entradictory Reports Show Servians and Greeks Are Getting Best of Fighting-All Would Welcome End of War.

LONDON, July 9 .- (Can. Press.)out of the welter of conflicting stories the Balkan battlefields, it is alst impossible to sift the truth. This markedly illustrated tonight, a spatch from The Daily Telegraph's espondent at Uskup, dated Tuesnight, reporting that there had en hardly any fighting in the last few days, while Belgrade despatches orted further Servian victories, the st advices from the Servian capital eserting that all the Bulgarians who ad invaded Servia had been driven ick across the frontier.

There seems to be little doubt that Gen. Ivanoff's army is steadily retiring before the victorious Greeks, and have avacuated both Kavala, where the Greek fleet is operating, and Dedeagatch.

Whether there is any truth in the Vienna reports to the effect that Bulgaria has applied to the powers to arrange peace is not known, but it would appear not unlikely, since clearly things are not going well with the Bulgarians, and the outbreak of cholera at many points in the field of operations, combined with the exhaustion of the armies by the fierceness of the struggle, is calculated to render me such solution welcome to the mbatants. This is especially so because of the uncertainty of the policy of Roumania, which is now reported to be equally ready to attack either Servia or Bulgaria, as the occasion may demand, in order to prevent a disturbance of the Balkan equilibrium.

LONDON, July 9.—(Can. Press.) aports of the evacuation of Kotchaand Istip by Gen. Kovatcheff's army are confirmed in a Sofia despatch to The Times, which estimates the losses on both sides as scarcely less than 30,000 killed and wounded. The Bulgarians faced most desperate heroism before they were routed, suffering the severer losses.

A telegram from Gen. Ivanoff at Seres today declares that that town has not been occupied by the Greeks, According to high authority the to-tal casualties on all sides since the war was resumed have been fully 50,000. Gen. Tosheff's army stormed the Servian position on the heights of Sultanets on Monday, capturing six guns.

Need an Army to Keep People From Trespassing on Railways, Says Drayton.

MONTREAL, July 9 .- (Can. Press)-Caustic comments were passed by Chairman Drayton of the board of railway commissioners today in regard to the carelessness and obstinacy of the public in trespassing upon railway tracks. He declared that 43 per cent. nature last year resulted because people were trespassing on railway tracks. The City of Lachine applied for an THIRTY THOUSAND ARE order directing the Grand Trunk Railway to remove electric bells and to instal and maintain gates instead on two level crossings on Second and 18th avenues, respectively.

For the railway company it was urged that their best efforts were frustrated by the public, even a watchman would be powerless sometimes to keep off trespassers.

"They do not want a watchman," remarked the chairman. "They want fighting and performed great feats of an army. If a watchman tries to stop people trespassing, too often he receives no support from the people. In fact, some municipalities are compelled to keep policemen to prevent people climbing over railway gates."

All the Servian attacks from Sultantepe to Pataritza, according to these reports, were repulsed, the Servians suffering enormous losses and retreating in the direction of Egri Pal-

Moved by A. O. White real estate agent, seconded by M. S. Boehm, real estate agent, that, subject to a proper agreement being entered into between the council and the company, this meeting approves of the construction of the proposed railway.

The new line would start from a point just outside the city limits, on Forest Hill road, and run up to Eglinton avenue, turning west along Eglinton, with branches up Dufferin and Bathurst streets for a distance of about two and a half miles, practically as far as Lansing sideline.

The company has already been granted a charter by the legalature, subject to an agreement with the York Township Council, which after yesterday's meeting seems to be a foregone conclusion. The promoters are bound by their charter to spend $50,000 on the read this year, so that no time will tikely be lost when the township firmity prisses the bylaw, multiput the recessory contract. The public meeting held yesterday in the York Township Council chamber to discuss the advisibility of giving a franchise to the Forest Hill Rahway, was not the battle royal some anticipated, as Reeve Syme said "It was a regular love feast." Another claim pending is that of F. C. Jarvis for an automobile tire, which, he states, was ripped to pieces by projecting nails in York Mills bridge.

His claim is $15, but it will likely be disputed, as Warden A. McMurchy does not admit responsibility.

"How is this agreement going to affect the city lines when they are extended up there?" asked someone present. "Will there be any understanding as to the city taking over the line."

"Yes," replied the promoter, T. J. Glover. "They can have it at any time at cost, plus legal interest."

