MAGNIFICENT INAUGURAL OF "MADE IN CANADA" EXHIBITION

The Gigantic and Handsome Enterprise Auspiciously Opened by Geo. Stephens and Rev. Dr. Battisby.

The Large Rink a Blaze of Beauty—Many Exhibitors and Charming Salesladies—Memorable Historic March—Other Delightful Features.

The official opening of this long-talked-of exhibition, which lasts every day and evening throughout this week at the Curling Rink on William St., took place last evening at eight o'clock, and the entertainment and results must have brought joy to the hearts of the Ladies of St. Andrew's who have labored so ardently for more than a month. The pleasant duty of declaring the exhibition open fell to the lot of Geo. Stephens, M. P., and the pastor, Rev. Dr. Battisby, who in a few, well chosen words thanked those who had so generously contributed to make the affair such a grand success.

After one or two selections from the Band and the drawing of the curtain, all eyes were seen directed to the stage, upon which an imposing tableau presented itself. Occupying a throne in the centre at the rear was the stately figure of Britannia with courtly pages at her feet. On each side, in glistening groups, were characters in gorgeous costumes representing the different historic periods and the various provinces of Canada, the whole scene at once made brilliant by touches of the crimson coat of the soldiers and toned down by the khaki uniforms of the Cadets. Flags and banners everywhere, and there with the sceptre, the graceful form of the fair maiden on a smaller throne than that of Britannia, bearing with dignity the honors of representing the great Dominion.

The stirring strains of the National Anthem announced that the grand march was about to begin, and slowly down the large platform it came, Drum-Major Douglas, of wide fame in that capacity, leading. There were fully 175 characters and anything like a just appreciation of the labor spent on each individual character and group is impossible. Immediately following the Drum-Major came the Indians, and the words on every lip were not "Lo, the poor Indian!" but "What splendid personations! What ideal costumes!" etc. The parts were Mr. Coltart as Hiawatha, Mr. W. Angus as Brant, Mr. Anderson as Tecumseh, and, best of all, the Indian maidens, so bewitchingly portrayed by Miss S. Taylor, Miss Kemp and Miss H. Smith.

Then followed the French period—an ideal picture of charming romance. This group included Dr. Russell as Jacques Cartier, Miss Belle Stewart in party dress as a French lady of 1500, Mr. J. W. McLaren as Samuel de Champlain, Miss Mary McKeough as a French lady of 1600, Jesuit Priests, Mr. C. H. Gunn as Frontenac; Mr. James Innes as Marquis de Montcalm, and Miss E. Hall as a French lady of 1750. Then in couples came more knights and courtly dames in the youthful forms of Miss Irene Paterson and Percy Chinnick, Miss B. VonGuten and Frank Dennis. The costuming in this section was most elaborate.

After this the English period came in line with the hero of the Heights of Abraham (Mr. H. W. Anderson) in the van, Miss Jessie Gemmill (English lady of 1750), Sir Guy Carleton personated by Mr. Ireland, and Miss Stegmann (English lady of 1775) formed a gay picture in the passing show, while J. G. Kerr as the hero of Queenston Heights, and his partner, Mrs. Chas. Hadley (English lady of 1815) were very appealing in their handsome and pretty costumes. Some youthful performers followed, representing a group of English ladies and gentlemen of 1700—Miss Helen Rispin and Chas. Holmes, Miss Queenie Taylor and Stewart Campbell, Miss Ida Stephens and Harold McDonald, Miss Jessie Wilson and Tracy Waddell—all gotten up with minute care and deserving of the many words of praise they received from the pleased spectators. Another boy of fair maidens and their proud escorts, representing up-to-date Canada, took up the step in the group were Miss Edith Holmes and W. Foreman in canoeing costume, Miss Helen Atkinson and F. Ross in tennis attire, Miss Meta Wilson and F. Hall as golfers, Mr. Pritchard as snowshoer, and Miss Aggie Phillimore, in full party dress, and H. Jackson as society.

A brief pause, and then into line with gallant step and graceful bow came the Provinces—Quebec, in the lead, represented by Miss Ada Ross, who, like her fair sisters, clad in simple Grecian attire, bore the shield and coat-of-arms with becoming grace and dignity. Her escort included Miss Ruby Duff, Miss Bates, Miss M. Martin, who looked charmingly picturesque in the costumes of French peasants, while Messrs. Shupe and Webster as trappers made the picture complete.

