New Superior Chevrolet

Underwriters Endorse Chevrolet
Now Rated as Class "A" Insurance Risk. Less Than a Dozen Motor Cars—All much Higher in Price—Have Similar Insurance Rating, Which is the Lowest Possible.
The fundamentally sound construction of Chevrolet Superior Models has again been proved by the fact that the Underwriters have given to Chevrolet, Class "A" insurance rating. This means that the Chevrolet owner gets the lowest possible rate of insurance, which means a saving of from 30 to 40 per cent.

Less than a dozen other cars are rated as Class "A" insurance risks, and these cars are all much higher in price.
This new ruling is further evidence of the attention to detail which our engineers have given to the production of the Chevrolet car, and which is reflected in the increasing popularity of Chevrolet. The Chevrolet car is the most economical transportation unit for the public. It will take you where you wish to go, comfortably, and at lower cost per mile than any other car.

Chevrolet owners save in initial and upkeep cost, and they also save in cost of insuring their cars.
Orders for Chevrolet are taxing factory production schedules. A shortage on Chevrolet cars is threatened as the season advances.
Get in touch with the nearest Chevrolet dealer at once and ask for a demonstration.

DISTRICT AND GENERAL

Cattle shipments from Montreal are gaining.

Thirty valuable dogs have been poisoned in Chatham within the past month.

West Lorne assessment for 1923 shows an increase over last year.
The population is 818.

James A. Campbell, American steel man, warns of a slowdown in the business boom, and advises workers to save their money.

For swearing and cursing and wanting to fight on a Sunday evening four young men of Bothwell were taken to Chatham and fined $16 and costs.

Five prominent farmers of Yarmouth township paid fines of $10 each and costs for permitting their cattle to run at large on the public highways.

Lloyd Morrison, aged 35, son of Robert Morrison, a prominent farmer living four miles north of Bridgen, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver.

Henry Hall, of Highgate, died suddenly a few days ago, in his 82nd year. He came from England when 16 years old and has been living at Highgate for 35 years.

A Jersey City man was sent to jail for six months for refusing to accept a cheque for $1,050 under the workmen's compensation laws, while he asked for $10 weekly for life.

Nathan D. McPhedrain, aged 16 years, son of Mrs. Flora McPhedrain and the late Duncan D. McPhedrain, died at the family residence in Dutton on Friday, after an illness of two months.

Two pioneer women of Rodney passed away last week—Mary Lamont, widow of the late Alexander Lamont, in her 96th year, and Rachel
A. McLaugh, wife of William Haines, in her 72nd year.

A desire to hear automobiles too thick in the middle of a busy street in Chicago, commanding all traffic to stop, cost Mrs. Matilda Bell, a widow, $10 in court.

The death occurred in St. Joseph's Hospital, London, Friday evening, of Wm. Robinson, of Lobo, formerly of West Lorne, aged 59 years. Deceased contracted blood poisoning and was ill but a few days.

The W. M. S. of the London Conference has approved of the suggestion of the board to make next year's subject, $4000, so that a school may be erected in Japan in honor of Miss Craig, a missionary.

A Coney Island baker died from injuries suffered when he was drawn into a dough mixing machine in his shop. In the excitement of watching a blacksmith release the body with a sledge-hammer, a woman fell dead of heart disease.

While local businessmen took advantage of the holiday and closed their stores Thursday, approximately 15,000 Canadians in Windsor, Walkerville, Sandwich and Ford went across the river and spent their money in Detroit shops.

Sixty farm hands were sent out from the London branch of the department of agriculture recently, but
R. A. Finn, district representative, states in the evening the number could be placed on farms of Middlesex.
The wages paid range from $30 to $35 a month, according to experience and term of agreement.

Will Canada be able to get along without the Chinese laundry and the Chinese restaurant? Apparently Canada will have to learn to do so.
Under the new regulations only Chinese merchants and students are to be admitted, and it is not likely that either will be allowed to take in washing or serve meals.

Miss Martha Avery, who conducted a military business on Talbot street, London, was found dead there on Wednesday night, death being due to a convulsion, and she had probably been dead since Saturday. For some time before going into business she was head milliner for R. J. Young & Co. For the past year she had been living retired. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Montgomery, of Toronto, and Mrs. Wm. McCutcheon, of Glencoe.

Another clever crook is working in Ontario and merchants are asked to be on their guard against his operations. In Napanee this man recently entered several stores, claiming to be a representative of the National Cash Register Company, sent to inspect the registers. After making the examination of the register he reported everything satisfactory and left, but when the cash was made up at night a shortage of from $10 to $20 was found by some merchants.

Participating in the budget debate
in the House of Commons, Hugh C.
McKillop, member for West Elgin, spoke in behalf of the bean producers of the country and the discrepancy in the duty on beans imported from the United States and those exported to that country from Canada, insisting that the situation as it now stands is discouraging the industry in Canada, and resulting in a marked decrease in production. No self-respecting government, he declared, should allow such a condition to continue.

Dandelions in bloom. Look not upon the wine when it is yellow.

be had at the office ready wrapped for mailing to friends at a distance.

CAPTURED IN CALIFORNIA

Sydney Murrell, Alleged Melbourne
Murderer, Again in the Toils

Sydney Murrell, one of the notorious Murrell brothers, charged with the murder of Russell Campbell at Melbourne in April of 1921, and who escaped from Middlesex county jail a few days before they were to have been tried, has been captured in Susanville, Lassen county, California, and the necessary steps are being taken to have him brought back to London for trial.

According to the information received, Sydney Murrell was arrested by California police on a charge of burglary, and the officers had his finger-prints taken and sent to Ottawa.

The murder of which, with his brother, he stands accused, was committed while the two Murrells, a man known as "Fat," and a fourth, "Slim Williams," were attempting to rob
the Melbourne branch of the Home Bank. The telephone operator sent out an alarm, and Russell Campbell rushed with a number of others to the scene. When Campbell attempted to close with the Murrells one of them shot him through the heart.

But the people captured three of the robbers—the Murrells and Williams —and tied them to telegraph poles.
The man known as "Fat" was pursued, but he made his escape in a swamp and has not since been seen.
He is said to have had a part in the escape of the Murrells, who sawed their way to liberty through a dozen bars of steel, and no one in the jail heard anything. As a result of the escape the Ontario Government dismissed practically the entire jail staff.

Previous to the shooting at Melbourne, the Murrell gang terrorized the London district, and one night stole an express cash box containing £1,000, as it was about to be loaded on a G. T. R. train at the city depot.
The crime was committed with hundreds of people standing around, the gunmen coolly warning everybody to keep quiet.

"Slim" Williams is now in Kingston, where he was sent for a long term for robbery, but he will now have to stand trial with Sydney Murrell for murder.

TRAINING TRACK FOR GLENCOE

The Mosa & Ekfrid Agricultural Society are preparing to erect training stables on their grounds here, for the purpose of making their well-known race course a training track to develop some of the numerous young blood horses in this part of South-western Ontario.

A meeting of villagers was held to arrange for the streets to be lighted with hydro. It is considered that three lights on Union street (now
the county road), two on four on Queen street (provincial highway),
two on George street and one or two
on Victoria street will give sufficient light for that part of the village situating in Carleton township. Arrangements have not been completed for that portion situated in Ekfrid township. It is expected that men will soon be at work and that the village,
which is said to be the darkest place
on earth on a dark night, especially after a rain, and people from the country step out of their cars into a pool of water, will soon be lighted,
thanks to a few of our enterprising
men.

MELBOURNE A BUSY PLACE

Highway Being Widened—Streets to be Lighted by Hydro

Melbourne, May 25.—Provincial highway men are busy widening the road, about eight teams and twenty men being employed in placing a switch at the M.C.R. depot, so that there will be sufficient space on the track for the trainloads of supplies that are arriving for the construction of the new road.

A meeting of villagers was held to arrange for the streets to be lighted
with hydro. It is considered that
three lights on Union street (now
the county road), two on four on Queen street (provincial highway),
two on George street and one or two
on Victoria street will give sufficient
light for that part of the village situating in Carleton township. Arrangements have not been completed for
that portion situated in Ekfrid township. It is expected that men will soon be at work and that the village,
which is said to be the darkest place
on earth on a dark night, especially
after a rain, and people from the country step out of their cars into a
pool of water, will soon be lighted,
thanks to a few of our enterprising
men.

ADVISES NEW YORK GIRLS

Should Not Marry Until They Can Keep Husbands

Girls should not marry until they are able to support their husbands,
United States Senator Woodbridge N.
Ferris, of Michigan, advised the girls in the graduating class of the Packard Commercial School at New York, speaking at the commencement exercises.

"You have all," he said, "seen your mothers beg for money from your fathers to buy anything they want from a safety pin to a gown. If you have first learned to support yourself and your husband, you will never need to begin. You can just remind your husbands that you can at any time go out and earn your own living and he will get down on his knees and urge you to remain in the house."

THE POLITICAL MILLENNIUM

In North Middlesex the Grits will be expected to dance to the tune of the Tories, if in the west riding the Tories will only be good enough to dance to the fiddle of the Grits. The Jig will be "Down with the U.F.O."
and a great love feast is anticipated, with the millennium reached and the lion and the lamb lying down together. Honours, all!

The time was when the office sought the man, but now women are after both.

STOCK JUDGING AT APPIN

Competition for Junior Farmers Held on Victoria Day

On Thursday C. W. Buchanan and R. A. Finn conducted a judging competition for the junior farmers of Elgin and Middlesex at Appin. Three kinds of live stock were judged:
Hereford calves, at A. E. Perry's; Holsteins, at T. B. Irwin's; bacon
hogs, at W. Rankin's; W. R. Reek, of the experimental farm, Ridgeway, judged the hogs; D. Brown, of Shed-den, the beef cattle, and Mr. Alexander, of Ottawa, the dairy cattle.

A silver cup was donated by the live stock breeders of Elgin county to the county winning the highest number of points, this to be competed for three times, the ten highest men to constitute the team from each county. Forty-nine took part in the competition, there being about an equal number from each county.
The score was as follows: Elgin,
2,350; Middlesex, 2,348.

In the afternoon a baseball game
was held between the two teams, Middlesex winning without much difficulty.

L. Comfort, of Elgin county, scored 271 points in judging and therefore won the silver cup donated by Wm.
Hollingshead, of Dutton. Alex. Turner was high man in sports and won the medal presented by the Molsons Bank. Prizes were also given to the high men in each class of live stock.

THE LAST ELECTION

In view of the pending provincial election the following official returns for West Middlesex in the contest of 1919 will be of interest:

|            | U.F.O. | Con.  |
|------------|--------|-------|
| Carleton   | 1,550  | 350   |
| Delaware   | 467    | 153   |
| Ekfrid     | 379    | 215   |
| Lobo       | 937    | 185   |
| Mosa       | 626    | 185   |
| Glencoe    | 117    | 250   |
| Newbury    | 76     | 67    |
| Wardsville | 66     | 46    |
|            | 4,418  | 1,441 |

ON THE TENNIS COURTS

Tennis is getting strong in Glencoe this season, with a club membership of about fifty. In the finals of the first local tournament, finished on Victoria Day, Evelyn McLaughlin and Ed. Mayhew were first, and Eleanor Sutherland and Chester Bechill second. In another local tournament on the same day Margaret Morrison and Arnold Aldred were the winners against Alma Watts and Leslie Hicks in the finals.

