FREDERICTON, N. B., June 12.-The feeling between the Mullin and anti-Mullin church parties at Stanley seems to be as bitter as ever. On Wednesday last Rev. Mr. Ross of St. John called a meeting of the members of the Presbyterian church at Stanley to elect trustees and other officers. Not a member of the Mullin party owed up and consequently the party is not represented on the board. This meeting was held in the old church, as Mr. Mullin and his friends had ession of the new edifice and would not allow Rev. Mr. Robinson, the appointee of the presbytery to the church at Stanley, nor any of his followers to pass inside the doors. Possession 's line points of the law, and the Mullinites thought that they centainly had the upper hand, but yesterday they received a severe set back. When the congregation arrived at the church in the morning, lo and behold they found it locked; nor would any of the keys which had formerly admitted them fit the lock. So outside they were obliged to stand until the arrival of Mr. Mullin. The reverend gentleman upon his arrival was no doubt discomfitted, but not beaten. Quickly he sathered his people into the old church and began service. They were hardly seated when Rev. Mr. Robinson and his party arrived on the scene, valked coolly up to the door of the new church, opened it, went in and began an opposition service. It is quite probable that the sermon which the reverend gentleman delivered to his flock in their new found possessions had a ring of victory in it. The solution of the whole thing is as follows: Some time Saturday night members of the anti-Mullin party got into the church, took off the

When the order was reached this afternoon for Mr. Gillies' motion in favor of reducing tobacco duties, the member for Richmond rose to sup-port the motion, but Sir Wilfrid asked that it be deferred to next Monday that it be deferred to next Monday. Replying to Mr. Ganeng, Sir Louis

Harding Hon. Mr. Fielding gives notice that he will introduce a bill concerning the city of Ottawa. The finance minister declines to give reporters information as to the contents of the measure, which is not yet prepared. It is understood that the measure will be a readjustment of the financial relations between the city government and federal administration. The city has been making a claim that the federal government ought to contribute more than it does toward the street, water, fire and other services. It will probably be found that the government instead of making a direct grant to the city, will establish a commission with power to deal with the expenditure on these local services. This would be the first instalment of Laurier's "Washington of the North" promises

NEW PUBLICATIONS. Mew POBLICATIONS. Maliseet Vocabulary, by Montague. Chamberlain, with an introduction by W. F. Ganong, Ph. D., has been is-sued from the Harvard Co-Operative Society's press, and is a handsome book of 94 pages. In the preparation of this book, which bears the stamp of much earnest and intelligent labor, Mr. Chamberlain acknowledges his in-debtedness to the Maliseet Indians James Paul of Apohaqui and his daughter Mary Paul; "Old Gabe;" of St. Mary's; Lola Bear, of French Vil-lage, and Husawis Francis and Peter Saulis of Tobique. The late Edward Jack also gave many kind and helpful suggestions. In his preface the author suggestions. In his preface the author points out the difficulty of preparing a vocabulary where there is no writ-ter language and in fact no alphabet. It was necessary first to distinguish the sounds used in the speech of the tribe, and then construct an alphabet. Prof. Ganong, in his introduction, treats briefly of the Maliseet Indians, their tribal characteristics, their his-tory, and their relations to tribes of the St. Croiz, Kennebec and Penobscot regions. All these, he notes, are distinct from the Micmacs. Prof. Ganong incidentally refers to the various writers, chiefly the early Free whose published works contain allu-sions to these tribes; and he also sions to these tribes; and he also speaks of the work, scanty but valu-able, of later writers on the same sub-ject. Then follows the vocabulary, of words, phrases and sentences in the Maliseet tongue, with their English equivalents. Mr. Chamberlain de-serves sigh praise for his laborlous and painstaking work which hour and painstaking work, which, how-ever, will be chiefly of value to the student of ethnology and philology. The Malisee's are now but a scattered remnant, with probably not a pure blooded Indian among them. As Prof. Ganong points out, such a work as that of Mr. Chamberlain would be im-possible in a comparatively short per-iod, when the older men of the tribe have passed away.

MILITIA GENERAL CRDERS.

OTTAWA, June 9.-An important change, implying quite an exten of the militia system, is embodied in today's militia orders. It provides for the creation of cadet battalions, or cadet companies, to be attached to existing military battalions of infantry or rifles upon the recommendation of district officers commanding. 1. In very special cases cadet battalions may be formed independently of existing military corps. The proposed headquarters will be specified in the application for formation.

2. They will consist of youths of not less than 14 nor more than 18 years of age.

8. An establishment will be fixed for each battalion on its formation. A battalion shall consist of not less than four companies, except in very spe-cial cases. Each company shall com-prise not less than 40 nor more than 100 boys.

4. Officers will not be granted substantive commissions, but honorary appointments will be made on the recommendation of the general officer commanding. The officers may be adults. The proportion of honorary and acting officers to be allotted to each battalion will be as follows: 1

ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

WASHINGTON, June 12.-Washing-ton is still waiting on London in the matter of a modus vivendi relative to the Alaskan boundary. Indirectly the intimation has reached here that the Canadians to whom the last Ameri-can proposition was referred, have consented to its acceptance by the British government. Rev. Mr. Maxwell of British Columbia Wants to Keep the Chinese Out of Canada.

The Demoralizing Effect of a Minister Pledging his Word in the House One Day and Breaking It the Next

OTTAWA, June 6.-We do not get much further in the discussion of the international issue. Sir Wilfrid Laurier might have attracted some attention when he brought down the protocol on the Yukon boundary if the whole text had not previously been made public in England and cabled to every newspaper in this country. Sir Wilfrid's explanation goes no farther than the papers brought down in Eugland, for while he explains that negotiations have gone on since the time the public correspondence closed, he is not able to give any information about it. As Sir Charles Tupper points out, the British commissioners went a long way when they agreed to allow the United States possession of any settlements or territory which had been in occupation by the United States or Russia for 50 years. Such posse might very well count in Venezuela or any country where the lines are not accurately defined, but one would expect that it would not be allowed to prevail in case the territory occupied were closely assigned to the other power by definite treaty. However that is the way it stands. The United States government is not satisfied with this concession, but insists that no matter how the treaty reads, all tersade against the foreigner. The comritory occupied by the United States at the time the present treaty is made shall be retained. That is to say, if rather more given to performance the United States has within the month taken possession of country than to promise clearly belonging to Great Britain, it shall become United States properly up to Henri Joly he would have been merely by the fact that the flag has on stronger ground. Sir Henri is a been raised there. cavalier of the old school, who tries

It was usually a long speech on his neck (or words to that effect) dwelling spon the inconvenie and solemnly promised "I will neve transportation in Cape Breton and the desert you." The doctor himself was about this bill of Mr. Maxwell's, and quite conscious of the fact that his gave a hearty welcome to a point of annual speech was an infliction, but order taken by Mr. Ellis that a prihe continued to inflict it. Time pasvate member had no right to introsed and Dr. Cameron became a silent duce a bill imposing a tax. member of the commons. One day the writer asked him if he had got tired making his long speech and had concluded to cease from troubling concluded to cease from troubling hereafter. "Do you think I made these for fun?" said Dr. Cameron. "I urged the construction of a railway in Cape Breton. I got it. Now that I got what I want for my people, I am showing the house that I know how to hold my tongue." Mr. Poupore of Pontiac had adopted the Cameron programme. He is offering an annual speech on the Georgian Bay canal project. It is a grea scheme offering the largest pos ibilt ties, if it can justify the claims of its advocates. The idea is to utilize the Ottawa river and other waters to establish an open waterway between Montreal and Georgian Bay, and the other Great Lakes. This is the most direct route from the St. Lawrence the lakes and is represented to be 350 miles shorter than the journey by way of the Lake Ontario and the present canal system. Through a considerable part of its length the Ottawa river is navigable and there is a considerable chain of lakes, including Lake Nipissing, on the route. Still a good deal of work will require to be done at various points where there are shallow waters and cataracts, as for instance right here at the Chaudiere Falls. Mr. Poupore states that the estimated cost of the canal is $25,000,000. Other more sceptical people say that it will cost two or three times as much. Mr. McLeod Stewart, ex-mayor of Ottawa, has had the scheme in charge for several years. He inherit ed it from his father, who advocated such a waterway a half a century ago. Mr. Stewart is an energetic man and has made several journeys to Eigland in connection with the or gavization of a company. He returned the other day with the announc ment that a strong organization had been formed, having a capital of sevmillions, of which $200,000 is paid up and deposited in a Canadian bank. All he wants now is the as surance of the satisfactory government subsidy and the work will go ahead.' Last year the government was asked to subsidize the canal to the extent of a two per cent guarantee on seventeen million dollars. Further exploration and enquiry have caused the amount to be raised, and parliament is now asked by Mr. Poupore and the company to raise the vote from $340,-009 a year to $500,000. This is two and a half per cent on $20,000,000. With this guarantee the company's bonds would be gilt-edged and marketable Mr. Poupore is a capital speaker and made a favorable impress sion upon the members, as he did last year. He is a conservative, but occasionally offers a concillatory vote on the government side, as he did on the Drum mond railway scheme. He is a con-tractor by profession, and has no duarrel with the government which is carrying on building operations. Particularly Mr. Poupore has no quarre with Mr. Tarte. He quoted yesterday Mr. Tarte's statements that if he had his way he would build the Georgian Bay canal, the Trent Valley canal and two or three railways between the upper and lower lakes. Mr. Poupore has no sympathy with the criticism of Mr. Tarte's promise to bridge, 3,600 feet long, over the St. spend a great deal more money than LOWF has been spent heretofore. He ob-served that Mr. Tarte was a man of

