A Strange Halloween Happening

BY MAUD WALKER.

It was a cold October morning, the day before Halloween, and the great city awoke to look upon the first suggestion of winter. From an old untenanted tumble-down building which had been condemned as unsafe for people to live in came a little boy of perhaps ten years of age. His face was dirty, his hair uncombed and his clothing thin, ragged and soiled. He raised a pale, sad face towards the sky which was only to be seen by looking upward, for the tall buildings cut off all the firmament save that directly overhead.

"Ugh, it's cold!" And the boy shivered and turned up his coat collar. "Wonder what I'll do for a warmer coat this winter. But how hungry I am! I must hurry up to the newspaper office and get my papers. But if business is as bad today as it was yesterday there'll be little to eat on Gae. But I've had a hard time since my dear mother died and my father was taken to the hospital all cut up by a street car! It's a year now since dear mother was took away from us, and over a month since poor old father was hurt so that he'll probably die. Let's see—today's visitors' day at the hospital. I can go and see him between three and four o'clock this afternoon. Well, I must get to selling papers, or I'll not eat this morning."

So saying, the little boy, whose name was Neddie Smith, hurried off down the street which was being rapidly filled with pedestrians, all of them shivering, hurrying, miserable-looking beings, out early in quest of work. It was yet too early for the regularly-employed to be out. But soon the better-to-do class began to mix with their wretched brethren and sisters, and the day advanced rapidly.

Neddie Smith got his bundle of papers counted out to him and with his small stock in trade tucked under his arm he went down the street crying his wares. "First edition, papers! papers! all about the horrible train wreck—papers! first edition, papers!"

Neddie had not long been a street newsboy. As you have learned from his morning soliloquy, his mother was dead and his father seriously injured and lying in a hospital. Before these dire calamities had happened in Neddie's life his home had been a clean and wholesome one, though very poor. His father had been a seamstress, sewing by the day in private homes. But the combined incomes of the parents merely met their living expenses, nothing being saved for that "rainy day" which now poured as a deluge on the head of the helpless but hopeful Neddie.

After his mother's death Neddie and his father had kept the little three-room flat, and Neddie had continued to attend school. But a home without a mother was a sad and barren one. Indeed, and the place soon became unkept and dirty, in spite of Neddie's efforts to "keep it as his dear mother had done." And his father was too tired at evening time to lend a hand at tidying up the place. He managed to prepare meals for his boy and himself, but other tasks were left to the untutored little Neddie.

And that had happened the most terrible thing. Neddie's father while crossing a crowded street was knocked down by a passing street-car and so badly injured that now his life was despaired of. Soon after this terrible accident the hands of his father and the cry of the gnawing stomach to send him forth into the street again.

And thus the time passed arriving at the morning on which this story opens—the day preceding Halloween. By nine o'clock Neddie had sold out his stock of papers and had a profit of seven cents. With this splendid sum—for it was more than Neddie usually made of a morning—he went to a baker's and bought some cakes. Then, having three cents left he wandered about till he saw a hot-coffee vender measuring out steaming black stuff from a sort of oven-pail. Men and women and children were buying this liquid and drinking it to keep out the cold and check their hunger. Neddie bought three cents' worth, which was given him in an old tin cup which he held up to the vender after having drunk the contents.

"Now," he said to himself, "I'll wander round to the park till time to go to see poor father." Once in the park Neddie held up his face and hands in the playing fountain. He was thirsty and dry on a bit of paper he found lying on the ground. He was anxious to look as neat as possible when he called to see his father.

At first Neddie, heart-heavy, was dazed. He had nothing to turn, what to do to sustain life, he did not know. He wandered about the streets the first day of his homelessness, his mind and heart so full of final destruction at the hands of hired despoilers. Into this abode the child crept and slept on the bare floor. And here he slept each night for a whole month, earning a few cents each day selling papers. The money went for food—food of the worst kind. At the baker's Neddie would buy a few cheap cakes, and from a street vender he would buy "loopy-poky" and pickles. So you will not wonder that the child soon became pale and weak, feeling each night as he lay to sleep on the cold floor of the squalid tenement house that nothing short of a miracle could arouse him again to action. But each morning there was the thought of his father and the cry of the gnawing stomach to send him forth into the street again.

And thus the time passed arriving at the morning on which this story opens—the day preceding Halloween. By nine o'clock Neddie had sold out his stock of papers and had a profit of seven cents. With this splendid sum—for it was more than Neddie usually made of a morning—he went to a baker's and bought some cakes. Then, having three cents left he wandered about till he saw a hot-coffee vender measuring out steaming black stuff from a sort of oven-pail. Men and women and children were buying this liquid and drinking it to keep out the cold and check their hunger. Neddie bought three cents' worth, which was given him in an old tin cup which he held up to the vender after having drunk the contents.

"Now," he said to himself, "I'll wander round to the park till time to go to see poor father." Once in the park Neddie held up his face and hands in the playing fountain. He was thirsty and dry on a bit of paper he found lying on the ground. He was anxious to look as neat as possible when he called to see his father.

At the hour when visitors were allowed to call upon their sick at the charity hospital Neddie was admitted to his father's bedside. The poor man lay like one already dead, so motionless he was. But he opened his eyes when Neddie whispered "Father dear, it's me—Neddie, come to see you." Then in a very weak voice the father, whispering to his little boy who was so soon to become an orphan indeed.

"Dear boy, I cannot get well. The doctor told me so this morning. I have a faint hope that I may get well, but I am old and I cannot die—and leave you that—a great—great—city. Promise me that—you'll go into the country and find a home. You are a good boy—and an honest man's son. You'll find some good souls who'll take care of you."

But the voice became too weak for Neddie to hear more. The poor man's eyes went shut and his breathing came hard. Neddie felt a pang at his heart as he rose to his throat which he smothered, fearing his father would think him weak. A nurse, coming at the moment, saw the change in the sick man's condition, and hurried Neddie away. As she did so Neddie suddenly turned to her with a supplicating voice: "Please, oh, please, good lady, allow me to stay somewhere near. I fear my father is dying. I can't bear to leave him now. I may never see him again if I am sent away."

Although the nurse was hardened to sights of grief and pain this little plea from a grief-stricken child was too much for her to refuse, and leading Neddie to a small anteroom, near to the ward in which his father lay, she bade him wait there till she came for him.

The anteroom wore away, and the lights were sent flickering like fire-flies throughout the big hospital. And still Neddie sat in the anteroom unnoticed by anyone. Just as he was on the point of going to someone to make inquiry about his father's condition the nurse who had brought him there entered. Her face was serious and sympathetic as she bent over Neddie, saying: "It is all over, child. Your father died half an hour ago. It will be impossible for you to see him now. Shall I—"

But Neddie did not wait for anything more. Turning quickly, that the nurse might not see his face, so drawn with grief and eyes filled with bitter tears, he fled from the building, smothered, sobbing, shaking his thin little body. No, he did not want to see his father—now. It would do no good since he could not speak to him nor feel the caress of his dear hands. He had gone, then, to join the dear mother. And Neddie was alone in the world. As fast as he could he ran towards the West. A faint glow of the setting sun still reddened the sky, and Neddie knew that in that direction lay the

SMART TAILORED WAIST OF WHITE FLANNEL. The white flannel shirtwaist made on the lines of the plain tailored linen model is a new model in waist departments this season. Very light weight, plain and striped and checked flannels are used, the all whites being considered better style than the others. A very good model, adapted to almost any figure type, is that having two broad pleats either side of the centre front and back. In the back these are stitched flat to the waistline, while in the front the stitching terminates at yoke depth, giving the necessary fullness over the bustline which is drawn in easily beneath the belt. There is a centre front pleat stitched one half inch from the edge and on either side is white silk soutache knotted to form loops for the buttons of flannel which fasten the waist on one side only. The sleeves are long, quite full and finished with a wide turn-back cuff. With this waist is worn a high stiff embroidered collar, and a bow matching the color of the skirt. Plain silk bows are very pretty and worn by many.

country. His father had told him to leave the cruel city—to go to the country where some good soul would care for him. That night Neddie lay in the shelter of a haystack, eating one of the cakes he had kept from the morning meal. When the dawn broke he rose and started to walk a farm house near by. But the barking of a big dog sent him on down the road, away from the farm. He walked all day, resting at intervals on the roadside. But everywhere the farm houses looked so fine and big that he feared to go to their owners to ask for a home where he might work for his board. He knew that the prosperous and well-fed could not understand his deplorable condition, and would talk him over as a tramp and send him about his business or turn him over to the county authorities to be sent to the poor house. And Neddie could not bear the thought of becoming a dependent.

