Mr. Johnston hinted at evidence establishing a conspiracy, and to this end he will recall Ephraim Bathurst if the judge will decide in his favor the decision reserved last week. Mrs. (Canon) Richardson is another crown witness from whom, it is said, Mr. Johnston is expecting to get some important points for the defense. HAD ENOUGH OF THE DOCTORS. On the conclusion of the evidence given by Dr. E. C. Morris, of Delaware, the first witness called after the noon adjournment yesterday, Judge Mac-Mahon asked if there was much more dell answered that he had a number of

DR. TEASDALL. Dr. G. W. Teasdall, who has practiced his evidence was taken largely over the ground covered by previous medical witnesses. He thought the injuries could be caused by a number of blows. The injuries on Johnston sat down. Mr. Riddell arose the neck might have been caused in the trap-door or by lifting the body up and pitching it out on the ground.

To Mr. Johnston, witness said he believe the property of the pr lieved the long wound and the main fracture were not the result of the first blow. They were, however, one of the first four or five blows. If Herbert's story was correct witness would expect to find the injuries much more serious than existed. Witness would not believe Herbert's story as accounting for the injuries to the skull. Witness had had only one case involving fracture of the skull, and there was no post-mortem on that occasion. HIS LORDSHIP PROTESTS. On the calling of Dr. Hossack, of Luan, Judge MacMahon informed Riddell that "This must stop," referring to the flood of medical testimony which was being poured at his feet.

Mr. Riddell announced that Dr. Hossack and one other witness were all the medical men whom he intended to place upon the stand. DR. HOSSACK. Dr. Thomas Hossack, Lucan, said the wounds could either have been caused by blows or a fall. To Mr. Johnston witness said he had given considerable thought to the subject, but was in doubt as to the cause. DR. FERGUSON. Dr. John Ferguson, educated in Great Britain, and practicing in Toronto for twenty years, was the last witness called for the crown. Witness had been for years professor of practical anatomy and demonstrator of dissecting in Toronto Medical College.

Witness identified the envelopes given the Skull. Taking Dr. McNeil's statement as to the boggy portion on the him by High Constable McLoud. In top of the skull, witness would contwo were chips of wood, and in the sider it caused by an injury from corhim by High Constable McLoud. In With Dr. Anderson, of Toronto, witness had examined the chips and found mammalian blood on one, but could not determine if it was human blood or "In your opinion, what is the possibility of those injuries being caused by a fall?" was the question put by Mr. Riddell.

"It would be extremely improbable for an adjustment of points of impact struck by it. Witness could see no evito be so arranged by any chance as to dence in any of the wounds of the use come in contact with the head so as of the axe. ness. Witness said that the injuries might have been readily caused by a succession of separate blows or a conjunction of separate blows at the same time, provided the points of impact were so arranged The injuries could have been produced in the manner described by Herbert. The dome of the skull not being depressed, the first fracture would lessen the skull resistance to blows in some directions and increase its resiliency to blows in other directions. Having the main fracture, and a number of blows thereafter, the result would depend upon the force of the blows and the fixity of the object. Asked as to his reason for thinking the injuries not consistent with a fall, witness replied that the cuts on the right side and the fractures, the wound on the top of the head, and the boggy mass on top would all require separate points of contact to produce. With a fall, a fracture of the base of the skull

Mr. Riddell objected to the question, but his lordship allowed Mr. Johnston to press for a direct answer. Mr. Johnston asked if witness would agree with the three London doctors who performed the autopsy in their expression of opinion, that the injuries were quite compatible with a fall. "I differ to this extent," replied Dr. Ferguson, "that to my mind the probability is, of its being due to several blows rather than as a result of a fall -due to several separate impacts rather than as the result of a fall. His cross-examination finished, Mr.

DR. A. JUKES JOHNSON. The first witness called by the defense was Dr. Arthur Jukes Johnson, M.B., Toronto. The witness who is a graduate of both Toronto and Trinity Medical Colleges, Toronto, has practiced in that city for 30 years, and been coroner for 26 years. He had also occupied a chair in Trinity Medical College, and been pathologist at Toronto Seneral Hospital. Witness had also been surgeon for the Toronto Railway Company for twenty or more years. 'Have you had occasion to deal with fractures or falls for many years?" began Mr. Johnston. "I don't know how many with that company. Only since the electric railway came in have we had very many "Have you had a number of fractures of the skull since the electric railway was introduced in Toronto?"

"That would be fractures from a fall "Yes; from being struck by cars." Witness had heard all the evidence given by Herbert, and Dr. McNeil, and had read the evidence. Taking Herbert's account and comparing it with bert's account, and comparing it with the condition of the skull as found at the post-mortem, witness said the skull from the skull would be did not account for any of the blows de- found at the post-mortem. scribed by him on the pof the head.
There was nothing in the post-mortem in a general way," said witness, "will coincide with any condition found in a head." Taking the supposedly fatal ave, witness pointed out that owing to use of the back as a sledge, a considerable flange had developed on the side of the axe. This flange, he contended, would cut a scalp severely, and in all probability tend to break the skull metal instrument, as they generally the head was caused by a fall, in what

After the first blow the top of the head would be flattened in, and each succeeding blow would fall on a practically fiat "No; not from a fall," said the wit- surface, and the flange would leave its mark.

Askedasto the probability of the injuries having been caused by a fall from a height and alighting on several bricks, witness replied that it was extremely probable that this was the manner in which the injury occurred. Asked for his reasons, witness "The fracture of the skull is in exact relation with the line of force; that is, if the blow struck the side of the head, the force comes to the oppo site; if the blow is struck on top of head, the fracture runs downward and ends as these do, as the force is expended in the small opening of the If it had been on the side it would practically be sure to fracture across to this side of the skull; you must get a fracture in the line of

Witness did not think it possible to find the fractures corroborating in the least detail the story of Herbert. "They are not the kind of a fracture ever produced by a blow," said Dr. Johnson.

ance first seen by Sinker. There was no evidence given or blow described to explain the presence of the abrasions behind the ear. Witness said the abrasions might be eczema or the result of kidney trouble or indigestion.
Witness did not think them the result of either a blow or a fall, and attached no importance to them.

Referring to the boggy mass on the top of the head, witness said that the separation of the scalp was due to putrefaction, and not to a blow, as in the latter case blood would be found under the periosteum.

