The United States Stramer Vandalia to Visit Newfoundland and Cruise in Northern Lettindes:

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 25.—The United States ship Vandalia, now at New York, will sail shortly for the banks of Newfoundland. The Secretary of the Navy states that the visit of the Vandalia has no special significance. She is sent in sec. states that the visit of the Vandalia has no special significance. She is sent in accordance with the usual custom of the service, which is to send one or more vessels every year to cruise on the northern ocasts as far as Labrador. In reply to the question as to whether the visit of the Vandalia had any connection with the fishery question, he replied, "None whatever. The Secretary of State has not mentioned the subject to me." The Vandalia is a third rate screw steamer of 1840 tons burthen, carrying eight guns.

Some very awkward disclosures in connection with the Indian finances are imminent. The authorities have, it is said, paid debts with borrowed money. Lord Crasbrook has been the means of drawing SPRING MEDICINE. out this ugly fact THE PRINCE IMPERIAL MONUMENT.

A correspondent says that the oppenents of the proposal to place a monument to the late Prince Imperial in Westminster Abbey intend to ask Mr. Gladstone to exert the influence of the Government against the scheme. Possibly Leon Say, the French Minister and Prince Prince Inc. Minister, may make representations to the Government on the subject. TRADES' UNIONISM IN SPAIN.

A thousand cotton spinners wrecked and set fire to a mill in Barcelona, Province of Catalonia, Spain, to-day. The police and military quenched the flames and arrested the leaders of the mob. When order was restored the prefect issued a decree to dissolve every trade union in Catalona. Barcelona, as the capital of the Province, contains immense woollen, cotton, and calico mills. In all these branches of industry trades' unions were formed some years ago for the protection of the operatives, and the forced dissolution of these unions may cause considerable trouble.

The first sign of the Communist demonstration, at Paris, on Sunday, was given by the assembling of a small knot of people around the Bastile column. These people were soon ordered to disperse. Shortly after two men arrived carrying red wreaths, but they were immediately arrested. This caused a crowd of 500, which subsequently gathered, to make an unsuccessful attempt at rescue. Several of the, would-be rescuers were arrested. Three persons arrested were eventually discovered to be newspaper reporters and were immediately released. Later on a procession of 500, many carrying red bouquets and wreaths, defiled in front of the wall where the Communists were shot in 1871, and placed flowers against the wall as they passed.

An insane Prince.

A painful sensation has been caused at Vienna by the sudden and unexpected insanity of Prince William of Montenuevo, son of the Archduchess Maria Louise, formerly wife of Napoleon Bonaparte, by her second and morganatic marriage with Count De Neipperg. The cause of Prince William's insanity is said to be pecuniary trouble. DUEL BETWEEN ZICHY AND KAROLYI.

Count Victor Zichy, formerly Under-Secretary of State in the Tisza Ministry, who was forced to resign after being accused of dishonest transactions in the conduct of his Department, quarrelled recently with Count Stephen Karolyi and fought a duel with him on Monday near Pesth. Count Zichy is probaby fatally wounded.

Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt, Secretary of State for the Home department, has been elected to Parliament for Derby without opposition. The seat he now holds is that which Mr. Plimsoll resigned in his favour, a return for the support he gave that seamen's friend when he was pushing his maritime reforms though Parliament.

The distress in North Hungary is increasing. About 1,400 persons at Szina, Comitat and Zemplin have no other food but grass, nettles and mushrooms. The Government has ordered the authorities to stop emigration. The restoration of the porch of Salisbury Cathedral is to be commenced forthw th at a cost of £75,000. It will be rebuilt in the early English style of architecture, of which the cathedral itself is one of the purest and noblest specimens. The cathedral is one of the oldest edifices of the kind in England. It was erected in 1238, and is in the form of a double cross. The spire is 404 feet high, and is considered to be one of the finest in Europe. The large and costly porch, by its restoration and adornment, will add greatly to the magnificence of the pile.

THE MARQUIS OF RIPON'S APPOINTMENT.

Mr. Gladstone's letter defending the appointment of the Roman Catholic Lord Ripon as Vicercy of India is considered in certain circles to be certain to prejudice the Nonconformists, especially those of Scotland, against its writer; but in the eyes of the world it is the most statesmanlike document he has yet issued. The letter was written in reply to an address at a meeting of the British Reformation Seciety through Lord Oranmore, containing certain resolutions on the appointment of Roman Catholic peers, Lord Ripon as Gevernor-General of India, and Lord Kenmare as Lord Chamberlain:

"My Lord,—In reply to your letter enclosing a THE SOUTH AMERICAN WAR, THE SOUTH AMERICAN WAR,

Lord Chamberlain:

"My Lord,—In reply to your letter endosing a memorial from the British Raformation Society, relating to the appointments held by Lord Ripon and Lord Kenmare, L am directed by Mr. Gladstone to inform you that the qualineations of Lord Ripon for the high office of Vicercy of India had been carefully considered by her Majesty's Government; that her Majesty's Government repose particular confidence in the honour, integrity and impartiality of Lord Ripon, and are convinced from long experience of his personal qualities that he would never allowhis own religious leanings or professions to integree with the perfect equity of his conduct in any case where religious interests might be concerned. I am desired to add that the office of Vicercy is one detached in a remarkable degree from all direct contact with religious or ecclesiastical interests; and that in the case of the Lord Chamberlain's office, Lord Kenmare, as has bless publicly Lord Beaconsfield's Rumoure Marriage.

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN RIFLE MATCH FBY CABLE TO THE MAIL. N. Y. HERALD BUREAU.