The merry-makers drew the old wagon into a beautiful lawn, yard to a handsome private house. Right up to the front door they drew it and left it standing there. Then they went away laughing and thinking how angry Mr. and Mrs. Drew would be when they came to their front door the next morning and found the unsightly wagon marring their well-kept lawn.

About seven o'clock on the following morning Neddie was awakened by a soft hand on his face. "Why, it's a little boy, as sure as I'm alive!" It was a woman's voice, a sweet, motherly one. Neddie opened his eyes and thought he was dreaming. Sitting up he said: "Oh, I must be dreaming all the while. I have seen this before. Oh, I hope it was all a dream about dear father dying." Then tears came up in his eyes and he said to the surprised lady who was looking in on him: "I don't know whether or not I'm awake. I left the city last night—after my father—died. I was so—so—lonesome and—had nowhere to go."

The lady looked pityingly into Neddie's face, saying: "Come little boy, come into the house and tell me how you came to be here. You are awake and not dreaming. Last night was Halloween, and the town boys and girls got in here to hide, and so fell asleep."

Neddie went into the house with the lady and soon she had heard his pitiful story, told in detail from the day of his mother's death. After Neddie had finished she put her arms around his shivering little form and said through her tears: "Yes, dear little boy, your father was right. You have found the soul who will take you and love you and give you a home. You were brought to us in a very strange way—a veritable Halloween's gift. And here you shall remain. My husband would be delighted if you shall grow up to take the place of a dear little son we lost a year ago. Only yesterday we were discussing the advisability of adopting a little son, and here he is this morning right at our front door. So come, and meet your foster father, then you shall have something to eat. After that comes a bath, some nice new clothes and—home and LOVE."

THINK RIGHT; KEEP HEALTHY

Many Thousands of Homes Wrecked by Ill Health.

There are probably very few people in the world who could not be perfectly well and strong if they had known the secret of right-thinking in their youth and had practiced it through life, says Success. That a right life must follow right-thinking is as scientific as the laws of mathematics. Unfortunately, some of us were not taught this. All sorts of discordant, weak criminal thoughts played havoc with our minds before we learned what devastation was being effected in us. Habit had so fixed the trend of life and the tendencies of action, that we were almost powerless to do otherwise.

How many thousands of homes have been wrecked by poor health! What tragedies have been wrought by shattered nerves and broken constitutions, even in the lives of good-intentioned people! "Mentally able but physically weak" would make a good epitaph on the tombstone of many a failure.

If we only knew the secret of thinking ourselves healthy, into a success sphere, or how to surround ourselves with a healthful, prosperous atmosphere, we should know how to solve the greatest problem of life.

The brain gets a great deal of credit belonging to the stomach and to the muscles and the lungs. A single talent in a strong physique, with a good will fit in ten talents in a weak body. What we need is a strong, vigorous vitality, which will stand a tremendous strain.

Who can measure the disaster to the individual and to the world which is caused by botched work, due to ill health? Health is the very mainspring of life, for without it, dispositions are ruined, lives are darkened and made wretched, efficiency is destroyed, freshness and enthusiasm and the zest which comes from normal living being lost in a blinding it is to feel that equippage, that splendid balance which exists between a sound mind and a sound body!

COLLINS MUST DIE

Insanity Plea Fails and Murderer of Mary Ann McAulay Must Go to Scaffold.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—James C. Sherren, of Moncton, arrived here today with a petition for clemency on behalf of Thomas F. Collins, sentenced to be hanged on the 15th instant for the murder of Mary Ann McAulay. The prisoner is now confined in Albert county jail.

Mr. Sherren saw the officers of the department of justice and put in a strong plea in favor of a commutation of the death sentence on the ground of insanity. There was some talk of a plea of insanity. It is since then that this has been raised.

Mr. Sherren was told that his representative would be taken to the cabinet at today's session of the cabinet and he would get a reply tomorrow morning. It is understood that the case was considered at the cabinet meeting in the afternoon and that, although no official announcement has been made, the decision was not to interfere with the sentence of the court. In other words it is said that it was decided to let the law take its course and in that event Collins must have an answer for his crime on the scaffold, according to the sentence of the court.

JAPS WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO LAND

Three Thousand Coming From Honolulu Will be Turned Back

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—The federal government has received no advice as yet concerning the press despatches from Honolulu stating that United States Senator Chillingworth and others are arranging to send to British Columbia in the near future several shiploads of Japanese, aggregating 3,000. If the despatches are correct and an attempt is made to land these Japs at Vancouver it is not improbable that they will be turned back in view of the fact that they will not have passports from the Japanese government. The immigration law of Japan provides that passports obtained under false pretences, as to destination, are illegal and if, as is expected, the Japs come to Canada from Honolulu are brought there first with the intention of sending them thence to Canada, the Japanese consul will be asked to so inform the Mikado's government and co-operate with the Canadian government in putting a stop to this method of circumventing Japan's understanding with this country relative to the restriction of immigration to the dominion.

SEVERE PAINS IN THE GROIN

Trying Experience of a Well Known Citizen in St. John, N. B.

The case of Mr. Chas. F. Olive, for years foreman in the "Gazette" of St. John, N. B., is a striking evidence of the power of Ferronose.

No remedy has such a record for restoring sufferers from acute stomach and kidney trouble; it invariably does cure.

"For several years" writes Mr. Olive, "I have had kidney trouble and until quite recently I suffered torture. A few months ago my condition assumed a very serious form. I consulted several city doctors, used different pills, but without the slightest benefit. I suffered from an increasing pain in the groin, and the increasing seriousness of my trouble prompted me to try Ferronose. It gave me quick relief, and a half-dozen boxes cured. Ferronose I can recommend as a specific for disordered kidneys."

"Won't you try Ferronose too, 50c. per box at all dealers in medicine. The International Paper Company has chartered the Norwegian steamer Bylandt to take the place of the Fortuna until the closing of navigation in the provinces for the winter months. The Bylandt has been engaged in most coast carrying trade during the summer and is now loaded with pulp wood at Charlottetown to leave there this week.

British bark Sirdar, from New York, is now at Ingram Docks (N. B.) loading.

A CRYING NEED

There are daily complaints of bad conduct on the part of boys on the streets of this city. On Tuesday evening one boy held open the door of the Every Day Club hall while another hurled a stone, at the risk of doing serious injury to some one in the room. A few days ago the printed sign board on the front of a church was torn off, defaced and thrown in an alley. The pavilion at the Victoria grounds was recently broken open, small flags and other articles stolen, and other damage done. Frequently boys are before the police court on the charge of theft, or of committing some less serious but yet disgraceful act. The papers are constantly receiving complaints about the bad conduct of groups of boys on the streets at night. If the only charges made were that the lads had merely committed boyish pranks the state of affairs would not be so serious; but there is no disguising the fact that a generation of boys who are much worse than mischievous is growing up in our midst.

