CHRONIC LARYNGITIS.

Laryngitis, like nearly all affections of the throat and nose, usually begins with a severe cold, and is must always attended with hoareness. It is more frequent a mere extension of catarrh of sore throat than an original disease, the irritation escaping down and fixing itself upon the, delicate organism of this part, and then gradually journeying onward to the lungs. When it occurs as a consequence of catarrh or sore throat the symptoms are comparative y mild. There may be pain, but it is more common to find only a sense of tickling, which provokes cough. Many complain of a sensation as of "something tickling there," to get rid of which they keep up a r sping effort to clear the windpipe. The voice is always more or less affected, being rough in the early stage, but more feeble after the disease is established. There is often a slight tenden: so over that prominence of the neck known as the "Apple of Adam" (Pomum Adum), a heat and a sense of tightness, and frequently some slight difficulty in swallowing.

the "Apple of Adam" (Pomum Adum), a heat and a sense of tightness, and frequently some slight difficulty in swallowing.

In this form the disease is simple and readily removed in a few weeks. In all cases it must be treated by the direct application of astringents and alternatives by inhalation to the affected parts. Like catarrh and granular sore throat it is a local affection and can only be cured by local treatment. There is no use of torturing the unoffending stemach for an inflamed condition of the vocal chords of the larynx. Change of air is equally unavailing, for there is no climate without dust and draughts of air sufficient to feed and keep the disease alive. The inhaling instrument charged with such sedative, alternative and astringent medicine as may be indicated by the stage of disease must be used morning and evening and every night before going to bed, and the larynx fumigated by warm, sedative vapors. Treated by these means there are few cases of Chronic Laryngitis which are not readily curable.

Inhalation is the only system which will cure these diseases, and yet the treatment of the two are entirely different. In the one we must allay the irritation, while in the other we must stimulate a healthy action.

This will convince us of the necessity of fully irritation, while in the other we must stimulate a healthy a tion.

This will convince us of the necessity of fully understanding the system of Medicated Inalation in the treatment of the various diseases of the pulmonary organs, for when properly applied there is no system of medicine to be compared to it.

Those who desire treatment should spend no time in writing; if you can come to the Institute this month or this week it may be of the greatest possible value to vu; it may be the turning point of your disease for fatality or recovery. Leter in the season probably you cannot come more conveniently nor as well.

The Rifles fired a single volley and fled in a panic for a mile till they reached the fortified waterworks. The enemy did not follow very far, but took the weapons thrown away by the British in their flight. The company's scare has created a terribly indignant feeling through. out the British camp. In the conference to day Dufferin said that the forts were destroyed at Alexandria-solely as a measure defence and the steps which followed were imposed by the force of Majeur. Much interest was manifested under the vagrant act. The money was promptly paid and Treblecock left the room a free woman. Since her absence from the city Flora Webter has been once arrested and heavily fined for keeping the same place, although Treblecock was still the proprietres. ifested in the matter. The World spoke to several legal gentlemen about it. The county attorney said that certainly the justices had gone beyond their jurisdiction. He also said the fine could be appealed to-day and the court compelled to refund the same. The worst phase of the whole thing is that the woman Treblecock has an exceptionally bad record, and this is not by any means the first time in which she has been guilty of enticing young girls into her den of infamy. "It's a