London, May 22 Certainly the most interesting event the week was the laying of the foundation stone of Truro cathedral by the Prince of Wales, whose title, the Duke of Cornwall made his invitation to and presence at th ceremony peculiarly appropriate. The event was made still more interesting from the fact that this is the first cathedra erected in England since the Reformation The ceremony was unusually splendid. The chief features were the grand Mason rites, the Prince being Grand Master or England, and the princely state and religious rites which, with almost barbari pomp and glitter, marked every phase of the proceedings. Brilliant weather added lustre to the scene. Truro was decorated in flags and triumphal arches with Masonia and lottel matters. The Prince was in the prince of the princ in figs and triumphal arches with Masoni and loyal mottoes. The Prince, wearin his Masonic robes of purple, heavy with gold embroidery, was received at the royal pavilion by the Bishop and clergy clad in their white surplices and scarled academic hoods. The members of the Grand Lodge, in their dresses of crimson late. blue, green and purple, with gold chain and enamelled jewels, flanked the pavilion Behind them were the white-robed choice Behind them were the white-robed chois and choral philharmonic societies. The Princess of Wales was dressed in a light sage green and gold. Her two sons, who wore the uniforms of naval cadets, stood in advance of her. Then a line of officers in their uniforms of scarlet and gold ladies in brilliant toilets, and civic control of the stood of the school of the schoo dignitaries in their official robes, made the scene one of striking splendour. As the trumpets sounded the first notes of the National Anthem, the delivered the following speech to the as sembled Masons: THE PRINCE'S SPEECH. Brethren, -We are an ancient fraternity, which from the earliest days has been identified with all that is beautiful and grand in architecture. You will, therefore, be proud to have aided me, as I have been proud to work with you, in commencing a building which by the beauty of it and the solidity of its construction will, we think, be an ornament to this city and province for centuries to come. But, brethren, it is something far more than this. It is a temple to be erected to the glory and worship of our Heavenly Father, the great Architect and Creator of all things; and whatever minor differences may be among us. I feel sure that ences may be among us, I feel sure that the same spirit must be in your minds this day which animated the Jews of old, when, as Ezra tells us, 'the builders laid the foundations of the temples of the Lord and they sat the priests in their appare-with trumpets to praise the Lord, after and they sat the priests in their apparel with trumpets to praise the Lord, after the ordinance of David, King of Israel, and they sang together in praising and giving thanks unto the Lord because He is good, for His meroy endureth forever; and all the people shouted with a great shout when they praised the Lord, because the foundations of the house of the Lord were laid."

We are assembled here to-day in the presence of you all to erect a house for the worship of the Prince of the Most High, which we pray that God may prosper as it seems good to Him."

PUBLIC DINNERS,

Lord Ronald Gower, who recently rushed into print denouncing Sir Frederick Leighton's pictures as indecent, now attacks a pet British institution, viz., public dinners, and especially the Royal Academy banquet. "What," he asks, "does all this guzzling and blarney profit, arcent to the sentlemen who cut of PUBLIC DINNERS. does all this guzzling and blarney profit, except to the gentlemen who, out of the shillings received at the doors from the public, pay for this annual feast of flunkeydom and flow of flattery? It is computed thatover £50,000 are squandered, and this is a preposterous and disgraceful fact when when we consider what works of art might be purchased for the money. Such a thing would not be endured in any other country where a real love of art exists; but we certainly have the proud preminence of being not merely a nation of shop-keepers but also a nation of snobs."

SARAH BERNHARDT. In London the French season begins of In London the French season begins on Monday next at the Gaiety theatre with Sarah Bernhardt in "Adrienne Lecouvreur." The irrepressible Sarah will not, I think, receive such an enthusiastic reception as last year. Besides Mme. Modjeska now rivals her in attraction at the Court theatre, and Miss Genevieve Ward fills the Princess of Wales theatre nightly with "Forget-me-Not," and has given her second performance of "L'Aventuriere," in which Sarah Bernhardt failed in Paris. Last year Dona Sol had the field to herself. NEW DRAMAS, ETC.

NEW DRAMAS, ETC.

Tennyson has written a two act drama for the Lyceum. The Poet Laureate's dramas seem to pay. His "Falcon" had a run of fifty nights, and might have continued longer but for the untimely death of the trained falcen, which was found one morning dead in its cage. The production of Mr. Wills' little piece, "Iolanthe," created some ridiculous stir. Mr. Irving was spetitioned by several writers and dramatists, ardent S. akespearcans, not to sacrifice the last act of the "Merchant of Venice," which he did in order to produce "Iolanthe;" but Mr. Irving deserves thanks for introducing this beautiful play. He will produce next season a version of "Rienzi," by Mr. W. G. Wills. The first act is already finished, and highly approved by Mr. Irving. It is said that Mr. Wills has treated the theme after an entirely original fashion. The anthor has studied all the historical authorities, and has diverged in many important ies, and has diverged in many impor and particulare from previous renderings. The scenery, furniture and costumes will suppass in magnificence anything yet seen. You will be glad to hear of the success of Mr. Freeke's tableaux, which resulted in £600 for the Artists' Orphan Fund and other charities. They have inspired further efforts in the picturesque method of raising the wind. A series of tableaux have been given at Melton in aid of Lady Shannon's Irish relief fund. A PULPIT EXPLANATION. Rev. Mr. Handford occupied the pulpit at his church Sunday as usual. There were large congregations present. In the morning he preached from the text—Galatians VI chap. 17 v.:—"Henceforth let no man trouble me, for I bear on my body the marks of the Lord Jesus Christ."

torth let no man trouble me, for I bear on my body the marks of the Lord Jesus Christ."

