At the City Hall.

Mr. W. G. Gosling presided at last night's meeting of the Civic Commission, at which the following members of the Board were present:—Messrs. Harris, Ayre, Jackson, Bradshaw, McGrath, Mullaly, Morris and Withers.

Harvey and Co. applied for permission to remove the western wall of one of their freight sheds to about 35 yards west of the present site, and erect an extension to their premises. Mr. Gosling being interested in the firm of Harvey and Co., vacated the chair and left the room while the discussion was on. Mr. Harris occupying the chair in the meantime.

Permission was granted, the work to be done in conformity with the Municipal Act.

The Colonial Secretary acknowledged receipt of correspondence dealing with the Council's financial affairs for 1914-1915, and stated that the same will be tabled at the next session of the Legislature.

D. R. Thistle and R. Dowden applied for permission to install machinery in the building at the corner of New Gower and Adelaide Streets. Permission was granted subject to the Engineer's approval.

Drs. M. C. and W. Roberts asked permission to erect a garage and stable at the rear of New Gower St., near Brail's Square. The matter was referred to the Health Officer.

J. Rossley informed the Board that his theatre would be run in the interests of charity during the Lenten season. Persons running theatres on these lines will be required to submit a full statement of proceeds and expenses to the Council. Last year the books of the city showed that the receipts for these theatres for the Lenten season amounted to about $3,500.

J. M. Kent, K.C., solicitor for the Commercial Cable Company, wrote stating that if the Board would submit in writing a statement that they would request the Legislature to amend the Municipal Act, they would pay the $400 tax under protest, to be refunded when the amendment became law. They would also pay the special tax of $250, under protest, reserving the right to ask a Judiciary opinion on the matter at any time.

The Secretary was instructed to write Mr. Kent informing him that while the Board will recommend to the Legislature the waiving of the $400 tax, they cannot accept the payment under protest of the special tax of $250 which is imposed for rights granted by the city.

Morris and Carter reported that in the prosecutions instituted against certain truckmen residing outside the city, the cases had been dismissed and judgment entered for the defendants. The Magistrate held that they did not ply for hire within the meaning of the Act, as they did not put up at any recognized cab or truck stand in the city, and offer themselves for hire to the public at large.

The Board questioned the ruling of the Court and will recommend a change in the Act at the next session of the Legislature.

A further report from Inspector Bambrick on stone breaking was read. The Chairman suggested that the Board would take some steps to offset the labour stringency and thought that stone breaking might be continued.

Mr. Jackman was of the opinion that if the labour situation could be relieved for about five weeks, matters would by that time be normal. He felt that the Board should extend $1,000 a week for that period for quarrying and breaking stone. No matter what quantity was quarried or broken the stone would be an asset to the city.

Mr. Bradshaw pointed out that if Mr. Jackman's suggestion were acted upon, the greater portion of the money would go to the truckmen for carting the stone, as the approximate figures would be $1,600 for quarrying and $3,400 for carting.

Mr. Mullaly thought that in a time like this the Board should be more considerate and give the labourer who is willing to work a chance to make a fair day's pay. In order to do this, he moved that 50 cents a ton be offered for stone broken. According to Mr. Bambrick's report the average man would be able to break about one ton and a half per day which would mean $1.25. If he could break more, so much the better.

Mr. McGrath objected to giving the work on contract, and advocated the payment of $1.40 a day, irrespective of the quantity broken. According to Mr. Bambrick's report the average man would be able to break about one ton and a half per day which would mean $1.25. If he could break more, so much the better.

The Chairman interposed at this juncture and stated that the Board instead of grinding was endeavouring to help the workingman by making work at a loss to the city, since the work could be done for half the amount by machinery. He also wished to remind Mr. McGrath that he and the other members of the Board had been appointed to conserve the interests of the taxpayers, and not to spend their money indiscriminately.

Mr. Harris supported the decision of the Chairman, and stated emphatically that he would not be a party to such a form of employment.

Mr. Morris seconded the motion brought forward by Mr. Mullaly as he felt that too much time had already been lost in experimental work, and the time had arrived for immediate action.

Upon the vote being taken the motion was carried, Messrs. McGrath and Withers dissenting, the former on the grounds already stated, and the latter on the grounds that the sum offered was too much in excess of the actual cost by machinery.

The plans for the new sanitary stables were inspected, and the erection of the same will be further discussed at the next meeting.

The meeting adjourned at 10.40 p.m.

Plot That Failed;

Love That Would Not Be Denied.

CHAPTER XXX.

"Not by me," said Leicester, in a low voice. "I love her still, but I will not interfere with the quiet happiness which she enjoys. Fitz is a better man than I—and—but, there, let us talk no more of it," and he jumped into the cart.

At that moment, while Mr. Thaxton was starting the horse, they heard the noise of wheels behind them, and before they were scarce aware of it a small, high gig was close behind them.

"Hello!" called out a voice, which Leicester seemed to recognize. "What is it vegetables? No, small party enjoying themselves. Oh! what's that? A man handcuffed!" And before any one could prevent him he had dropped from his own gig and jumped into the cart.

"I know your face, my man," he said to Job, "and yours too, sir, if I'm not mistaken. You are a lawyer, Mr. Thaxton—concerned in the little affair at Penruddie; may I ask where you are taking this man—Job is his name, I think?"

Mr. Thaxton glanced at Leicester, apprehensively.

"You are quite right," he said. "The man's name is Job, and I am a lawyer. I detected him robbing this gentleman—a Spaniard, and his servant, and I am assisting them to take him to the nearest station."

"Hem!" said the stranger.

"But you have the advantage of me," continued Mr. Thaxton. "For, although I seem to know your voice, I do not recognize you. May I ask upon what ground you thus exercise your curiosity?"

"Oh," said the stranger, with a laugh, putting off a large beard which had nearly concealed his face, "I'm Detective Dockett! You know me now, I suppose."

"Oh, dear me, yes," said Mr. Thaxton, shooting another glance at Leicester more apprehensive than the last. "I am glad to see you. I suppose you are going on to Tenby; you will be there before I shall—I am surprised your horse doesn't run away."

"He won't run away," said Mr. Dockett. "He'd follow me down a coal mine, or up in a balloon. Yes, I'm going on to Tenby, sir. I've had a little smuggling job on here. Perhaps I can do something for you in Tenby? I run case that Penruddie murder, wasn't it? I suppose nothing has ever turned up, sir?"

"You are the person to know best about that. You were engaged in the case. No, nothing more ever transpired. No doubt, Mr. Leicester Dodson committed the deed, and was killed himself in the struggle. But it is a painful case—and I don't like to talk about it."

"Just so," said Mr. Dockett. "Well, I think I'll get into my trap. Good-night, gentlemen. Good-night, senior."

Leicester, who had kept his face turned away as much as possible, bowed gravely, and muttered good-night in Spanish.

As he did so Mr. Dockett, who had risen, plumped down on the side of the cart again and looked at him out of the corner of his eyes.

"Been long in England, senior?" he asked.

"The gentleman doesn't speak English," said Mr. Thaxton.