Witness said there is a difference between a body falling in life and death. In the former the muscles ar tense, in the latter limp. The injury to the head is not what is called a severe fracture. There might have been a movement of the body after the fall. With a man coming up the trap-door and struck three or four times, the fracture must have been produced by the first blow. With the number blows given, and Herbert's count of the wiping of witness would expect to find much blood around the hole. jured man would bleed from the nose and ears, as well as from the cuts and wounds. Witness could not understand the absence of blood around the hole, which have cropped up since their story was first made public in the preliminary examination learn examination examination. could not answer the question more retract, and so bleeds more freely. With the body limp, the arms would go up and the coat slip off, unless buttoned. man unconscious, the body would fall down the trap unless the arms were thrown back in a certain manner so as to hold up the body. With a blow from the flat side of an axe, the cut would be from within outward caused by the bone cutting through the flesh. Witness would not expect to find a beveled wound with contused edges unless given by the flange of the axe.

After giving witness to consider all the evidence, the injuries and the described condition of the finding of the body, Mr. Johnston asked: "Can you say with what that only is consistent? "I can say better what it is not consistent with. It is consistent with nothing in the evidence." "Could you account for it by a fall? "A fall will account for anything. To Mr. Riddell witness said that the boggy matter on the top of the head might be produced by a from the flat side of an axe. With the dome of the skull intact and the head struck with the flat of the axe, witness would not expect marks from the flange of the axe; but with the skull crushed in, he would expect to find it so. With a boggy mass on the top of the head, a separation of the scalp from the skull would be probably

With a person standing on a ladder and receiving a blow upon the side accounting for any blows on the top of the head sufficient to produce the fracture found, the body would go down at once through the hole. Two blows at the same point might prosider it caused by an injury from cortact with the ground. "A fall, speaking the fracture; but witness did not bear any such blows described. Witness believed both fracture and wound to have been produced by the same blow. Given the direction, the force and the application, wound and fracture would be produced together. With a contused wound, as here ex-isted, the bleeding of the severed artery might be of an oozing character. A man might stand on the ladder after being struck on the head, and after receiving the fracture he would not necessarily fall. Subsequent blows, however, would probably crush the skull like an egg shell.

"If the wound on the side of the head were cut by the blow from the side of the axe, the interior of the cut would be made first; if by the flange of the axe, the exterior would be made first." DR. JOHN CAVEN.

result of the blows given by Herbert." "What else?" asked Mr. Johnston.
"That covers the whole thing," was the answer. Witness said he would expect to find

THREE MEN LOST AT SEA. St. Johns, Nfld., Sept. 30 .- Three survivors of the crew of the schooner G. W. Roberts, who arrived her yesterday, tell a sad tale of shipwreck. Their vessel, when eastward of the Island of St. Pierre, lost her rudder and became unmanageable. She managed to reach Hellgate, between the Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon. Three men went ashore for a tug to tow them to St. Pierre. The captain and two men remained on the schooner. Two hours elapsed before a tug was secured, and when she reached the place where the schooner was left there was no trace of the vessel. The captain's name was Stanley Cooke, and the names of the men were William Adams and Thomas Ashward.

A New Departure

A New, Effectual and Convenient Cure for Catarrh.

Of catarrh remedies there is no end, but of catarrh cures there has always been a great scarcity. There are many remedies to relieve, but very few that really cure. The old practice of snuffing salt water through the nose would often relieve, and the washes, douches, powders and inhalers in common use are very little, better than the old-fashioned salt water douche. The use of inhalers and the application of salves, washes and powders to the nose and throat to cure catarrh is no more reasonable than to rub the back to cure kidney disease. Catarrh is just as much a blood disease as kidney trouble or rheumatism, and it cannot be cured by local treatment any students would seem to hold aloof from more than they can be. To cure catarrh, whether in the head, throat or stomach, an internal antisep-tic treatment is necessary to drive the catarrhal poison out of the blood and system, and the new catarrh cure is designed on this plan, and the remarkis best exemplified by the fact that able success of Stuart's Catarrh Tab-lets is because being used internallly foreign or international indebtedness for the past 38 months. #### Paine's Gelery Compound Cures Chronic and Complicated Cases of Rheumatism.

IT BANISHES EVERY TRACE OF POISONOUS ACID FROM THE BLOOD.

Has Made More Permanent and Wonderful Cures Than All Other Medicines in the World.

All rheumatic sufferers dread the variable and trying weather of October and November. Sufferers from the various forms of rheumatism-articular, muscular, inflammatory, gout and lumbago-suffer more intensely in the autumn months. Chilling winds, damp air, cold rains and night frosts, aggravate existing misery and agony. Thousands of victims of rheumatism have come back from summer health resorts only to find themselves as badly tertured and crippled as they were much attention. Special poultry meetings have been held at which leading poultry specialists gave demonstrations out the morbid principle of terrible cressing poultry in accordance with rheumatism from the blood and joints. A blow with the hand on the ear might cause fracture. Then the blood in the ear was no evidence that the blow on the ear, described by Herbert, had caused the fracture. "Wouldn't you be astonished at any doctor doing such a thing?" asked Mr. Riddell. "I wouldn't be astonished at any doctor doing anything," answered Dr. Caven.

Witness repeated his opinion that he could not see how the abrasions could have been inflicted on the corner of the trapdoor. Witness said that blood falling in chaff will soon coagulate, and if the chaff be thick the blood will not soak through to the floor. The standing position maintained by Joseph Sifton after being struck by Herbert would indicate that he was only dazed, and that he had not then received the fracture in the skull. On receiving such a fracture, the body would fall at once.

If Herbert struck the first blow, not hard enough to kill but only meant to College, was the next witness to take stop Joseph Sifton on the ladder, it would be unlikely that the fracture would occur from the blow, or bleeding follow. The same blow would not have produced the fracture and the wound. Witness could not say which was caused first. Court adjourned at 6 p.m. to resume at 9:30 Tuesday morning.

This Morning's Evidence.

On the opening of court at 9:30. Judge McMahon made the announcement that while he had wished to avoid the holding of night sessions of the court, the slow progress of the trial rendered it advisable that this be done in order to insure the conclusion of the case by Friday.

DR. CAVEN AGAIN. On the opening of court at 9:30, Dr.