At the close of the sermon, he said:—I suppose the congregation will expect from me some personal explanation. I may here record before God my unbounded thankfulness for what has been proved to me, that no man lives who is richer than I am in true, disinterested and loving friends. A time of trial is that which tests one's friends. I have had my day of trial, and desire to express only gratitude and thankfulness to God that I stand here this morning once again, where most I love to be. If men have taken a part of omity, have sought to persecute me, I hold concerning them no bitterness, but pray that they may never suffer what they have made me suffer. I say again, I did not creep into this pulpit. I climbed into it by means of the stepping stones of years of hard, earnest and faithful toil, and when my people here want me to descend I shall descend and break my heart in doing it, but so long as I have your confidence and love I will never do it.

This lest remark of the Rev. gentleman was followed by loud applause from all parts of the church. The services was then concluded in the MONTERAL, May 20.—The arrivals of beef cattle for sale on this market have been light so far this week, and the surplus stock are being slowly sold out. Prices seem to have touched bottom for the present, and are rather firmer to-day. About 150 head of cattle were offered at Viger market to-day, two-thirds of them being good Western cattle. Sales were slow, as drovers were asking a little more for their cattle than they would have accepted last Monday. P. DeLorme sold 2 superior heiters, weighing 2,310 pounds, to J. Lavlolette, at 42 per bound, less $1 on the lot. This was about the highest price paid to-day for butchers' cattle. R. Nicholson bought 13 choice steers and heifers from J. B. Robinson, at $34 each, or between 4j and 450 per pound. Small, half-fatted cattle were also in better demand. Calves were in fair supply, and there was considerable demand for the best veals. Joseph Lafrance, of St Ann's market, bought she best calt offered to-day, paying $8 for it. Common calves continue to bring from $2 50 to $4 each, and inferior veals sell from $1 to $1.75 each. Sheep are in fair supply at about former rates. R. Nicholson bought 34 unshorn sheep, which were brought by the steamer Beanharnois. The price paid was $3.50 each. Good lambs sell from $5.0 to $4, and common lambs from $2 to $2 each. The market boats did not bring many beef cattle, but some 50 or 60 mileh cows were brought by them; 4 of the best of these cows were seld on arrival at from $13 to $50 each, and several others at less figures. 2,000 head of cattle will be shipped to Great Britain within the next eight days.

Imposing Masonic Ceremony at Truro.

LITERARY AND DRAMATIC GOSSIP Lord Beaconsfield's Rumoured Marriage.

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN RIFLE MATCH BY CABLE TO THE MAIL. N. Y. HERALD BUREAU, LONDON, May 22.

Certainly the most interesting event of stone of Truro cathedral by the Prince of Wales, whose title, the Duke of Cornwall, made his invitation to and presence at the ceremony peculiarly appropriate. The event was made still more interesting from the fact that this is the first cathedral erected in England since the Reformation. The ceremony was unusually splendid. The chief features were the grand Masonic rites, the Prince being Grand Master of England, and the princely state and religious rites which, with almost barbaric igious rites which, with almost barbaric pomp and glitter, marked every phase of the proceedings. Brilliant weather added lustre to the scene. Truro was decorated in flags and triumphal arches with Masonic and loval mottoes. The Prince, wearing his Masonic robes of purple, heavy with gold embroidery, was received at the royal pavilion by the Bishop and clergy, clad in their white surplices and scarlet academic hoods. The members of the Grand Lodge, in their dresses of crimson, blue, green and purple, with gold chains and enamelled jewels, flanked the pavilion. Bahind them were the white-robed choir and choral philharmonic societies. The Princess of Wales was dressed in a light sage green and gold. Her two sons, who wore the uniforms of naval cadets, stood in advance of her. Then a line of officers in their uniforms of scarlet and gold, ladies in brilliant toilets, and civic dignitaries in their official robes, made the scene one of striking splendour. As the trumpets sounded the first notes of the National Anthem, the cannon roared in rythm. The Prince then

THE PRINCE'S SPEECH. Brethren, -We are an ancient fraternity, which from the earliest days has been identified with all that is beautiful and grand in architecture. You will, therefore, be proud to have aided me, as I have been proud to have aided me, as I have been proud to work with you, in commenoing a building which by the beauty of its design and the solidity of its construction will, we think, be an ornament to this city and province for centuries to come. But, brethren, it is something far more than this. It is a temple to be erected to the glory and worship of our Heavenly Father, the great Architect and Creator of all things; and whatever minor differ. all things; and whatever minor differences may be among us, I feel sure that the same spirit must be in your minds this day which animated the Jews of old, when, as Ezra tells us, 'the builders laid the foundations of the temples of the Lord and they sat the priests in their apparel with trumpets to praise the Lord, after the ordinance of David, King of Israel, and the ordinance of David, Aing of large, and they sang together in praising and giving thanks unto the Lord because He is good, for His mercy endureth forever; and all the people shouted with a great shout when they praised the Lord, because the foundations of the house of the Lord were

MATTERS POLITICAL

Vanity Fair vaguely hints at a coming change in the Earl of Beaconsfield's condition in the following paragraph: —"It is not often that a man after 37 years of active life foremest in politics, commences to turn his thoughts to matrimony as a serious profession. Yet I am told the evergreen Earl has almost made up his mind." It is said that Lord Beaconsfield is writing his autobiography. Certainly, he should print that certain day in May in red letters, when he received Mr. Chads stone's letter in which the present Premier admitted on the same day that he wrote the apology to Count Karolyi, that his predecessor's foreign policy was justified.

THE RIPLEMEN.

Sir Henry Halford sends the following information regarding the Anglo-American file match: "Last year I asked Mr. Hyde if he would arrange to bring over a team of four or six men to shoot against us, and he said he would do so, "Now that America is to send a team to Dollymount, I have asked Mr. Hyde to make up his team to eighteen, as he will have an opportunity of filling up from this who will shoot in Ireland, and to this he has agreed. The match will be shot at Wimbledon on the last day of the meeting.