THE SITUATION IN EGYPT. Owing to the numerous and conflicting accounts reaching us from Egypt it is dlfficult to arrive at any accurate conclusion as to the actual movements of Arabi Pasha. There seems good reason for believing, however, that he is strongly intrenched at Kafr-Dowar, fondly thinking he can bid defiance to all who may march against him. The sultan is following his usual course of temporizing, and notwith of the service is a fixed quantity, and all standing all rumors to the contrary, he is opposed to dispatching any troops former for the royal family and nobility do not wonder that he declines to do so. His rule over Egypt is only nomiremunerative task. It might cost him men and money, and all the men and money he can gather may some day be needed nearer home. Then if the work was complete, and he should begin to show some real authority over the country he has settled, most probably the powers or the khedive might bid him depart, for all need of him is over. He knows well that he is asked to intervene only because it serves the convenience of the European powers, who themselves cannot well ac complish it owing to their distrust of each We do not therefore feel much surprised that the sultan does not care to run the risk of pulling the chestnuts out of the fire merely for the accommodation of the powers. If England wants to keep her way open to India, and to sustain the khedive in his conflict with the usurper, the work of occupa tion and reorganization must be done by herself, which she ought to be able to do with the greatest ease with her ironclads and her troops, for the Egyptian soldier seems to be made of the poorest fighting stuff. France, her only rival, has determined for reasons of her own to take no steps without the concert of the other powers. She feels that she has obviously been outman@uvred by England, for the old imprecations against, "Perfidious Albion have been revived. It will also be recollected in due time by European diplomatists that Prince Bismarck not very long ago advised England to take possession Egypt. Egypt could easily be ruled by England as a protected state managing its own affairs, and probably in this way Egypt could enjoy a far more liberal share of national rule than at present un der the domination of Arabi Pasha and his coadjutors. The threatened interference with the Suez canal has been the main cause of English intervention in the affairs of Egypt. If the conference now sitting at Constantinople instead of vain efforts to persuade the Turk to burn his fingers in what concerns others more than himself would make arrangements by which in war or peace the canal would in coming time be open to the merchant vessels of all nations

It is proposed in England to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. Gladstone's entrance into political life. In 1832 he was first elected to parliament. For over ten years he continued to be what Macaulay called him in his review of Gladstone's first literary effort: "the rising hope of the few stern tories of the old school." He represented high church Oxford during the floodtide of that reaction towards medievalism, whose ebb has left its rubbish and its wrecks on every shore. But even at this time there were signs of an adhesion to principles which would yet

Gladstone in his youth meant that the state ought to support the church ; by the same measure he has of late years been lead to the disenthralment of conscience from state control, and the abolition of established

In an era of revolutionary change Gladstone has been the leader of English thought; like Pitt, like Burke, like Peel, he has seemed to the superficial, to change, while in reality consistent with his own deep seated moral and political principles. In nothing has this been more illustrated than in those late troubles which in the Bradlaugh case made the assertion of free speech seem to advocate restriction; which in Ireland and Egypt caused the champion of oppressed nationalism and a peace policy to resist to coercion acts and bombardment. But in each of these cases a careful study of the facts will show that the inconsistency is only apparent.

Nothing could have seemed more auspicifirst omen of trouble, a cloud like a man's hand was the Bradlaugh case. Then came the Irish question with its endless omplications, which Gladstone was too high principled, too true to himself and his teaching, to shelve for the mere sake of expediency, as a man like Palmerston might have done. This and the Egyptian war have disintegrated the liberal coalition, have demoralized party loyalty, and ism just when its resuscitation seemed impossible. The jubilee must be held under roumstances the least likely to make the friends of Gladstone jubilant. But they can point with triumph superior to fortune and fiction to a half century of unexampled eloquence, statesmanship and activity for good, whatever clouds may darken the closing years of him who is, probably, taken all in all, England's greatest son.

