HALF-MILLION SURPLUS.

Sir William Mulock Leaves Depart-

Ottawa, Oct. 19 .- (Globe Special). This year's surplus in the Postoffice Department is a striking exemplifica-tion of Sir William Mulock's success as an administrator. For the fiscal year ended June 30, the receipts exceede all expenditures combined by no less than $490,000. The public, therefore, has every reason to be grateful to Sir William Mulock, for he has wiped out the past deficits, caused a substantia reduction in taxation or charges, and left his successor a clean sheet and a surplus of half a million dollars. Government Proposes Changes Commons Rules of Debate.

Ottawa, Oct. 19 .- (Globe Special). It is expected that the Government will next session introduce some measure to reform the procedure of the House of Commons, in order to put an end to useless and unnecessary discussion, and expediate business.

One of the changes aimed at will be to prevent snap motions to adjourn the House. The change will probably make it necessary to obtain the Speak-er's permission before putting such motions, or provide that it shall be with mutual consent.

TO ENLARGE GOVT. PARK

A Scheme is Proposed by N. H. Stevens Which Will Improve Park

Government Has Been Induced to Consider Purchase of Mrs. Richardson's Property

Every influence is being brought to best upon the powers that be to have the Provincial Park at Rond Eau en-larged and improved, and if the changes asked for are made, there is no doubt that the Park will be ma-terially beautified and made far more accessible than it is at the present time.

Last week Mr. N. H. Stevens, of the Canada Flour Mills Co., received a letter from Mrs. Augustus Richardson, of Morpeth, in which she suggested a certain arrangement for the improvement of affairs. Mr.
Stevens took the matter up with the Government and as a result he is Stevens took the matter up with the Government and, as a result, he is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Cochrane, of the Department of Mines and Lands, saying he will consider the matter when he visits the Park this fall. Mrs. Richardson wrote to Mr. Stevens as he and the late Ruffus Stephenson, ex-M. P., were largely instrumental in the formation of the Park about to wars are

Mrs. Richardson owns a long strip of land that circles the foot of the Eau, and extends along the Howard and Harwich townline to the lake At present, admission ed to the Park by a road which runs through her property. It is proposed tat the Government should purchas this property and convert it all into one large park.

As a result of the change people would have an entrance to the Park would have an entrance to the Park over a mile long instead of having to drive down a dusty, sandy road, and the Government would then have control of all the shooting and fishing in the Eau, and thus the ranger would have power to stop the pothunting which prevails at the foot of the Eau off the Richardson property. They would also have control of a fine stretch of woods, which abounds with plover, squirrels, snipe, etc. It is said that one man shot 20 squirrels in these woods this fall. Mr. Stevens tried to negotiate a purchase of this property for the Government some time ago, but the price quoted, $10,000, was considered too high. It is understood that Mrs. Richardson will now sell the land for about $6,000, which is considered a reasonable figure.

MANNERS IN PUBLIC SERVICE.

Mayor Dunn, of Chicago, has in augurated some reforms and is striving to introduce others which have been very widely discussed throughout the world. His latest order is for politeness on the part of all He is making an efpublic officials. fort to establish better standards of conduct and deportment for the guidance of city employes in their dealings with the public, which should lead to an improvement that will be widely appreciated. The mayor has addressed a communication to the heads of his city departments, asking them to co-operate towards this Three of these officials have been constituted a committee to frame rules and regulations. Brusque and curt behavior towards the public is to be forbidden. All persons in the city's employ will be required to show courtesy toward visitors, to give civil answwers to all civil questions and in general make themselves agreeable both in dress and deportment. Citizens who have business to transact in public offices outside of Chicago do not need to be told that there is room everywhere for the proposed improvement, The attitude of many public employes toward outsiders too often is one of reluctant tolerance. Politeness costs nothing, but it is none the less valuable for that reason. To insist that the city government and all public employes be mannerly and obliging is to give them a clearer conception of their duties and increase materially their general efficiency.

SUCCESS FROM ADVERTISING.

The part, which advertising plays in the success of the merchants of our time is shown strongly in the business career of Senator Fulford, whose death from injuries received in an automobile accident has caused widespread regret. Senator Fulford made a fortune of $15,000,000, and his success was the result of judicious advertising. Other men have had things equally as worthy as his pink pills, but many of the others have shrunk from spending such large sums as he invested in giving publicity to his wares. the advertiser. As a matter of fact, advertising has become a business in itself, and among its workers includes many of the best minds of the land. In these days of keen competition no great success is possible to the merchant who neglects or refuses to advertise.

Continued success in advertising depends upon two points. First, the wares advertised must be such as will hold public confidence; secondly, the advertising campaign must be conducted with skill and energy. In former days merit alone was sufficient; to-day requires merit and an intelligent telling of that merit.

How a Wound Heals,

If you have run a pin into your thumb or received a bayonet thrust precisely the same thing takes place. A myriad of white corpuscles, those tiny "first aid" cells (the phagocites) from the surrounding blood vessels and lym-phatic glands at once come hurrying to the rescue. They begin to clean up whatever wreck there has been made in the skin and muscular tissue. They eagerly absorb into themselves or cluster opposingly about all foreign mat-ter that has been introduced into the wound. Then they proceed to pile themselves tier upon tier around it like so many little sandbags about a broken bastion. Later they gradually join together and solidify into the laver of new skin which appears beneath the sloughed off scab. They are at once workmen and repairing material.-A. W. Greene, "of this matter comes from what was told me by Messrs. Mack, Andrews and Sewell. When I returned from Europe in October, 1901, I surprised to learn from them during my absence they had decided to support Matos in his contest with Castro. I told them that I thought they had made a great mistake because what they had done was not acting in good faith with the State Department in Washington, which up to that time and largely on representations made by me to Secretary Hay, had supported the Bermudez Company to such an extent as to enable it, to con-tinued in possession of its property. I also told them my opinion that Matos could not succeed."