"Just ask him, will you, sir?" said Mr. Dockett, with a pleasant smile.

Mr. Thaxton jabbered something meant to imitate Spanish, and Leicester, who, notwithstanding his perilous position, could scarcely restrain his laughter, answered him.

Again, at the sound of Leicester's voice, Mr. Dockett got a little closer and eyed him.

"Then he said, when Mr. Thaxton had finished—

"And I suppose all this little story about the robbery was a cover. You meant to take Job here on to Tenby?"

"To make his statement and obtain a warrant for the real criminal," said Mr. Thaxton.

Mr. Dockett indulged in a quiet chuckle.

"That's good," he said. "Why, you would have played into Captain M's hands. Nothing would have been nicer for him."

"How so?" asked Mr. Thaxton.

"Why, thus," said Mr. Dockett. "You go, we'll say, to Tenby; you take this precious old rascal before a magistrate. What he does is to issue a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Leicester, and one for the captain. The captain surrenders, of course, and comes up for examination. He braves it out, declares the whole thing is a plant to get Mr. Leicester out of the scrape, says Job has been bribed, and defies you to produce a tittle of evidence against him. You can't, you know, not at present; the magistrate says he must discharge the captain, who leaves the court without a stain upon his honor. Meanwhile Mr. Leicester comes up, all the evidence all ready against him is produced, the nasty impression of the attempt to incriminate the captain is brought to bear, and Mr. Leicester is committed for trial. All the while between the examination and the trial we rake up more evidence, and the whole thing is brought to a conclusion."

"As how?" said Mr. Thaxton, who was deeply impressed by the detective's argument.

"Mr. Leicester is hung for the murder of James Starling, and Captain Murpoint—or rather Sir Howard Murpoint, M.P.—marries the wealthy

"No; steal his portmanteau," said Mr. Thaxton.

"Good-night," said Mr. Dockett, and he made a step forward, but the cart seemed to jolt at that moment, for he missed his footing, staggered, and fell against Leicester, managing as he fell to drag off Leicester's hat, spectacles and false beard.

Then, before any one could utter a word, he leaped to his feet, laid his hand upon Leicester's shoulder, and, with a quiet grin, said:

"Mr. Leicester Dodson, I arrest you on a charge of willful murder! Here's the warrant—I've always carried it with me. No resistance, I hope?"

"None," said Leicester, with a dread calmness. "I surrender, Mr. Dockett."

"Now that's what I call right and proper and gentlemanly," said Mr. Dockett, admiringly. "But, bless my heart and soul! who'd ever have thought that I should have dropped upon you here and at this time, and like this?"

"Did you not know it was us?" said Mr. Thaxton, sadly. "Were you not following us?"

"No," said Mr. Dockett, with a quiet chuckle. "I was on quite a different job. Not that I thought you would never turn up. I wasn't taken in by that story of your falling over the cliff. It wasn't likely a gentleman with such muscle as you, would allow yourself to be pulled over by a half drunken, wounded man. No, I knew you'd turn up again some day, and was waiting my time. And here you are!"

"Yes," said Leicester, "and you've earned your hundred pounds so you think I committed the murder?"

"I think you'll be hung for it," said Mr. Dockett, after a minute's silence. "Thank you," said Leicester, with a trim smile. "It is candid of you, Mr. Dockett."

"Well, sir, no offence. I'm certain that if you didn't do the trick you knew something about it."

"I did not do it, and I did not know anything about it. But there sits a man who does know something about it."

And he pointed to Job.

"Ah!" said Mr. Dockett.

"Yes," said Mr. Thaxton. And then, motioning to Leicester to be silent, he told Mr. Dockett all that had occurred and all that Job had confessed in the ruined chapel.

Mr. Dockett listened most attentively to the concise and exact statement made by the lawyer, scarcely taking his eyes from Job the while, and yet taking note of every movement made by the others.

Then he said, when Mr. Thaxton had finished—

"And I suppose all this little story about the robbery was a cover. You meant to take Job here on to Tenby?"

"To make his statement and obtain a warrant for the real criminal," said Mr. Thaxton.

Mr. Dockett indulged in a quiet chuckle.

"That's good," he said. "Why, you would have played into Captain M's hands. Nothing would have been nicer for him."

"How so?" asked Mr. Thaxton.

"Why, thus," said Mr. Dockett. "You go, we'll say, to Tenby; you take this precious old rascal before a magistrate. What he does is to issue a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Leicester, and one for the captain. The captain surrenders, of course, and comes up for examination. He braves it out, declares the whole thing is a plant to get Mr. Leicester out of the scrape, says Job has been bribed, and defies you to produce a tittle of evidence against him. You can't, you know, not at present; the magistrate says he must discharge the captain, who leaves the court without a stain upon his honor. Meanwhile Mr. Leicester comes up, all the evidence all ready against him is produced, the nasty impression of the attempt to incriminate the captain is brought to bear, and Mr. Leicester is committed for trial. All the while between the examination and the trial we rake up more evidence, and the whole thing is brought to a conclusion."

"As how?" said Mr. Thaxton, who was deeply impressed by the detective's argument.

"Mr. Leicester is hung for the murder of James Starling, and Captain Murpoint—or rather Sir Howard Murpoint, M.P.—marries the wealthy Diary of a Rifleman of the Queen's Westminster with the British Expeditionary Force.

For City men we have shaken down wonderfully, and our health generally is very good. The only change we can get from cold food is tea, OXO, etc. We cook in fires and pails, etc. The Germans, from the smoke we see rising from their trenches, seem to do things more elaborately.

"FOUR MONTHS UNDER FIRE."
A diary by Corporal A. J. Sproston,
Motor Cyclist Despatch Rider, with the British Expeditionary Force.

Food has been for some days almost unobtainable in the villages, and shops and cottages have been cleared out by the enemy. We beg a little hot water at Serches and make OXO, the bread I had obtained the previous day at Neuilly, St. Froat proving a boon.

Reprinted from the London "Daily Mail," December 15th, 1914.

The handiness of OXO CUBES is almost as great a recommendation as their food value. By simply adding an OXO CUBE to a cupful of hot water a delicious warming cupful of OXO can be made in a moment. OXO CUBES are prepared by intricate scientific processes: they provide in handy form the nourishing Beef-fibrin, which builds up the body and creates energy, combined with the valuable Beef-extractives which promote nutrition and ensure ready assimilation.

Miss Mildmay, and lives happy ever afterward."

Leicester rose to his full height stern and threatening.

"One word more of such impertinence, sir, and I fling you out of the cart! How dare you make use of that lady's name, sir?"

"Whew!" exclaimed Mr. Dockett. "You haven't heard the news."

"News, what news?" asked Leicester, sternly.

"That the captain is to be made a baronet, and that he is to marry his ward, Miss Mildmay."

"It is false," said Leicester, grasping Mr. Thaxton's arm, madly.

"Very likely," said Mr. Dockett. "They say nothing's true as is in the papers. This was in all of 'em yesterday morning, and, with no offence, I'll bet there's something in it, gentlemen."