FAREWELL GATHERING

On Friday evening, May 25, their friends to the number of about sixty met at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph Reyercraft at Cameron, Euphemis township, to spend a few hours with them before their leaving for their new home in Alvinston. The early part of the evening was spent in a nicely arranged program, with A. P.
Morrison as chairman. An instrumental duet was given by Mrs. Douglas Dobbyn and Mrs. Thos. Moore-house; solos by Robert Morrison; speeches by Rev. Mr. Monteith, Neil Leitch and Neil Graham; reading by Mrs. D. Dobbyn and an instrumental number by Miss Nellie Holt. An address to Mr. and Mrs. Reyercraft was read by Mrs. Hugh McCallum, and Mr. Morrison and Mr. Graham presented them with a beautiful oak library table and writing set as a mark of esteem from their friends and neighbors.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Reyercraft will be very much missed in the community.
Mrs. Reyercraft taught the Bible class in the Cameron Sunday School ever since the school was established, and Mr. Reyercraft was secretary for a number of years, for the splendid Lunch was served by the ladies, and the gathering dispersed with many kindly wishes for Mr. and Mrs.
Reyercraft.

VICTORIA DAY AT NEWBURY

Attractive Program of Sports, Etc.,
Scores Big Success

Newbury, May 27.—Newbury's 24th of May celebration was a huge success. The races and jumping contests were keenly contested; the boys boxing in barrels and leapfrog race caused much laughter and amusement. It was a sad day for the young men, as none of the ladies entered the matrimonial race.

PERSONNEL OF NEW BRITISH CABINET UNDER PREMIER STANLEY BALDWIN

A despatch from London says:—The new Administration was completed on Friday night, and is in readiness to meet Parliament, which reassembles on Monday.

The official list of the Cabinet and other officials shows the substitution of Lord Robert Cecil as Lord Privy Seal for Andrew Bonar Law, who had held this portfolio, in addition to the Premiership, and the promotion of Mr. Bonar Law's Secretary, John C. C. Davidson, to a place in the Government, as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. There have also been a few changes in minor offices of the Government, but otherwise the men guiding the country's destinies are the same as those who had this task in hand before Mr. Bonar Law tendered his resignation.

The new ministry is as follows:—

Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury, Leader in the House of Commons and Chancellor of the Exchequer, Stanley Baldwin.

Lord Privy Seal, Lord Robert Cecil.

Lord President of the Council, the Marquis of Salisbury.

Lord High Chancellor, Viscount Cave.

Secretary for Home Affairs, Rt. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman.

Secretary for Foreign Affairs and Leader of the House of Lords, the Marquis of Curzon.

Secretary for the Colonies, the Duke of Devonshire.

Secretary of State for War, the Earl of Derby.

Secretary of State for India, Viscount Peel.

Secretary of State for Air, Rt. Hon. Sir Samuel Hoare.

First Lord of the Admiralty, Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery.

President of the Board of Trade, Sir Philip Lloyd Greame.

President of the Board of Health, Neville Chamberlain.

President of the Board of Agriculture, Rt. Hon. Sir Robert A. Sanders.

Secretary for Scotland, Viscount Novar.

President of the Board of Education, Rt. Hon. E. F. L. Wood.

Minister of Labor, Rt. Hon. Sir Montague Barlow.

Financial Secretary of the Treasury, Sir William Joynson-Hicks.

The foregoing constitute the Cabinet. Other members of the Government are as follows:—

Minister of Pensions, Rt. Hon. Major G. C. Tryon.

Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, John Colin Campbell-Davidson.

First Commissioner of Works, Rt. Hon. Sir John Baird.

Attorney-General, Rt. Hon. Sir Douglas Hogg.

Solicitor-General, Sir T. W. H. Inskip.

Paymaster-General, Major Archibald Boyd Carpenter.

Lord Advocate for Scotland, William Watson.

Solicitor-General for Scotland, F. O. Thomson.

BRITAIN'S NEW PREMIER

Stanley Baldwin was selected in preference to Lord Curzon because he is a member of the lower house. Although a Harrow and Cambridge man, he is also an industrialist and heads many metal-working plants, including one in Toronto. He is fifty-six years of age and formerly served under Lloyd George.

LONDON BANK ROBBER AT LAST RECAPTURED

Thumb-prints betray Alleged Murderer Who Cut Call Bars.

A despatch from London, Ont., says:—After a search of more than a year and a half, the police net has finally caught Sydney Murrell, who, with his brother William, and a man known as "Slim" Williams, are charged with the murder of Russell Campbell, a garage proprietor, at Melbourne, Ont., in the spring of 1921. Sydney Murrell was caught at Susanville, Lassen County, California. He had been apprehended on a charge of burglary, and the officers there had received a circular from the chief of police of London, offering a reward for the capture of the two alleged murderers. The prisoner's finger prints were sent to Ottawa, and there he was positively identified.

Sydney Murrell, with his brother, William, and "Slim" Williams, were captured by the people of Melbourne, after the murder, which occurred when the three men and another named "Fat" tried to rob the branch of the Home Bank there. "Fat" escaped and has not since been seen, but the Murrells and Williams were brought to London and placed in Middlesex County jail. A few days before the date of their trial, the Murrells escaped, by cutting the cell bars with a saw and made a complete get-away. So glaring was the act that the Ontario Government held an investigation and dismissed practically the entire jail staff for incompetency.

Previous to the shooting at Melbourne, the Murrell gang terrorized the district, and one night stole an express cash box containing $1,000, as it was about to be loaded on a G. T. R. train at the depot there. The crime was committed with hundreds of people standing around, the gunmen coolly warning everybody to keep quiet.

"Slim" Williams is now in Kingston, where he was sent for a long term, on a charge of robbery, but he will now have to stand trial with Sydney Murrell for murder.

CANADA'S APRIL EXPORTS SHOW INCREASE

United States Still in Lead as Largest Customer of Dominion.

A despatch from Ottawa says:—Canada's total exports (Canadian produce) in April, 1923, were valued at $53,642,251, of which $25,944,831 went to the United States, and $13,607,856 to the United Kingdom. This is an increase in the total of more than $20,000,000 over exports of Canadian produce last April, the figures for that month being $31,917,500, of which $15,498,908 went to the United States and $7,626,035 to the United Kingdom.

Exports of foreign produce from Canada last month totalled $885,825 as against $734,541 in 1922. For the twelve months ending April, 1923, total exports of Canadian produce were valued at $953,176,194 as against $728,877,445 in the previous twelve months. Foreign produce exported in the same period of 1922-23 was valued at $13,795,678 as against $18,626,895 in the previous twelve months.

Imports for consumption during the month of April last, were valued at $68,181,320 and for the twelve months ending April, 1923, at $822,950,909. For the month of April last imports were valued at $47,695,454, and for the twelve months ending April, 1923, at $583,938,939.

Imports from the United Kingdom last month were valued at $11,648,372, as against $7,743,886 in April last. Imports from the United States last month totalled $46,927,152, as against $32,869,246. For the twelve months ending April, 1923, imports from the United Kingdom were valued at $111,358,842, and from the United States at $507,268,462.

FIRST LABORATORY IN CANADA TO WAGE WAR ON EUROPEAN CORN-BORER

St. Thomas Selected as Site of Plant for Breeding Parasites—Millions to be Sent Against Pest Which is a Menace to Cornfields, Especially in South-Western Ontario.

St. Thomas, May 27.—As a means of assisting in the control of the European corn-borer, a laboratory for the breeding of parasites that have been discovered by the United States entomologists in Europe has been established in this city, with A. B. Baird of the Dominion Entomological Department in charge, and H. G. Dyer, a graduate of the University of Toronto, Assistant Superintendent.

The laboratory is the first of the kind in Canada, and is located here on account of Elgin being the centre of the infested area. It will be operated similarly to the parasite laboratories in the United States, and a consignment of parasites from the Washington Agricultural Department is being sent here. A party of entomologists under the direction of Arthur Finnamore of the Dominion Department, have been in the district for several days collecting large quantities of borers for experimental purposes. If the parasite to be bred here proves effective in subjugating the borer, as expected, millions of them will be liberated from the laboratory to prey on the pest that threatened the extinction of the corn industry in Ontario. Experiments made with the parasite in Massachusetts, which is the centre of the United States infested territory, are reported to have been very successful.

Natural Resources Bulletin

The Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa says:—

In a survey last season to establish the boundary between Ontario and Manitoba, much information of a general character regarding the topography and natural resources of the District of Patricia was secured. This information indicates that a large portion of the district is naturally timbered country. The same geological formations that have proven a valuable asset in both the country to the south and east and in the District to the west are to be found in Patricia. Waterways capable of being harnessed into immense developments are known to occur. The entire district is filled with lakes, rivers, and topographical features that are not even suggested on present maps.

Silver Discovery Breaks Up Empire Day Holiday

Dawson, Y.T., May 27.—The Empire Day holiday was broken up on Thursday when it was announced that a new silver lode had been discovered at Happy Creek, forty miles south of Dawson. The news broke at midnight and an old-time stampede was staged. There was a wild race from the dance hall and a scramble for launches, canoes and small boats. The lode is reported to have been found by Jack Laskie, an Indian, and James Robinson.

Duchess of York Suffering from Whooping Cough

London, May 27.—The Duchess of York is suffering from whooping cough. The attack is mild and it is not considered necessary to issue bulletins at present. She must, however, remain quiet for the next three weeks. The Duke and Duchess returned a week ago from their honeymoon at Glamis Castle and went on to Frogmore, near Windsor, where they will remain until the White Lodge, Richmond, is ready for them.

TWO MINERS PERISH IN HOLLINGER SHAFT

Blown to Atoms While Carrying Cases of Dynamite from Powder House.

Timmins, Ont., May 27.—A fatal explosion occurred at the Hollinger Mine about one o'clock this morning, causing the death of two men, Michael O'Neill and John Ackles. O'Neill was forty-seven years of age, coming from Perth, Ontario, and had had fifteen years' experience in handling explosives, while Ackles was also an experienced miner. He was 63 years old, and was born in Nova Scotia. The accident occurred on the 550-foot level of number eleven shaft, in the direction of the McIntyre Mine.

The two men had obtained some cases of dynamite from the powder house and were on their way back to the workings when the explosion took place, killing them, demolishing the truck, and wrecking the air line and electric light cables. The six-inch pipe which conveys the compressed air was split for one hundred feet in each direction from the accident, and two men in a cross-cut, less than 700 feet away, were temporarily stunned by the concussion. All that was left of O'Neill and Ackles weighed less than twenty pounds. The former's watch and mine number tag were found on the spot after the accident.

Heads German Secret Army.