The periosteum would not necessarily be broken, nor would witness expect the skull to be broken in. The fact that there no detachment of the periosteum from the scalp led witness to believe that the injuries were not caused by a succession of blows. The emphysema found at the post-mortem was not necessarily due either to injury of the scalp, or the abrasions behind the ear. The rupture of the muscle of the neck might be caused by a blow, which might or might not leave a mark. Witness thought that the fracture and the wound were produced by one blow.

MR. RIDDELL'S DESIRE.

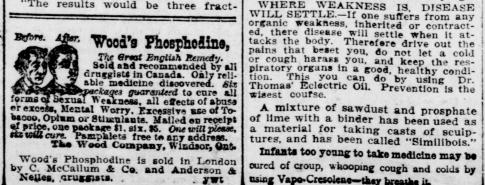

Mr. Riddell desired to choose three or four subjects from the court room, and by actual experiment determine if would be possible to cause the abrasions behind the ears by the head striking in a corner. Mr. Johnston obected, and the experiment was not

"He ate fruit at his breakfast all the year round; pears, apples, oranges and other fruit in their season. Then followed a bit of beefsteak, a chop or fish, kidneys or bacon and scrambled bilities, the stock and bonds foot up to eggs; but never more than one of these dishes at a meal. He laughingly told how he submitted to oatmeal discipline for some years because of its supposed relaxing qualities, but he long since discarded it. He was very fond of milk toast. Coffee twice a day, and strong coffee, was his beverage nearly all his life. A little claret or Rhine wine at dinner was a frequent, although not a daily, drink in summer time; a glass of sherry with his soup in winter. He partook very sparingly of vegetables, although he was quite fond of purees, vegetable soup, especially a certain bisque of tomato, in which his cook excelled. Fried things? Oh, yes, he could digest a chicken croquette or a clam fritter, equally without uneasiness; also salads-even of lobster. A hot mussin his almost perfect diges-tion (up to $5) disposed of as easily as an 'Educator' cracker. By his physician's orders he took a very light repast before retiring at half-past ten o'clock. One finger or one and a half of old rye in a half a glass of ice water or Apellinaris, with biscuit or a bit of sweet cake. Occasionally he nibbled, in lieu of the latter, at one of these Wiesbaden prunes, stuffed with a prune, where the pit is removed. Only one, for he was abstemious in sweets. The present value of these franchises, according to "Municipal bilities, the stock and bonds foot up to one hundred and eighteen million dollars, but of this amount fully seventytwo millions of dollars is "watered." The "water" covers an amount greater than all of the stock, and includes some of the bonds. Even on this largely inflated basis, immense dividends have been paid. From 15 to 42 per cent have been annually divided by the different companies during the past nine-

The companies are, of course, asking for a renewal of the franchises, and the question naturally arises, what compensation will they offer the community? will it be in cash or in lower fares? The aldermen will surely not dare to give away these franchises for nothing, as they did on the last oceasion, though the companies were

Their Royal Highnesses Visit Vancouver and Sail for Victoria-They Get an Enthusiastic Reception Everywhere.

Revelstoke, B. C., Sept. 30 .- The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York spent yesterday sightseeing from the rear platform of their observation car, as the royal train passed through the Rocky Mountains. The day was bright and clear, affording an excellent view of the snow-clad peaks and the deep canyons and ravines.

A special was run in front of the royal train and dangerous portions of the road were patrolled, and guards stood at every switch. The Countess party enjoyed the thrilling experience of riding on the cowcatcher platform down to the loops from the glacier. Enthusiastic crowds were at all the stations to catch a glimpse of the duke and duchess. The corner-stone of Victoria Memorial Hospital, the fourth of the kind organized in Western Canada, was laid by Countess Minto at Revel-

HIS HIGHNESS AT CALGARY

Reply of the Duke of Cornwall and York

To the Address Presented by the Blackfeet and Other Indians of Southern Alberta.

Calgary, Oct. 1 .- A feature of the pow-wow of Indians at this place on Saturday was the address presented by the red men to the heir apparent and his highness' reply. Soon after their highnesses arrived at the meeting place a student of one of the schools, with excellent pronunciation, read the following address:

THE INDIAN ADDRESS. "We the Blackfoot, Blood, Piegan, Sarcee, Stony and Cree Indians of Southern Alberta, heartily welcome your royal highnesses to the land of our forefathers. For untold generations our tribes hunted the bison on the plains of this country as our means of subsistence, but the white man came and desired to settle on our hunting grounds, which were already growing depleted of large game, principally by the reckless slaughter of the animals south of the boundary line. Consequently about a quarter of a century ago we accepted the terms offered us by the Government of Canada and surrendered our lands by treaty to her late majesty Queen Victoria, whose death we deeply lament of whom you are the illustrious grandson. At the time we entered into treaty with our great mother we pledged her our allegiance and loyalty, and during the rebellion of 1885 in this country we refused to bear arms against our gracious sovereign. On the auspicious occasion of this visit of your royal highness we beg you to convey to your highly exalted father, King Edward VII., the same expression of devotion to his person and levelty to his person and loyalty to his government which we promised to his royal mother. Under the fostering care of his majesty's department of Indian affairs, we are gradually adopting the civilized mode of living, and are acquiring cattle and other means of obtaining ample sub-sistence and comfortable homes. It affords us unfeigned pleasure to acknowledge the high honor that royal highness the Duchess of York has done us by accompanying you on this memorable visit, and, in conclusion, we fervently pray that you both may be spared to succeed in due time to the throne of your distinguished ancestors, and long reign over us,