"It must not be," said Leicester, groaning. "I would rather see her in her grave. She may marry Fitz, or any honest man, so that she is happy, but not that scoundrel, not that villain. Look you, sir," he said, turning suddenly to Mr. Dockett and laying a hand upon his arm to emphasize his words, "you will gain a hundred pounds by my arrest. Now, I say nothing about my own innocence or my guilt. I say no more on that score; but I say this, and this gentleman will bear me out, I will give you one thousand pounds if you will take the trouble to investigate the statement you heard from this man. One thousand pounds! It is a fair sum! You are not to prove my innocence—let that go, but to prove his guilt; any part will do, so that it prevents this marriage."

"Agreed on," said Mr. Dockett. "I'll take the contract on condition that everything is left in my hands."

Mr. Thaxton conferred with Leicester for a few minutes, and then Leicester answered:

"We agree to trust you; and if the reflection will have any weight in keeping you faithful and honest, unswerving in your task, I would have you remember that in trusting you I do so wholly, being tied hand and foot in jail."

"Exactly," said Mr. Dockett, with a queer twinkle of the eye. "Then, as we are agreed, I'll get you to allow me to drive."

And he took the reins from Mr. Thaxton's hands, calling to Stumpy:

"Young man, just get into my gig, will you, and follow on after."

So saying he turned the cart round and drove back toward Penruddie.

When they got near the village he stopped the horse and unfastened Job's hands.

"Now you get home, Mr. Job," he said, quietly, and fixing a significant glance upon Job's face. "You go on as usual, and keep your eyes open and your mouth shut. See, I trust you, because I know you know me. I'm Detective Dockett, of her majesty's police, Scotland Yard, and when I trust a man and find him false, I go for him, and put my hand on him if he's at the other end of the world—I've such a long arm—and when I've got him I don't let him go till he's had a taste of her majesty's jail and skuliy. But there, I needn't tell you what I can do, for you know me."

Job nodded sullenly and looked up at Leicester.

"I don't want no threats," he said. "I'll do my duty by Master Leicester there if I swing for it."

And, with an affectionate glance, he hurried off.

CHAPTER XII.

Among the smaller places along the coast there is much to interest the traveller, and each place abounds in local lore and history. In leaving Burgeo our first place of call was Ramea, where we spent a short time. Ramea is quite a centre of trade which is carried on by Messrs. John Penny & Sons; and the interests of the people and the firm appear to be conducted very mutually. Two nice churches adorn the settlement, and also a very fine school hall; and it is evident that the educational and spiritual wants of the place are amply provided for.

Passing on from Ramea the next place of importance is Cape LaHune. This place is now a regular port of call for the S.S. "Patria," but it does not come much in the public eye. Our steamer anchored at the back of the harbour, and being unexpected, her arrival gave no small surprise to the people. The pilots in charge of one of our party landed by boat, and their military appearance created no little wonder as to who they really were, and what they represented; but the people's doubts were soon removed, and they felt that friends and not enemies had landed amongst them. The meeting was held in the open, and the importance and nature of the war was fully explained, and they all joined heartily in the singing of the National Anthem, and the visit to Cape LaHune was a thing of the past.

The bay in which the Fiona anchored, on the back of Cape LaHune, is known as Deadman's Bay, and it is settled by a few families only. From Captain English, of the Fiona, we learned the story of this place, and he was told it some ten years ago by a very old man, whose grandfather had told it to him; so the story, which dated back, would cover a period of about one hundred and fifty years. The place derives its name from a cave nearby, and which is known as Deadman's Cave, and it was so named because of the following incident: When the old gentleman's grandfather first went there to settle, he noticed this cave, and with others who were with him, they undertook to search it. In doing so they were surprised to find that within it lay the decomposed bodies and skeletons of some twenty-five or thirty persons, and hanging from some precipitous prominence of the cave was one human body. The decision which the land settlers came to, and which they handed down to their sons and grandsons, and which was told to Captain English, was this: the dead bodies in the cave had been the victims of some shipwreck, probably some ten or fifteen years before that time; and that they took shelter in the cave, until finally they died of starvation. Perhaps the victims were the crew of some old-time emigrant ship, or a contingent of passengers who in time of refuge and found shelter in this particular cave.

This story is similar to that which was published in our papers some twenty or twenty years ago, and which gave the account of a ship's large crew which had been found near Cape LaHune, and which had been buried in the sands for years unknown, and who

CHAPTER XII.

Among the smaller places along the coast there is much to interest the traveler, and each place abounds in local lore and history. In leaving Ramea our first place of call was Ramea, where we spent a short time. Ramea is quite a centre of trade which is carried on by Messrs. John Penny & Sons, and the interests of the people and the firm appear to be conducted in very mutual harmony. Two nice churches adorn the settlement, and also a very fine school building, and it is evident that the educational and spiritual wants of the place are amply provided for.

Passing on from Ramea to the next place of importance is Cape LaHune. This place is now a regular port of call for the S.S. Fortis, but it does not come much in the public eye. Our steamer anchored at the back of the harbour, and being unexpected, her arrival gave no small surprise to the people. The pilots in charge of one of our party landed by boat, and their military appearance created no little wonder as to who they really were, and what they represented; but the people's doubts were soon removed, and they felt that friends and not enemies had landed amongst them. The meeting was held in the open, and the importance and nature of the war was fully explained; and then all joined heartily in the singing of the National Anthem, and the visit to Cape LaHune was a thing of the past.

The bay in which the Fiona anchored, on the back of Cape LaHune, is known as Deadman's Bay, and it is settled by a few families only. From Captain English, of the Fiona, we learned the story of this place, and he was told it some ten years ago by a very old man, whose grandfather had told it to him; so the story, when dated back, would cover a period of about one hundred and fifty years. The place derives its name, from a cave nearby, and which is known as Deadman's Cave, and it was so named because of the following incident: When the old gentleman's grandfather first went there to settle, he noticed this cave, and with others who were with him, they undertook to search it; in doing so, they were surprised to find that within it lay the decomposed bodies and skeletons of some twenty-five or thirty persons, and hanging from some precipice or prominence of the cave was one lone body. The decision which the old settlers came to, and which they handed down to their sons and grandsons, and which was told to Captain English, was this: the dead bodies in the cave had been the victims of some shipwreck, probably some ten or fifteen years before that time; and that they took shelter in the cave, until finally they died of starvation. Perhaps the victims were the boat's crew of some old-timed emigrant ship, or a contingent of passengers which in time of shipwreck had sought a haven of refuge and found shelter in this particular cave.

This story is similar to that which was published in our papers some ten or twelve years ago, and which gave the account of a ship's large boat, which had been found near Cape Ray, and which had been buried in the sands for years unknown, and which when turned over was found to cover the remains of a score or more of people. The theory of this boat was that the shipwrecked people had landed in safety, and had hauled their boat upon the sands and had turned her bottom up for the purpose of shelter; they then lay down to sleep, and being fatigued and exhausted many of them expired, and that the shifting sands buried in the boat so that the refugees were smothered.