Monument at Sault Ste. Marie to First White Bear

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 27.—The Department of Railways and Canals has authorized the erection on the grounds adjoining the ship canal here of a monument to the memory of Etienne Brule and his companion, Grenville, who were the first white men to visit the Indian village of Pawling, the site of the present Sault Ste. Marie, and to look on Lake Superior.

French Stamps Bear the Head of Pasteur

Paris, May 27.—From to-day on, the head of Louis Pasteur goes on all French stamps. Instead of the figure of a woman, sowing a field. Writers interpret the change as an indication that the twentieth century prefers realities to allegories.

Beware of being conquered by love of comfort.

Moose Eat Hay in Barn at the Sault

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 27.—At 11 o'clock Friday night, just as the Thomas family, Pine street, were going to bed, they heard a racket in their barn. Upon investigating, they found two big moose calmly eating hay. The moose were not disturbed, and about 10 o'clock Saturday morning Miss Alice Thomas, who was the first to notice the moose, saw them again in the barn eating hay. To-day the moose are rambling quietly around the woods this side of the new agricultural grounds. They seem to be very hungry, and it is thought that was the reason for the hay lunch.

Labor Conditions in U.S. Not as Represented

Kingston, May 27.—Twenty Kingston young men who were enticed to go to Marsena, N.Y., to work in the aluminum plant are back again and content to remain in Canada. They claim they found conditions not as represented.

For fifty cents an hour they worked in a blast furnace in eight-hour shifts, but could not stand the terrific heat. Their money was held back three weeks, and board was found to be two dollars a week more than advertised.

Forty Canadians in all left the plant, and the plant manager endeavored to have them all arrested for not living up to their contracts, as he had paid their head-tax.

More than 5,000,000 bushels of grain have been shipped from Edmonton over the westward route to Vancouver so far this season, according to the Dominion Grain Inspector. This total is 2,225,000 bushels in excess of shipments for the preceding year.

INDIANS SELL TOTEM POLES AT REVIVALS

Dispose of Painted, Carved Poles Which They Consider Sign of Heathen State.

A despatch from Ottawa says:—Religious revivals among the Indians are held partly responsible for the disappearance of totem poles from their villages in Canada. When the question of the rapid disappearance of these poles arose at the annual meeting of the Canadian Historical Association here, on receipt of a letter from H. I. Smith that more totem poles were being offered for sale in a British Columbia village, C. M. Bebeau explained the reason for their removal from the Indian villages.

Although the painted carved poles now had no connection with religion the Indians, when they had a religious revival, thought they should get rid of what they considered a sign of their heathen state. Therefore, after they had enjoyed the thrill of a revival they wanted to sell their totem poles. Moreover, substantial sums were offered and the market was getting better with their scarcity.

The association deplored this and passed a resolution supporting the Dominion Parks branch in its plan to preserve the few remaining Indian villages. Two totem pole villages had disappeared since 1917.

LOAN TO AUSTRIA VIRTUALLY ARRANGED

League of Nations Fixes Total of International Loan at $135,000,000.

A despatch from London says:—Arrangements for the issue of the International Loan to Austria are now virtually completed, the London financial editor of the Manchester Guardian says.

The amount, fixed by the League of Nations, according to the Guardian's editor, is about $135,000,000. Of this amount, about $50,000,000 has already been floated in short term notes, which will be offered for conversion into the long term issue. This leaves about $105,000,000 yet to be raised.

It has been decided to raise the entire amount in one operation. Thirty million dollars, five million dollars more than J. P. Morgan and Co. have agreed to dispose of in the United States, will be raised, and this amount may be even larger in case some of the smaller nations fail to deliver their quota.

France is expected to furnish two million dollars, while Switzerland is counted on for between one and two millions and Sweden for about three millions.

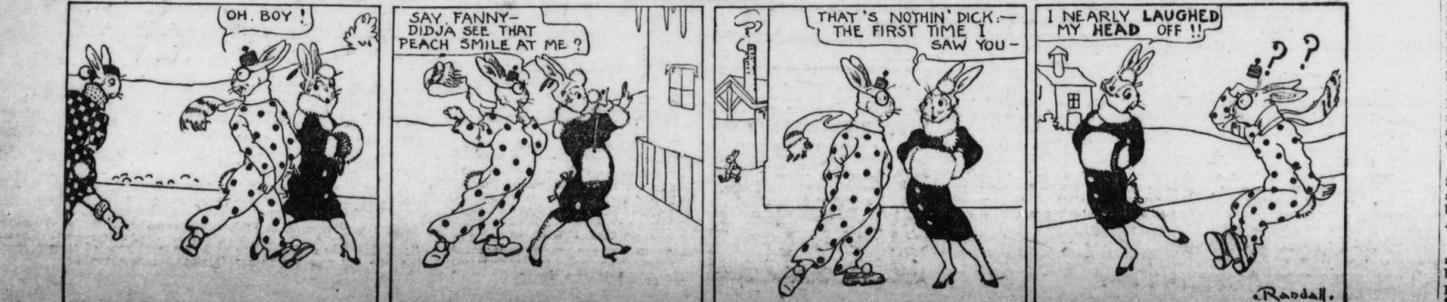

Austria herself is expected to produce thirteen millions, and it is hoped that Spain will take a share and join the list of guaranteeing states. The British part of the loan will probably be issued the second week in June, and likely carry 7 1/2 per cent. interest, which is the maximum Austria is permitted to pay under the League financing plan.

France Views Ruhr Situation With Concern

A despatch from Paris says:—The French Foreign Office spoke more gravely on Thursday of the Ruhr situation than at any time in the last five months. It is evident that a wholesale rising of the population is feared. It is earnestly hoped here that the killings will be confined to Communists, and the police, and that French police may not be involved, but none the less, it has been decided to send heavy reinforcements at once into the Ruhr, probably one division, while Poincare will now encourage the formation of the local German police after having previously disbanded them.

At the Calgary spring show 236 Shorthorn bulls were sold for an average price of $106; 24 Herefords brought an average of $131.73, and 23 Aberdeen Angus, $135 each.

The official opening of the 105,000-acre irrigation project of the Lehigh-Northern district will take place in June. Water is now being turned into the ditches.

BUILDING BOOM IN GRAIN ELEVATORS

COPE WITH DEMAND FOR STORAGE SPACE.

Last Two Crop Seasons Were Difficult Ones for Canada's Grain Terminals.

The year 1923 is witnessing an extraordinary amount of new grain elevator construction in Canada, extensions undertaken in an endeavor to better cope with the unusual and unanticipated demands for storage space which have featured the last two crop seasons. With the completion of these new buildings and extensions to existing elevators, under way at the present time or projected for the year, the total storage capacity of the Dominion grain elevators by the time the 1923 crop is ready for market should be something like 250,000,000 bushels, as against 214,279,964 bushels when the last census was taken in 1921.

By the passing recently of an Order-in-Council by the Federal Legislature sanction was formally given to the construction of a new elevator at Tarte Pier by the Montreal Harbor Commissioners. The elevator will have an ultimate capacity of ten million bushels and will be built in units of half a million bushels capacity each, the first of which, to cost $2,347,000, is being commenced immediately. The elevator will be one of the most modern fireproof structures of its kind in the world, the entire plant being designed in accordance with recently developed principles for minimizing the hazard of dust explosion. There will be four travelling marine towers for unloading from lake boats and four unloading points from railway cars. Five berths will be provided for loading ocean steamers, each berth having facilities for loading 30,000 bushels of grain per hour.

Twin Ports Extension.
New additions to the storage accommodation of the Twin Ports of Port William and Port Arthur in 1922 added nearly seven million bushels to their capacity, and between the marketing of the crops of 1921 and 1922 the storage capacity of the two cities rose from 51,465,000 bushels to 58,292,000, giving them a storage space exceeding any other port in the world, a position held for years by either Minneapolis, Chicago, or St. Paul. This tremendous space has, nevertheless, proved entirely inadequate to the vast volume of traffic there, and other buildings in process of erection, or contemplated for the summer will bring the grain storage capacity of the Twin Ports up to 61,000,000 bushels, giving them a wide lead over all other grain-exporting ports.

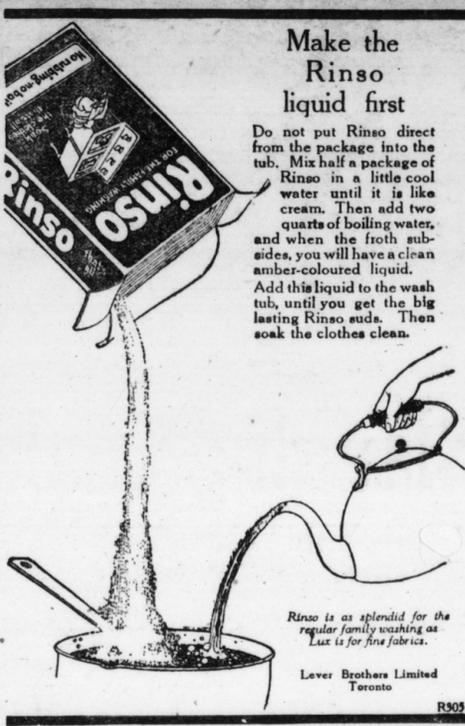

The most significant grain elevator construction is taking place this summer, and developments of this kind are frequently announced that it is a difficult matter to keep record of them or apprise in anything like an adequate manner what additional storage will be made this year.

Phenomenal Vancouver Development.
The Federal Government recently made a loan of $5,000,000 to the Board of Harbor Commissioners of the Port of Vancouver to increase the capacity of the local elevator by 500,000 bushels, making a total capacity of 1,750,000 bushels. It is stated that the plans of the Harbor Board involve the construction of two more elevators each with greater capacity than the present Government elevator, whilst several private companies have announced their intentions of erecting structures this summer. In the early days of March the Port of Vancouver achieved its year's objective by exporting 15,000,000 bushels of grain, the mark set for the 1922 crop, and it is expected that the port's total shipments will reach 20,000,000 bushels before the close of the season. Authorities state that within a short time Vancouver will be shipping from 100,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels of grain per year, as storage space alone has so far hampered the traffic of the port and large orders from the Orient and other places have been refused in consequence.

The last two crop seasons were difficult ones for Canada with grain fooding terminals and ports to an extent it had been anticipated would not be reached for years. The most strenuous efforts have been made to meet the new requirements of grain storage capacity at all points, and by the time the 1923 crop is ready for marketing a considerable amelioration of the conditions prevailing in 1922 will be apparent.

A special survey will undertake to sound the Deep River Reach of the Ottawa River in Canada. In several places in the space of twenty-three miles five thousand feet of towboat line has failed to find bottom. Lake Superior, the deepest of the great inland seas, attains a depth of about a thousand feet.

About 800,000 Armenians were massacred in Anstolia in 1916 and 1917 by the Turks.

Make the Rinso liquid first

Do not put Rinso direct from the package into the tub. Mix half a package of Rinso in a little cool water until it is like cream. Then add two quarts of boiling water, and when the froth subsides, you will have a clean amber-colored liquid. Add this liquid to the wash tub, until you get the big lasting Rinso suds. Then soak the clothes clean.

Rinso is as splendid for the regular family washing as Lux is for fine fabrics.

