our movement is growing, and we will demand that this God-given earth shall belong to the children of ours yet to be born."

The war was over, he said, but another war is going on and would go on until a different kind of armistice is signed. A new trades union international had been formed, which, he hoped, would bring all workers of the world together.

It was in denouncing the conditions under which a great number of British workers live that Mr. Tillett stirred the congress to a high pitch of indignation.

Suffering through the stress of the war and now through its aftermath, millions of the mothers there were, he exclaimed, who would be unable to bring up anything but a "C-3" race.

RACE MEETINGS ARE NOT ATTRACTIVE IF BETTING IS BARRED

Commander J. K. L. Ross Gives Evidence At Large Racing Inquiry.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—If horse racing is to be entirely prohibited in Canada, it is my firm opinion that the breeding of thoroughbreds will be killed," said Commander J. K. L. Ross, owner of many famous race horses, in the course of evidence he gave this morning before J. G. Rutherford, who is investigating racing on behalf of the Dominion Government.

Mr. Ross had been asked this question by H. E. Raney, K.C., appearing on behalf of the social reform league.

"What public interests have been served by the amendment of the criminal code of 1910, when sanction was given to betting on race courses, either by bookmakers or pari-mutuel machines?"

By the expression "betting business," Mr. Raney said he meant just those two means of betting.

Commander Ross further contended that if betting in some form or another were not allowed it would be useless to have race meetings, and by sanctioning the "betting business" the authorities were only allowing horse racing to be carried on, and incidentally the breeding of good horses in the country to be carried on as well.

Pressed to express his opinion as to the best form of betting, book-making or pari-mutuel machines, Commander Ross replied that he thought pari-mutuel machines were better.

Greater Radiation & more heat from Banner firepot

IT is self-evident that a piece of steel, say, 9" x 12" will, when heated, radiate or throw-off more warmth than one measuring only 6"x8".

The same thing applies to the Banner Firepot as compared with that of other furnaces. Because the Banner firepot is flanged, its radiating surface is appreciably increased so that it is not only able to heat more air but to heat it more quickly—a double advantage which we are sure you will readily appreciate.

Of course, the flanges add strength to the firepot, too; so much so that we have never yet had to replace one. But the main thing for you to remember, in these days when fuel is high, is that the greater radiation of the Banner firepot will keep your home warmer and more comfortable with no greater consumption of coal.

Before deciding on a furnace, send for a copy of our booklet on "How to Choose a Furnace." It is not a big book. It won't take you long to read it. But it will at least make you well informed on things which many persons only think of when it is too late.

Happy Mothers

Many mothers who in order to keep the home neat and attractive, the children well fed and dressed, continually overdo.

The experience of motherhood alone causes a severe strain upon the system, from which many women recover slowly, and serious feminine disorders may develop unless great care is taken to prevent them.

To such women Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is invaluable. For many years this root and herb medicine has been recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills, restoring them to a normal, healthy condition.

Mrs. Walsh's Case

Avonport, N. S.—"I have obtained great benefit by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had five children and have taken the Vegetable Compound before each of them was born, except the first one, and if I was pregnant again I would take it. I was always troubled with a bearing down feeling when on my feet but since taking Vegetable Compound I feel a lot better. I hope you will publish this letter if it will help some other suffering women."

A Word to Childless Women

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in many cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial.

OPPOSITION LEADER DEMANDS PROBE OF VOTE MANIPULATION

Asks Parliamentary Committee To Investigate Telegram Requesting Allotment of One Thousand Soldier Votes At Large For Manitoba During Last Election.

OTTAWA, Sept. 24.—In the Commons, which did not meet until 4 o'clock this afternoon, out of respect to the memory of the late Hon. Frank Cochrane, third reading was given to the bill giving effect to the terms of the peace treaty.

Minor Government bills and questions were then taken up.

Mr. Guthrie presented a bill to ament the naturalization act of 1919. The bill gives to the court of general sessions of the peace in Ontario power to entertain applications for naturalliation.

The House then took up the proposed resolution of D. D. McKenzie, which asks for the appointment of a parliamentary committee to investigate the matters expressed or implied in an alleged telegram sent by Hon. Arthur Meighen to Sir Robert Borden, requesting the allotment of one thousand soldier votes to Manitoba. The translation of the telegram, which was sent in code, reads as follows:

"Would like one thousand soldier votes at large, of which three hundred for Selkirk, balance divided between Provencher, MacDonald and Springfield, or some proportion of division, no matter what our allotment may be."

Widespread Manipulation.

Mr. McKenzie, speaking in support of his resolution, said that there were two points in connection with the telegram to which he wished to refer. The first was that it indicated the existence of a widespread system of manipulation of votes under the direction of the ministers of the crown, for the purpose of defeating the will of the people. Secondly, it involved the honor of the ministers concerned.

He had hoped, said Mr. McKenzie, that it would be unnecessary to bring the matter before Parliament.

The telegram, he said, was not a new thing. Early in August two prominent men, one from Manitoba and the other from Ontario, had made use of this telegram from a public platform. Following this, he had thought that the parties concerned, claiming that the statements were slanderous, would bring the matters before the courts, but this had not been done. Therefore, he thought the responsibility devolved upon him, as leader of the Opposition, to have the matter thoroughly threshed out.

Ulterior Motive.

Shortly after the reading of the telegram in public, said Mr. McKenzie, an interview with the Hon. Arthur Meighen had appeared in the newspapers. In this interview the minister of the interior was alleged to have said that he did not recall sending the telegram, but that if he had done so there was nothing wrong with it, excepting that it had been stolen. He was safe, Mr. McKenzie supposed, in assuming that the minister accepted the paternity for the telegram. If it was a legitimate message issued in the ordinary course of business, why the mysterious code. Such a message should have been sent in plain language. The mystery suggested that there was some ulterior motive behind the telegram.

When the military voters' act had passed through the House it was suggested that this measure was created for the purpose of switching soldier votes, and Mr. McKenzie said it appeared as though the prophecy was being borne out. The soldier votes had, it appeared, been tampered with and the right of the Canadian people thereby violated.

Mr. McKenzie said it was a matter of regret that the resolution should come before the House when the sitting was to be so brief. He proposed to take up more than the available time and hoped the Government would not think he was taking any undue advantage. The exercise of the franchise by the elector was a judicial act, said Mr. McKenzie, and if the Government, by transferring votes, could defeat the will of the people in any one constituency then that was a condition which no civilized people could tolerate.

Prearranged Plan.

"Was this the first intimation the prime minister had that this telegram was coming?" asked Mr. McKenzie. He submitted that there must have been some prearranged plan, otherwise even a member of the cabinet would not have sent a telegram demanding the manipulation of votes in this bold manner.

Mr. Meighen had said there was nothing wrong with the telegram except that it had been stolen. Mr. McKenzie declared that it had not been stolen. The document was passed out of the inner cordon of the Unionist party and thence into the hands where it reposed at present. He could, if necessary, show the finger marks of the persons who had handled it and other evidence in connection with the sending of the telegram.

Mr. Meighen rose to remark that there was no time like the present, and asked Mr. McKenzie to produce his evidence now.

Mr. McKenzie retorted that he was not in the habit of carrying such documents about with him. If the honorable gentlemen on the other side of the House wanted to see that evidence they could constitute a proper court where there could be produced the man who sent the telegram, as well as the man who had handed it over to the present holder.

Something Rotten.

The sub-division of the country into constituencies was a protection to the Canadian people in voting, and if the franchise were to be given to non-Canadians then the party in power could always defeat the wishes of the people in a constituency. That, Mr. McKenzie claimed, was the purpose of the act and also of this telegram. He would not say that any one was guilty, but "it looks as though there is something rotten in the state of Denmark."

The leader of the Opposition said he had a statement from a man who was an official in England during the election and who had offered to appear and give evidence at any investigation which might be held. He refused to divulge the name of this gentleman, but said that he had declared he had voted seven hundred soldiers in one day. As it would take fully five minutes to perform the necessary work of registering each vote, Mr. McKenzie maintained that if the votes had been properly taken this particular day would have been some 59 hours in length.

An Impossible Task.

Col. John Currie interposed that the soldiers had filled out their own papers, and all the returning officer had to do was to swear the men. Mr. McKenzie retorted that he had read the law and preferred to take the law to any statement which might be made by any member of the House. He maintained that it was impossible for any returning officer to care for seven hundred voters in one day.

Mr. McKenzie also read a statement from the election official to whom he had previously referred. He did not give the official's name.

"I had my instructions," the statement read in part; "we all had our instructions from headquarters. What we should do was laid out fully by the orders of the returning officers. It was all cut and dried that the Liberals should not get one soldier's vote. Those were our instructions. I can tell you a thousand things you don't know. We got instructions every day from Ottawa as to where the votes were to be placed, and I have all the documents to prove what I am saying."

Fraud, of Course.

In case of a parliamentary inquiry, the statement went on, the documents would be produced. "Of course, it was fraud," the statement added, "but we only carried out our instructions."

As Mr. McKenzie concluded the reading of the statement, there were cries of "Preston" from the Government side of the House.

Mr. McKenzie—That is a statement made by a presiding officer who lives in Ottawa and is in the employ of the Government——

"Name, name," Government members called out.

Mr. McKenzie—Who is at their bidding at any time he may be called upon to give testimony as to the manner in which votes were manipulated on the other side of the water in connection with this election.

In conclusion Mr. McKenzie said that the power which should not have been exercised appeared to have been used by the Government in violation of democratic principles in order to win an election. It was sheer mockery to tell a people they were governing themselves when such manipulation was being carried ou.

At the conclusion of Mr. McKenzie's speech, Sir George Foster, who was leading the House, rose and suggested that, as there was only about a half-hour before 6 o'clock, members should agree to sit until Mr. Meighen had been given a chance to reply. It was only fair to give him as much time as had been consumed by Mr. McKenzie.

Meighen's Reply.

Hon. Arthur Meighen then proceeded. He stated in opening that Mr. McKenzie had occupied an hour and a quarter, the greater portion of which had been spent in talking about matters entirely irrelevant to the subject under discussion. He had not uttered a single sentence which showed that anything dishonorable had been done. Mr. McKenzie well knew, said Mr. Meighen, that if he was desirous of bringing charges against the honor of a member of the House there was a proper method to adopt. It was a method, however, which would place Mr. McKenzie's seat in jeopardy, and so the leader of the Opposition had cannily refused to take it.

When he recved word that the matter was to come up this afternoon, said Mr. Meighen, he had sent a letter to Mr. McKenzie requesting that the time at the disposal of the House should be divided evenly between the leader of the Opposition and himself. Mr. McKenzie had refused to this request, saying that he would take an hour and a half for his own speech.

What had the leader of the Opposition done in his speech, asked Mr. Meighen. He had not presented facts. He had no facts. He had not even the telegram about which the whole series of charges revolved. Even if he had a telegram, where was the signature.

No Recollection of It.

"I have said before, and I repeat now," said Mr. Meighen, "that I do not recall sending this telegram. I have absolutely no recollection of it. I do not think I sent it, because if I had done so it would not have been addressed to the prime minister. He was not the proper person to deal with such matters. But no matter who sent it, there was absolutely nothing wrong. When a man impugns the honor of another surely it devolves upon him to present facts, and this the leader of the Opposition has not done."

Mr. Meighen went on to say that the only thing wrong in the whole transaction was the theft of the telegram. Turning to the substance of the telegram, he stated that there were a certain number of soldiers overseas who had the right to choose the constituency in which they would vote. These men, however, must have been British subjects, who had at no time resided in Canada. The only way to give them the vote was to allow them to choose their constituency in which this vote would be applied. Mr. Meighen asked if the Opposition had suggested any better plan at the time the act was passed.

Not Sponsor for Act.

A. R. McMaster said that while he was not in the House at the time, he observed from Hansard that it had been suggested that the votes of these men apply in the countries in which they enlisted. Mr. Meighen replied that there were insurmountable objections to that plan. He said he was not sponsor for the act, but that it had not passed in the form in which it was introduced. That particular section had been drafted at a conference at which Opposition members were present, and they had not been able to suggest any better plan.

The Government had either to follow that system or disfranchise these men altogether, and who would say that these men had not earned the right to vote. The leader of the Opposition had said this afternoon that these men had no right to a vote. Mr. Meighen asked if the Opposition felt that enemy aliens were more entitled to consideration in this regard than British subjects who had sufficient interest in Canada to sacrifice their lives if necessary with the Canadian forces.

From ten to twelve thousand persons were affected by the clause covering "voters at large," and these were men who had enlisted mainly in the United States. The telegram in question asked for "votes at large" specifically. These men naturally would desire that their votes should be placed where they could be of the most benefit, and it was obviously the duty of the party organization which was in a position to do so, to inform these voters where their votes would be effective.

Cries of "Shame."

The Liberals had not taken much interest in informing the soldier voters, but they had shown a great interest in the slacker vote. There were cries of "Shame" from the Opposition, and Mr. McMaster rose to a point of order, saying that no member had the right to accuse another member or body of members of unworthy motives, which he held in this case were being imputed to the whole of the Opposition.

The Speaker said he had not heard the first portion of Mr. Meighen's remark, and in the second part he had heard no imputation of unworthy motives.

Mr. Meighen, continuing, said the chance of instructing voters was open equally to both sides, and if the Opposition had failed to take advantage then it was their own fault. The telegram in question contained no reference to improper transactions. It simply told where these votes could be used to the best advantage in Manitoba.

Mr. Meighen asked what reference there was in the telegram to "ballot switching," and asked: "Will the honorable member say that I had anything to do with the switching of ballots?"

Slanderous Statements.

Mr. McKenzie had said that a slanderous speech was made, and that Mr. Meighen should have taken action in court. Mr. Meighen said this was the first he had heard of any slanderous statements. He asked who had made the statements, and if they were slanderous.

"His friend said he thought they were made by Mr. Preston, and if that was the case I was quite safe in assuming that they were slanderous."

The terms of the act were perfectly clear, said Mr. Meighen, and there could be but one interpretation of the impression which had spread throughout the country that any soldier could transfer his vote wherever he liked. In the speeches of members of the Opposition and in the Liberal press this statement had been made, and as a result more than fifty thousand soldier voters had been disfranchised, and their votes were lost because of the spread of that impression. The interpretation had also been given in Liberal campaign literature. Mr. Meighen said he had done everything possible to make the law clear, and, as a consequence, the papers supporting the Government had made definite statements of the facts regarding this clause.

Mr. Preston.

Mr. Meighen started to read an advertisement in the Canadian Gazette, published in London, and said this was signed "W. T. R. Preston, on behalf of the Liberal candidates." Mr. Meighen asked who was Mr. Preston, and said that he did not know the gentleman.

"You didn't miss much," said one member, amid laughter, while another advised the minister of the interior to "cast your eyes upward."

Mr. McMaster rose at this point and called attention to the fact that it was 6 o'clock, at which time, under the rules of the House, adjournment should have taken place automatically, as it was Wednesday evening. There were cries of "Take your medicine," and "Shame." Mr. McMaster explained that he wished to be allowed to adjourn the debate after Mr. Meighen had finished. He did not want the minister's speech to go out to the country without being replied to.

Mr. Meighen referred to the understanding that he was to finish his speech, and declared the responsibility was Mr. McKenzie's. Mr. McKenzie denied any responsibility, and said he was quite willing Mr. Meighen should continue. The speaker called attention to the rule of the House regarding adjournment at 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening, and said that in that case the debate would be taken up again tomorrow.

No Shelving.

Mr. Fielding said there was no objection from the Opposition to continuing, but they wanted an assurance that the debate would be proceeded with, and not shelved after the adjournment this evening.

Mr. Meighen strongly criticized advertisements issued by Mr. Preston, who was appointed chief Opposition scrutineer in England, on the nomination of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. While in the pay of the Government, so far, at any rate, as expenses were concerned, Mr. Meighen said Mr. Preston was "chief propagandist of the Opposition, and carried on a campaign that was intended to deceive military voters to the extent of about fifty thousand votes."

Mr. Meighen cited particularly a statement issued by Mr. Preston in regard to the floating vote. Mr. Preston divided the vote into three divisions, "all of which were wrong, and grossly wrong, and resulted in the disfranchisement of thousands of soldiers."

In Springfield, Mr. Meighen went on, 532 military votes were rejected for the reasons he had given. Had these voters not been misled by Mr. Preston's instructions they would have voted in Provencher, and the present member, Dr. Molloy, would not now be in the House.

No Wrong Whatever.

No wrong whatever had been perpetrated, Mr. Meighen proceeded, but if there was wrongdoing, the responsibility lay, not with the Government, but with the general returning officer, and three months after the election Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the House said that in his opinion, Mr. O'Connor, the general returning officer, was an able, fair and honorable servant of the public, incapable of doing what he knew to be wrong. Mr. Meighen understood also that Mr. O'Connor had been complimented by Mr. Lemieux and by Mr. King, who, "in the clash for competing ambitions, was tossed to the post of outside leader of the outside party."

There was no question as to the strict fairness with which the work of the general returning officer was conducted by Mr. O'Conner. So far as Mr. Meighen knew, not one complaint or a single charge had been made against him.

Mr. McKenzie's object in bringing up the matter, said Mr. Meighen, appeared to be a desire for newspaper circulation of the charge that there had been some terrible switching of votes. He did not wonder that the leader of the Opposition had been so discreet as to abstain from preferring a direct charge.

