his drink is "the sincere milk of the word." Then happy he lives, and happy he dies.

Happy is he who has gospel submission in his true humanity in his heart, soul, peace in his conscience, sanctifying grace in his mind, due order in his affections, the Redeemer's yoke on his neck, a vain world under his feet, and a crown of glory on his head.

[The above poem was repeated from memory by Mrs. D., a mother in Israel, now in her eightieth year, and written off from her lips for the Messenger.]

Religion and Loyalty.

Every public demonstration, no matter for how good a purpose, is attended with more or less evil. This evil has no necessary connection with the main object in view, when that object is proper or laudable in itself, but grows out of it as a kind of excrescence on account of the present degraded state of human nature.

First, the lamentable amount of drunkenness. Time and again have we referred to the alarming prevalence of this vice in our midst. It is common every day; it is plainly visible to a stranger every market day; it is shameful every show and nomination day; but on the occasion of the Prince's reception, the city seemed as if almost wholly given up to the demon of intemperance.

Second, the lamentable amount of drunkenness. Time and again have we referred to the alarming prevalence of this vice in our midst. It is common every day; it is plainly visible to a stranger every market day; it is shameful every show and nomination day; but on the occasion of the Prince's reception, the city seemed as if almost wholly given up to the demon of intemperance.

This is a dreadful picture; but it is much overdrawn, but, we are willing to admit, as was the reality. The writer seems to have been in a very gloomy mood when he penned the communication, for throughout he does not give us credit for any of our laudable efforts on the occasion, and greatly exaggerates our faults. Disgraceful scenes no doubt were witnessed on our streets, but not one tithe of what is here described; and most of the drunkenness and rioting which was observed cannot be laid to the charge of the people of this Colony, any further than they were undoubtedly to blame in furnishing the means, in the shape of hundreds of grog shops.

We regret that we cannot enumerate the Committee of Management from all blame in this matter. They, we understand, provided beer along with food to be distributed to the people from the country, which liquor furnished some and sent others to the dram shop to complete what was begun, through the Committee's probably well-meant, but imprudent liberality. Men are prone enough to do evil without being furnished with the means for it.

The ill-advised interference of the Government with the religious liberties of the officers of the 24th Punjab Native Infantry has arrested the progress of the Gospel in that region. The policy of the British Government regarding Christianity in India is at present only taking shape, and it will be deeply injurious if the Indian authorities guide back into the hollow policy of the East India Company. The Missionary Conference here has lately been under the consideration the miserable message returns of the Bombay Government relative to religious endowments. They have requested Mr. A. Kimball to make inquiries relative to the subject.

Our anti-freedom measures have lately made, I regret to say, a retrograde step, demanding a duty of ten per cent. on paper for the Bible and Tract Societies, which had hitherto been admitted free. As this is an innovation not only on Indian but English practice, the Bible Society, on the suggestion of Dr. Wilson, has adopted measures to appeal against this rule to the Indian Government, and then, if necessary, to the Home authorities. Our anti-freedom measures have lately made, I regret to say, a retrograde step, demanding a duty of ten per cent. on paper for the Bible and Tract Societies, which had hitherto been admitted free.

In our opinion getting up a ball for a Prince, General or any other person is just about as mistaken an idea of doing him honor, as it is for the poor soldier, sailor, or civilian to get half-drunk on the occasion. But as the ball is now past, we will say no more at present respecting it, further than to express our regret that some things, we understand, occurred towards its close which were even disgraceful for a ball-room; and to express our still greater sorrow to learn that individuals who have made an open profession of religion thought it not improper to attend a ball because honored with the presence of an earthly prince.

Religious Intelligence.

REVIEWS.—The Rev. Nicholas Murray, D. D. of Elizabeth, New Jersey, and George H. Stuart, Esq., of Philadelphia, preached from the text "And ye shall be circumcised with the circumcision of the heart" on last Sabbath, and in the evening gave an interesting account of the wonderful changes that have taken place within the last few years in Ireland and Wales, where a most remarkable work of grace has been and still is going on. The excitement of the great revival of 1859 has not only passed away, but the good work is still in progress. Great and wonderful changes have taken place in the moral and religious condition of the people.—Ph. Frentzen.

THE POPE'S ASSASSIN.—In the last allegation, or spirit of the Pope, the gentleman appears to be driven to his wits' end. He looks around and sees nothing but threatening revolution. His own subjects will not approve of that paternal government, which so kindly regards its subjects as heathens, and the emperor's "kiss" is to be done by the emperor's subjects. His own subjects will not approve of that paternal government, which so kindly regards its subjects as heathens, and the emperor's "kiss" is to be done by the emperor's subjects.

THE SUBJECTS IN SCOTLAND.—The British papers are in ecstasies on account of the recent opening in Edinburgh of the new church of the Jesus, or, as it is termed, "The Church of the Sacred Heart." We are told that priests of the order of the Jesuits opened missions in Edinburgh and Glasgow about a year ago, and that already their success has been great. The order is devoting their attention to education, and are looking about the middle classes. It is stated that the priests are working actively and that, from whatever source they obtain it, money is very abundant with them. We are afraid that they have many secret adherents amongst the wealthy classes.

THE CARE OF THE DEAF.—The Turks and Druses have no more religious affinity than Jews and Christians. They are as much Christians as Mahomedans; they practice neither circumcision nor prayers, nor fasting, nor observe neither festivals or prohibitions. They drink wine, eat pork, and allow marriage between brothers and sisters. They believe in the transmigration of souls, and suppose that their chief prophet Hakem passed into a calf, the image of which they now worship. They maintain the unity of God, and His manifestations of Himself in the persons of all His prophets, and in the persons of all His prophets, and in the persons of all His prophets.