LONG PRAYERS IN HOT WEATHER. There is profound truth in the reason iven for the popularity of Wolfe's poem "The Burial of Sir John Moore :" it is this that the line "few and short were the prayers we said:" commends itself to the aste of the Anglo Saxon, to whom, especially in hot weather, the long prayers of the ancient or modern pharisee are an abomination. In the more popular forms of Protestantism, the length of the prayers can be diminished at the will of the minister. But in the Episcopalian and Catholic churches this cannot be done; the length those dreary prayers in the service of the the land of the Pharaohs on the devised by the tuft hunting bishops through. If the Anglican synod would make a law enabling each minister to shorten the service and omit the sermon whenever desired to do so by the unanimous vote of his congregation, if the synod would only dothis, that august body would be better occupied than in wrangling over the division of the spoils of the cathedral endowment. Would that they would also regulate the amount of ice cream which a layman may be required to consume at a church festival, that they would enact that the orthodox quantity of currants should be put into current buns, and that the thickness be increased of the slice of ham in a sandwich. It might be well to discourage congregations from rivaling each other in getting up expensively decor ated churches just as the ladies do in over ressing. As to the latter also these hurch legislatures might effect much good. No branch of productive industry either the United States or Canada has grown more rapidly than that of stock raising. The risks attending it are infinitely fewer than those incidental to the ultivation of grain; ready markets are almost always at its command, and, as a rule, profits are more than satisfactory. Nebraska and Wyoming are the great cattle raising points of the United States, and Chicago is the most important cattle market in the world. Canada is rapidly dereloping her immense grazing regions the Northwest, and if railway freights of the syndicate can be kept at a reasonable igure, wonderful results will follow. give an idea of the immensity of the cattle rade of the United States we take some nteresting facts from one of their papers : Within the past few days several large droves of far west cattle have arrived in Chicago and the season has now fairly pened. During the season which ends about November 1, Chicago will probably receive not less than 175,000 head of the other circumstances to occur often, and plains cattle, that is about twenty per would render a great service to all civilized cent. more than last year, and as the receipts of native grass cattle also bid fair to be larger than ever before, there would seem to be substantial reasons for anticipat ng comparatively low priced beef during the next three months.

A large lot of cattle were driven last fall from Oregon to Ogden, fifteen hundred miles, then shipped by rail to Chicago, then fed for six months at distilleries, shipped to head. There were a very fine lot of cattle. Matters appear to be in a bad state mong our American neighbors. The present congress is drawing upon itself the universal reproach and displeasure of the public at large, and in the administration of its affairs is openly accused of imbecility and corruption. The democratic press is the community, it is our duty to more than usually fierce in its denunciations criticize freely. Such a course and spares no pains to lay open to the is that of Anglican ritualism in public gaze what it claims to be the most | seeking to introduce into Canada titles nparalleled extravagance and prodigality. From the Brooklyn Eagle we copy a statement of the appropriations of congress for the year 1883, showing a clear increase f $78,000,000 on 1882, which is considered to be far from an economical year. Where the necessity exists for such a sudden and immense increase of expenditure is a question which can be answered with by the organs of the opposition. Making used as a school text book, and that its inconsiderable truth and a great deal of force all due allowance for their statements it must still be conceded that a rise of seventysight millions in the appropriation bills in one year for which no sufficiently satisfactory reason has been assigned, shows at least a reckless disregard of the public not blinded him to all respect for decency funds if not of actual embezzlement for selfish purposes, especially when it is considered that wire-pulling and knavery are things that seem indigenous to the Washington capitol. Prominent among the items stands the river and harbor bill with a rise of $7,000,terday by applying the presidential veto, with what success may be seen from the intelligence that the bill was again passed

y a vote of 230 to 60. So much for the power of the supremeex cutive of the republic, when pitted against a house that legislates for a double purse,viz, - private as well as public interests. f congress do not account in a straight forward way for this unprecedented increase and show clearly their reasons for disputing the veto, which in the present case is the mphatic voice of the American public, then it will be high time for the latter to rise and assert their rights; institute a searching inquiry and award to these legislative plunderers their just deserts. that they have Now voice save that and have nullified every other power in the state they will be able to run things after an agreeable though not an orthodox fashion unless the people themselves the final arbiters between right and wrong lay hold with a strong hand and arrest their course. Of course it is the republican party which is to blame; they drew up their bills, they carried them through, and the plunder share goes to their wirepullers.