After exhausting all other methods to ascertain who the engineer was and what he said, the question was like their rate of wages, he does not brought to an issue by Mr. Borden. who after charging Mr. Blair with obstructing his own measure by withthem to assimilate if they wanted to. Mr. Maxwell set forth his ideas in a holding information, took the point of order that the rule required the pasermon of considerable lergth, closing pers to be brought down. Mr. Brodeur, the deputy speaker, being in the chair of the committee, did not waste much time in ruling against Mr. Bor den. Mr. Brodeur never does waste much time in deciding in favor of the garded man. This last allusion to the government side. A compendium of Mr. Brodeur's decisions would form a present ministry was tempered with a unique contribution to parliamentary history. They are a mass of self-con tradictions and constitutional impos sibilities with one vein of consistency running through them. Mr. Brodeur s never "agin the government." No appeal can be taken in the committee against the chairman's decision. The remedy is for the committee to rise and refer the matter to the speake and the house. Sir Charles Hibber Tupper asked that this be done. Mr Brodeur has evolved a rule of his own, and compelled the member for Pictor to make a motion. This motion he put to the committee, when it was voted down. Then ensued a lively discussion, the opposition members showing that by this process they could never get to the speaker at all, seeing that the government holds the majority in the committee.

> Then Sir Wilfrid began to crawl down, seeing that this proceeding must be made a matter of record for all time to come. He informed Mr. Brodeur that the committee should report to the speaker in the chair and allow him to proceed. Now Sir James Edgar had long since sought his virtuous couch. Mr. Brodeur did not have him called, but in his capacity of deputy speaker he took the chair him self to review his own decision as chairman of the committee. It was little inconvenient for Mr. Br the chairman, to make a report to Mr. Brodeur, the speaker, seeing that a

Sir Wilfrid Laurier brought down batch of papers relating to Prince Edward Island, containing the last memorial from the government of that province and Sir Wilfrid's reply thereto. Many of the papers are the same as were brought down last year, but there are some additions. Included in the new matter is a minute setting forth that in view of the decision of the privy council of May, 1898, Prince Edward Island is entitled in its own right to receive from the dominion that portion of the award of the Halifax commission to which it would have been entitled had the amount of compensation belonging to P. E. I. been separately awarded. The provincial ministers ask that the whole question between the dominion and the province be left to arbitration, one arbitrator to be appointed by the province, one by the Queen and one by the dominion. The old claims need only to be stat ed in general language. No. 1 grows out of the failure to establish continuous steam communication.

No. 2 is the finnacial claim which was set forth very fully by Mr. Martin in a recent speech in the house. It grows out of the fact that when the province entered the union the debt of the dominion was assumed to be $45 per head, and on this basis the allow ance of $50 per head was made to Prince Edward Island. But the real debt of the dominion was much greater than was then supposed, when the cost of completing the public works then under construction is considered. The provincial governmen computes that the allowance should have been $75 per head in order to make it equitable, and a claim of $2,174,705 is made out on this basis. But the late dominion government recognized this claim to the extent of increasing the subsidy to the extent of $20,000 a year.

Another claim grows out of the fishery award. The provincial government says that two years before the arbitration to Halifax the fisheries of Prince Edward Island were free to the Americans. The island was at that time not a part of the dominion, and is therefore entitled to compensation on its own account.

The other claims are in respect to certain pensions to Mrs. Whalen, and the judges' salaries, which the provincial government considers too low The Island judges have their salaries eked out by certain fees, and the government thinks that the dominion should recoup the provinces these amounts.

Then there are claims growing out of the public wharves which have been many times stated.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's replies to these claims bear date of March 28th, 1899 at which time the provincial ministers were here. He takes up the claims one by one, after stating his intense desire to do justice and explaining better of him, and gave a solemn undertaking that if the offence were overlooked he would touch no more intoxicants while he remained in the public service. This confession and pledge Inspector Barrett forwarded to Ottawa, recommending that they be accepted and that Mr. Costigan be given another chance.

From February to July nothing happened. Then Mr. Costigan got $400 for the contingent account during the year then commencing and received the two sums of $20 each from Richard & Co, and the McIntyre estate for warehouse permits. Without accounting for the $49 Mr. Costigan took his departure and was for a time lost. As the $400, according to Dr. Barrett, was "not available," the inspector telegraphed to Ottawa asking. that a cheque be issued to Christie, the deputy collector, to meet the contingencies and also to pay the salary account. When asked why the $400 was not available, the doctor said, "because Mr. Costigan was not there." The inspector could not investigate accounts in the conlector's absence. but he seems to have kept up a correspondence with the department and to have made all possible attempts to discover the missing collector. On the 8th of September he wrote to Ottawa. "I have beard nothing further from the absent one." When the collector did return Dr. Barrett did not deal with him. "Costigan dealt with the department direct."

Dr. Barrett did not 'mow of any public duties that Mr. Costigan performed in his absence, but he heard that he reported to the customs authorities about a matter of cigars. Mr. Cestigan presented to him for audit an account for expenses during his absence on "preventive service." The witness declined to recommend payment. He wrote to Costigan: "I deeply regret that I cannot approve of this The inspector reminded Mr. Costigan that on a previous occasion he had dealt with Ottawa direct in a matter of this kind and he advised him to do it again.

Mr. Costigan's next absence took place on November 28th, two months after his return from the disappearance before mentioned. On December 7th, the inspector wrote to Commis-sioner Miall that Mr. Costigan had beer: gone since November 28th. He said that he would not be anxious if Mr. Costigan had not been drinking. He had been seen in an intoxicated condition for two or three days after he left the office and when last seen was heading for the station. As the office accounts were not paid, the inspector asked for money to meet them. On December 21st, Mr. Costigan returned, and the inspector wired to Ottawa, "Party inquired for returned this afternoon." While he was gone the discovery was made of the payment of $209 into the office and that Mr. Costigan had obtained a personal cheque for the amount which he had endorsed to a saloon keeper. In reference to this Dr. Barrett wrote to the department that Mr. Costigan's conduct was "inexcusable from a de-partmental standpoint." Nevertheless he was sure there was "no disbonesty intended." It was all the consequence of alcohol. Under its influas irresi as the veriest lunatic." At this stage the chief commissioner ordered the suspension of Mr. Costigan and instructed Dr. Barrett to take charge of the office. He ordered Barrett to hold an also official investigation and report the facts fully. Witness explained that the $209 was made good to the department after Mr. Costigan's return by Dr Barrett's own personal cheque. It was not his own morey, however, but was met by funds placed at his disposal by Mr. Costigan's friends. On January 2nd, Dr. Barrett reported this payment and asked whether he should go on with the investigation, remarking that he could not see how an enquiry could reveal anything not generally The inquiry did not known. place. Mr. Costigan was suspended Decem ber 18th. Dr. Barrett was in charge of the office until the following July, but during April, May and June Mr Costigan was paid his salary as colector at Winnipeg. He was at Ottawa and the cheques were forwarded back from Winnipeg to Ottawa to him. Dr. Barrett understood that he was acting collector at Ottawa during that period. He has since been made collector at Ottawa.

This matter comes home more closely to parliament since two members have been taking part in the negotiations. It is now known that the intervention of the members was due to a suggestion of Mr. Wainwright, the assistant general manager of the Grand Trunk. The two members representing the labor organization met Manager Hays and went over the whole question with him. The manager de-clined to negotiate unless the men would first go back to their work, and he assured Mr. Powell and Mr. Taylor that if this wore done he would be willing to go to Ottawa or to Mr. Taylor's home in Gananoque and discuss the labor trouble. Mr. Powell and Mr. Taylor with some hesitation advised the men to accept these terms and open negotiations. It was therefore something of a surprise when it was learned that the men had been refused work when they returned to their duties. Mr. Powell is positive and emphatic in the statement that the men were all to be taken back. and there is a general feeling that Manager Hays has been pleying a sharp trick not only on the men, but on the members of parliament who accepted his statement. The debate was rather one-sided, as there was a general expression of belief that the Grand Trunk management deserve the strongest condemnation

It is too early to write the full history of last night's session. At ten o'clock in the evening the house got into committee on the Grand Trunk deal and before an hour there was another deadlock. The difficulty is not alone that the government refuses the information necessary to an under-standing of the contract. That of course is a grievance. But the condition is intensified by the fact that Mr. Blair has promised information which he refuses to give. There is also the unpleasant suspicion mentioned yesterday, and still further deepened by subsequent events, that the minister's statements as to information from his officers cannot be safely accepted.