Surnames and Their Origin

GOWER
Racial Origin—Welsh.
Source—A place name.
Welsh family names are not always borne by those of Welsh blood, though it is a fairly safe assumption that where a Welsh name is found there also you will find at least a portion of Welsh blood.
It was quite possible, however, in the period of family name formation that a Norman or a Saxon Englishman, having settled in some section of Wales, would naturally find himself tagged with a surname indicative of a Welsh place name, inasmuch as the place names all about him would be Welsh. And it is true that an exceptionally large number of English have settled in Wales.
The family name of Gower, therefore, is one of those which might be borne by Englishmen as well as those of pure Welsh extraction.
The name of Gower is a place in Glamorganshire, and according to the Welsh spelling it is not Gower but "Gwyr," though the pronunciation is about the same. The meaning of the name is an inclosed, a round or an encircled place. In this instance the place is virtually encircled by the sea and certain rivers and streams.

ARGYLE
Racial Origin—Scottish.
Source—A locality.
You will have no difficulty whatever in guessing the source of this family name if you are at all familiar with the geography of the British Isles, for you will recognize it as an extensive shire on the west coast of Scotland.
If you bear the family name, the chances are in favor of your ancestry on the paternal side tracing back through the male line of Gaelic origin, for the name of Argyle is simply the modern form of "Earra Ghaidheal," which means the land of the Western Gael, and which is referred to by Grant as "the breeding place of the Gael."
The family name, however, while Scottish in the sense that it is the name of an ancient Scottish shire, is English in its method of formation. For the Gaels of Scotland, like those of Ireland, nearly always formed their family names from given names or from clan names, and such names as this, when found among them, indicate the presence of English influence.

THANKFUL MOTHERS

Thousands of mothers throughout Canada—many of them your neighbors—speak with thankfulness concerning the use of Baby's Own Tablets. Once they have used the Tablets for their little ones they would use nothing else. The Tablets are an absolutely safe medicine for even the youngest baby, being guaranteed by a government analyst to contain neither opiates nor narcotics or other harmful drugs. Concerning them Mrs. David McKobb, Divide, Sask., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets and have found them so satisfactory I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Warned by Their Dreams.

The late Lord Dufferin dreamed one night that he was in a hearse on its way to the cemetery. The features of the driver were impressed on his memory when he awoke. A day or two later he was on the point of entering a lift at an hotel, when he recognized the lift attendant as the driver of the hearse he had seen in his dream.
He stepped back and the lift attendant without him. As it neared the top something broke. It crashed to the bottom, killing everyone in it.
Lord Roberts recorded a remarkable dream warning. In October, 1853, his father, to whom he was acting as a D. C., at Peshawar, had issued invitations for a dance.
Two days before it was to take place he was silent and despondent during breakfast, and eventually told his son he had had an unpleasant dream, which has visited him several times before, and had always been followed by the death of a near relative.
As the day wore on his depression grew and he wanted to put off the dance. His son dissuaded him, but that night the dream returned and the dance was postponed. "The next morning," wrote Lord Roberts, "the post brought news of the sudden death at Lahore of the half-sister with whom I had stayed on my way to Peshawar."
One night in November, 1850, Tennyson dreamt that Prince Albert, the Prince Consort, came to his bedside and kissed him, whereupon he remarked to himself in his sleep: "Very kind, but very German!"
Next morning came Queen Victoria's letter offering him the position of Poet Laureate, an offer prompted, as he discovered, by Prince Albert's high opinion of "In Memoriam."

For more than a hundred years the Chinese people have drunk no milk because a Chinese empress who was tender-hearted and thought it a mean trick to deprive calves of their nourishment issued an edict against drinking milk. The Chinese have now begun to use it again, but it will be a long time before there are cows enough in China to supply milk for all the people.
Better really be than seem to be. Better for the foot to slip and not the tongue.

HAVE YOU ANY OF THESE SYMPTOMS?

If You Have, You Are In Need of a Tonic Medicine.

Are you pale and weak, easily tired and out of breath on slight exertion? Are you nervous? Is your sleep disturbed? Do you wake up in the morning feeling as tired as when you went to bed? Is your appetite poor, your digestion weak, and do you have pains after eating? If you have any of these symptoms you need a tonic, and in the realm of medicine there is no better tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which enrich the blood, restore shattered nerves and bring the glow of health to pale cheeks. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is shown by the case of Mr. Horace Cuphill, Woodward's Cove, N.B., who says:—"The first indication that my general health was not good was a shortness of breath after the least exertion. Then my appetite began to fail, and after eating it seemed as if there was a lump in my stomach. I grew so weak that I could not walk a hundred yards without resting. Then I was taken with a numbness all over my body and was in a sad plight. I was under a doctor's care, but as I was not getting better, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The first few boxes did not seem to help me, but my wife asked me to continue the use, and I got four boxes more. Before these were gone I could eat a fair meal, the numbness was leaving me, and I was feeling much better in every way. I took the pills for a while longer, and felt that I was again a well man. I still take the pills occasionally, but have had no return of the old trouble."
You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Child Asks.

"Where has yesterday gone?" (Hark to the prattler!) Yesterday, my child, Has gone into our memories—or hearts; Sometimes we would forget . . . but It lives still And we are made of joys and griefs and hopes Of yesterdays.

"Why is to-morrow?" (Listen to the child!) To-morrow, Like a clean sheet of paper, is ours to write on, And we record, when it is given us, What yesterday has taught. If we make mistakes— And we all make mistakes—or if we waste Our paper with our silly blots or scribbles, Another sheet is given us to write on: The day-after-to-morrow.

Yesterday was today, my child; to-day We make the memories which will be yesterday; And soch to-morrow will be today, And we shall have—and everyone will have— One more clean sheet to write a record on.

—Robert Withington.

Save Migrating Birds.

A Dutch ornithologist has hit upon the simple plan of having perches placed under the shutters to save migrating birds from being killed by dashing themselves against the lenses of the great lanterns of lighthouses, when attracted and confused by the glare. Perches for thirty thousand birds have been set up, and at Brander's Light on the island of Terschelling twenty thousand birds have been seen perching on them.

There is no more inconceivable folly than this continued riot of expenditure on battleships at a time when great masses of humanity are dying of starvation.—Herbert Hoover.

MRS. YOUNG GAINS THIRTY-FOUR LBS.

Declares Tanlac Restored Her When Stomach Trouble Had Almost Wrecked Health.

"I weighed only a hundred and fourteen pounds, my face was sallow and sunken and I was thin as a rail. But since taking Tanlac I weigh one hundred and forty-eight, have the rosy cheeks of a school girl, and enjoy good health for the first time in fifteen years." This remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Bella Young, 88 Cathcart St., Hamilton, Ont.

"The last year of my sickness I was near a nervous breakdown, and my appetite was so poor even the odor of food sometimes nauseated me. Headaches, pains in my stomach and back nearly set me wild and I would walk the floor for hours. I got so weak I could hardly stoop over to lace my shoes, and my housework was a burden.

"The Tanlac treatment gave me a wonderful appetite, built me up till friends wondered at my great change, and I always feel strong and well. I will never cease to praise Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 87 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

FACE BROKE OUT WITH PIMPLES

Hard, Large and Red. Cuticura Healed.

"My face broke out with pimples that were hard, large and red. They feasted and scaled over and itched and burned causing me to scratch them. I tried several different remedies but they did not help any. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some and after using them about a month I was completely healed." ### Pussy's Safety.

Four-year-old Bobby was stroking his cat before the fireplace in perfect content. The cat, also happy, began to purr loudly. Bobby gazed at her askance for a while, then suddenly seized her by the tail and dragged her roughly away from the hearth. His mother interposed:
"You must not hurt your kitty, Bobby."
"I'm not," said Bobby, protestingly, "but I've got to get her away from the fire. She's beginning to boil."

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Branchton, Ont.—"When I wrote to you for help my action was mostly prompted by curiosity. I wondered if I, too, would benefit by your medicine. It was the most profitable action I have ever taken, I heartily assure you, for through its results I am relieved of most of my sufferings. I have taken six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the "Great War" period I worked on munitions for two years, and, in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing pelvic inflammation from which I have suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctored for several years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines."—Mrs. GOLDWIN MISENER, Branchton, Ont.

Here and There

Panama canal tolls for April amounted to $1,783,987.

About $2,200,000 is to be spent on the construction of roads and bridges in the province of British Columbia this year.

The Customs and Excise revenue for April amounted to $20,500,000, an increase of $5,000,000 over the receipts of April of last year.

Emigrants numbering 15,000 left Scotland for Canada during the first four months of the year, according to consular estimates in Glasgow.

Canadian flour has at last been placed on the Panama market. One boat has just loaded the first consignment of any size, 1,000 barrels being taken.

Seventy-five per cent. of the copper produced in Canada in 1922 was the output of British Columbia mines. The Canadian production for the year was 43,321,402 pounds, of which British Columbia accounted for 32,432,521 pounds.

The famous Chateau Frontenac husky dog team, remembered by visitors during last winter's sports season, is being perpetuated. One of the dogs has just given birth to three pups, and if the youngsters turn out to be like their parents the Chateau Frontenac team is likely to continue winning dog derbies.

Fishing licenses in the Maritime Provinces have been reduced. The special fishery regulations for Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island have been amended to provide that in many instances where the license has been more than a dollar it will now be one dollar.

No limit will be set to the help to be offered to new settlers in the agricultural sections of the province of Quebec, according to Premier Taschereau. The latest government provision to pay colonists at the rate of $4.00 per acre for land cleared on their colonization lots since 1920. $7,000,000 have been voted for provincial colonization.

The decision of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to scrap agreements of sale with 30,000 Canadian farmers in the west and enter into new contracts with them, extending over 34 years on an amortization basis, will affect agreements of a value of approximately $100,000,000 and relieve many farmers of heavy, pressing debts.

CHEERIO CLUB

On Friday evening, May 25th, the Cheerio Club assembled at the home of John McEachern, Moss. Percy McLean ably acted as chairman, and the meeting opened with the club song and well Miss Florence McEachern rendered an instrumental. A debate, "Resolved that man will do more for style than comfort," was ably upheld on the affirmative side by Gladys Bitchin and Susie Gardner, and on the negative by Sid Hartley and Wm. Brown. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative. Sid Hartley sang few songs, after which games were taken part in. A dainty lunch was served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Reycraft brothers.

OBITUARY

In the passing away of Mrs. A. G. McEwan on Saturday evening, May 19, the shadow of sorrow was cast over the entire community. Practically the whole of the life that was cut off in the full bloom of womanhood had been spent within a short radius of her birthplace. In her years of health and strength a large portion of her time was devoted to the service of community and church life. Particularly for her services as organist and choir leader her name will be long remembered by and associated with Tall's Corners.

Smitten with a malady which she knew was incurable, she consistently maintained a bright and cheery disposition which could not be anything but a source of inspiration to all with whom she came in contact. Truly, in the words of the familiar hymn, "Her hope was built on nothing less than Jesus and His righteousness."