BARES FAULTY ADMINISTRATION OF O. T. A. LAW

PROMISES TO VETERANS

Soldiers at Kapuskasing in Sorry Plight—Free Medical Service and Schools Missing.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, Sept. 24.—A comprehensive review of the policies upon which the Liberals of Ontario stand firmly, coupled with a scathing denunciation of the attitude of the Government in Ontario towards many of the most important issues of the day featured the address here this evening of H. H. Dewart at a big Liberal rally.

In his customary vigorous manner, Mr. Dewart flayed the Government for its shortcoming, and warned the electors against accepting promises from a Government which had ample opportunity to accomplish these things which it promises on the eve of an election, had ample time to right these wrongs which Mr. Dewart recited, but had failed to do so. Rather hearken to the policy of a party drawn up and adopted after due consideration by representatives from all ridings in the province in open convention, and at a time when there was no political campaign in the immediate future, said Mr. Dewart. He reviewed that policy, and outlined its comprehensive nature.

BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

F. W. Hay declared that his policy, if elected, would be to deal with questions as a businessman towards the business proposition. He referred to the great responsibility in respect to the returned men, especially those who are unable to take care of themselves.

"We in Ontario have so much to be thankful for; we have such a wonderful heritage, and we should give little concern to the mercenary consideration so long as it is going to relieve those to whom we owe our present day existence," he said.

"We need in Ontario a general awakening. There is a desire in the minds of the people for smaller representation in parliament. We are overcrowded in the Dominion as well as in the province."

Mr. Hay said there was no reason why a farmer should not represent North Perth, but he did not believe in class legislation. A farmer should have a stronger appeal for support than merely that he is a farmer. Two measures Mr. Hay felt necessary were employment insurance and old-age pensions.

O. T. A. Administration.

Mr. Dewart made an exhaustive review of the record of the Government in the matter of administration of the Ontario temperance act. It had been claimed that in making his charges he was actuated by motives antagonistic to the act. However, after he had recalled some of the conditions under which the act was being administered, as revealed at the investigation in Toronto, the applause of the audience showed clearly that they were in sympathy with him in his declaration that his actions were solely in the interest of the country and of the act itself.

During the course of his address, Mr. Dewart made a stinging attack on Sir William Meredith, whom he described as "the favorite child," and had, he said, sat on some twelve different commissions, and received from the Government over $40,000, while at the same time he received $9,000 a year for performing the duties of chief justice.

Applause From Audience.

"Do you approve, or are you determined that this shall not occur again?" asked Mr. Dewart amid applause from the audience.

The Government claimed a surplus of $1,800,000, but Mr. Dewart showed how the Liberals had forced them to collect proper taxes, amounting in two years to more than the entire surplus claimed in 1918. Where would the Government surplus have been had it not been for the Liberals, he asked. The Government had also claimed credit for the large increase in succession duties, but Mr. Dewart could not see the Government connection with the act of the Almighty in calling by death more moneyed men in 1918 than formerly.

Mr. Dewart was merciless in his condemnation of the failure of the Government to deal with the combines, and traced this failure back to 1905, when a halt was called to the investigations and prosecutions of Walter Curry, who found 33 combines to exist in Toronto. When it was found that A. E. Kemp, now Sir Edward Kemp, was head of one of these combines the prosecutions were suddenly called off by the Government, and Curry resigned.

Failed to Prosecute.

He declared that the reason for the failure of the prosecution of profiteers at the present time was the close relationship of the profiteers with the Government.

"Do you think that had there been an effective clean-up and conditions laid bare there would not have been different conditions today?" he asked. "Once a highwayman knows he can pursue his trade without molestation he becomes worse. The same applies to the capitalists." Mr. Dewart caused a smile in the audience when, in discussing the cold storage business, he related how his wife had sent for a spring chicken and found its gizzard and cold storage houses.

He referred to the "Big Five" packing combination at Toronto and called for Government ownership of abattoirs frozen stiff.

Conditions at Kapuskasing.

The Government's re-establishment system came in for its share of condemnation as Mr. Dewart recited the conditions existing at Kapuskasing in Northern Ontario and Harty and Kitigan, settlements nearby. Nearly half a million had been expended at Kapuskasing to establish 77 soldiers, and almost every promise made to them had been broken.

They had been promised competent instructors in agriculture, but got none. There were no schools at either Harty or Kitigan, and settlers who worker at these centres either had to leave their families at Kapuskasing and trudge back to them every weekend or have their children deprived of schooling.

At Harty, he said, there were fourteen such children. At Harty there were no stores, no dormitory, no telephone, no doctors. They promised free medical attendance, but there was no doctor available even at Kapuskasing except a military doctor from the internment camp, and he charged for his services. The men were to have been supplied with horses, cattle and implements, but the former are limited and the latter non-existent.

N. OXFORD LIBERALS TO PICK CANDIDATE WOODSTOCK OCT. 4

Hartley Dewart To Speak—Woodworkers Want Increase.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 24.—The Liberals of North Oxford will meet in mass meeting here October 4, for the purpose of choosing a candidate for the Legislature. Owing to the fact that the election is only four weeks off, the executive decided to dispense with a convention. The meeting will be addressed by Hartley Dewart, Liberal leader; J. A. Calder, M. P. P. for North Oxford, and others. The names of several Woodstock men are mentioned as possible candidates, prominent among these being Dr. Sinclair and George F. Mahon. However, it seems more than likely that J. A. Calder, the sitting member, will receive the nomination.

Prominent members of the U. F. O. state that they will place a candidate in the field to oppose Mr. Calder. The Conservatives are working quietly, and their decision to place a man in the field will depend on the outcome of the Liberal meeting. A prominent Conservative stated today that R. E. Butler would again be the candidate of the party, but no confirmation of this statement is forthcoming.

Aches and Pains of Rheumatism Sometimes Almost Unbearable.

There are weather conditions that make rheumatism worse. They are not the same in the cases of all persons. Some victims of this disease suffer more in dry, warm weather than in moist cold weather, but all suffer more or less all the time.

The cause of rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints. Hence the blood must have attention for permanent results in the treatment of this disease.

What Thin Folks Should Do To Gain Weight

Good Advice for Thin Men and Women.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently-discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Saltogyn. The best strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is indorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere.

A month's systematic use of Saltogyn should produce flesh to the extent of at least 10 pounds of correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided.

NOTE.—While Saltogyn has given excellent results in the treatment of nervous indigestion, it should not be taken longer than five days at a time by those who are not willing to gain at least ten pounds in weight.—Advt.

SAVE YOUR TEETH FROM PYORRHOEA

Before They Loosen and Fall Out—Tender, Bleeding Gums Are Warning Signals of Dangerous Riggs Disease—How to Treat at Home.

Don't lose your teeth from Pyorrhoea or Riggs' Disease. It's unnecessary now. There is no reason why everybody cannot have good firm teeth and healthy gums and be free of the humiliation of sore, diseased gums and unsightly, decaying teeth.

You needn't have your teeth pulled or wear false ones. Simply go to Standard Drug Company or Taylor Drug Company, or any live local druggist, and ask for one ounce of Epithol—remember the name, E-P-I-T-H-O-L, and use it as directed.

This is the prescription of a famous New York dentist, and it seems to work like magic on loose teeth and sore, tender, inflamed, receding, shrunken, spongy, bleeding or pus-discharging gums. Teeth tighten and the gums grow sound and healthy, and the bleeding pus discharge soon stops. Both dentists and users are amazed at the wonderful improvement it brings so quickly.

All the druggists named above dispense Epithol on the positive guarantee that unless it gives satisfactory results the money paid for it will be refunded. This makes its trial a safe and easy matter and certainly proves its value. —Advt.

HEARST TAKES THE PLUNGE.

After prolonged hesitation that has caused widespread exasperation amongst the voters of the province of every political complexion the Hearst Government has finally issued the order for a provincial general election for October 20, the date on which the referendum ballot will be taken. The delay in setting a date is a strong indication that the Government has been fearful of taking the plunge. The aggregation at Queen's Park has been anything but a happy family for some time. There have been quarrels and friction that has, it is authoritatively stated, frequently gone to the length of open rebellion. Lacking the united spirit that goes with success there has been nervous stalling, a putting off of the issue until the very last moment. One element in the cabinet has been tied up to the corporation interests. Another has fallen in behind Sir Adam Beck, who is openly rebellious to any cabinet supervision of his stupendously costly hydro-electric schemes. That this demoralization exists we have on the word of Colonel Pratt, the Conservative member for South Norfolk, who has publicly declared that twenty-seven Conservative members of the Legislature have refused to follow further Premier Hearst's leadership.

The Liberal candidates will go to the people unitedly for progress and prosperity, for advanced legislation along all lines of public service and activities, and they are fortunate in being led by the most outstanding figure in the political life of the province today. Mr. Dewart has shown himself a hard-hitting, two-fisted, skilful fighter, whose lead the party candidates can follow without hesitation. His vigorous and searching exposures placed the Government on the defensive from the beginning, and kept it there. He has shown by the most careful investigation that the soldier land settlement has been grossly mishandled and his arraignment of the Government for the export of nickel to the enemy is unanswerable, to mention two of the bigger sins of the Government.

The polling on October 20 will carry more than the usual uncertainty that attaches to elections, because of the three-cornered contest in many constituencies, due to nominees of the United Farmers of Ontario. After the last general election on June 29, 1914, the parties stood: Conservatives 84, Liberals 25, Independent Liberal 1, Labor 1. Today the standing is: Conservatives 76, Liberals 30, United Farmers 2, with two Conservative and one Labor seat vacant. The latest count of the nominations in the present contest shows 44 Conservatives, 47 Liberals and 57 United Farmers.

A JUVENILE COURT.

There should be a general response to the efforts of the London Rotary Club looking to the establishment of a juvenile court in this city. The law is designed to be corrective, to guard society by punishing offenders, to warn those who may be tempted to stray from the narrow path, but it is not vindictive. The hardened criminal suffers severe punishment, the first offender is let off easier because it is desired to give everyone a fighting chance. Why then should a boy or girl who in a youthful burst of folly or because of lack of proper training commits a minor offence be thrown, at times, into a cell grim with the atmosphere of drunkenness, theft or even murder and be haled before the court which dispenses justice to sodden men and disreputable women?

A merciful law protects thoughtless boys and girls from undesirable notoriety. London's magistrate deals with them with all possible consideration and kindness, either in his own office or in a closed court. He saves them from the eyes and gossip of the curious, but after all the boy who in a spirit of bravado, without appreciation of the error of his deed, smashes a window or "pinches" a wheel, realizes that he has been before the magistrate who deals with real "bad men," and in his folly thinks that some day he, too, may be in the near Jesse James class. This is the way of many a boy which the juvenile court atmosphere tends to correct.

Whatever the reason the records show that London committed more children to jail in 1918 than any other city in the province, the number being twenty-two. The many cases coming before the magistrate make his duties onerous and he should be relieved of them. Moreover, if Toronto with ten times the population, has fewer committments than London, the virtue of the juvenile court is well demonstrated.

London organizations should take this question up and at the same time consider the wisdom of combining with it a woman's court.

THE STORY OF CARL PARKER.

A very human story with a timely message is "An American Idyll," by Cornelia Stratton Parker. It is the story of her husband, Carleton Parker, who died in March, 1918, at the age of forty, on the threshold of what promised to be a remarkably useful career. Those who have read the book will agree that there is difficulty in determining which has the greater interest, the romantic life of the Parkers or the threads of economic teaching that appear all through it. As a love story it is typically American in its joyousness amidst hardship and adventure, in its lightheartedness and enthusiasm for life.

Parker's knack in getting along with men brought him as a youth into contact with the radical labor organizations of the west and his knowledge was later used by the federal and state governments in dealing with labor troubles, particularly after the United States entered the war. He was secretary of the immigration and housing commission of California for a time, a member of the teaching staff of the University of California and was later called to establish a department of economics at the University of Washington. His work there was cut short by the government's insistent demands that he act as mediator in extensive strikes on the Pacific coast. He was overworked by his many duties, fell a victim to pneumonia and died with his lifework only begun.

"He gave as a federal mediator," says one of his appreciators, "all his unparalleled knowledge and understanding of labor and its point of view. That knowledge, that understanding, he gained not by academic investigation, but by working in mines and weeds, in shops and on farms. He had the trust and confidence of both sides in disputes between labor and capital; his services were called in wherever trouble was brewing. Thanks to him strikes were averted; war-work of the most vital importance threatened by misunderstanding and smouldering discontent went on."

Parker had a distinct theory of his own, a theory by the way which has advanced materially even since his death. He protested against orthodox economics for its refusal to incorporate into its weighings and appraisals the facts and hypotheses of modern psychology. "The sin of economics," he said, "has been the divorce of its work from reality, of announcing an analysis of human activity with the human element left out." He believed that human conduct tended to become more intelligible and more amenable to control as it was viewed in the light of an understanding of the instinctive mainsprings of action. He believed that the causes of the conduct of individuals and groups was knowable, that human nature was subject to law and that, if subject to law, it could be controlled if the causes of conduct were controlled.

A good example of Parker's work and of his viewpoint may be found in his article on the I. W. W., which appeared in the staid old Atlantic Monthly for November, 1917, an article which probably made some of the Atlantic's readers rub their eyes in astonishment when they first noticed the title in the table of contents. His judgment on the "Wobbly" movement is interesting:

> "The American I. W. W. is a neglected and lonely hobo worker, usually malnourished, and in need of medical care. He is as far from being a scheming syndicalist, after the French model, as the imagination might conceive. . . . The characteristic of the I. W. W. movement most worthy of serious consideration is the decay of the ideals of thrift and industry. . . . It is a natural psychic outcome of a distressing and anti-social labor condition. The I. W. W. . . . is but a phenomenon of revolt. The cure lies in taking care of its psychic antecedents; the stability of our republic depends on the degree of courage and wisdom with which we move to the task."

Short as was his career, Parker started a movement that is already bearing fruit. In his first report upon a labor riot he analyzed the situation back to the conditions of living, and concluded that those responsible for these conditions were responsible for the deadly outbreak. This incident attracted wide attention to his ideas, for the reason that, acting as a clinical physician, he not only diagnosed but prescribed and cured. That his ideas are being extended and applied by others is already evident. In the preface to his new book, "Instincts in Industry," Mr. Ordway Tead says that it was at Parker's suggestion that he first undertook this important study of employment conditions in which he has made employers' observations scientific and psychologists' observation practicable.

DANGERS OF MORE WAR.

Flume is not the only point in Europe from which there is danger of a new war springing. The cables from London tell of a serious difference between Belgium and Holland that has brought about the withdrawal of diplomatic representatives of the two nations. An outbreak of hostilities may not result from the quarrel, as it is certain that the great powers will go to extreme lengths in order to prevent an armed clash, but the relations between the two countries are greatly strained and unless this tension can be relieved there will remain a bitterness and antagonism that may at some later hour burst into active warfare.

Possession of the district of Limburg, a piece of land belonging to Holland, ten miles wide and thirty miles long, which lies between Germany and Belgium, with the River Meuse as the dividing line, is the heart of the trouble. Before the war this strip of land was of little use to Belgium, as she had the powers' guarantee of protection from invasion as a neutral state. Now, however, that she is no longer in a position of immunity, Belgium insists upon holding Limburg as a barrier to any future attack, and this demand, of course, meets with the strenuous opposition at The Hague. Furthermore, Belgium objects to the Dutch retaining control of the south shore of the Scheldt. The possession of both of these strips are of immense strategic importance to both countries, but more particularly to the Belgians. Holland, needless to say, cannot see why she should surrender any area, as she remained strictly neutral throughout the struggle.

Belgium is in an unfortunate position over the matter, and will carry a large amount of sympathy in the dispute, but as a matter of cold justice Holland's claims can hardly be denied. In the interest of keeping the peace so hardly won Holland may be persuaded by the Allied council to make some concessions to Belgium and remove a sore that might easily become a festering peril. At any rate the incident is another vivid instance showing the necessity for some such body as a league of nations. Will Senator Lodge and his band of peace treaty wreckers please take notice?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The attempt of the steel workers to shut down the mills is really a "show down" between capital and labor.

A Government devoid of scandal, with clean hands and an honest appeal.—London Free Press.

Yes, that would be a pleasant change. By all means, let's have it.

From Here and There

MAKING DIAMONDS FROM EXPLOSIVES.

As a result of the war almost everyone will be able to wear diamonds! This startling statement means that the high explosives which have been discovered and used in the war may now be used for the purpose of manufacturing diamonds on a large scale, thus bringing these glittering precious stones within the reach of a large number of people.

Diamonds are merely carbon crystallized by enormous pressure, usually, it is believed, through the gases generated in volcanic eruptions crystallizing small particles of burning trees. The carbon contained in iron has frequently been turned into tiny diamonds in the process of smelting.

Although identical with the diamonds formed by nature, stones accidentally formed in this manner are so small that they are valueless. The diamonds that the great French chemist, Moisson, manufactured were also of no commercial value, and for some years it was believed that it would be impossible to manufacture diamonds large enough to be of value through lack of concentrated power to develop the required pressure.

The war has solved this problem. Explosives have been used that exert a pressure of 95 tons to one inch. Carbon, rendered white hot through the medium of oxygen or electricity, and subjected to this pressure, crystallizes instantly, and is transformed into a pure diamond. Until shortly before his death, the late Professor Sir William Crookes was conducting highly successful experiments in diamond making by this method.

AN ADAMLESS EDEN.

[Hamilton Spectator.]