As to those two bridges, the Richelieu and the Yamaska, Mr. Blair positively stated that he had the calculations of his engineer showing that ence the collector was "morally speak- one bridge would cost $400,000 and the other $300,000 Mr McLennan pledge his reputation as a contractor that the bridges could be built for less than $100,000 and $40,000 respectively. Naturally with this wide difference the house wanted to know how Mr. Blair's engineer made up his figures. Mr. Mc-Lennan was ready with his. He gave the quantity of mesonry for each pier, the price yer yard, and the cost of the superstructure. Last night he backed up his first statement by a report from an engineer whom he sent down and who figured out the work on the spot. This engineer, after making generous estimates for contingencies. estimates the cost of the two bridges at $42,000 and $102,000. The total sum is just one-fifth of the estimate and calculation of Mr. Blair's real or imaginary engineer. But though oftentimes begged and as often challenged to produce his calculations, Mr. Blair has refused to bring them down. The other difficulty is essential. The basis of agreement which Mr. Blair is trying to put through the house requires that the expenses of maintenance shall be divided between the Grand Trunk and the Intercolonial in proportion to the number of cars hauled over the road by each party. Some time ago the statement was made that the Grand Trunk hauled 100 cars for every car sent over by the Intercolonial. Mr. Blair himseit this session gave the proportion as 24 to 1. The other day he gave the ratio as 8 to 1. Now the agreement under which operations have been going on for over a year required that the company shall furnish to the government a full statement of the number of cars belonging to each party taken over the road. This is to be done every month. Thirteen days ago Mr. Blair promised Borden of Halifax to give him these monthly statements for past year. Two days ago when Mr. Borden stated that they had not been given, Mr. Blair assured him that he He was mistaken, and that the return had come down. It turned out yesterday that no such return had been produced. Then Mr. Blair came out with the astonishing declaration that he did not have the statement and would not obtain it, and consequently would not produce it. This brought matters to a climax. The government had positively understood that the bill should go through committee at this sitting. At noon today the house was still in session and the bill had made no progress. Mr. Foster some time after midnight gave a pretty strong conduct. The opinion of Mr. Blair's rules of the house do not permit a member to call another a liar, but they do not prevent one member from proving another to be one. Mr. Foster stated the case very clearly, pointed out the democalizing effect of a minister ledging his word in the house one day and breaking it the next. It had been the boast of members in the worst times that ministers would not lie on mattars of public business in their place in parliament. members cannot say that any los three o'clock this morning the minister of railways, with a few other min isters and members, walked down the middle walk from Parliament Hill on their way home to bed. As they walked they pondered over the question whether they had made any gain by keeping the house sitting until that hour in order to force the opposition to accept the Grand Trunk bill, all its clauses, at once, without further information or detailed dis cussion. The house rose at three with exactly the same amount of business done that there was at twelve. At midnight Mr. Foster, who was leading the oppoistion while Sir Charles Tup per was addressing the Macdonald Club in Toronto, observed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier that no purpose would be gained by trying to force this bill and chedules through committee at one sitting. Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Blair, backed by a shouting majority, disagreed with this view. They insisted that the house should be held until the proper amount of progress was made, no .natter how much explanation opposition members might ask and how many facts might be withheld. Three hours later one of them remarked to another that they might just as well have adjourned at midnight. That remark was probably the truest one made during the evening.

If Mr. Blair had not been so anxious to contradict Col. McLennan of Clengarry, the delay might not have happened. Col. McLennan being a contractor, naturally gives attention to the cost of railways. He had his own figures of the cost of the roads and bridge leased from the' Grand Trunk. He made the statement, as a practical man; that the road from Ste. Rosalie to St. Lawrence could be built for half a million dollars. Mr. Blair found it necessary to make the value three times as large. But Mr. Blair is not a railroad builder, and he felt it necessary to back up his assertion by evidence. That is how he came to make the statement that he had a report from his own engineer giving the cost of one bridge at Riche lien river at $400,000, and of a bridge over the Yamaska at $300,000. Now Mr. McLennan made a careful calculation to show that the Richelieu bridge would only cost $89,000. He gave the number of feet of masonry, the amount of excavation and the price of superstructure, as obtained from the Dominion Bridge Co. The extraordinary difference between $100.000 and $400,000, when both computations were supposed to be made by technical men, was rather paralyzing. Moreover, Mr. Blair's calculation makes a bridge 330 feet long cost more than one-third as much as the C. P. R.

the chair facing the platform. Brodeur's ingenuity was equal to the occasion. He summoned Mr. Flint, who is always ready for any odd job, and Mr. Flint stood forth announcing on behalf of the committee that he had been instructed to report progress and ask leave to sit again. Sir Ch Hibbert Tupper was on his feet that instant protesting that Mr. Flint had not been chair nan of the committee nor an officer of the house, and had no business to appear in that capacity. He renewed his protest later when Mr. Brodeur, as speaker, announced that Mr. Flint as chairman of the committee had made a report Sir Charles was asked the ground of his objection. He had no other grounds than that the statement of Mr. Brodeur was a deliberate falsehood, since Mr. Flint was not the chairman of the committee. This light and trifling objection was ruled out, after which Mr. Brodeur as speaker gravely announced that in his opinion the ruling of Mr. Brodeur as chairman was sound. The official record will probably show that it was Mr Flint who gave the decision in the committee. But this is another case of Mrs. Harris, for it is doubtful ir Mr. Flint had even heard the decision as he was probably asleep in the back benches at the time. However, the chair was sustained by a vote of the house and the proceedings went on. Or rather the proceedings did not go on, but only the objections. During the evening Mr. Foster had made a strong protest against Mr. Blair's course in refusing information. M Bell of Pictou, Mr. Borden of Halifax Mr. Bennett of Simcoe, Messrs. Ber-geron, Sproule, Wallace and other members set forth their views, no only on the conduct of the ministe but on the whole question. Mr. Bell in a strong argument advanced the idea that the government might have accomplished the same purpose that the contract served by obtaining the right to put in another track along the Grand Trunk line.

Mr. McLennan in the course of th night informed the chairman that he did not see a quorum present. At that time there were only 12 members in the house. Mr. Brodeur did not hurry with his counting. While he waited Sir Louis Davies furiously rang a bell communicating with the restaurant and the room where the government supporters congregate. In due time Mr. Brodeur discovered a quorum, At three o'clock Mr. Foster was obtaining a few explanations from the minister of railways. Mr. Bell of Addington, who rarely speaks, had severa pages of notes ready for use. Mr Clancy was prepared to argue. Clarke Wallace was down stairs getting a bite to eat with Jimmy Kelly and other Orangemen who are returning from Grand Lodge. His desk was littered with notes of the oration he intended to deliver after daylight. Mr. Bennett had spoken for an hour, and all was prepared for a comfortable night and forenoon sitting. Suddenly Sir Wilfrid came to the conclusion that this was the time for the exer-nan cannot stand on the platform of Prince Edward Island. facing the chair and also in front of Mr.

Sir Wilfrid conceives that the winter communication claims will be made as near right as possible when the new steamship is on the route.

As to the big financial claims over $2,000,000 he is not so explicit But he is of the opinion that if cer tain railways were built in Prince Ed. ward Island these demands would be to some extent met. At all events the financial position would assume a different phase. He says that Sir Louis Davies has been presenting the claims of a railway from Charlottetown to Murray Harbor, and that surveys have been made, and the government will soon be in a position to make recommendations. Negotiations have been going on with the provincial government to secure the assistance of the province to the Hillsborough bridge. This is the only undertaking that Sir Wilfrid makes in regard to that part of the claim.

As to the claim for two years' dam ages from United States fishing previous to 1873, Sir Wilfrid says these two years were not included in the Halifax award, and that as the dominion government got nothing for it it has no right to pay anything. As to the division of the proceeds of the award itself, Sir Wilfrid quotes the minister of marine as stating that this matter is involved in legal difficulties. It can only be settled by stating a case and having a new adjudication.

Sir Wilfrid will not promise to take over any more piers and pay for them. He will leave the Whalen pension question to the department of justice to settle. He will also submit to the department of justice the question of judges' salaries in Prince Edward Island, and if anything is incumbent on the dominion to do that will be done. This is the substance of Sir Wilfrid's reply to Prince Edward Island's demands. S. D. S.

Then he reported voluntarily, ugh as we know from Mr. Christie's evidence, the destination of the lost money had previously been ascertained. Mr. Costigan, however, frankly stated that whiskey had got the

In cross-examination, Mr. Barrett testified that Mr. Christie had been kind to Mr. Costigan in his trouble, and was himself a first class officer and a man of the highest honor and integrity. He testified that Mr. Costigan was an excellent officer when sober; that he took the Gold Cure after the last of the above occurrences, and that it was the fixed policy of the department that any officer failure to make a report of money received should not be retained.

One day this officer while intoxicated abused the collector with violent language. Mr. Costigan made complaint; Dr. Barrett made in-vestigations. The case was reported to Ottawa and the yourg man disap-peared from the public service. Mr. Costigan asked whether this officer was not a relative of the "pros counsel in this case." Sir Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper objected that this language was insulting, as he was not a prosecuting counsel, but simply a mber of the committee. The young man in question was a relative of his by marriage. Mr. Costigan withdrew the offensive language and having shown that the late government did not retain the services of the young man in question, he discontinued questions.