"I have listened with much pleasure and satisfaction to the loyal words of greeting of your address, and I shall hasten to convey to my dear father, the great King, your assurances of levalty and unswerving devotion to him and his government. I thank you very much for the welcome you have given the duchess and me, in words that come warm from your hearts. We know of your affection to the beloved who is no more, the great mother who loved you so much, and whose loss makes your hearts bleed and the tears to fill your eyes. We know this, not alone from your words, but from the steadfast loyalty you displayed at the time when there was trouble in the land, and when ill-advised persons sought to create disaffection amongst you; but they failed to do so. The attachment you then showed to the throne and person of the great queen has never been and never will be for-gotten. The great King, my father, still cherishes the remembrance of your fidelity in those sad days, and it is a source of satisfaction and gratification to his Majesty now as that he can regard you as faithful children of the grand empire of which you form a part. I am glad to hear of the prosperity that now surrounds the Indian's tepee—the bountiful and abundant crops, the herds of cattle and the bands of horses. Those of you who remember the day when the government of the great mother first came to you, or who have heard with your ears what your fathers have said, will recollect that your people were hungry and wretched, their pipes often celd, their tents melancholy. You know that you did not cry to deaf ears, but that the great mother listened to you and stretched forth her hands to help you, so of the queen that your children should be educated, and the presence here today of the children from the schools shows how wise you were in preferring that request, and how faithfully and generously your desires have been met. There are few things that have interested me more in this my journey across the British Empire than meeting these young Indians, and noticing the advances they are making in that education which increases happiness of every man, woman and child who comes withing its influence. You may still have wants, such is the lot of everyone on this earth, but your requests will always be patiently listened to by those who have been set by the King amongst you. An Indian is a true man; his words are true words. He never breaks faith, and he knows, too, that it is the same with the great King, my father, and those whom he sends to carry out his wishes. His promises last as long as sun shall shine and waters shall flow, and care will ever be taken that nothing shall come between the love there is between the great King and you, his faithful children, I have spoken to you as children of our great empire. I know that its flag floats on your tents and that you wear the King's colors; I feel that your generous hearts have already told you that it is no mean thing to be a part of such an empire, to share in its glories, its liberties and its privileges. As you know it is an empire on which the sun never sets, but, rising or setting, shines on the subjects of the great King, and I wish to assure you that his Majesty, our great father, has as much love for you, his children of the setting sun, for his children of the rising sun. We are glad to have seen you. We have come a long way to see you and to speak to you a very long way, many thousand miles over the deep waters and across the vast prairies. We shall always recall this day with pleasure, we shall cherish the remembrance of having met you and contract with you and I will only add versed with you, and I will only add a prayer that, with the help of the Great Spirit, peace, prosperity, contentment and happiness may be your lot and rest amongst you always. From the warmth of your reception, I feel that you will also long remember this day. In order to specially commemorate it, the great King has ordered that a suitable silver medal shall be struck, and one will be presented to each of the head chiefs, which shall be kept by and now these sad days have passed him as long as he remains in office, and afterwards by his successors. I wish you good-bye, and hope you will all return in safety to your homes. I have arranged that you shall be supplied with provisions during your stay here and until you are at home again."

Work of Dodd's Kidney Pills Progres sing Rapidly in the Territories.

Blairmore, Alberta, N. W. T., Sept. 30.—Special.—Dodd's Kidney Pills are the most useful and widely used medicine in the Northwest. They have produced more genuine results than other remedy ever introduced here. They cure the common ailments, which can nearly all be traced to the kidneys, from a pimple to Bright's Disease

Walter H. A. Noble, of this place, is an example. His face was covered with pimples. He, of course, tried all sorts of remedies, but until he took Dodd's Kidney Pills for Backache the pimples remained. His blood was impure. The kidneys were not at sining it. The kidneys were not staining it.

On using Dodd's ki ay Pills for Backache, as everybody cas in this district, the Backache t only left him, but the Pimples discreared also, proving the cause of both complaints was the same—Kidney Discase.

The magnificent linguistic library of the late Prince Louis-Lucien Bonaparte has been acquired by the Newberry Library of Chicago. SOME PERSONS have periodical at-tacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or tacks of Canadian chelera, dysentery or diarrhea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking and green fruit is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed, STOCKS OF GRAIN.

CITY COUNCIL GRANTED $2.000

To Be Expended in the Duke's Welcome.

Ald. Cooper Thought That Half Tha Sum Would Do, But Had No Backer.

The city council met last night, and n about two minutes voted $2,000 to be placed at the disposal of the general committee that is arranging for the duke's reception.

Only Ald. Cooper protested against the expenditure, and in doing so he made a typically Cooperian speech, that the other aldermen listened to and then proceeded to business as though nothing had happened.

The purpose of the meeting being understood, and City Clerk Kingston having read the resolution adopted by the general committee, Ald. Garratt moved, Ald. Stevely seconding, that the $2,000 be granted.

Ald. Cooper moved in amendment, that the amount be cut in half, and in his argument he included references to the old boys, the soldiers, who went to South Africa, the Toronto reception committee and dangerous sidewalks. His motion found no seconder, and the original motion was put and carried. Ald. Cooper called for the yeas and nays, and had his vote recorded as opposed to spending $2,000 in welcoming the heir apparent. The use of the city hall on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of this week and Tuesday of next was granted to the 6th Bearer Company for dill purposes.

The following were present: Mayor Rumball, Ald. Winnett, Campbell, Olmsted, Greenlees, Stevely, Garratt, Jolly and Cooper.

Yellow People-Bilious.

Did you ever see a "yellow" person who enjoyed being "yellow"? if their liver and kidneys were doing their duty, the skin would not be yellow or sallow. If they took Hutch Tablets, their kidneys and liver would do their full duty. If the complexion is "off color," it is because something is out of order. It may be the stomach.

A great share of women are annoyed by indigestion. It must assert itself in the most disagreeable manner, always at the most inopportune Men are more often troubled with kidney diseases. Riotous living will disorder kidneys quicker than anything else. Nothing but a powerful reconstructor will stop the breaking down of the lax tissues. "DOLLY VARDEN."

The date announced for the Lulu Glaser Opera Company in "Dolly Varden," at the new Grand, is Friday and Saturday, Oct. 11 and 12, with a special matinee on Saturday. The 12th is to be Duke of York's day in London, and as he will leave the city about 1:30 p.m., visitors will be enabled to view the whole of the parade and then see at the new Grand at 2 p.m., one of the most sumptuous productions of comic opera ever brought to London.

AT THE LONDON OPERA HOUSE. A good-sized audience witnessed the opening production of the Burrill Comedy Company at the London Opera House last night. "Felicia," a comedy-drama, was put on by a capable company, and proved a most acceptable performance. Miss Laura Hulbert, in the double part of Felicia and Madame du Boise, showed herself to be a pleasing and effective acted of killing a Kaffir, has been acquit-ted on the plea that he only obeyed or-pany that includes a number of clever specialty artists.