These dancing janes get a lot of publicity, but you don't see many lines in the papers devoted to the woman who walks forty-two miles a day looking after four or five children and doing the housework.

Hard and soft corns both yield to Holloway's Corn Remover, which is entirely safe to use and certain and satisfactory in its action.

It Will Prevent Ulcerated Throat—At the first symptoms of sore throat, which presages ulceration and inflammation, take a spoonful of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Add a little sugar to it to make it palatable. It will allay the irritation and prevent the ulceration and swelling that are so painful. Those who were periodically subject to quinsy have thus made themselves immune to attack.

The absent-minded man surveyed himself in the hair brush instead of the mirror. "Gracious, but I need a shave," he mused.

Attractive Scenes in Blossom Time

JAPAN AND NOVA SCOTIA FRUIT ORCHARDS VIA

EVANGELINE IN ANNAPOLIS VALLEY ORCHARD

LAKE CHUZENJI—JAPAN'S LAKE LOUISE

JAPANESE BEAUTIES—CHERRY BLOSSOMS

JAPAN has so distinctly put herself "on the map" that the well-travelled person is now compelled to put the "Land of the Rising Sun" into his life's itinerary. Improved trade relations and growing interest in things belonging to the other side of the globe, make a closer study of the countries there of prime importance.

Transportation, trans-continental and trans-Pacific, has become so highly developed that it is as easy to get to Japan as to Italy. Ninety-two hours from Montreal to Vancouver, trans-Canada, and the fastest time across the Pacific—a trifle more than nine days—puts the traveller into Yokohama, the chief port of the Land of Nippon.

Here the sights are unusual. Jinnickasas jostle one another in their competition to get the few cents charge for running the traveller in and out among the narrow streets amid crowds of strangely garbed people, curious shops, street hawkers, endless numbers of brilliant kimono-clad children, and carts drawn by men and beasts.

Adding to the natural beauty of Japan is the cultivation. Japanese are the best agriculturists and gardeners in the world. Tomes have been written about Mount Fuji and the mountains, lakes and streams of the country. Lake Chuzenji is the Lake Louise of Japan and Mount Fuji, its Mount Rainier, although not so high. The cherry blossoms are not so wonderful as those of this country—if one remembers the hundred miles of orchards in Nova Scotia's Evangeline Land and Annapolis Valley.

Those who are contemplating an early summer holiday might well select Evangeline's Land, Nova Scotia, for a trip. For miles and miles along the Dominion Atlantic Railway the land is one mass of apple blossoms, cherry blossoms, too, dot the scene, making a sight that is wonderful and refreshing. The bulk of the Nova Scotia apple crop goes to Great Britain, but great quantities of British Columbia apples are exported to the Orient.

The cherry trees in Japan are raised for their flowers and not for their fruit, as, strangely enough, they bear no fruit.

Although the voyage from Vancouver to Yokohama is longer than the four days at sea from the Eastern seaboard via the St. Lawrence River Route to Europe, the Canadian Pacific Express steamers, largest and fastest on the Pacific, are so thoroughly comfortable that the time slips away quickly. All of these steamers are so equipped that most all of the amusements to be had on land are also to be found on board.

April marks the beginning of the best season in Japan and even further down the Chinese coast to Manila.

Toronto Running Water!

When and Where You Want It

On any farm of average size at least one hour a day—36½ ten hour working days a year—are spent in the irksome, wearying task of pumping water. 36½ days which one of my Toronto Windmills will give you for profitable work, rest or recreation—besides supplying running water wherever you want it.

The one bothersome task, that of oiling the windmill in all kinds of weather, is overcome in the Toronto Self-Oiler, which requires fresh oil only "once a year." Friction and wear are practically abolished. Toronto windmills, too, can be made absolutely self-regulating in operation.

The "Toronto" Tower will stand for a lifetime because it is the heaviest, strongest and best-braced one built for any windmill. Let me explain why I believe this is one of the biggest conveniences you can have.

A SAFE CAR TO BUY

Backed by $82,000,000 of resources

There is no element of chance in the purchase of a Studebaker Light-Six. Its satisfaction is backed by a concern with $82,000,000 of resources and a seventy-one year old reputation for high quality and fair dealing.

Since the Light-Six was introduced, more than 100,000 have been sold. From the beginning, its remarkable performance, sturdy construction and unusual economy have been widely recognized. But today the Light-Six represents an even finer motor car than at its inception, for it bears the improvements that Studebaker's large engineering staff has been ever alert to adopt with a view toward making a good product better.

Studebaker's leadership in six-cylinder sales is further assurance of merit. Sales in 1922 totaled 110,249 cars valued at more than $130,000,000. One buyer may make a mistake in the selection of a motor car, but not one hundred and ten thousand!

In fairness to yourself, you should see the Studebaker Light-Six before you buy any car.

The provincial election campaign opened in West Middlesex on Tuesday evening when a public meeting in the interests of Mr. Lethbridge, U.F.O. candidate, was held in Glencoe. Hon. "DREAM STREET" COMING
Its Charm and Poetry Have Never Been Pictured Before

"Dream Street," the new D. W. Griffith picture, coming to Glencoe Saturday night, is a charming little voyage through a land that is distinctly Griffithland.

It has the most charming and poetic landscapes of any of the countries into which he has wandered.

With the actors you seem to roam through the diamond dusk of strange old alleys, with their dirt and their perfumes and the old life that goes jangling through the shadows.

With the queer sardonic Chinaman you tread stealthily stairways that seem to creak with memories and confessions, or, with Gypsy Fair, the adorable little dancer, you trip measures in the sunshine of broad walks and little courtyards.

Sometimes you are upon the decks with the masts and spars of the shipping black against the starlit sky. Again, you are in-fanny, scuffy, little dressing-rooms which seem to have the age and traditions of the real.

Still again, you are in ancient Egypt of the Pharaohs with the pyramids standing in grim and reeking silence at your back. Then again there comes into your purview, daintily drawing-rooms that ring with the laughter of children; and then old court rooms sodden with sorrows and the memories of sorrows.

To the Women Electors of Ontario:

Inasmuch as women are now in the majority as electors of Ontario, to us comes a great opportunity and upon us devolves a corresponding responsibility. In the impending provincial election the great moral issue touching the welfare of our province and the home life of our people is the election of candidates who will stand by and enforce the Ontario Temperance Act. This is an issue appealing strongly to women, and we ask that steps be taken by the women of each constituency to ascertain which candidates, from their

Cause of Asthma. No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishing of asthmatic conditions. Dust from the street, from flowers, from grain and various other irritants may set up a trouble impossible to eradicate except through a sure preparation such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. ### A WEARY WILLIE PARTY.

A "Weary Willie" party, when the "sets" can be served from cans in true hobo fashion, spells much fun and little work. Each guest must very properly be asked to bring a "hand-out." The invitations, written on roughly torn scraps of brown wrapping paper, might read:

The Weary Willies and the Limping James
Will hit the ties, unless it rains;
Saturday afternoon, while the sun is up,
Bring a can of beans and your own tin cup.
(Meeting place and hour.)

All will need to bring a cup, as the cups will answer for plates as well as a means of getting a drink. Only a few, however, will be asked to bring beans; others will bring bread, weiners, cookies, or fruit. A hobo feed is never an elaborate affair, but the hosts must see that a can opener, a bread knife, drinking water, and coffee appear at the proper time.

Have a red bandanna handkerchief at the meeting place for each person. Before giving them out divide them into two piles. In the folds of each bandanna going to the boys, slip a piece of paper upon which is written the name of some food. Upon the slips in the girls' handkerchiefs write the names of foods usually associated with those given to the boys. Such combinations might be used as: Ham-eggs, bread-butter, salt-pepper, pork-beans, crackers-cheese, and cream-sugar. The boy whose slip bears the word "cream" will of course look for "sugar."

When the boys have found their slips and located their partners, they will find sticks to make "Weary Willie" packages for themselves and their partners.

The march should be under the leadership of some boy who has the gift of making the company want to do anything he suggests. A cowbell might be rung by the leader to gain attention. There is only one thing that is likely to mar the jolly good-fellowship of a tramp through the woods, and that is the wandering off of a few who are especially good friends. You can avoid this by having them march in couples and changing partners whenever the leader orders. When changing, each boy drops back with the girl just behind, the last boy moving up to the front of the line. Most of the time they will be allowed to set their own pace, but just as the conversation begins to lag they will be told to flap their arms and crow four times like a rooster, or to do-trot, walk zig-zag, toed, or backwards. The whole line must do this at the same time. If there are any strangers in the crowd, they will not seem like strangers long.

Upon reaching the camping place, seat the crowd in a circle, and give each girl some word suggestive of the art of hobbing, such as blind baggage, back-dog spread, bull dog, hand-out, wood pile, straw pile, or tramp. Give the boys the same names, thus a boy and a girl will each have the words, "blind baggage," and so on.

The ring leader begins a story of hobo life; the wilder and more exciting the tale the better. Whenever he mentions one of the words given out, the boy and girl having that word must leave the circle and scout for a couple of pieces of firewood. The

"I can't say the years have detracted from you, Chess. The English officer type is a little more pronounced, that's all," remarked Culver, glancing admiringly at the lean firmness of the face before him, tanned to a deep brown, and the eyes, which life had made a little keener, a little more penetrating, but with the philosopher's twinkle in their depths. "You've done some nice girl an injustice, Chess. No doubt the British Government needed you, but my gods, man, why didn't you take a wife with you? You don't know what you've missed out of life." And Culver's glance rested on Irma's smiling face.

Reynold's lips lost their curve as his eyes followed his friend's but his tone was light as he made answer. "Your happiness was an incentive, old chap, but unfortunately Providence seldom duplicates women."

Irma laughed, while Culver replied good-humoredly: "That comes too glibly for one who claims he has had no practice."

Irma shook her head. "I'm afraid Mr. Reynold finds the path of bachelorhood too smooth and easy an one to turn off. He tells me he is going to leave us again almost immediately."

"You don't say? Where now, Chess?"

"I'm following in your footsteps this time, old man."

"What luck! Just where Irma and I are off to."

"Neil! Irma rose to her feet.

"Yes, dear; I made up my mind today while in Tung Yung. The old heathen cast the spell of the East over me."

"When are we to start?" Irma's voice trembled.

"That's for you to decide, dear. Say the word and we go to-morrow."

"Why that's jolly!" exclaimed Reynold. "What's to hinder us making the trip together? He tells me he is going to suit yours. The only important business I have over there is to see the boy."

"David, you mean? Has he recovered from the wound yet?"

"Not altogether, I fancy. Not that the young jackanapes complains to me, but a letter came from his aunt, Mrs. Ashton, yesterday, telling me that she says he is as restless as a seal in a desert."

"Poor boy!"

Irma's voice drew Reynold's gaze to her sharply. "By the way, Mrs. Ashton, how's Paul, the little shaver I left absorbing American life like an eel thrown into a new pond?"

Reynold listened interestedly, plainly delighted at the boy's achievements.

"Well, well! so I've lost my wagger after a dozen years, let alone twenty, and I'm mighty glad to hear of him. He has the same root after all. India opened my eyes in that respect. I look aghast at my old egotistical self. What a confounded, narrow-minded ass I was."