We had five hours' discussion in the said Mr. Foster, "while they sit be-hind this minister," winting his finger house yesterday over the Grand Trunk strike, which is a matter of grave instraight at Mr. Blair. Mr. Blair being again questioned by Foster, expressed done by the King's Daughters came a doubt whether a member guilty of such "rude insolence" was entitled to a reply. "He refuses to keep a solemn promise made in this house," said Mr. Foster, " and yet expects to be treated like a white man." Mr. Blair re-sorted at this stage to one of his Fredericton customs. He got up and went out. And Mr. Foster, after refusing "to be put off with more lies," moved the committee rise. Of course the motion was lost and the discussion went on. HALIFAX, June 9 .- The news received from Victoria, B. C., tonight that a Halifax party of Klondykers had nearly all perished caused consternation. The party was in charge of Capt. Louis Dixon, a well known Canadian nilitia officer. The party left Halifax April 12, 1898, by the Edmonton trail, but apparently lost their way. They went by canoes via Peace river, Lizard river and Deaser river. After that they evidently went astray. The party consisted of ten. Three survivors have arrived at Victoria. Names unfortunately not given. The names of the party were: Capt Louis Dixon, unmarried: Arthur Longard. unmarried; J. Boutilier, married; J. H. Brown, married; J. Dunbrack, unmarried; Walter Dunsworth, unmarried; S. Gibbon, single; J. S. Dimock, married; Frank Johnson, single; W. P. Borden, single. Mr. Dixon, the head of the party, would have married Miss Dimock, daughter of one of the party, on his return. Later despatches says the survivors

The new birth, said the speaker, implies a new life-divine life-as truly as the natural Mark 2:27. It is therefore a Christian irstitution. We therefore observe it." birth implies carnal life. As it is necessary for each person to be born The speaker read from Gen. 2:2, 3 to show how the Sabbath was made. He reascned that Christ being God in the human life so it is necessary that each enjoy beginning, when he made all things, should be born again that he may after working six days, chose the ave the Christ life. By means of these facts and out of the seventh day Christ made the Sabbath, which is still the Lord's day-His Sabbath, and is still sacred. The familiar hymn was sung, 'As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be."

The speaker then quoted from Christ's sermon on the Mount: "Think ham, and the regular devotional ser-vice was led by H. J. Farman. Mark 16:1, 2, were referred to, pointing out a plain distinction between the Sabbath of the Lord and the first day of the week.

At this point the speaker proceeded to answer a question, "How can the Sabbath be observed on a round world?" He at once stated, just as taking as his text Luke 21: 28: "We easily as can the first day. Why not? are told to look up, for our redemption draweth nigh." "Redemption is two-Although this question implies a loss of time going westward around the fold. A person going westward around the world lives every moment of time there is, does he not? And if not, where was ne the day he lost, or the day he was not? The individual going eastward lives no more time than there is, does he? How could he? The loss or gain is only apparent, not real. Take twins, and send one east and the other west. Would there be two days difference in their ages when they meet after their first trip, and four the will be when Noah, Daniel and all the second trip, and six the third, etc. The people know they would remain the same age; hence no loss of time. But if it is still urged that there is a real loss and gain, let us increase the velocity of travel of the twins, to that of the light on earth, and start one westward from an imaginary day line here in St. John, and let him start in the Jaybreak hour of six o'clock, and he will be in that daybreak hour of President the Hero of a Great Popular Demonstration.

Fickle Parisians Cheered the Man They Had Hooted Only a Week Before.

Fifteen Thousand Soldiers and Police Under Arms-A Double Line of Steel from the Elysee to Longchamp Race Track.

PARIS, June 11 .- President Loubet has had his revanche for last Sunday's outrage it Auteuil. When he drove to Longenamp today to attend the Grand Prix he was the hero of a great popular demonstration, expressing itself in one form or another along the whole route frofm the Elysee palace to the race course. He remained only a juarter of an hour, just long enough to witness the race, and, having congratulated the owner of the winner, returned to the Elysee, where he arrived at 4 o'clock without special incident.

The revisionists and socialist organs summoned their readers to assemble along the thoroughfares to be traversed by the president and his party ; and, from the hour of newn thousands of demonstrators set out from Montmartre, Belleville and other working class quarters in big organized bands, all wearing a small artificial red flower in the buttonhole, and marched across Paris, taking up positions along the avenue Des Champs Elysee and the avenue Du Bois de Boulougne. They gave M. Loubet a tremendous ovation, confining their cries almost entirely to "Vive Loubet" and "Vive la Repub-

The president did not hear a dis-cordant cry, although there were one or two scuffles before and after he passed, between the police and an occasional hot-headed anti-Dreyfusard who tried to shout "A Bas Loubet," and was immediately pounced upon by a swarm of policemen.

Although the visit passed off quietly, the government was prepared for every eventuality, the whole district between the Elysee and Longchamp literally teeming with troops and police. A policeman was stationed every dozen yards along the whole route, and there were squadrons of dragoons armed with lances, and mounted republican guards at all important points, while through the green foliage of the Bois, on each side of the avenue, could be seen heavy masses of red and blue, denoting the presence of detachments of soldiers awaiting orders.

Longchamp resembled a military camp. Battalions of infantry, squadrons of dragoons and republican guards were distributed all around the course. It is estimated that there were 15,000 soldiers and police under arms,

The same floor has a large room, which it is the intention of the ladies to devote to the use of the nurses of the Victorian Order. In this room wards will be laid cut by screen partitions. Here the nurses can not only attend to their patients, but can also, when the wards are unoccupied, use as a class room. The ladies are indebted to many friends for donations of furniture and pictures, but they have need of much more before the place will be thoroughly equipped.

Run Over by an I. C. R. Train Near Newcastle.

(Moncton Times.) An unknown young man was run over and killed on the I. C. R. about five miles above Newcastle, on Wednesday, by the accommodation going up. The unfortunate was about 18 or 20 years of age, and from appearances was of an unsound mind. Driver Mc-Ginity saw the man walking on the track with his back to the engine and gave the usual danger signal, and when he saw that he paid no attention to the whistle, or made no effort to get out of the way, the brakes were applied and the train brought to a standstill as quickly as possible. Be-fore this could be done, however, the man had been struck and killed. The camp on the Lizard river, which they had ascended a distance of two hundred and forty miles. They crossed to the Beaver river, and after following it for one hundred miles attempted to cross the Hay mountains in February. The three who escaped and who occupied one tent kept close to their Indian guides. The others were more independent and lay longer in their tents in the morning, trusting to over-take the others. The wind was blowing strong, and drifted the loose snow into the tracks, and in a few hours the trail was completely obliterated. Dixon and the other five were unable to find the trail, as the mountain was bare and without any scrub to indicate the course. Not coming in sight, the others halted, and for two days attempted to find traces of the lost With the greatest difficulty they made Coal river, throwing away their packs in doing so, and finally reaching Dease lake, half starved and scurvy stricken, when the government convoy brought them to Glenora, where they have been in the hospital for a month. KING'S DAUGHTERS' HOME.

Their New Quarters Formally Opened and Dedicated to the Work.

The King's Daughters' home was formally opened and dedicated Friday night. The entire building was thrown open and the spacious drawing rooms were used for the opening service. Upon the platform besides the president, Mrs. Macmichael, were Rev. T. F. Fotheringham and John Read. The rooms were crowded with people, and many had to stand in the adjoining corridors. Many of the city clergy men were present, although the night is one which is generally observed for week-night service by the churches. Rev. Mr. Fotheringham read a portion of the scriptures and Rev. Mr. Read offered prayer. Rev. Mr. Fotheringham, introduced by the president, sati that he was greatly pleased to be able to congratulate the guild upon the palatial home which they had furnished for this noble purpose. The galld was doing a work which no other organization was able to do. The home was welcomed with double joy because it was not established in pure philanthropy, but "In His Name." Those who ministered to Jesus were women, and when misfortunes came, they alone remained with Ilim. Mr. Fotheringham concluded by expressing the hope that the work now carried on would increase in efficiency

After a voca l solo by Miss Grace Manning, Rev. John Read said that he was delighted to find the King's Daughters enthroned in such a place. The beauty of the home would be an educative influence in itself. The work that was to be carried on was one of the ncblest possible, and he trusted that in the future many who had been helped in this home would rise up and call the King's Daugh-ters blessed. Hon. R. J. Ritchie joined heartily in the congratulations which were being extended. He believed that the work engine and four cars passed over the body, which was horribly mutilated. The remains were gathered up and carried to Beaver Brook, the next station, and afterwards brought back to Newcastle. The victim was apparently a stranger, and nothing was found on the body by which he could be identified. The young man wore three vests and two shirts in the way of superfluous clothing, but he had no money. In his vest pocket was found a small bottle filled with gravel, and in another pocket some small pieces of paper, while a small spoon, on which were the words "Mamie," was also found on the body.

The deceased was about 5 feet 7 inches in height, light complexioned, and it was quite evident from his actions he was either deaf and dumh or demented.

WHO WAS RICHARDS?

A New Brunswicker Who Died Under Suspicious Circumstances.