London, Ont., has established a precedent in the purchase of a park for the use of women only. It remains to be seen, however, if the dear girls will acclaim enthusiastically this advent of "an Adamless Eden."

MELODIES FOR MALADIES.

And it came to pass, when the evil spirit from God was upon Saul, that David took an harp, and played with his hand: so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him.—I. Samuel, xvi., 23.

It is in these words that the Bible describes the first "musical prescription," taken by King Saul in 1063 B. C.—just 2,982 years ago—when David, the youthful harpist, with the magic of his lyre, soothed the troubled ruler.

Today—nearly 3,000 years later—a whole nation can become "refreshed and well," even as King Saul was by the magic of music, in the opinion of Mrs. Ira Maud Ilsen, director of hospital music in reconstruction hospitals for the American Red Cross, and occupant since last winter of the chair of musico-therapy at Columbia University, New York city, if people everywhere take seriously this famous scriptural narrative, which is held to be the first authentic account of the therapeutic action of music extant.

Mrs. Ilsen says she hopes the time will come when every hospital will have its musical director. Already, she says, a hospital in Allentown, Pa., requires its nurses to take a two-year course in voice culture to qualify for work in that institution.

"Trying to co-ordinate music with living and making the former the greatest possible instrument for Americanization," are the summarized objectives of Mrs. Ilsen, who holds a unique and exclusive place in her particular field of endeavor.

Prior to the time when the reconstruction hospitals were placed in charge of the Red Cross, Mrs. Ilsen carried on her work of applying music in the treatment of the wounded under the commission on training camp activities of the war department. Accepting the entertainment possibilities of music as a matter of course, this "musical physician" has been primarily interested in its psycho-physiological effects on patients who have been the victims of disorders and disabilities as a result of the war.

For years before the outbreak of hostilities, Mrs. Ilsen applied her scientific training and musical skill in a series of experiments on the afflicted in prisons, insane asylums and homes for the incurable and feeble-minded, as well as in divers large industrial plants, and the experience in these places was brought to bear when the test came in the military hospitals of Canada, where she served first at the beginning of the war. Last year she returned to the United States as director of hospital music under war department auspices.

Thus, in view of the success of Mrs. Ilsen's experiments, strictly to be up to date, you should have a fling at musical therapy. If you suffer from sciatica shell shock, or lumbago or housemaid's knee, take a harmonic prescription. A barcarolle or a sonata may bring you out of the slough of despond into new life. If you are a victim of insomnia, try a serenade.

If this has a flippant sound, it is not because the practitioners of the new system of healing do not take it seriously. They have even formulated a set of "don'ts" for a musical physician. For instance:

Do not wear sombre colors or evening dress; wear something light and dainty.

From which one gathers that the practitioners are feminine. Fancy Caruso in "something light and dainty"! But there is nothing in the rules to prevent a male from practicing "the slow, sweet surgery" of singing to an ailing patient.

In making her experiments to determine the various effects of music on patients, Mrs. Ilsen used none of the accepted scientific instruments, such as the plethmograph, pneumograph, argograph and dynamometer.

The nature and extent of the "musical application" in every case Mrs. Ilsen determined after she had made a simple examination of the patient. As a result of her wide experiments in this little explored field of scence, Mrs. Ilsen has devised the following "musical prescriptions," which, she says, have been of particular value in her hospital work and the diseases they are designated to cure:

Insomnia—Music: "Spinning Maiden," Raff; "Ave Maria," Schubert (violin); "Mammy's Song," Ware; "Serenade," Schubert; "Reverie," Schutt.

Hysteria—Music: Barcarolle, "Tales of Hoffmann"; "Moonlight Sonata," first movement. Beethoven; "To a Wild Rose," Macdowell.

Rheumatism—Music: "Toccata," Bach; "Rondo," sonata, opus 53; presto con fuoco, opus 31, No. 3; rondo from sonata, opus 49, No. 1; minuet from opus 49, No. 2, Beethoven.

Dyspepsia—Music: "La Cinquintaine," Gabriel Marie; "Tambourin Chinois," Kreisler; "Love's Joy," Kreisler; "Hungarian Dances," Brahms; "Spanish Dance," Sarasate; "Hungarian Etude," Macdowell; "To the Sea," Macdowell; "Prelude," Rachmaninoff; "Mazurka," 'A minor, Chopin; "Spring Waltz," D flat major, Carreno; "Marche Grotesque," Sinding; "Invitation to the Waltz," Weber.

Neurasthenia and Shell Shock—Music: "Melody in F, Rubenstein; "Meditation from Thais," Massenet: "Spinning Song," "Spring Song," Mendelssohn; "March from Mignon," Poldini; "Love's Joy," Kreisler; "Hungarian Dance," Brahms; "The Lass With the Delicate Air," Arne; "Song of the Brook," Burleigh"; "Jocelyn Lullaby," Godard; "Fairy Lullaby," Mrs. Beach, opus 37, No. 3.

Incurable Diseases—Music: "Spring Song," in F, Mendelssohn; "At the Brook," Schutt; "Over the Hills and Far Away," children's march, Grainger; "Fantaisie," Bach; waltzes, opus 39, Nos. 1, 2, 8, 9, 11, 13, 14, 15, Brahms. Songs: "Laughing Song," from "Manon," Ober; "Ecstasy," Rogers; "Let Miss Lindy Pass," W. L. Rogers; "Didn't It Rain," Burleigh; "I Love You Truly," Carrie Jacobs Bond; "A Proposal," Scott; "Coming Through the Rye," "My Dear Jerushy," Jessie Gaynor; "The Old Plaid Shawl," Haynee; "Twickenham Ferry," "O Night of Love," Offenbach; "The Gondolier," Nevin; "La Paloma." Sousa marches, cheerful Irish, English and Scotch ballads.

Tuberculosis—The music for tuberculosis patients should be divided into three sections, namely, for patients who are running a high temperature and ordered by the physician to keep extremely quiet, speaking in whispers, and sleeping as much as possible. The music chosen should be of a very soft character, not any climaxes, syncopated rhythm or music possessing an incentive quality.

Where the patient is not running a very high temperature, is inclined to be depressed, and yet cannot take much exercise, the music should be of a cheerful, joyous nature, and ofttimes, if the doctor gives his permission, it is found very effective to get the patient interested in strumming on a light stringed instrument, such as the ukulele, and guitar or a mandolin.

When fibrosis is set up and the patient is very restless because of enforced activity, the question of morale comes into play. The music then may have the incentive quality added. Be particular in choice of keys and compositions to avoid anything of a depressing nature.

No musical instrument should ever be given to any patient without the doctor's consent, especially wind, or a violin would prove disastrous at certain stages of the disease.

Mrs. Ilsen always works in conjunction with physicians and surgeons, and has devised a set of rules to govern the activities of the "musical nurse" in charge of the case.

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

ON PICKET DUTY.

[By Izola Forrester.]

Nancy had waited for the Carrolls all day long at the little village that lay on the east side of Mount Agonac. She knew there could be no mistake. Lois had written the directions down for her painstakingly that last day in Washington.

"Don't stop over in New York. Change at Grand Central for Adirondack express. Take shuttle from Pennsylvania to Grand Central. Run no risks at all of getting mixed up. Go to Eltinge Falls. Wait in Haddon's Inn for John and myself. Will arrive on 2:19."

It was so typical for Lois to treat her as if she were nine instead of seventeen. Just as though she might have strayed along the way. She sat on the upper porch of the old wooden hotel staring rebelliously off at the wonderful panorama below her—a slim, medium-sized girl in dark blue traveling suit that only accentuated the bright red gold of her hair.

Two trains from the south came and went with no sign of her sister or John. Finally she went down in the cool, quiet dining-room and ate a lonely dinner. She didn't know where to wire them. They were to have left Washington directly after she did, stop over an hour in Philadelphia to see John's people, and come straight on up.

As she stared anxiously down at her dessert of apple pie and whipped cream, the plump boy from the office laid a telegram beside her. It was from Lois. She tore it open thankfully, and gasped.

"Absolutely impossible to leave tonight. P etsie has measles. Go to lodge until we come. Get Mrs. Dupre.

"LOIS."

Petsie! That was John, Jr., aged four years, the ruler of an absolute monarchy. And measles meant at least four weeks. Nancy set her lips firmly and frowned at the apple pie. All her vacation plans gone to smash because Petsie had caught the measles somehow at the very last minute. He had been fretful and cross for several days, and a little feverish, but Lois had said it was just the heat in Washington. He would be all right as soon as they got to the mountains. And now Nancy was doomed to spend four weeks in this place. The boy lingered at the door talking to the head waitress. She smiled at him invitingly, and he came back.

Did he know any person in the neighborhood named Mrs. Dupre? He grinned at her reassuringly. Sure he did. He was Joe Dupre himself. His mother helped cook at the hotel in the rush time. Other times she cooked in camps. Nancy finished her pie in peace, and after dinner Joe took her out around the old flagged walk of the hotel garden to find his mother. She was a little, dark-skinned, French-Indian woman, with big, somber dark eyes, and a smile like Joe's. And she understood perfectly Nancy's plight. It was nothing, she assured her. They would go up to the camp in the morning and take Joe with them to cut wood and carry water and make trips back for mail and groceries.

"Is there anybody at all living near us?" asked Nancy. John had mentioned bears casually, she remembered suddenly.

"Only Andre Mandego. He is Mr. Hollister's guide, ver' good guide. No bother us."

Thus reassured Nancy had taken possession of the lodge to wait on Petsie's spell of measles. It wasn't half as bad as she had imagined. The lodge overlooked a beautiful mountain lake. There was a huge fireplace on the wide porch, and in the living-room low bookcases built in everywhere filled with books that Johnny had had sent up for their vacation.

But the lake lured her. Joe found an old boat that had done duty in past summers, and tried to patch it up for her, but still it leaked somewhat. She learned how to paddle as well as row, and liked Joe's canoe better than the old tug, as she named the rowboat. And the third week, as she paddled cautiously around close inshore, she discovered the rising smoke from another campfire. Doubtless it came from Mandego's place, she thought, and paddled on without curiosity. After all, doing picket duty wasn't so bad. She rather enjoyed the responsibility.

And suddenly she heard a peculiar sound in the water behind her, a heavy swish and deep breathing. Just one glance back at the dark shaggy head lifting from the water, and Nancy would have fainted if it had not been for some good old pioneer strain far back that held her steady. But it was a bear and a large one, and paddling steadily in the wake of the canoe. She couldn't swim at all, and the distance to shore seemed a mile, when it was barely a stone's throw. Trying to keep her nerve and strength, she paddled faster, faster, but the bear gained on her, and all at once her paddle struck a sunken tree, caught and snapped in half.

"Don't jump. Keep quiet!"

The voice came from the shore, but Nancy had covered her face with her hands. It was a tragic moment, and yet for the life of her she couldn't keep out of her head a crazy little rhyme the girls had said at school:

"Algy met a bear,
And the bear was bulgy,
And the bulge was Algy."

There came the crack of a rifle and a floundering in the water behind her; then a canoe slipped out from shore and a man sent a second shot into the bear, killing it. Nancy looked up, her hands still on her face. He was white and young, and very good looking. And the worst of it was he didn't appear one bit concerned over her. He was too busy throwing a rope over the bear to tow it in behind him.

"Wonder if he'll swamp me," he laughed. "Some bear, isn't he. You were corking, the way you led him in for me."

"I didn't want to lead him," said Nancy with a sense of outraged dignity. "He was chasing me, you know!"

"Well, you kept your head, anyway. Some girls would have fallen overboard the minute they saw him. My name's Jack Hollister, and I think we're neighbors. You're Miss McAlarney, aren't you? I've heard Lois and John speak of you. Are they up at the lodge?"

The two canoes came into shore side by law. Nor for anything would Nancy have confessed how shaky she felt every time she stole a look back at the dead bear—not with his debonair Nimrod chatting to her as if they had met at some happy, cozy little tea in town.

Mrs. Dupre took the news also stolidly, merely nodding her head.

"He one ver' fine man," she said fervently. "He kill all bear."

Two weeks later Lois arrived with a pale, chastened Petsie and a wearied, harassed John in tow. Nancy met them at the falls station, tanned and perfectly happy, with a strange object dangling around her neck, polished, curved claws strung Indian fashion on a thong of deer hide.

"You poor, lonely, forsaken child!" exclaimed Lois. "Did you think we were never coming? What on earth are those claws for?"

"They're a symbol of romance," said Nancy, placidly. "The bear nearly ate me——"

"Bears don't eat people," interrupted John, bluntly. "You don't have to go any farther. Jack's written to me, and we—Lois and Petsie and myself—have agreed to permit him to protect you from all bears in the future. I've known him since he was ten, and when Lois asked you up this year she hoped——"

"John!" Lois's tone was final. Nancy laughed softly, her fingers holding the claws.

"But the bear really started it," she said.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

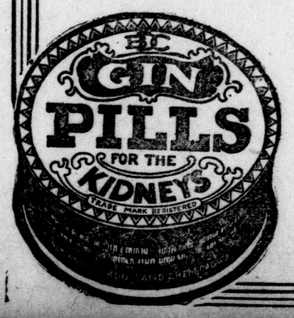
"Instead of Going to the Hospital"— writes Mr. Lewis MacPherson, from Halifax, N.S., "I sent for a box of Gin Pills—with the result that I am a well man. I recommend Gin Pills to everyone suffering from kidney trouble."

Mr. MacPherson had suffered untold misery, and, after treating with the best medical help available for 10 months he decided to go to Victoria Hospital, Halifax. He had inflammation of the kidneys and bladder. Two days before his intended departure a neighbour called and gave him some Gin Pills. "Six hours after taking the first dose", he writes, "the effects were simply miraculous". Then he sent for a box of Gin Pills and was cured.

This is just one of the many instances which are being brought to our notice continually. People, out of pure joy and gratitude for release from pain, write these letters to us. What Gin Pills have done for them they can do for you.

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

The formula on which Gin Pills are prepared was attained only after long and profound study and experimenting. It is unique. It embraces the beneficent properties of the Juniper in the Gin, but eliminates all the alcohol. Combined with seven other diuretics and antiseptics, it goes right to the seat of the trouble, allaying the congested kidneys, healing inflammation, restoring weak tissues, and enabling these delicate organs to resume their work of purifying the blood. Thus the poisons are soon taken out of the system, the pain is stopped, and the debilitated body becomes strong and healthful.



If you have a backache, gravel or any of the symptoms of kidney trouble, get a box of Gin Pills at once. Your druggist or dealer has them at 50c a box with money-back guarantee. Gin Pills taken now may help you to avoid an operation. Do not delay.

...fe Could Not Find a Place To Lay Head Four Years Ago When Husband Went Overseas

...ge In City's Welcome To-...y Due To Institution ...of "League House."

...ur years ago a little wife from a ...ll town, north of London, came to ...city to say good-by to her man who ...s leaving for overseas. But she could ...i no place at which to stay, and ...lked about the whole night, carrying ...eir small child in her arms.

This year her husband came home again, and so anxious was she, lest she should miss him when he arrived, that she came to the city with her little girl, almost three weeks before the train bearing him back from war drew into the city.

Perhaps the greatest encouragement, which the league has received, has been the gratitude of men such as this returning soldier.

What a Difference?

"To think that when I went away, my wife could not find a place on which to lay her head or rest her baby, and now we are received like this!" he said, with tears in his eyes.

And what a difference in the big city's attitude toward her this time! There was "League House" on King street, with doors wide open waiting for her to come and happy to entertain her and her child—League House, under the direction of the friendly Soldiers' Wives' League of London. Indeed, they were looking for her and anxious to help her, because of what her man had done for Canada.

And now they are keeping her little girl, while she is in Victoria Hospital, resting contentedly after an operation, because she knows that the child is in the best of care.

Many Housed Here.

But this wife is only one of the many who have found this institution a true hostel. During the summer months they have been seeking accommodation here in large numbers, ranging from ten to twenty at a time. Sometimes every one of the fourteen beds has been filled, and cots and couches besides. A week ago Saturday a new party of twenty arrived, which almost staggered the matron in charge, but somehow room was made for all.

Just now there is an application from a soldier's wife who wishes to be in the city while her husband is undergoing medical treatment, and arrangements are being made for her. Another party from overseas is expected today and no doubt the house will again be crowded.

Some Cannot Pay.

Occasionally these people cannot afford to pay even the very small amount asked by League House, but they are taken care of just the same. And almost invariably they have come back later with the money in their hands and gratitude in their hearts.

Of course the league could never carry on if it were not for private subscriptions and the generosity of the city in placing the house at their disposal as well as heating, lighting and water. The house has filled the want for which it was instituted, and will continue to do so as long as that want exists.

PRETTY TRIBUTE TO MRS. C. W. LEONARD AT BOARD MEETING

Large Co-operative Council of Girls Work To Be Formed Monday.

At the close of the general board meeting of the Y. W. C. A., held yesterday afternoon in the Wellington street residence, a very pretty tribute was offered Mrs. C. W. Leonard, the past president of the association, when she was presented with a large sheaf of American Beauty roses and the best wishes of the board. Mrs. Leonard, owing to ill-health, will be absent from the city for a year. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, president of the association, spoke of the splendid service given to the Y. W. C. A. by Mrs. Leonard, who graciously replied, saying that she would always have the interests of the association at heart.

Co-Operative Council.