The company will present tonight culated to enliven and enlighten all the patrons of this popular place of amusement. Miss Laura Hulbert, in the role of Zoe, the octoroon, has part to which, it is said, she can, and will, do justice, and the other roles in a very large caste are asserted to be admirably filled, special talent having been engaged to make the production as good as possible. scenery has been prepared, and electrical and stage effects are claimed to be of the best. The list of specialties which are put on between the acts are becoming popular with the

On Friday night the management will give a prize in gold to the winner in the amateur contest which is being arranged, and will prove a strong attraction in itself. The management are arranging for a souvenir matinee and night to mark the occasion of the duke and duchess' visit to London on Saturday, Oct. 12.

SHEA'S OWN SHOW.

After witnessing the initial presentation of Shea's high-class vaudeville at the Grand Opera House last night, it is easy for Londoners to understand why Mr. Shea has come to be recognized as one of the foremose vaudeville managers of the continent. It has been Mr. Shea's policy to supply only the best to the patrons of his Buffalo and Toronto houses, and Londoners may rest assured that the bills to be presented here will be of the highest order, coming as they do direct from Mr. Shea's other houses, which in turn draw upon the vaudeville theaters of New York for a constant supply of novelties.

The vaudeville opening last night was a gratifying one alike to the management, the audience, and the performers. The former were a little dubious as to That's relief. If you tackle how vaudeville would take in London, but their fears may well be dissipated, for last night's audience was only an earnest of the hearty patronage which will be accorded the venture. There was as much difference between the performance and the so-called vaudeville specialties which London has seen from time to time, as there is between "Il Trovatore" and a coon song. The hearty applause given each act The hearty applause given each act was a sufficient guarantee that Shea's vaudeville had made good in London.

Manola, who is making her first apcomic opera favorite retains her oldtime form, in more senses than one. Her execution of two charming solos, in which her beautiful voice showed to new Grand, matinee and night, his exquisite advantage, and her recitaof lives, makes an evening spent with "A Lion's Heart" one to be remembered with pleasure. Mr. Carl A. Hasprove a powerful deterrent to anyone contemplating "hitting the dope" in this particular form. His make-up alone is a work of art, which, it is said, occupies an hour in the putting on. Added to this his delineation of the eccentric and uncontrollable gestures, the nervous twitchings and the wild hallucinations of the cocaine fiend makes a picture which will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Lewis is assisted in his sketch by Mr. Leonard Scarlett and Miss Maud Elliot. The Onllaw trio, consisting of two men and a pretty woman, do a novel turn, embracing some clever feats by the lady on the slack wire, which is held in the teeth of her companions. The little lady herself captivated her audience by her naive speech in broken English, with which she introduced the most difficult of her feats. All the other acts of the bill were excellent and worthy of mention. They included Drawee, who juggled everything from straws to bicycles and jinrickshaws; the De Hoven Trio, in vocal and terpsichorean stunts; the Newsboys' Quintet, in the same; Roberts, Hays and Roberts, in their laughable kid specialty, and the three Melrose brothers, in some agile and difficult tumbling feats.

The bill will be presented tonight and tomorrow night, with a special 25-cent matinee tomorrow. The vaudeville offering for next week is the Orpheum show, a well-balanced ag-gregation, which is famous all over America.

THE METROPOLITAN COURSE. Subscribers to the Metropolitan concert course at the new Grand will be pleased to know that the tickets will be issued at once and that the first attraction, the Mendelssohn Male Quartet, will appear here early this month. It is still possible for a limited numger to secure course tickets, for which seats may be secured at Nordheimer's.

A CAREFULLY PREPARED PILL.
Much time and attention were expended in the experimenting with the ingredients that enter into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills before they were brought to the state in which they were first offered to the public. Whatever other pills may be, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are the result of much expert study, and all persons sufferings from dyspepsia or disordered liver and kidneys may confidently accept them as being what they are represented to be.

For the Coveted "America" Cup-Day Opened With a Strong Breeze Which Failed to Retain Its Force-WERE INITIATED Columbia Led at Start, But Shamrock Passed Her-A Keen Contest.

New York, Oct. 1 .- A fifteen-knot breeze was ruffling the ocean when the crews of the Columbia and the British cup challenger turned out with the sun this morning to prepare for the second race between the big flyers. There was a snap of early autumn in the air, and overhead was an unspotted blue sky. All night the wind had blown strongly from the northwest, but it began to subside at sunrise, and fears were expressed that the beautiful 15 - knot morning that caused the residents of breeze would not hold long enough to the neighborhood to rush in alarm to get the race fairly started. Pauline surprised Elsie by breaking into a loud, screaming laugh. There was something in this story that she relished This Lady Mary Montague, daughter of the Earl of Ben Nevis, was a great Scotch heiress of marvellous beauty and exceptional talents. Her father had been need some years; her brother enjoyed the entailed property, and bore the title and honors of the house. Lady Mary had not yet passed one season in London; the extreme delicacy of her mother, the Dowager Countess of Ben Nevis, rendered her residence in a warm country in ered her residence in a warm country imperative, thus the Lady Mary had been educated for the most part abroad, though by English teachers and under though by English teachers and under her mother's supervision.

This mother was an enlightened, refined woman, a dear friend of Lady Chase; and it came to pass that Lord and Lady Chase had set their hearts on Lord Arthur one day marrying this peerless young lady. Unfortunately their wishes had come to Arthur's knowledge, and the consequence was that, without having seen her, he hated Lady Mary with a perfect hatred. Perfect hatred. Lady Mary with a Nothing delighted Pauline more than to hear Lord Arthur abuse this lovely absent heress.

not the least use for you to rebel. said Pauline, wiping her eyes after her fit of merriment; "you will have to marry the lady!"

"I'll be hanged—" began Lord Arthur.
Anderson came unceremoniously into the room at that moment.
"Her ladyship is so anxious about Miss Preservible." Bracegirdle," she said.

"Her ladyship is so anxious about Miss Bracegirdle," she said.

"Oh, yes!—hang it all, I promised to tell her! Will you say she's awfully ill, and she wants a good breakfast. And I say, Miss Carew, come with me to the countess, will you, and let us ask her to sanction your taking a ride with me, then none of these idiots can taik."

Pauline shivered.