How long ago it was buried in the sands we do not know, but in the course of years the same power which buried the boat by shifting sands also uncovered it. Thus it was found after a long burial—a mystery of the past, and a reminder of what the earlier pioneers of the New World suffered. The victims of Deadman's Cave, and the victims of the buried boat, were about one hundred miles apart, but it may have been that they belonged to the same emigrant ship and in different directions sought safety in the time of shipwreck; but whatever the conditions were, the story is the same. It is a story of colonization, of self-denial and endurance, of suffering and death. It is a part of the price of our Empire's greatness; and though much of it has been unwritten and is unknown, and therefore lost, it is part of history all the same. As Kipling says, "It is the price of blood."

Thick, Glossy Hair Free From Dandruff

Girls! Beautify your hair! Make it soft, lustrous and luxuriant—Try the moist cloth.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

INTER-CLUB TOURNAY.—Representatives of the various societies and clubs in the city will hold a meeting at the T. A. Armory on next Tuesday evening to arrange the playing of an inter-club billiard tournament or otherwise. Five clubs have already signified their assent of taking part.

Final League Hockey Match.

The last league hockey match for the season was played last evening between the Victorias and St. Bon's, resulting in a win for the former by five goals to three. The ice was poor, the attendance the smallest on record and the exhibition not much of it being characterized at periods by fouling. Higgins, of St. Bon's, made a few brilliant runs, but he had very little support. The players were:—

Firemen Grateful

TO BOWRING BROS.
 The Firemen's Union held a special meeting at the L. S. P. U. Hall last night to receive the report of Delegates Woods and Wheelan, who were sent to confer with Messrs. Bowring Bros., Ltd., concerning non-union men on their sealing steamers and to admit new applicants belonging to the city and outports who were at present employed on ships. The Union is thankful to Bowring's for acceding to their request. Before the meeting closed President Woods exhorted the men going in sealing steamers to be of good behaviour on sailing day, it was decided that volunteers in H. M. Forces, not three months in arrears, would remain in good standing.

Man Shot Himself Accidentally

The subjoined message was received last night by Hon. R. A. Squires, Minister of Justice, from the Magistrate at St. George's:—
 "Just received a message from Rev. Fr. Joy, Port au Port, that Edmund Jesso, accidentally shot himself at Shear's Cove, Cape George. He leaves a widow and eight children."

Poor Outlook for Visiting Team.

A communication has been received from Mr. H. Smith, of Stoney, N. S., asking what the probabilities are for a team coming here to play a series of games with our boys. We understand President Higgins of the Hockey League will reply that the outlook for a visit here of an outside team would not be favourable just now.

What Women Have Done.

London Daily Mail.—What women have done during these last five months behind the firing line has been the admiration of the world. But for the women of Great Britain there is reserved in addition the sterner part of putting away their private feelings and affections and encouraging those who are dearest to them to seize the privilege and opportunity of defending their common home. In other lands the State is the chief recruiting agent. Here we must depend in part on the personal and voluntary power of women to cheer another and a finer kind of universal service.

WALT MASON

But yesterday I celebrated the advent of the glad new year (for which watchfully I had waited) and wore a smile from ear to ear. And now the almanac informs me the year's already six weeks gone, and soon this overcoat that warms me and I shall be privileged to pawn. Oh, Time, when all the rest are fooling, and loafing through the golden days, along the highway you go tooling your tallyho and spectral bays. When all the rest are sweetly snoring, and human toil has known a slump, your wagon wheels go ripping, roaring, down, down to the eternal dump. We mortals labor in the daytime, a few brief hours, and then repose; we feel we ought to have our playtime, and see the moving picture shows. There is a lull in our endeavor; whenever we can find excuse, but you, oh, Time, rush on forever, rush on, like blizzards broken loose. You make us old, before we know it, impartially you wait us all.

SURMISE AS TO REPRISALS AGAINST GERMANY.

LONDON, To-day.

France, Russia, England, Serbia and Belgium are said by English officials to be in absolute accord as to the reprisals to be made to Germany, Austria and Turkey in retaliation for the German submarine campaign. England was in conference with her Allies concerning the reprisals, before the receipt of the last note making informal representations looking to the discontinuance of submarine activity and the admission of foodstuffs to Germany for her civil population. While it can be authoritatively stated that the nature of the reprisals has not been agreed upon absolutely as yet, England and her Allies have decided upon the main points which probably will be announced on Monday by Premier Asquith in a statement for the press, simultaneously with submission of the position of all opponents of Germany to neutral countries, whose trade is so vitally affected by present naval methods. Walter Hume Page, American Ambassador from the States to Britain, and the British Foreign Office have refrained from discussing the terms of the American note, but the Foreign Office intimated that the probable statement of Premier Asquith on Monday will not be a direct answer to the American note, but the long promised elucidation of the intimation made by Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs and other Cabinet members as to the reprisals against Germany that would doubtless be necessary. There is every reason to believe that England fully intends to make all foodstuffs for Germany absolute contraband, thus cutting off the movement of ships to German ports and making export trade by sea impossible. Great interest is being shown by the British press and public in the probable treatment of cotton under the new system of reprisals. The belief seems to be general that cotton and food will become absolute contraband. British officials are now persuaded, they state, that several ships which were first reported having been destroyed by mines were victims of sub-marines.

HINDENBURG MAY BE SENT WEST

LONDON, To-day.

A special to the Daily Express from the Belgium frontier says the appearance of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg in France and Flanders as Commander-in-Chief of the Western armies is being freely predicted among the Kaiser's forces. His successes on the Eastern frontier have greatly impressed the Emperor whose disappointment at the failures of his generals on the other front is great.

2.30 P.M.

POWERFUL GUN WILL OPERATE
BENEATH THE WATER.

NEW YORK, To-day.

Britain's reply to the German submarine warfare is a powerful gun that will spread shrapnel with deadly force beneath the water, said Rev. Canon James C. Hannay at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, on his arrival on the Baltic. Canon Hannay came over at the request of friends in this country to lecture on Ireland and the war. One gun has already been finished and the completion of others is being rushed day and night, he added. The people in Britain feel certain that Germany has established a base for her under sea fighters on the Irish Sea.

GENERAL RECALL OF GERMANS.

PETROGRAD, To-day.

General recall of the German armies in Northern Poland is predicted at the War Office as a result of the Russian victory at Przasnysz. It was asserted that the Russian advance in the Przasnysz region had cut through the German front, extending from the Nienen to the Vistula, and that the troops of Grand Duke Nicholas were proceeding slowly towards the East Prussian frontier, thus menacing the Germans along the Nienen Bobr narrow front.

TERRIFIC HAVOC AT ARRAS.

PARIS, To-day.

Germans are again bombarding Arras and Soissons, as the result of French troops concentrating in those cities. The big German mortars have great part of the city in ruins, despite rainy and foggy weather. In West Flanders artillery duelling is still in progress there, a considerable amount of French artillery has been placed at the disposal of the Belgians, who are shelling the German lines near Ostend. Infantry fighting in the forest of Verdun has cost the Germans heavily. Further to the south in the Meuse Valley near St. Mihiel, the French have repulsed with heavy losses the attempts of the Germans to retake some of the ground they lost.