Mr. Frank Hyde also writes, sending us the names of the gentlemen who will form the British team at Wimbledon. They are Sir Henry Halford, Martin R. Smith, John Rigby, Captain Trenton, Major Young,

Thompson was sitting in front of the stove about three feet from me. I distinctly state there was no one in the room but my little sister, Thompson and myself. My sister was about six feet from me. Thompson told me low so that no one else could hear." That was the end of the evidence taken. The hall was then cleared at about a quarter to ten to give the jury a chance to deliberate on the verdict. The jury, after having been locked up from 10 o'clock last night until 10.30 this morning in charge of a constable, agreed upon the following verdict:—

Two cases of assault upon females in railway carriages have lately been reported, but the sequal so far as regards the punishment of the offenders varied considerably in each case, although the two tribunals which tried them were not many miles apart. At the North Riding of Yorkshire Petty Sessions a person, described as a timber merchant of Barnsley, was charged with an aggravated assault upon a domestic servant in a train near Thirsk. The report states that "the girl's evidence was much shaken, whilst the defendant received a good character," but the Bench nevertheless inflicted a fine of twenty pounds. At Gateshead Police Court a blacksmith had to answer for an assault upon a young woman in a railway carriage between Hepburn and Felling, on the North-Eastern line. The complainant had been so alarmed that she got out and stood on the foot-board—a position of imminent danger—until the train reached the station last named, when she gave the fellow into danger—until the train reached the station last named, when she gave the fellow into custody. The magistrates characterised it as the worst case of interference with passengers ever brought before them, but the penalty they adjudged was only a fine of forty shillings—just a tenth of what the magistrates in the neighbouring county, on the same day, thought adequate and fitting for the more doubtful case.

the view of obviating these evils, has intended a plan which consists of fixing to the edge of an ordinary table a sort of cushion, en which the work can be easily fastened or spread out, as on the knee. A framework of the simplest description admits of the raising or lowering this cushion, so that the work may be done sitting or standing, but in either case the vertebral column is maintained perfectly straight, while the facility of change of position greatly lessens fatigue. To test the invention, Dr. Malherbe introduced it at the Communal School of Nantes, and with good effect on two pupils, who had a tendency to malformatien.

Lord Ripon as Viceroy of India steadily increases in England. At the annual meeting of the Protestant Reformation Society, Lord Oranmore and Browne attacked the appointment on public grounds, and made a grave charge against Lord Ripon in connection with his action while negotiating the Washington Treaty. His lordship said he had taken part with the Marquis in negotiating that treaty, and was in a position to state that "the Marquis of Ripon went out with distinct instructions to contest the American claims, but after he had been out a little time he accepted them all, and the result of this was that several millions were paid to the American Government, so many, in fact, that at the present moment they had three millions which they were unable to dispose of. This fact, he thought, did not point to the success of Lord Ripon as a diplomatist." This charge is a grave one indeed, and as the Liberal Government will be called upon to deal is a grave one indeed, and as the Liberal Government will be called upon to deal with the fishery clauses of that treaty, the presence of Sir Alexander Galt in London, to watch Canadian interests at this important juncture, can scarcely be overestimated, despite the sneers of Messrs, Blake and Mackenzie.

CHESS—The local market has been easier; sm tots are down to 124 to 13c, and selling slowly. Ingersoll, on Tuesday, there were sales of 2,3 soxes of May make at 11 to 112c.

EGGS—The demand has been slack, and receipfully equal to it; prices are lower, at from 9 to 2 for round lots. On the street fresh brings 10 for round lots. On the street tresh brings 10 11c.

PORR—Has been quiet; cars have been offerints 13.75, but not taken nor wanted, and small in have sold slowly at $14.50.

BAGON—There has been scarcely any change in the market since our last. One car of smoked iccolers has sold at $4c; but the movement has be chiefly in lots of a ton and under, and these has sold freely at $10.32 for long-clear, and 7½ to 7½ of Cumberland. Shoulders have improved, and has sold at $6c. Rolls and bellies are scar and firm at 9½ to 10c for smoked in small lots.

and firm at 94 to 10c for smoked in small lots.

"AMS—Have continued in active demand that y but unchanged prices; smoked have sold lots of 100 at 10c, and small lots at 10½ to 11c; car vased, quiet at 11c, and pickled not much wante yet, but held at 9c.

LARD—Very scarce and very firm; small lots at selling at 10 to 10½ for timets and pails, and at 8 for tierces, with supplies likely to run very loshortly. Hoes—There have been very few wanted, a prices have declined to $6.50. SALT—Liverpool is unchanged at the decline, a celling at 95c to $1; dairy remains unchanged $1.50 to $1.60. Goderich steady with sales of cars

DRIED APPLIES—Steady; country lots have bee wanted at 7½°, but not offered; dealers usually se small lots at 7½°, though 8c is sometimes asked. CATTLE.

CATTLE.

TRADE—Has been rather quiet since our last.

BREVES—The rush of last week has been successed by rather small receipts, though they have probably been sufficient for the wants of buyer Any check which existed last week on the deman for export cattle has disappeared, and all offerin have been readily taken at firm prices; steers ave aging 1,300 lbs. and upwards have been wanted $5.00, and very choice seem to have brought eve more. Heavy oxen or choice heifers could also have found a sale at about $4.50, but there were very fee of them. Second-class, consisting of light stees and heifers and heavy cows and bulls, have sol fairly well for local use, at from $3.75 to $4.12, with probably as many offered as were wanted. Third SHEEP—There have been scarcely any in the ket, nor is it probable that there will be anyt of a supply until after the shearing season. P have been purely nominal, and remain nominally changed at $6 50 to $7.50 for first-class, dreft from $50 to $0 lbs., and at $5 to $5.75 for seclass. From these prices $2 may be deducted the season of t

LAMBS—Receipts have increased of LAMBS—Receipts nave increased considers and have probably been sufficient; prices have hweak and close at a slight decline. Really first-thave been wanted, but have sold at $4 25 to $4. Second-class have been decidedly easier at from to $4, with enough in. to $4, with enough in.