"That sounds all right," continued the heckler, "but I understand that the city cannot operate a railway for more than a mile beyond the city limits and if the whole line cannot be taken over the district will be handicapped. ### EDGES USEFUL AS MORE LIGHT ON TURTLE VACCINE WELL AS BEAUTIFUL DOCTORS INVITED TO LEARN PROCESS

NEW YORK, July 9.—(Can. Press.)—Dr. George R. Rambaud, of New York City, medical director of the institute operating on the Friedmann process for the treatment of tuberculosis, announced to-day that "the vaccine consists of a homogenious emulsion of live avirulent tuberculosis bacilli in sterile distilled water. The germ was isolated several years ago from a turtle and maintained ever since by transplantation on culture media according to the usual procedure. The vaccine is administered to patients in doses of from cubic centimetres 0.0 to cubic centimetres 0.30 at intervals of from four to six weeks. Injections are made intravenously in the case of joint tuberculosis and intramuscularly in the case of lung tubercu-

It is important to notice that for the production of a large yield of raspberries and small fruit in the west a hedge to the north and west of the patch is desirable, and a second hedge placed inside these at a distance of two or three rods will col-lect the snow and protect the fruit Hedges Better Than Trees. Several reasons are produced by Mr. Bedford to show that hedges are preferable to trees as protectors against winds. One of these reasons is that hedges seldom break from a weight of snow, whereas trees often suffer severely in this respect. The most suitable tree, however, is the sharpleafed or golden willow. The ash-leafed maple is also suitable, as is the white spruce. All hedge plants should be set out early in life.

Tests on the experimental farms have demonstrated that success with hedges or trees is impossible unless cultivation is continuous thruout the growing season. Severe and frequent pruning is essential to best results from a maple hedge. Without this close attention the hedge gets beyond control, becomes unsightly and is of very little service for the purpose for which it was intended Suggestions as to distances in planting are given as follows: Maple and pruce, 3 feet apart; willows, 2 feet; caragana and lilac, 16 inches; spirea, 8 inches; snowberry, 6 inches.

The first meeting of the new executive committee will be held at noon on Friday, the 11th inst., at the club rooms, 104 Yonge street, for the pur-pose of formulating plans for the coming year. While the preparations for entertaining the tenth annual convention of the Associated Ad Clubs of America next summer will naturally require a great deal of time and thought, the usual activities of the club will not be interfered with, and plans are now being made for what will undoubtedly prove the most successful and interesting year in the history of the Toronto Ad Club.

FIFTH WHITE SLAVE CONGRESS FRUITFUL

American Delegates Think Traffic Can Be Suppressed Within Three Years.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World. LONDON, July 9 .- The fifth international congress for the suppression of the white slave traffic has been sitting here this week.

In conversation with the delegates The World correspondent obtained necktie, twisting it tightly with a stick these facts: "This congress has been larger and more representative than the one held in Madrid three years ago, and its influence over the whole world must be greater. Many questions raised at that congress interested only European people. The American problem is entirely different from Europe's, for Europe sends out white slaves and America gets them. If immigration could be shut off for five years American descriptions of the state of the ca could probably settle the question

"The congress has reaffirmed the Madrid resolution that the white slave traffic finds its chief market in houses of prostitution. Therefore it is deemed necessary to abolish such houses in order to break up the traffic.
"The two calef results of this congress for America are, first the get-ting together of workers against the traffic througt the world to learn the methods of different countries; sectem of correspondence so that America can appeal directly to any country. The congress has shown that Americans are ahead of Europeans in that the American Government has made three general laws against the traffic, and traffickers are now being convicted at the rate of one avery days. and traffickers are now being convicted at the rate of one every day, not including state convictions. Nearly every state has passed stringent laws in the last three years. The combination of independent associations acting with the government has been so effective that if the present system is continued the white slave traffic can be suppressed within three years."

Altho the congress was not open to the public it has had powerful support having even received encouraging messages from King George.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt presided over the congress one day.

Table Manners For the Children

By Mrs. Frank Learned Naturally, children look to their parents for examples of what to do at the table or elsewhere, and, as they are very observing, imitative and quick in forming habits, it follows that parents cannot be too careful themselves if they would educate their children in good manners. If they are interested truly in the welfare of their children they will train them in every small detail of conduct. It is not just toward children to make every set for convices. children to make excuses for careless habits on the plea that these habits will be outgrown in time. Bad manners at the table soon become fixed habits, very difficult to change as years go on, and will mark a person thrulife as having been ill-taught or neglected.

ed at home, and this is, of course, a serious reflection on parents.

Children who are brought up to understand all the small details of refined conduct will find these things as easy and as familiar to them as the alphabet. They will perform them mechanically, without as a matter of habit. Children should not come to the table for very long or ceremonious meals. In every well-regulated household punctu-ality at meals is expected out of consideration for others. This is one of the earliest lessons to be enforced. Extreme neatness in personal appearance is obligatory. Children should be taught to wash their hands and smooth their hair before coming to the table.

There is a disease called lyssophobia, which closely resembles hydrophobia, and is brought on by nervous dread. It has been contended by some that there is really no difference between these diseases, and that hy-drophobia is imaginary. This claim is refuted by the fact that animals and very young children, knowing neither imagination, dread nor fear, do succumb to a disease exhibiting the unmistakable symptoms of hydrophobia.

These sympsoms are, first, a fear of water, from which the disease derives its name; then the muscles stiffen and an attempt to drink water brings on an attempt to drink water brings on convulsions; next the mere sight of water is sufficient to bring on a recurrence of the convulsions, fever sets in and death ensues in about a week, generally from exhaustion.