These idiots! Was she one of them in this young hero's eyes? Why, a few days ago he had seemed nearly in love with her! Was the game up? Had she no remote chance of winning Arthur Hammond, sharing his fortune and wearing his title? Something must be done—oh! so quickly!—to get this Irish girl turned out of the house. If only she were in Spain, where Lady Mary was—Spain, the land of the dagger for a few pounds—she might—yes, she had not only read of such things, the people she had lived with had talked of such measures before her as she sat a child at their feet, nursing and doll doll or stringing deschaed or as she sat a child at their feet, nursing an old doll, or stringing glass beads, or looking at pictures in a tattered toy-book. England, however, is not a land of the dagger; still, Elsie Carew must be got rid of out of the house before the day when the private theatricals and the ball were to take place.

"Won't you come with me to the countess?" repeated Lord Arthur; "or shall we have breakfast first?"

"I will not ride with you, my lord—not even if the countess gives her consent."

"By Jove, you have a dickens of a temper!" said Lord Hammond. "What has per!" said Lord Hammond. "What has put you out?"

"Nothing. I am not 'put out' in the sense you mean, Lord Hammond,"
"In the sense I mean!" he repeated, making a bad attempt to mimic Elsie's tone. Lord Hammond's manners were remarkable for their discourtesy whenever he was out of temper and found himself in the society of persons whom he considered beneath him. "I suppose you mean to set up for a saint—do you, Miss Carew? But there was nothing at all Carew? But there was nothing at all saintly in walking along arm-in-arm after nightfall with a scamp like Owen Ham-

"Good heavens! he is jealous! Jealousy is the beginning of love, they say!"
Pauline thought. "If I thought this child of a convict" (thus did Pauline dare to style the brilliant political exile, Elsie's father)—"if I thought this child of a convict when we have the Chase covered." father)—"if I thought this child of a convict was to wear the Chase coronet I would prevent it—yes, I will prevent it?"
"I took Mr. Hammond's arm because I was weak and exhausted." said Elsie, speaking in spirited indignation. "You all went away and left me locked up in that horrible house; I had nothing to thank anybody for."

"By Jove!" said he. "I like to see you "By Jove!" said he. "I like to see you in a rage! your eyes flash splendidly! Ahbut I came for you, though, if I did leave you locked up!" added the young lord, speaking now in far more tender tones. "He is—he is making love to her before my eyes!" Pauline said to herself.

At that moment a servent came in with At that moment a servant came in with At that moment a servant came in with a breakfast-tray, coffee and little covered hot dishes. The scent was appetizing. The tray was placed close to Miss Bracegirdle's couch, on a small table. The servant remained to wait on her. "Come with me to the countess," caid Lord Hammond to Elsie.

"No, Lord Hammond; I must go to my room to prepare for breakfast."

"No, Lord Hammond: I must go to my room to prepare for breakfast."

Elsie left the room. When she descended to the breakfast table Lord Arthur was not present, nor did he appear during the meal; he was in his mother's boudoir, where he remained to breakfast. All kinds of good things were taken to him there by his orders, and he contrived to make a splendid breakfast. Love, or firtation, or fancy, or whatever it was that agitated him, did not interfere with his appetite.

The countess, looking pale and a little anxious, sat smiling over the table, scarcely eating anything, listening to her idolized son, and arguing gently with idolized son, and arguing gently with him respecting Elsie and the riding plan. "You eee, darling, a girl like that, who does not know how to manage a hors—it's not Marjorle or Mary Montague, who have been used to the saddle since they were five years old—this poor child could never govern a spirit like Captain's. I would not give my permission. Indeed, Arthur, she might be killed."

"Killed! she isn't a stupid!"

"But she cannot ride."

"Then is she never to learn?"

"I don't know; I should think very likely she will not have a fortune that will enable her te keep horses."

The countess watched her son's blooming, prevish young face as she said th's.

The countess watched her son's bloeming, prevish young face as she said this.
"I wonder if he believes the tale that girl told him of her intended estate—the future gift of her father's partisans?" she said to herself.
"Fortune? no, I should think not; her father is a beggar, or next door to it.

But she is sure to marry a man who can afford to keep horses."

The countess sighed. How obstinate he seemed—how bent upon securing the society of this glrl.

Was this the springing up of love—first love—in her cherished son's wild and wayward heart? If so, would it gather strength as it rushed on? Would not every obstacle thrown in the way only tend to give force and impetus to the harrying stream? Would it not presently grow into a rushing. Toaring torrent, which would submerge all things that lay between it and the seemingly boundless ocean of wedded love? Marriage Would Hammond make the dark-haired, brighteyed Irish girl a countess?—a girl of no especial family—fortuneless—worse, indeed, than nameless, for her father was but a wild political refugee! How the world would talk! And the earl? Well, it would kill him, with his conservative notions, family pride, and family ambition, if such a marriage as this took place; it would simply break him up—he would pine, and sink, and die!

Somehow the countess dismissed all thoughts of Lord Hammond's possibly less honorable intentions. She had been Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 30.—The cricket match between the All-Philadelphia team and Bosanquet's English eleven, begun on the grounds of the Merion Cricket Club, at Haverford, on Friday, ended today in a victory for the Englishmen, who won by a margin of 63 runs. When the stumps were drawn on Saturday, the Englishmen had completed their two innings for a total of 341 runs, and the home players had scored 103 in their first inning, and had lost six wickets in their second inning for 80 runs. They thus needed to raise their inning today to 239 runs to win. They were unable to do this, and lost the match by 63 runs.

YACHTING. YACHTING.

TODAY'S GREAT RACE. New York, Sept. 30.—Everyone is whist-ling for a favoring wind when the Colum-bia and Shamrock II. meet tomorrow in the second race for the America's cup. Interest is tuned to the highest pitch. As a result of the grand contest on Satur-day, confidence is supreme on board the Erin and the Shamrock, as it is with American yachtsmen. The course is to be triangular, ten miles to a leg, at a beat to windward and two reaches or a run and a reach, this, however, depending and a reach, this, however, depending upon the wind. The start may be expected about 11:30 o'clock.

A rattling wind, without too much sea, were conditions on the course today, while the two yachts lay at anchor in the horseshoe at Sandy Hook. It was such a day as made the sailors on both such a day as made the sailors on both the challenger and detender envious. Sir Thomas Lipton called it Shamrock weather, and said that with such a clinking breeze he would surely move the cup a little. On board the Columbia there was no boasting, but a comfortable degree of confidence.