Westbrook, Me., letter says: The young man named Richards who came here from New Brunswick and who has been unconscious for the past three days as a result of sickness from a disease which the local doctors have been unable to name, died at about midnight Monday night. The case, to say the least, has been of the most suspicious, and the board of health, under the direction of Dr. T. P. Smith. the professional member of the board, have used every precaution to prevent the spread of the disease in the event that it should be smallpox. Police Officer Pomerleau was placed on duty outside the house all night Monday to keep people away from the house, and all day Tuesday Officer Dresser was on duty for the same reason. The dead man was quietly buried Tuesday morning, by order of the mayor and board of health, by Messrs. Hodsdon & Roberts, the local undertakers, at St. Hyacinthe cemetery. The effects of the deceased and all bedding and other material used about him have been burned, and the house has been thoroughly fumigated since the remains were taken away. The undertakers also destroyed all of their clothing worn during the time in which they were engaged in preparing the body for burial.

In the afternoon a Bible study class was conducted ny Elder H. J. Farnham, who took as his subject the "Reception of the Holy Spirit," basing his remarks on John 20:22. The mission of the Holy Spirit was especially dwelt upon.

After prayer by Elder Outhouse, the association took up and discussed matters of business connected with the missionary work in these provinces. Addresses were delivered by Elds. Langdon, Cottrell, S. J. Hersum, Farnam and Corkham. The past years' work has been very successful both in its financial and spiritual aspects. New fields have been occupied irg. and some forty converts have confessel by faith. During the year there were received by tithes offerings $1,368.72, and increase over the year before of $660.05. The outlook for the work during the coming years is the ceedingly promising, and the associa-tion intends to broaden out along the same lines. After a short address by Dr. Stew-art, the question of purchasing a tent for camp meetings was discus-sed, and $261 was raised on the spot. by Pres. Langdon, Elder H. C. Basney delivered the evening's sermon from the text, "And He was clothed in a vesture dipped in blood and His thy God: in it thou shalt not do any name is called the Word of God." Rev. 19:13.

The session of the Seventh Day Adventists was resumed yesterday morning with a Bible study conducted by S. J. Hersum from Corinth. 5:14-21.

They believe the Bible, but they do not go beyond it. It is a wonder how people can get mad when they hear of the coming of the blessed Savious. There must be something wrong on the part of such ones in regard to the relationship between them and Christ. Their first love must be lost. Christ says to such, "Return to your first love." We ought not to dread to have our best friend come to us and be with us, and we with Him. What things are these by which we may know when we are to look up?

He gives is signs in sun, moon and stars (Matt. 24). After the tribulation of those days. What says He then ? The days of papal persecution, which ended in 1775 A. D., and between that time and '800 A. D. the first sign was seen, in the darkening of the sun, which took place in Nov. 19th, 1780. The following night the moon turned into blood, as it were, thus fulfilling two of the important signs. In 1833 the stars fell to the earth, which was another of the signs which the Saviour gave as signs of His near coming. The anger of the nations and perplexity of the same, and fear coming upon all nen are a warning to us that the day of our redemption is very near. In the book of Daniel is an-other sign of the Master's near comirg. We are living now in the time when we may look for the blessed coming of our loving Saviour. the Lord help us to be ready to be May ushered into His everlasting kingdom, to praise Him for ever for His love

In the evening Elder H. W. Cottrell spoke upon the subject of the Sabbath, taking for his text, "The seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord work." You will please notice, said work. For whi please notice, said the speaker, the text says the sev-enth day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; not of the Jews, nor of Seventh Day Adventists. Therefore it is not Jewish, as some men assert, but belongs to our Father, and what is His is ours. The text also declares that in it we shall not do any work.

The leading thought in the service was the love of Christ. At 3 p. m. Elder Basney spoke on "Receiving the Holy Spirit," Luke 11: 21-22. Three par-ties, he said, are here referred to, "the We therefore, in obedience Father, observe the Sabbath, the seventh day, rather than the first day of goods," which represent the people: the week, for thus the Holy Scrip-"the strong man," the devil; "the the week, for thus the Holy Scriphouse," the heart of man. Christ de- tians know that the scriptures cannot livers the soul from darkness as He be broken. Seeing the scriptures can-sweeps the house, but the house must not be broken, as Jesus so declared, be filled with His presence or other hotwithstanding man may declare it notwithstanding man may declare it be filled with His presence or other spirits worse than the first will come and dwall therein. The important thing then is to have the house filled. The spirit was given that the disciples inght go forth in power to preach the gospiel. The same experience will come to every one who conserved the pot true that there is law in the mere it come to every one who consecrates not true that there is law in the new come to every one who consecrates himself to God. At 4.30 Elder Longard spoke of the importance of the book work, and of the good results accomplished by it. The year's "eport shows that over Elder Basney told how he had found is present to be lawful except there is law in the new to dispensation. A thing cannot be said to be lawful except there is law con-cerning that thing. Hence, you see, to we have both the Sabbath of the Lord and the law of the Lord con-trolling His Sabbath in the New Tes-tament. Jesus is our example in does not tell us the day or the hour. he would have gone around the world Seventh-day Adventists do not be- in no time. That would be rather unreasonable, would it not? The other goes eastward at the same velocity, and if he to gain a day, he would have to go around in one day less time than no time, and if they were to keep up these trips long enought at this rate of speed, one of the twins would be come older than Methuselah, and the other younger than though he had never been born. The seventh day is the Sabbath, and can be kept on a round world, and this is another reason why we keep the Sabbath.

At the close of the service $74 was raised for the tent fund, making in all $335.

The delegates to the Seventh Day Adventists' convention are: Superintendent of district No. 1, Elder H. W. Cottrell of Lancaster, Mass.; Elder H. C. Basney, Portland, Me; Elders G. E. Langdon, S. J. Hersum, St. Stephen, N. B.; H. J. Farman, Woodstock, N. B. Licentiates, Levi Longard, Tan-tallon, N. S.; D. A. Corkham, Perth, N. B.; J. R. Israel, Yarmouth, N. S. infantry even stood around the race course between the public and the course, on which no one was allowed to walk between the races, while several republican guards patrolled the course itself.

The president left the Elysee at 2 o'clock in an open landau, with M. Dupuy, the premier, beside him, and Gen. Bailloud, chief of the presidential household, and Major Bon, lieut. col. of horse artillery, attached to the per-son of the president. Mme. Loubet followed in a second landau, after which rode the presidential suite in other carriages. The famous outrider Montjarred preceded M. Loubet, whose landau was drawn by four horses with a couple of postillions, and es-corted by a picked body of cuirassi-

ers. All were men of fine physique and formed a splendid cavalcade, with the flery sun glinting on their burnished steel breast plates and helmets, the latter surmounted by the red cockade and trailing the black horschair plume.

The two leading cuirassiers rode with revolvers in hand, with fingers on the trigger, and carefully watch-ed each side of the road, while beside the carriage ran a number of policemen, rendering it absolutely impos-sible for anybody to approach.

On arriving at the race course president drove through the paddock to the presidential box. Municipal guards and police lined the path across the paddock. Drums beat and trumpets blared when M. Loubet appeared in the front of the box, and a scene of intense enthusiasm followed. lasting several minutes, with an uproar of shouts of "Vive Loubet," and "Vive La Republique," which settled finally into a monotonous chant.

After the races the police dispersed After the faces the ponce dispersed several thousand persons demenstrat-ing along the avenue Deschamps Ely-sees, who were supposed to be making for the Elysee, cheering for the presi-dent and the army. Several arrests were made.

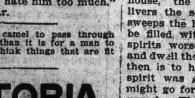

The only grave incident of the day occurred before the president had returned to the Elysee, at one of the garden restaurants, in the Allee de Longchamp. About a quarter past five, when the establishment was full of customers, somebody made an objectionable remark concerning the president. The people took sides and a regular fight ensued. Bottles, glasses, decanters, tables and chairs were hurled about. The throng quickly swelled to several thousands. The windows of the cafe were smashed and the struggle was continued within. Finally the mounted police arrived, cleared the neighborhood and closed the cafe. Several persons were injured, including a number of police-

Of the forty persons arrested only eight have been detained in custody. M. Loubet expressed a wish that all who had been arrested merely en ac-count of the seditious cries, should, so far as possible, be liberated.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

English lumber journals report the spruce market very firm and tending higher. Stocks there are moderate. and the quantity to go forward from this side is not excessive. Then France and Belgium have lately become active buyers of whitewood, which competes with spruce, and France has also been in the market for a considerable quantity of spruce. The increased demand for spruce in the United States and an expension of business with South America are other factors taken into consideration. Timber News of June 3rd says: "Altogether it is apparent there is not going to be an excessive production, and as last year's import was notmore than sufficient for the needs of the markets on this side, it seems probable that the supply this season will fall short. Values are steadily creeping up, and £6 12s. 6d. to £6 15s. c. i. f. is obtainable for St. John, £6 7s. 6d. to £6 10c. c. i. f. for ordinary stocks, and without assuming the mantle of prophecy, it certainly seems within the range of probability that £7 c. i. f. will become the market value for St. John deals before very long."

The same journal says: "Sales of spruce for France have been ed at 160 francs for St. John, and 185 for 2nd Quebec, being about 10 france higher than last season."

Of Manchester it savs: "Work at the Manchester docks is now getting in full swing. Several spruce cargoes have been and are now being dealt with, and in the face of advancing prices, buyers are now toeing the line. Without a doubt spruce will be much dearer yet. There are reasons for this."