At the board meeting the announcement was made by Miss McCamus, convener of the girls' work committee, to the effect that a large representative meeting of girls from all the churches in the city would be held in the Y. M. C. A. at 6:30 on Monday next. This meeting is being called for the purpose of forming a co-operative council of girls' work in the city and definitely presenting the program of the Canadian girls in training. At this meeting Miss Winnifred Thomas, national girls' work secretary, and Miss Olive Zeigler of Toronto will be the speakers. Miss Helen d'Avignon, local Y.W.C.A. girls' work secretary, will also be introduced to the meeting.

Campaign Soon.

Plans were discussed for securing more immediate accommodation for the already overcrowded Y. W. C. A. buildings, and the increasing of the association funds by a public campaign at an early date.

Lemon or Peach.

Some time ago, during the epidemic of lemon pie recipes, a recipe appeared for "a lemon pie that is a peach." A Mail-Box reader is very anxious to obtain this now, and as I have not retained the clipping, would ask if the Pagette who originally supplied it, or some other reader, could let me have a copy for publication. Thanks in advance, folks.

Women At Home and Abroad

COMPENSATION IN A TURKEY.

"Gee! Thought I was going to get two holidays and now they've gone and made Thanksgiving come on armistice day," shouts the small boy with rage. "And I suppose they'll make us all go to church, and that will be the end of fun."

Oh, but, little boy, you've forgotten something. Let me whisper. You've forgotten the turkey fattening in the pen. Just think what a weight he will be by November 11! What else can count against him?

BRIGHT COLORS FOR INTERIOR DECORATION.

The famous house decorators have abandoned the old drab colors and now make their rooms glow with sunshine colors. Walls, windows, carpets and chairs are gay with brilliant blues, purples, oranges, jade greens and flame. Chinese lacquer is being used everywhere, and this stands out effectively on a brilliant background of color. Chinese patterns are to be seen on the walls and Chinese colors in the draperies. 'Tis a happy change and the world is ready for it, to drive away the somber memories of the war.

WHAT A CHANCE TO MEET A CHORUS GIRL!

What a chance to hear all about the inside workings of a stage life? Even if I were a millionaire and had a hundred blue-blooded ancestral ghosts hanging about my ears I'd offer to take in one of those chorus girls from the "Passing Show." They're coming to Detroit, and there's no room for them at the hotels, so the management is making an appeal to the people of Detroit for accommodation.

I'd take more than one if I could, and I'd make them talk for their board. I'd make them tell all about the trials and joys of a chorus girl's life, and what it really looks like behind the stage. Perhaps I'd get them to take me there, just for a peep. Then, after they were tired, I'd feed them on angel cake and tea.

Oh, perhaps they wouldn't like living with me a bit. But I'd like to have them just the same.

75 WOOLLY BLANKETS FOR SHELTER KIDDIES.

If a society can be said to shout with glee, the Children's Aid Society here is doing it. And all because the Red Cross Society played Santa Claus yesterday morning, and showered the aforementioned institution with 75 all-wool blankets. And this caused the greater delight because the shelter was very badly in need of blankets and a systematic scrimping was going on in the minds of the management, so that the purchase of the needed goods could be made.

WILL WOMEN NOMINEES STAND FOR ELECTION?

It's coming pretty near home when a woman in North Norfolk is nominated as candidate for that district to the Provincial House. The fact that Mrs. T. E. Langford had to make a second withdrawal before her name was finally abandoned, along with the great enthusiasm and confidence with which her nomination was received, proves that she was being considered seriously as a candidate by a great portion of the people in that district.

Mrs. Langford probably had good reason for refusing to stand, but are women going to continue adopting this modest attitude regarding an electoral contest? Now that the way has been opened out for them, is it fair to the pioneer feminists for any woman who is given the opportunity to refuse to seize it without giving the matter a great deal of consideration. Women believe that certain laws now on the statute books should be changed. Should any woman shake the responsibility of bringing an amendment to these laws upon the floor of the House?

"WOMEN SKIPPERS" WILL CLOSE RACE SEASON AT CHICAGO

Try Out For Valkyrie Trophy Is On Sunday Afternoon.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Now that the yachting season is about over for the men the women are going to take a hand and show the sterner sex just how their racers ought to have been handled during the season. The Jackson Park Yacht Club announces its lady skippers race for the Valkyria trophy on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 28, which will be run under the Lake Michigan Yachting Association racing rules over the regular club course off Casino Pier.

Rules for the contest will be identical with those under which the regular races are sailed with the single exception that a woman is to handle each boat from start to finish. Any yacht violating this rule will be disqualified by the judges, who also will be women.

This will be the second time Chicago yachtswomen have had the opportunity of displaying their ability. Their first race was run in 1912 by Jackson Park Yacht Club, in which twenty women sailed as many boats in a series of three races for the Brandt trophy. Mrs. Annette Barcal, sailing the yacht Illinois, won the cup and established herself as the most capable yachtswoman in Chicago.

Since then many women have perfected themselves as lady skippers and are now challenging Mrs. Barcal, who will sail Morgan L. Eastman's famous racer "Mavourneen," to defend her title.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Cheer Up, Sunflower.

Dear Miss Grey,—I thought of writing some time ago and making a motion that every one quit writing to the Mail Box. But I guess I don't need to do that, for everyone seems to be of that mind. The editor seems to want the page for Winifred Black, Jimmy Coon, Good Night stories, and some other things, and Cynthia is pushed away down in the southwest corner where you would need a magnifying glass to find her. And then they print at the top—"page of interest to women." "Well, mebby," but none for mine, for I never read them. I hope they did not put you in as small a room that hot weather as they gave you space in the paper. Well, the war seems to be ended (I mean in the paper). The town people seem to have got over raving about the farmer getting rich. I don't think many of them will get rich this year. If we had ten years like last year we might. But for one good year we generally get four or five bad ones. Why don't they talk about something worth while? Why not talk about the men that get $5,000 for expenses to go to England to sit in the privy council, and the Textile Company making 300 per cent, and the little man at the head of the Government, while he was having some poor man fined for having a little flour in the house was himself making 50 per cent on his investment in the cold storage plant. And Mr. Hanna, the railroad manager, with his $25,000 a year—and lots more if space would allow us to mention them.

I don't think there is anyone who earns his money any harder or more honestly than the farmer. He neither makes the price for what he sells or buys. I was talking to a lady a few days ago who lived in town all her life till a few years ago. She is anxious to go back and leave the farm, and she don't think butter is any too high, but thinks it should go higher.

What has become of Mr. Rowell? Has he gone out of existence since that big blow-out he gave us about Hartley Dewart? I don't think we need Mr. Rowell to tell us about Hartley Dewart. If he don't do right the people will soon find it out. Mr. Rowell has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. Where does he stand anyway? Any place that will put a few feathers in his nest, I guess.

I would like to give my opinion of the community school that there is so much talk about, but I have written too much now. If you can't find room, Miss Grey in the S. W. corner for this, why dump it in the W. P. B.

SUNFLOWER.

Ans.—There is always room for our "Sunflower," even though she does rap the Government and the editor, on the head. Cheer up, Sunflower, some of these days we'll have no end of space, and then it will be the duty of some of you "old 'uns" to see that it is filled to the brim with correspondence.

Get Cold Feet,

Dear Cynthia,—I see where Scottie Frae Dundee kindly offered to come up and read his letters to me. All right, Scottie, come along, and "speak for yourself." If you do I'll give you a jolly time in return for satisfying my curosity, but in spite of you being a brave soldier, I bet you get cold feet on this proposition. Ha, ha.

So my address was lost with the kit. Maybe some little "Hunny" got it and is now composing me a letter from the "Fadderland." You never can tell, you know. Who'll offer to read it for me if he does? Any way, Scottie, my address isn't so hard to obtain now.

There was a little soldier man,
Who bravely smiled and then began,
His own letters he did scan—
He read away, and then he cust,
And threw the letters in the dust,
For he was sorely nonplussed.
He cried aloud "Oh, hully gee,
I never knew such things could be,
But I simply can't read this scrawl
by me!"

There, there, don't choke. I know it was blamed hard for you to write at all, so let's shake hands and call it quits.

URA KIDD.

Ans.—Alas Ura, it seems you are fated not to know the contents of those letters. The same mail which brought me your message also wafted in a Regina postal from Scottie. Shall I read it to you?

"Dear Miss Grey,—I have procured a job out here. It is pretty nice out west, nice warm weather. Crops look good; labor scarce. Threshing in progress. Best wishes to all.

"SCOTTIE OUT WEST."

A Mother's Kindness.

Dear Miss Grey: In answer to your column for the bride-to-be I am inclosing some samples of narrow edgings, one especially for scallops, hoping to help out this poor motherless girl. I am doing the littie round scallop in pale blue on some day pillow slips for my own daughter. It is very pretty, indeed, worked right on the linen.

Will sign myself,

SYMPATHETIC MOTHER.

Ans.: The pretty edgings are (ere this sees print) now in the hands of Rose Marie, who made the request. On behalf of Rose and the bride-elect, many thanks.

Both Are Strangers.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been a resident of the city four weeks. Would there be any difficulty in getting a marriage license? The other party is also a stranger here. If so, what would we have to do.

(We are both Methodists).

STRANGER

Ans.—The law requires each of you to reside in the district for at least fifteen days before a license is procurable.

Why all this Precaution?

JUST wherein lies the reason for the use of vegetable preparations for infants and children?

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children?

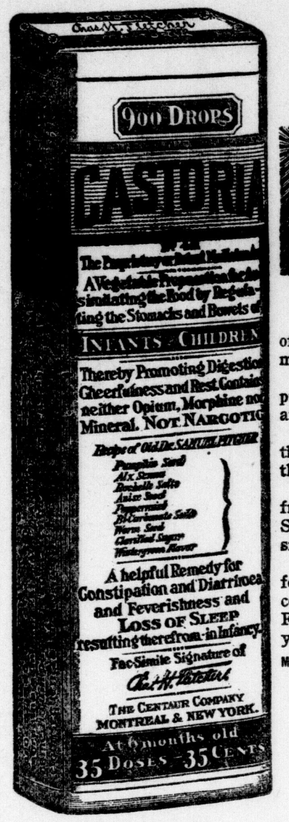
Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes, and under its innumerable names?

These are questions that every Mother will do well to inquire about.

Any Physician will recommend the keeping of Fletcher's Castoria in the house for the common ailments of infants and children.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

The False and the True.

Advertising by the use of large space, the expenditure of huge sums of money have placed on the market, have put in your home, perhaps, many articles that today have been discarded, as you will readily admit.

Do you recall anything that has more modestly appealed to the public than has Fletcher's Castoria: modest in all its claims, pleading at all times—and truthfully—for our babies?

The big splurg, the misleading claims may win for a time, but the honest truth-telling advertiser is like the old story of the tortoise that beat the hare.

Mothers everywhere, and their daughters, now mothers, speak frankly, glowingly, enthusiastically in praise of Fletcher's Castoria. Speak of it lovingly as a friend that has brought comfort, cheer and smiles to their little-one.

There are substitutes and imitations as there are for the diamond, for anything of value. One might almost say that that which is not copied has no value. So you have had the signature of Chas. H. Face Was Badly Disfigured. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

"I saw an advertisement for Cuticura and I tried them. They stopped the itching and burning and I used four cakes of Soap and three boxes of Ointment which healed me." (Signed) Miss V. A. Hayne, Stormont, N. S., Dec. 26, '18.

TWO MARES SIRED BY ALLENWOOD IN DUEL ON SHORT SHIP

Edwina B. Wins After Five Heats—2:24 Trot of Monday Allowed to Stand.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 24. — The five-heat duel between the two Allenwood mares, Edwina B. and Kitty Allenwood, in the 2:20 pace featured today's short ship.

Edwina B. took the deciding heat from the Saginaw-owned mare, and carried away the first two heats handily, but acted badly in the third and got away in rear. Finally when they scored by Bob Abdell, Kitty Allenwood came strong in the stretch to beat the Abdell for the heat, and then came on in fourth when Edwina B. made a bad break. Montague didn't try after the break in the fourth, saving his horse for the fifth, when he had too much lick for Kitty.

Capt. Heir-at-Law took the 2:08 pace in straight heats in rather slow time, while Frank E. Forbes romped off with the 2:17 after losing the first to Rapello.

The judges announced that the seventh heat of Monday, in which Allie Gentry beat Uplan Brooks in the 2:24 trot, would be allowed to stand, but that Harry Hoffman, driver of the losing nag, had been fined $50 for not trying.

White Sox Clinch Flag on Joe Jackson's Drive

Naps Lost Anyway, and Make It Easy For Sox—Ruth Breaks Home-Run Record With Twenty-eighth Circuit Smash.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Chicago today won the American League pennant by defeating St. Louis 6 to 5. Joe Jackson's single in the ninth inning was the blow which made Chicago the club which will meet Cincinnati, winners of the National League pennant, on October 1 for the championship of the world.

Chicago played an up-hill game, and it rested with little Dick Kerr to pull the local club through. Kerr started the ninth inning rally with a single to left. Liebold followed with a single in the same direction and McMullin walked, filling the bases. Weaver flied to Jacobson, and Kerr scored after the catch, tying the score. Jackson then delivered his hit to right centre, and sent Liebold home with a run which gave Chicago the championship of the American League.

Cicotte Unsteady.

Cicotte was unsteady, and gave way to a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning. Eddie Murphy, who went in for him, was instrumental in the locals scoring two runs, and putting Chicago within a run of tying the visitors. Schalk singled, and Murphy forced him at second. Liebold followed with a single, and Murphy and Liebold scored on E. Collins' triple. Collins attempted to score in this round, and the play at the plate was so close that Collins' argument resulted in his banishment from the game.

The visitors made their runs off Cicotte. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	301 000 100—5	13	1
Chicago	000 020 202—6	14	0

Sotheron and Severoid; Cicotte, Kerr and Schalk.

NAPS NAPOO.

DETROIT, Sept. 24.—With Leonard pitching good ball and Detroit batsmen hitting opportunely today, the Tigers defeated Cleveland, 4 to 1.

Score: R. H. E.

Cleveland	000 010 000—1	6	2
Detroit	000 002 00x—4	9	0

Batteries—Bagby and O'Neill; Leonard and Ainsmith.

RUTH BREAKS RECORD.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The Boston Red Sox shut out the Yankees, 4 to 0, in the first game of a doubleheader here today and then lost a thirteen-inning battle, 2 to 1. The winning run was scored on a three-bagger by Pipp and a sacrifice fly by Pratt.

Ruth broke the home run record of 27 by Ed. Williamson in 1884 by driving the ball over the roof of the right field grandstand in the ninth inning of the second game. This tied the score and resulted in a thirteen-inning game. The scores:

First game— R. H. E.

Boston	200 200 000—4	6	2
New York	000 000 000—0	5	2

Batteries—Jones and Schang; Quinn, Thormahlen and Ruel.

ROY MAC AND HAL ABBE WIN AT NORWICH RACES

NORWICH, Sept. 24.—The horse races proved the big attraction of the fair. In the 2:35 trot or pace Roy Mac won in straight hearts, but the three horses were close and every heat was a real race. In the 2:15 trot or pace, the spectators had a great run for their money. The first heat Eagle Bars won after a driving finish, but Hal Abbe came back strong and won the next three, only, however, after close finishes with Eagle Bars.

Summary:

AS YOU WERE

THE REDEMPTION.

(In four Acts and six Inhales.)

Act 1.

Hoarse Gentleman (vocally disabled in 1915 when Western U. won championship)—"Well, I see the team is getting out. Goin' into the game?"

"Naw! I'm usin' my head for more than a hatrack. No, sirree! Played that game for eight years, and I'm through. 'Through,' do you hear that whisper? Besides there ain't no pensions hanging on the tail of that pastime, and people haven't got any longer memories even for disabled oval-chasers than they have for 'minnie-dodgers,' and I gotta live. I'm pos-i-tively through."

Act 2 (same scene).

Same croaky gentleman, with same patented conversation starter—"Well I see the team is getting out. Little slow and all that, but some good material. Guess there's goin' to be a team after all. Looked kinda bad at first, but——"

"Humph! Whose goin' out"

"Well, I dunno, some of 'em; but there's ——, ——, ——, and ——, and that means lots of weight, and ——, ——, ——, ——; and believe you me, none of those boys forget where to tuck a ball; and you remember ——, ——, ——, ——, and some more'll be out this week, and I heard —— is sure coming back; and say, do you remember that night after we won the game in ——, when 45—xyzyxyzyzyx ????? Oh! Boy! And say——

(Door slams.)

Act 3 (same place).

Hoarse Person—"Well I see that—— why, whatya doin' with the tannery? Goin' to hawk 'em, or——"

"Naw! I ain't goin' to hawk 'em. Whatya think I'm goin' to do with that headpiece, put the muffler on the soup scene in the bean joint with it? I'm goin' to lend that to a guy." (Exit for car.)

Act 4 (Tecumseh Park).

From chorus, that has too much on to look like the real article—"Lookit who's here, and without a keeper! Keep your padlocks on your lockers now, gang!"

"Aw, gwan. Lemme see that ball."

* * * *

And they are drifting back to the game every day. Last night there were over twenty candidates out, going through the program, and by far the best workout yet held was last night's affair. Coach Reid announced definitely last night that there would be a game a week from Saturday, but does not say with whom they will be staged. At any rate, the probable line-up will be announced early, and the first run-in ought to show just about where the local O. R. F. U. entry stands.