Is it right that society should throw up its hands and plead its inability to effect any change in conditions? Is there nothing but censure and the police court for Christian civilization can do? Inspector Archibald, the dominion parole officer, said in Montreal on Sunday last that "though much is being done, with excellent results, to uplift the criminal and give him a chance of becoming a useful citizen, there is much to counter-balance the achievement in the present-day carelessness which so many parents show for their children in allowing them to roam the streets, to be demoralized by a certainty."

The superintendent of the Winnipeg Children's Aid Society, in an urgent appeal, makes this strong statement:—"We have promulgated laws, built penitentiaries and reformatories for the punishment of the criminal; we have seen fit to punish the individual who becomes guilty of breaking the law shall suffer the penalty; but, we have done little or nothing to order his earlier environment and training, to the end that he may become a friend, and not an enemy of law and order."

It is the fashion to boast of the vastness of Canada, the wealth of its material resources, and especially the opportunities it offers to the young. Does it offer equal opportunity? It has been well said that the end of all development is character, and material resources should be regarded but as means to this end. Viewed from this standpoint what shall be said of the indifference of St. John people to the conditions under which so large a number of the boys of the city grow up to manhood? Is it not un-Christian? Is it not positively criminal? We are so divided into sects and classes that harmony of action to create better conditions can only be ensured by the co-operation of the leaders in the various denominations and in social life. It is idle to argue that nothing can be done. We assent to the proposition that money should be expended to bring all sorts of people into the country, and at the same time assent to the continual debasement of the potential manhood and good citizenship in the boys upon our streets. Organized play, or supervision of an entertainment for the boys, provided by themselves, would go far toward solving the problem as anything short of refining home influences may, but there is no provision for this. The shifting of responsibility, which is the easy way out of any social work involving personal effort, is a device as old as man, and its survival is one of the saddest and least hopeful features of modern life. The people of St. John could save their boys if only they could be prevailed upon to make the effort.

MONEY AND WHEAT

Hon. Mr. Fielding has given out an interview in which he states that the government is endeavoring to find out the truth of the matter with regard to the banks and the western grain trade. It has been alleged on the one hand that the banks are not supplying enough cash to move the wheat; while on the other hand the bankers assert that they are doing all possible to expedite the marketing of the wheat. Their side of the case is thus set forth in the Montreal Star:—"As far back as three months ago Canadian bankers said that in view of the money stringency they would do all they could during the winter months. They are carrying out that policy and claim, furthermore, that there is no discrimination. Mr. D. R. Wilkie, president of the Imperial Bank, said there was not a farmer in the west who wanted to market his crop who was unable to get cash for it. Mr. O. A. Bogert, general manager of the Dominion Bank, said: "These Canadian banks are doing everything possible to expedite the marketing of the western grain crop. There has been, however, a tendency in the past on the part of certain grain dealers to hold their grain, anticipating more advantageous prices. This the banks are endeavoring to discourage." W. D. Matthews, who is a grain dealer, and comes in contact with the position daily, said: "I think that the banks are giving assistance in a very liberal spirit, and I think that you will find that the banks have been giving a normal amount of money for the movement of grain in the northwest. The only restrictions upon the grain business this year is in regard to speculation." Mr. R. W. Baird, of Messrs Crane & Baird, also stated that he knew of no cases where the banks had refused legitimate assistance."

On the one hand the importance of the banks holding large reserves during the present period of panic over the border is fully recognized, and on the other the great importance of getting all the bulk of the grain out of the west before the close of lake navigation, so that western farmers may be able to pay their bills, western merchants meet their obligations, and business go on without disturbance. The urgency of the case is due to the short time to elapse before the close of lake navigation. The Toronto Mail and Empire, while admitting that the banks are justified in pursuing a conservative policy, frankly tells them that if there should be any real cause for grievance against them it will be aired in parliament. Now that so much publicity has been given to the whole matter and the minister of finance has interested himself in the subject, the likelihood of serious trouble is greatly diminished.

Noting the fact that not nearly as many boys as formerly are taught trades the Montreal Star well says:—"At all events, every boy should be taught how to make a living at some calling which he likes and which awakens in him the spirit of ambition. If he is left with nothing to which he can turn his hand but some disliked task which he regards as drudgery and which gives no play to skilled work, he may very possibly throw it up in some moment of impatience and declare war upon a social system which affords him so little opportunity. And war upon society leads direct to penal institutions. No young man can be regarded as having his feet firmly set upon the high-road of life until he shows an interest in the scenery which can be enjoyed from where he stands."

The Times Charlotetown correspondent wired yesterday that merchants who testified before the New Brunswick prohibition commission declared that their business had been steadily increasing under prohibition, and many families brought to poverty by drink were now in much better circumstances. If that is actually the result it indicates that the law is better enforced than in most communities, and is so far a strong argument in favor of prohibition.

Conciliatory methods on both sides have averted the threatened railway strike in England, which would have involved nearly 100,000 men. Such a strike involving even the transportation of food supplies, would have been a great national calamity, and England breathes more freely today because of the success attending the mediation of Mr. Lloyd-George.

The continued rise in the rate of discount by the Bank of England shows a determination to safeguard financial interests at home, and is in part due to the panic and the demand for gold in New York. Business conditions in England are healthy and the volume of trade is large.

ROYAL SCOTS NEXT WEEK

The Halifax Chronicle in speaking of the entertainment of the Royal Scots says: "The Royal Scottish Concert Company gave their first performance in the Academy of Music last evening. There was a large and very enthusiastic audience present, who thoroughly enjoyed every number on the programme from first to last. The members of the company took the audience by storm with the first number, and kept them enthralled till the finish. Indeed, the enthusiasm did not diminish, but rather increased as the programme progressed. Every number was encored again and again, and the performers were able to comply with the wishes of the audience, the performance would have lasted till midnight. "When a Halifax audience becomes enthusiastic over a musical entertainment, that entertainment must be an exceptionally good one, and it was abundantly evident that they were more than delighted with what they heard last night."

The talented organization will give two concerts in the Opera House next Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Messrs. MacKinnon, Trueman, Turner, Pugsley and Barry, who were admitted to the bar as attorneys at Fredericton yesterday, returned to the city last evening.

DUSK, AND DAY IS DONE

Dusk, and the day is done, Homeward I turn; Bright the setting sun its fires do burn. Dusk, and the shadows fold On the hills' breast; Dark, like the fleeing gold, In the far west. Dusk, and the waking stars glimmering on high; Like candles newly lit In the grey sky. Dusk, and I see your face Soft lips apart; Waiting to find your place, Near to my heart. —Beth Slater Whitson in Ainslie's

THIS WAS REAL HARD TACK

A British volunteer has had the hardihood to make the following confession. He says:—"Some time ago I spent a week with a garrison battery on a south coast fort. On the last day the sergeant sent down to an exceptionally fine dinner, the crowning glory of which was a large plum pudding. I had made the pudding two days before, had it boiled, and now, reheated, it made its appearance amid the welcome shouts of my brother soldiers; and I naturally felt a bit proud of it, for I hadn't been a ship's cook for nothing.

"Seems mighty hard," remarked the sergeant-major, as he violently tried to stick his fork into it. "Have you boiled it with cannon ball, Brownie?" "Where did you get that flour from?" questioned Sergeant Smith.

"Where from?" I retorted. "From store No. 5 of course."

