a Delegate.

Trades' Union Congress opened in St.

In welcoming the foreign delegates, Chairman Cowey said that he hoped that some well-defined and concerted action would arise out of the deliberations of the congress. Herr Singer, a German delegate, M. Vaillant and M. weeks ago, have undoubtedly been lost on the desert. They went on a mining and prospecting tour along the Coloredo. This added to the tumult, which soon spread to the floor of the hall, where several delegates sympathizing with the Anarchists rose and denounced the socalled attempt to closure the discussion. This was the signal for a tremendous uproar to begin. It was impossible to follow the remarks of Malatesta, the of the noisiest in the hall, and did everything he possibly could to make himself Several attacks were made upon the platform but the would-be orators were violently hurled off. Attempts made to violently hurled off. Attempts made to eject the Anarchists failed. The delegates behaved like madmen, standing on the tables, waving their arms and yeiling at the top of their voices in a half-dozen different languages. The scene was almost a pandemonium. During the attempt to saige the relations ing the attempt to seize the platform lady reporters fled from the hall. Chairman Cowey was inaudible and swung a huge railway bell with both hands in his attempts to restore order.

But this only added to the din.

Benjamin Pickard, president of the ion of Great Britain, M. (advanced Liberal) for Normanton division of the west riding of Yorkshire, who was one of the delegates, gazing at the scene of disorder with a face reflecting comical despair, rose and said: "These are the people who want to govern the world!"

Finally the proprietor of the hall entered and declared he would close the building unless the delegates behaved in

This most interesting work is a reprint from the Literary Magazine, published in London, in the year 1821. It contains valuable information of the early history of this coast, and also of the Hawaiian Islands. Several names are mentioned whose descendants are now prominent members of our community. The account of the visit of the Pirate Ship to Hawaii, and the execution of some of them by the famous (in amous) Hypolite Bouchard, the destroyer of all the towns on the Pacific Coast, are especially of interest It gives also an authentic account of the secret doings of the Russians in the Hawaiian Islands before they were forcibly exelled by King Kameama.

Dr. Jameson and His Companion Raiders Found Guilty and Sent to Prison.

End of the Romance Which for So Long Occupied the Public Attention.

the trial of Dr. Jameson and his asseter promptly with two cruisers of 7,000 associates were clearly wearied and lolled about, and Sir Edward Clarke hastily summoned to take their places. The judges came in five minutes later and the jurymen gave an affirmative answer to all the questions which had been propounded to them by the Chief Justice, but they added a rider to the effect that the disturbances at Johannesburg were provocative. Lerd Russell then board is unable to hire a nurse and pur-

The jury then consulted together for order of the board. about three minutes, and afterwards rendered a verdict of guilty. Dr. Jameson and his co-defendants were apparently unmoved when the verdict had been rendered, and Sir Edward Clarke asked the court for permission to move for a new trial. The judges afterwards retired for consultation, and during their absence Sir Edward Clarke and the defendants consulted together with the result that when the judges returned, Sir Edward Clarke said that in view of the verdict rendered the defendants refused to instruct for a new trial and expressed a desire to have the case settled. Lord Russell said the verdict was given on evidence which no reasonable man would be able to disregard. All the defendants, he added, were men of position and intelligence, holding positions under the Queen, and their erime had the gravest consequences, including death to some and injury to others, Major Sir John Willoughby was sentenced to ten months' imprisonment, and Capt. Henry F. Coventry (son of the Earl of Coventry), Col. R. Gray and Col. H. F. White were sentenced to five months' imprisomment. Dr. Jameson, who had hitherto hung down his head, looked up rigidly when sentence had been passed, and the other defendants looked hard at the Lord Chief Justice. Very soon after the sentencing formalities had been completed the wardens of Holloway prison appeared and took up their position on each side of the prisoners. This was the bitterest moment of all for the raiders, as up to that time they had been treated the greatest courtesy, and had, in fact, been made heroes of to a certain extent. looking to depriving the prisoners of their commissions in the British army. Then was enacted the last chapter in the trial of Dr. "Jim" and his associates. The court was ordered to be cleared, the audience, whispering gloomily, "How severe," etc., filed slowly into the streets, the prisoners were escorted to the Holloway prison, and so ended the trial of the Tramevnal raiders. Strange to add, there was absolutely no demonstration in the court from when the prisoners were taken away nor on the outside of it when they were escorted to jail. When but a few months ago Dr. Jameson and his troopers arrived in London as the heroes of the hour, they were loudly cheered in the streets and everywhere as men who had fought gamely for their country. But all this has changed. The revelations made at Johannesburg after the capture of the freebooters freebooters by the Boers and subsequent publication of the letters and telegrams at Pretoria, and soon lowered Dr. Jameson and his friends in the estimation of the public when it was established beyond any reasonable doubt that the Jameson expedition was badly organized, badly supplied with provisions and ammunition, badly officered, badly led in every way, and badly whipped, the tide turned hard against the raiders. The disease with which he is afflicted bas been hotly discussed between two factions in this city, each having an official connection. Dr. Palmer, as city health officer, has contended that the disease is leprosy. His opinion is backed by that of Drs. Raymond and Kibbe, both of whom made microscopical examinations, and both of whom have had previous dealings with the dreaded malady. On the other side, Engineer Thomson, as chair-man of the board of public works, and Dr. Chapman, chairman of the committee on health and sanisation, protest that the man is recovering and that his trouble is a much simpler affliction than leprosy.