CAPTURED BY TRIBESMEN.

Two British Officers Carried Off in Tangier, Morocco, Oct. 18.—Two Fritish marine officers have been captrived and carried off by the Anjera tribe while returning to Ceuta from the British repair ship Assistance, recently wrecked in Tetuan Bay. They are Capt. John E. Crother and Lieut. Edward A. S. Hatton of the Royal Marines.

They had an escort of 21 Riff tribesnen and were attacked by half a dozen Anjeras under a brother of Vallento, the brigand chief, who was recently arrested at Tangier. The Riffs fled and the two officers were overpowered. The same band lately assassinated the Governor of Ceuta and his son. The Minister of Foreign Affairs, Mo-hammed El Torres, has opened ne Zotiations with their captors, whose object, supposedly, is to secure a ran-

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Stendy-Chicago Higher for Cattle and Hogs. on, Oct. 12.—Cattle are quoted at 11%c per lb; refrigerator beef, 96 Sheep, 11c to 12c per lb.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Receipts of live stock at the City Cattle Market yestarday were very large, totandag 122 cars, composed of 1633 cattle, 2504 hogs, 2441 sheep and 98 calves. Notwith standing the heavy deliveries, the market alken all round, was a decided improvement on that of Tuesday. Not alone was this noticeable in regard to the quanty of the stock, which was of a better grade generally, but the market had a snap about it, which was in striking contrast with some recent market days. There was a folicable absence of the castern or "bowser" stock and their place was largely supplied by a better class of stock. TORONTO LIVE STOCK. ""bowser" stock and their place was largely supplied by a better class of stock. It carnot well be said that the buoyancy extended to any appreciable advance in prices. In butchers of the best grales there was a demand, which would haze absorbed considerable more of that grade if it had been forthcoming.

Exporters.

Exporters.

Of exporters there was a small supply, indeed it is questionable if there was more than a car load on the market, which could be properly classified as such. Maybes Wilson & Hall sold il extra fine cattle to whim Levack for export purposes. Mr. Levack paid from $4 to $4.40 per cwt. for them.

Butchers.

For really good butchers' there was a brisk demand, a demind that cleaned up the market early in the day, but inferior stock was usually slow of sale. For extra choice butchers' as ligh as $4.25 was paid, but this was the exception. One fair load of butchers' brought $4 per cwt, and this may be regarded as a fair range of values. Good, useful butchers' cattle are warce and more would be taken at these prices. Canners are more plentiful than usual, the big run of inferior stock on the market tending to swell this grade. Canters were unchanged, selling from $2.25 per cwt, down to $1.75 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. Murbey reports a good trade for the per cwt, down to $1,75 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. Murbey reports a good trade for the best feeders, weighing from 1000 lbs. up. There was also a fair trade for the best stockers, with the common and medium grades slow. Mr. Murby paid $3,90 per cwt. for a load of steers, weighing abon 1050 lbs., this being the top price quoted on the market for this weight of steers. Mr. Murby bought 200 cattle at the following quotations: Best freeders, 1000 to 1130 lbs. each, at $3.70 to $4; medium feeders, 1000 to 1150 lbs., at $3.00 to $3.75; medium feeders, $50 to 1000 lbs., at $3.55 to $3.75; medium feeders, $50 to $0.00 lbs., at $3.55 to $3.75; medium feeders, $50 to $2.90; medium stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.55; good stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.40 to $2.65; common stock steers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.40 to $2.76; common stock steers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.40 to $2.76; common stock steers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.40 to $2.76; common stock steers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.90; medium stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.90; medium stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.90; medium stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.90; medium stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.90; medium stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.90; medium stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.90; medium stock heifers, 700 to $50 lbs., at $2.50 to $2.90; medium cows sell from $2.50 to $40; good medium cows sell from $2.50 to $40; good medium cows sell from $2.50 to $40; good medium cows and springers selling readily, with the demand in excess of the supply. The range of values was a wide one, all the way from $2.50 to $40; good medium cows and springers will command a ready sale.

The run of calves was a heavy one, sbout 100, and among them were some good ones. The lot in general was a good one and sold well. Wesley Dunn bought 75 at an average of $8 each.

There was a good lively demand for sheep and lambs. Wesley Dunn bought Sheep and Lambs.

There was a good lively demand for sheep and lambs. Wesley Duan bought 1000 lambs at $5,90 per cwt, and 200 sheep at $4.20. Mr. Dunn's quotations are: Export ewes, $4 to $4.25 per cwt., firm; bucks, $5.00 per cwt., firm, and calves, $2 to $12 each. Prospects good, trade good, market except.

each. Prospects good, trade good, market strong.

Mr. Alderson bought for the Harris Abatolr Co, lambs at from $5.90 to $6 per cwt, and sheep at from $3.50 to $4.25 per cwt.

Hogs.

The deliveries of hogs yesterday were 2361, as against 1326 on Tuesday, or more than 1000 additional. There was little to note in the general situation. There is a trudency towards higher prices, as already for cested in the early part of the week, tho yesterday's prices give no indication of any material change. Mr. Harris last night reported the market as weak, with the prospects for lower prices.

"My price," interrupted Mr. Gillespie, "will be $60."

"Isn't that a little steep?" "Not at all, everything considered."
The manager tried to beat him down to $50, but he was immovable, and the bargain was finally closed at the first named figure.

"Alpheus," said Mrs. Gillespie after the caller had gone, "wasn't that more than you intended to charge him when he first spoke?" "Yes;" he said; "it's just twice as much. But he irritated me thirty dol-lars' worth by calling it 'progr'm.'"