SHIP TORPEDOED.

DIEPPE, To-day.

It is reported here that a British merchant ship has been torpedoed in the English Channel, off St. Valery. The Sursonne, boat destroyer has gone out from Dieppe to the assistance of the British ship.

CREW OF SUBMARINE WASHED ASHORE.

CHRISTIANIA, To-day.

Several bodies wearing German naval uniforms were found to-day in the wreckage of a submarine washed up near Christiania and no further doubt that wrecked craft is the famous submarine U 9; all her crew of 25 men believed to have perished.

THE HUMPTY-DUMPTY KAISER.

(Providence Journal.)

No one who stops for a moment to reflect on the facts can fail to be struck by the utter failure of the German propaganda in the United States. This, it may be said in passing, is in strict accord with many other failures that have characterized the German programme in the last six months. The Kaiser's vast and brutal enterprise would be better off to-day if these volunteer and conscripted workers had desisted before they began. For the human mind is so constituted that it does not relish a constant fusillade of unwelcome and unfounded argument. The American public has made up its mind about this whole matter, and it refuses to be changed. All the King's horses and all the King's men cannot put Humpty-Dumpty Wilhelm together again.

MAN WITH "LIVE" SHELL.

Found walking in the street with a live shrapnel shell (which he said he took from a ship's engineer who had got it at Zebrugge) wrapped in a coat, Emile Burghman, thirty-nine, a Belgian, was arrested at Cardiff and charged with being in possession of ammunition in the vicinity of a railway. A sergeant of the Royal Artillery explained that the shell contained 375 bullets, and would explode if dropped on the point. Burghman was fined 20s. or fourteen days.

Salt Regal will start your liver again if you find it getting sluggish. This is one of the most agreeable of the compound effervescent salts, and is highly reputed on the other side. It is mild in action, but it can be depended on to do its work promptly and thoroughly. Price 40c. a bottle.

NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE.

The young man McCrudden, who was seriously injured by falling at the Seamen's Institute, as alluded to in yesterday's Telegram, is in a precarious condition at the General Hospital, and is not expected to live much longer. In his descent from the ladder on which he stood he came in contact with a stick, seriously injuring himself.

BELGIUM HAS BEEN RUINED BY WAR.

New York, Feb. 14.—Belgium's population has been reduced by about 600,000 as a result of the war and her condition presents a situation without parallel in history, says a report issued to-night by the Rockefeller Foundation from its War Relief Commission sent to investigate the effects of the war upon non-combatants. It is the first report on this commission, which went to Belgium last November.

After detailing how means of transportation, communication and banking exchange have been destroyed, commerce and industry paralyzed, homes and other buildings laid low, the agricultural districts devastated and the food supply virtually cut off, the report says: "Yet if one is to understand the Belgian problem, it is perhaps necessary to emphasize not the destitution of a few hundred thousand, but the suddenly enforced inactivity of a strong and healthy nation of 7,000,000.

After stating that there are 320,000 Belgian refugees in Holland, and 100,000 in England, the report says that the number of people who are still in Belgium, but who have been driven out of their homes, has not yet been estimated. The army, it says, has drawn off 250,000 men.

Regarding the agricultural situation, the Commission found that autumn planting has somehow been done, and that it is conceivable that Belgium may continue to raise most of her own potatoes, fruits and fresh vegetables.

In connection with the destruction of houses and property, the report says that no estimate can be obtained of the total, either of the military requisitions and levies, or of the destruction of property, but that this total must be enormous.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Of the destruction of homes and property the report says: "We found people living in cellars under the ruins of their homes; in lofts over the cow-stalls; saw children that had been born in hen coops and pig sty, and learned of one man who considered that he was doing well when the population of his poultry house was reduced from 22 to 13 refugees.

On Borrowing Eyes.

By RUTH CAMERON.

How much we see through other people's eyes. A housekeeper is getting her house ready for a critical guest. She goes about inspecting it to see if it is satisfactory. She looks everywhere for dust, she gives the brasses in the kitchen an extra polish, she pauses to straighten the shades, and all the time she was looking at her home, not through her own eyes, but through the critical eyes of the coming guest.

If she were preparing for a less critical guest the house would look different to her.

Buying Clothes to Please Others.

A girl goes out to buy a suit. Instead of looking at the suits out of her own eyes and liking and disliking accordingly, she sees them out of the eyes of that cluster of girls whose standards so largely determine her conduct. She really cannot afford the blue suit. The brown is what she should buy. But she has heard her friends criticise that style as not quite up to the latest mode. She might have bought the less expensive suit if she had seen it only through her own eyes, but she sees it through their eyes, and, of course, buys the blue suit which she cannot afford.

It is really astonishing to find what important things people permit themselves to look at through the eyes of others. A letter friend once wrote

In Milady's Boudoir.

By GWEN SEARS.

CARE OF THE HANDS.

Much has been written regarding the care of the hands, and it is not to be wondered at that folks get tired of such articles, especially folks who do take lots of care of their hands. But then again, there are those of us who neglect them in spite of the many tiresome articles of remonstrance and advice.

Study your hands and decide for yourself if you need the following advice. If you are fortunate enough to be possessed of perfect hands, turn the page, and be well satisfied with your victory over your less careful sister.

Strange as it may seem, there are some women, otherwise dainty, who have difficulty in finding time to keep the nails and hands in good condition. The hands and nails are always in evidence except when gloved.

Any moment they may be called upon in some emergency to perform a task which will expose the perfection of the hands or their lack of it to people whose opinion is not to be despised. To prevent any possibility of being obliged to display unkempt hands, five minutes a day at least should be given to them.

If even such a short time is devoted to their care, there will be so little to do each time that five minutes will be ample in which to keep them beautiful—an edge filed here and there, a pushing back of the cuticle with the rounded part of the orange stick, a rub or so with the buffer and then the nail brush, and the task is complete.

Each night before retiring a lotion of cream should be rubbed into the hands to keep them smooth and white. If the pretty custom of kissing hands should be revived, mothlike hands of women would be better tended and more fair.

And there is yet a last remnant of that charming custom left. Many a modern maid could tell of kissed palms and finger tips if she would—and you may be sure that ever after her nails and hands were kept in order for just such another emergency. Resolve that the hands shall be well kept.

When the damper in a stovepipe is too high to reach easily, put a strong wire through it and attach a chain so that it can be pulled up or down as desired.

Use Church Bells in War

Austria may Confiscate Them and Extract the Copper.

Rome, Feb. 18.—Despatches from Vienna state that the Austrian Government has taken a census of the church bells throughout the empire with the object of requisitioning them eventually for the purpose of extracting the copper for military purposes. The consent of the ecclesiastical authorities has already been obtained conditionally. The churches are not to be entirely deprived of bells, the traditional and historical bells being spared. In the meantime the Government is buying up all the available copper. The bells will be taken over as a last resort.