Next in order came Nova Scotia, by Miss Olive Richards with a splendid support from Miss Tackaberry, Miss McTaggart and Miss Ida Stringer as Fishwives, Misses Roslyn McLean and Doneida Foreman as Highland Lassies, Messrs. H. Massey and D. Robertson as Fishermen, and Mr. J. McMillan in the gray tartans of his clan.

The next group, New Brunswick, represented by Miss Annie McKellar, with an escort composed of Misses Marion Marshall, Jean Martin, Isabel Stringer and Ora Sinclair as Sailor Girls and Messrs. Jas. Trotter, Wilfrid Smith, Roy Campbell and Howard Waddell as Sailors, was deservedly a great favorite with the audience.

Miss Riddell represented Prince Edward Island with a picturesque escort of Sailor Girls and Lumbermen, composed of Miss Belle Somerville, Miss Alice Trotter, Mr. Morley and Mr. Morrison.

The Prairie Province, Manitoba—Miss Agnes Kerr, with Misses Morrison, Glassford and McLean, bearing sheaves of wheat, emblematic of the far-famed province.

N. W. Territories—Represented by Miss Ryan and her escort of Rough Riders and Cowboys, was perhaps the favorite of the evening, although it would have been a very difficult task to award a prize, had any been given. The parts in this group, naturally attractive, lost nothing at the hands of Misses Verna Royward, H. Edythe Hill, Verna Sheldon and Edna Dennis and Messrs. W. Houston, W. Stevens, W. Brackin, R. Tobey and Beith. These costumes were complete in every detail, and this picture was well worth the price of admission.

British Columbia—Miss Brackin, assisted by Misses Edith Martin, Turnbull and Cherry, and Mr. Wilfrid McCorvie, in mining costumes, were an effective group.

The Banner Province—our own Ontario—beautifully represented by Miss Gertrude Somerville, assisted by Misses N. Bell, fruit; Marion Gemmill, flowers; Mabel Kipp and Maude Paterson, milk maids; and Messrs. Tackaberry and Sutherland, called forth much applause.

The most striking picture—Canada—by Miss Alice Greening, who played her part with charming grace and dignity, now passed by; drawn in her carriage by a squad of uniformed cadets, bearing the Canadian ensign, and a military guard of honor, she presented a picture which delighted the eyes of the spectator. Then followed the Maple City with her escorts, "The Press." The honors of this position fell to Miss Nan Battisby and little Miss Campbell and Miss Stringer. They were certainly worthy of a more prominent place in the grandest and most successful attempt yet made on these lines in this locality.

The grand march—splendid as it was—was not the only attraction of the evening. For there were many, and to these we must devote some space. First of all the band provided a program which was much enjoyed. Then streams of visitors flocked to the Art Gallery where Mrs. Robert Gray, assisted by Mrs. Bert Malcolmson, presided in state. To this exhibit alone 200 admissions were registered and not one was disappointed, for rarely in the history of our city is such an opportunity presented as here. The David Livingstone curios alone would excite admiration and attention in a much more pro-

COMING CLIMAX

Important Developments Looked for as Result of Japanese Military Movements.

Mukden, May 17.—It was announced here to-day that the main body of the Japanese forces is advancing on Hai Cheng (about ten miles south-east of New Chwang) and Ping Kai Chou (about 35 miles south of New Chwang), and that a smaller force is marching in the direction of Liao-Yang. Important developments are probable.

SOME SKIRMISHING

St. Petersburg, May 17.—Gen. Kuro-patkin telegraphs to the Emperor, under date of May 16, as follows:—"On May 10 our Cossacks encountered a force of the enemy, composed of one battalion and infantry and two squadrons of cavalry, belonging apparently to the Japanese guards division, near Kuan-Dian-San, and the fusillade lasted for an hour and a half. The fire of the Japanese infantry and cavalry was poor. We had one Cossack wounded, one horse killed and another wounded and two Cossacks missing."

OCCUPIED BY JAPS.

"On May 15 the Japanese vanguard occupied Hailuamensa, in the valley of the Patao River Tsingtau, in the valley of the left branch of the same river; Shitsiafutsu and Hitroobon, in the valley of the Ai River, and Kuan-Dian-San. There are no Japanese at Su-Yen on May 15. On May 14 the Japanese occupied Palandien with a detachment of two battalions of infantry and two squadrons of cavalry. On May 14 and 15 the Japanese reconnoissances had not pushed beyond 4-1-2 miles from the station of Wafandien. On May 15 there was no advance of any considerable force of the enemy to the north of Palandien. No fresh report has been received regarding the Japanese raid on Kai-Chau."