What Gave the Earth Its Motion? You have often asked or had the question asked of you, "What gave the earth its daily motion, and how is the force of that motion kept up?" but have never been really satisfied with the answer given or the reasons therefor which you were able to advance in ex planation. The astronomers are not even agreed upon this question. Some of them claim that the "original initial centrifugal force" was directed in a line slightly to one side of the center of the globe, which would, of course, cause the earth to rotate upon its axis, and by the law of inertia of matte must continue to revolve at a uniform rate of speed. This "law of the inertia of matter" is to the effect that matter once set in motion must continue to move until arrested by some outside force. Others claim that the motion is a "compound resultant of the motion of the earth in its orbit and the attraction

THE MOTHER-IN-LAW ABSOLUTE

HER STRANGE POSITION AMONG MANY OF THE WORLD'S PEOPLES.

Races Where She Is Neither Permitted to Speak to Nor Look Upon the Husband of Her Daughter—Theories About This Queer Custom.

Among the Arawaks of South America it is unlawful for a young man to see the face of his mother-in-law. If they live in the same house a partition must be set up between them. If they go in the same boat she has to step in first, so as to keep her back turned ou him. Rochefort says: "Among the Ca ribs all the women talk with whom they will, but the husband dare not converse with his wife's relatives except on extraordinary occasions."

In many parts of Australia a woman will not look at her daughter's husband at all hazards. She hides whenever be comes near her, going out of her way to avoid him, and if it is impossible she hides her face with her cloak. She would not mention his name for any thing in the world. The Kaffir woman hides behind a bush and holds a shield to her face. She would far rather speak to a stranger than to her son-in-

Franklin, who gave much time to the studies of the North American Indian assures us it is considered extremel. improper for a woman to speak to her son-in-law, and when she has any im portant communication to make it is considered proper for her to turn her back on him and speak by means of a third person. The same law holds good among the Sioux and Dakotas, and if violated the offender is punished by having his garments torn from his back and thrown away. With the Oma-has neither the father nor mother has anything to do with the son-in-law nor he with them. They will not look at one another or speak his name.

In his travels to Timbuctoo Caillies narrates that from the moment of betrothal the lover is careful not to see the father and mother of the bride They avoid each other all the time. He says, "I tried in vain to discover the origin of the whimsical custom, but the only answer I could obtain was, 'It is our way."

This custom extends beyond the re-lations. If the lover is of a different camp he avoids all the inhabitants of the women's camp, except a few intimate friends whom he is permitted to visit. A little tent is generally set up for the son-in-law, and when he is obliged to cross the camp he covers his face. This custom exists among Indian tribes and extends far beyond.

In the tribes of New South Wales th young man, when courting a girl, avoids her mother as much as he can and grows more distant after he is married. With some Victorian tribes the estrangement is even greater-the mother and aunt as well may not look at the young man nor speak to him from betrothal to death. When they speak before each other they have to use a turn language. Under no con dition would the young man dare to neak to his wife's mother.

Maclean, who studied this custom mong the Zulus of Africa, says daughter-in-law must cut herself off from her husband's relatives. She is not allowed even to pronounce their names mentally. This statement shows that in some countries the girl must gnore her husband's relatives as much s he does her mother, but this is less requent.

In Asia among the Mongols and the almucks a woman dare not speak to er father-in-law nor sit down in his resence. Uallas in an interesting york on the Ostiaks of Siberia declares that a young married woman avoids her father-in-law whenever she can, ally during the early years of he married life. In the meanwhile the husband is not expected to see anything of his mother-in-law. If he meets ner by chance he hides. In China, after the wedding day, a man never sees the face of his daughter-in-law. A similar custom exists in Borneo and the Fiji islands.

Some people consider it absolutely criminal for a young man even to give stray glance to his mother-in-law a stray giance to his mother-in-law, however good looking she is. They say that they must not look on her lest they go ad. It is the fashion with some traces in central Africa to sit with bent knees in their presence and not to put their feet out. A Kongo proverb states: "My mother-in-law is angry with me, but what do I care? We do not eat from the same dish." Some men will speak to their mothers by marriage, but will not call them by name. This is true of the people of the Torres strait.

Many more instances might be men-tioned, but these are enough to show that the position of the mother-in-law among many peoples is strange. The cause for it is not positively known. Sir John Lubbock feels that its brigin lies in capture where a man really seized his wife. This aroused the in-dignation of the girl's parents, who resented his doings by treating him with great scorn. Gradually this capture was only make believe, but the mother-in-law still shows her disapproval by having nothing to do with her daughter's husband. Professor E. B. Taylor says it is an act of cutting. When a young man comes into a family he is ignored; he is at least not considered one of them. Both explanations may be true in part, but they do not tell the whole story. It is more likely that a feeling of rivalry and jealousy is at the bottom of it all.

"I was walking across a field with my dog at my side when a young rabbit emerged from a wood close by, says a writer. "Suddenly it fell to the ground and was to all intents dead. The dog sniffed it, and I watched it for about ten minutes, thinking it absolutely dead. I walked away about fifty yards, when I looked back and saw the rabbit rise and run rapidly into the wood whence it came. It is evident that it saw the dog and dropped down out of fright."

sturer, so much that their strength leaves them; they are so prostrated that it takes days for them to recover their strength. Of course, such periodic distress has its bad effect on the nervous system. The wither of the third those curves which lend so much to feminine beauty, are the unmistakable signs of womanly disorders.