CALVES—Have been in good supply; but sellin fairly well; prices have been weak, out no actual deline has been established First-class, dressing from 100 to 125 lbs, have been all wanted and readily take as $8.50 to $3. Second class, dressing from 60 to 16 lbs, have been in large supply, and selling rathe slowly at $3.50 to $6. Any below the latter weight is not wanted, and, if offered, must go for whatever they will bring.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL. TRADE—Seems to have been rather quiet.

Hiors—Green have been unchanged in price an offering in sufficient quantities. Cured have been sales of sale but unchanged at 9 c for No. 1 and 9 for small lots of selected. for small lots of selected.

Calffelia Green abundant and unchanged cured selling steadily at 17c.

SHERPSKINS—Very few offering and these febringing $2.50 to $3 each for green.

LAMSSKINS—Have been abundant but selling a before at 40c for the best green.

Wool.—New flore has been offering fairly wand selling at from 30 to 33c on the street. I round lots offering as yet; the feeling is not the of confidence and the general impression seems be that if prices do not fall they will certainly not the of large lots.

At New York the less favourable European advices, coupled with the reduced limits to shippers' orders gave buyers a decided advantage, especially on Spring growths, which were quite plenty and presed on the market at a marked derline. Winter growths also were lower, but there being a large short interest in No. 2, prices of that grade have had a relatively good support. No. 1 white declined, and, at the reduced figures, met with a better export enquiry; but prices for winter sorts are said to be above the limits of all English orders, and buyers for the United Kingdom have confined their purchases to spring growths, the much lower prices for which enable many shippers to execute their orders. SHEFF—There have been scarcely any in the market, nor is it probable that there will be anything of a supply until after the shearing season. Prices have been purely nominal, and remain nominally unchanged at $6.60 to $7.50 for first-class, dressing from 50 to 60 lbs., and at $5 to $7.50 for second-class. From these prices $2 may be deducted for sheared.

LAMBS—Receipts have increased considerably, and have probably been sufficient; prices have been weak and close at a slight decline. Really first-class have been wanted, but have sold at $4.25 to $4.50.
Second-class have been decidedly easier at from $3 to $4, with enough in. to $4, with enough in.

Calves—Have been in good supply; but selling thirly well; prices have been weak, but no actual decline has been established. First-class, dressing from 100 to 126 lbs, have been all wanted and readily taken at $5.50 to $3. Second-class, dressing from 50 to 100 hs, have been in large supply, and selling rather slowly at $3.50 to $6. Any below the latter weight is not wanted, and, if offered, must go for whatever they will bring.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL. ADE-Seems to have been rather quiet. 1928—Green have been unchanged in price and ring in sufficient quantities. Cured have been of sale but unchanged at 9jc for No. 1 and 9jc small lots of selected.

CALFSKINS—Green abundant and unchanged; red selling steadily at 17c. SHEAPSRINS—Very few offering and these few inging $2.50 to $3 each for green.

LAMSKINS—Have been abundant but selling as lore at 40c for the best green. Wook.—New fleece has been offering fairly well and selling at from 30 to 33c on the street. No round lots offering as yet; the feeling is not that of confidence and the general impression seems to be that if prices do not fall they will certainly not

This is a new cereal, said to have been brought from Egypt. If the report in relation to its withstanding the heat and drought is correct, it is destined to become a most valuable acquisition, especially to farmers in a hot climate, or on the plains or prairies where the land cannot be irrigated. It somewhat resembles Sorghum when growing; the green stalks make excellent food for cattle; when dry may be used for fuel. It is said to produce from fifty to eighty bushels to the acre; also, to make good flour, from which bread and other food can be made, or it can be boiled and eaten as rice or cracked wheat; it is also said that no better feed can be raised for fattening cattle, sheep or swine. Plant and cultivate as Sorthum. Small sample packages sent on receipt of 25c.

It is often asked, "Why is the JOHNSTON WROUGHT IRON HARMESTEE in advance of all other harvesting machines?"

The following are a few of the reasons:—

All the framework, connections, braces, and supports are wrought iron.

All the smaller parts are malleable iron.

The principal boxes or journals are brass.

The journals or boxes are in no case a part of the frame, but are separate, and held in place by weiged keys, double autted, or with wrought straps, and can be easily and cheaply replaced.

The bolts are secured by forked nuts and keys, and cannot shake loose.

The pluman connections and extension bars are fitted with ball and socket joints, so that all wear can be taken up by tightening one nut at each end, and replacing the key.

7th. The pitman connections and extension bars are fitted with ball and socket joints, so that all wear can be taken up by tightening one nut at each end, and replacing the key.

2th. The eye of knife, as well as pitman box, have self-feeding oil cups.

9th. The guide and keeper's along the buck of knife age adjustable to take up wear.

10th. The table is firmly framed, so ast to continus levell, while the finger bar, being of cold rolled angle iron, remains perfectly true.

11th. The shoes are malicable iron, and binged so as to allow the table to be raised like a mover bar, to pass narrow gates, bridges, or lanes.

12th. The larger sized machines are supplied with five rakes, giving better command of the grain, when thin, short, or lodged 13th. The rake standards are high, preventing the grain, when heavy or tall, from winding or falling over the rakes, and becoming scattered.

14th. The Automatic General Trips are absolutely sure in preventing the rollers from colliding with the switches or gates, and while putting off sheaves at regular intervals, are controllable by the driver when desirable.