Of the American market, the American Lumberman says spruce is stiff at the advance in New York, with Mr. Bell of Pictou was goin on with the discussion when Mr. Blair resumed his seat along in the forenoon. Mr. Bell took the line of praising Mr. Blair, pointing out that the minister was probably anxious to give all the information necessary, but was retarained by his wicked partners. ## PROF. SCHURMAN'S MISSION.

Prof. Schurman, the gifted P. E. Islander who is president of the Philippine commission, is gathering an abundance of information for himself and the American government. A Manila cable of Wednesday says: "Professor Schurman of the United States Philippine 'commission, will sail from here Friday on the gunboat Bennington for a three weeks' trip among the Southern Islands. The gunboat Petrel has also been placed at the professor's disposal, and he will visit Iloilo, Cebu, Negros and Sulu. He expects to investigate the local governments and have talks with the leading natives. He will sail for home in July. The other members of the commission will remain here for sev eral months longer. "

These figures go to show that th Intercolonial, which is charged an interest rate at 5 per cent on a presume amount equal to half the cost of the road, is getting about one-quarter of the use. According to figures given by Mr. Blair some time ago, the Interco lonial's proportion of use was much less, but the minister's figures varied and this return was held to be necessary in order to establish the exact state of the case. Mr. Blair holds that the comparison shows his position to be stronger than it had been supposed to be. But it is interesting to examine his returns such as they are,

Grand Trunk bargain. By the original contract which the senate threw out, Mr. Blair agreed to pay one-half of the cost of repairs, operating expenses, and salaries on the joint line. That would have been $36,547 for six months.29 Under the present arrangement he for the six months pays 119,55h. Here is a saving of $17,891 per year. This is clearly the result of the intervention of the senate. It only represents a part of the saving, because the expenses of the terminus are not included, and they are probably greater than those of the road. Add to this, $6,000 a year which is saved by the fact that the Chaudiers branch is thrown in for nothing by the present arrangement, and we have over $25,000 a year, with an indefinite sum to be added, as clear gain to the country from one element alone in the changed conditions growing out of the action of the senate. The reection of the bill by the senate also cnables the government to buy for $1,600,000 the Drummond road, for which a payment of equal to $2,090,000 had been agreed upon. In addition some $50,000 more was expended in the meantime on the railway. Adding to the $540,000 saved on the Drummond railway the $25,000 a year already shown to be saved each year on the Grand Trunk and we have a savthe Grand Trunk and we have a sav-ing equal to, a capitalized sum of $1,400,000, with several more elements to be heard from. NORTHFIELD, Vt., June 11 .- West Berlin, a little village two miles from Northfield, was the scene of excitement Saturday evening. Patrick Broughal was taken from the residence of Robert Redpath and treated to a coat of tar and liberally sprinkled with feathers. For some time past his attentions to Mrs. Redpath had been offensive to several in the community, and a party of correctors took the matter inshand, lying in wait for the matter in hand, lying in wait for him on two or three successive even-ings. On Saturday evening he was seen going into the Redpath residence, and late in the evening admisssio was demanded by a party of masked men. They were refused and prompt-ly smashed out a window, made an entrance, took Broughal out to a re-tired spot and administered his punshment. He received no injuries, but naturally the party did not take pains handle him gently. His new clothes, hat and complete wardrobe were ruined and his hair filled with

tar. He returned to his boarding place in Northfield, when his fellow boarders were kept busy the remain der of the night in cleaning him up and he left for parts unknown on the morning train. A few, weeks since. Mr. Redpath discovered Broughal in his wife's room and warned him not to be found there again. Broughal said. he was after a spool of thread. A couple of weeks ago Redpath went to his, father's home in New Brunswick, treal,

HE WAS NOT OBSERVING. (Duluth News.) "It seems almost incredible," said the railroad man, "but I saw a man the other day that i couldn't give an intelligent description of his wife. He came in the office to get transportation for her, to which he was entitled, and under the present ru es we must have a description of the person that is going to use the transportation. On the margin of the ticket are places where the agentican punch out a very good description of the person that is entitled to use the ticket in their possession. "I asked this man first how old his wife was. He could not tell within five years.

"Next, I asked him how tall she was. The best I could ascertain was that she was not very tall, neither was she very short. I punched out the word 'medium' and let it go at that. "Next I asked the man what the color of his wife's eyes are. He studied for a full half minute and said he was darned if he was sure whether they were light blue or light gray. "When it came to the color of the woman's hair he was again in a quandry. He was not dead sure whether it was dark brown or black. "The only thing this husband was sure of was that his wife was slim."

SAMOA TROUBLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.-The steamer Doric, from the Orient via Honolulu, brings advices from the Associated Press correspondent under date of June 2. He says the U. S. S. Philadelphia arrived there June 1. Ir an interview Admiral Kautz said that all parties agreed to abide by the decision of the commission of the three powers, and that everything was quiet when he left. The bodies of Lieut. Lansdale and Eusign Monaghan, the Americans killed in the fighting, are on board the Philadelphia.

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA. The Sun has received a copy of the first issue of Rod and Gun in Canada. It is in magazine form, the covers. done in colors, and is printed in clear type, on good paper, with a number of excellent illustrations. Over two pages is given up to an admirably written article by Frank H. Risteen, on New Brunswick as a resort for anglers and hunters of big game. This subject could not have fathen to a more competent, pen. A delightful "habitant" poem, Leetle Lac Grenier, by the inimitable Dr. Drammond, is. prettily illustrated. There is an ar-ticle on Fish and Game Protection, and bright and breezy contribution on fishing, shooting, canceing, and holiday outing experiences in Quebec, Untario and British Celumbia. At the Kennels, and At the Traps, are departments of interest. Rod and Gun in Canada occupies a Ine field and should do good service. It is issued monthly, at one dollar per year, by the Rod and Gun Publishing Co.,

COUNTRY MARKET. As stated a week ago, the butter market is heavily overstocked and likely to go lower before present supplies are worked off. The larger the receipts in the meantime, the worse it will be. Butter prices are low in Montreal and the west. So far as the New Brunswick market is concerned, St. John dealers say it would be more profitable for farmers to turn a large part of the milk into cheese, which can readily be exported. The butter market is easily over-loaded. Pota-toes have turned easier, as the season for new onces is drawing near. Rhubarb and green truck are tending lower. Old carrots are scarce and firm. PHILIPINOS ROUTED. Americans Drive Them from the Country South of Manila. WASHINGTON, June 11 .- The war department today received a report from Major Gen. Otis, of the military movement yesterday to the south of Manila for the purpose of clearing out the rebels in that section. It shows that the movement was a great success and that the enemy's loss was considerably greater than stated in the press despatches. Gen. Otis's cablegram is as follows: "Terrific heat yesterday did not permit troops to reach positions at hours designated; enabled majority of insurgents to escape in scattered organizations south and westward, which they effected during the night. Movement great success, however; enemy disorganized and routed, suffering heavy loss; troops resting today at Las Pinas and Parenque. Navy did excellent exe-cution along shore of bay, but many insurgent detachments retired in that direction, protected by presence of women and children whom they drive along with them. Our loss four killed and some thirty wounded. Report of casualties later. Conservative esti-mate of enemy's loss about 400."

Says the Carleton Sentinel: "F. H.

Hale, M. P., made an unexpected visit to Woodstock, June 3rd. He had been colicited at Ottawa by two gentlement interested in plaster mining to accompany them to the plaster grounds on Tobique. Mr. Hale told a Sentinel reporter that the gentlemen were sur-prised at the quantity and quality of the gypsum there, and while they had said nothing definite as to their intentions, still he (Mr. Hale) was hopeful of a practical result from the visit."

ST. ANDREW'S SCHOOL AN-NAPOLIS.

St. Andrew's school, Annapolis Royal, finished its second year on Friday last with a most successful dosing. This school has already drawn some boys from New Brunswick and is likely to establish a larger connection. The afternoon programme included a gymnasium display, distribution of prizes and garden party, and in the evening there was a dance, attended by about 150 people. The house, grounds and gymnasium were tastefully decorated and the fine weather and beautiful surroundings of the school combined to make a most enjoyable scene. As daily gymnastic training is a feature of the school routine, the boys showed great prolency in this department, and all looked muscular and well developed and carried themselves well.

OPENING ROUND.

The opening round was a try out,

NEW YORK, June 9 .- The victory of the boiler-maker over the Cornishman was somewhat of a surprise to the eastern public, but not to the men at the ring side, or for that matter to the Chicago delegation, who came on with lots of money to see the fight. Just why the Atlantic coast sports were thus caught napping it is hard to explain. In this case the wise men did not come from the east. "Honest" John Kelly took all the money he could get that the coast giant would "Make" Donovan, than whom no win. man knows more about the game, bet all he could raise on Jeffries. It was like a thousand calciums, and it was like a thousand the badies in it showed their great white bodies in strange relief. When the blood came it was of an intenser red than usual. There was not a suggestion of interference from the police. Chief Deverey occupied a seat by the ringside, but never entered the ring. When it was all over he sent Captain Kenny in to clear the ring.