Mrs. Langtry has well'said: "The keystone to physical beauty is perfect health. A sick woman cannot be a beautiful woman, nor can she be anything but what we English call a poor-spirited woman. To a great extent a woman's beauty is measured by her vitality—by her health." A famous specialist in woman's diseases, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has always advocated for young women's happiness absolute freedom from care and anxiety; at least eight hours' sleep out of every twenty-four, in addition a short nap in the middle of the day, if possible. Simple in-door exercises or brisk walks in the out-door air. For some this is impossible, and many are confined to a continual in-door life because of disease of the womanly organs. To these is offered $500 reward if they cannot be cured of Leucorrhea, Pemale Wealtness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb. All Dr. Pierce asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure.

No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No other remedy has such a record of a third of a century of cures on which to base such a remarkable effer.

DIPLOMACY.

A Polite Business Very Much Eike

Diplomacy is a matter of business though a polite business, hedged about by etiquette and forms and adorned with a few fril's. Get behind the lingerie and the lingo and go to the heart of the thing and you will find it very much like the practice of law. The man with the best case ought to win, and when he doesn't and the man with the poorer case does win it is because he is the better man and knows better how to present his case and how to handle it. There is another popular notion that the American diplomat le establishment is weak because our representatives abroad contend with men trained all their lives in the diplomatic school. We have no permanent diplomatic establishment. Our ambassadors and ministers abroad are picked from law offices, editorial rooms and even counting rooms. Usually they have had no previous acquaintance with diplomatic work. Yet nine times out of ten they are more than a match for the men they have to deal with abroad. Breadth and strength of character, knowledge of human nature and experience gained in the rough and tumble of life count for quite as much as, the other fellows' dilettante culture. It is the indement of the est observers throughout the world that our successful American lawyers and editors easily hold their own against their competitors. - Walter Wellman in Success.

HOW BROKERS WORK. MASON AND DIXON'S LINE.

Four Different Kinds of Operators

Who Execute Orders. Let's see what a broker is exactly. He's the man whose services you must eek if you wish to buy or sell stocks. You can't do a thing in Wall street without that broker. You can't fill your own orders in Wall street any more than you can fill your own teeth. The broker is to you as a speculator what a dentist is to you as a man with

Now, operations on the floor of the Stock Exchange are conducted by four groups—first, by individual speculators who trade on their own account, and these of course are members of the exchange; second, by brokers who lend money for banks; third, by commission houses which buy and sell bonds and stocks for persons not members of the exchange, and, fourth, by specialists who are also called floor brokers, and oftentimes "dollar brokers" or "two dollar brokers," and who execute orders for commission houses. In turn, commission houses are of two kindsthose that conduct one home office and many branch offices connected by private wire, and those that conduct a local and mail business.

To a broker in one of these classes your order is given. In executing your orders and those of others the broker's earnings may be any sum from $10 more usually $100-to thousands a day.

The Sprend of Banking.

The Bank of England was estab-lished in 1694, the Bank of Scotland a few years later, and these institutions were not long in finding imitators. As trade in the provinces increased, sub-stantial men began to feel the inconvenience of being their own bankers and retaining all their wealth in their oaken chests. Gradually they began to open accounts with some of the London bankers, which they utilized for their business transactions. Doubt-less such men were beset by many friends and customers to accommodate them through their banking account, and thus the well to do trader developed into the country banker with his London agent, who much preferred to do business and incur carriage and postage with some one leading firm in a town to having several small cusfomers in the same place.-London

The Pensions of Europe.

A traveler who has toured Europe with his wife at $4 a day for the two declares that the pensions are the ba of his cheap travel. In every conti-nental city visited they easily found delightful pensions at $1.20 a day each. The pensions have not the style and display of the hotels, but they have all the comfort and the servants' fees are fewer and smaller. Breakfast includes bread and coffee, nothing more. Luncheon and dinner are course meals, very much alike. Some one in the nouse always speaks English.

To Tell a Horse's Age.

The age of a horse cannot always be told by looking at its teeth. After the eighth year the horse has no more new teeth, so that this method is useless for a horse which is more than eight years old. As soon as the set of teeth is complete, however, a wrinkle begins to appear on the edge of the lower eyelid, and another wrinkle is added each year, so that to get at the age of a horse more than eight years old you must count the teeth plus the wrinkles.

Commonly Known as the Line Be-

Mason and Dixon's line between Pennsylvania and Maryland has been surveyed three times. The first survey was made by Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon between 1763 and 1767 at the instance of the Lords Baltimore. proprietors of Maryland, and the Penn family, proprietors of Pennsylvania. The line was 250 miles long. At the end of every fifth mile a stone was planted bearing the arms of the Penn family on one side and on the other the arms of Lord Baltimore. The intermediate milestones were marked simply with P and M. The first revision of the survey was made in 1849 and found, as did the last revision, that the original survey was substantially cor rect. Mason and Dixon's line, commonly known as the line between the north and the south, runs on parallel 89° 43' 26.3" and should be distinguished from the line of the Missouri compromise on parallel 36° 30'. Mason and Dixon's line never had anything to do originally with the question of slave and free states, but achieved an accidental association at the time of the Missouri compromise in 1820, when John Randolph in congress referred to It as separating freedom from slavery. After that it was commonly referred to

tion.-Youth's Companion HANDKERCHIEFS.

They Are Often a Source of Grave Danger to Washerwomen

in all controversies on the slave ques-

Statistics have shown over and over again that washerwomen are much more likely to contract tuberculosis and actually suffer from the disease in much larger proportion than other working women of the same grade of life. This is due to the fact that the expectoration of the tuberculous tients clinging to their various articles of clothing is not rendered nonvirulent by antiseptics or by boiling before they come into the hands of the washer woman. It is particularly handkerchiefs that are the most dangerous in this respect, and the enforcement of sanitary regulations with regard to expectoration is sure to add to this danger. It would be well if the Chinese custom of using a paper handkerchief (which the Chinamen of the better classes would disdain to carry with him once it has been soiled, but which he hands over to his servant to be disposed of by burning) could become the rule in this country. Until it does, however, physicians should call the attention, especially of those suffering from tuberculosis, to the necessity for having their handkerchiefs soaked for some time in a sui able antiseptic solution before allowing them to be sen out to become a possible danger for the overworked and underfed poor.