"You did!" roared the quartermaster-sergeant. Then you've made the pudding with Portland cement!" And so it proved. The pudding is now preserved in the battery museum."

ORDERED PRIEST TO LEAVE COURT

Judge St. Pierre of Montreal Would Not Stand for Interruptions from Belgian Abbe

Montreal, Nov. 6.—An unusual scene was witnessed during the sitting of the Superior Court here this afternoon before Judge St. Pierre, when his lordship peremptorily ordered a priest to leave the chamber for interrupting him. The case was an action for $10,000 damages brought by ex-Ald. St. Denis against the Citizens' League for abuse on his character contained in their annual report, in which they charged that the prevalence of vice in Montreal was largely due to his laxity as chairman of the police commission. These charges had been made in a letter written by Abbe Luche and the Abbe attended the trial. Judge St. Pierre first charged the jury in English, going strongly against the defendants, to the evident annoyance of the priest, who is a Belgian. When Judge St. Pierre started his address in French the Belgian priest repeatedly interrupted him until the judge turned and shortly ordered him to "leave the room at once."

The priest was finally persuaded to do so, but it took the attention of a crier to get him out without putting his beaver on in the chamber.

Before going on with his address Judge St. Pierre took occasion to remark that the incident showed how little certain foreigners understood how to respect the individual freedom which was so dear to French-Canadians, as to all British subjects.

Windsor, N. S., Nov. 6.—King's College and the U. N. B. football teams played a splendid game today on the college campus, which resulted in a victory for the U. N. B. by a score of 15 to 0. The ground was slippery and although King's failed to score they played well. In the first half the U. N. B. scored nine and second half, six.

MAY START ROSSING MILL NEAR CHATHAM Officers of International Paper Company Looked Ground Over Yesterday. Chatham, N. B., Nov. 6.—Another industry will, it is expected, be added to the Miramichi within a few months. A number of the directors of the International Paper Company were in town today, including H. J. Chisholm, chairman of the directors of the First National Bank of Philadelphia, from visiting their thousand shares of stock, which had been deposited as collateral for loans. This action was taken in order to prevent the Philadelphia contingent from carrying board meeting, which had been called yesterday in Jersey City. The fight for control of the management of the Lake Superior is between the New York and Philadelphia directors. The New York directors object to the management of the company's affairs by Charles I. Warren, of Toronto, president of the company. They are seeking to re-organize the board, it is stated, with the idea of ousting Mr. Warren. Because of the injunction the meeting called for yesterday was adjourned until January 11.

Civil service examinations are being conducted in the post office building. There are some twelve trying the preliminary, and twenty the qualifying examinations. School Inspector W. S. Carter is conducting the examinations, which will be concluded this week.

THE GROWTH IN THE EAST MAURETANIA FASTER THAN SISTER SHIP

A. D. Ross, of Amherst, Points Out That the West is Not the Whole of Canada. New Cunader Ran 300 Miles at Average Speed of 27-36 Knots.

AMHERST, N. S., Nov. 1.—Western deals, western towns, western immigration and Asiatic riots attract so much public attention that the progress and development of eastern towns and communities are almost entirely lost sight of. It is unfortunately true that many of the agricultural districts in the Maritime Provinces are progressing backward, and not because the land is not fertile, not because there is not ample market for because the farmer can produce, not because of the low price paid for farm products, for as a matter of fact, the cost of living in any of the industrial and mining towns of the Maritime Provinces is as high, if not higher than in Montreal and Toronto.

The main reasons for the decadence of agricultural pursuits in the Maritime Provinces, are first, the scarcity of farm laborers, thousands of men could find good homes and obtain a fair rate of wages in the farming districts of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island. Second, the increasing industrial development of many of our towns which draw the young men from the farms to the manufacturing centres. Third, the exploiting of the west, the lure of which has led many Eastern farmers to abandon their homes here to seek their fortunes in the western portion of Canada. Fourth, the lack of any systematic policy either by the federal or local governments to induce immigrants to settle up on the vacant farm lands of those provinces.

But while agriculture is not making the strides it should, yet many eastern towns are, along industrial lines, making splendid headway. The case of Amherst, the border town of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, may be cited as an instance of what is being accomplished in the quiet and modest east. A few facts and figures with regard to the growth and development of Amherst should prove interesting matter: Population: 1896 ... 4,025 1905 ... 7,200 1906 ... 7,920 1907 ... 8,500 In 1896 the total assessment for the town was $1,888,000. Last year it was $3,187,555. It will be noted that the population and assessment have doubled in ten years.

As a further indication of the growth of Amherst, the freight and custom receipts tell a convincing tale. I. C. R. freight receipts, 1896 ... $80,000 I. C. R. freight receipts 1906 ... 27,631 Custom receipts, 1896 ... 129,000 Your correspondent could furnish other figures of equal import, to deck the model and adorn the tale that the growth of Canadian towns is not solely confined to the West. Amherst is today a living witness of what ambitious, industrious, and enterprising citizens can accomplish. A quarter of a century ago it had no paved streets, no street lights, and not a paved glass front in a store in town and only two brick buildings. It did possess two or three embryonic industries employing three or four hundred hands, to deck the model and adorn the tale that the growth of Canadian towns is not solely confined to the West.

From these small industries has grown an industrial town that sends its products to the Atlantic to the Pacific, as well as to the West Indies, South America, India and all the countries of the globe. The output of the leading factories and manufacturing establishments of Amherst reached last year the enormous sum of $4,700,000, and there was paid in wages to employees $1,130,000. The fact that in the future of the town is evidenced by the fact that there are no less than five banks doing business in the town, three of which have during the last year erected fine stone buildings, the total cost of which will be in the vicinity of $175,000. Last year's building and improvement operations total over one million dollars. This year, notwithstanding the scarcity of money, the record will be nearly the same.

The variety of the industries of Amherst always strikes a visitor with force. They include car works, railway mills, foundries, machine and engine shops, woolen mills, a boot and shoe factory, a cabinet and trunk factory, an enamel plant, one of two in Canada, two quarries, a furrier manufacturing company, a malleable iron foundry, etc. The best of all is that every industry during the past two years has enlarged its capacity, employed more men and have, they claim, ordered to give their workers steady employment all winter. A. D. ROSS.

SCHR. REWA FLOATED The good news that the schooner Rewa, which went ashore on Sunday at Stamford harbor (Conn.) on Sunday had been floated again was received by Mrs. W. B. McLean, of 144 Main street, wife of the owner and captain, yesterday morning in a telegram. The Rewa was bound from HARBOR (N. S.) and went ashore during Sunday's gale. It was reported that the crew had gone to New York, but yesterday Mrs. McLean received the word from her husband that the schooner was off again. The Rewa is a vessel of 123 tons, built at Port Revella in 1892 by Elderkin & Co. for Capt. W. B. McLean. Her dimensions are: Ninety-nine feet eight inches length beam, 28 feet 7 inches, and 8 feet 8 inches depth. She—'which would you rather go to tonight, Jack—the concert or the temperance meeting?'—Well, that's a feeble choice for a sailor—a squall of a water-spout!—The Sketch.

SALISBURY CHEESE AND BUTTER FACTORY BURNED Plant of A. E. Brown Destroyed as Well as Unoccupied House. Moncton, N. B., Nov. 6.—The cheese and butter factory at Salisbury owned by A. E. Brown was destroyed by fire this afternoon. An unoccupied house in connection with the factory and the fire is supposed to have originated from a chimney, as men were about the building today clearing up the place. The factory has been closed two or three weeks. Nearly all the machinery was saved from the building. A gasoline engine, vats, etc., were taken out by tearing the side out of the burning building. Some furniture stored in the residence was also saved. It is reported there was $1,500 insurance on the factory, while another report says the insurance was only $800. Mr. Brown has had hard luck, recently losing a mill by fire. 'John, what is this disagreement talk about?' 'It is a movement to prevent pretty girls wearing gins in their belts.'—Houston Post.