WANTS RIVER DREDGED

"I can't for the life of me see," remarked a citizen this morning, "why the Board of Trade is worrying about the breakwater at Erieau when the mouth of the river needs dredging so badly. The building of a harbor at Erieau will do no good to the city in comparison with the dredging of the river. If the Board of Trade would spend their time securing a good waterway to this city they would accomplish a great deal more good."

James Sterling, of Glenheim, was registered at the C. P. R. yesterday.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 18.

INITIATIVE: WHAT IT IS.

Elbert Hubbard, in The Philistine, prints the following, which all men should read and heed:
"The world bestows its big prizes, both in money and honors, for but one thing, and that is Initiative. What is Initiative? I'll tell you. It is doing the right thing without being told. But next to doing the thing without being told is to do it when you are told once. Next, there are those who never do a thing until they are told twice; such get no honors and small pay. Next, there are those who do the right thing only when necessity pushes them from behind, and these get indifference instead of honors, and a pittance for pay. This kind spends most of its time polishing a bench with a hard-luck story. Then, still lower down in the scale than this is the fellow who will not do the right thing even when someone goes along to show him how, and stays to see that he does it; he is always out of a job and receives the contempt he deserves, unless he has a rich pa, in which case destiny patiently awaits around the corner with a stuffed club. To which class do you belong?"

UNION OF CHURCHES.

A largely attended meeting of Presbyterian and Methodist clergymen and laymen in the Jubilee Methodist church at Sydney, N. B., passed the following resolution, which was moved by John R. Burdell, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada agency, and a leading Methodist, and seconded by Alex. Matheson, postmaster of Sydney, and an elder of the Presbyterian church:

"Resolved, that this meeting, consisting of the clergymen, office-bearers and members of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of the city of Sydney, believing that the proposed union of the Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist churches in Canada would be for the common good of our beloved country, would facilitate the spread of the kingdom of God, and would also be in accordance with the mind of Christ, hereby gives expression to its hearty approval of the principal of the organization of the above-named churches, and hopes that the said union may be accomplished with no more delay than will be necessary to secure the solidity and permanency of the same."

The Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, in session at Quebec, on motion of Rev. Principal Scrimger and Rev. F. M. Dewey, passed this resolution: "The Synod places on record its hearty approval of the movement towards a corporate union of our own church with the Methodist and Congregational churches, as one that will greatly increase the influence for good of evangelical Christianity, both at home and abroad."

Other Presbyterian synods are favorably inclined and it really begins to look as though the union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational bodies is a possibility in the not distant future. When Christian bodies can see their way to burying differences on minor points and getting together, a large barrier to the success of the Christian religion will have been removed. The world has its eye on the churches, and an honest man, who would like to be a righteous man, argues, and with reason, that it is impossible to tell which creed or belief is right, therefore, he keeps aloof from all. When churches get to wrangling with each other about a difference in doctrine—which can never be argued to a conclusion—the worldly man is justified in saying that they are as bad or worse than the people who have no higher type of religion than morality.

The merging of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches may be likened to the merging of three steamship lines under a single management. The Presbyterian ship would carry a man to heaven; so would the Methodist ship or the Congregational. They are all bound for the same port. The three ships would be just as effective, and perhaps more so, under one management. The element of worldly competition might be removed, but happily competition in spiritual matters is not necessary. It is oneness of impulse that is desired, and instead of an individual being desirous of getting the whole stock he trades, success depends on how much of the commodity dealt in one can give away, or persuade others to take.

It weakens the delicate lung tissues, deranges the digestive organs, and breaks down the general health.

It often causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, and affects the voice. Being a constitutional disease it requires a constitutional remedy.

CLERICS IN POLITICS.