"Don't be too hard on yourself, Chess. It's a common failing."

"Yes, and a lot of people will have to expand mightily when they are in line with the boys when they come back from Europe."

Quietly Irma slipped away to supper-dinner. She stood for a moment at the open window in the hall. The sun was sinking in a bed of gold and crimson, and she smiled as her eyes followed one golden gleam into the far East.

CHAPTER VI.

For the tenth time in the past half hour Tu Hee had wandered to her window to see if the sun had succeeded in peeping out before going down for the day. But the big drops still pattered down. Dropping to the floor she rested her elbow on the cushioned window seat and contemplated the bushes and flowering trees drooping under their increasing burden. In the sight of the garden proved rather tantalizing, in view of the fact that his beauties were at present denied her. Her eyes, seeing readily for a diversion, incidentally lighted on one in the shape of an American magazine. Drawing the book to her she looked critically and a little wistfully at the foreign beauty smiling at her from the frontispiece.

"You are very pretty," confessed Tu Hee aloud. "No, that word is too insignificant for you. You are beautiful, far more beautiful than I could ever be." A sigh accompanied the last words. "And yet my nose is straight like yours; my lips curve the same; and there are three dimples in my face when I laugh instead of two. My eyes are blue too, and yet there is a big difference, Miss American Beauty; yes, a great big difference. You're white and I am yellow. And some of you white-skinned as nice as you look. The young white-skinned officer for example, and yet Lun warns me to be careful. I wonder why? But Lun didn't see the little light in his eyes that made them twinkle and soft. Chu Sing has lights in his too, but the more they shine the harder and more cruel they look. But what do men matter, except Uncle Wang? I'm a little idiot, as Miss American Beauty would say, for mooning in the rain."

"Tossing aside the magazine Tu Hee jumped to her feet, shook out her gown, which rippled in a silky mauve down to the tiny rose slippers, and darted from the room.

She paused at the head of the staircase, listening intently, but as only silence greeted her, she sped lightly to the ground floor, where she again paused. She proceeded cautiously now, and upon reaching the door of her uncle's study stood alert for any sound. Reassured that the handle of the heavy door and warily looked in. Swinging it to noiselessly she crept across the big room, where Wang Tu sat in an armchair reading. Smiling gleefully, Tu Hee clasped her hands over his eyes, at the same time ruffling his hair with her chin.

"It's the water spritz. She has me this time. I surrender!" cried the mandarin, lifting his hands and letting the book he had been reading slide to the floor.

"Let me see, what penalty shall I exact? You're a naughty uncle. You don't deserve ever to see your poor Autumn Glad—no Sadness, any more, letting her mope all alone in the rain."

"Please, please, good spritz, I couldn't live without my Autumn Gladness. Isn't there some other penalty you might exact?"

"I'm following in your footsteps this time, old man. Loosening one hand Tu Hee placed her gold nail shield against her lips contemplatively.

"One eye released, the prisoner blinked up at her.

"Oh, you're peeping! Just for that you shan't read another line to-day."

And capturing the book from the floor Tu Hee turned to her guardian's knee and rested her head contentedly against his shoulder.

Patting her hand, Wang Toy said regretfully: "My little girl grows lonely, only an old uncle around to play with."

"Without him around," corrected Tu Hee.

"A rich escaped Wang Toy.

Tu Hee sat bolt upright and peered anxiously into his face. "You sigh. You not happy. In one more second Tu Hee weep, Uncle Wang."

"No, no, child. I am unhappy only when I think of the time when the gods shall order me to join my ancestors."

Tu Hee threw an arm around his neck and pressed her forehead to his.

"One eye released, the prisoner blinked up at her.

"Oh, you're peeping! Just for that you shan't read another line to-day."

And capturing the book from the floor Tu Hee turned to her guardian's knee and rested her head contentedly against his shoulder.

Patting her hand, Wang Toy said regretfully: "My little girl grows lonely, only an old uncle around to play with."

"Without him around," corrected Tu Hee.

"A rich escaped Wang Toy.

Tu Hee sat bolt upright and peered anxiously into his face. "You sigh. You not happy. In one more second Tu Hee weep, Uncle Wang."

"No, no, child. I am unhappy only when I think of the time when the gods shall order me to join my ancestors."

Tu Hee threw an arm around his neck and pressed her forehead to his.

"I'm following in your footsteps this time, old man. Loosening one hand Tu Hee placed her gold nail shield against her lips contemplatively.

"One eye released, the prisoner blinked up at her.

Royal Marriage Raises Question of Age to Wed.

The Duke of York's marriage has stirred up a discussion as to what is the proper age for marrying, says a London despatch. Most critics think that the Duke, who is 27 and the Duchess who is 22, hit the ideal age. Others point out that any age is the right one provided you have a sufficiently bulky bank account.

The Bishop of Weildon and Dean of Durham advises young people not to marry until they can bring up a family, but he adds: "Yet early marriages are often safeguards against temptation and also motives for industry."

Coulson Kernahan, a well known writer, says a man should wait until he knows a girl long enough to know her well, adding: "Remember Heine's saying about the frogs that would have liked some water well enough but they thought twice before jumping into a well because they knew that once they were in they could not get out. Heine, of course, had forgotten about the divorce court, but to future divorcees I decline to give advice. They will get that, if they can afford it, from the lawyers."

The Rev. Dimsdale Young, a popular preacher, favors youthful marriages because "the divorce courts see less of people who marry early than of those who are supposed to be more prudent. Too many people mistake selfishness in this matter for prudence. They want a large income and an easy time."

Joseph Hocking, novelist, believes 22 for the man and 19 for the girl to be the ideal ages, provided the man can support his wife decently. "Most of the troubles of married life result from financial difficulty," he says, "and this arises generally because there has been no consideration of the financial question."

Camping Grounds for Motorists.

Preparations for the opening ceremony of the Banff-Windermere motor road over the Central Rockies are being rapidly advanced and it is expected that the new motor camping ground near Banff as well as the other camp grounds along the road will be ready by June 15 in good time for the opening on June 30. The Banff camp, situated near Mount Rundle, when completed will be one of the best equipped in the Dominion. It will be lighted by electricity and water from the Banff system will be piped to the grounds. Culinary, lavatory and telephone conveniences will be provided. A caretaker will be in charge throughout the season and the camp will be subject to inspection by the sanitary officer. In all there will be about 250 lots for campers.

An Airplane Newspaper.

It is reported that a newspaper is published aboard the London and Paris airplane that carries passengers between those two capitals. A complete printing plant is installed on the aircraft. Each day before the sailing the latest news of the world, political, financial and general, is rushed to the editor. During the flight news is sent out by wireless from London and Paris at regular intervals, so that the aerial editor is in instant touch with affairs. The news is prepared, set up, and the paper printed during the airplane's flight. The editions are delivered to the towns over which the airplane flies by means of parachutes. The aerial newspaper contains stock quotations, special features and news in general.

My Work.

I can do something others cannot do—Let me find that, and do that one thing well.

I've failed at many things I've tried. 'Tis true, Have come to grief more oft than I can tell.

Yet I am not prepared to own defeat. And say there's naught at which I may excel.

I hope and trust; and hope and faith are sweet!

Some day I'll find MY work—and do it well!

Nurses

The Toronto Hospital for Incurable Diseases, and the Allied Hospitals, New York City, are offering a three year course of training to young women, giving the required education, and desirous of becoming nurses. This hospital has adopted the eight-hour system. The pupils receive a monthly allowance and travelling expenses to and from New York. For further information apply to the Superintendent.

Refrigeration and Mining.

Refrigeration is a modern science that finds many uses. In mining it overcomes two great difficulties, the influx of water in porous formations and the heat of deep shafts. By freezing the surrounding earth, miners can carry their shafts through water-bearing strata, and by supplying themselves with cool air they can penetrate the earth to great depths.

Canada's Fur Catch Shows Big Increase

Furs constitute one of Canada's important resources and in the season of 1921-22 the value of furs marketed increased over the previous season by over $7,000,000. This information is given by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in a statement just issued from which also the following facts are taken:

The total value of pelts of fur-bearing animals taken in Canada during the season of 1921-22 was $17,377,834, an increase over the previous season of $7,226,240 or 71 per cent. The number of pelts of all kinds was 4,344,316, an increase of 47 per cent over 1920-21. These figures comprise pelts of animals taken by trappers and pelts of ranch-bred animals. Muskrat pelts increased by over one million in number and by over two million dollars in value. Beaver pelts increased from 164,656 valued at $2,636,474 in 1920-21 to 231,845 valued at $4,253,579 in 1921-22. According to value the principal kinds of pelts in 1921-22 were: muskrat, $4,687,818; beaver, $4,253,579; mink, $1,839,785; marten, $1,212,608; silver fox, $732,674; white fox, $1,619,377; red fox, $472,847; fisher, $424,063; Otter, $372,694; skunk, $1,104,040.

Average Prices Paid for pelts in the season 1921-22 were greater than those in the previous season. For example the average price of beaver was $15.35 as against $16.31; white fox, $39.70 as against $34.62; muskrat, $15.35 as against $12.24; otter, $27.26 as against $24.02; fisher, $74.65 as against $58.86; skunk, $2.34 as against $1.73; racoon, $3.68 as against $3.05; weaverine, $17.56 as against $13.90. One of the few decreases was silver fox, which brought $147.36 as against $151.99 the previous year.

The value of fur production by provinces in 1921-22 was as follows:

|                        |            |
|------------------------|------------|
| Prince Edward Island   | $ 448,788 |

The Web.

Slowly from point to point
Her web the spider weaves,
Hanging her filmy net,
Trembling, between two leaves.

A delicate, swinging trap,
Work of minutest care,

HELPING THE HELP PROBLEM.

Do you realize the great time-saving value of the motor-truck? A team of horses with an average load can hardly make more than five or six miles an hour on a fairly good road. Against this, the motor-truck will easily carry a larger load at a rate of from twelve to twenty miles an hour under similar conditions. Suppose, then, that a farmer has to haul milk to the railroad every morning, say a distance of twelve miles. If he uses a horse and wagon the trip will take him practically half a working day, and the services of the man who drives the team are lost during that long period. Besides, both man and horses may be badly needed for other work.

On the other hand, a motor-truck will make the round trip in a little over an hour, or two hours at the most, releasing both truck and driver for other duties.

But this saving of time, due to the increased speed of the motor-truck, has other advantages. It opens up new markets and enables the farmer at a distance, who owns a truck, to compete with the man who is nearer a particular market, for a horse can hardly haul a load more than twelve to fifteen miles and return the same day, whereas a motor-truck can easily do fifty miles during the same period. Besides, it costs more to haul farm products to shipping points by team and wagon than it does by motor-truck.

EXTRA POWER WHEN NEEDED.