As to Griddles

The griddle that is not greased has a distinct advantage, for the odor of cakes being cooked is not all perva-sive. It is this feature that gives the aluminum griddle a strong appeal; the soapstone griddle, too, if properly used, needs no fat or greasing medium. But with either of these griddles, to obtain the best results, one must begin right. The matter of heat is an all-important consideration, and if perfect success does not attend the first few trials, do not make the mistake of using grease. If one begins this practice it must be for shirtwaists and summer petticoats and may enter other departments of the feminine wardrobe, looks better after it is laundered than before, if it is laundered properly. But woe betide the woman who allows her tub silk belongings to fall into the hands of an unwise laundress. They will come back to her streaked and blotched and stiff and cottony and much the worse for their tubbing.

SILK IMPROVED BY LAUNDERING Tub silk, which has proved its worth

If it is rightly done, laundering tub silks is the simplest sort of work. To begin with, soak the soiled shirtwaist or petticoat in lukewarm soapy water, fresh water, with plenty of white pure soap. If the water is hard and suds do not form easily, add a little borax.

When the garments seem clean rinse

On May 10 the championship season in the two big leagues was a month old and Gordon Kelly was still in the hospital at Atlanta. Mildred Deery was still "out of town." That was all the information the patient could get from the Deery residence. The Atlanta Club made a short trip to other cities and returned to home grounds fr a brief stay. # Grape Fruit Rules

RAPE FRUIT reaches perfection in the Florida fruit groves. Here it ripens so evenly that it is plucked from the trees and eaten, as northerners eat apples, without any additions. California has taken up the growing of the splendid fruit and the quality improves each season, as does the demand. Many eccentric recipes for preparing the fruit for the table have been offered, and, as it is appropriate for every meal, many of these give pleas-

As grape fruit contains a percentage of quinine and some valuable acids, it may be taken as an appetizer before breakfast. Squeeze the juice into a glass, sweeten and dilute with water to please your taste. A better way to serve the fruit at breakfast is to prepare it the night before. Cut the grape fruit in half, remove the seeds and cut out the pulp, leaving the white fibres. When all the pulp is out cover plentifully with powdered sugar and keep in a cool place over night. The lining and sections may be removed from the shell and the fruit returned to it for serving, but there are handsome grape fruit glasses on the market made especially for this service.

If the grape fruit is wanted for a more formal occasion prepare it as

but of his and he'll forget all about the girl."

A confirmed bachelor himself, Long Tom Morrissey had nevertheless called the turn. Something was on Gordon Kelly's mind, and, true to Long Tom's prophecy, it was Mildred Deery. The patient tried to reason things out, but the more he thought the further he went from a satisfactory conclusion. Mildred now knew he was a ball player, he argued to himself. She did not disapprove, else why did she rush on the ball field in the presence of that vast crowd when she saw he was njured? Did she care for him? If so, why did she take herself aryay and leave no word for him or send him no word? Did she want to forget him entirely? Was she ashamed of her act on the ball field? He asked himself these questions and dozens of others like them over and over again and arrived at nownere.

The grape fruit is wanted for a more formal occasion prepare it as directed above and dot it with candled, or maraschino cherries.

Grape fruit is frequently served as the first course at a formal luncheon; add equal parts of sugared orange pulp to the grape fruit and mix the juices of both fruits together. Nuts may be sprinkled over the top.

The salad course is often of fruit and a favorite combination includes white grapes, nuts, celery, apples, orange and grape fruit pulp.

There is great art in making a fine fruit salad, but once learned it is making a fine fruit salad, but once learned it is nearly compounded. The dressing is as important as the combining of the fruit; vinegar is never used in it.

Why didn't you meet me at Narragansett Pier? You were not afraid to give me your confidence today; yet I would have been just as ready to listen then."

It was on the tip of his tongue to remind her that he fied from Narragan-sett Pier because he had not seen her; but he crushed the impulse, tho his heart pounded in fierce tumult as he watched the color ebb and flow in her watched the color ebb and flow in her face, and realized that no slight share of agitation arose from vague glimpses of the nature of the extraordinary alliance forced on them by circumstances. Above all else, it was essential that he should gain time, and he clutched at the straw offered by her frenzied reference to Mrs. Delasmar.

Within a few hours, or days, the police will have established my identity beyond dispute. Not even your kind heart can save me, and I would count myself a coward indeed if I allowed you to infure your good name in my behalf.

"Therefore, I have gone to New Yerk, unquestionably Claude Waverton. Then we must part, you to travel to Narragansett Pler, very much out of humor with the police, and I to perfect my defences against other assaults. It may not be the wisest of plans; but it is the only one I can conjure up at the moment, and it certainly promises to serve our purpose, which is to disarm official enquiry—at any rate, for the present."

"I shall be on tenterhooks until you "I shall be on tenterhooks until you return," said Doris, and her eyes grew moist. Not for an instant had she doubted Waverton's story. Womanlike, she put intuition before reason, and she knew now why she had placed faith in this man since the hour of that impassioned appeal during their meeting on the shore of the lake.