Betting today showed the effect of Saturday's wonderful contest. The talk of long odds was silenced. Capt. Sycamore and Sailmaker Ratsey were in fremore and Sailmaker Ratsey were in frequent conference during the day, and both agreed that a good strong breeze from the northwest or southwest, with smooth water, is what the Shamrock wants for the triangular race. Manager Jameson and Designer Watson came to the city early and remained all day. Sir Thomas Lipton, when asked what weather he would like, said: "Give us a good scupper breeze from the northwest, and I am sure the Shamrock will win. She is very fast from the reach, and in is very fast from the reach, and in smooth water or a sea she will do well." E. D. Mergan and Herbert Leeds, of the Columbia, visited Sir Thomas on board the Erin during the afternoon, Mr. Morgan expressed a desire for a strong breeze, so that there might not be a question about the best boat in the race, and also to avoid postponement. The famous old schooner-vacht America was sailing about off Sandy Hook all day. She will go out tomorrow to witness the start.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

There is probably no other medical preparation in this country which has been so thoroughly indorsed by the best and most respected people as Dr. Chase's Ointment. This is undoubtedple who are free from the misery of itching piles are anxious to let other sufferers know what has cured them, and because Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only actual cure for this torturing and frightfully common disease.

Mr. John Harvey, mayor of Arnprior, Ont., states: "Only persons who have experienced the torture of itching piles can form any idea of what I suffered from the horrible disease. I was advised to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and can positively say that it has completely cured me. I had tried very many so-called cures for piles, and can truthfully say that there is no remedy on the face of the earth like Dr. Chase's Ointment for this purpose. I would not be without it for any amount of money, and can heartly recommend it to all sufferers, as it is W. E. Talbot, of Talbot Bros., to-bacco merchants, 382 George street, Peterboro, Ont., states: "It is from a desire to help other sufferers that it offer a statement of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for itching piles. I was for a long time troubled with this unpleasant and torturing disease, and although I tried very many treatments remained uncured until I came across Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was highly recommended to me, and I find that every word of praise that is given it is true. I can truthfully say that I am completely cured, and knowing the misery that the ailment produces, I am anxious to have others know of the surprising virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment." A Teronto Lady's Experience With This Famous Specialist's Backache Kidney Tablets.

For many years in the hospitals of Detroit and as professor of Genito-Urinary Diseases in Michigan College of Medicine of that city, Dr. Zina Pitcher gave careful thought and consideration to iseases of the kidneys, bladder, and urinary system.

So profoundedly impressed was he with the fact that many thousands of people suffer from some form of kidney derangement, who were unable to avail themselves of the services of a specialist, that he decided to give to humanity at large his famous prescription for Kidney Diseases, under the name of Dr. Pritcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. It is of these tablets that Mrs. May Goddard, 332 Adelaide street west, Torento, speaks in the following terms:—

"After enjoying the most perfect health for many years it was a sore trial for me to realize that my health was failing. I had, in the first place, acute pains in the small of my back, and was losing flesh rapidly. Then other complications arose, which so weakened me that it was only with the greatest amount of determination that I could attend to my work. I tried a number of remedies and consulted several physicians without obtaining more than temperary relief, and as a last resort I results highly gratifying. The pain in my back disappeared in a short time, and my general health improved greatly. I am now feeling fine, and am glad to have this opportunity of expressing my appreciation of so valuable a remedy.

Authorities at the Capital Send Suggestions to Lendon.

Citizens May Help Reception Committee Make Welcome Successful by Heeding These Warnings.

The following letters, which should be carefully considered by the citizens of London, have been received by the authorities who have in hand the arrangements for the duke's reception: Dominion Police Office, Ottawa, Aug. 30, 1901. Sir,—In view of the approaching visit of H. R. H. the Duke of Cornwall and

York to your city, I beg to say that the government has directed me to confer with you regarding the police regulations.

It is very essential that the greatest decorum on the part of the public should be observed; that there should be no unnecessary crowding or crushing upon the royal procession. At railway stations a considerable space should be staked off, wherein only those designated to receive H. R. H. and party should be allowed. No traffic in vehicles whatever should be allowed on the route of the procession for some time prior to its passing, and ly accounted for by the fact that peoto the sidewalks.

I inclose an extract received from the governor-general's secretary, making some suggestions, which may be of service to you in connection with making your arrangements, and some of which it would be well to give publicity to through the press.

I shall be glad to hear from you that everything has been satisfactorily arranged, so that I can communicate with his excellency and assure him that ample protection will be provided during the royal party's visit to your city.

The programme for London is not yet out. I am, your obedient servant, A. P. SHERWODD, Commissioner of Police Chief of Police, London.

Extract from governor-general's secretary's letter:

Aug. 13, 1901. There are several points connected with the police arrangements for their royal highnesses' visit, upon which his excellency would wish to la special stress, and they are as follows:

That the points of arrival and departure at each city as well as any points within such city, at which a temporary stop will be made by the royal procession, should be kept absolutely clear of all persons, except such individuals as may be appointed to receive their royal highnesses. At such points it would seem essential that the heads of police at the various cities should arrange in consultation with the civic committee for the erection of barricades to assist the police in keeping such space clear. That all traffic shall be stopped along the route to be followed by the royal and governor-general's processions for some time before and after the processions pass.

That special provision shall be made to prevent spectators from following the royal procession as soon as it has passed them. That the roadways of the streets along which the royal and governorgeneral's processions will pass, shall be cleared of pedestrians some time before the processions pass. That every effort shall be made to dissuade the public from endeavoring to see the royal procession more than once on each occasion, and to impress upon them that rushes made by crowds are liable to be attended by serious, if not fatal accidents.

That it is advisable that mounted police should precede and bring up the rear of the royal and governor-genens. no matter under what govern- eral's processions, on entering each nursing mothers that I have ever seen. It keeps up the mother's strength and keeps up the supply of nourishment for the child if partaken of freely. I drank it between meals instead of water and found it most beneficial. "Our five-year-old boy has been very delicate since birth, and has developed slowly. He was white and bloodless. I began to give him Postum freely, and you would be surprised at the change. Whenever any person remarks about the great improvement, we never fail to tell them that we attribute his gain in strength and general health, to the free use of Postum Food Coffee, and this has led many friends to use it for themselves and children.