THE ARREARS OF RENT BILL. Events in Egypt have for the time being diverted popular attention from the Irish question before the British parliament, but progress in this all important matter is constantly being made. The last step forward has paradoxically been made backward by the amendments to the arrears of rent bill in the house of lords. The most important changes were made in the bill at the instance of Lord Salisbury and carried by large majorities. Their purpose is, of course, to defeat the bill in its entirety. for should they be agreed to in the house of commens matters would stand just where they do now. The gist of these amend ments is first that a landlord shall be allowed to refuse his consent to a tenant's ap. plication for relief under the bill in case he disbelieves in the tenant's inability to pay rent, and secondly that in case of a sale of tenant right the landlord should have a claim for compensation against the sum received from the sale for any arrears due him. It is needless to say that these amendments will be rejected by the house of commons, and then a conference will o necessity take place as in the land bill

JUSTICE SHALLOWS. The haste of the two justices on the police bench court yesterday to exceed their jurisdiction in the case of the woman Treblecock is rather hard to account for. They each fined the woman $50 when the only course open to them was to adjourn the case till Liverpool and sold there for £36 ($180) a the return of Police-magistrate Denison, who alone had the power to deal with her. The result is that a woman notorious for her crime will get oft, the fine will have to be repaid, and the law go unvindicated. Hugo, a Garabaldi—In England as he says, the tone of public opinion is influenced by the aristocracy and its circles, perhaps taken from the court. It must be remembered there are two classes in England, which are the bones and sinews of the nation, the middle class and the laborers and artizans, without which the nation would be nothing. Aristocracy is the father of jingoism, and it controls the army, navy, the press to a great extent, the English court and the house of lords, designeding into parliament—the house of com-English court and the house of lords, descending into parliament—the house of commons, which is filled with its creatures. Aristocracy is for trampling on the rights of all wast nations are discovered by the colonies when the colonies were considered to the colonies when the colonies were considered to the colonies when the colonies were colonies when the colonies wh Costigan resolutions at Ottawa last spring.
Aristocracy is for trampling on the rights of all weak nations—cowardly—when it sees a stronger nation like the United States assert their rights. Hence the Alabama back out—the refusal to ask for a compensation for the fenian raids on Canada or German assumptions. Aristocracy loves the East ladian treasury and the chance of making money there, and would keep of making money there, and would keep the colonies as places in which to send worthless scions of the aristocracy or poli-

Since the rising of the people in Lower Canada and Upper Canada in 1837-8, aristocracy has opened its cyes as to the existence of a place called "Canada." Aristocracy has loaned money (and it includes the monied, perhaps Jewish aristocrocy of France) to the Egyptian government of the late and present khedives of Egypt. It is using Mr. Gladstone and the army to fix things so that this money shall not be lost. "Enjo. bras" your contributor truly says the money was leaned to the Egyptians at great usury and no doubt by men who knew the risks they ran. kind enough to believe that this large amount of money spent in England or Canada on preaching the gospel has a great deal of weight with many objectors to Sunday recreation, many of whom advise workingmen to clamor for the whole of Saturday. Anything so long as you don't hurt my trade of well-paid Sunday preaching! The workingman is not so silly as to believe he will get as much wages for five days work as for six. OUR LOCAL ORCHESTRA.

To the Editor of The World SIR: A word or two in behalf of the orchestra (local) playing at present in the Horticultural gardens. The orchestra parts are, by an oversight, in New York, or on are, by an oversight, in New York, or on their way here. Not a single member is playing from the regularly arranged part except the pianist. The Mail should try to find out true particulars before proceeding to inform the public that "the instruments were left behind and they had to do the best they could with what they could get here." This is a slur on our home talent which is not at all bad under favorable circumstances. Our local orchestra is considered the best for the number, outside New York or Boston. They are doing the sidered the best for the number, outside New York or Boston. They are doing the best they possibly can under the circum-stances, and it is not fair to run them down without a cause. Our "Grand orchestra" give goed satisfaction generally. OUR EMBASSY.