THE YORK LOAN Nova Scotia Shareholders May Renk as Creditors. Toronto, Nov. 6.—(Special)—The York Loan Company (Liquidator) and Nova Scotia shareholders of the late concern continued their battle of rights before Judge Kappas this afternoon. When the case came up some days ago it was argued that the company had no right to sell shares in the company, but that the claimants and they will also be impleaded from standing as members of the company in the liquidation proceedings. Mr. Stuart Lynn, at one time connected with the York Loan, said the directors had passed a by-law authorizing business to be done outside of Ontario, but there is no record of it. Mr. Maston applied for a commission to Nova Scotia to take evidence and the application is being considered.

DR. WORKMAN COMES BACK Deposed Professor of Wesleyan College Issues Statement. MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—(Special)—Rev. Dr. G. C. Workman, who has retired from the chair of Old Testament exegesis at Wesleyan Theological College, on account of the dissatisfaction of the board with his views, has issued a statement today. Dr. Workman denies that his teachings are Unitarian either actually or in drift, and affirms that they differ from Evangelical faith only as critical statements from uncertainty. The ex-professor further claims that the termination of his connection with the college is a breach of the agreement reached at the Montreal conference to which Dr. Shaw was, he states, a partner. He also accuses Principal Shaw with spreading unfounded reports of his unorthodoxy among members of the board. IS JOHN TAYLOR ALIVE? Yarmouth, N. S., Nov. 6.—It is reasonably certain that John Taylor, the missing D. A. R. station agent at Weymouth, is not dead. It is learned on excellent authority he has been seen in this province within the past two or three days. Ex-Alderman Charles F. Tilley was somewhat improved last night.

BUSINESS MEN IN MISSIONARY WORK IN ST. JOHN

Laymen's Missionary Movement for Financing of Missions to be Established Here

At a meeting of the United Baptist Foreign Mission Board yesterday afternoon T. S. Simms, as chairman, presented the report of a committee having in charge a project of forming a business laymen's missionary league. It is the intention to hold a public meeting next Tuesday, at which the objects of the new organization will be explained. At a later date a banquet will be held, when officers will be elected and other details arranged. The following have been sent to the Telegraph in connection with the project: One of the most remarkable and significant organizations in connection with the progress of missions is this movement. Some years ago a student volunteer movement was organized and has rapidly spread all over the world. Its aim was to provide from among the colleges an army of young men and women who were to be missionaries to foreign lands. As a result of this movement thousands of young people have been enlisted and hundreds have already gone forth to their life work in distant lands. The more recently organized laymen's missionary movement is an organization of business men which has for its object the financing of this mighty blessed enterprise of evangelizing the world. Both organizations, one to furnish the workers and the other to supply the money, are destined to prove a great factor in the Christian conquest of the world. The evangelized in the world number about one billion. Of these some 650,000,000 have not yet heard the good news. It is estimated that one foreign missionary (male or female) should be provided for every 25,000 of the unevangelized and that about five trained native evangelists should be provided with each missionary.

The business men seriously propose to estimate the cost of the enterprise and pay their share of the bill for the sake of Him who gave His life for the salvation of the world and who has commanded His disciples to preach the good news to every creature. A great gathering of laymen in connection with the Presbyterian church in the United States recently decided to attempt to bring up the sum of $4 a member for foreign missions. This would mean $6,000,000 a year for that church. The average for the United States may be somewhat higher but it is probably not more than fifty cents. The watershed of both the student volunteer movement and the laymen's missionary movement is 'the evangelization of the world in the present generation.' The business men are holding series of meetings in different parts of Canada and are organizing inter-denominational branches of the movement in the leading cities. It is expected that each denomination will follow the same plan with a separate organization for that denomination or for each church in the denomination. The inter-denominational organization will have the power to employ missionaries, raise funds, or carry on mission work in any way. It is simply to arouse interest among the laymen of all denominations and then leave each body to direct this newly awakened interest and enthusiasm within their regular channels of the local churches. It is expected that several leaders of this movement, including J. Campbell White, the general secretary of the movement, will visit St. John early in December for the purpose of placing this movement before the Christian laymen of this city. The group committee representing all the evangelical bodies of the city will be called together on Tuesday next to arrange for the proposed series of mission meetings in the interest of this movement. The place of meeting is not settled upon.

NEWS FROM FREDERICTON Local Government Finished Its Business - Curling Club Officers Chosen. Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 6.—The local government held a meeting this evening and disposed of considerable business, but nothing of a very important nature. Letters of incorporation were granted to the Albert Oilite & Cannell Coal Company, C. E. Lockhart Company, and the Sackville Box & Paper Company, and the Oromocto Lumber Company. The following notaries public were appointed: N. D. Cormier, A. J. Legere, A. E. McKinnon, W. D. Turner, J. A. Barry, W. G. Pugsley and Edward P. Palmer. The last named gentleman, belonging to Hampton, was appointed after examination. The resignation of P. J. Sweeney, sitting police magistrate of Shediac, was accepted, and E. R. MacDonald was appointed. Thane M. Jones, of Woodstock, was appointed judge of probate for Carleton county, in room of C. Appleby, deceased. The board of education held a meeting this afternoon, and business of a routine nature only was transacted. The plans of the Grand Falls Power Company were submitted for approval, and approved by act of assembly. This is in regard to a proposed appropriation of lands at Grand Falls for work of the company. E. R. Machum, of St. John, was appointed a commissioner for the taking of affidavits. Members of the government will leave by early train for St. John in the morning. The annual meeting of the Fredericton Curling Club was held this evening, and well attended. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, R. F. Randolph; vice-presidents, T. Amos Wilson, Jasper Winslow; secretary, J. B. King; treasurer, T. G. Logan; auditors, A. S. McFarlane, John F. Page; managing committee, C. H. Allen, A. S. McFarlane, F. P. Hatt, R. S. Barker. Several new members were admitted, and some business of routine nature disposed of. The club has a large membership, and the outlook for the coming winter is very bright.

TROUBLE FOR UNCLE SAM

Dr. Estrada Palma Think United States Should Intervene in Cuba at Once. HAVANA, Nov. 7.—Dr. Estrada Palma, formerly president of Cuba, authorized the publication of his views regarding American intervention. He declares publicly in favor of American control in Cuba. He says: 'It is enough to satisfy my conscience, this conviction of having saved my beloved country from anarchy and its natural results of plunder and ruin.' He continues, describing what he considers the criminal acts on the part of the revolutionists, and the necessity to call on the Americans to prevent a prolonged and sanguinary contest. 'If I did right or wrong time will say. That my attitude was immediately justified is proved by the sudden re-establishment of peace through the moral and material influence of the Americans. I do not hesitate to declare that it is a hundred times better for our beloved Cuba to be in a dependent political situation in which liberty is prevailing than in a republic independent of a sovereign but discredited and ruined by this lasting periodical civil strife.' The letter is considered important as Dr. Palma still commands a great influence with a large number of Cubans.

Workman, who has retired from the chair of Old Testament exegesis at Wesleyan Theological College, on account of the dissatisfaction of the board with his views, has issued a statement today. Dr. Workman denies that his teachings are Unitarian either actually or in drift, and affirms that they differ from Evangelical faith only as critical statements from uncertainty. The ex-professor further claims that the termination of his connection with the college is a breach of the agreement reached at the Montreal conference to which Dr. Shaw was, he states, a partner. He also accuses Principal Shaw with spreading unfounded reports of his unorthodoxy among members of the board.