"I have always cautioned friends to whom I have spoken about Pestum, to follow directions in making it, for unless it is boiled fifteen or twenty minutes it is quite tasteless. On the other hand, when properly made it is very delicious. I want to thank you

THE NEW PASTOR.

Regarding the Rev. D. S. Hamilton, who enters upon his pastorate in the First Congregational Church on Sunday, the Montreal Star has the following comment apropos of a farewell recently tendered him by the congregation of Point St. Charles Church, where for a number of years he was pastor: "Rev. D. S. Hamilton, pastor of the Point St. Charles Congregational Church, was last evening tendered a most cordial farewell social by the members of the congregation. During his stay in the district, as pastor of the church, Rev. Mr. Hamilton has won the hearts of all his people by the earnest manner in which he always tried to assist them, and all were anxious by their presence to give evidence of their great regard, and wish him many years of continued success in his new parish at London, Ont. Representatives were present from ell the Conversional Characteristics. from all the Congregational Churches in the city. Rev. Dr. Warriner, of the Congregational College, presided. Mr. H. Carmichael, on behalf of the ladies of the congregation, presented Rev. Mr. Hamilton with a purse filled with gold. On rising to express his sincere When the school moved to the pres-gratitude. Mr. Hamilton was visibly ent site there were 140 scholars, and thanks told all present how sorry he Sunday school scholars in the city was to leave them, but he had thought was 500. Five preachers and one mis that duty called him, and duty, no hour was spent. Mr. Hamilton was also made the recipient of a handsome traveling bag by the members of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society, and a neat drinking-cup and leather case by a friend not a member of the congregation. The secretary of the Point St. Charles W. C. T. U. wrote Mr. Hamilton, thanking him for the great interest he had always taken in their work, and expressing their sorrow at his departure. In leaving Point St. Charles Mr. Hamilton takes with him

Hicks' Forecast for October

A Mars period of disturbances central any time in October is sufficient cause for apprehending heavy, autumnal storms. Such a period is central on Oct. 2, extending beyond the middle of the month. Coincident with this center of the Mars period is a regular Vulcan storm period, extending from the 1st to the 6th. We will scarcely have recovered from heavy equinoctial storms late in September, when renewed storm conditions will begin to appear in the western parts of the country. Temperatures, bar-ometers and winds will all give premonitions of coming change. Between the 2nd and the 6th these conditions will grow into cloudiness, and rain and snow will touch many parts of the country in their transition from west to east about Wednesday the 2nd to Saturday the 5th. As change to warmer comes immediately in front of active storm areas, so change to colder may be counted on, even before the western edge of rain and snow have quite passed any locality. Keep this fact in mind, and also that the actual storms of most periods last only a few hours in any one locality. From the 8th to the 10th, anti-storm conditions will give place to return of falling barometer and other conditions leading to more storms of rain and snow. The 9th is the central day of this reactionary period. The moon is on the celestial equator on that day, greatly increasing the probability of warm October rains and thunder southward, but turning to early snow squalls later in northern sides of the country. Look for change to rising barometer and colder after the storms central on the 9th. A very unusual combination of disturbing causes on the regular storm period which is central on the 25th, covering the 13th to the 18th. The conjectury of moon with the sun on the 12th will precipitate the change to warmer with falling barometer at the very outset of this regular Vulcan period, and returning storms of rain and snow will pass across the country about Monday the 14th to Thursday the 16th. The chances for heavy autumnal gales over the lakes and north Atlantic are many at this period. Snow and sleet are more than probable in northern sections, with high northwesterly gales and an October cold wave. There will most probably be good opportun-ity at this time for much hardship, "It is one of the finest things for exposure, wreckage, and probable loss of cargoes and lives to unsuspecting and venturesome navigators of the northern lakes and seas. Let us watch

both the remaining periods in October. # SOOSOOSOOSOOS GOOD WORK AT

Sunday School Grown From Class of Thirty.

Stirring Addresses Delivered to Pupils and Teachers by Veteran Workmen.

Despite the very inclement weather, "Rally Day" at the Dundas Center Methodist Sunday school passed off very pleasantly and successfully, and was a success in every sense of the word. Beside the school teachers and officers, many friends of the school were present, numbering in all about 750. Superintendent D. A. Mc-Dermid was in charge of the service and seated with him on the platform were Messrs. Isaac Webster, Rev. C. T. Scott, R. Hobbs, Wm. Bowman, C. J. Beal, A. Bradford, J. A. Nelles, James Wilkins, James Greenaway, James Fitzgerald, and Mesdames Noble, Hopkins and Williams. The music was of a special nature, many old-time hymns being sung. Mr. W. H. Hewlett was in charge of the singing, Miss Lettie Smith presided at the piano and Mr. Roselle Pococke directed the orchestra. The opening prayer was offered by Mr. James Greenaway. The superintendent made a few time-ly remarks, followed by responsive reading and familiar hymns.

Mr. Richard Hobbs, a pioneer Sunday school worker, spoke on "Some Sunday Schools of the Old Land." He said that in former days it was quite common to walk three miles to Sun-day school, and that the teachers only taught alternate Sundays. Union anniversary services were held in the cities on Whit Sunday.

"Some Sunday Schools of Early Days in Canada" was the subject of an address by Mr. Isaac Webster. The speaker said that the first school he attended had one teacher and 32 scholars, and today we were reaping the results of the labors of these pioneers, and the great oaklike Sunday school movement had grown from the acorn planted by the worker of long cer, London; Mr. John Shannon and family, Goderich. The closing hymn was written by Mr. Wm. Bowman for Nine Elms Sunday School, London, England, in 1851, and was as follows: Now the Sabbath Day doth close. Let Thy mercy interpose; Keep us from all danger nigh, Stay our thoughts on things on high. Taught us in this happy place, Be our guide, and prove our stay, While we journey on our way.

Let the sacred songs of praise. Taught us in our youthful days, Be a source of comfort nigh, When the storms of life run high.

Let the seeds of sacred truth Bud and blossom in our youth; Let the fruit at last be found To Thy glory to abound. Now for Christ our Saviour's sake, Into Thy protection take; Bear us on Thy bosom, bear, Keep our feet from every snare. It might be interesting to state that the combined ages of the three speakers at the service-Messrs. Bowman, Webster and Hobbs-was 245 years.