Our old friend the taffeta petticoat is again coming into fashion.

Our Volunteers.

Two volunteers, Herb. S. Marshall and Robert H. Hartery, both of St. John's, enlisted with the Second Contingent yesterday, which makes a total of 1,215 enlisted to date.

Advance drill was gone through yesterday, and the work though somewhat strenuous was thoroughly enjoyed. The defense party on Topsail Road was in command of Acting Platoon Commander Noseworthy, while Lieut. Winder led the attack. The engagement took place at the rear of Cowan's Farm. The eastern battle was fought near Snow's Farm, on the Torbay Road. The attacking force being led by Lieut. Robertson and the defensive in charge of Acting Platoon Commander O'Grady.

Following the battle the men had dinner and return to the Armoury was made about 4 p.m.

Before the parade was dismissed Capt. E. S. Ayre read out the following:—

BABIES SORES

Every mother should realize that the skin of her baby is so tender that the secretions of the body often lead to rashes, eruptions, etc., all of which may be removed by Zam-Buk. Scores of restless, crying babies, upon examination are found to be suffering from some form of skin irritation or "heat." Don't let the little one suffer when Zam-Buk will cure!

Mrs. L. Hood, of 475 Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg, says: "Some nasty sores broke out around my baby's mouth, and despite all the preparations used, they refused to heal. I took him to St. Boniface hospital and he remained there for two weeks. At the end of that time he was no better and we again took him home. I was then advised to try Zam-Buk, and obtained a supply. The effect of the first few applications was very gratifying, and I continued with the use of the balm. A little perseverance resulted in a complete cure."

Zam-Buk cures eczema, rashes, ringworm, chapped hands, scurfy, heat rashes, cuts, burns, ulcers, discharging sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

There is no better way of spreading diseases than by chewing a pen or pencil, previously chewed by somebody else, and while teachers at school aim against the habit among their pupils, the parents are not always so careful when the children are at home. Indeed the parents themselves are not always proof against the temptation.

If you go into a public writing room you may often see writers rummaging with the tip of a public pen between their teeth. It is thoughtless, but dangerous even in the most carefully kept writing room.

AMERICAN RAILWAY SYSTEMS - THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Slwash." The Southern Railway is a vast collection of railroad lines, which ramble over the south, from Washington and St. Louis to the gulf and hold mass meetings at Birmingham, Greensboro, Va., Columbia, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., Knoxville, Tenn., and other well-known junction points.

The Southern Railway Company owns and leases over 7,000 miles of railroad. Other lines, comprising 2,000 miles, are affiliated, controlled, influenced, engaged or partially wedded to the system. Altogether, the president of the railroad has to keep track of forty lines, which have separate capitalizations, bond issues, leases, and other complications. Being president of a great railroad system is not as easy and simple a job as remembering a telephone directory.

After a hard day's work, the president of such a system is as likely as not to awaken at 2 a.m., and remember with a start that he hasn't had a report from the Pedro and Pacific Railroad, six miles long, for three years, and that something may have carried it off in the meantime.

The Southern Railway provides main routes from Washington and St. Louis to almost every great city in the south. It also provides unlimited scenery of great beauty, for the traveller. Those Americans who spend the summer travelling wearily through the Black, Hartz and other bush league mountains in Europe, on the inside seat of a compartment, with nothing but unlimited and unbelievable whiskers to look at on the seats opposite, should insert themselves in a parlor car on the Southern Railroad, and travel down the French Broad Valley and other sections of the Blue Ridge mountains, arranged by the Creator especially for the delight of mankind.

The Southern Railway has $180,000,000 stock, and pays interest on $270,000,000 bonds, of as many varieties as there are postage stamp issues in Costa Rica. It earns $70,000,000 a year, and after paying four and a half per cent dividends on its preferred stock, it has a large surplus with which to chase and corner fugitive southern railroads. It owns half of the Monon railroad, and it is a cold year when it does not pick up some trifling system at a bargain, and weld it into its time-table.

The Southern Railroad's most prominent

Incident passengers are President Wilson, who often went down to see the 7.40 come in at Charlottesville, when he was in college, and the Vanderbilts, who own a forty-acre country home near Ashville, having been attracted to the place, by the excellence of the depot lunch counter.

If Headachy, Dizzy, Bilious, "Cascarets"

Your Liver is full of Bile; Bowels Clogged, Stomach Sour, Tongue Coated, Breath Bad.

Get a 10-cent box now. You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a clearing up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clean for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"In attending the theatre with a young man, who should follow the usher down the aisle first, he or 17" asked Dora.

"In entering public places of amusement the woman precedes the man. The escort gives his checks to the usher, and the usher goes down to the aisle to locate the woman following and the man bringing up the rear. Where there are no ushers, the man precedes, locates the seats, stands aside and allows the woman to enter and then takes his seat," answered her aunt.

The afternoon blouse should be made of chiffon, net, lace or silk.

BRUCE'S SEEDS For 1915

Like the Highland Regiments of the British Army, of whose glorious record we are so proud, Bruce's seeds have established a record "SECOND TO NONE." The name Bruce in connection with seeds is a standard for quality. For 65 years we have served the Canadian Farmer, Gardener, and Amateur so well, that from a small beginning this business has grown to large proportions, doing business from coast to coast, and outside Canada.

Our success is owing to our thorough knowledge of the business and the requirements of this country, attained through our long experience, and to the extreme care exercised in every department, to the excellence of our stocks, which are unequalled in quality, and our high-class growers, who have been in the business for generations; also to our thorough testing for germination, our careful system of packing and our prompt attention to orders. In seeds more than anything it pays to buy the best; do not buy seeds you know nothing about; cheap seeds are dear, if you obtain them for nothing.

Our large catalogue of seeds, plants, bulbs, poultry supplies and garden implements, full of valuable information, is now ready and will be mailed free to all applicants.

The South African Fight.

To the Editor Evening Telegram.

The accompanying extracts of a letter from my brother Harold may prove of interest. He had been through the campaign after DeWet and had previously had a narrow escape from being captured by Maritz when the latter rebelled.

My second brother, Bert, is with the King Edward Horse and is now probably in France though we have no definite news, whilst I am trying "to do my little bit" as a musketry instructor with the McGill Regiment here.

Yours,
E. S. GALLOP.
Box 50, Station B, Montreal.

Extracts From Letter Received From Sergt-Major H. Gallop, an Active Service, at Walsh Bay, South Africa.

After referring to his movements through the Orange Free State after De Wet with Botha's column, he says:

"After the rebellion was squashed I was again sent to Friska and on to Uppington, only to be immediately sent back to Cape Town en route for G. S. W. A. by boat. After about three weeks at Three Anchor Bay, where I was in charge of a depot, we were sent on here on the 21st December, 1914. In consequence we spent Xmas Day on the sea where the officers of our boat put us up a good spread, and under the circumstances we had a good time. On the voyage up I slept on the boat deck of what was once a German cargo boat of about 6,000 tons and one of the worst rollers I have ever seen—in fact with our heavy deck cargo she rolled dangerously at times. We landed here on the 26th December.