"Before I go, there is one thing I want to say, and which I hope you will remember," he said, in a voice so strained and grave that it penetrated the very fibre of her being. "After today deceit is at an end between you reladed with him mistakenly as a wayand me. You have shown your belief in me, Mrs. Waverton, in such conditions as few men might hope to be tested by and survive the ordeal. You will never regret it, never! Then he left her, without daring even to touch her hand, lest his fortitude should prove unequal to the strain he was about to impose on it. She listened for the departure of his automobile, and then rang for Rice. She felt that she dared not remain alone; for her brain was on fire with amazing thoughts, and it would be a relief to force herself to talk.

But Rice was not in the house. Wa-"The valet cannot be very far, madam," said the footman, "because he went without his hat."

This argument was convincing.

This argument was convincing; so Doris wandered out into the garden,

"Oh," she gasped, yielding to a new terror, "he is staying at O'Hara's! He will meet that woman! She will tell him she has been here, and if she repeats any of the drea ful things she said just now he may become sugar.

Before she could speak, he handed her a letter. He looked very much con-cerned, almost woebegone; for by this time he was well acquainted with his master's ways. "Mr. Claude wrote this at the lodge, madam, an' told me to bring it to you without delay," he said.

She grew pale, without knowing why; but when she opened the letter her face became so gray and wan that the valet was alarmed. For this is what

"Let me understand the position exactly," he said. "You came here by Clancy's advice. You were to take possession—force my hand, in fact—and, whether I yielded or showed fight, he was to bring up the heavy artillery of the law this afternoon. Is, that it?"

She nodded miserably.

"Very well," he said. "I think I can checkmate Mrs. Delamar, at any rate. Now, I want you to remain here, while I go and find this detective. That is the last thing Mrs. Delamar will expect; so it is a display of sound tactles. I shall reason with him, in all probability bring him back with me. By that time some of the excitement will have cooled down, and you will be better prepared to assure him that I am unquestionably Claude Waverton. Then we must part, you to travel to Narra-gensett Pier, very much out of humor."

Or course, I realize that you will be pained by my action; but, believe me, there is no other way to retrieve the blunders of the past. If permitted, I shall write to you. Now good-by, and God bless you!

"Claude Weyerton"

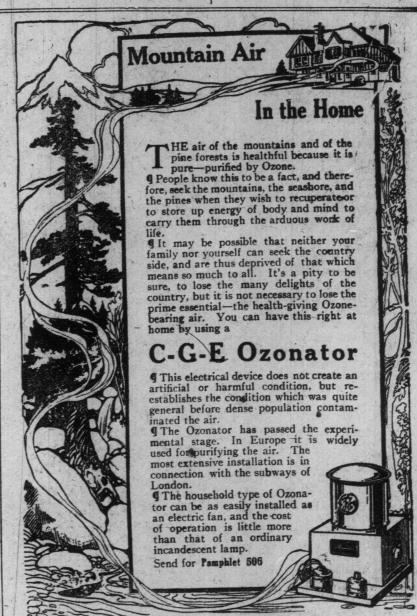

"Claude Waverton." So that was what he meant when he said that her trust in him would not be falsified! To save her from a position that she now saw to be impossible, he had gone back to herd with Mexican convicts. Her vision had suddenly become preternaturally clear. She had persuaded herself that her actions were dictated by gratitude to the man who had saved her child's life, by womanly sympathy with one who had endured so many buffets at the hands of fate. But all the pretence vanished in the strong, fierce light that beat on her soul as she stood distraught in the sunshine with the letter clutched in her nerve-

She had friends, influence in high places, and she would face all rebuilts, endure every sneer, if only she could win his freedom.

"Faint!" she cried, awaking from a trance at some startled cry of Rice's.
"One does not faint when one has such a duty laid on one's shoulders as your master has placed on mine. But he needs us. We must not lose an instant. Come with me to New York. I must have some human sympathy today, or

At least two years must, however, elapse between the date of the second reading in the first session and the date on which the bill passes the house of commons in the third of these sessions.

Had the act stopped here the house of lords might have evaded the necessity of dealing with the home rule bill or any bill falling under the Parliament Act, by giving itself a prolonged vacation. An adjournment of this kind would of course have the effect of tying up not only the obnoxious bill directly concerned, but all legislation however important requiring the assent of both houses Whether drastic action of this character should be taken or not would of course depend on the temper of the huge Unionist majority in the house of lords and the quality of the party leaders. But the Parliament Act did go further by providing that "a bill shall be deemed to be rejected by the house of lords if it is not passed by the house of lords either without amendment or with such amendment only as may be agreed on by both houses." This subsection of section two of the act is so explicit in its terms that it is difficult to see how the house of lords can prevent an act on which they refuse to pass or deprive themselves of the opportunity of passing, from becoming law without their assent. Possibly later despatches may disclose more information than has meantime been afforded.

FATHERS OF PROTECTION

At the moment there seems to be an outburst of discussion as to who was the Father of Protection in Canada, or of the N. P., as it was called in Mr. W. T. Dewart, manager of the Frank A. Munsey Co. of New York, sent out a press report last week that the honor belonged to his father, William Dewart, who lived at one time in Fenelon Falls, Ont., and now seventy-seven years of age, and living in New Jersey.