IS JOHN TAYLOR ALIVE? Yarmouth, N. S., Nov. 6.—It is reasonably certain that John Taylor, the missing D. A. R. station agent at Weymouth, is not dead. It is learned on excellent authority he has been seen in this province within the past two or three days. Ex-Alderman Charles F. Tilley was somewhat improved last night.

PROBATE COURT In the probate court this morning a petition was presented for the passing of accounts in the estate of the late Dr. Holden, and a citation was granted returnable December 9th, Barnhill, Ewing & Sanford proctors. Steamer Yarmouth will take the place of the Prince Rupert on the first of December.

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1907.

In World of Sport

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The cup awarded by the Yacht Racing Commission at the Jamestown Exposition is attracting attention in the show window of Messrs. Reed & Barton, Fifth avenue and Thirty-second street. The cup is a massive example of the silversmith's art and was specially approved by President Roosevelt. It is eighteen inches high and fifteen inches long and is entirely hand wrought. The design suggests the idea of a large Indian canoe. Either end of the body is ornamented in high relief, with a finely modelled carving of a classical Indian head in full war dress. On one side are etched the words "The Roosevelt Cup" and a facsimile miniature of the galleon in which the founders of Virginia reached the shores of the new world. On the other side is an etched inscription giving the facts of the race. The canoe shaped body is supported by four dolphins from a chased base decorated with maize, Indian corn, tobacco leaves and the Virginia lily. On the obverse of the base and between the heads of the dolphins is an enameled flag, the emblem of the Jamestown Yacht Racing commission. On the reverse of the base is a facsimile of the seal of Virginia. The thirteen stars, emblematic of the thirteen original states, have been used to good advantage both in forming the letter "J" on the flag on the base and also as a part of the decorations encircling the inscription. The cup was competed for in a series of races by boats of class P and was won by Edward E. Luckenbach's Sue, of the Atlantic Y. C., Brooklyn, N. Y.

SATURDAY'S BIG GAMES

Both Local Teams Getting in Condition for Their Contests

There is much talk in local sporting circles over the football game which is to be played on the Victoria grounds on Saturday. The Victoria team, which has been coached by Dick Nelson, of New York, in a ten-round boxing bout at the Winnisneti Club, Chelsea, tonight.

Two weeks ago these teams played a draw in Montreal and now both teams are determined to be winners on Saturday. A dispatch from Montreal last evening stated that the personnel of the Montreal team would be practically the same as that of two weeks ago, only stronger, as they have had the experience of that game and also the game with the Amherst Ramblers, which resulted in a victory for Montreal.

The Marathons have also had experience that game and will show up much better. Goodspeed will be in Saturday's game, but McLean and Harris will not be on the team. McLean having hurt his ribs on Thanksgiving day, and Harris having retired permanently from the game. It is probable that Dwyer, who played in Montreal and against U. N. B., will fill the vacancies in the forward line. Dick Tibbitts will probably be the referee.

U. N. B. vs. Algonquins. Though the U. N. B. have failed to arrange a game with the Algonquins on Saturday, as advertised, and the game is expected to be the feature of the season. The intermediate League executive met last evening and decided to give up the Shamrock grounds for the game and an old-fashioned crowd is expected. The Algonquins, however, are expected to play at the National

ATHLETIC

Marathon Road Race. The annual road race of the Marathon Athletic Club will be held on Saturday, November 16, and the course is likely to be from Robbsey to the Athletic grounds.

THE TURF SEASON MOST SUCCESSFUL

The turf season in the Maritime Provinces ranks as one of the most successful in years, not only from a racing but a breeder's standpoint. The list compiled by the Recorder shows 96 horses, either owned in the provinces, or those from abroad racing on Maritime Province race tracks have entered the 230 list, and that 78 of which were in 230 or better. The best record in the provinces this season were as follows:

Trotting. Fastest—Estill Boy, 2:16 1/2, b. g. by Potential, ... 2:18 1/4. Fastest mare—Daisy DeWitt, b. m. by Red Lake, ... 2:20 3/4.

Pacing. Fastest—Terrace Queen, 2:06 1/4, b. m. by Valparaiso, ... 2:12 1/4. Fastest gelding—Northern Spy, r. g. by Vassar, ... 2:25 1/2.

The fastest green trotter of the season was the Springhill gelding Otto Oaks owned by G. W. McKnight, Springhill. His mile at Halifax was 2:21. Dr. Ferron, handled by C. Henry, Chatham, had the fastest mile for the season among the trotting stallions, 2:25 3/4.

In these days, with so many pacers, it is pleasing to note that one of the greatest of turf performers, and the biggest money winner of the season, was a green trotter—the grey mare Marguerite, 2:22 3/4 owned by Gallagher Bros. Woodstock. She won nine races in the provincial list but also won a race just across the border in Maine, bringing her winnings to $1075, the largest amount won by any provincial horse during the season.

One of the largest winners of the year was Peacherina, 2:18 1/4, by Bettonson, owned by J. B. Mitchell, Halifax. She started in nine races, winning five, twice second, twice third, and won $1,750 in purses and did not have to lower her record.

The exact amounts won by horses are not always available, but are given as published. Among the horses winning over $500 were: Lady Bingen, 2:14 1/4, $1,000; Laura Merrill, 2:17 1/2, $820; Burling, 2:18 3/4, $650; Dr. Band, 2:18 1/4, $625; Wilkes, 2:18 3/4, $545; Dr. Ferron, 2:25 3/4, $350; Buchanan, 2:23, $300; Miss Kadmos, 2:19 3/4, $285; Don A., 2:18 1/4, won $390 on provincial tracks, and increased this amount on Maine tracks.

THE RING

O'BRIEN BESTS DICK NELSON. BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 6.—"Rouse" O'Brien, of South Boston, had the better of Dick Nelson, of New York, in a ten-round boxing bout at the Winnisneti Club, Chelsea, tonight.

MORAN BEGINS TRAINING FOR FIGHT WITH NEILL. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Owen Moran, the English featherweight boxer, who is to fight Frankie Neill before Alex Gregg's club on the night of the 23rd, arrived in the city yesterday from the east. Moran is chaperoned by trainer Wicks.

Moran went over to Shannon's yesterday and will train there for his affair with Neill. The youngsters will meet at Col. Frotha's at half-past four Wednesday afternoon, when articles of agreement will be drawn up and signed. An agreement has been reached in regard to the weight, which will be 122 pounds at the ringside.

Boxing Notes. Tommy Murphy is reported well again and looking for bouts with Walter Baldwin, Willie Moody or George Lesher. Johnny Mack is to reopen his Paddock job in New York Friday night and Matty Baldwin will be one of the principals in the main event.

A match has been made between Johnny Summers of England and Willie Moody of Philadelphia, to take place at the National

LONG SERVICE MEDAL FOR AN I.C.R. EMPLOYEE

Minister of Railways Presents One to Thomas Amos of Amherst. Amherst, N. S., Nov. 6.—Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways; M. J. Butler, deputy minister; D. Pottinger, general manager; Chief Engineer McKenzie, and Messrs. Jarvis and Tiffin, paid an official visit to Amherst today inspecting the facilities at this point. The minister expressed himself as highly pleased with the handsome new station, which is nearly completed.

HARKINS NEW BILL SCORES GREAT HIT

"The Usurper" at the Opera House Proves a Strong Attraction. Unfolding a story of thrilling dramatic interest and with a rich vein of comedy running through it, "The Usurper," presented by the W. S. Harkins company in the Opera House last evening, must be numbered among the strongest drawing cards in this company's attractive repertoire. It was thoroughly enjoyed and heartily applauded.