The contest was pulled off without a wrangle, and was devoid of the brutal elements that Chief Deverey alleged he feared. Never was a crowd handled with greater order and less Through it all there was very little betting. There was plenty of money ready on both sides, but nobody liked the odds. The Jeffries people wanted 2 to 1 for their collateral, and the Fitzsimmons people were slow to give.

Jeffries was the first of the principals to appear. He came through the main entrance and walked the length of the hall at 9.20 to an accompaniment of cheers, while Fitzsimmons, right and over. Fitzsimmons, who was accompanied by his Spartan-like wife, gained the building and and unconscious, dropped to the floor. Jeffries stepped back, for he knew the force that had been put behind his terrible blows. The timers called off rounds.

Just before the fight Jeffries made the following significant remark: "I hope that Fitzsimmons will be just as aggressive as he has been with other men who faced him in the ring. He will find me ready for him every time. There won't be any sprinting on my part. I want to fight him, and if I have to cut out the pace myself I will do it. I am a stronger man than he is, and I am willing to mix it with him long or how short the fight is, but I and industrious people.

MORMONS COMING. Sir William Van Horne Speaks of an Influx From Utah,

The Galicians Paid Up Their Railway Fares

for Which They Got Credit.

(Montreal Star.) Sir William Van Horne, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, returned to Montreal Monday morning from a five weeks' trip to the west. Sir William went from here to San Francisco, making occasional stops along the route, and from the California capital proceeded to British Columbia, where he spent some time at Vancouver, Victoria and other points, returning east over the C. P. R.

Speaking to a reporter of the Star at his office at the Windsor station, this forenoon, Sir William said that his visit had been almost wholly of a personal and holiday nature, having little to do with the actual concern of the road of which he was the president. He had had a pleasant trip, and had enjoyed the best of health throughout. Everywhere he had been he had been impressed with the evidences of good times, and both in the United States and in the dominion the signs of gen-eral prosperity were not wanting. In this respect, too, the cities and towns of the Canadian Northwest compared very favorably with those of the union. Vancouver and Winnipeg were growing rapidly, and there was a very prosperous look about Victoria. Speaking of the influx of immigrants into the Canadian Northwest, Sir William said that the country was becoming peopled with a class which were, in general, a very desirable lot of people. A good deal had been said about the Galicians, but he was convinced that they would make excellent citizens. In one respect at least they were even more desirable than the Doukhobors, for whereas the latter came to Canada in order to maintain their distinctive characteristics and observe their peculiar forms of worship, the Galicians had an ambition to become Canadians in every sense and to assimilate themselves into the general mass of Canadian citizenship. There was still another class of people who were beginning to come into the Northwest in considerable numbers, and who made a most desirable acquisition to the population of the country. These were the Mormons who already formed a populous and progressive colony at Alberta, and who were about to emigrate thither in still greater numbers during the present vear.

There was a certain popular preju-dice against the Mormons, Sir William said, in the cast, because of their supposed polygamous habits. It was a mistake, however, to supposee that polygamy was practiced among the Mormons at the present day, and it was also a mistake to imagine that from start to finish. I don't care how the Mormons were not an intelliget hope there will be plenty of fighting, and good hard fighting, while it have accomplished wonders in Utah.

a material standpoint, is worthy of ali praise, too, and it is probably safe to say that their average of intelligence is not excelled by any class of people on the North American continent. They have excellent schools, the pro-fessors and principal teachers in which have all been educated at the best colleges of the eastern states and EuA PLEASANT TRIP.

62nd Fusiliers Well Received at the Horder and Are Delighted With Their Outing.

A special despatch to the Sun from A special despatch to the Sua from St. Stephen says: The 62nd Fusiliers have come and gone, leaving a most favorable impression among the resi-dents of the border towns. The parade last evening and the playing of both bands delighted large crowds on the streets, while the tattoo and entertainment in the rink is spoken of on all sides as one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever seen here. A large audience manifested its appreciation by repeated encores. The tugchatton by repeated encores. The tug-of-war was won by a team of Calais young men recently returned from duty in Cuba. They won by one and a half inches, though a tug-of-war was an entirely new business to them. At the close of the entertainment, a dance was enjoyed for about an hour. The battalion attended service in the Methodist church this morning, the edifice being crowded to the doors

The cournament class of the Fusi-liers, with Colonel McLean and a number of the officers of the battalion and accompanied by the two bands, left Carleton by the Shore line for, St. Stephen at 2 o'clock Saturday after-The train made no stops and noon. The frain made no stops and reached St. Stephen at an early hour. The men on reaching their destination went into camp near the depot, the rents for their accommodation having been bitched during the day under the direction of Lieut. Rankine, who went down in the morning for that purpose. There was an immense crowd of people at the depot to welcome the visit-ing red coats. The brass band was placed in an electric car and sent over the line through St. Stephen, the two Militowns and Calais. At § o'clock in the ev ming the St. Stephen curling rink was crowded to the doors by ladics and gentlemen, who wished to witness the military tattoo and tournament, which won for the class so-much praise in St. John. Everything passed off satisfactorily. The spectators seemed pleased with the way in which the men went through the vari-ous manoeuvhes. A feature of the evening's entertainment was a tug-ofwar between a team from the Fusil-iers and a quintette selected from Company K of Calais, men who recently returned from Cuba. Uncle Sam's men were the victors, but they had very little to boast of. A dance was held after the tournament and all the ladies and gentlemen present seemed to enjoy the same.

At 10.30 o'clock Sunday merning the detachment fell in for church parade and attended service at the St. Stephen Methodist church, where, through the kindness of Captain J. D. Chipman of the 71st Battalion, seats were provided for all the officers and men. In the afternoon the men had a look about St. Stephen and Calais, and at 5 o'clock the detachment started for home. At St. George the train stopped for a time and Colonel Mc-Lean gave the officers and men a chance to look at the St. George falls.

have any chance to win the contest." (Associated Press.) CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., June 9 .-James J. Jeffries, another sturdy young giant, has come out of the west to whip America's champion pugilist. At the arena of the Coney Island Athletic Club tonight he defeated Robert Fitzsimmons, the world's champion in two classes middleweight and heavy-weight—in eleven rounds of whirlwind fighting. He came to the ring a rank outsider and left it the acknowledged master of the man he defeated. He was nover at any time in serious dan-ger, and after the size-up in the ear-lier rounds of the contest, took the lead and was never headed. He had the Australian whipped from the ninth round, and would have ended it in the tenth but for the lack of time. It was acknowledged that Jeffries would have an immense advantage in weight, height and age, but the thousands who tipped and backed his opponent to win were sure that he was slow, and that he would in that respect be absolutely at the mercy of the past master at the science of fighting that he was to meet. He proved, on the contrary, that he was just as fast as the man he met. and he beat him down to unconscious defeat in a fair fight. He is a veritable giant in statue and marvelously speedy for his immense size. Less than a year ago he appeared in New York a great awkward un-gainly boy. Today he is a lithe, active, alert, trained athlete. The men who prepared him for his fight worked wonders with him. They taught him a nearly perfect defense, improved his foot movement and instructed him is the methods of inflicting punishment. The transition since he appeared last has been little short of miraculous. But twenty-four years of age he has defeated Robert Fitzsimmons, Tom Sharkey and Peter Jackson, and if he cares for himself he will probably be able to successfully defend the title for many years.

PLUCKY CONTEST.

The defeated man was just as good as when on the crispy morning on the plains of far away Nevada he lowered the colors of the then peerless Corbett. He was just as actice, just as clever, just as tricky, and just as, fearless of punishment. He went un-falteringly to his defeat. He was the aggressor even at moments when he was bleeding and unsteady, and when stunned by the blows he received he received his opponent, but found him a different opponent than any he had met and a difficult man to fight.

Jeffries fought from a crouching at-titude that was hard to get at. He held ais head low. His back was bent down and his left arm was extended. He kept jabbing away with the left, He kept jabbing away with the left, and found no trouble in landing it. It was there that his superior reach told. That glunt arm served as a sort of human fender to ward off danger. He showed an excellent defense and the ability to use both hands with skill. He is game, too, for he never shrank from his punishment. It was a grant fight to watch and ing in the fifth. He opened the round with a punch that opened Jeffries' left eye and sent a little torrent of blood coursing down his cheek. He forced Jeffries against the ropes, but the Californian slipped away from him. He made Jeffries hug again, but when the round ended Jeffries was back and fighting. Fitzsimmons was the aggressor in the sixth, "and that, too, was his round. He tried all of his old tricks with left and right, but was unable to place them right. He closed with a strong right uppercut, but that too was blocked. The seventh might be said to have been Fitzsimmons', but he did no par-ticular damage with his punches.

THE END OF IT.

The eighth saw the beginning of the end, for Fitzsimmons never regained his balance after that round. Jeffries began the round with a straight left on the fact that again brought the blood out of his opponent's mouth. The Cornish man staggered back against the ropes, but came back for another facer. There was fear in Fitzsimmons' corner, and Julian yelled to Fitzsimmons to be careful. Fitzsimmons planted one of his lefts on Jeffries' jaw and jarred him as the round closed. Fitzsimmons looked like a beaten man. The ninth was all Jeffries. He sent the Australian's head back with a series of lefts, put his right on to the a series of ferts, put his right on to the body, and avoided any serious punish-Lent. Fitzsimmons kept pressing forward all the time, however, but was unable to find his opponent.