The Canadian Office in London-Improve

Rents make the Montreal Witness.

A gentleman who has just returned from a business trip in Europe had occasion several times to visit the offices of the Canadian government in Victoria chambers, Westminster, and came away with a very decided conviction that several improvements might very well be made in the modus operandi of our embassy to the mother country. It seems that while Sir A. T. Galt is absent, and no other countries is administered by his secretary, and the testinony is that this gentleman does his work well. But in the eubordinates of the office there does not seem to axist much alter of knowledge or of zeal.

A man has made up his mind to emigrate to Manitoba, and comes to the office for advice—among other things, as to whether he should take his stove with him. The gentleman over the counter cannot undertake to advise on this point. Then the intending emigrant asks if they make stoves in Canada—and the official does not know?

A merchant enters. He is sending a consignment of goods to a Canadian port, and is making preliminary enquiries as to cost. Of course, the Canadian government officers can oblige him by felling him what is the duty on the article he proposes to send. No,—there is not a copy of the revised tariff in the place, and the merchant has to do the best he can with the unrevised list.

And naturally, when a man has resolved to emigrate and hears Canada spoken of, he visits the agency and asks advice. A handful of papers and pamphlets is thrust into his hand, and he can read them or not as he likes, from the knowledge displayed above, he is not likely to get much advice in any other way.

above, he is not likely to get much autice in any other way.

These instances came under the notice of our informant himself, and do not display a very creditable state of things, especially at a time like the present, when thousands of emigrants are leaving their homes and going to whatever place is best served by its own agents. The suggestion is made that the officers at Victoria chambers should be Canadians, knowing this country and able to inform others, and both able and willing to throw themselves heartily into the work of turning more and more the tide of emigration toward Canada.

That he is a true friend of Canada is made abundantly evident by his relinquishing the old world and casting his lot in the new. When it is remembered that Mr. Smith is a close friend of Gladstone and Bright, who have pressed him to stand for the English parliament, when it is considered that a position in the English cabinet might easily be his, people can appreciate the magnitude of the sacrifice which Mr. Smith makes in identifying what remains of his life with Cananda, and, as far as his engagements will permit of it, with Cananda. engagements will permit of it, with Canadian journalism. He deserves all honor that Manitoban journalists can pay to him. Will the honor be paid?

A MONTREAL OPINION OF THE DOCTOR. Whatever opinions may be entertained by the general Canadian reader of the correctness of the views held by Prof. Goldwin and the contract of the correctness of the views held by Prof. Goldwin and the contract of the contr Smith, every see must be willing to admit that the effusions of his pen are rich in all the qualities of the best and most entertaining literary composition, and that his opinions are always well worth the most careful consideration. The paper on "The Home Rule Fallacy" from the Nineteenth Century, is, in every respect, characteristic and worthy of his brilliant pen; it is like what he might be expected to say, and unlike anything to be looked for from any one else. His papers—this like the rest—often abound with home truths plainly spoken, which are not always acceptable to everybody, but it is the lot of every writer who has anything to tell the world that is worth its heeding to displease some while he arouses and instructs the many.

They could not afford such extravagance as our could not afford such extravagance as our could not afford such extravagance as our rulers indulge in. It is only our vast resources that enable us to stand it. Idiots talk about our government as if all our happiness were derived from the efforts of the mob of politicians at Washington, while they are really the cause of all our trouble. It is the climate, soil, mines and forests that makes us rich, It is our government that keeps us poor.

Montreal Witness: The Canadian press has certainly put its tail between its legs and accepted Lord Kimberley's spanking with as good a grace as might be expected. The papers, so far to hand, say it was just what was to be expected, in fact just what they did expect when it was done.