West's Wealth Amazes Visitors. Twenty-five American agricultural editors, who have been touring the Canadian West, reached Winnipeg on their return journey on September 2 Prof. Shaw, one of their number, said "The contemplation of this gree country is bewildering, whether viewed from the standpoint of size or return the size of size or return the size of size or return the size of size of size or return the size of size of size or return the size of s country is bewildering, whether viewed from the standpoint of size or resources. In size it is an empire. Our party has been traveling over it as fast as an engine could carry us for the past sixteen days, and we have only seen a very limited portion of its entire area. Its resources are almost fabulous in the aggregate, whether viewed from the astandpoint of minerals, timber or agricultural production. But, beyond all question, agriculture in this country will be its greatest industry through all centuries. The first foot of the soil in the three Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is its greatest natural heritage. It is worth more than all the mines in the mountains from Alaska to Mexico, and more than all the forests from the United States boundary to the Arctic Sea, vast as these are. The entire party is simply entranced with what they have seen."

John Piggott was the speaker.
Continuing he said: "It dealt with the necessity of pedestrians keeping to the right when entering or leavto the right when entering or leaving the post office, and also of venicles doing the same on the streets. Now I think it is time that the people were educated to this in all its stages. I think Chatham is about the worst place I ever saw for that. People on the streets stand and talk, blocking up the entire sidewalk passage way and pay no heed to other pedestrians.

"Of all places, I think London "Of all places, I think London, England, is the easiest to get about in. With its thronged thoroughfares there is not as much trouble as here in Chatham. The larger the place the easier it is for people to get about, either on foot or in vehicles. Why is this? Because the people are educated to it and because they are compelled by city ordinances. In France the vehicles pass as they do here—to the right, but in London, England, the more sensible method of passing to the left is adopted. By this method the drivers can see where they are driving and use inches where we use feet. Then again it is time that some steps were taken to stop this practice of blocking King street with vehicles. Surely there is plenty of room in the city to tie horses without lining them all along the main street. When the electric line is running the street will be completely blocked unless something

A Pink Slipper Comedy

By A. M. Davies Ogden

Copyright, 1905, by A. M. Davies Ogden

"But it is the footprint of an ideal." exclaimed Duverney incisively. "Observe the dainty little toes, the fainter mark which indicates the arch, the slender grace of the whole."

Among a confused mass of footprints this one stood out clear and distinct, and Duverney was kneeling on the sand enthusiastically remarking each beauty. "Can't belong to one of the women at the chateau. Mme. la Comtesse, never; Mme. de Nevers-humhardly. Now, if the little American girl had arrived! But I believe she comes not until tomorrow."

of the East Kent License Commissioners in Bothwell last Thursday.
Mr. and Mrs. Corlett, Sr., of Zone, visited their daughter, Mrs. Albert Elgie, last week.
Wm. Ellis has returned from the "And she is from Chicago, the home of monstrous pedal extremities," said his friend lightly. Duverney smiled. "True, it could not be she. Indeed, I doubt if this is a woman's foot at all; more likely it belongs to one of those children," indicating a group of merry youngsters playing at the water's edge. COULD NOT BE BETTER.

The uniform success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has won for it a wide reputation and many people throughout the country will agree with Mr.
Chas. W. Mattison, of Milford, Va., who says: "It works like magic,
and is the best preparation I know of. I couldn't be any petter." He had a serious attack of dysentery and was advised to try a bottle of this remedy, which he did, with the result that immediate relief was ubtained. For sale by all druggists. "Well, we had best be going on, too, or Marie will think us lost." Yet still he lingered. "It is a lovely foot," he declared.

"That looks more as though it might belong to your Chicago divinity," jested Chatillon, pointing to the reproduction of a square toed monstrosity.

"The warm day must have tempted the nymphs to cool their feet," responded Duverney. "Ciel." For as they turned the rocky projection of the little cove the two men found them-selves facing a girl, a slender, brown haired girl, who gazed back at them with wide, startled eyes. Every trace of foot was carefully concealed by the white linen skirt she wore, only a small corner of forgotten silk stocking betraying that everything was not in its proper place.

"Ciel," muttered Duverney again, shocked into a sudden sense of her beauty. But the warning flash in the must be one of his sister's guests, he reasoned swiftly. Then he would meet her later.

It was tea time before he saw her again. The great hall of the chateau, with its tapestried walls, huge fireplace of stone and subdued lights fil tering through crimson lamp shades, ter, the bubbling of the tea urn add ing a note of homeliness and comfort. For a second Duverney hesitated, then he crossed the hall and sank into a big chair by her side. She was clad in a fluffy tea gown. She looked very sweet and very young.

'CLOTHILDE GAVE IT TO YOU?

noiselle will have tea?" asked Duverney lazily. "No? Nor cakes? How sensible!" The girl shrugged an indifferent shoulder, but the man, catching the angry little sparkle in her eyes, smiled to himself. "I think we have met before," he began, conversationally. The girl, her lips parting indignantly, turned, but he met her glance with one of calm innocence. "Perhaps mademoiselle does not remember. But, indeed, how should she?" with a sigh. The glint in the gray eyes deepened.