Our first impressions were anything but favourable. One fellow described the place, and aptly enough, as a deserted Esquimaux camp. The settlement consists of a couple of dwelling houses, several fishing stages and a flag mast. In fact with a setting of Newfoundland rocks and a few bushes, instead of a sandy waste for a back ground, it might easily be taken for a Terra Nova fishing harbour.

There is a splendid beach here, just like Nuizenberg in fact, but we have been warned against sharks, so cannot venture out far. I have, as a matter of fact, just come back from a dip (9.30 p.m. and as dark as Egypt). Had intended bathing in the day but was too busy checking biscuits, jam, rice, etc. All the water we get here is condensed and we are only served with a gallon per diem each for drinking and washing purposes so we look upon our bath as a "cleanser" more than anything. An experimental sea water soap has been dished out to us for the purpose, and although not a great success we are, with a good deal of patience and plenty of application, able to get a bit of lather on.

There is a tremendous amount of work to be done before we are through with this G. S. W. A. campaign. First of all a railway has to be built to Swakopmund to link up with the Windhoek line—some 25 miles I understand through shifting sand. Swakopmund is too shallow and open to allow of steamers riding at anchor for any length of time. With a force of 6,000 which have already been landed and another 14,000 to come, you will imagine and appreciate the difficulty of feeding such a force in an absolute desert. When once we get through the sandy belt of about 80 miles no doubt the conditions will improve. At any rate it must be surmised that fodder for horses will be obtainable when once inside, if what we hear about its being an ideal stock country is true. We have only one small pier here so it is a matter of great difficulty getting all the stuff landed—particularly engineering material necessary for railway construction, and pumping and boring engines wherewith to obtain water.

Patrols of Germans have come close in during the past few days, but we are prepared for all emergencies. I think, and expect the Germans know it, too, for no great force has appeared at any one time. It may be a matter of some months—say 9 or 12—but the Union forces must predominate in the end. We all have great faith in Botha who will probably join us in the field after Parliament meets towards the end of the month, when an advance forward will be possible. I hope I shall be able to go right through to Windhoek. It will be a trying job but the country from the Uppington and Kakemas side is much the same so I know what to expect. At the present moment I boss the "buck nags" (niggers) and superintend the landing of our stuff at the pier.

I am delighted to hear how Newfoundland has come forward with volunteers and will watch with interest their movements, but it is a huge undertaking like this, it is doubtful if our Newfoundland unit would be mentioned in despatches. Speaking of the Rebellion—"To tell the truth, I prefer not to think of it: it will be a stir against South Africa for many a long day, although in reality it may be a good thing for the country generally. It certainly ought to encourage immigration, and the Britisher will have a better chance for all the rebels are more or less earmarked and the Government are pretty alert these days, although personally I think that if the majority of Dutchmen (I don't mean the "Backvelders") thought there was a ghost of a chance of getting their country back, even under German regime, they would again rebel. If they do by any chance, they will give no quarter this time. Maritz is still pretty active and I doubt if we shall ever capture him. He proved himself a funk during the Boer War by running away when it came to scrapping, but of course this is one of the secrets of guerilla warfare is one of the secrets of guerilla warfare through. He is another "silm kerel" and may give a lot of trouble with German troops and ammunition. He is certainly "for it" if he gets "cop-ped."

Monday's Lecture.

Under the auspices of the T. A. Club, Mr. H. F. Shortis will lecture on "Our heroes of the past, and what they have done for the Empire," on Monday night next. The subject is a well chosen one, and at the present time should prove most interesting. Mr. Shortis is well known for his ability as a lecturer, and his past efforts in this direction have been greeted with crowded halls. His close study of history and his reminiscences of our earlier days have given him vast funds of information from which he will draw on Monday night next.

TO THE PUBLIC.—On behalf of the City Poor, kindly keep Thursday night, April 8th, free of engagements, when, under the patronage of their Excellencies the Governor and Lady Davidson, St. Thomas's Glee Singers will render a Concert in the Methodist College Hall. Local talent. Proceeds for the above laudable object. Particulars later.—feb25,eod,tf

Egg-shells need not be wasted. You break many eggs a week, and throw the shells in a rubbish heap. If you were to keep all these shells, wash them and store them in a box, you would have material for cleaning glass bottles of cruet, etc. Take the shells out as wanted, crush them very finely, partly fill the bottles with them, pour in hot soapsuds, and shake the bottles well. Rinse out in clean water, and the glass will be clear and bright. Egg-shells are also good for cleaning coffee and jelly.

Volunteer Met Accident

While engaged in a friendly wrestling bout at the C.L.B. Armoury yesterday afternoon, a volunteer of No. 2 Co., of the second contingent, named Patrick Power, accidentally broke his leg near the thigh. Rev. Father Nangle, who happened to be in the Armoury at the time, rendered first aid. The wounded volunteer, who suffered much pain, was then attended to by Dr. Campbell, who applied temporary splints, after which the patient was removed to the Hospital.

Are you Anaemic?

Our blood is composed of red and white corpuscles—the red to nourish the body, the white to fight disease. In Anæmia, the red corpuscles are more or less deficient. Thus the blood cannot properly sustain and nourish the body. The eyes become dull, the face white, and a feeling of intense weakness pervades the whole system. There is nothing so effective in Anæmia as 'Wincarnis.' Because 'Wincarnis' floods the body with new, rich, red blood, which gives a sparkle to the eyes, brings the roses to the cheeks, and gives new vigour, new vitality and new life to the whole body.

Begin to get well FREE.

*Wincarnis* is made in England and you can obtain a liberal free trial bottle—not a mere taste, but enough to get you used to the medicine. Apply to COLLEMAN & CO., Ltd., Wincarnis Works, Norwich, England. Regular supplies can be obtained from all leading Stores, Chemists, and Wine Merchants.

STRIKING TRIBUTE TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS AND DODD'S DYSPESPIA TABLETS.

Mr. and Mrs. Tichit Both Searched in Vain for Health Till They Found the Wonderful Twin Remedies.

Rathwell, Mem., Feb. 26. (Special.)—“Both Mrs. Tichit and myself have every reason to speak well of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets,” says Mr. Seraphie Tichit, a well-known resident of this place. “Mrs. Tichit was attacked with nervous Dyspepsia. She saw a number of different doctors and took many medicines, but could only get temporary relief, till she used Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. “For myself I could not eat much, I could not sleep well and I was utterly discouraged, when one of my friends gave me a little book telling of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After using them I could eat and sleep well. I also gained twelve pounds in weight. “Both my wife and myself feel that we owe our health to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills.”

Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are a grand combination. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys so that they strain all impurities out of the blood. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food properly, giving the body the nourishment it requires. With proper nourishment carried through the body by pure blood perfect health is assured.

Promotions

FOR Nfld. VOLUNTEERS IN CANADA.