The July number of The Westminster (an official magazine of the Presbyterian body in Canada) contains the first of a series of articles by William Mackenzie, now of the privy council department, Ottawa, giving his eminisences of the public men of Canada as he knew them from the press gallery thirty years ago. Mr. Mackenzie thinks the honor belongs to the late John Maclean. The Hamilton Herald would not pass over David Mc-Culloch of Hamilton. The World herewith reprints portions of these vari-

There is a story to tell of the birth and rise of the N. P., and it may be worth telling some day. No one has told it yet. Sir Mackenzie Bowell knows about it, and so does John Ross Robertson; so does Lord Mountstephen (still alive); but most of the men who were in at the start have passed away. The movement proved greater than its founders—like many other movements. But it would not be much amiss to say that Hamilton was the birthplace of Protection, and that it was looked on with suspicion most of those who first came in contact with it.

"FATHER OF PROTECTION."

Hamilton Herald, July 4: The Herald is in receipt of a letter from the managing editor of a New York newspaper, enclosing a news article about the celeaging editor of a New York newspaper, enclosing a news article about the celebration of the 77th birthday of William Dewart at Montclair, N. J. In this article it is stated that Mr. Dewart was "the first Canadian to expound the policy of protection for native industries," and is generally known as "the father of protection in Canada." It appears that in 1874, being then the proprietor of a small country store at Fenelon Falls, Ont., Mr. Dewart wrote a series of letters on the subject of tariff protection, and that these letters "were printed in various Canadian newspapers." In them, we are told, "William Dewart launched the national policy, which then embodied the idea of tariff protection, since universally actually and who have listened to the war of words at close range, cannot be detariff protection, since universally ac-cepted in Canada, and which recently ceived by any juggling with isolated cepted in Canada, and which recently included the naval aid bill." According to this account, the letters of Mr. Dewart, in 1874, created a furore in Canada. "In the writings of none of the able editors of the day, in the speeches of none of the brilliant politicians, was there that incisive, homely protection as a feature and not an invited with the desired policy with the content of the content of the protection as a feature and not an invited protection as a feature and not an invited protection. The quiet patient but pervigor which marked the Dewart let-ters." One of Mr. Dewart's sons, W. T., cident. The quiet, patient, but persistent, industrious and successful worker for a protective tariff from the early sixtles, who saw his life work embodied in the legislation of 1878, was well known to those actively engreed in relitical and newspaper work is the vice-president and general mana-ger of the Frank A. Munsey Co., which ger of the Frank A. Munsey Co., which publishes several newspapers and periodicals, and to him we are indebted for this interesting information about his father, and, as he claims, the father of the patients of the patient of the national policy.

But is the claim a valid one? We fear it is the flial respect and pride of W. T. Dewart which magnify his venerable parent into a figure of national erable parent into a figure of national importance back in the seventies. Perhaps history has been unjust to the elder Dewart; but it is certain that his name has not yet been placed on the roll of fame. Nor is he the only Canadian who has been credited with being the "father of protection in Canada." There are several claimants to that distinction. Two at least have claims where, it is understood, he prepared the tariff schedules for the government. distinction. Two at least have claims prior to that of Mr. Dewart. Before 1874 one John Maclean, a Hamilton and Toronto newspaper man, and father of the better known W. F. Mac-lean, M.P., had been preaching the doctrine of tariff protection for years. And another able newspaper man with a Scotch name, David McCulloch, ex-pounded the principles of protection ilton Spectator and urged it as the best possible policy for Canada, long before mr. Dewart took pen in hand to write about it, and long before it was a question of "practical politics." In behalf of either of these men it might fairly be claimed that he was "the father of protection in Canada." As for Mr. Dewart, he must be content with the honor of having assisted at its birth.

PARLIAMENT, PRESS AND PEO-PLE.

(Hamilton Times' review of Mr. Mackenzie's article, July 4.)

William Mackenzie, for many years a member of the pross gallery at Ottawa, and for some time known as the dean er father of that body, has written for The Toronto Westminster the first of a series of articles, entitled. "Parliament. Press and People: Thirty Years in the Parliamentary Press Gallery." Among other things, Mr. Mackenzie says "that Sir John Macdonald was rather slow in coming round to advocate protection, and that its real author was John Maclean, father of World.

kenzie's article, July 4.) The session of 1876 will always remain memorable for having given birth to the National Policy. "It was not without much searching of heart and considerable pressure from within and without parliament that Sir John Macdonald would consent to lead the way," says Mr. Mackenzie. This was well known at the time. Sir John was at heart a free trader, and the force of circumstances alone compelled him to embrace protection as a policy. At first he denied that it was protection—"only a readjustment of the tariff," as he wired to St. John friends. as he wired to St. John friends. But the Tory manufacturers were deter-mined that he should pay the price for their support, and the National Policy was the result, Liberals like the late Senator Sanford and Mr. George Tuck-ett leaving the party for the sake of protection to their wares.

We will allow Mr. Mackenzie to speak himself when he refers to the introduction of the National Policy as the policy of the Conservative party.

He says:
"The great popularity of Sir John Macdonald, which has been fittingly some of the awakened national reeling of Canada, and it was probably for this reason that protection in Canada was called "The National Policy." # DRIVER'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

William Cane Fell From Moving Van When Street Car Struck It.