The practical, good sense of Pope Pius X. is finding almost daily illustration in the news coming from the Vatican. Mgr. Lacroix, bishop of Tarentaise, France, in a letter to the clergy of his diocese, gives an account of an audience he had with the pope on April 17. Among the questions discussed was whether the clergy should intervene in electoral conflicts. There were differences of opinion expressed on the subject even by the bishops, some advising abstention, others intervention. Mgr. Lacroix was among the former, basing his attitude upon instructions by Leo XIII. He now, says a despatch, has received similar counsel from Pius X. in almost similar terms. The pope explains:—

"When I was bishop of Mantua and afterwards patriarch of Venice, I found conflicts between the people and the parish priests almost always originated in some questions affecting elections. In those delicate matters the faithful are very susceptible and suspicious when a priest attempts to encroach upon their independence in order to induce them to vote in any particular way; and, above all, when he is so imprudent as to reproach them after elections with having cast their votes on the wrong side, he arouses a bitter animosity which infallibly compromises his sacred functions. Nothing could be more laudable than for a priest to take advantage of his right as a citizen to vote in accordance with his conscience, but if he should unhappily run into the electoral fray he soon would lose that esteem and sympathy which he needs for the fruitful exercise of his spiritual mission. This rule applies not only to Italian priests, but to the clergy of all countries in which universal suffrage is in force."

This counsel is so eminently sane that it may well be accepted by the non-Catholic clergy with advantage to themselves and the cause of which they are the professed champions, without any fear of being open to any surrender of their principles.

DESPONDENT WOMEN

Find New Health in the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A few years ago Mrs. James R. Stuart, of Thorold, Ont., who is well known to most of the residents of that town, found her health severely shattered as the result of an attack of anaemia. As told practically in her own words, Mrs. Stuart says: "My blood was turned almost to water; I suffered from nerve racking headaches, and the least exertion would cause my heart to palpitate so violently as to render me almost breathless. I wasted away in flesh and often was so weak that I could not walk about. I was under the care of a good doctor, but as I was not getting better, I grew melancholy and despondent, and felt I was becoming a hopeless invalid. At this stage I was advised to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking them, thinking it would be a miracle if they ever helped me. To my great gratification when I had been using the pills less than a month I found my health improving. I used about a dozen boxes in all and found myself enjoying once more the blessing of good health. I had been reduced to almost a skeleton in appearance, and while taking the pills gained over twenty pounds in weight. I gratefully recommended the pills to other ailing women."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest blood builder and nerve tonic known to medical science. Through their use pale cheeks are made rosy, dull eyes made bright, and thin, wasted figures made plump. Every dose makes new, rich red blood that drives out disease and strengthens every organ in the body. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DISTRICT DOINGS.

DRESDEN

May 18.—Jas. Kimmereley left on Monday for the Northwest. If he succeeds in securing a satisfactory position as an engineer, he will locate permanently in that part of Canada.

Roy Carscallen and Jas. Anderson spent yesterday fishing at Mitchell's Bay.

Miss Sara McVean, who is taking a medical course in Toronto, arrived home last night. Names and addresses of old boys and girls are being sent in at a good rate, but the committee expects a much larger number than has been received. So if you have not yet made out your list, do so at once, and leave at the Times or Standard offices as soon as possible.

C. H. Metzgar and Will Weston spent yesterday at the Bay. The entertainment given by the Parsonage Guild in the Opera House last evening was an event which will be long remembered by music lovers of our town. The selections given by the choir proved their claim to the title of the best choir in Wallaceburg, and it is needless to say, the large audience was delighted with the singing of Miss Ruby Gordon. This was her first appearance in Dresden and all who heard her last night, hope she will honor our town more than once again in the future. The opera house was filled to the doors with an appreciative audience, who were more than pleased with the quality of the entertainment.

IF YOU TAKE IT AT THE START

And Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets 'You'll Never Really Know What Dyspepsia Means.

The time to cure indigestion is right at the start, before it makes eating a terror and sleeping a nightmare; before it gets firmly fixed in the body with all its aches and despondency.

Take it right at the start and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure it so quickly you will never realize what dyspepsia really means.

But if your indigestion has become dyspepsia and got you firmly in its clutches there is no reason to despair. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured thousands of cases just as bad as yours. They'll do it again. They never fail. Take the case of Gene Trudel of Three Rivers, Quebec. He says: "My Dyspepsia made alarming progress to the point that I was discouraged. Every day saw me almost in despair, when I gave Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial. To-day I have no headache, no weariness, no pain. I am cured."

BLENHEIM

May 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Russell and son, of Columbus, Ind., are here on a visit to the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Russell.

The funeral took place to-day of Loambi Burk, of the 3rd Con., who died on Saturday last at the age of 49 years, of tuberculosis of the muscles. The service was conducted at the Universalist Church by the Rev. L. P. Jones, after which the remains were interred at the Evergreen Cemetery. It was one of the largest funerals there has been here for a long time, as the deceased was well known and highly respected.