An interesting example of the value of the motor-truck in an emergency came up on a farm near Yellow Springs. Two men loaded the truck with alfalfa as high as they could pitch. The load was two and a half tons. Hardly had the truck started for the road when it came upon a wagon-load of one and a half tons of alfalfa. The load had become mired in a soft spot, and the most strenuous efforts failed to extricate it. Finally the animals were unhitched and the wagon load of alfalfa was hitched behind the truck. The motor-truck, which had plenty of power, not only pulled the mired wagon out of the mud, but with the extra load in addition to its own, crossed the field and went on to the barn, nearly a mile away.

A motor-truck is intended, of course, for hauling. In an emergency, though, it can do other jobs. A farmer had sixty-six acres of alfalfa which had been badly tangled by storms. There was a shortage of horses, but the wheat had to be harvested. The temperature stood at 110 deg. F., making it impossible for even the few horses available to work more than an hour or two at a time.

However, a two-ton truck was hitched to a nine-foot binder and the wheat was cut in short order and without difficulty. Similarly, another farmer used motor-trucks last season for handling wheat in the field and by their help found no difficulty in keeping up with the thrasher, which was harvesting the twenty-five acres a day. During the summer season 1,000 bushels of wheat

POULTRY

Green feed, in some form, constitutes an essential part of any well balanced poultry ration, whether for young chicks, growing stock or adult birds.

The modern tendency is to give a somewhat narrow ration containing protein in a highly concentrated form. This is particularly true with regard to poultry kept in confinement and fed heavily for egg production, as are a large proportion of the birds on our Canadian farms during at least five months of the year. A liberal supply of green feed minimizes the dangers of this system by adding both bulk and variety to the ration, and at the same time replaces a certain quantity of grain.

Green feed is valuable, not only for its succulence, which makes it palatable to poultry, but also because it contains mineral matter, including nutritive constituents, necessary to sustain life, promote growth, and assure reproduction. Foremost among these constituents are the vitamins, the absence of which from any ration, whether for humans, animals or birds, will ultimately prove fatal.

Therefore it behooves every poultry keeper, whether backyarder, specialist or farmer, to make provision for an ample supply of green feed in some form, and in view of the shortness of spring growing season, and the late spring experienced this year, no time should be lost.

Green feed may be divided into two kinds, that intended for immediate consumption, and that which is to be held for winter use. Certain varieties, however, are grown for both purposes, this being particularly true of grasses and leguminous plants.

Among the green feeds which are to be used as soon as grown, rape holds first place by reason of its quick growth, palatability and value for cleaning and freshening the yards. The best variety is Dwarf Essex, and it should be sown broadcast. Under normal weather conditions it is ready were hauled eighteen miles every day. In the hauling of perishable produce such as fruit and vegetables, the time gained by the use of motor-trucks is an important factor.

TRAILER CUTS DOWN HAULING COSTS. The motor-truck trailer has shown itself to be a big helper. The trailer makes use of the reserve power of the engine. You know that the automobile or motor-truck engine must be powerful enough to enable the vehicle to climb steep grades or go through mud. On a road with fairly good surface and without excessive grades, however, this reserve power is seldom used and thus becomes available for drawing a trailer.

Just as a horse or locomotive can pull a much heavier load than it can carry, it has been found that a motor vehicle can not only carry the weight which it is designed to carry, but can in addition haul a trailer or semi-trailer bearing an equal or greater load; in other words, a truck-trailer combination can haul from two to three times what the truck, tractor or automobile could haul alone. Yet, despite the greater load capacity of the combination, the added expense of operating the motor vehicle is only about 25 per cent.

The use of trailers also saves time, for the trailer can be loaded or unloaded while the motor-truck is going on another trip, and by using three trailers, one loading while a second is unloading and the third is on the road with the truck, the loss of time is greatly reduced.

THREE TYPES OF TRAILERS.

There are three principal types of trailers: the two-wheel, the four-wheel and the semi-trailer, all of which are being used by farmers, the particular type selected depending upon the individual needs and preferences of the user. As with motor-trucks, certain manufacturers of trailers are specializing in trailers especially designed for farm work. Many of the best makes of trailers now on the market embody the most approved features of the motor-truck, and are able, without difficulty, to follow in the track of the towing vehicle without wobbling, oversteering or coming to grief when turning corners.

The following examples illustrate the varied uses to which the trailers are being put by farmers: farmer operating a wholesale milk route covering twenty-five miles a day with an automobile and trailer; a fruit grower hauling his entire peach crop to market with a light passenger car and a four-wheeled trailer, averaging sixty crates on each trip, the total weight of each load being thus more than 3,000 pounds; a farmer uses his light runabout with a two-wheel trailer for hauling cattle up to a ton in weight; Pacific coast farmers haul thousands of tons of hay every season by means of trucks and trailers; a wheat grower made use of several touring cars with four-wheel trailers for handling last season's crop, not only hauling the threshed wheat to the shipping point in this way, but likewise bringing the wheat across the fields to the threshing machine.—Donald McLeod Lay.

for grazing from five to six weeks after being sown. Alfalfa makes excellent green feed for growing stock, and when cured is valuable for winter feeding. It has the added advantage of being able to withstand prolonged drought. The favorite varieties are Grimm and Turkestan.

Mangels or semi-grass beams form the bulk of the green feed for winter use; they are easily harvested, keep well, and generally crop well. The Mammoth Long Red or Gate Post varieties are preferable, as they contain a higher percentage of dry matter. Mangels should not be fed immediately after being harvested, as when very fresh they might cause bowel troubles.

The Jerusalem Artichoke, and especially the Mammoth French White, deserves more attention from poultrymen. Extremely hardy and prolific, it can be grown almost anywhere and under any conditions. The green shoots form abundant shade and succulent feed for growing stock, the closeness of the foliage helps to choke out weeds, while the tubers keep well, are relished for winter feed for laying hens and early spring feed for little chicks.

Details regarding methods and time for planting all the above mentioned kinds of green feed will be found in bulletins 87 and 88 (second series) and pamphlet 23, which may be obtained free from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ont.

Better be right and poor than wrong and rich.

The gift to Canada of five breeding Shire horses, two stallions and three mares, by the Shire Horse Society of Great Britain, has been added to by Mrs. Stanton, of Derbyshire, England, who has contributed a two-year-old colt from her famous stud at Snelston, near Ashbourne. This colt is the son of one of the best bred mares in the Empire, and by a very famous sire—one time champion of the breed in the British Isles.

Early Sources of Nectar and Pollen.

The early sources of nectar and pollen are of great importance to the beekeeper, not from the standpoint of the surplus honey they may give, but because of the effect they have in stimulating the bees to heavy brood production and so providing a large force of worker bees in time for the harvest.

Most regions in Canada produce a fair supply of these early flowers, especially the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia. In the prairie provinces, however, these early sources are limited in many localities, and it becomes necessary to feed the bees in order to have them build up strong enough for the main flow.

The most important of the very early plants are the willows and maples; they grow abundantly in most parts of Canada and yield both pollen and nectar. There are many species of willow, and practically all of them are visited by honey bees. The pussy willow (Salix bicolor) is usually the first to bloom. Of the maples, the sugar or rock maple, box elder or swamp maple, red or soft maple, and the Norway maple are important. In British Columbia the large-leaf maple (Acer columbicum) is very important. Other plants that yield pollen at the same time are the alder, ash and elm.

A little later in the season the common dandelion and fruit bloom; apple, pear, plum, cherry and the wild fruits are very important, yielding both pollen and nectar, and in favorable seasons a good surplus may be obtained. In the prairie provinces many of the wild flowers contribute small supplies of nectar and some pollen. The bush fruits, currants, gooseberries and raspberries also furnish large amounts of nectar and, where wild raspberries grow abundantly large crops are obtained.

Caragana or Siberian pea tree is also a heavy yielder and is becoming very important in the prairie provinces where it is being grown to provide windbreaks. In Manitoba and Alberta a surplus is obtained from this plant.

Horse chestnut, hawthorn, barberry, dogwood, honeysuckle, buckthorn and wild mustard also yield small amounts of nectar and are important in the aggregate.

The first shipment of Canadian store cattle for the British market since the removal of the embargo was personally inspected at Montreal by the Dominion Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, the Deputy Minister, Dr. J. H. Gradiale, and other officers of the Department of Agriculture, as well as by several Members of Parliament. There were 427 animals in the shipment, mostly of the Shorthorn and Friesian types, and of good beef quality. The Minister stated his belief that the resumption after a period of 30 years, of store cattle shipments would lead to the gradual development of an important export trade.

Home Education

"The Child's First School is the Family"—Froebel.

Unspoiling the Spoiled Child—By Mary E. Underwood

"Joe is so awfully mischievous," his mother complained to me. "He simply takes the house apart. He meddles with the clock, every lock or screw, and we never know what terrible thing is going to happen next." To illustrate, she told me of an unpleasant experience which resulted because of Joe's mischievousness. One morning when he was alone in the room, he opened the telephone and loosened the wires.

A few hours afterward a neighbor hastily came to call for the doctor. The telephone was out of commission and no one present knew what to do. Joe was at school. At the supper table Joe's mother mentioned the incident. Joe calmly announced that he knew how to fix it. This he did. "And," concluded the mother, "I fixed Joe to help him remember not to meddle with the telephone again."

It was very plain that what this "spoiled child" needed was not punishment or suppression of his mechanical inclinations but a chance to make use of them. I stated to Joe's mother that if he were my boy I would see that he owned a good set of boy's tools and some good mechanical books. Joe's parents obtained the set for him and they proved to be exactly what he needed. He found great pleasure in using the tools and reading the books and before long Joe, instead of being an annoyance to everyone, became a very genuine source of pride to the household. He had a corner in the house which he called his "shop," whence emanated all kinds of original and ingenious mechanical toys.

The problem presented by the child who "cries violently until he gets what he wants" is a very common one. The child who has this habit is almost invariably a child who has learned from experience that crying hard and crying long enough is the most successful method of securing his ends. Sometimes this practice originates from what some parents claim are absolutely unavoidable circumstances; one instance being a sickly child whom the parents think should not be irritated, crossed or annoyed in any way. A child so treated quickly and naturally learns the great value to himself of showing irritation. This coddling in childhood usually develops a selfish, self-centered, self-seeking adult, who in the end pays a heavy penalty for it all by being generally disliked.

This use of crying as a business method is a comparatively simple variety of "spoiledness" to cure, if the child goes at it wholeheartedly, seeing to it that the child never gets anything by crying for it.

The child who maliciously teases animals does it perhaps because he has never been trained or taught to treat them kindly, or because he has seen those about him careless and unkind to animals. Little children are cruel without meaning to be cruel or knowing that they are cruel. Kindness and sympathy for animals can best be developed in children through actual personal experiences. Every little child should have a chance and should be required to care for some living animal. Little children are cruel through such practices can the finer human sympathies and instincts in the child be awakened and developed.

The desire of a child to tease others is often the direct result of the child's home environment. It is among the commonest of parents' sins to tease their little children. I do not need to suggest particulars here; most of us can supply them from our own experience. Wise and loving parents will realize that if their thoughtlessness and lack of judgment have resulted in spoiling their little children, they do not need to suggest particulars here; most of us can supply them from our own experience. Wise and loving parents will realize that if their thoughtlessness and lack of judgment have resulted in spoiling their little children, they do not need to suggest particulars here; most of us can supply them from our own experience.