* * * *

Does not look as if Beckett was going to consider Fulton for a bout before he has a good try for a match with J. Dempsey. His coming bout with Carpentier won't mean much on this side of the water. The American public has never been much impressed with the Frenchman as a heavy, though when he messed up Willie Lewis in his middleweight days, they sat up and handed him credit as being something more than a dancing master who had wandered into the ring by mistake. Seventeen rounds with McGoorty—who has been down under geographically and fistically for so long that he had almost been forgotten—doesn't on the face of it make Beckett look any too good on this side, but at the same time the Briton is given a certain amount of credit for business as well as fighting brains. At any rate, there will be a lot of activity in the heavy ranks during the next few months with Beckett, Fulton, Carpentier and even some touted possibilities in America.

* * * *

Connie Mack is devoting the ebbing days of the 1919 campaign to putting his school for minors on display and making rough notes in his alibi book for his position in the cellar of the league. It does not seem long ago since pictured as the heavy-browed Enigma of baseball, the tall one was the feature of all newspapers, and was sitting on the top of the world.

* * * *

And Pat Moran is being hailed by a forgetful public as the Miracle Man; and in a few years the same public will consider it a miracle that he ever was allowed to manage a team.

PHILLIES CELEBRATE BY DROPPING TWO ON LUDERUS DAY

525th Consecutive Game For Veteran Beats Endurance Record — Giants and Braves Divide.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—Brooklyn came from behind in the closing innings, and won the first game of today's double header 4 to 1. The second contest was easy for the visitors, 14 to 7. It was "Luderus Day," and between the games the veteran first baseman was presented with a diamond stickpin by John Heydler, president of the National League, and with a gold watch by President Baker of the local club. The second game was the 525th successive contest Luderus has played. The presents were given to commemorate his breaking of the major league endurance record. The scores:

DIVIDE TWIN BILL.

BOSTON, Sept. 24.—The Giants and Braves divided honors in a doubleheader today. Barnes bested the pitching efforts of Rudolph and Demaree for a 6 to 1 New York success in the opener, and Fillingim gained a 3 to 2 verdict in ten innings for Boston in the second game.

Hubbell, a recruit from Toronto, pitched well in the second game. He hit Carroll in the tenth inning. Holke singled through the box, and Carroll scored the winning run on Boeckel's single. The scores:

REDS OUTHIT.

TOLEDO, Sept. 24.—The Cincinnati Nationals, although outhit 7 to 6, defeated the Toledo Rail Lights, a semi-profession team, in an exhibition game here today by the score of 4 to 2. Eller was hit hard, but was effective in the pinches. The score: R. H. E.

Cincinnati	201 001 000—4	6	1
Rail Lights	000 010 100—2	7	3

Eller and Wingo, Rariden; Collamore and Brenegan.

QUEENIE SMITH WINS EVENT IN STRAIGHT HEATS AT AILSA CRAIG

AILSA CRAIG, Sept. 24. — Large crowds watched a short but interesting racing card here today. Queenie Smith took the free-for-all in straight heats, and Teddy Grattan repeated in the green event.

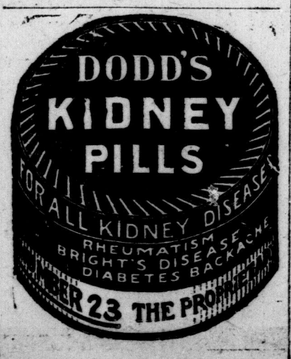
MANHATTANS AND P. O. TO PLAY FOR FINAL HONORS

The Manhattan Club have accepted the challenge of the Postoffice who on Tuesday won the championship of the Manufacturers' League, for a game for the city championship. The game will be played at Queen's Park when it comes off, as Tecumseh Park is not available.

As a number of the Postoffice team played ball for the vanquished Orients, the game for the final honors ought to be an interesting battle.

HENRI HOUSSAYE DIES.

Paris, Sept. 25.—Announcement is made of the death of Henri Houssaye, administrator and former director of the Havas Agency, the semi-official French news distributing organization. He was born February 24, 1848, and was a member of the Legion of Honor and the French Academy.



SANARDO REPEATING DOES FASTEST HEAT AT GRAND CIRCUIT

Defeat of Grace Direct in Second Duel—Other Races Bring Close Finishes.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 24.—In a program of grand circuit events full of good stakes and in several of them good strong competition, on a good track and with a big crowd looking on, most of the favorites cashed for their backers and no long-shots to speak of went over in the betting.

McGregor the Great won another good trotting stake in the 2:12 Buckeye event from his rival Mariondale. He never was in trouble and today won as he pleased.

In the board of trade 2:05 pace there was much division of opinion about the ability of Sanardo again to defeat Grace Direct, as he did last week, and they were about even favorites. Sanardo won in straight heats, however, in three hard miles. The best time was 2:02¾, made in the first heat. This was the fastest mile of the meeting so far.

Murphy also won the Chamber of Commerce 2:08 trot, with Don De Lopez, which he drove for the Geers stable. Hollyrood Kate was a big favorite, but she broke in three of the four heats. In the mile she stayed on the trot and her victory was easy.

The 3-year-old trot, the Western Horseman Futurity, had but four starters. Periscope won this event after dropping the first heat to Brusiloff, due to a break. Don. J. also took the unfinished 2:17 pace, left over from yesterday.

If you send more than one solution at one time send a separate blank with each one and state in each blank the amount you are paying with that solution.

This contest is open to both men and women. You may order the paper sent to someone else if you wish, names and addresses being subject to any changes that later may be desired.

Contest Closes at 9 p.m. Saturday, November 1

The sooner you send in your first solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures and send in another solution if you find you can do better.

Deciding Ties

In the event of ties those tieing will be required to solve a second puzzle in order to determine who shall receive the prizes. This second puzzle, if one should be required, will be equally as attractive and practical as the first. Under this plan those who win will be assured of receiving the full value of their prizes without having to divide them with other contestants. Should still further ties ensue a third problem of the same order as the second will be submitted to those again tied to solve. This plan will be continued until all have been eliminated except the actual prize winners. Should there be no ties on the first puzzle, only the one, of course, will be presented. In the event that a second puzzle is required, one week will be allowed in which to solve it. This will prevent the contest being prolonged for any unusual length of time.

General Rules and Information

There is no objection to several members of one family or several friends working together to obtain a solution, provided only one of them turns the solution in. The prizes are awarded for individual effort, and it would not be proper for one person to turn in a solution, then give it to someone else, and for the latter to submit it as his own.

If the paper is already being sent to your residence, either by carrier or through the mails, send in the renewal in the name of the person who is already subscribing. If some other member of the family wants the solution credited to him, or to her, merely attach a note to the blank giving the name of the one who wants to have credit for the solution. The purpose of this is to avoid sending two papers when only one is needed.

When, in the judgment of the Contest Manager, more than one member of the same family, or any others, send in two or more solutions which have the appearance of having been worked in collusion, The Advertiser will reserve the right to use its best judgment in refunding any of the subscriptions paid in connection therewith and rejecting the solutions.

Information will be furnished and rulings made on any points contestants may want information about. The Advertiser reserves the right to decide any and all questions which arise, and those entering the contest as a part of the contract must and do agree to abide by such rulings.

The date a solution is filed has nothing to do with its winning a prize. It is always safe, however, to send in a solution as early as convenient. Then you will have ample time to go over your figures and, if you find you can get a better solution, you will still have an opportunity to profit by your later effort.

As many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions. That is, if three people should tie on the best solution the first three prizes would be reserved for them; and they would be awarded these prizes in the order of the standing of their solutions of the next puzzle. That is, the best solution would be awarded the first prize, the next best the second and the third best the third prize.

All solutions must be sent in on the blank herewith. No solution unaccompanied by a cash subscription will be accepted. No solution may be changed after it is once registered.

No one directly or indirectly associated with The Advertiser will be allowed to participate in this contest.

NOTE: This blank, whether used by a contestant for his own solution and subscription, or by someone who has been interested to become a subscriber, whether he enters the contest or not, will enable the records to be kept correctly, and also will insure the one sending in a new subscriber to get proper credit on the prize awards.

Important Features

The attention of contestants is called to two important features in connection with the prizes.

1. While the amount you pay for subscription to The Advertiser has no effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the value of the first five prizes should you win one of them. For instance, each of the first five prizes has a fixed value, to which is added from five to fifty times what the winners pay when they register their solutions. This is explained further in the prize list.

2. The first five prizes may also be increased ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS each by your interesting five persons who are not now regular subscribers to become subscribers. You will receive twenty dollars for each one, whether you secure one or five. Each one of these new subscribers must pay not less than the minimum amount ($2.00) required of contestants. They may pay up to the maximum ($12.48) if they desire, and they may also become competitors for the prizes if they wish to submit one or more solutions of the puzzle. That is, they may enter the contest under the same conditions exactly as any other contestant, the payment they make entitling them to entry.

The name of each one of these new subscribers must be sent in on one of the accompanying blanks, whether he becomes a contestant or not. The fact that he was secured by you must also be indicated in the proper place provided in the blank, so you will receive credit. You may send in any or all of these five names whenever you wish, either when you send in your own solution or later. Just use one of the blanks for each one, and then there will be no mistake made in regard to your getting due credit.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief for Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach, and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating, or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments, and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.—Advt.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advt.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

TELLS SAFE AND SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.—Advt.

WHAT TO DO WHEN NERVES GO WRONG

A SPECIALIST'S ADVICE.

Men and women who suffer from weak nerves, who tire easily, can't sleep, have brain fag, low vitality, general weariness, loss of strength, dulled ambition, lack of will power, or any of those symptoms that so surely arise from poor, unsteady, unstrung nerves or nerve force run low, should try taking a little Ferro-Peptine with their meals for a few days and note results. This preparation is the greatest ginger-up stimulant and nerve vitalizer ever known for putting the good old "pep," ambition, courage and real vital energy into a tired, run-down and shattered nervous system.

Here is a test worth trying. The next time you feel tired, blue, or when your nerves are fairly crying out, take a Ferro-Peptine nerve tablet. Then wait for just ten minutes, and note results. Ferro-Peptine seems to go straight to the nerve cells and starts work the minute it reaches them. It brings a ten-minute change from that awful dull, weak, lazy, don't-give-a-hang feeling, to brightness, strength, clear-headedness and courage. It calms and strengthens the nerves of people who get the "jumps" and fidgets, and gives them poise, power and tremendous reserve energy. Ferro-Peptine Tablets are absolutely harmless, contain no dope or habit-forming drugs, and are always safe, easy, pleasant and efficient. Standard Drug Co. and many other leading druggists in London and vicinity sell it in large boxes—42 tablets to a package—on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction, or money back.—Advt.

CUT NUMBER OF LEGISLATORS IN TWO, SAYS HAY

North Perth Member, Re-nominated, Favors Reduction at Toronto and Ottawa.

MILVERTON, Sept. 24.—F. Wellington Hay, M.P.P., was unanimously nominated by North Perth Liberals at Milverton in a large convention today. It was quite noticeable that the majority of those present were farmers.

Eight others were nominated, but all withdrew in favor of Mr. Hay, who was returned in a by-election in 1915. The other nominees were Ald. Tom Brown, Stratford; James Davidson, Elma; Mrs. R. J. Easson, Stratford; Robert Armstrong, Ellice; J. McCallum, North Easthope; Mayor J. Stevenson, Stratford; Dr. J. Prinkin, Stratford; Mrs. (Dr.) Foster, Listowel. Mr. Davidson in withdrawing said he was a member of the U.F.O., but criticized the farmers for entering the field.

Cut Legislature Down.

Mr. Hay, in accepting the nomination, said he hoped the day would soon come when some party would be big enough to come out and cut the membership of the Legislature in half. The business, he believed, could be handled by half as many members. Mr. Hay paid tribute to Mr. Dewart, and said the people owed him more than they knew about. He had spent nearly his entire time since his election in the interests of Liberalism.

Mr. Hay said he stood for a clean government, one which would apply business principles to its administration. If elected, one of the first moves would be for a survey of all branches of the Government, many of which needed cleaning up.

H. H. Dewart declared that nickel and prohibition were the two main issues at the present time. He criticized the Government for failing to announce earlier the date of the election, and also for confusing the temperance issue.

Not On Promises.

Hearst should be judged, not on his promises, but on his failure to properly administer the country's business while in power.

Mr. Dewart reiterated the statement that he stood wholeheartedly on the platform of the Liberal convention, and would, if elected, faithfully and fully carry out the will of the people. He said he never had or has any connection with persons or party interested in the liquor business.

The Government was criticized for failure to meet the cost of living and for failure to deal efficiently with the agricultural problems.

Doctors Go On Strike In Dundalk, Ireland, Demanding More Pay

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The doctors of Dundalk, Ireland, went on strike today to enforce demands for a minimum salary of sevon guineas (about $35) weekly for all public services. Their present salaries average £275 a year. A number of patients applying for treatment at dispensaries have been refused.

THIN, NERVOUS FOLKS SHOULD TAKE BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Women Need It To Bring Pink Glow of Health To Pale Cheeks and Forestall Tell-Tale Lines of Age—Men Need It To Make Strong, Vigorous Bodies and Steady Nerves.

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak, tired people regain energy and vigor; thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.

CAUTION.—Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

TO HEAR EVIDENCE AS TO GRATUITIES EARLY NEXT WEEK

Many Men Asking Land Grants in Eastern Canada.

BUT MORE IN WEST

Secretary of Settlement Board Testifies Before the Special Committee.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25. — The special committee of the House of Commons on soldiers' civil re-establishment this morning decided to hear the evidence next Tuesday and Wednesday of President Flynn of the United Veterans' League, formerly the Gratuity League. The Imperial veterans of vancouver and Winnipeg will also be represented before the committee.

S. Maber, secretary of the soldiers' settlement board, was re-called and questioned regarding costs of administration and the advances made to soldiers. By the end of this year it was expected the total outlay for the department would be $48,600,000 for loans and administration.

The estimate of $150,000,000 required for 50,000 soldiers who were expected to take loans did not take into account loans to British ex-service men. Many inquiries from this class of men were being received.

About two-thirds of the 4,218 soldiers taking up grants had also exercised their right of taking up homesteads.

Payment Waived.

There was no record of the number of men disqualified for inability to make the necessary ten per cent cash payment. In the cases of married men with farming experience this payment had sometimes been waived.

He did not expect any flooding of Canada by British veterans. He told Dr. Beland the returned soldiers was treated more generously by the board in the matter of loans than he would be by any loan company.

Many men are applying for land in eastern Canada, though the major portion wished to farm in the West. Many of the purchases in the east have been from old people, who wished to retire, so there had been no unusual influx of people to the cities, thereby defeating the colonization aspect of the work.

Duncan Ross (West Middlesex) had a telegram from thre G. W. V. A. units of Middlesex County, asking that they be allowed to send delegates to give evidence. The matter was referred to the central executive, and Mr. MacNeil explained that the units in question already had the right of making representation through the central executive of the G. W. V. A. here.

DRIVEN BY EXCITED BOY, MOTOR KILLED TWO, IS EVIDENCE

Brantford Inquest Reveals Driver, 15, Lost His Head in Crash.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 24. — Evidence given at the inquest held here tonight into the death of Dr. Charles Duncombe, St. Thomas and Mrs. O. H. Duncombe, Waterford, revealed that a number of foreigners induced Russell Brown, a 15-year-old driver, to take the Cadillac car of Charles Culbertson on a joyride on the Sunday of the accident.

Brown, who had but little experience in driving, admitted that he lost his head at the time of the accident, but claimed that the brakes would not work. Dr. O. H. Duncombe, Waterford, stated that when hit, he was traveling less than 20 miles an hour, while Brown claimed a speed of 15 miles.

There were no eyewitnesses to the accident. Coroner Hicks presided, and S. Alfred Jones, K. C., acted for the crown. The jury returned a verdict, recommending more rigid enforcement of the motor vehicles act, stating that the deaths were caused by a collision with the car driven by Brown, who was under age and incompetent.

TRANS-PACIFIC AIR CONTEST OPEN ONLY TO CANADIAN FLYERS

And "Boat" Must Be Canadian-Made—Time Limit December 31, 1921.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 24.—Norman A. Yarrow, head of Yarrows, Limited, Esquimalt, who, with the assistance of friends, has offered a prize of $50,000 for the first non-stop flight across the Pacific, from Vancouver to Japan, attaches the following conditions to the prize: That "the airship, lighter-than-air, shall be manufactured in Canada, including all parts and materials. Any parts and materials that are not being made in Canada at the time the airship is constructed may be imported; the airship shall be manned and be navigated by Canadians only during the transpacific flight, and the flight is to be non-stop from Vancouver Island, British Columbia, to Japan, and to be performed prior to December 31, 1921."

Mr. Yarrow's object in offering the prize is to commemorate the visit of the Prince of Wales.

Last night, following the official dinner at the Government House, the Prince of Wales was informed of Mr. Yarrow's offer. His royal highness immediately signified his desire to be associated with the proposal, and the offer of Mr. Yarrow and his friends will now be known as "The Prince of Wales Prize."

SECOND BOY MAY DIE FROM BURNS IN PT. EDWARD FIRE

Willie Kentish, Rescued From Burning House, May Have Fatal Injuries.

POINT EDWARD, Sept. 24.—Four-year-old Willie Kentish, rescued from his burning home here Monday afternoon, after his playmate, Willie McFee, had been burned to death, may die. He is in the hospital here suffering from burns which may prove fatal.

Mrs Herbert Jenkens, a next-door neighbor, pounded open the door of the burning house in which the two little boys were caught, and dragged the Kentish lad outside.