L. H. Edmonds is in Cleveland on business.

Wm. McDougall, of the 2nd concession, is able to be around again, with the help of crutches.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clayton, of Oury, have moved into the house they bought recently from J. R. Grist, on Sandy St.

T. G. Stegmann, of Gordon McKay & Co's, Toronto, was in town on business yesterday. It is with regret that we hear of the resignation of Dr. Jamieson. The reverend gentleman for over eight years has had charge of three churches of the Presbyterian denomination—at Bridge End, Bethel and English's. He has lived in town since he took charge of those congregations, and will be greatly missed by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

Skin, Scalp and Blood Humours

From Pimples to Scrofula, from Infancy to Age

Speedily Cured by Cuticura when All Else Fails.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalded head; the facial disfigurements, as in acne and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt-rheum—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy, have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, with a hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent, to cool and cleanse the blood. This complete local and constitutional treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning and scaly humours of the skin, scalp and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure when all else fails.

Cuticura Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Castles Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. ## INDIA'S SACRED SNAKES.

When a Native Is Bitten the Victim Is Honored Rather Than Pitted—Act of a God.

Snares in India are sacred to the gods. When a Hindu is bitten by a snake it is considered the act of a god, and the victim is honored rather than pitied. While his death is deplored, no doubt, he has been removed from this poor earthly sphere to a much more happy and honorable condition in the other world. Therefore, while it is scarcely true that the Hindus like to be killed by snake poison, they will do very little to protect themselves or cure the bites. Nor do they like to have the reptiles killed for fear of provoking the gods that look after them. The snake gods are numbered by hundreds of thousands, and shrines have been erected to them in every village and on every highway. If a pious Hindu peasant sees a snake he will seldom run from it, but will remain still and offer a prayer, and if it bites him and he dies, his heirs and relatives will erect a shrine to his memory. The honor of having a shrine erected to one's memory is highly appreciated.

Snake charmers are found in every village. They are usually priests, monks or sorcerers, and may generally be seen in the neighborhood of Hindu temples and tombs. They carry from two to twenty hideous reptiles of all sizes in the folds of their robes, generally next to their naked bosoms, and when they see a chance of making a few coppers from a stranger they draw them out as casually and play with them as if they were pets. Usually the fangs have been carefully extracted so that the snakes are really harmless. At the same time they are not agreeable companions. Sometimes snake charmers will allow their pets to bite them, and, when the blood appears upon the surface of the skin, they place lozenges of some black absorbent upon the wounds to suck up the blood and then sell them at high prices for charms and amulets.

The Land of Silent Wives.

The lives of the upper class ladies in Corea are, we are told, passed in absolute seclusion so far as masculine society is concerned. As etiquette forbids their going out in the daytime—except on rare occasions, and then only as the occupants of closed chairs—the entire day is spent within the courts of the houses. Here the feminine portion of the family employ their time in embroidering and sewing, varied by the reading of light literature and gossip. Outdoor exercise may, however, be taken in the evening between the hours of eight and twelve, during which time the main population is debarred from patrolling the city. It is a strange and weird sight, travelers tell us, to see the darkened streets filled with one and a half million women, who can only make their way along by the lamps borne by servant escorts. Custom decrees that at this late hour ladies may be permitted to visit feminine friends with—of course—the consent of their husbands, to whom an account must be given of all their movements abroad.

End of China's Great Wall.
Shan-hai-Kwan, where the Chinese are massing their troops, is remarkable as being the point at which the Great Wall of China ends on the Manchurian frontier. Our sketch shows the end of the wall.

Japanese Child Actors.

At one of the principal theatres of Tokio the plays are played entirely by children, who are all, we are sure, perfectly well-fitted for their arduous roles. All these little people are between the ages of eight and thirteen, and they go through their parts, often of the most tragic character, with an intelligence and precision which is quite marvellous. A great deal of the public dancing is done by children also, who, at a very tender age, are compelled to go through a most severe training, including the performance of gymnastics, for acquiring suppleness and agility; whilst their little fingers have to be artificially hardened to enable them to play the tambourine. They are allowed but little sleep, and have early to get accustomed to extremes of temperature. Indeed, the lot of the Japanese child-actor is not altogether an enviable one, it is to be feared.

Pins have been found among the Egyptian mummies and in the prehistoric caves of Switzerland.