'This was an assessment of damages arising out of the seizure of the sealing schooner Beatrice by the United States Archdeacon of Vancouver, officiated at schooner Beatrice by the United States revenue steamer Rush on the 20th August, 1895. Upon the trial before me of the action for condemnation of the ship for alleged infraction of the Behring's Sea Award Act, 1894, I dismissed the action on the ground that the seizure was unlawful, and I directed a reference was unlawful, and I directed a reference set to the danages sustained by the ownas to the damages sustained by the owners of the Beatrice on account of her un-

She had been fishing since the 2nd of August, and under instructions to the master given by the owner would probably have continued fishing until the end of the season, which is shown to be the 20th September, several of the vessels having continued until that date, making good catches up to the last day; for instance, the Walter Rich caught 72 skins on the 9th September, and 36 on the 18th; the Ainoko 137 on the 9th September, 36 on the 17th and 54 on the 19th; the Florence M. Smith took 69 on the 20th September. These vessels were all sealing in Behring Sea the same as the Beatrice, and although they had more boats and more men than the Beatrice it is useful to refer to their catches as showing that it would have probably been profitable for the Beatrice to have continued sealing up to the last day. There were some forty vessels, including the Beatrice, sailing out of Victoria engaged in sealing that year, and Mr. Godson, whose duty it was under the Paris award to keep a record of the industry, informs us that the average catch per schooner was 897.95, or of about 70 to each boat It has been contended on the part of the Crown that in assessing damages I should proceed upon the average catch per boat, but I think this would afford hardly a fair estimate for the Bea-

THE Nanaimo Free Press of Monday publishes the following: "During the latter part of last week a report was curding the latter part of latt latter part of last week a report was current in this city, and also in Victoria, that the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council had reversed the decision of the courts of British Columbia and decided that the precious metals -gold and silver-within the Island railway belt belonged to the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway Company. To ascertain if there was any foundation for the report, a telegram was sent from the Free Press office to Mr. Jas. Dunsmuir, Marsland, Edward A. vice-president of the railway company. Mr. Dunsmuir was away from the city at the time, but this morning the following telegram was received from him: 'I have not yet been advised of the decision in the precious metals case.' It will thus be seen that the report is, at the least, premature, although it was expected that a decision would be reached during the present month of July."

The circumstance of the able seizure. The circumstance of the Beatrice's case, for which there are several parallels, are fully set forth in the judgment of Hon. "The wrecked steamship Colombia is securely resting on the rocks off Pigeon Point," says the Call; "the Pacific Point, Mail Company has practically aban-doned the hulk. But little change has taken place in the weather since the vessel went ashore and the light swell hardly moves her. About sixty tons of cargo has been taken out of her by the Spreckles Tug Company. No effort has yet been made to remove the engines, but if the swell remains favorable a diver will be used to unbolt the machinery from its fastenings, when it will be piece by piece out of the steamer.'

LUMBER VESSELS ARRIVE.

During the last forty-eight hours a fleet of four lumber vessels has arrived in Esquimalt, some for orders and others for British Calumbia carroos. One of British Columbia cargoes. One which arrived on Sunday night is the Chilian bark Guinevere. She is out 55 days from Chili and reports a fine pagsage, with head winds pretty much throughout. Her skipper, Capt. Buiselle, is a young Chilian who cannot speak a word of English and who is obliged to employ an interpreter in all foreign business transactions. He will load at Chemainus for Valparaiso on owners' account. Another of the quartette, the British ship Dundee, which was reported coming up the Straits on Saturday after a 55 day voyage, halls from Kobe and is under charter to load at Port Blateley for Company to Sunday night is the Celery Compound.

THE SCENE OF THE MURDERS. Shortly after 11 o'clock the tug Argus came alongside with Medical Examiner Finn, Detective Power, Deputy Chief Nickerman, Sergt. Lehan and Police Officer Goulding. The cabin door was then unlocked and the officials and reporters entered. Here a horrible sight met their gaze. Passing down the stairs through the forward companion, the first door opening on the starboard side. was the room that had been occupied by the ill-fated second mate. The bed tick-ing which had been of a light colored material was dyed a dark red, and everything about the place was in disorder Passing from there to the next room the sight, if anything, was more horrible than second mate's room. The bed was sticking to the side of the cabin with gore which had soaked through onto the On the bed were numerous locks of dark brown hair which had been chopped from the head of the victim by murderer, as he must have repeatedly struck the poor woman on the head with the axe. Two yellow garters were on the bed and about the room were various articles of wearing apparel.

The place where the captain met his death was in the after cabin or chart house. Here he had slept on a stretcher, so as to be ready at any moment to go on deck when called. This room was strewn with books, papers and other articles, and looked as though a struggle had taken place between the murderer and his intended victim. The stretcher overturned, but the bed was not soaked in blood as in the other two cases, there being more blood on the carpet than on the bed, showing that in his struggles the captain must have overturned the bed, and was then Brown, the man first put in irons, but put to death while on the floor. The ceiling of this room is spattered with blood. The captain's log book was found in this room, and in it was an entry after the murder. It was dated Wednesday, July 15. The reporter started to take it down, but before he finished Detective Power took the book away and refused further perusal of it. As far as the reporter got, the entry was as $100 to the ton. New hay continues to come in plentifully, but it seems evident that the supply of the Island product will not be an electrical this menths. duct will not be as plentiful this year as in '95. The reason is the dry weather, which is just what was required for a heavy crop on the Fraser. Another effect of this absence of rain is a shortage in most of the berry crops where irrigation was an impossibility. There is an improved description of fruit now on the market, but in nearly all cases high prices prevail. Eggs are becoming scarce