A coroner's jury under Coroner Dr. T. P. Bradley here tonight brought in a verdict of accidental death in the inquest held into the death of Willie McFee. It was definitely established that the two youngsters, playing with matches, caused the fire. The McFee boy lived across the road from his playmate. Both were playing in the house when it caught fire.

REPORT THAT DRAYTON WILL RUN IN KINGSTON DECLARED INCORRECT

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 24.—There is nothing definite yet as to who will be the candidate in Kingston for the Dominion House, and any report that Sir Henry Drayton has been asked to run here is incorrect. Nothing will be done until a meeting of unionists to be called in a few days, probably for Monday next, when two cabinet ministers from Ottawa will be invited to be present. There is a strong feeling that Kingston should, if possible, secure a local man. In any event, Ald. Patterson, local labor candidate, will remain in the field.

SENATE ADJOURNS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 24.—Out of respect for the memory of the Hon. Frank Cochrane, the senate adjourned for the day immediately after assembling at 3 o'clock.

GERMAN BOURGEOIS AND FRENCH SOLDIERS CLASH, CASUALTIES BOTH SIDES

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—(Havas).—In an encounter at Saarbrucken between bourgeois and French soldiers many persons on both sides were wounded, according to a dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger. One hundred Frenchmen participated in the conflict. Numerous Germans have been arrested for having attacked the Frenchmen.

RIPLEY FALL FAIR IS MARKED SUCCESS

RIPLEY, Sept. 24.—The fall fair of Huron Township Agricultural Society was held here Tuesday and today. Despite threatening weather, immense crowds were present, and it was a big success.

The fancywork display was not as large as previously, owing to changes in the prize-list. The horse show was better than those of other years, but the cattle were not up to previous records.

An Indian brass band from Cape Croker gave excellent music. Today was tag-day to raise funds for the proposed memorial park, and a large sum was realized. The fair ended with an excellent concert in the town hall this evening.

Voters will have a chance to decide one the question of hydro-electricity at the January elections. Much criticism has been heard of the present acetylene gas lighting system, and it is probable that hydro will get a favorable vote.

THE REFERENDUM BALLOT

	YES	NO
1. Are you in favor of the repeal of The Ontario Temperance Act?	X
2. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51/100% alcohol weight measure through Government agencies, and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?	X
3. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51/100% alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by majority vote favor such sale, and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?		X
4. Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?		X

What Each Question Means—and Why You Should Vote "YES" on All Four Questions

Vote "YES"

1. Are you in favor of the repeal of The Ontario Temperance Act?

The repeal of The Ontario Temperance Act does not mean a return to the general sale of spirituous liquors, as the Premier, in his speech of April 7th, said: "Now, practically no one suggests a return to old conditions. The distillers in a recent manifesto say that they themselves are opposed to it. Many hotelkeepers say they are opposed to it. The brewers say they are opposed to it. Honourable gentlemen in the House and people out of the House, who are opposed to the present Act, say they are equally opposed to the old order. The labor men who ask for stronger beer, say they don't want the sale of hard liquor."

The Premier and the Government, realizing this, would not be parties to a continuance of the general sale of spirits as under the old license system, but would amend the License Act in accord with public sentiment. This would be in keeping with the policy of the Provincial Governments of the past fourteen years, which have from time to time amended the License Act to conform to the wishes of the people. To vote "Yes" to question number one would enable the Government to provide for the sale of beer and light wine in the hotels, and beer and spirits in Government stores for home consumption.

The Citizens' Liberty League does not want a return to the conditions under the old License Act and the sale of liquor over the bar. It does ask, however, for the general sale of beer 2.51% alcohol by weight (non-intoxicating) and light wines, and that the Government should only allow the sale of heavier beers and liquors through agencies established and maintained under Government supervision and control. It is therefore necessary that question one should be answered "Yes," repealing The Ontario Temperance Act and making it possible for the Government to enact a new temperance measure in accord with the expressed will of the people.

By voting "Yes" on question number one you will be in agreement with Premier Hearst when he said: "Many good and conscientious citizens, as good and conscientious as there are in the Province, do not approve of the Act as it stands today." Vote "Yes" on question number one and repeal the unsatisfactory Ontario Temperance Act.

Vote "YES"

2. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.51/100% alcohol weight measure through Government agencies, and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

Vote "Yes" on question number two. This provides for the sale of light beer in Government stores for home consumption and removes the necessity of procuring a doctor's certificate.

Remember — Every voter must vote on every question, or his ballot will be spoiled.

Vote "YES"

3. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.51/100% alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by majority vote favor such sale, and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

Vote "Yes" on question number three. There can be little doubt that the majority of people will vote "Yes" on this question. There is a demand for a beer of good flavor and body that is non-intoxicating, and the public want to obtain it by the glass as well as by the bottle.

A beer of 2.51% alcohol by weight, no matter in what quantities consumed, is absolutely non-intoxicating. In European countries beer of this strength is sold generally without license and without excise duty. In voting "Yes" on questions two and three you can be assured that no one can become intoxicated by beer of this strength.

Vote "YES"

4. Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

Vote "Yes" on question number four, which provides for the sale of all liquors for home consumption from Government stores under such regulations as the Government may deem it wise to adopt. The public will be able to purchase from these stores without procuring a doctor's certificate.

Study the Referendum Ballot; if there is any point not clear, call or write the Secretary of the League at Committee Headquarters. It is to your interest that you vote wisely and intelligently. And if you are a lover of liberty and an advocate of true temperance, you will vote "YES" on all questions on the Referendum Ballot.

The Citizens' Liberty League is not in favor of the sale of spirits over the bar as under the old License Law. It is, however, in favor of the general sale of non-intoxicating beer of 2.51% alcohol by weight and light wines, and the sale of liquor for home consumption through Government stores under such restrictions as the Government may deem wise to adopt.

TALK OF FIGHTING PROFITEERS ALL ROT, TELLS ELGIN LIBS.

William Tolmie, of Aldboro, Chosen Candidate, Discounts Tory Action Regarding Control of Grains, at Large Dutton Convention.

DUTTON, Sept. 24.—"The present Government talk of fighting the profiteers is all rot when they force the dealer in grain to take five cents per bushel on all wheat purchased by the wheat board of the Government, and they themselves take 15 cents on every bushel. The United Farmers have been driven to do what they have by the class legislation of the Tories. The manufacturers have always received protection from the Government, but what have the farmers ever got?"

Thus did Wm. Tolmie, ex-reeve of Aldboro and today chosen candidate for the Liberal party in West Elgin for the Federal House a third consecutive time, speak in the course of a stirring and impassioned appeal. Mr. Tolmie obtained a majority in a contest with James A. McLean of Rodney, an ex-warden, and James L. Thompson of St. Thomas. The nomination was afterwards made unanimous and was followed by three rousing cheers for Hon. W. Mackenzie King, the new leader; cheers for W. Tolmie, and the singing of the National Anthem.

Most Enthusiastic.

The convention was without doubt most enthusiastic. A feature was the marked interest taken by the ladies present. Mrs. R. W. Ball of St. Thomas and Mrs. Wanless of Dutton had the distinction of being the first ladies to be nominated for a Liberal candidate in a West Elgin convention. Both declined.

When the question of naming a candidate for the provincial house was introduced by the chairman, W. A. Galbraith of Dutton moved a resolution, seconded by Ald C. A. Walker of St. Thomas, that there be no candidate named at this meeting. This caused some discussion, as there were a number present who favored putting a candidate in the field to oppose the U.F.O. man. Mr. Galbraith declared that were Hon F. G. Macdiarmid, the Tory candidate, given an opportunity he would favor the entrance of a Liberal candidate becaues it would simplify matters for him in the campaign.

Given Big Ovation.

The chairman called on W. G. Charlton, the Western Ontario Liberal organizer, to give his opinion in this matter. Mr. Charlton was given a rousing ovation. He declared that while he would not in any way dictate to any constituency he thought that a candidate should be named. The principles of Liberalism, he said, are broader and deeper than any third party. "We should not be averse to fighting a battle even though under adverse conditions. The United Farmers have not only destroyed themselves, but have also attempted to destroy Liberalism. Then, in addition, there are a large number of ladies who will vote for the first time and they should be given an opportunity of voting for a Liberal candidate." The Government of Ontario had seen fit to encourage the U.F.O. in order to assist their own cause, concluded Mr. Charlton.

Something Worth While.

W. Tolmie declared that Liberalism stood for something worth while. Ninety-five per cent of the people at the U.F.O.-Labor convention held here some weeks ago had been Liberals. "Why lay down now when we have fought for 50 years?" asked the speaker.

J. B. Davidson of St. Thomas wanted a candidate named. He said that the principles of Liberalism should be fought for even though the candidate would be fighting a losing battle. The principles of Liberalism had always been to provide legislation for the masses. That of Toryism was, on the other hand, to provide legislation and protection for the classes.

James L. Thompson declared himself to be a Labor man out to better conditions for all mankind. He thought that the principles of Liberalism should be upheld whether in a winning or losing fight. No good ever came from a division of the progressive forces. This is what the joint I.L.P. and U.F.O. meant.

Dominion Candidate.

Reeve W. Patton of Dutton declared that an invitation had been extended to the U.F. O., but a paid advertisement in a St. Thomas paper had announced that there should be no trade with any Grit party.

The nomination of candidate for the Dominion House followed, and a good deal of enthusiasm was evident. The following were proposed: W. A. Galbraith, R. A. Horton, James L. Thompson, J. B. Ferguson, Wm. Tolmie, James A. McLean, Alex. McCall, J. B. Davidson, Archie Kerr, Mrs. R. W. Ball, Mrs. Wanless. All withdrew with the exception of W. Tolmie, James L. Thompson and James A. McLean. Addresses were then heard from W. A. Galbraith, Mayor Horton of St. Thomas, James L. Thompson and the other prospective candidates, all of whom expressed the opinion that the present day is one of greatest importance as far as politics is concerned, and that a man would have to be named to fight the battles of Liberalism.

A. McCall declared that the labor men had certainly fooled the farmers at the recent convention. They had named a candidate for the Provincial House, when the labor men reserved the right to name the more important representative to the Federal House. All the speakers advised the farmers to watch how the labor men carried out their agreement.

Women Speakers.

Mrs. R. W Ball of St. Thomas declared that there are in reality no independent parties. Politicians might sit on the fence for a certain length of time, but they must eventually fall off on one side or the other.

WILL DISTRIBUTE 5 CARLOADS SUGAR TO RELIEVE SHORTAGE

WINNIPEG, Sept. 24.—At this morning's session of the board of commerce, Commissioner James Auld announced that five carloads of sugar to relieve the shortage had been placed in the hands of eight Winnipeg jobbers for distribution throughout the province by the board of commerce.

This sugar had been turned over to the board, said Mr. Auld, by the Coca-Cola Company, and is to be sent where the need is greatest, and is to be used solely for the purpose of fruit preserving, and not to fill ordinary orders of the jobbers.

Orders will be submitted to the board by the firms handling the sugar to show the nature of the distribution.

In making this announcement, Commissioner Auld said that the Coca-Cola Company's position has been generally misunderstood. "There is no doubt that the reason for the apparent excessive supply," said Mr. Auld, "was due simply to their method of buying. I do not think there has been any suggestion of hoarding. In view of the existing shortage and great demand this amount of sugar will not go very far, but the jobbers have undertaken to see that the sugar goes into the right hands."

Railway freight agents were called before the board this morning. The first witness from the railways was F. T. Andrews, freight agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He stated that from August 1 to September 22, 5,340,221 pounds of sugar arrived in the city over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"Sugar shipments receive priority," he said. "There is no delay in handling them."

E. W. Warner, general freight agent, Canadian National Railways, said that from August 1 to date, 2,901,070 pounds of sugar had been shipped to Winnipeg. The freight agent for the Grand Trunk Pacific testified that no sugar had been received over that line during the period from August 1 to date.

RAISING WAGES ONLY RESULTS IN HIGHER PRICES

Speaker at Hamilton Labor Convention Denounces Profiteers.

APPROVE STEEL STRIKE

Message to This Effect To Be Sent From Congress to Executive.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 24.—With eight or nine business sessions to be crowded into the remaining three days of the convention, delegates to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress enjoyed a respite today. A session was held in the morning, at which fraternal delegates from labor organizations in the United States delivered addresses, and during the remainder of the day members of the congress attended entertainments arranged in their honor.

Dealing with industrial conditions in the United States, more particularly those affecting women workers, Miss Pauline Newman, representing the National Women's Trades Union League, deplored the fact that out of twelve million women engaged in industry there, only between 600,000 and 700,000 were organized. In this lack of organization she saw, however, only a reflection of the entire labor movement in the country to the south.

"Our movement is not daring," she said. "It is still afraid. It is still begging instead of demanding. It is fearful of carrying to a realization its own convictions."

Miss Newman urged upon the delegates the necessity for unity of action and tolerance when discussing controversial matters.

Denounced Profiteers.

Sam Griggs, delegate from the American Federation of Labor, denounced profiteers in no uncertain manner, declaring that the proper place for them was in jail. He reviewed the various attempts to solve the cost of living problem, but professed to have no faith in investigations unless convictions followed and persons guilty of offences in this connection were made to suffer.

Continuing the practice of increasing wages was no solution, he maintained, but merely afforded profiteers opportunities to send prices higher.

Ben Tillett, the British labor member of Parliament for North Halford, will address the congress tomorrow morning.

Indorse Steel Strike.

The congress this morning indorsed the action of the United States steel workers striking in support of the principle of collective bargaining. A resolution to this effect was introduced by Herbert Lewis, Toronto, and business was suspended to permit the taking of a vote. A telegram will be sent to the executive of the steel workers approving their action. A resolution which had for its object the securing of better working conditions for hotel and restaurant employees was adopted.

Government control of the cigar industry in Canada was advocated in a resolution by London cigarmakers, who desired that it "should conduct the same for the benefit of the cigarmakers and the public."

The committee on resolutions recommended that the resolution be laid on the table indefinitely. The recommendation was supported by the congress.

Favoring direct Canadian representation on the executives of all international unions, and that the American Federation of Labor be petitioned to secure this, a resolution was proposed by Montreal Typographical Union. Some disagreement was evident with a number of the clauses, although the main purpose of the motion met with approval. It was referred to the committee for a substitute.

Will Consider Question.

The following committee was appointed to consider the question of police organization:

J. T. Gunn, Toronto; Albert Carle, Montreal; A. S. Woodward, Vancouver; ex-Mayor Richardson, Sydney, and R. Frammer, London.

Fraternal Delegate Sam Griggs of the American Federation of Labor, addressing the congress, referred to the unrest prevailing all over America at the present time.

"We have unrest in the country, and we have the criminal profiteer," he said. "The Government of the United States is conducting an extensive investigation into the cost of living, but I don't think much of those investigations. Unless the profiteers are placed in the jails, where they belong, we will not get much relief."

Mr. Griggs declared that the trades union movement was the best for the workers all over the world to follow if they sought to improve working conditions. The unrest was universal, he maintained, and if it was to be allayed, some relief must come soon.

"We have attempted to meet the situation," he said. "We have secured increased wages and attempted to meet the situation that way. That has only aggravated the situation, causing strikes, dissatisfaction, and cessation of work on all sides. It has been found that this is no remedy. Immediately wages are increased, Mr. Profiteer steps in and increases the cost of his goods."

Mr. Griggs then read sections of the reconstruction program of the American Federation of Labor.

An interruption came from one of the delegates, who characterized this portion of his speech as "rehash," but he was promptly rebuked by President Moore.

Miss Pauline Newman brought greetings from the National Women's Trades Union League of the United States. She referred to the influx of women into industry and the change in sentiment on the part of women generally toward the trade union movement.

Some women, she said, had come to the conclusion that the philosophy of the labor movement did not consist simply of a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

Wrong Philosophy.

"It is wrong to preach this philosophy," she said, "and it is wrong to teach it to those who come to us for wisdom and enlightenment. Nor is it sufficient to preach that if you get the eight-hour day everything will run smoothly for ever after. We want our working women who come to us for learning and who have been deprived of such an opportunity earlier in life, to understand the whole of our movement; to understand what we mean when we say that a "political democracy on one side and an industrial despotism on the other cannot and should not endure.

"There is something wrong somewhere, when you consider that there are about thirty-five to forty million wage earners and that there are only about 4,000,000 organized. Is it because our movement has failed to assert itself? Is it because it still clings to the old idea of getting higher wages and allowing the corporations to take it back in the higher prices of the necessities of life? There is something narrow, something wrong with our movement in the States. And I am saying this, not with a feeling of rejoicing, but with a feeling of disappointment. Our movement is not daring—it is still afraid. It is still begging instead of demanding. It is fearful of carrying to a realization its own convictions.

"I do not deplore the honest and sincere agitator, because today we are worshipping the greatest agitator in the history of the world—Christ," she declared. "Whether we believe in Christ or not, I believe that He was crucified because His agitation was opposed to the ruling classes of that time."

H. M. Draper submitted his report as secretary-treasurer of the congress, which showed that there were now 248,000 organized trades unionists in Canada, 160,000 being affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress. Total capital amounted to nearly $30,000. Six trades and labor councils were organized during the year, and 51 charters granted by the congress.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

How to Avoid Colds and Always Have a "Well" Nose

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

The sentinel of your lungs is your nose. Dust, grimy grit and 57 varieties of injurious microscopic matters are prevented from "getting by" this important sentinel. The olfactory sense is a signal of malodors, dangerous or disagreeable.