Transforming three meals into a full day's work is a pretty intricate and trying process.
The point about "FORCE" is that it meets Digestion more than half way and the two work hand in hand to accomplish it.

Barley meal, when combined with wheat, partially digests it. This saves your poor stomach a lot of hard work. "FORCE" is Whole Wheat malted, baked, and cooked into a delicious Brain and Brawn food.

THE CLEANING CLOSET.

Every House Should Have One in an Accessible Place.

The suggestion which the Cooking Club makes apropos of setting aside a closet in the house for cleaning fluids and material is a capital one. Who cannot recall the annoyance arising from having to wear an ink stained gown or a shirt waist freckled with cherry stains because one hadn't anything to remove the ugly disfigurement with?

"If possible have the cleaning closet separate from the regular medicine closet, so that in case of sudden illness there will be no danger of getting the bottles mixed," advises this magazine. "Have all bottles plainly marked. If a special cupboard cannot be spared for the cleaning fluids, place them on a separate shelf and label the shelf in order that any one can go there and find the required drug without trouble."

"Ammonia, wood alcohol and gasoline for the liquids and French chalk, cornmeal and pipe clay for dry cleaning are absolute necessities. Each household has special things that it invariably uses for cleansing and renovating, and doubtless one is as good as another, but the important thing is to have them in an accessible place and where they can be had at a moment's notice."

How long will it take the man to fill the sack if he does not stop the leak?

To attempt to nourish the body when the stomach is diseased is like trying to fill the sack with the hole in it. When the stomach and other digestive and nutritive organs are diseased, there is a constant loss of nutrition. Enough is eaten but the body loses flesh, plain proof that the food eaten is largely wasted because it is not digested and assimilated.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutritive organs. It stops the leaks by which nutrition is lost, and enables the building up of the body by the nutrition derived from food. The gain in weight proves the cure.

"Three years ago I was taken sick with what the doctor called nervousness and indigestion," writes Mrs. Warren E. Parker, of Orange Street, Nantucket, Mass. "He gave me medicine for the trouble, but I could not eat even a little toast or oatmeal without suffering severely. In a few months I began to have distressing pains right in the pit of my stomach. I called the doctor again and he said I had catarrh of stomach; he gave me medicine but it did not do any good. I lost 25 pounds in three months. I then commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine and soon began to feel better. I have taken six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' two of 'Favorite Prescription' and six vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. I have gained ten pounds. Can eat everything."

CHARM OF MANNER.

It is the Most to be Desired of All Gifts to Women.

It is a curious fact that nothing plays a greater part in a woman's career than a charming manner, yet nothing is taught and cultivated less. To be gracious without being patronizing on the one hand or too gushing on the other, all this requires cultivation and is not attained in a day. That illusive attribute known as charm is still more difficult, if not impossible, to acquire. Is it not inborn and not to be acquired, strive we ever so hard?

Certain it is that this charm is the most to be desired of all the good gifts the fairy godmothers have to bestow. Beauty may fade and riches may fly away and health and youth be swallowed up by the years as they pass, but that charm will ever remain, more potent, more soul satisfying, than beauty and riches and even youth itself. How often does not one see this exemplified in society by the popularity of some woman who apparently possesses little or nothing to justify such success and who nevertheless is courted and admired and of whom every one says, "Isn't she charming?"

You agree that she is and wonder why. Other women you know, better looking, younger, better dressed perhaps—though the really charming woman is never badly dressed—and yet they lack just something which attracts you in the other woman as it attracts others. What is it? You ask yourself, and you come to the conclusion it is something which, for want of a better name, you call "charm."

FOLDING DOORS.

When They Are Unwisely Removed They Spoil the Drapery.

Folding doors are sometimes unwisely and blameworthy removed to hide them from view with curtains of any pretensions. However, they can be done away with and the vacant space decorated, as shown in the illustration. The doors are entirely removed and a deep mold ing fixed round the vacant space, bordering it, as it were. A wooden archway, much fretted and quite inexpensive to carry out, is placed across the top, and from the center depends the artistically carved, scarlet silk drapery, passed through three parts of the wooden carving. All the woodwork should be enameled either cream or ivory figure and the drapery of plain or figured silk, bordered with silk ball fringe. This has a singularly light and dainty effect. This idea for disposing of folding doors is especially to be commended where the room space is small, and by it a much larger and prettier room can be obtained.

A Pleasant Voice.