Newfoundland is always proud to hear of the success of her sons and takes special pride in recording the movements of her volunteer soldiers. Recent promotions have been given to A. Duffett (Corporal), A. Ledwitham (Lance-Corporal), and A. Noseworthy (Lance-Corporal), of the machine gun section of the 25th Battalion of the N.S. Regiment. All three young men who enlisted at Halifax, were well known engineers here in the city. L. C. Noseworthy is a son of Sergt. Noseworthy of the Terra Nova Constabulary. We wish our volunteers continued success.

Having a Good Complexion! The Flower of Good Health

The true secret of complexion lies in the blood. Keep it rich, pure, nutritious, and, above all, keep the system regular. No aid to complexion compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Don't delay; the charm of a lovely complexion and all the blessings of health are yours, once you employ this old-time family remedy. All dealers sell Hamilton's Pills in 25c. boxes.

The Newfoundlanders

TRAINING AT FORT GEORGE. For nearly two months the Newfoundland contingent of volunteers, who responded to the call of the Motherland, have been undergoing military training at Fort George, and, to use a familiar phrase, they have taken to the fortress by the sea like a duck takes to the water. They have found their quarters inside the old fort comfortable, and they have entered heartily into their military duties. Rattle marching has been undergone, and drill is engaged in daily. Progress has also been made in musketry instruction on the excellent ranges which are situated on the Common.

Like Jack, the Newfoundland is fond of play, and when military duties are over for the day, many of them find their way to Naure and Inverness. Some of them, who belong to the Freemason order, have been entertained by the local lodges. The colonials have proved themselves to be a happy social lot of fellows, as well as good soldiers. How well they have taken to their new quarters is evident by the many friends they seemed to have made. Already one of them has taken unto himself a wife, so cementing his visit to the homeland by a matrimonial tie. There has been one note of regret since they have taken up their quarters in the North. The first death since the contingent arrived in this country occurred at Fort George. A promising young soldier, a son of a well-known business man in St. John's, the young fellow contracted a cold, which developed into a more serious trouble. His death was regretted by the whole contingent. The remains were interred, with military honors, in the old burying ground at Campbelltown. In the same sepulchre lie the remains of many a Highland soldier, who had passed through the storm and stress of active fighting.

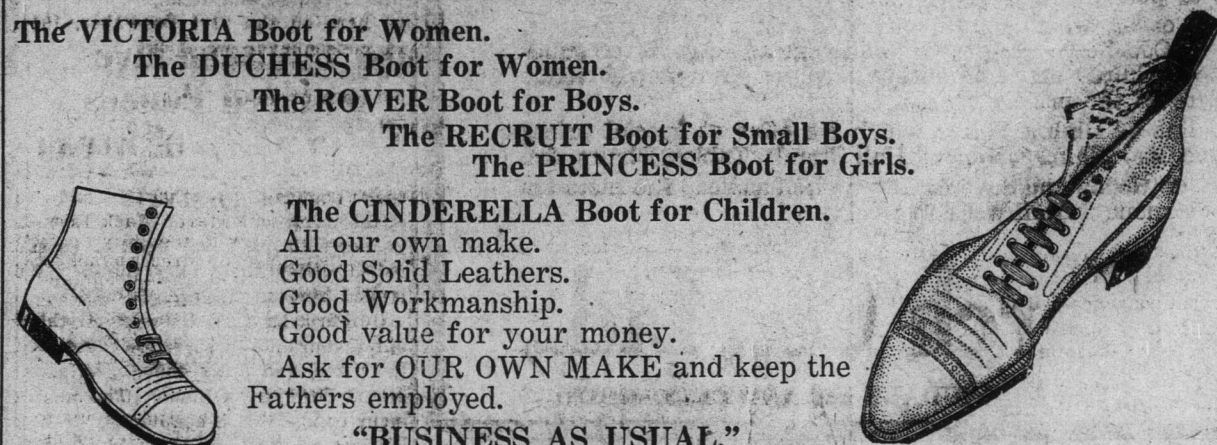

Other contingent of volunteers has been raised in Newfoundland, and are at present undergoing some preliminary training in St. John's. The second contingent, it is expected, will ultimately join the first contingent—Inverness Courier.

Last evening the annual meeting of the Church of England, including the election of officers for the ensuing year had been passed and the C.E.I. football team had done good work; also that the rooms had been well attended during the year. Two Thousand Five Hundred Pounds of Bread.
FROM ROSSLEY.
How's that for a start? Jack Rossley is handing over to the city poor two thousand five hundred pounds of bread as the result of the benefit given last night. Rossley has always headed the theatrical list of charities and this last venture is a splendid idea and will help many a poor family, for no matter what other things the poor can do without, they must have bread. The concert was up to the standard of all the Rossley entertainments, and the large audience were more than delighted. Every one worked hard and worked willingly. Great praise is due the string band of H.M.S. Calypso, Mr. Jago and Mr. A. Crockier for the beautiful selections rendered. The pantomime children were loudly encored again and again. The order for the making the bread is given to Mr. McGuire, and will be distributed as soon as baked. There is no long waiting. Mr. Rossley begs to thank all who assisted. The profits during Lent will be devoted to the same good cause. There is always a good show at Rossleys, and the best pictures ever filmed. To-day a matinee for the children. Let the little ones help.

FERRO

Kerosene Engines can be purchased on easy terms which will give a man two years to pay for his Engine, and if fish are plentiful a Ferro Engine will more than pay for itself.

FATHER TIME A SEVERE BUT HONEST JUDGE.

For seven years the Ferro Engine has held the leading place among the Engines used in the Newfoundland fishery. Other Engines have been introduced and have been claimed to be the "ONLY". But Father Time has been their Judge and they fell by the wayside. Hundreds of satisfied users all over Newfoundland declare the Ferro to be the best Engine on the market to-day. Such an enviable and widespread reputation can only be based upon one thing—Actual Merit.

Ferro Users are Ferro Boosters.

The following are a few among the many unsolicited testimonials we are continually receiving from users:—

(Copy.)
La Scie, Oct. 13, 1914.

THE L. M. TRASK CO.

Dear Sirs,—I saw by Advocate where you stated you would wish to hear from every user of a FERRO engine, and receive the number of same, and you would send a spark plug of your new make, or your own make, so I thought I would let you know the number. The number is 4222; it is a 7½ H.P., and to just give you the truth about the engine, it is the best one made. We used it last summer in a large motor boat, a deck boat about 7½ ft. wide, and about 3½ ft. deep, and towed a trap skiff that would bring about 16 or 17 barrels round fish after her, and did good work fast enough, too good for the 9 H.P. F—; and this year we have the engine in a new trap skiff about 30 ft. long, 6 ft. 10 inches wide, 33 inches deep, and cares for nothing here; and there is lots of engines here of different quality.

The 8 H.P. A— is here in a boat about the same size and they cannot do it, and for some time the A—, F— and all is here have plenty of trouble, and we have not had one hour's trouble since we had the FERRO engine. I say it is the best here.

Wishing you every success, I am,
Yours sincerely,
(Signed) MOSES BURTON.

Fishermen intending to purchase Engines should write for descriptive literature on our Kerosene Oil Engines and get prices on four payment terms.