Your nose is wide open to invasion of all particles of dust and dirt, microbes and other little things that chase themselves here and there. But if yours is a healthy nose, it quickly disposes of these little parasites of the air. When the mucous membrane, however, becomes, in any event, swollen and inflamed in consequence of catarrhal states, it is liable to germ infection. Right then and there is where disaster may come.

It is absolutely necessary to keep the nostrils open for the free passage of air if you want to keep the nasal structures in a healthy state. Mouth breathing is entirely unpardonable.

While a healthy nose needs no care by means of sprays, nasal douches and the like, it is well sometimes to irrigate the nose and throat with alkaline antiseptic solution diluted three times in water. This procedure is refreshing and clarifying.

Nasal affections are likely to be found due to exposure to cold during high winds or chilly and damp weather, wet clothing, insufficient covering at night, sudden exposure to the weather of the portions of the body ordinarily protected by clothing and sitting in extreme draughts.

"Harden" Your Nose.

If you will notice, a nose that is "doctored," coddled, petted, "doped-up" and spoiled, like a pet poodle, generally catches "cold" most easily. On the other hand, if the nose is accustomed to cold atmospheres, cold water and sudden changes of warmth and cold, it escapes the clutches of those unhappy abominations, "colds."

Strange as it may seem, the ordinary handkerchief in any way, shape or form is absolutely unhygienic. Those that are stiffly starched do much to irritate the tender nasal tissues.

You never know just how many millions of germs are on your dainty little linen handkerchief or bandanna. But just follow this little every day procedure and you will draw your own conclusions as to how unwelcome the handkerchief may be.

The little fellow starts off to school in the morning. His mother sees to it that he has a nice, "clean" handkerchief. But before he gets to the breakfast table to eat his bowl of cereal his handkerchief has been used. After breakfast he wipes his mouth. On his way to school he may see a bunch of boys playing marbles or any other seasonable game. After joining them he wipes his hands on the handkerchief and continues on his way to school. Penknives, strings, marbles and what not are in the same pocket with the handkerchief.

Proper Nose Hygiene.

Yes, the mother may think these contents "cute" and boyish, but when they are kept in the same place with his handkerchief, some day the boyishness and "cuteness" will have been forgotten when disease or some kind of infection makes its way unwelcomely into the nostrils, throat and lungs of the little one.

Small bits of absorbent cotton should take the place of the old-fashioned handkerchief. They can be carried easily and snugly in a cotton gauze bag made pocket size. These modern hygienic pieces should be burned after use, of course.

In order to boast of a healthy and normal nose it is necessary that all bad hygienic conditions inside your anatomy and out be corrected. The shell-like shelves inside the horizon or sky-line of the nostrils called the "turbinals" must be compressed or anointed with glycerite of tannin. A morning and evening douche of the nostrils with an alkaline solution and water will clean out dirt and germs and make the nose antiseptic.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

How Madge Graham Won Her Way.

Well, Margaret, may I ask what this means?"

My mother-in-law asked the question with as much hauteur as if I were a stranger intruding upon the kitchen domain instead of the nominal—I stressed the adjective bitterly in my own mind—mistress of the place.

"I know it must be you who has cluttered up the place this way just as I want to use it, for Katie just unlocked the door from the service wing, so she hasn't been down before. What on earth do you think you're doing?"

My resentment at her rudeness was banished by the necessity I was under of controlling my risibles at her grandiloquent reference to the "service wing," which in our modest establishment consists of two rooms which Jim's handy fingers have constructed out of the upright portion of our attic. Yet never since they were completed has Mother Graham referred to them as anything else but the "service wing," while the door leading from the back stairs to the kitchen—in which Katie was standing, wide-eyed and wrathful—is always termed by my grandeur-loving mother-in-law the "door to the service wing."

"I took a strategic step toward my cooking table before I answered. My mother-in-law looked fully capable of sweeping its contents into the sink if she took the notion to do so.

"Why, I'm going to make Junior's birthday cake!" I said coolly.

How she managed to give the impression of stamping her foot without actually doing it, I don't know, but I could almost have sworn I heard the rap of it on the floor, absurd as I knew the idea to be.

Katie Interferes.

"What absolute nonsense!" she said contemptuously. "I've known you to make perhaps a half-dozen cakes since you began housekeeping, and goodness knows they weren't anything to brag of. Richard Second's birthday cake ought to be made by somebody with experience, and it will be. I've come down this morning, in fact, to make it myself."

Now there was not only rudeness, but injustice in this speech. It was true that I made cakes infrequently, because of Katie's efficiency in the culinary line, but I had Dicky's word for it—and he had an especially sweet tooth, as well as a fastidious taste—that they were uniformly excellent. Indeed, it was only in answer to his pleadings for an especial kind which appealed to him that I ever attempted cake making, for Katie, like all good cooks, is apt temperamentally to resent any one else's intrusion into her particular province. Indeed, it was for this reason that I had stolen down so early in the morning. I thought grimly that I should have set my alarm clock for midnight, for even Katie was almost an hour ahead of her usual schedule.

It was Katie who now took the floor. She advanced toward us, her head held high, her eyes fairly blazing.

"Vere you think I coom in here?" she demanded truculently.

My mother-in-law swept her with a withering glance, evidently preparing to crush her with one of her disciplinary lectures on rudeness.

"What do you mean, Katie?" I asked kindly.

"Margaret!" my mother-in-law exclaimed sternly, "Have the goodness to let me deal with—"

"Katie Could Kill!"

A torrent of words from Katie interrupted her.

"Years now, week in, week out," Katie began tempestuously. "I makes lots cakes, pies, everything nice, you all eat, say 'Katie, how nice!' 'Katie, do so good!'" her voice fairly dripped scornfulness. "And now dot leetle babee, he coom to hees first birthday cake, and Katie, she not good enough to make eet. Ven I tink how I plan me all time for dot cake me, joost same as eef I feex for my own babee vot never see me, oh—oh, I could keel! I could keel!"

She threw her arms above her head in an emotional gesture, then flung her hands before her face. To do Mother Graham justice, I don't believe she understand half what the girl said, and surely not the reference to the little dead baby, for my mother-in-law, while stern, is yet just, and has besides a strong undercurrent of human kindness running beneath her brusque exterior. And I am sure she never would have spoken in the manner she did if she had fully comprehended Katie's words.

"Margaret," she said coldly, "will you kindly take that girl out of the kitchen and keep her out until I get this cake made? I do not wish anything to disturb me, for it is a complicated recipe, and I certainly cannot think with a commotion like this going on."

I stepped quickly to Katie's side, seized her arm, for she had dropped her hands from her eyes at my mother-in-law's first words, and was looking at the elder woman with the expression of an outraged animal about to spring.

"Come with me, Katie, dear," I said softly into her ear, regardless of my mother-in-law's snort of disapproval of my gentleness. The girl stood tense for a moment, then with a wild burst of tears, Katie's invariable safety valve, accompanied me docilely enough to the library, while, bowing to the inevitable, I buried deep my plan for making my little lad's birthday cake.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26.

According to the astrological map this should prove to be an important and eventful day, the prediction being for sudden change or abrupt visitations of interesting character and out of the ordinary. Travel and removal are indicated, as well as lively movement in business transactions. There is need for discretion, however, in all dealings with others, and this applies to social and domestic matters as well, as Venus is under an adverse Lunar transit. Those in employment who are undefinably deserving may expect favors or promotion, and all matters in connection with publishing, publicity or contracts should thrive.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a fairly successful year, perhaps with removal or journeys, though a degree of discretion is called for. A child born on this day will be clever and original, and will succeed either in business for himself or in employment.

Robert Jaffray Strong, Courageous, Upright

THE memory of Robert Jaffray is still green. Following George Brown, his personality dominated The Globe. From 1888 to 1914 his presidency of The Globe emphasized its leadership in Canadian journalism, and laid broad and deep the foundation of The Globe's commercial success.

Robert Jaffray's devotion to Liberalism was conditional on that party's devotion to policies for the development of Canada and the betterment of Canadian life.

In this, and in his generous attention to the up-building of The Globe's news gathering organization, Robert Jaffray carried on the task the founder set for himself in 1844.

The Globe is not, and never will be, a party or political organ. It is a Great Family Newspaper. Throughout its long career it has possessed strong, courageous, upright men to carry on its policy of unswerving advocacy of the rights of the people.

The "Big Interests" have never influenced its decisions—nor gained the slightest control over its policies.

As the principal stockholder of The Globe, Robert Jaffray showered his care and attention upon the paper—building up its departments, giving them greater scope, being constantly in touch with its editors on all matters relating to The Globe's policy on political and general questions. When death called Robert Jaffray, on Dec. 15th, 1914, he left The Globe bigger and better for what he had done to further George Brown's ideal.

To-day its President, Mr. W. G. Jaffray, and The Globe directors and staff, are carrying on its affairs with a view to increasing its wide circle of influence—giving it more and more a place in every Canadian home.

The Globe is free to speak the thing it believes without consideration of any interest in finance or politics, other than the interest of the Canadian people.

The actual ownership of an important semi-public institution such as The Globe necessarily is a matter of public interest and the question frequently is asked: "Who owns The Globe"?

Mr. W. G. Jaffray, as President of The Globe Printing Company, in the 75th Anniversary Number, March 5th, 1919, said:—

"It is my conviction, as publisher of The Globe, that I should hold aloof from any financial investments the advancement of which possibly might conflict with the public interest. As chief owner of The Globe, it has been urged upon me to state in the first place, that the control of the capital stock of The Globe is in the hands of myself as the largest shareholder, and that the remaining shares necessary to constitute the majority holding are held by other members of the family of the late Senator Robert Jaffray; in the second place, that my holding of stocks other than Globe stock is limited to a very few shares of small value in two or three privately owned companies, which shares have been and still are for sale at the first reasonable market. This statement should convince readers of The Globe that there are no financial relationships to influence its direction and its policies."

"Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlysle H. Holcomb

IN HIS OWN TRAP.

Major Polecat took from his bundle some lumps of cherry gum and spread them out as smooth as he could on a log nearby. Then he scattered some berries about. "Now," said he, "watch me catch that saucy Jay when he comes this way." And he hid himself in the end of the log to wait.

It wasn't long until Jerry the Jay came flitting through the trees as saucy as ever. He soon spied the berries on the log. Then he was silent. The warm sun had softened the gum on the log, and when Jerry had decided that Major was away from home, he hopped over to the log and perched himself in the midst of the berries where the gum was thickest. He ate until the berries were gone, then he called at the top of his voice: "Major Polecat! Major Polecat, come out! All your berries are gone."

Major Polecat did come out of the log, to the surprise of Mr. Jay. But when Jerry the Jay lifted his wing to fly away his feet were fast in the cherry gum on the log.

"Now, will you call me names and make fun of my fur coat?" said Major Polecat. "I will have you for my supper."

"Please, Mr. Polecat, I was only fooling," cried Mr. Jay. "You wouldn't harm a poor Jay bird who has a family of four to feed?"

"What do I care about your family? I have a family to feed also, and you came and stole my berries."

"Oh, let me go, let me go!" pleaded Jerry Jay, "and I'll never do it again."

"It's too late now. You should have thought about that before. I'm going to pull every feather out of your wings and stick them in this log to warn your friends to keep away from my home."

Jerry Jay screamed and cried, but Major Polecat laughed. Tinker Bob was sorry to think of Mr. Jay's fate, but he dared not interfere. Major Polecat climbed upon the log and sat beside Jerry Jay and started to pull the feathers from his wings. Jerry screamed as one by one the feathers came out.

Jerry Jay Screamed and Cried, But Major Polecat Laughed.

Then there came to Tinker's ear another sound. Down the winding pathway came the Hunter's Hound. Major Polecat scented him and crouched close to the log. As he came closer Jerry the Jay screamed the louder. Then Major tried to climb down off the log. But sad, indeed, he, too, was fast to the log, in his own trap—the cherry gum.

Seeing the terrible condition of Major Polecat and Jerry the Jay Bird because of their greed and selfishness, and thinking both would be killed if something did not happen quick, Tinker raised his arm and threw the first stone the Little Old Man had given him at the Hunter's Hound. Instantly the scene changed.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS COULD EXIST THOUGH REJECTED BY U. S.

Clemenceau Says French Feel League An Insufficient Guarantee.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—(By the Associated Press).—The possibility of the ratification of the peace treaty and the covenant of the league of nations by the United States Senate; the consequences, in such event, to the guarantees for the future of France, and the question whether the league of nations could exist without the United States as a member, occupied the entire afternoon's debate in the Chamber of Deputies.

Premier Clemenceau, after declaring that the league of nations could exist even though rejected by the United States Senate, asserted that it was precisely because the French felt that the league of nations was an insufficient guarantee for some years to come that the protective treaties of alliance between France, Great Britain and the United States were drawn up.

Railway Strike in Britain May Yet Be Averted

Sir Eric Geddes Consents To Meet Leaders For Further Discussion.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—By a curious coincidence on the day that Sir Eric Geddes had formally taken up his new duties as minister of transport, the Government was confronted by an ultimatum threatening stoppage of the whole railway system of the country, unless a basis for the standardization of the men's wages, which has been in dispute since the month of March, is settled to the men's satisfaction. When it is remembered how fierce was the opposition the transport bill, which created the new ministry, met in its passage through parliament, the coincidence is perhaps not without significance.

The cabinet sat for three hours today, considering the crisis, after which it was authoritatively announced that the Government had intimated its willingness to continue the negotiations on the ground that some "misunderstanding" existed. Sir Eric Geddes consented to meet the men's leaders any time tomorrow morning. The possibility of avoiding a strike, therefore, looks more hopeful.

Increased Supplies of Foodstuffs Are Reaching Britain

Prices Tending To Come Down —Eight Food Ships En Route To England.

LONDON, Sept. 24. — (Reuter's Agency.)—For some months past increased supplies of food have been arriving in Britain from Canada and Australia in the holds of returning troopships. There are at present eight large troopships laden with food en route from New Zealand to England.

On the whole, food prices in Britain are tending to come down. It is claimed in some quarters that the moral effect of the profiteering act and the extensive creation of local committees have had a good deal to do with this fact.

Urges Co-Operation of Agriculturists and Labor Party

WINNIPEG, Sept. 24.—Co-operation between labor and agriculturists was advocated before a meeting of the executive of the Dominion Labor Party by Bruce Eddie, representing the agriculturists. Mr. Eddie declared "our interests are the same, and we must work together to get results."

The suggestion received the enthusiastic support of the executive.

Secretary Robert Ringland of the Labor party, stated today that plans were being made to hold meetings in Winnipeg and adjoining constituencies to further the idea.

"I have no doubt," he said, "that labor and the farmers will be co-operating in the near future."

WESTERN GOVERNMENTS WANT REPRESENTATIVES AT COMMERCE PROBE

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 24.—As a result of the announcement that the board of commerce is about to institute an inquiry at Montreal into the textile and boot and shoe industries, the provincial governments of Saskatchewan and Manitoba have got together and have decided that these western provinces shall be represented at such inquiry by counsel, in view of the tremendous importance of the high cost of living, clothing and footwear to the consumers of the west. It is believed that the Alberta Government will also join in this joint representation.

KINGSTON UNIONISTS TO MEET ON MONDAY

KINGSTON, Sept. 24.—There will be a meeting of the Unionist committee here next Monday night, when the question of a candidate will be under consideration for the by-election for the Ottawa House. Sir Henry Drayton has been mentioned as well as several local men.

FIREBUG STILL ELUDES POLICE; ANOTHER BLAZE

Brantford Department Called Out To Tenth Night Conflagration.

BRANTFORD, Sept, 24.—For the tenth consecutive night the Brantford fire department was called out here early this evening. An incipient fire was found in the Hyde Block, a three-story building. The fire was started by some one pouring gasoline on the partition in the top story and then touching a match to the partition. It was just caught in time owing to the fact that several lodges were in session and noticed the smoke.

Late last night stacks of oats and hay on the waterworks farm property were touched off at the time of the alarm. The arrest of a vagrant on a back street attracted a crowd of 2,000 around the police department, it being thought that the firebug had been caught. The vagrant was let go in the police court this morning.

RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

Receiving diplomas and pins, eleven members of the Brantford General Hospital training school for nurses graduated today. They were: Misses Clara Livett, Maude Saunders, Beatrice Reynolds, Georgia Leslie, Helene Baird, Elva Kenyrn, Hope Doeringer, Edith Jones, Lavina Gillespie, Gertrude Shaver and Clara Good.

TORY NOMINATION.

Hon. Dr. Cody will be the Government speaker at the Conservative nomination in South Brant on Monday next. It was announced today that the names of W. S. Brewster, F. D. Reville and W. N. Andrews would go before the convention. T. S. Wade has been appointed returning officer as Mr. Andrews resigned.

Brantford's entertainment of the Prince of Wales, which falls on Oct. 29, election day, will not include a ride in a high-power motor car. A coach-and-four with a tandem of the best horses in Brant County, trained by ex-Mayor J. M. Cameron of Paris, will be used, with cavalry of returned soldiers as an escort.

WANT IMPROVEMENTS.

The grand jury here today recommended many improvements to local public buildings. The House of Refuge was found particularly deficient. Fire escapes and fire extinguishers were strongly recommended.

IS ACQUITTED.