15th. They also have a Genred Well Trip for such as prefer to use the foot in discharging each sheat, which also is absolutely safe.

16th. There are no large castings in the machines, and hence there can be no expensive breakages.

17th. The gearing is internal, well distributed, simple, and well protected from dirt, grass, straw, &c.

18th. All our machines, single or combined, have double changeable gearing, furnishing an ordinary speed suited to gifficult work, at the will of the operator.

19th. The leverage, both tilting and fitting, it very easy, convenient and efficient, enabling the driver to raise, lower, or tilt while in motion, so as to take up the worst lodged grain or grass approaching it from any direction; or, in other words, making clean cutting on all sides of any field.

OTTAWA, ONT., March 2, 1860. The writer has been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer now for the last 22 years, and can confidently recommend it to the public as a sure remedy for Cholera, Diarrhoza, Sore Throat, Chronic Coughs, Bronchitis, Burzs, Scalds, &c. Have known it to cure a case of Syphilitic Sore Throat of two years' standing, when all the usual remedies failed. The patient took half a teaspoonful in water three times a day, and gargled the throat three times a day as follows; one teaspoonful in a wine glass of water, and used as a gargle. Yours, H. F. MACCARTHY.

MAITLAND, ONT., February 26, 1860.

I have much pleasure in adding to the number of the numerous testimonials you have already received, as to the value of your renowned Pain-Killer. I have sold it and used it in my family for twenty years or more, and have no hesitation in saying that it is the best patent medicine I have ever used for the purposes for which it is recommended; and, moreover, every person to whom. I have ever sold it, has been perfectly satisfied with it, and I know many persons who will not go to bed at night unless they are sure there is a bottle of "Perry Davis" in the house. All who have used it once, will use it again; it makes friends and retains them. Ask your Druggist, Grocer it or Shepkeeper, for a bottle of PAIN-KILLER. If he passes ki it down without ceremony, ask him while extracting the quarter dollar from your wallet, Yours truly, JOHN DUMBRILLE, Druggist if this is the genuine made by SPENCERVILLE, ONT., February 26, 1880. We have much pleasure in certifying that we have kept Perry Davis Pain-Killer constantly in stock for upwards of twenty years, during which time it has taken the lead in sales over all other patent preparations, and has become an old, reliable family medicine. No effort is required now on our part to sell it, as it is as staple an article as flour in our trade.

Yours truly,

MADOC, ONT., February 16, 1880. It gives me much pleasure to state that during a drug career of more than a quarter century, I can testify that your justly celebrated Pain-Killer has not only held its own as a family medicine, blut still occupies the front rank wherever duty calls it. My customers speak gery highly of it, and I could send no end of testimonials showing up its merits and intrinsic worth, were it necessary, which it is not. It should, however, be caked "Excelsion Pain-Killer." I pride myself in never being out of it. Yours very respectfully, JOHN G. DEANS, STOCO, ONT., February 17, 1880.

We have great pleasure to state that the Pain-Killer holds its position in this place as the old, reliable family medicine. Although there are a great many other semedies in the market—some bearing nearly the same name—as Pain Relief, Pain Remover, Pain Destroyer, and such like names, we find the people know the difference, and are sure to ask for Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. We have been selling Pain-Killer for the last fourteen years. of PAIN-KILLER, and the gen-tlemanly store-keeper, without scarcely looking, remarks, "we 'are just out, but have another "article as good or better, "which sells for the same price Yours truly PORTLAND, ONT., March o, 1880. I have been using the Pain-Killer for many years with results that justly entitles me to recommend it. As a family medicine, we consider it almost indispensable: being good not only as a pain-killer, but for colds and sore throat, and many other ailments for which it appears specially adapted. I have used it myself, chiefly as a liniment, and find it valuable for rheumatism and pains and stiffness belonging to old age. I pronounce the Pain-killer a good and cheap medicine, and worthy of all acceptation, and send you this certificate that you may assure the public that it is no humbur. Yours truly. THOS, GRAHAM.

ESCOTT, ONT , March 4, 1880. We hereby certify that we have used Perry Davis' Pain-Killer in our families for several years. We consider it a very useful and nacessany article to be kept in all households as a resort in case of accidents and exposure to attacks occasioned by coffi. JEREMIAH CURTIN; I. I. DOWSLEY.

TAMWORTH, ONT., March 4, 1880. For twenty-three years last past I have sold Petry Davis' Pain-Killer, and have always found it to give good satisfaction. I have frequently used it in my family, and received great benefit from the use of it in that way. Although many imitations of it have been put on the market, and are pushed hard, yet the old, reliable Perry Davis' Pain-Killer holds its own, and is a very popular domestic medicine.

Yours respectfully,

The PAIN-KILLER

Is recommended by Physicians, Ministers, Missionaries, Managers of Factories, Work-shops, Plantations, Nurses in Hospitals, in short. everybody everywhere who has ever given it a trial.

TAKEN INTERNALLY, it cures Dysentery, Cholera, Diarrhosa, Cramp and Pain in the Stomach, Bowel Complaint, Painter's Colic, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Sudden Colds, Sore Throat, Coughs, &c. USED EXTERNALLY, it cures Boils, Felons, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Old Sores and Sprains, Swellings of the Joints, Toothache, Pain in the Face, Neurala conviction on the part of visitors that Mrs. Armstrong "had investments," which investments would, of course, one day fall to Miss Juliet,

It is possible that this was the impression which Mrs. Armstrong desired to produce. If it was an illusion she did not attempt to dispel it.

Now, Mrs. Armstrong knew perfectly well that this carefully-nursed impression in the community was quite illusory, and that Juliet would be placed in a very embarrassing situation, indeed, at her own death. This event she hoped would not take place for a long time to come; but then life was uncertain, and it was incum-bent upon her as a good mother to prepare for contingencies.