The Usurper is John Maddox, a United States millionaire, who, having purchased an English estate, retains the family as guests in their ancestral home. He discovers the villain of the piece making love to Beatrice Clive, a relative of the family, and, being aware of the man's unsavory reputation and incidentally falling in love with her himself, contrives to stop her elopement.

How he persuades her to show him the haunted chamber and detain her there and how after they are accidentally locked in for the night they are confronted by an escaped convict whose history is closely interwoven with the story, is cleverly worked out. Eventually his devotion is rewarded as every hero's should be and generally is on the stage.

The play, which is aptly classed as a comedy drama, developed several strong scenes, notably in the third act, in the named town, where Harry Stubbs as Maddox, Miss Van Duser as Beatrice, and Orson M. Dunn as the convict were alike excellent. Our Eye man, Sir George Trevelyan, a typical villain and the remainder of the cast all gave a good account of themselves. Special mention must be made of the character study by Aldrich Bowker as Timmons, the ancestral butler. His "Quite so, sir," made a decided usurer will be repeated this evening and should attract a large audience. Tomorrow and on Saturday night "For Her Sake" will fill the bill. At the matinee The Little Minister will be repeated.

WATCH THE STOMACH.

If you have either variable appetite, a faint greenish feeling at the pit of the stomach, unassisted hunger, a loathing of food, food, a painful load at the pit of the stomach, choking sensations in the throat, headache and dizziness of spirits, constipated bowels with alternate diarrhoea, are you gloomy and miserable? THEN YOU ARE A DYSPYPTIC.

The cure is essential diet, slow eating, thoroughly chewing the food; avoid drinking at meals. Keep regular habits, abstain stimulants, tone the digestive powers and regulate the stomach and bowels with Burdock Blood Bitters. It has cured the worst forms of dyspepsia, even of twenty-five years duration. Mrs. Geo. Parks, Cooper, Ont., was cured; she writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such great relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia and could get no relief until I used B.B.B. It helped me right away and I think it a wonderful remedy. I would recommend it to all sufferers from dyspepsia."

For sale at all Druggists and Dealers. London, Nov. 6.—The anticipated railroad strike throughout Great Britain, the idea of which carried so much concern to the public, has been averted by an agreement reached by David Lloyd-George, president of the board of trade, signed last night by the chairman of the principal railroad companies and representatives of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants. The agreement provides for the consideration of further matters in dispute primarily by a sectional board of conciliation representing the various grades of employees and the various railroads.

INDIAN PICTURES AND INDIAN SONG

Another Excellent Show at the Nickel Theatre. Today's shows at the Nickel will have a decided Indian "flavor," that is, they will be marked with a series of Indian pictures and a new Indian song, "Nasance. Red Man's Wooling is a very pretty picture, telling how a lovelorn young dandy on the woodland hunt has bride by tens of speed and valor.

Robbery by Motor is extremely amusing and ingenious, as is also A Very Clever Tailor, a picture of the days of Beau Brummel. The fourth picture, Unwelcome Masqueraders, is what most people who see the show will term the feature film. It goes on to depict the operations of a group of cowboys who, uninvited, participate in a fancy dress ball and, just for the lack of it, hold up the whole party. Then there is an automobile chase of the most exciting nature.

Last night's crowds laughed themselves hoarse at this picture. Mr. Cairns' new song is Blue Eyes, a dainty waltz song, and Mr. Nevecombe is looked for the Indian number aforementioned. Altogether it is a good clean entertainment. The tom-tom Indian music by the orchestra last evening was a good feature.

WOMEN AS FARM HANDS

Winnipeg, Man.—Unable to obtain men enough for the harvest fields, Manitoba farmers hired women in their places. They are said to have done just as good work as the former farm hands, and there was much less shirking among them. That is the way with women. They work too hard—and often overtax their strength. Then the system becomes run down, the liver gets out of order, and constipation and biliousness make life miserable. Mrs. John Cline, of Aylmer, Ont., suffered from these troubles for ten years and found no relief until she tried "Fruit-a-tives." "I want to say a word in regard to Fruit-a-tives," writes Mrs. Cline. "I had liver trouble for ten years and tried different remedies, but Fruit-a-tives cured." "Fruit-a-tives" are made of fruit juices and tonics and never fail to cure Liver, Kidney, Stomach, Skin and Bowel Troubles. 50c a box.

THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE PIC DU MIDI. CONSTRUCTION OF A CAPSULE FOR THE INSTALLATION OF A GRAND TELESCOPE. The National French observatory of the Pic du Midi is placed at an altitude of three thousand metres. Its founder was General de Nansouty, and at first and for a long time afterward it was devoted wholly to meteorological work. Later the director, M. Marehand, and his collaborators extended their efforts to astronomical observations, the site in this respect being especially adapted to the scrutiny of the heavens. Finally the directors of the observatory of Toulouse undertook to add the dome which is seen in the picture, and in which will be placed later the great equatorial telescope. The task of building this dome or cupola was exceedingly difficult, and it was only with the aid of a whole regiment of artillery that the material for its construction was at last transported to the summit of the mountain.

WOMEN AS FARM HANDS

Winnipeg, Man.—Unable to obtain men enough for the harvest fields, Manitoba farmers hired women in their places. They are said to have done just as good work as the former farm hands, and there was much less shirking among them. That is the way with women. They work too hard—and often overtax their strength. Then the system becomes run down, the liver gets out of order, and constipation and biliousness make life miserable. Mrs. John Cline, of Aylmer, Ont., suffered from these troubles for ten years and found no relief until she tried "Fruit-a-tives." "I want to say a word in regard to Fruit-a-tives," writes Mrs. Cline. "I had liver trouble for ten years and tried different remedies, but Fruit-a-tives cured." "Fruit-a-tives" are made of fruit juices and tonics and never fail to cure Liver, Kidney, Stomach, Skin and Bowel Troubles. 50c a box.

LATE LOCALS

From various sections of the St. John county come reports of the great prevalence of moose and deer. A herd of ten was seen at Fairfield a few days ago. Dredge W. S. Fielding left Halifax on Friday last for Yarmouth. She will dredge at Solvers Road and have victuals for some days and will then proceed to St. John. The regular meeting of the Centennial Boys' Recreation Club will be held this evening. A large attendance is requested as arrangements will be made for selecting prizes for team and individual work. Members of the St. John lodges, Knights of Pythias invited to attend an at home to be held by Fowler Company, Uniform Rank, K. of P., in the Castle Hall, Fredericton, on Friday evening next, November 8.

A number of gipsy visitors who arrived on the west side a few days ago have been ordered to leave town by Police Sgt. Ross, as a result of their actions in trying to get away with property that did not belong to them. A telegram having been received by the D. A. R. officials in Yarmouth on Monday afternoon, announcing the death in London, England, of the president of the company, Mr. Fitzcamp, the flags on their steamers in port have been flying at half-mast.—Yarmouth Times.

The "Morning Graphic," Campbellton's new daily paper that was to have been launched last Saturday, did not appear on account of the publishers meeting with the hard luck of having a typesetting machine and $800 worth of type and material destroyed by the burning of the I. C. R. freight shed at Campbellton on Friday. The publishers hope to have the first issue in Chatham, Saturday, Nov. 9th.—Chatham Commercial.

A St. John youth, who was arrested for stealing, attributed his downfall to cigarettes. In his weak mental state he thought that this was a sufficient excuse, but the magistrate thought otherwise, and sent him to prison for five years. Some day, perhaps, there will be a law compelling the incarceration in asylums of cigarette and opium fiends and confirmed inebriates. If it will not help to put them on the right road it will at least prevent them from dragging others down.—St. Andrews Beacon.