Mr. Justice Sutherland honorably discharged Ald. Harvey Clement in court this morning. A charge was laid by George Tomlin that he converted to his own use $700 paid him by Tomlin to keep Tomlin out of the army. Tomlin was put in the witness box and gave practically the same evidence as he gave in the hearing of the case in police court. Ald. Clement denied the charge in every detail. City Clerk Leonard was put on the stand and produced the record that he kept as military representative of the tribunal.

Judge Hardy in the witness stand testified that he had been associated with the defendant and Col. A. J. Wilkes at the tribunal. It was a criminal offence to try and influence a member of the tribunal, said the judge in review. In view of the fact that Ald. Clement had held a trusted position with the Verity Plow Company for the past fourteen years and was an alderman of the city and had been chosen to act on the tribunal, his record seemed to be without blemish. The document Tomlin produced did not prove his case and his lordship dismissed the charge.

SPILLED GASOLINE, FIRED BY LANTERN; TWO YOUTHS HURT

Chatham Lads Burned Severely While Filling Auto Tank.

CHATHAM, Sept. 24.—Ben Kovinsky and Charles Cohen were painfully burned in a fire which started in their automobile early this morning. They had been filling the gasoline tank and had apparently spilled some of the liquid on the seat. A lantern placed near the seat caused the explosion and the fire. Kovinsky was badly burned about the arms, trying to extinguish the flames. Cohen had both legs badly burned.

SETTLEMENT REACHED.

The fall sittings of the supreme court concluded here, a case of Mary Lyden versus the Thamesville Telephone Company being settled out of the court. The plaintiff claimed damages as a result of the death of her husband, who was fatally injured while working for the company. The defendants agreed to pay a sum of $1,500.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

A sequel to an automobile accident, which occurred a week ago, and as a result of which Ralph Conway of Wallaceburg was injured, was the appearance in police court this morning of Harry Jacques on a charge of reckless driving. He was fined $1 and costs, $11 in all.

REWARD OFFERED.

Auto thieves have been busy again in the city, and the civic reward as a result of action taken by the city council on Monday last is offered for information leading to the apprehension of the person or persons implicated in the thefts.

LIQUOR CHARGE.

J. H. Tyrrell, a local businessman, was arraigned in the county police court today on a charge of having liquor on places other than a private dwelling house. The case was enlarged until tomorrow.

MOTOR CLUB.

It is proposed to organize a Chatham motor club. During the past few months many Chatham motorists have become members of the Ontario Motor League, and there is a desire for a club to be affiliated with that organization. An organization meeting will be held Friday.

N. WATERLOO U. F. O. CANDIDATE DENIES HE WILL RETIRE

Gavin Barbour Declares He Has Assurance of Solid Farmer Vote.

KITCHENER, Sept. 24.—A rumor that Gavin Barbour, U. F. O. candidate for North Waterloo, is going to retire from the field was emphatically denied here today by Mr. Barbour. Mr. Barbour declared he has assurance of a solid farmer vote, and is prepared to stand by the convention at which he was nominated.

TURNS DOWN REPORT.

For the second time, the county council, in regular session here today, turned down the report of the board of management of the House of Refuge advocating the immediate construction of a $125,000 addition to the present institution. There were some hot passes between the supporters of the board and the opposition. Reeve Bohelender declared that he hoped all those opposing the measure for the sake of the almighty dollar would have the unique pleasure of spending at least six months in the poorhouse. The vote was 10 to 6.

An amendment that the board modify the plans so that the cost would be more moderate was carried by 11 to 5. Warden Pannabaker, in support of the measure, declared he would force the rural members to action by bringing delegation after delegation requesting ratification of the present plans for an extension.

LIBERTY LEAGUE ORGANIZED.

The organization of a Citizens' Liberty League branch in Kitchener was announced today by W. G. Weichel, ex-M.P. The officers are: Honorary president, Mayor Gross; president, August B. Lang; vice-president, Oscar Rumpel; treasurer, W. H. Schmalz; assistant treasurer, George Schnarr; secretary, J. F. McKay.

DENY WITHDRAWAL.

S. B. Bricker, president of the Liberal-Conservative Association, and C. H. Mills, M.L.A. for North Waterloo, both emphatically deny any connection with the alleged offer to the Independent Labor Party or the withdrawal of a candidate in North Waterloo if the Labor party would indorse the Citizens' Liberty League. They say if a proposition was made it did not have the sanction of the Liberal-Conservative executive.

THORPE—BOWMAN.

A very pretty quiet autumn wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bowman here today, when their daughter, Miss Mary Alberta, became the bride of Mr. Thomas C. Thorpe of Toronto. Rev. J. H. McBain officiated. After a motor trip to Detroit and points west, Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe will reside in Toronto.

SPLIT CAUSES TORY CANDIDATE TO DROP OUT IN S. ESSEX

WINDSOR, Sept. 24.—For the first time in the history of Essex County politics the Conservative party will place no candidate in the field to contest South Essex now represented in the Ontario Legislature by Lambert Wigle, Liberal.

Announcement was made today by William Smith of Kingsville, president of the South Essex Conservative Association, that the Government party had decided not to nominate a candidate to oppose Mr. Wigle. There will, however, be a contest, as the United Farmers' organization has selected Milton Fox as its standard-bearer, while Lewis Wigle, mayor of Leamington, will make the race as an Independent.

The selection of Mr. Fox, who has been associated with the governmental party more than a decade, caused such a division in the Tory party that it was deemed inadvisabel to make a fight against the Liberals. The government machine, it is said, will aid the Independent candidate.

ARMY, NAVY SECRETARIES, GENS. PERSHING, MARCH CALLED AS WITNESSES

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 24.—Subpoenas have been issued for the appearance in the federal court here of Secretary Baker, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and Generals Pershing and March, to testify as to demobilization in criminal proceedings brought against three liquor dealers charged with violation of the war time prohibition act.

The subpoenaes were issued upon application of counsel for the North Hudson Liquor Dealers' Association, who is seeking to prove that demobilization as referred to in the war time prohibition act was completed when his clients were arrested.

NEW MASONIC LODGE TO BE DEDICATED AT ST. THOMAS TODAY

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 24.—Masons from many towns in Western Ontario will gather here Thursday for the dedication of the newly-formed Talbot Lodge. The ceremonies will take place in Engineers' Hall, and will be followed by a banquet.

The Conservative convention for West Elgin will be held at Dutton town hall Wednesday next. The only name being mentioned as possible candidate is that of Hon. F. G. McDiarmid.

MAY USE CHURCH TO HOUSE PUPILS OF WINDSOR SCHOOL

WINDSOR, Sept. 24.—Appreciation of an offer from All Saints' Episcopal Church for the tender of its large Sunday school rooms to be used in caring for the overflow of Windsor pupils who are unable to find accommodation in public schools is formally expressed by Thomas C. Ray, a member of the board of education today.

The only stipulation required is that the board bear the cost of maintenance of the building while occupied. Directors of Central Methodist Church offered to rent its Sunday school room to the board of education, but stipulated a charge of $65 per month for the single room. The offer was declined.

Much hay was offered, but the demand was not great. One or two loads brought $27, but some very fine hay sold for $26.

Fruit was the feature of the market, apples, pears and grapes being offered in abundance. Pears are lower in price being quoted at 50 and 75 cents per basket.

Tomatoes were selling chiefly at 40 cents.

Hogs have taken a further drop. Yesterday's shipment brought only $16.50.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Fresh weakness in the corn market today resulted from lack of support and owing to the continued selling pressure from commission houses. The sales were said to be largely in the nature of profit-taking on the part of recent buyers. A popular view was that there had been advance enough for the time being, corn at the top yesterday showing an upturn of 12⅜c to 14⅛c in nine days. Opening prices, which ranged from 1¼c off to ⅛c gain, were followed by material declines all around, and then something of a reaction.

Oats gave way with corn. After opening unchanged to ⅜c lower, including December at 69¾c, the market continued to sag.

WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 25—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Steel shares were among the firmest issues at the opening of today's stock market, traders evidently viewing the strike situation with increased confidence. Other firm to strong features included oils, tobaccos and food issues, also motors and their specialties and shippings. Metals improved, despite the unfavorable semi-annual statement of the American Smelting Company. Equipments were hesitant on denial of Baldwin Locomotive recapitalization rumors, and changes among rails were confined to fractions.

"MICKEY'S" ADORABLE STAR

MABEL NORMAND in "UPSTAIRS"

by Perley Poore Sheean
Directed by Victor Schertzinger

A Ragtime Romance!

YOU'VE never heard of a Ragtime Romance, because there never was one until—

Mabel Normand as Elsie the hashslinger in a big hotel, decided to take a fling in society and discarded the overalls and cap in favor of short skirts and silk stockings.

—a millionaire "bellhop" fell before the spell of her brown eyes and magic smiles and courted her.

—a regular Hawkshaw decided he needed an arrest to hold his job and picked on her.

—an anti-prohibitionist marched on the scene to advance the cause of the "wets."

—a short-mustached French chef resented DOG SOUP and fired her.

—a little maiden lost her clothes and upset things by showing what she MEANT to conceal.

—a hissing villain villained once too often and got it in the neck.

SUN SMILES ON FAIR AT AILSA CRAIG FOR RECORD ATTENDANCE

AILSA CRAIG, Sept. 24.—The 52nd annual fall fair of North Middlesex, held here on Tuesday and today, was largely attended with ideal weather on both days. The exhibits were the best in all lines shown here for some time. Ladies' work was away above the average.

Mrs. Edgar Darling of Maple Lodge carried off most prizes in this class, with Mrs. Sibley of Parkhill as judge. In domestic work every class was well filled up; also in art, in which George Amos of Lieury took most of the prizes. The home-baking was excellent, Mrs. Archie Shipley being the most fortunate winner in this line. The butter display was good, and some first-class butter-makers competed in this. Mrs. Jas. McFarlane of McGillivary took the lead.

In fruit the display was not as good as in some years, but in roots and vegetables the classes were well filled, especially in vegetables.

In poultry, Messrs. Doan of Thedford and Uttley of the town carried off the most of the prizes. This year a new addition was built for the poultry display, and added improvement to the grounds. The livestock classes were all well filled, and good showing was made in all. The directors were well pleased with the attendance and with the exhibits.

President Edwin Phillips and Secretary George Stewart worked hard to make this year a success. The Birr brass band furnished music throughout the day, and a good array of booths helped to make everything go well. The races were the special attraction and drew a large crowd, the track being in excellent condition.

In the evening the town hall was packed to see "It Pays to Advertise," which was put on by the London Dramatic Club, assisted by the Kineto Orchestra.

Sunday afternoon a special rally day service will be held in the Presbyterian Church here, and the unveiling of the Sunday school war memorial.

Talking of Alarm Clocks

The reason we like to sell Westclox Alarms is that they seem to give such excellent satisfaction. Although they are guaranteed we never seem to have any need for a guarantee. Then again we know that if they are bought here they are likely to be sent here if an accident should happen, and it needed repairing, and no matter what is wrong with a Westclox Alarm it is an easy job to make it run again. There is Big Ben, Baby Ben, Sleepmeter and America to choose from.

"SAHARA" A GORGEOUS SPECTACLE OF THE ORIENT SHOWING AT THE MAJESTIC FIRST OF NEXT WEEK

Coming to the Majestic for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week will be a gorgeous spectacle of the Orient, which the management believes to be the most dramatic, soul-stirring drama set in the most lavish, colorful and artistic settings the screen has ever seen. This picture is "Sahara," starring Louise Glaum. C. Gardner Sullivan, the most famous of all photoplay authors, wrote "Sahara," which is a big Hodkinson picture presented by J. Parker Read, Jr., and supervised by Allan Dwan.

Louise Glaum plays the role of Mignon, the darling of Paris, on whom her American husband, portrayed by Matt Moore, has wasted his fortune. He takes over an engineering job on the Sahara desert and Mignon, against her wishes but lured by the promise of a visit to Cairo, accompanies him and dwells in a luxurious tent on the burning sands. But six months of the sand and the praying Arabs drive her to such an utterly depraved state of discontent that she leaves her husband and goes to Cairo with Baron Alexis (Edwin Stevens).

Years later she finds her husband, demented and a victim of drugs, and her child, begging in Cairo. He has sworn to kill the woman who wrecked his life. She, with every desire fulfilled except that of happiness, is moved to her first deed of real, loving sacrifice—the return of her husband's mind though it means her death. She does all in her power to cure him, and the day comes when she is recognized. What, then, of the butterfly who found her soul? Of the man who suffered a living death for the love of an unfaithful wife? Of the child who missed a mother's guiding hand when it was most needed? The climax will grip, surprise and please you.

KITCHEN GIRL HAS GREAT TIME TRYING TO BE "WILD WOMAN"

Mabel Normand At the Majestic Today, Friday and Saturday in "Upstairs."

While I have always tended strongly toward a close adherence to the golden rule, "with malice toward none and charity for all," I have in my possession some facts concerning a certain young lady of this town that, in the interests of the community, I feel morally obliged to divulge.

Something of a mysterious glamor surrounds this young lady, for although she has been in our midst for a number of weeks, and her escapades are well known to the habitues of a certain local hotel, I have been unable to find a person who knows something about her, other than she styles herself the girl from upstairs, and from some ulterior motive refuses to disclose her name. I have spoken to the girl and find her to be a conceited, meddlesome hussy of the "wine, women and song" type frequently seen in New York cabarets. During my conversation I was greatly shocked to hear her confess an ambition to lead the so-called "wild" life.

Out for Wild Time.

This girl from "Upstairs," I learn, recently secured a position as kitchen maid in the hotel, and in order to satisfy her ambition to be a "wild woman," deliberately took a hat and evening gown belonging to a guest. This theft, I have every reason to believe, was committed by the girl, with the help of a certain well-known young man who is the son of one of the wealthiest citizens and who has fallen a victim to the girl's wiles to the extent of working as a bellboy in a hotel to be near her.

Dressed in the stolen garment the girl went upstairs to the ballroom and proceeded to disport herself in a most unladylike and scandalous manner.

It is now rumored at the hotel where the young lady works that she plans an elopement with her wealthy bellboy admirer. I trust that the young man's father will read this letter in time to prevent this calamity, and sincerely hope that my letter will come to the attention of every person who holds the welfare of London at heart so that they may be duly warned of the harmful influences resulting from the presence of the girl who went "Upstairs" and there found a real ragtime romance.

Upon later investigation I find there is no cause for alarm, as the young lady referred to is Mabel Normand, and her escapades are no more or less than the incidents of her new big comedy-drama, "Upstairs," which is showing at the Majestic today, tomorrow and Saturday.

VAUDEVILLE BILL AT GRAND TODAY, HEADED BY SAM YEE TROUPE

Mary Pickford Continues To Please in "The Hoodlum," Her Latest Picture.

Although "The Hoodlum," Mary Pickford's great photoplay success, will remain at the Grand for the remainder of the week, an entirely new vaudeville program will be offered today, tomorrow and Saturday. For the last three days of the week, commencing with a matinee today, the management have arranged another bill of the greatest variety and quality, each and every act having been selected with the aim of maintaining the same high standard that was set the opening week of the new vaudeville season.

The headline attraction is the Sam Yee Troupe of Chinese sensational and novelty artists. These clever oriental entertainers offer London theatregoers something entirely different from the usual run in acts of a similar nature. Another big feature of the bill, and one which will be thoroughly enjoyed by all music lovers, is the offering of Fred S. Paine. Mr. Paine is recognized as the king of the xylophone, and he was formerly a soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. In his present vaudeville offering he is heard in a sparkling repertoire of popular hits.

Charles and Sadie MacDonald and Company will present a highly amusing one-act comedy entitled "The ex-Chief of Police." The Carr Trio in a delightful offering of varieties, and Swains' Cockatoos, an altogether unusual novelty from Birdland, are the other acts that are presented on this exceptionally attractive bill.

Unquestionably the greatest photoplay of Mary Pickford's entire screen career is "The Hoodlum," which has been playing to capacity audiences at the Grand all this week, and which will be presented again today, tomorrow and Saturday with a change of vaudeville program. The willingness of a girl to sacrifice wealth, comfort and luxury to which she has been accustomed in order to live with her father, although his abode was a tenement house, forms the central theme of "The Hoodlum." As Amy Burke, Miss Pickford's station in life switches from one of chummy roadsters, crepe de chine frocks, maids and money to pushcarts, poverty-stricken districts, the garb of the destitute and crap games with the east side boys.

SEAT SALE OPENS TODAY AT THE GRAND FOR "BIFF, BING, BANG"

"The Dumbells," the most popular group of Canadian soldier-actors in France, have been brought to Canada in their original form under the personal direction of Capt. M. W. Plunkett, and will present their biggest success, "Biff, Bing, Bang" at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 8:15 and Wednesday matinee at 2:30. These boys have a record of over five hundred performances near the front lines in France as well as a month at the Coliseum in London and a special engagement by royal command in Brussels shortly after the armistice, for which they were presented with a medal and address by the King of Belgium.

A decided novelty of the entertainment to Canadians is the fact that all the beautiful girl roles are played by real soldiers who have done their bit. They have been gowned and corseted by Lucille and other famous modistes of London and Paris, and it is little wonder that the boys use to remark upon the courage of such wonder "girls" in coming so near the lines and sometimes playing under artillery fire, for the identity of the "girls" was for a long time kept a guarded secret owing to the fact that the boys feared being joshed by the[illegible]. Now, "Marjorie" and "[illegible]" two of the most popular [illegible] vent over the top on [illegible]. The seat sale opens this