"Really," she said. "There were two rsons talking near me this afternoon. Perhaps' — carelessly. Duverney raised his brows. "Made noiselle possibly overheard our foolish chatter," with polite concern

"But surely what we said could not have applied to her." The subtle irony in his tone was not lost on the girl's quick ear. She flushed.
"It happens that I am the little American girl to whom you referred," was her crisp response. "And in my coun-her crisp response. "And in my country gentlemen"—with emphasis on the word—"do not discuss ladies" "— "Feet," suggested Duverney imper-turbably. "How different are the customs of countries! It is a most fascinating study, don't you think?" Miss Henderson surveyed him for a moment; then a faint curve dawned at the corners of her mouth.

"Countries, you mean?" she queried demurely. "Yes, I must confess that I am constantly picking up new and astonishing bits of information over here." A moment longer her eyes lingered on the good looking countenance opposite. After all, though he had come upon her at an awkward moment, t was not entirely his fault. If he had errived ave minutes earlier-been so foolish? But the sight of the children splashing about in the cool sunlit water had been too much for ner scruples, and, besides, who would have dreamed of any Frenchman dismissing the carriage at the station to walk across the beach? As for his remarks— The smile broke into a be-witching dimple.

"I believe that I will have some tea after all," she said sedately. "Yes, and cakes, too, please. Thanks."

Duverney went to his room that night absolutely bewitched. What a girl! By breakfast time his plans were makured but to the man's disappointment all his suggestions were negatived. She did not walk or golf or play croquet. Duverney was puzzled, and his bewilderment was deepened when, on arising unusually early a morning of two later, he caught from his window a glimpse of the girl coming briskly down the woodland path. She did care for exercise sometimes, then. Was it that she did not wish to be alone with him? He would try to discover. Accordingly at breakfast he suggested a ride on horseback. The girl hesitated, then yielded. As she ran to change into her riding habit the man smiled a little to himself. At last he must see her feet, but as she put forth her foot for him to mount her he started and almost broke his guard. Instead of the small patent leather boot he had expected, on his hand rested a shoe, well enough made indeed, but clumsy and enormous. Duverney bit his lip.

"You see I uphold the traditions of Chicago," laughed the girl, trying to brave it out. But Duverney was silent. As she dressed for dinner that night the girl was conscious of a vague dissatisfaction. After all, she need not have worn quite such awful boots. She hurried into her prettiest frock and daintiest slippers. The hall was quite empty save for Duverney, who came forward, his pocket bulging oddly.
"I—I've got to make a clean breast of it," he said. "I knew that you were playing a trick on me this afternoon, that the big footprints on the sand must belong to the children's nurse. Because—look here," and with a sud-den flush he produced from his pocket the tiniest of pink slippers. "When—when I said that I had seen you before I did not mean on the beach," he conessed. "I meant a month ago at Dinard. I had to leave suddenly, but I contrived first to find out who you were and arrage to have Marie meet And-and I bribed the chambermaid for this," shamefacedly. "Yourour door was open one day, and I saw

"What?" gasped Miss Henderson, in whose mobile face varying emotions were contending. "Clothilde gave it to you? Why, she never told me-that suddenly realizing her slip. Duverney bent closer.

"She did tell you other things, then," he asserted eagerly. "What, tell me what?" pulling her gently behind the screen. Miss Henderson hesitated. Impulsively she took a step forward.
"Listen," she began. "I—I learned that Mme. la Baronne was your sister. I knew you would be here." For an instant the clear eyes drooped in maiden shyness, then, with an adorable smile, she raised her face to him. "I-I also aw you, monsieur," she whispered.

Laundry Marks.
The numbers or letters used by American laundries to distinguish their patrons' garments are disfiguring enough, but we are fortunate in that the collars and cuffs do not come back from the wash tagged with the business card

In certain parts of France the name and address of the laundry are stamped on each piece sent home, and should several laundries be patronized, one after the other, a fine collection will oon be found, in addition to geometrical marks indicative of the owner of the garment. In Russian towns laundry marks are under police supervision, in this manner a refugee who makes his way to another town upon a forged pass-port is liable to detection unless he can porrow linen with the mark of one of the town laundries upon it.

Bulgarian laundries employ rubber stamps with ornamental designs, while in Germany the laundry comes home tagged with a small cloth label attached with a heat and waterproof cement.

A few years ago a black woman in Natal was charged with drunkenness. With a surprising grasp of the law, however, she pleaded guilty, but urged that the bench had no power to deal with the charge, as she was on private property. Somewhat chagrined, the police withdrew the charge, but taxed her with being in possession of a quan-tity of liquor. The delinquent in the dock again admitted the charge, but in triumphant tones pointed out that the said liquor was contained within her skin and that such a method of conveyance or possession was not an offense within the meaning of the act. After such a subtle defense the lady of much legal learning deserved to escape, but the prosecutor, with a weary smile, inverted the seemingly empty bottle, and, to the annoyance damsel, who imagined that she had drained it to the last drop, the said last drops slowly dribbled out, and a conviction followed. - Dundee Advertiser.

Foolish Man's Blunder. "Well," said Mrs. Happerson, "I'm glad I have at last convinced you that you were mistaken."

"You haven't convinced me," her husband wearily replied. "You have merely shown me that it is foolish to reaon with a woman."

After which the argument was reumed at the same old place,—Chicago Cows. Record-Herald.

Knew Where He Was. Some one asked Speaker Reed how he felt while the uproar about the rules of the Fifty-first congress was going on and while the question was in doubt.

"I knew exactly what I was going to do if the house did not sustain me,' he replied. "When a man has decided upon a plan of action for either contingency he has no need to be disturbed. Did you ever think what a soothing thing it is to know exactly what you are going to do if things do not go your way? You have then made yourself equal to the worst and have only to wait to find out what was ordained before the foundation of the earth."

"But how did you feel when the tumult was the highest?"

"Just as you would feel if a big crea-ture was jumping at you and you knew just the length of the chain and were quite sure of the weapons at hand.'