This was the state of things at Trianon This was the state of things at Trianon when the present narrative opens. Crossus had not appeared, or at least the particular one whom Mrs. Armstrong desired. An aged millionaire at the ——Springs had plainly been ready to lay his wig and money-bags at Miss Juliet's feet, but she had quietly turned her back upon him. Mother and daughter were ence more at Trianon, and it seemed doubtful whether they would leave it for a long time. Their travelling expenses had been large, and the dividends from the investments were not due until the ensuing January. Seclusion at home was thus rendered necessary, and, with a sigh, Mrs. Armstrong gave up the theught of further pleasure excursions—and Crossus—for that year.

This was sorrowful to think of, but suddenly a brilliant idea occurred to the lady—it was wonderful that it had never occurred before. There was Mr. Lascelles, of Wye, who was a very good parti indeed! Why should not Juliet marry Mr. Douglas Lascelles, and become the mistress, in due time, of that desirable establishment? Having conceived this idea, Mrs. Arms-

After a few minutes he walked way and went into a side compartment of the large tent. Here he sat down on an ampty box, went into a side compartment of the large tent. Here he sat down on an ampty box, upon which lay a short meerschaum pipe and a pouch of smoking tobacco, which he had probably placed there when he went into the ring. He filled the pipe, lit it from a match taken from the pouch, and, leaning one of his ponderous elbews on his knee, began to smoke—looking thoughtfully, as he did so, at the finely caparisoned horses without, with their riders standing beside them, which he could do through the opening. At a signal the horses and riders passed at a swift gallop and darted into the ring. The Lefthander then concentrated his attention upon two figures seated upon some bags of cats opposite his box, smoking his pipe tranquilly with an air of enjoyment, and looking at them with interest. They were a picturesque little group—a alender young fellow of about twenty, clad precisely like the Lefthander in close-fitting stockinet and velvet pantaloons; and a child, apparently about ten, dressed as a ballet girl. This dress consisted of a blue satin body, and a white muslin skirt reaching about to her knees, where it was joined by flesh-coloured stockinet, ending in red morocco boots fitting tightly to her tiny feet. All about the child, in fact, was joined by flesh-coloured stockinet, ending in red morocco boots fitting tightly to her tiny feet. All about the child, in fact, was tiny—he alender limbs, her delicate arms, which were bare, and her features. Her hair was of a dark auburn, and fell en her bare shoulders in short curls; when she raised her eyes you saw that they were large and blue, and hada very earnest little-womanish expression. At the moment she was seated upon one of the bags,

Mouse, cast down from her eminence of joy, turned her head suddenly.
"What would you do without Harry?" said the Lefthander, nodding toward the third member of the group. This was the young fellow in stockingt who was leaning back en one elbow on the bags of grain, and had listened to the whole conversation with a smile.
"There's Harry to think of," the Lefthander said.
"And Gentleman Joe," said a melansholy voice behind them.

At this all looked up and saw Mr. Mer At this all looked up and saw Mr. Merryman. He had just come out of the ring, and the expression both of his face and figure had completely changed. The tumbling, dancing, grimacing Mr. Merryman had given way to a rather melancholy old fellow, who stood calmly erect, and looked quite sad. Looking at him you were apt to recall the legend of the poor jester on the stage who threw the crowd jester on the stage who threw the cro into ecstasies, and then retired behind scenes to the beside of his dying child.

He was given to such changes of meod, even in private, this eccentric old Gentleman Joe. His comrades said there was a "crack" in him somewhere—a screw loose in his mental machinery. He alternated between extravagant mirth and depressing sadness. The least circumstance made him laugh or brought tears to his eyes. Sighs and smiles chased each other over his thin old face; and there really did seem to be something the matter with him. His memory was very unstable, and he could not tell the name of the last place which he had performed at after an interval of two or three days. As to his past life, it seemed to be a blank to him, and nothing more was known ef him than that he had been connected for a long time with the company, and that his name was Vance. He and his son Harry, the young fellow leaning on the bags of oats, were both very popular with their comrades. Gentleman Joe was an especial favourite. MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

Two composers, MM. Barbedette and Dantresme, and a musical critic, M. Charles Beauquier, are now members of the Chamber of Deputies in the French Parliament. A classical concert, with an orchestra of 45 players, has been given under the dire tion of Signor Pasquale at Constantinople. Mendelssohn's "Calm Sea and Prosperous Voyage" and works by Mozart and Beethoven were in the programme, "Les Pilules du Diable," originally written in 1838, has just been revived in Paris to introduce Mdlle. Ænea, the "fly-Paris to introduce Mdlle. Enes, the "flying danseuse" of the Gaiety. A Paris critic says "it is really a wonderful spectacle to see this young weman flying up and down from the flies to the stage, and gracefully alighting upon the shoulders or hand of a dancer. The 'Golden Fly' was recalled many times, and repeated her wonderful exercises, to the great delight of the rubble."

Apropos of the French plays in London, the Parisian states that the manager has refused an offer of £400 guaranteed for each performance in Paris of the troupe which he has formed for "Les Enfants d'Edouard," "Frou-Frou," and "Adrienne Lecouvreur." It is expected that a large number of Pavisians will follow the company to London this season, besides the principal critics, such as MM. Sarcey, Vitu, and Lapommeraye. The French papers are unanimous in saying that such casts have never been obtained for these plays anywhere, not even in Paris.