The tenth was in reality where the fight ended. Jeffries rushed, his op-ponent and downed him with a left swing. Fitzsimmons seemed out, and there was a moment of the wildest ex-citement. Julian ran along the side of the ring and sprinkled water on his fallen idol.

The opening round was a try out, pure and simple, and not a single blow of an effective nature was landed. First one was the pace-maker and then the other essayed the pressing. They were almost equally active, and the clever work recompensed the execond round began in a business-like way, with Jeffries trying his left. Fitzsimmons then took a turn, but was short. Just as the round closed Jeffries downed Fitzsimmons with a hard straight left on the jaw. The champion came up slowly in a dazed sort of way and reeled toward his man. The crowd cheered Jeffries con-but the gong ended the round. Fitzsimmons rallied in the rist, and was aggressive again in the third. Fitzsimmons made his best show-ing in the fifth. He opened the round with a punch that opened Jeffries left.

FARM WORK BY STEAM

Cheap and Rapid Cultivation Made Practicable. rope.

(Montreal Gazette.)

An invention that has been before the public for some years is at present being tried at a farm in Maisonneuve, next to Mr. Morgan's. The machine, known as he Romaine farming machine, is compact and reduced in weight to, about three tons. It travels over the ground at a speed of about 112 feet per minute, and cultivates as it travels about four feet wide, equal to about five plough furrows." At its work on Saturday it seemed to move about with great ease and made its turnings at the headings in a very short space and without the slightest wrenching or straining of the frame. The digging seemed to be done very efficiently, and there is no apparent reason why it should not continue for days without accident or interruption at its work. The whole thing is driven by a little pair of gasolene 16-horse power engines on the top, and, taking it for all in ail, it seems and exceedingly simple and practical invention. Since the old days the whole machine has been reduced in size and expense and made much more practical for general use than the old wide framed one. Mr. Barnhart, who is introducing the machines, hopes to be able to commence manu-facturing immediately and to be able to introduce them on the prairies this fall in time for next spring's work. He feels confident of being able to He teels confident of being able to produce a machine which can be sold to the farmer for about $4,000, which will cultivate thoroughly from 1,000 to 1,500 acres of land. If this calculation can be carried out, and there seems no reason why it should not, it reduces the first expense much less than for the ordinary plant, and the work, considered from Saturday's exhibition is very efficiently and well done. The same power is also available for seed-ing, harvesting and threshing, by sim-ply attaching, the processory impliply attaching the necessary imple ments. One man can handle the machine for all the above operations, except the threshing. It looks as though as last a machine had been perfected that would meet a long felt want in this branch, by adapting self-propelled. machinery to land cultivation. Clan MacKenzie intend to hold an old fashioned Scotch gathering at West-field on July 1st. There will be Scotch

"Of course, in Jtah it is true there are some peculiar complications existing as a result of the practice of polygamy among the Mormons, until a recent date. But this practice is not indulged in, and will soon be only a watter of history. There were some very good old men in the Bible, too, who used to be polygamists, and we shouldn't be too critical in our estimate of the Mormons for doing the same thing once." Sir William said that he had been told there would be a very consider-able migration from Utah to the Canadian Northwest during the present year. The available water for irriga-tion purposes in the Salt Lake valley was about all required by the present other place had become unavoidable. The Mormons who had already settled in Alberta had sent such good reports of the fertility of the soil in that district and also of the freedom which they enjoyed under Canadian laws, that the emigrants would mostly move to the Canadian country. This migration, also, was favored by the head of the Mornion church in Utah. THEY PAID UP. Reverting to the question of the Gal-icians as colonists, Sir William cited as on example of their desirability as citizens the fact that they had paid the C. P. R. in full for their transportation to their homes in the west. When the Galicians were taken out there the railway company had got pay for their transport only as far as Winnipeg, and had carried them the rest of the jour-ncy west on credit.

nry west on credit. 'We had little hopes of ever getting what they owed us," said Sir William, "but they have paid up every cent. Don't you think people whose sense of honesty is so usen that they will pay a railroad corporation a debt that they could easily have got out of a good class of colonists to get hold of?" When they are completely "assimil-ated" they may get over that, suggested, the reporter.

"I am atraid they will,' admitted Sir William, with a smile, "We can hard-ly hope to keep them up to the pres-ent standard long, I suppose."

DIGBY, N.S., June 11 .- Considerable excitement bas been created here over the discovery yesterday afternoon of the corpse of a female infant, which was found by Samuel Hutchings and John Dunn, partially buried in Robinscr's woods, about one hundred yards from Jackson's railway crossing. On the 24th of May last Hutchings, whilst passing the spot, had noticed the corner of a box jutting out above some freshly turned earth, but being hurried, did not investigate, and the incident slipped his mind. Yesterday in passing the place with Durn, it occurred to him, and the two mer. dug up the box, which proved to contain the body of a young child. They brought it to town and reported the matter to Coroner Daley, who summered a jury the same even ing. The body was wrapped in a piece of cloth and hastily enclosed in a small box. Dr. Morse held a post mortem examination in Jenner's drug ner's store in the presence of the coroner's jury, which had met there. It was

CRISIS IN FRANCE. The Chamber Goes Against the Cabinet

And as a Result the Ministry Has Resigned.

Much Surmise as to the Composition of the New Cabinet-M. Raymond Poincare Among Those Named for the Premiership.

PARIS, June 12 .- The chamber of deputies was crowded today and there was considerable suppressed excitement when M. Vaillant (socialist) interpellated the government on yesterday's "police outrages" at the pavilion d'Armonville and demanded to know the instructions the government gave the police in regard to the socialists, who, he said, defended the republic against the reactionaries. (Ap plause.)

M. Dupuy replied, saying he realized yesteriay was a fete day for all republicans. He added there had been few incidents and that the only instructions to the police were to maintain order. The government, he con-tinued, had ordered an inquiry into the responsibility for the affairs at the pavilion d'Armonville and the Rue Montmatre. At the same time, the premier pointed out, the government acknowledged the services of the police, adding that the maintenance of the government was impossible without public order. (Applause from the centre and protests from the leftists.) The chamber adopted by a vote of 321 to 171 the order of the day proposed by M. Ruau (radical), which the premier refused to accept. The ministers forthwith left the house amid intense excitement. PARIS, June 12.— The cabinet has esigned.

The successive votes in the chamber of deputies today clearly demonstrated the existence of a majority, in-cluding members of all parties who were letermined to "id themselves of the premiership of M. Dupuy. The interpellation of M. Vaillant was simply a cleverly selected pretext to conceal the real cause of the approaching crisis.

Socialists and radicals alike are dissatisfied with what they have considered the contradictory attitudes of the Dupuy cabinet in the Dreyfus affair. The moderates hope to secure the return of M. Meline to power. The revolutionaries, nationalists and antisemites hope, in their opposition to M. Dupuy to find a more tolerant man in his successor. This is the exclanation of toda,"'s voting, resulting in the downfall of the cabinet. The supporters of the government only numbered 173, recruited for the most part from the ranks of the moderate radicals. All the royalists and many radicals lemand that responsibility must be brought home to Gen. DeBoisdeferre and Gen. Mercier. At the same time those taking this view have been all along persuaded that M. Dupuy ascertained that the child had been ould never proceed to that extreme. Accordingly they seized upon M. Vaillant's interpellation as a means of expressing the defiance and distrust of the Dupuy ministry. Certainly there is no denying the fact that the question of the final settlement of the Dreyfus case hangs like a dead weight on the situation tonight and will prove a great obstacle in the settlement of the crisis.

The interview between M. Dupuy and his colleagues and President Lou-bet was brief but cordial. The president expressed his thanks for the support he had received from the re-tiring ministers, adding that he would lways remember their services grate-

M. Dupuy was agreeably surprised at M. Loubett's cordiality. There are already many surprises as to the composition of the new cabinet, but it is pointed out that as the Dupuy ministry did not fall on a questio involving the political complexion of the ministry, it is difficult to see on what basis the new cabinet will be settled. Of the statesmen already named in parliamentary circles in connection with the premiership of the new cabinet, those most frequently mentioned ere M. Raymond Poincare, deputy of Meuse, who was minister of public instruction at the time of the Dreyfus courtmartial, and who testified before the court of cassation that M. Dupuy had recently said to him: "I think we were the victims of a big hoax in 1894;" M. Delcasse, minister of foreign affairs in the retiring cabinet; M. Brisson, who was M. Dupuy's immediate predecessor in the premiership he has just resigned, and Senator Pierre Waldeck-Rousseau, who was minister of the interior on the cabinet of Gambetta in 1881, and again in the

The quiet country settlement of Eldon was greatly excited over an unknown party who entered the house of an elderly woman and attempted a criminal assault. The wretch threw a pillow over her mouth to smother her screams, and tied her hands with a handkerchief, but by her heroici struggles he was thwarted in his purpose, and she es-caped in her night clothes and barefooted to the nearest neighbor's. She was so far ex-hausted that a physician was summoned. There is no clue to the perpetrator of this act. The matter is in the hands of the sm-thorities.