It was this sureness of footing which gave the iron willed man his marked serenity of temper.

DISEASE THAT WORKS OVERTIME

Dyspepsia Once Started Never Quits Till Stopped-Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the One Sure Way to Stop It.

Some diseases have peculiar seasons in which to do their deadly work, but there is one that works all the time and overtime at that. Once started Dyspepsia never quits till it is stopped and there is only one sure way to stop it and that s by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tab-

HEAT AND LIGHT.

The Difference in the Penetrating Ability of Their Rays.

The rays of heat and light are quite ndependent of each other in their ability to penetrate different substances For illustration, glass allows the sun's heat to pass through as readily as it does the rays of light, and that without heating the glass too. If the glass be coated with 'ampblack, however, the rays of light are arrested, but the heat passes through as before, not a single degree's difference in the latter phe nomenon being noticeable. Then, again, both heat and light pass through water, provided it is clear. One of the oddities in this connection is this: Al-though the heat and light pass through water in its normal state, the addition of a little powdered alum, which readily dissolves without leaving the least nurkiness, will arrest the rays of heat to such an extent as to almost immediately raise the temperature of the water to a perceptible degree, yet the light continues to pass through as before.

Ice, like glass, also transmits both heat and light. Dr. Sutherland in "Observations Upon the Icebergs of Baffin's Bay" says: "Several pieces of granite were found deeply imbedded in ice without any communications with outside air. These were all surrounded with what might be termed an atmosphere of water." The explanation of such an oddhy is this: The heat passing through the ice had been absorbed by the stones until their temperature had been raised to a degree sufficient to melt the ice around them.

A WEST AFRICAN CITY.

The Capital of Liberia Was Name After President Monroe.

Monrovia was named after the cele brated president of the United States, Monroe, who is responsible for that doctrine which inhibits any European nation from further conquests in the new world. The capital of Liberia is divided into two parts, the low and shoreward sections being given over to arge settlements of Kru boys and indigenous negroes, while the upper part of the town is inhabited by Amer co-Liberians and European consuls and raders. This civilized part of the town s composed of broad grass grown streets and substantial, well built, comely looking houses, churches, offices and public buildings.

This smart appearance of the houses is in somewhat striking contrast to the neglected condition of the roads. These have never been made and are simply the unleveled rock of more of less flat surface. Consequently at the present time they are absolutely unsuited to any vehicle, though I have een an enterprising Liberian negotiate them with a bicycle. They are generally covered with a very short, close tuft of thickly growing plants, which is kept in the condition of turf by the constant nibbling of the pretty little cattle that frequent the streets of Monrovia. A less agreeable feature are the pigs, which exist in great numbers and perform the office of scavengers .-Sir Harry Johnston.

A Whistler Retort. James MacNeill Whistler, the artist, was appreciated among his friends as much for his trenchant wit and sarcastic sayings as for his genius. A young lady on one occasion, her first meeting with Whistler, was giving vent to her appreciation of the "artistic tomperament" and was evidently of the opinion that she possessed that requisite herself.

"It is wonderful," she said in conclusion, "what a difference there is be tween people."

"Yes," replied Whistler, "there is great deal of difference between matches, too, if you only look clos enough, but they all make about the same blaze."

London Bea

In the year 1700 John Cary had this to say about London and its beggars: "He that walks the streets and observes the fatigues used by the beg-gars to make themselves seem objects of charity must conclude that they take more pains than an honest man doth at his trade. Beggary is now be come an art of mystery, to which children are brought up from their cradles Anything that may move compassion is made a livelihood, a sore leg or arm or, for want thereof, a pretended one."

Cheerfulness is one of the great miracle workers of the world. It re-enforces the whole man, doubles and trebles his power and gives new meaning to his life. No man is a failure until he has lost his cheerfulness, his optimistic outlook. The man who carries a smiling face and keeps cheerful in the midst of discouragements, when things go wrong, when the way is dark and doubtful, is sure to win.-Success Magazine.

"Did the father give the bride

"I should say he did. He got rat-tled, and what do you think he said as he handed her over to the bride-groom? 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

DREAMLESS SLEEP.

There Is No Such Thing, According to an English Scientist.

English fame, there is no such thing as dreamless sleep; that thinking is involuntary-to the extent at least that we cannot cease to think under any order of the will; that thinking never the continuance of life; that dream thinking is uncontrolled and undirect ed by the will, is never coherent and concentrated, is more or less of the same character as thinking in delirium and constitutes a state of mental dis order which is not a state of disease that thinking when awake is always to some extent under the control of the will by which it is directed to a subject and kept there; that there are many degrees of sleep and wakefulness and as many degrees of efficiency in the controlling power of the will; that thinking, like breathing or the beating of the heart, does not cause a sense of weariness, though all three have a wearing effect on all the organs con cerned; that the will's inhibiting and directing work brings fatigue and a demand for rest; that the will finds this rest and refreshment in sleep and that the frequent occurrence of a state of disordered mind in sleep does not do us harm, but on the contrary does us

A BABOON HUNT.

describes a baboon hunt as follows "Very slowly we spread out round about the base of the kopie and began a crawling ascent through the thick scrub. Kaffirs and farmers together we formed something of a loose circle around the kopje. Daylight found us drawing near the higher spurs of the kopje and the Kaffirs were busy beat-

"The baboons were great big, human looking brutes, quite capable of picking up a lamb in their hands and running off with it. As a fact, they generally content themselves with ripping the beast open to get at the curdled milk within. But their cries were the most horribly human thing about them and the gestures of their waving arms. When we all met a careful count was made. Thirty baboons had been bagged. Seven had fallen to my gun."