A magnificent statue of Beethoven, the ost of which was defrayed by a subscription among music-lovers all over the world, was unveiled on Saturday, May 15th, in front of the square of the Academical front of the square of the Academical Gymnasium at Vienna. Beethoven is represented as sitting on a rock, his hands across his knees, his cloak fallen from his broad shoulders to his hips, and his body in the affitude of one listening to distant music. Prometheus gnawed by the eagle and the Goddess of Victory are at the left and right, respectively, of the pedestal, which is surrounded by nine geniusses. The word "Beethoven" in large Roman characters, is the only inscription. The monument, which is altogether twenty-five monument, which is altogether twenty-five feet high, was designed by Herr Kaspar von Zambusch, Professor of Sculpture at the Academy of Vienna, and it has been executed by that celebrated sculptor and his best pupils.

The new City School of Music, founded by the Corporation of London, England, will in no way interfere with existing institutions, but will, on the other hand, supply a want long felt. The Royal Academy of Music is intended almost these Academy of Music is intended atmost-solely for professional students, for those who can afford to pay thirty guineas a year, and who can take their lessons in the day-time. The new City School of Music will, on the other hand, be chiefly a school for amateurs and lovers of the art, and its special amateurs and loversof the art, and its special features will be musical instruction at a reduced price, and evening lessons, thereby allowing those who are engaged in business during the day to receive adequate instruction in any branch of the art they may elect. The professors of the new school have been selected, and the strong list of the professional staff has already been published. Within a month or two—that is to say, directly the premises are ready—the administrative officers will have been appointed, the scale of fees adjusted, and the full announcements made. That the school will be highly successful there can be no doubt, and the Corporation of the City of London deserves all praise for thus assisting a branch of art which, so far as public institutions are concerned, has far as public institutions are concerned, has hitherto been almost entirely neglected.

Will you describe the symptoms of fantile diarrhaes ? fantile diarrhaes?

Infantile diarrhaes, or cholers infantum, is one of the most frequent and serious of infantile diseases, and carries off, during the year, more children than any other complaint whatever: a knowledge of the symptoms, therefore, is quite necessary for a mother to know, in order thathe may at the proper time, call in efficient medical

It will be well, before describing the symptoms, to tell you how many mot symptoms, to tell you how many motions a young infant ought to have a day, their colour, consistence, and smell. Well, then, he should have from three to six motions in the twenty-four hours; the colour ought to be a bright yellow, inclining to orange; the consistence should be that of thick gruel; indeed, his motions, if healthy, ought to be somewhat of the colour (but a little more orange-tinted) and of the consistence of mustard made for the table; it should be nearly, if not quite, devoid of smell; it ought to have a faint and peculiar, but not a strong disagreefaint and peculiar, but not a strong disagree-nble odour. If it have a strong and dis-agreeable smell, the child is not well, and the case should be investigated, more especially if there be either curds or lumps in the motions; these latter symptoms de-note that the food has not been properly Now, suppose a child should have a slight bowel complaint—that is to say, that he has six six or eight motions during the twenty-four hours,—and that the stools are of a thinner consistence than what I have described,—provided, at the same time, that he he not griend that he have no wish that he be not griped, that he have no pain, and have not lost his desire for the breast: what ought to be done? Nothing. A slight looseness of the bowels should never be interfered with,—it is often an effort of nature to relieve itself of some vitiated 'looseness of the bowels"

A moderate "looseness of the bowels," then, is often a safety-valve, and you may with as much propriety chose the safety-valve of a steam-engine as stop a moderate "looseness of the

VETERINARY QUERIES AND RE-PLIES.

SIR, -Having noticed several questions SIR,—Having ncticed several questions answered through the columns of your valuable paper, I thought I would come to you for advice. I will be as brief as possible. I have a horse which has semething the matter with one of his fore-legs. The trouble seems to be in the knee joint. My first intimation of the trouble was when I took him to get shod. When you plok up his foot, it gives him great pain. On the fore part of the knee-cap on the inside of the leg there is an enlargement about the size of a small hen's-egg, only not quite so thick, and on the outside of the same leg at the top of the knee-joint there is an enat the top of the kase joint there is an enlargement which looks like a puff, but of a hard nature. When walking, he is not lame; if put off the walk, he goes lame. I had a farrier looking at it; his opinion was it is rheumatism.

TROUBLE IN THE ORCHARD. Mr. Benjamin Goldthorpe, of Mimico, fond that a number of his apple trees were being ruined by some bug which peeled the young branches and eat off all the buds. He brought in some of the peeled branches and a number of beetles, which he supposed were doing the damage. He said that they lived in the ground at the foot of the trees and svery morning went motion that wanted a vent—or to act as a diversion, by relieving the irritation of the gums. Even if he be not cutting his teeth, he may be "breeding" them—that is to say, the teeth may be forming in his gums, and may cause almost as much irritation as though he were actually cutting them. THE GATINEAU MURDER. Strange Story Told by a Dying Man.

Strange Story Told by a Dying Wan.

Offawa, May 31.—The Free Press says:
A very curious version of the Gatineau murder is a very curious version of the Gatineau murder is a very curious version of the Gatineau murder is a very cong the rounds of the press. Brisbois, who is at present incarcerated in Aylmer gaol, will be failed to learn that after all he did not murder his companion Hennessy, but that two other men murdered them both. The story is as follows:—"Anoine Brisbois was found murdered in his trapping and up the Ottawa His furs and money were missing, and so was his partner, Patrick Hennessy, apon whom the crime was laid. That happened wo years ago. Honnessy was never discovered. Anoly Felix Raclest and Cyrue Greenover, lumbernen, were cushed by a heavy log. Racicot was old that he would speedily die. He then confessed has he and Greenover murdered both Brisbois and innessy, concealing the latter's body. Those who eard this revelation hurried out to fetch a justice, and in their absence Greenover crawled from his oneh, though dangerously hurt, and pulled the anadarce from the dying Raclect so as to silence the and death before the official came to write out is contention." the first stain or speck beware