A pleasant voice is surely something worth having, but how many girls seem to think so? They will spend hours over their clothes, complexion, carriage, hair and teeth and never give their voice a thought. Those other things should not of course be neglected, but if any one of them was wrong how quickly a girl would be to improve it, and why does she not think of what is equally important? An agreeable, cultivated voice can be acquired, just as a pleasant expression can, if you take a little care and trouble. Of course a few lessons in voice culture are a great help, but you can do it quite as well yourself if you persevere. The pitch of the voice is most important, and if this is high the work of lowering it should be the first thing to do. Soon the right pitch will become habitual, and the great point is gained.

How to Get Taller.

That little woman can grow taller—even an inch in height by proper exercise—is the verdict of a physical teacher. If a woman is short and stout, to grow taller she must first reduce her flesh by dieting and thorough exercise. Walking is the best way of reducing. Then when she has reduced until she is in just the right proportion to her height she must endeavor to grow taller. This is the slowest and most tedious process. She must practice deep breathing and have regular exercises, such as hanging by her hands and always standing erect. Massage is excellent for keeping the body in good condition and when the desired height is once gained should be kept up regularly, just as are the exercise and deep breathing.

Slaves to Children.

Many kind, devoted, even self sacrificing, mothers find the result of their children's bringing up very unsatisfactory. The complaint is that they have given up everything for their children, granted every wish and indulged every whim, and yet they have grown up to be anything but helps and blessings. There is just where the trouble lies. Let the children sacrifice something for the mother and father save their steps and help them all they can in their things. The old saying is that as the twig is bent so will it grow, and the first impressions made on children's minds remain through future

What hotel is the matter with Blenheim?

Welcome home, Old Boys. We're glad you're coming.

They were good wax work figures—but they laughed.

C. O. B's are proud of it and they'll acknowledge the corn.

The Chatham Old Boys have already begun to hit the home trail.

"Made in Canada" is a success, but success isn't a half strong enough word.

Hurray for the Re-union as much as you like, but don't forget to decorate.

I move that the directors of the West Kent Fair hand it over to the ladies of St. Andrew's church to manage.

I off my chapeau to the ladies of St. Andrew's church. They're whirlwinds when it comes to managing anything.

Brighten up your places with a little paint. "A little paint works wonders," as the St. Thomas old maid said when concluding her toilet.

The Historical march last night was splendid. I always knew that Chatham girls were pretty, but I never knew they were so pretty before.

And, by-the-way, that reminds me the The Planet's handsome Art Souvenir is Made-in-Canada—in fact it's made right in the office of this Great Home Journal.

A Blenheim man says it's bad enough to have a champagne thirst with a beer income, but when you have a champagne income and can't get the beer—well, it's fierce.

In a recent issue of the Walkerton Telegraph a remarkable story is told of how a calf lived in a straw-stack four months without having a drop of water. Wonder if Blenheim people could do the same if their pumps went dry.

It was Bill who sallied into this of yesterday and remarked, "Say, I don't like the way those Darrell boys have of coming into Chatham and doing their thrashing on Tecumseh Park. We Maple City people don't like the chaff that results."

AT MADE IN CANADA TO-NIGHT. Eat and the world eats with you. Be stingy and you'll stay at home.

DAILY ROMANCE

Herbert stopped rowing, ostensibly to rest.

"Amelia," he said, with an elaborate affectation of unconcern to the young woman sitting in the stern of the boat, "there's a friend of mine that's head over heels—head over ears, I mean—in love with a beautiful girl, but he's too big a coward—that's what he says—to ask her, you know, if—"

Here his voice trembled a little, and he paused to wipe his perspiring brow.

"Beautiful girl, is she?" queried the young woman, idly dipping her fingers in the water at the side of the boat.

"Loveliest in the world—that's what he says, I mean."

"What are you telling me about him for?"

"Well, he—he asked me what if I thought he'd better do, and I couldn't advise him: I suppose—I'd be just as big coward as he is. That's why I'm asking you. What do you think he ought to do?"

"I am sure I don't know," Herbert gasped, swallowed—and changed the subject.

"Isn't this water clear?" he said. "You can see the sand and the stones, at the bottom. How deep it is, and yet how transparent."

"Yes," she said. "So like you, Herbert!"

"Dear girl," he whispered, 15 minutes later, as he stroked her pompador, carelessly, "how did you know I was telling you my own story?"

"O, you goose!"—Chicago Tribune.