The cups which the Chatham firemen won in the St. John tournament arrived on Wednesday after being more than a month on the way from the manufacturers. They are beautiful specimens of the silversmith's work, standing about seven inches high, with a wide and deep bowl, goldlined and in the shape of a leaping cup. On one is engraved One Mile Relay, 1st Prize, and on the other Hook and Ladder, 2nd Prize. In addition to these two trophies the local contingent was awarded a special prize for its good work in the hose coupling contest and in other prizes to the amount of $100. The cups are now displayed in S. D. Hecker's window.—Chatham Commercial.

ROYAL ARCANUM

Movement to Establish Royal Arcanum Cot in Maritime Province Hospitals.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Royal Arcanum of the maritime provinces yesterday a committee was appointed to prepare the way for the founding of a Hospital Bed Fund Association. It is proposed to have a Royal Arcanum cot in every hospital in the maritime provinces.

An energetic effort will be made to increase the membership. H. C. Martin's appointment as deputy supreme regent was announced.

In the evening a very enjoyable smoking concert was held to commemorate the thirtieth anniversary of the order. Refreshments were served and an informal programme carried out.

John T. Kelly sang several songs, D. Arnold Fox played the accompaniments and also sang. Among the speakers of the evening were Sheriff J. A. McQueen, of Dorchester, Hon. R. J. Ritchie, Frank Powers, George D. March, G. O. C. W. Burney, S. J. Houston, E. A. Charters, A. N. Charters and H. H. Schaefer. R. E. Coupe, regent of the local council presided.

PERSONALS

Clarence P. Nixon, manager of the Union street branch of the Bank of N. B. A., has received word of his transfer to the company's branch in Winnipeg. He will leave on Monday.

Mrs. G. F. Haslam is the guest of Mrs. O. H. Warwick, Mecklenburg street. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cann, of Yarmouth, N. S., are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby boy on November 3.

Miss Myrtle Berry, of Victoria street, leaves tomorrow morning for New York, where she will in future reside.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley, minister of public works, is expected to be in St. John Saturday.

Rev. E. E. Annand and bride, of Windsor (N. S.), were at the Royal yesterday. Miss Ollie McSorley, of the nursing staff of McLean Hospital, Waverley, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McSorley, St. John West.

Miss Hestia Males, of Hampton, has gone to Greenwood (B. C.), where she will reside with her sister, Mrs. Percy Hallett. Misses Flora and Daisy Jean Males will go about Dec. 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Trueman, of Point de Bute, are visiting in St. John on their return after visiting their son, Prof. Trueman, of Cornell University. C. H. Nelson, president of the Semi-regular Company, and J. H. Brownlee, their chief designer, sailed for England on Friday on the steamer Empress of Ireland. They will visit the chief woolen markets and mills of Great Britain.

THE MILK QUESTION

Bloomfield Dealer Complains That Board of Health Has Not Enforced Regulations.

A Bloomfield milk producer complains that the board of health has not been enforcing the regulations relative to the washing of milk cans, and that milk dealing during the past week have been buying milk promiscuously, through the country, sooner than pay what the writer terms a living price to the producer. Thomas Gorman, chairman of the board of health, says he has no information as to dealers obtaining milk from unsuspected premises and would be glad if the producer referred to would notify him of any dealer who, to his knowledge, bought milk contrary to regulations.

Relative to the annual inspection of cattle by a veterinary surgeon, Mr. Gorman said it could no doubt be improved upon. Three or four months ago the board, at the request of the Producers' Association, recommended the government to appoint a permanent inspector. An acknowledgment of the communication was received from Hon. L. P. Farris, commissioner of agriculture, who promised to look into the matter. Mr. Gorman thought the appointment of a permanent inspector would be a great advantage. Under the present conditions, there was nothing to prevent a producer whose herd has undergone the annual examination, buying cows a few days afterwards which were unhealthy. The board, as matters stood, had no means of detecting such a practice. If any dealer in St. John, Mr. Gorman added, was found receiving milk from a tainted source, the board would not hesitate to cancel his license. With reference to the order of the board that all cans must be washed, Mr. Gorman said the dealers had all agreed to comply with the regulations. They were now, he understood, perfecting arrangements to that end.

THE LOG CABIN CLUB

Annual Meeting Held Last Night and Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the Log Cabin Fishing Club Ltd., was held last evening. The reports of the officers showed the club to be in an excellent financial condition and everything in good order. Over $300 was spent on improvements during the year. Samuel J. Ritchie, W. A. Johnson, and J. H. Noble have built another log camp on the club property at Haynes' Lake. It is known as Log Cabin No. 2. The following directors were elected: C. H. Dickson, E. W. Paul, W. A. Johnson, C. A. Gurney, J. H. Noble, J. E. Wilson, and S. J. Ritchie. At a subsequent meeting the directors elected W. A. Johnson president; C. A. Gurney vice-president; E. W. Paul secretary-treasurer, Edwin J. Everett and Geo. W. Smith auditors.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Fairly Good Supply on the Market at the Present Time.

There is a fairly good supply of butter and eggs on the market, at the present time. Creamery butter is now retailing at 44 to 45 cents a pound and dairy butter is quoted at from 27 to 30 cents a pound. Eggs are selling at 23 cents a dozen for case stock and 35 cents for henney. Meats and vegetables are in fairly good supply, but prices are firm.

THE NICKEL SHOWS

Sixty-seven evening's issue of the Times a communication from a person signing "One Interested," and an editorial reference appeared relating to the quality and subject-matter of motion pictures shown in this city. "One Interested" would like to see a house entirely devoted to the presentation of instructive and religious pictures, which, no doubt, would be appreciated by a very large number of people, whilst the editor in his own column suggests a popular crusade against the popular form of entertainment if immoral pictures and sensational pictures and coarse vaudeville are used to a predominant degree.

Both these ideas are good and coincide perfectly with the policy of the entertainment promoters, whom I have the honor to represent in this city. From time to time for the last three months it has been my duty when rehearsing films to remove from reels any objectionable features or pictures that might in some measure, though in many cases a "short show" is the result of the purging process.

On the other hand the public has shown its appreciation of such pictures as the Victoria Falls in Africa, the panorama views of Seville, Madrid, Vesuvius, Naples and other places of interest, not to mention the absorbing pictures in Cambodia, The Gold Coast, Ireland and foreign lands. In a religious line we have shown The Prodigal Son and the story of Salome, all of an elevating and moral character. It would not be a fiction to state that the Nickel motto "Clean Entertainment At Any Price," and our efforts along this line are being encouraged by a discriminating public. Above all we endeavor with especial energy not to harm the susceptible minds of our child patrons, to whom we are pleased to cater continually.

Yours very truly, WALTER H. GOLDING, Manager Nickel Theatre.

AN APPEAL

The Seamen's Mission Society is making earnest appeal for funds to carry on their growing work. The port of St. John needs a society to look after the large number of sailors who visit our shores annually. To do this work successfully and pay all expenses, at least $2000 per year is needed. If the citizens of St. John would only visit our rooms occasionally they would see for themselves the great work that is going on on behalf of the men of the sea. We want our people to interest themselves in the work so that when an appeal of this kind is made, funds will be sent in at once to our treasurer, J. W. Cassidy. Our work has been developed, and the annual report, which has just been issued, will show the amount of work done. Our society hope that every one who gets a report will carefully read it over and determine to send their subscriptions without delay. The work is certainly worthy of support. HERBERT C. TILLEY, President.