Coroner Crawford's jury, at the Country so that those who could not go to Coney Island could have it brought to them. death of William Cane, who, on the morning of July 2, was killed by a fall from one of Mounce's moving vans, when it was struck by a street car on Broadview avenue, returned a verdict of "accidental death."

According to the motorman of the southbound Broadview car which struck the van, he was proceeding about five miles an hour down Broadview, when, opposite Kintyre avenue, Cane's horses suddenly appeared from behind a northbound car. He had only bout 15 feet in which to stop, and did all he could in this distance, but could not avert the collision. Some diversity of opinion existed amongst the witnesses as to distances, some placing the spot of the accident as 30 feet south of Kintyre, others a short distance north. Some said the car going north blocked the motorman's view of the van, while one man swore there was no car northbound within 30 yards of the accident. All agreed, however, that the car was tra-veling at a moderate rate of speed. The post-mortem evidence was to the effect that death resulted from a heavy blow in the abdomen, which severed the small intestines.

It has been a day of surprises. A southeast gale blew up in the morning, with lightning and rain, When the boys expressed themselves very strongly, and twenty-seven of the riders have already handed in their entries. The club is giving $500 in prizes, and blown away. The hopes of the Toronto men, which had cheered at the prospect of a race with big wind, dropped when they learned that everything was off for the time.

In the meantime, a host of spectators

MONTREAL, July 9.—(Can. Press.)

In the meantime, a host of spectators had arrived from Picton and the surrounding country. Motors brought a great many, an excursion boat being run from Pleton. The Cove was crowded with small motor craft, when the starting gup was fired at 2.15. A new course had been laid out, three knots to northeast and back, twice repeated, and the starting buoy was placed less than a quarter mile from Prinyer's dock, so that both start and finish could be seen well from shore. finish could be seen well from shore LEAGUE LEADER The wind, which had died down to a huffy breeze, now blew from the southwest, about ten miles an hour.

Nirwana Had the Luck.
The Nirwana had all the luck, and had every opportunity opened up to her. Running out her spinnaker with lightning speed at the sound of the gun, she crossed the line four seconds ahead, and increased this lead materially before the slower Watertown crew got their spinnaker set. At the three knot stake boat, she was twelve se-conds in front.

As was expected, Gooderham better than held his own on the beat-to windward. Reeves of the Neagha content-ed himself with following, hoping to make up on the second outward run. He dropped almost a minute on the windward beat, but even at that had a chance if the luck had not broken dead against him.

The third turn was a repetition of the start. The Canadian boat came about quick as a flash, loosed her spinnaker and was off before a puff of wind which carried her along in fine A minute later the Neagha d. Her spinnaker caught, some seconds passing before her crew got it loosened, and by that time there was no wind. While the Nirwana flew along now half a mile ahead, the American boat was forced to luff with sails

From that time it was a run-away. The Nirwana led by 2 min. 20 sec. at the stake boat, and she crossed the line 3 min. before the Neagha. Long before this all interest in the race had faded, and the victorious crew received but a faint ovation on the crossing line.

Skipper Reeves of the Neagha stated after the race that he still believes the Neagha to be the better boat.

"We do not breed yachtsmen like Cooderbern in Western in the still believes the Neagha to be the better boat.

Gooderham in Watertown," he said.
"Watertown, N.Y., is 14 miles from

The Class Races.

It was the Nirwana's day all thru, for in the L.Y.R.A. races which followed the George Cup she led her class with George Clarkson at the tiller. The Neegle did not enter this afternoon, the Neagha did not enter this afternoon, tho today was the last day of the L.Y.R.A. program. There was competition in all but "H" class, which the Teypi of Kingston had to herself. The course was straight-away with the wind, three knots and return, six knots in all. The southwester' breeze kept up during the afternoon, growing a bit steadier.

The Gardenia again won easily from The Gardenia again won easily from the Zelma, sailing the six knots in 46 m/m. 12 sec. In class "B," Commodore Jarvis, handling the Seneca, could do no better than third, both the Patricia and the Caramia beating him. Two Kingston boats led in class "C," the Heather outsailing the Isis by I min.

LACROSSE GOSSIP

Seriously speaking, there is a lot of under-current talk going the rounds of the D.L.A. that is not doing any good. Some are knocking the pensity system, some the officials and others the players. In a nutshell it comes down to the fact that there is dissatisfaction somewhere and Con. Jones is not the only one who has his troubles.

and Con. Jones is not the only one who has his troubles.

Dr. Davidson used his university education to good advantage when he saw thru a little sch-me whereby he got a more holiday in a live town, drawing salary during the vacation and then reaped a nice little largest that can be used on rainy day. And then they say an education is not any help to lacrosse players.

Puglistic prowess at the coast is budding fast and ary minute Con may turn them into he boxing ring. They should not feel stage strack in that position, considering the experience they have had this year.

The Indians need a win at Montreal to put them at the top of the heap. Ye ho. Tecumsehs, let's have the Irish's scalp. Here's a chance for the N.L.U. to break into the ilmelight. Send a team to the coast to take the Salmon bellies' place. They should be welcomed with open arms by the great patriot Jones.