The Ontario Long Course Schools

By L. STEVENSON, B.S.A., Secretary and Supervising Director, Department of Agriculture.

In Ontario, winter classes in agriculture and in domestic science are held by the Agricultural Representatives, and during the duration of the Agricultural Instruction Act, 1,000 farm boys have benefited. Out of these classes have grown the junior farmers' organizations, of which there are 104 within the province, with a membership of 2,815. These organizations are the basis of the pig clubs, calf clubs, and various competitions in crop production, all of which are of great practical value. The three-month courses in agriculture and domestic science now held at eight centres in the province are a similar development.

The Three Month Courses or Long Course Schools in Agriculture and Domestic Science, were organized in 1921-22 as an extension activity of the Agricultural Representatives Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, in four counties, Middlesex, Huron, Peel and Wentworth. The courses were very successful, and the various groups of progressive people making use of the Agricultural Representatives' services in those counties were very desirous that the schools be repeated in 1922-23. Four other counties, Simcoe, Leeds, Prince Edward, and Peterborough asked that the Three Month School service be extended to them. This made a total of eight counties benefiting by this form of extension work during the past winter.

The Agricultural Representative selected the location for the school in each county, arranged with the municipal authorities or others concerned for the use of buildings, grants for running expenses, equipment, prizes, and other minor essentials necessary to conduct a well organized school for rural youth.

The resident faculty at each point where a school was held consisted of the Agricultural Representative, the Assistant Representative, the Domestic Science assistant and the instructor in English and Mathematics. The travelling faculty, visiting all the schools for a definite period in accordance with a well-ordered plan, was made up of the best instructors available.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

HOME-MADE BIRD-BATHS OF CEMENT. A bird-bath of simplest construction, but which has been most enjoyed by the robins, blue jays, wrens, and other feathered denizens of my garden, is here described.

The cover of a large sized galvanized garbage can was used as a mold, after being carefully lined with green paper.

The cover was filled about three-fourths full with cement; then as the cement slowly hardened, it was drawn gently and constantly with a wooden paddle, back from the centre and toward the edge, until, when the cement finally "set," it reached up to the rim of the cover at the edge, and sloped very gently and gradually downward toward the deepest part in the centre. It was set upon a low mound of stones, about which gay red and yellow and white portulacas were planted.

The birds seem particularly to appreciate the bath's being set so conveniently low that it is easily within their reach as they hop about on the lawn, so that this spot in our garden is gay all summer long with bright-hued blossoms and happy feathered creatures.

A similar bird-bath was constructed by a neighbor, which, instead of being set low upon a tiny "rockery," was elevated upon a pedestal.

A cracked earthenware drain-pipe was used as the mold for this pedestal, the pipe being thoroughly greased inside before the cement was poured into it. After the cement had hardened, this mold was broken to pieces to set the pedestal free.—Harriet Joor.

TRY THESE NEW GAMES.

Here are some games that were played at a recent school fete: Nose and toe tag furnished much amusement. If the one who was "it" tagged a contestant who was not in manual connection with his nose and toes, the unfortunate player had to become "it."

Now then, look out! If you don't want to get caught, just grab your nose with one hand, and your foot with the other. If you can keep your balance and hop around on one foot, all well and good; but if you can not, you will fall down. But whatever you do, don't let go of your nose or toes, or you will be tagged.

Ostrich tag came next. In this game none of the performers could be tagged while they slung an arm under the crook of the leg and grabbed the nose. To be seen hopping around in that position reminds one very much of the ostrich; but it's fun, just try it.

Ankle tag was a game for the girls. Here the girls to be immune from "it" would make a lunge for each other's ankles. Of course there were some falls, but it only added to the hilarity of the children.

In playing turtle tag, if one kept his hands and feet from touching the ground, he couldn't be tagged. At first the boys tried to fly, but in a few moments they discovered it was easier to drop to the ground and hold their feet and hands high.

Snake and birds was played by the teachers and the children. The director of games told the youngsters that "the lovely teachers" would be the birds, which were to be caught within the circle by the snakes.

Then he called sixteen girls, and had them line up in fours. Each line of four, looking arms, formed a snake, whose business it was to kill a bird, without letting go of each other. When the head of the snake with its free arm caught hold of a bird, the rest of the snake quickly encircled it and the bird was pronounced dead and removed from the circle, while the snake went to the end of the line and the second snake was set free, and so on until all the birds were dead.

Horseback tag was the next game. Here to keep from being tagged, the performers had to straddle the backs of their fellow contestants.

The Flower Garden in Spring. To all lovers of flowers the garden in spring is a most enjoyable place; here one meets old friends among the spring flowering plants, which, perhaps, one has watched the development of for years. In many gardens, however, there is a dearth of spring flowers, but, as there are so many hardy desirable plants, this could easily be remedied if there is the desire to do so.

As soon as the snow is gone one may have the Snowdrop, Snowflake, Crocus, Chionodoxa, and Scilla among bulbs, soon to be followed by the Daffodils and Tulips. Hardy Primulas soon mingle with the bulbs as do the Iceland Poppy, Trillium, Trollius, Doronicum, Epimedium, and other early spring flowers; while close behind are the Columbinas, Bleeding Heart, Sweet Rocket and Irises, and many others.

As one looks at the garden as it now is, one can picture how it would be improved if, in another year, there were flowers where there are no flowers now; where yellow, red or white would add to the general effect; where a low-growing plant or a tall plant would improve the appearance of the border. As one is liable to forget these things after the spring has gone, a good plan is to write on a label or small piece of wood the kind of plant which is desired in each place where improvement can be made; then when the proper time for planting arrives, if such a plant is put there, it will be long before there will be a marked improvement in the garden in spring and this method can be followed with good results for the whole season.

Let all who love flowers, then, plan for improvement in the garden next spring; a little improvement each year would soon result in a great change and make the home grounds much more attractive.—W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist.

Hitherto eggs imported into Canada in less than ten-case lots have not been subjected to inspection, and by making small consignments, shippers were able to evade the regulations. The regulations have now been amended, and all shipments of eggs in the shell will henceforth be subject to inspection and marking at the port of entry.

"NOW BARABBAS WAS A ROBBER"

By Bruce Barton.

For quite a while I have maintained a little private financial record which I call my "Barabbas Account." It takes its name from a gentleman of ill fame concerning whom we have this very brief biographical note:

"Now Barabbas was a robber." In this account I record such sums as are taken from me during the year by gentlemen who have no moral right to them. For example, I employed a man to do certain work about my place in my absence. Later I discovered that he had imposed upon the trust I placed in him by overcharging me seven dollars. Five years ago this would have produced so much indignation inside me as to cause an appreciable lift in my blood pressure.

As it was, I merely wrote down the seven dollars in the Barabbas Account and crossed the name of that man off my list of friends. Perhaps I shall live two days longer as a result of having spared my blood pressure in this instance. And surely two extra sunrises are cheap at seven dollars.

A few days later a young man who claimed to be an intimate friend of one of my brothers came into the office with a sad tale of bad luck. I thought when I handed over the money that there was something a little queer in the story, but one can't refuse a friend to one's brother.

I have since discovered that the young man was an impostor, and so another little entry went into the Barabbas Account.

I would not convey the impression that I am an "easy mark." Being Scotch, I do not give up without a reasonable struggle. I am merely trying to make this point—that after you reach a certain point in middle life it's worth while to walk around personal rows instead of wading through them, and to buy peace of mind even if you have to pay for it.

This bit of philosophy came over me first when I was reading the Journals of Mr. Emerson. I ran across a paragraph in which he tells of a friend of his who was a frequent traveler in Europe.

This friend, in estimating the cost of one of his trips, always "added a couple of hundreds to the amount, to be cheated of, and gave myself no more uneasiness when I was overcharged here and there."

Emerson comments that as a wise rule for removing one of the irritating annoyances of life. And he quotes Madison's advice to Dr. Johnson, that one should raise fruit "enough to eat, enough to lay up, enough to be stolen, and enough to rot on the ground."

Such a rule would have seemed abhorrent, if not a bit immoral, to most of us in our younger days. Youth is very rigorous in defence of its rights and all righteous causes in general. There are no twilight zones in its philosophy, no shades of gray; white is white, and black is black; and offenders receive the judgment of the Goosey Gander who, meeting

An old man who would not say his prayers, Took him by the left leg and threw him down the stairs.

It is an evidence of age, I take it, when one is willing to admit that the list of causes for which he would engage in controversy has been reduced to a very few fundamentals.

But I am willing to confess that I have re-learned that period. I steer around all the bumps in the road that I can; and I have shock absorbers on the car, even though they do cost a little money.

So I have my Barabbas Book, and please myself by imagining that I am keeping down my blood pressure by refusing to grow indignant, and so buying sunsets at the other end of the path.

And I raise fruit—which in my case happens to take the form of cheques and currency—with the idea that I will eat some, and give some away and have some—just a little—stolen, without peevishness or regret.

Evening.

There is no sunset in the sky,
Upon the quiet water plays no breeze;
The tranquil stillness on the lake
Like misty soft is lost among the trees.

My dripping paddle makes no sound,
I glide along in quiet solitude.
The blending tones of gray and blue
In sky and mountains melt into my mood.

The darkened figure of a bird
Skims 'er the water near his black reflection.
But silent still are all the woods.
And sweet, indeed, is evening's perfection.

—Mary F. W. Fortier.

To clean curtains, put the curtains in a cloth bag and rub hard, or simply rub them in a clean soft cloth. The stems and dust will come off readily.

MELBOURNE

The W. M. S. of the Presbyterian church had a real treat Wednesday afternoon when over 40 gathered in the church to hear an address given by Miss McGregor, field secretary of the W. M. S. Miss McGregor spoke for about an hour and a half on the home mission work and the wonderful things that have been accomplished through the W. M. S. of the Presbyterian church. If any who heard her address were not in sympathy with mission work when going to church they certainly left with a very different impression, as the facts presented by the speaker were most convincing, and the results of the work most encouraging for every Christian worker to carry on the good work. At the close supper was served and a social time spent.

The teachers and officers of the Presbyterian and Methodist Sunday schools are preparing for the annual township Sunday school convention which will be held in the Methodist church here on June 7.

The members of the U.F.W.O. entertained the ladies of the village and community to a most interesting program, consisting of an address by Mrs. Alex. D. Brown and Mrs. Geo. Richardson, and an address by Mrs. Meek on the objects of the club, emphasizing that the main object is to promote a more social spirit in the community. During the past year the club sent $60 to the Armenian relief fund and gave $70 to the school board for the building of the new school. At the present time they are planning to erect an arch and gates at the cemetery as a memorial to the boys who gave their lives for their country. Mrs. A. Stevenson gave a number of selections, and at the close of the program the club served a lovely lunch, after which a vote of thanks was given by the guests.

About forty gathered at the home of Mrs. Annett in honour of her birthday on May 26th. A social time was spent on the lawn. Addresses were given by A. D. Brown and Mrs. Geo.