Every Saturday a number of the redmen visit St. Thomas, and by some means best wisit St. Thomas, and by some means best known to themselves obtain a supply of liquor. Of late the police have gathered in several of the redmen on every visit, and the Indians attributed their arrest to the fact that the argus-eyed minions of the law observed the bottles sticking out of their pockets. On Saturday last the offic-are were surprised to see a half a dozen or ers were surprised to see a half a dozen or more Indians on the streets, all of whom were provided with coal oil cans. One of the redmen finally became disorderly, and was marched to the lock-up, where an investigation showed that the can contained about three quarts of whiskey.

"Please, sir, I want a bible," said a bright youth. The bible was handed to the boy, who had been sent for it and was about to carry it away. But he stopped a moment and enquired: "Is it this year's!" That boy had heard something about the revision of the new testament but couldn't revision of the new test tell exactly what it was.

When a man has to neglect his work When a man has to neglect his work because of rheumatism, and fails to apply the Great German Remedy, we have very little patience with hint, unless of course mitigating circumstances should present themselves: For years David Ainsworth suffered with rheumatism, and notwithstanding the best medical attendance could not find relief. He came to the Sciota county poorhouse and had to be carried into and out of bed on account of his helpless condition. After the failure of all the remedies whichhad been applied, the directors of the poorhouse resolved to use the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, and this was a fortunate resolution; for with the trial of man Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, and this was a fortunate resolution; for with the trial of one bottle the patient was already better, and when four bottles had been used upon him he could again walk about without the use of a cane. The facts, as above stated, will be verified by the editor of the Portsmonth (O.) Comments. outh (O.) Cor.

-CATARRII-

Which is not a patent medicine or advertising doctors' humbug, but an honest' remedy, discovered by an English Physician of forty years standing, and which absolutely cures this hitherto incurable disease in from one to three treatments, no matter whether standing one year or forty years.

WHAT IS CATARRH?

Catarrh is a muco-purulent discharge caused by the presence and development of the vegetable parasite amoeba in the internal lining membrane of the nose. This parasite is only developed under favourable circumstances, and these are: morbid state of the blood, as the developed under favourable circumstances, and these are: morbid state of the blood, as the developed under favourable circumstances, and these are: morbid state of the blood, as the developed under favourable circumstances, and these are: morbid state of the blood. A great variety of symptoms are present in this affection, which are modified by the specific poison which gives rise to it, to wit:—tubercle, syphilis, mercury, suppressed function and assimilation, derangement of secretions, great depression of the nervous system, with or mal-assimilation, derangement of secretions, great depression of the nervous system, with or mal-assimilation, derangement of secretions, great depression of the nervous system, with or mal-assimilation, derangement of secretions, great depression of the nervous system, with or mal-assimilation, derangement of se

The remedy and apparatus, which is so simple that a child call teach or interference furnished to the patient, and the treatment can be applied without loss of time or interference with occupation.

To those who are suffering from deafness caused by catarrh, we would say that the above treatment has been successful in restoring the hearing in a great number of cases, where the patient was almost entirely deaf.

Our experience for the past eighteen years demonstrates beyond a doubt that the greater majority of cases, no matter whether standing for one year or forty years, are permanently cured by one treatment—cures effected over a year ago being cures still. A very small percentage of cases require a second treatment, and a third is not necessary in more than two cases out of a hundred.

The most offensive odour, hoarseness, loss of voice, headaches, languor, weak eyes, etc., caused by Catarrh, are removed by one treatment.

Sufferers are particularly requested not to confound our remedy with patent medicines, quack, or advertising doctors' nostrums—it is neither—but an honest cure for Catarrh, as thousands who have been cured can testify.