The meeting that was called for last evening in the D.L.A. at Montreal, was cancelled as Charlie Querrie was unable to be present. It will likely be held on Saturday. Quebec are the latest to apply for a franchise in the Big Four. This may give Ottawa the chance they wanted.

Rain Stopped First Game in the Eighth-Second Game a Pitchers' Battle.

London divided today's double-header. ond game, 4 to 2. Heck and Stark both pitched good ball in the first game, but were hit rather freely, and the game was one of the best seen here this season. In the second game Steiger, a new southpaw, formerly of the Portland Pacific Coast League club, beat Kirley, an International Leaguer. Outfielder Wright was banished from the game for disputing a decision and using profane language, and will likely draw several days' suspension. Scores:

Six Clubs for Jim Fitzgerald's Circuit?

GUELPH, July 9.—(Special.)—
There is a chance that the Gueiph Baseball Club may disband in the near future and drop out of the Canadian Baseball League.
There is a rumor current that Berlin, being so far behind, those at the head of the organization, representing that city, are tired of the game, and will likely drop out.
In that case the league will be composed of six clubs and Gueiph will be dropped.

A meeting of the league directors will be held in Hamilton in the lafter part of the week, when the question will be thoroly discussed. A proposal will be made at the meeting that the grand stand receipts in all cities be divided between the clubs on the same basis as the gate receipts. This would help out the smaller cities and would tend to keep the league together.

HOPING TO BLOCK HOME RULE BILL

Unionists Think Long Adjournment of House of Lords Will Be Effective.

LONDON, July 9.—A fresh Unionist attack to place a further obstacle in the way of enactment of the home rule bill for Ireland was announced by the Marquis of Lansdowne, leader of the Unionist party in the house of lords, in that chamber this afternoon.

When the bill is submitted to the house of lords for the second time on Monday, Lord Lansdowne will move "that this house declines to proceed with the consideration of the bill until it has been submitted to the judgment of the country."

The Unionists believe they have discovered a flaw in the Parliament Act, which provides for the passage of bills over the heads of the peers within a specified period. Their contention is that if the house of lords postpones dealing with Irish home rule bill by an adjournment to a date beyond the life of the present parliament the Liberal government will be powerless to force thru its legislation, as the Parliament Act overlooks the possibility of the upper house giving itself a prolonged vacation.

Consequently when the Toronto market opened everyone looked for lower prices, and no one was surprised when the slump was carried further during the first hour's trading. The downward disposition gave way to a more cheerful feeling during the afternoon, but the late rally did nothing more than wipe out a small portion of the earlier losses.

Another acute weak spasm in Canadlan Pacific in New York occasioned considerable apprehension here. Practically everybody on the street was a bear on this stock, some predicting 200 for it, others, who were not inclined to do things in a small way, talking of 175 for the shares. # MONTREAL. July 9.—A sharp STOCK ISSUE IS DENIED Official C. P. R. Statement Checked Slump—Decrease in Copper Stocks.

NEW YORK, July 9 .- The placid indifference shown in the stock market recently to accumulating bearish influence, was less noticeable today and vements of stocks were mere nearly in accordance with the trend of speculative sentiment. Quotations turned definitely downward during the morning trading. The volume of business increased on the down grade, and more shares changed hands in the first two hours, than during the entire session yesterday. The market hardened during the afternoon, and some stocks scored full recoveries, but most of the active shares showed slight net losses. Canadian Pacific was the particular point of weakness. It fell 51-2 points to 2081-2, on unusually heavy trading. It touched a new low figure for the year, which brought it nearly 50 points below the price at which it sold in January. Foreign selling was largely responsible for the break, altho rumors of a forthcoming $60,000,000 stock issue played a part in influencing trad-ing. Fully 10,000 shares were disposed ing. Fully 10,000 shares were disposed of for London account, and there was selling here by Canadian houses. Official denial of rumors of a new stock issue checked the decline, altho only a small part of the loss was recovered.

WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET

WINNIPEG, July 9.—There was a slight reaction at the opening in wheat prices on the steady Liverpool cables, easing later on the favorable weather conditions prevailing over the spring wheat areas on both sides of the line, and again strengthened at the close. The volume of trading in options was light, the market waiting on the United States Government report. Prices opened unchanged to %c higher, and closed % to %c higher. There was practically nothing doing in cash wheat, with few offers and no export enquiry. One member mentioned this was the quietest day for some time. Cash prices closed % to ½ higher for contract grades.

Oats were steady, while flax was a shade firmer. Cash oats closed % lower to % higher. Cash flax closed % ligher, on all grades.

BIG COBALTS AT

Again Reflected in Mining Exchanges.

THE TREND WAS LOWER

Porcupine Stocks Ease a Trifle -A Few Indications of Strength.

About the only feature of the minng market yesterday was the establishment of new low records for the year on some of the big Cobalts, notably Crown Reserve and McKinley-Darragh. The decline in these issues was nothing more nor less than a reflection of the acute weakness in some of the leading securities listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Speculators sold their mining holdings in order to meet margin calls, and with the demand at a low ebb, it did not take much selling to inaugurate the downward movement.