CONVERTED ROMANIAN AT BRIGHTON, C. W.—On Wednesday morning, July 18th, no less than seven converts from Romania openly renounced communion with the Church of Rome, and were received into the fellowship and communion of the Church of England. This interesting and solemn event took place in St. Margaret's Chapel, immediately after the morning service. The converts were received by the Rev. Canon Clay, incumbent, having been previously addressed by the officiating clergyman. These are some of the happy results of the labours of the agent of the Protestant Reformation Society.—Ex. Paper.

Mr. Spurgeon recently preached in the pulpit of Calvary on the text, "If any man will come after me, he must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me." "All the brethren appeared to hail my presence in the pulpit of Calvary as a most extraordinary token of good will, and evidence of progress in the established church. Regularly, I accept of my own cross, and the burden of a gown and bands which I have never before submitted, was a very trivial concession to a principle once so rare, but now, happily, more fully recognized. "This is a fountain, filled with blood, drawn from Emmanuel's veins."—Ex. Paper.

EMMA.—The Bombay correspondent of the Scottish Globe writes: "The ill-advised interference of the Government with the religious liberties of the officers of the 24th Punjab Native Infantry has arrested the progress of the Gospel in that region. Rev. Dr. Clarke, of America, N. S.—It gives us much pleasure to announce to our readers that the degree of Doctor of Divinity has been conferred on the Rev. Alexander Clarke, of America, from Scotch Dr. Charles H. Clark, who has labored long and very successfully in the northern provinces of the British provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. It is gratifying to find one so eminent in the religious education, and the general improvement of society, recognized and honored by this deserved testimonial of respect.—Banner of the Cross.

GENERAL BRITISH MEETING AT HEVLEY, SCOTLAND.—On Thursday, there was an enormous assembly of prayer-meeting at Hevley, near Glasgow, where about 10,000 persons were present. It was the largest assembly of the kind since the independence of Scotland. An extraordinary meeting of Ministers and others engaged in the movement was held in the independent Chapel. An extraordinary meeting was held in the independent Chapel. An extraordinary meeting was held in the independent Chapel.

THE POPE AND THE REVOLUTION.—The Pope has addressed to the Patriarch of Antioch a letter in reference to the annexation to Piedmont, four days before the revolution broke out, when the assembly broke into four separate meetings; and an hour and a half after, against the intention of the Pope, the assembly broke into four separate meetings; and an hour and a half after, against the intention of the Pope, the assembly broke into four separate meetings.

Farm and Garden.

Culture of Carrots.

Much has been said in the Rural and other Agricultural papers, urging farmers to grow a greater amount of roots, particularly carrots; but notwithstanding all that has been urged in favor of this crop, &c., many farmers are still blind to their own interests. They admit that from 600 to 1,000 bushels can easily be produced per acre, yet say that they are not a profitable crop for two reasons. First, they think they are of but little value, compared to any article of food. Second, they require too great an amount of labor. These objections I shall attempt to remove, and I cannot do so more effectually than to give my own experience in their cultivation.

The Prince's Suite.

The following particulars relative to the more prominent members of the suite of His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, may, we believe, be read with interest, and are especially interesting at this moment. Henry Pelham—Newcastle—Pelham—Clinton, K. G., is the fifth Duke of Newcastle of the Pelham family; and the ancestor, if not the direct descendant, of the Duke of Newcastle, who, just a century ago, held the seals as prime minister of Great Britain, while the "great commoner," William Pitt, (Lord Chatham,) shared with him the responsibility of the administration. The present Duke of Newcastle was born in 1811, and succeeded to the title in 1851. In politics he is a Peelite, or adherent of the principles of the Whigs, and is especially interested in the management of the navy. He is the father of the Duke of Devonshire, the Earl of Derby, the Earl of Northampton, and the Earl of Strathmore. He is also the father of the Duke of Devonshire, the Earl of Derby, the Earl of Northampton, and the Earl of Strathmore.

A CURE FOR THE MILLION!

They are engaged, so that the most sensitive can take them pleasantly, and they are the best in the world for all the purposes of a family physician. Price 25 cents per Box; Five Boxes for $1.00.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

IS HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT GOOD OR BAD? IF BAD, WOULD THE WHOLE COMMUNITY IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD ALLOW THEMSELVES TO BE DECEIVED BY SUCH A CLAIM? It must be apparent that the medical profession in every climate would, as a duty bound, make their voices heard against it, unless it were shown to be a genuine and valuable remedy. There are many who will be induced to purchase it, and who will be disappointed, unless it be shown to be a genuine and valuable remedy.

CONTRACTED OR STIFF JOINTS.

All the medical men in the London Dispensary would rarely bleed, much less cure, any chronic case of contracted or stiff joints; whereas if this invaluable Ointment be effectively rubbed into each joint, the patient will be cured, and the joints will be as supple as ever. It is a genuine and valuable remedy.

SCORBUTIC HUMORS—SCALD HEADS AND SKIN DISEASES.

Scorbatic humors arise from an impure state of the blood, and most cases of the liver and stomach are the result of it. It is a genuine and valuable remedy.

DROPSY.

Beware of this dangerous, stealthy complaint, which frequently creeps upon us at first by a simple swelling of the feet, and very little attention is taken of this, until the legs begin to swell. It is a genuine and valuable remedy.

DISORDERS OF THE KIDNEYS, STONE AND GRAVEL.

In any of the above complaints more benefit may be derived in twenty-four hours by adopting the following simple means. It is a genuine and valuable remedy.

DIPHTHERIA, SORE THROAT, &c.

These cases are of an anxious and frequently of a dangerous nature, and the Ointment would not be recommended unless the Proprietor was sure of its effect. It is a genuine and valuable remedy.