We have been offered heavy inducements by numerous patent medicine dealers to allow them to sell our remedy to Druggists throughout the United States and Canada, as there is an extensive enquiry for it from all parts of the condutry. But after giving their projections cur serious eonsideration we have come to the conclusion that we cannot do this, positions cur serious eonsideration we have come to the conclusion that we cannot do this, positions cur serious ensisteration we have come to the conclusion that we cannot do this, there being so many different stages of Catarrh, the remedy must be prepared expressly for the patient after receiving a description of the case in order to effect a cure. N.B.—As we wish to avoid the very appearance of quackery, we do not publish a long list of certificates of cures, such being the system employed by quacks, and dealers in all hinds of nostrums, but prefer that the remedy shall stand upon its merits. At the same time we think that the public are entitled to references as to our reliability and integrity before forwarding their money for the remedy, and we submit the following well known names of Toronto (Canada) business men:—Wm. Norris & Son, Wholesale Piano Dealers; E. H. Tallmadge & Co., Wholesale Druggists; Hunter & Co., Wholesale Picture Dealers; Taylor & Wilson, Cigar Manufacturers; Stuart W. Johnston, Retail Druggist.

In writing to either of the above, a stamped directed envelope should be enclosed to The following letters are samples of many received by us, and which go to show that our treatment effects a rapid and permanent cure.

TORONTO, Dec. 27, 1881. Mr. A. H. Dixon, No. 307 King St., West. DEAR SIR,—As you asked me to write and report my condition after using your remedy for catarrh, I would say that I have remedy for catarrh, I would say that I have had a very satisfactory experience with your treatment. As I informed you when I first called, mine was a very aggravated case of over ten year's duration, the discharge and odour being something frightful, so much so that I was obliged at times to isolate myself from society. I have placed myself at different times under the treatment of five different eminent English physicians and specialists in the Old Country, and after a treatment of greater or less length they pronounced me incurable. I certainly never received a particle of benefit from any quarter until I tried your treatment, three weeks after commencing which, I was any quarter until I tried your treatment, three weeks after commencing which, I was entirely rid of my catarrh and am now a sound man. Your cure is a perfect boon to sufferers from this chronic complaint, and I do not think that you will ever meet a case that you cannot cure. I shall shortly call on you to make arrangements to send some of your remedy to a near friend in Scotland who is suffering similarly. Yours very truly, I. M. NICHOLSON, THOROLD, Nov. 1, 1881.

A. H. Dixon, Esq., Toronto: SIR,—I have great pleasure in informing you that after one treatment of your catarrh remedy, I am entirely recovered. I suffered from the disease for over three years, and during the last few months the catarrh was most aggravated. In fact, I scarcely had my handkerchief out of use for a moment. It is now six months since I was cured, and there is no return at the complaint. I rethere is no return of the complaint. I regard my recovery as a wonderful one.

DEAR SIR,—I deem it my duty, in the interest of those who are suffering from catarrh, to state that I suffered from this dreadful disease in a very aggravated form for a period of fifteen years. I was under the treatment of (here comes the name of a prominent specialist and physician, which, for obvious reasons, is omitted) for a year, he having guaranteed me a cure, without deriving the slightest benefit. I have also tried other treatments with a similar result, and which had the effect of thoroughly discouraging me. Finally, hearing that you couraging me. Finally, hearing that you had a cure for this disease, I called on you had a cure for this disease, I called on you, and was treated by your method on the 7th of November, 1880, and in ten days there after I was completely cured by one treatment, and I have had no return of the disease since that time, which is now over a year ago. Judging from the effects of your treatment on myself, I am satisfied that yours is the only treatment for catarrh. yours is the only treatment for catarrh, which will effect a permanent cure. I remain, yours truly,

Dixon, Esq., 307 Aing St., West., DEAR SIR,—We take pleasure in stating that our junior partner, who had for years been troubled with catarrh, was successfully cured by three treatments of your remedy. The catarrh was much aggravated with continual dropping into the throat, accompanied by loss of voice, hawking and spitting and blocking up of the ing and spitting and blocking up of the nostrils, all of which we are pleased to say disappeared almost immediately after the remedy was applied. Your remedy is certainly an invaluable one and we hope all who may be suffering from this disagree. able disease will vive it a trial as we are satisfied they will find it a complete success