Crown Reserve sold at $3.30 for ex-dividend stock, equivalent to $3.35 with the dividend added. This compared with $4.05, the high point of March, and $3.70 at the first of the year, and was the lowest price on record since October, 1912. McKinley was offered down three cents to $1.62, which made a new low since April, 1912, and compared with $2.18 four months ago and $2.01 at the commencement of the year. Niplssing was down to $8.45, and closed with bids 10 cents below that figure.

General List Irregular.

The general list showed a good deal of irregularity, with strength in Beaver, Peterson Lake and Timiskaming. Beaver rose to 30, and according to current gossip, should do better soon, as a dividend payment is believed to be not far off. The trouble is that the market is being neglected, a statement which might also be made regarding Timiskaming, which rose above 34, only to dip under that price again in the last hour. Peterson Lake was fractionally improved at 23.
Further weakness was shown in the Porcupines, scattered selling on an un-willing market having a purely na-tural result. Dome Lake duplicated its recent low record at 70, which comats recent low record at 70, which compared with a high of $2.15 last month and $3 in March. Seemingly the liquidation is not yet over, and the insiders refuse to take over any stock. Pearl Lake was a point lower at 31 1-2 and Jupiter lost the same amount at 35, a new low for this month. McIntyre dipped to $22 the previous lower. tyre dipped to $2, its previous low figure, and closed offered there

The Regulation Story.

The regulation tip on Pearl Lake was going the rounds on "the street," but the market showed no desire to discount such reports. It was hinted that the company would be doing "big things" soon, but traders were inclined to await more specific information before making commitments.

Development Work Demonstrates Merit of Section Southwest of Tisdale.

PORCUPINE, July 9.-The Ogden Porcupine Mines have almost com-pleted the work necessary to obtain a patent on their properties, and by the middle of the month the assessment are located in Ogden Township, adjoining the famous Hollinger Reserve and the Worthington Gold Mines. Development has been going on for some time. The main shaft is down forty feet in a black quartz similar to that at the Hollinger Reserve, and it is the intention to carry it to the 200 foot level with crosscuts at the 100 and 200 foot depth.

In the last few months Ogden Town-In the last few months Ogden Township has come into the limelight as it never did before, even in the boom days. It is located southwest of Tisdale and lies fairly in the gold bearing belt. Much of the credit for what has been done must be credited to the Hollinger Reserve, controlled by the Hollinger and Gray interests, the Worthington and the Ogden Porcupine.

In the 2000 feet of stripping and trenching on the Ogden Porcupine a series of rich velns has been uncovered. Surface assays run from a trace to $62 in gold to the ton, and it has been $62 in gold to the ton, and it has been demonstrated that the values increase at depth. The average surface assay works out at $17.

Of especial interest is the fact that practically every gold mine in the camp lies within a five inch strip on the map of Porcupine, which means a territory about three miles wide. The Ogden

Porcupine lies well within this zone, as do the other properties in the township, which can be characterized as prospective gold producers.
Engineers who have examined this section agree that with development carried to depth production will be obtained in a very short time.

Government Crop Report Is Favorable as to Condition of Corn.

HCAGO, July 9.-Altho some at speculators today anticipated oullish surprise in the government preport, comparatively few were pared for the small yield that finwas shown. On the other hand, estimate for corn was larger than ged for. Oats turned out as ex-ted. Pending the report, which ared too late to affect prices, all grain rkets dragged, with wheat closing same as last night at 1c to 1 1-4c; corn down 1-4c to 3-4c and oats a decline of 1-2c and 5-8c to 5-8c and 3-4c. In provisions the outcome ranged from 5c loss to a like advance. Wheat traders busied themselves aptly in a merchandizing way. There wheat traders busied themselves aptly in a merchandizing way. There were further large purchases of cash wheat from the country and also good sized sales here for export. The latter tended to check the bears, but wholly failed to act as an incentive toward buying of futures. The best support for options came at the beginning of the session and was due to shorts covering. Improved advices in regard to the South Dakota crop led to weakness, which, however, was succeeded by a steadler feeling as the export situation brightened late in the day. Relatively the tone at the close Oats weakened under pressure of heavy offerings from owners. Steadiness at the yards helped sus-tain provisions. The market, tho, was the smallest in months.

During Important Congress of Men From Many Countries.

An interesting sidelight on the history of Toronto will be given in unusually instructive character in connection with the International Geolo-gical Congress which assembles here next month. The occasion will be rather momentous in the calling togethe of delegates from all corners of the of delegates from all corners of the globe and the discussion of peculiar problems of natural science which have presented themselves to them.

J. B. Tyrreil has under way a compandium of facts of interest in the neid of natural science which are not generally appreciated, and these will be presented in the form of lectures and afterwards compiled into a book. This, it is understood, is in co-operation with the department of education and will be placed on the government. and will be placed on the government files as a reference of value

Thirty-six countries will send representatives to the conference, and the arrangement of accommodation will be in the hands of Prof. Coleman Steel Co. of Toronto University.