"It is the little rift within the lute which, ever widening, makes the music mute." It is just a little rift in the health of a woman often, which takes the spring from her step, the light from her eyes, the rose from her cheek and the music from her voice. Perhaps the bug-bear which has frightened the woman from the timely help needed at the beginning has been the dreaded questions, the obnoxious examination, the local treatments, of the home physician. There is no need for these, Nor is there need for continued suffering. Pinching a Pickpocket.

It happened on a race course in Russia. Among the spectators was a tall, powerfully built man, no longer young, and he was leaning back against a railing when he suddenly felt a hand slipped into his pocket in search, no doubt the silver enumber which he

Then the old gentleman got up and said as the wretched man behind him drew out a hand blue and swollen, "Another time you will keep your fingers from other people's pockets."

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough remedy. ## COMMITTEE'S PURPOSE

To Make Life Insurance Safer Must Not Be Obstructed.

Chairman Armstrong's Reply to Complaint of Counsel For President A McCurdy of the Mutual Life - Mr. Hughes Takes a Hand and Replies That Witnesses Who Get Into False Position Have Themselves to Blame.

New York, Oct. 19.-There was sharp passage-at-arms between Chair-man Armstrong of the committee, Counsel Hughes and James M. Beck, acting for Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insural when the insurance investigation pro-ceedings opened yesterday. Mr. Beck protested that Mr. Hughes had fre-quently led up to points which gave the newspapers opportunity "to put an ugly imputation against Mr. McCurdy," and that then Mr. Hughes dropped the inquiry before McCurdy had opportun-ity to explain.

Chairman Armstrong said Mr. Beck could make requests or suggestions to Mr. Hughes privately or to the com-mittee, but the committee intended to carry out its purpose to make life insurance safer and did not desire the work obstructed. The committee wanted all the helpful information it could get.

Mr. Hughes then said that if he had erred at all it had been by showing courtesy when circumstances justified measures. "The witness who gets int a false position," he said, "has only himself to blame. Everyone will be treated as he deserves to be treated and evasion always will be held up to the contempt it always has received." There was loud applause as Mr

Hughes concluded.
Surprising Ignorance.
Frank B. Jordon, son of Thomas D. Frank B. Jordon, son of Thomas D. Jordan, former comptroller of the Equitable Life, was first witness. He is in the fire insurance and real estate business. From him an effort was made to obtain information as to his father's whereabouts. Mr. Hughes, counsel to the committee, desires to question Mr. Jordan, as to the mysterious $685,000 loan made to Mr. Jordan and John Alexander, former president of the Equitable, as trustees. The loan has never been explained. Mr. Jordan said that he had not seen his father since September 4, and did not know said that he had not seen his father since September 4, and did not know where he is. He had made no effort to lears. He knew of no one who could tell where his father is at present. He did not know whether his father and mother were living or dead.

John J. Cunningham, of Dobbs' Ferry,
N. Y., an examiner of the New York Life Insurance Department, who was next called, said that for five years prior to 1898 he had been employed by a livery firm at Dobbs' Ferry of which Andrew C. Fields was a member. Fields is superintendent of the supply department of the Mutual Life. Witness said he was appointed examiner by Superintendent Pierce a Fields and Charles P. McClelland, fo mer State Senator, recommended him. He had examined the New York Life, the Mutual Life, and the Equitable Life.

Mr. McKeen, associate counsel for the committee offered a correction as to his statement Tuesday relative to the salary of foreign bank heads. The salary of the president of the Bank of Germany was 30,000 marks and official lodging, instead of dollars

Chair longing, instead of dollars, and that of the governor of the Bank of England was £2,000.

McCurdy Recalled.

President Richard A. McCurdy of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. was then recalled. He declared he knew nothing about a special notice in the news-papers. C. J. Smith and Walter Sul-livan had charge of the advertising. He was unable to say that the advertising covered the press notice in the news papers. He said he knew nothing o any money being expended for the in-sertion in the newspapers of reports of this investigation or any reports favorable to the company.

"Does any officer of the company, including yourself, have any commissions on business written as well as the agent?" asked Mr. Hughes.
"No."
"Did you get any share of your

"No, sir, not a cent." "Or of your son-in-law's commis-sions?"
"None whatever."
Mr. Hughes asked why applicants for loans on policies to the home of-fice were referred to C. H. Raymond & Co. Mr. McCurdy said they were not, but were referred to the policy department. "If you wish to imply, does any one receive any commission on loans on policies, I would answer distinctly he said.

"no"," he said.

Taking up the real estate of the company, witness was asked where he made his winter residence. He said it was the Grosvenor apartment on Fifth avenue. This house is owned by the Mutual Life. A statement of the return on the investment in the apartment was asked for and Mr. Hughes was about to leave the was asked for and Mr. Hughes was about to leave the subject when Mr. Beck, counsel for the Mutual Life, protested and said it was not fair to Mr. McCurdy to lead up to his occupancy of an apartment in the building, and then not give him an opportunity to testify as to whether he paid a fair rental for it.

and then not give him an opportunity to testify as to whether he paid a fair rental for it.

To Save Trouble.

A letter from the Mutual Life to an applicant for insurance, referring him to Raymond & Co. because the application came from the district covered by the Metropolitan agency, was read. McCurdy said this was a matter of convenience to the applicant. Asked why he gave the agency the opportunity to make a large commission when there was machinery at the home office to care for applicants for insurance, witness said all applicants for information do not take out insurance, and they were referred to the agency for the information they desire. If the agency writes the policy, he said, it is entitled to the commission. McCurdy denied that he abolished free lance agents in the Metropolitan district, and referred such agents, with their business, to Raymond & Co., after Louis A. Thebaud became a partner of that firm. It brought out that Mr. Thebaud was in charge of the department of agents that handled the exceptionally large risks before he became a partner.