Up-to-date Millinery. C. Austin & Co. Fashionable Dressmaking.

LEADERSHIP IN MILLINERY! MILLINERY!

The trimmed millinery for this Spring and Summer will teach you better than ever before that we mean to hold the lead for style. We couldn't have such a varied stock and keep so many busy fingers going if we didn't.

You'll get a good idea of what we can do by looking in the cases. Perhaps we can do better. We have the materials, some good ideas and experienced milliners who work quickly.

No looking backward. More new ideas in hats, shapes and trimmings come to swell the record of sales and add laurels to the department. Most impossible to discount our work this season.

Flowers are the fashion. One finds them everywhere, on everything. And such an assortment. There's an air and grace and character about them that give the magic touch of style and beauty to the entire millinery display.

We commenced our trimmed-to-order work for style and originality. We'd hardly know how to get along without it. The women folks would blame us if we tried.

To stop at the Trimmed Hats and Bonnets would be only half the business. Reasonable prices are our keynote for trimmed-to-order work. Best skill, best variety and less to pay.

NEW STYLES IN LADIES' SHIRT WAISTS

We're ready for the biggest kind of trade in fine shirtwaists. The stock easily discounts everything in the past, with such values as never before seemed possible. Such an assortment of styles as no other store in Chatham can or will show.

We understand thoroughly what kind of garments are in demand and we're well supplied with all the new ideas of style and make up that wide awake buyers expect. If we could present a name to describe their real value we'd sell ten where we now sell one. They show for themselves on the street as they do in the store, but we wish there was a newspaper way of proving how different these are from others.

At 75c—Range of sizes from 32 to 42, of fine white lawn, neatly finished with cluster tucking and hemstitching.

At 89c—Of fine white lawn, finished with wide hemstitched pleats.

At 2.25—Of fine linen front, are of all-over embroidery, with back and sleeves tucked.

At 2.25—Of fine white lawn, tucked in clusters, trimmed down the front with three rows of wide lace insertion, one row down back and sleeves.

At 3.50—Of sheer lawn, with pattern front of all-over embroidery, back and sleeves trimmed with insertion and pleats.

18 SAMPLE WAISTS—Of white lawn and muslin, with lace and insertion trimming, yoke effect and various designs; one only of each pattern; regular prices ranging up to $4.50, prices of samples from 50c to $3.00.

No need to touch them up with words to make them more attractive. The words are useful perhaps to call your attention to them, but it does not need advertising to see them.

They sell themselves and then advertise their kind, right sort of advertising too and inexpensive.

The B. & C. Corset

We have one of the largest corset trades in the city and we are anxious to make it still larger, so have placed in stock another well-known Corset, manufactured by Brush & Co., Toronto. The models are entirely different to any of our other makes, and are made with the non-steel eyelet.

At 50 Cents—Ladies' girdles made of Batiste, straight front, warranted steel filled, nicely trimmed with lace.

At $1.00—Ladies' golf girdle, an American idea, and a suitable corset for summer wear, made of light batiste.

At $1.00—Ladies' straight front corset of Batiste, all steel filled, dip hip or long hip, low bust, nicely trimmed.

A PRESENT FOR THE OLD FOLKS.

FOR THE STOMACH'S SAKE. An eminent physician says, "human life should last five times the years it takes to mature"—thus if twenty-one is maturity we should live over a hundred years, but there are not many reach the century mark. A great deal more longevity would exist if the stomach did not get crippled and played out. That organ gets plenty of abuse, and is deserving of attention. It is the starting point of most ailments, and it needs the first attention when symptoms of sickness appear. If an elderly stomach can be kept working right, you may be sure of a ripe and contented old age, comparatively free from physical burdens. The great new discovery, ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment, has a grand effect in helping old and deranged stomachs. Any aged person who will address a Postal to Wilson-Eyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., will get a free trial bottle by return mail.

REPLIES TO HIM

John Bessant, the inspector of the Adelaide Street pavement, takes exception to certain remarks made about him by Alderman G. G. Martin at the recent meeting of the City Council. "Mr. Martin says that I do not know a pick from a shovel," said Mr. Bessant to The Planet. "Now I think I have done enough work for the city of Chatham to bear me out when I say that Alderman Martin's attack was unwarranted. He says I am not a capable inspector because I have not got more men working on the Adelaide Street sewer. Now a matter of fact only three or four men can work on it at once successfully. The land there is made of sand and caves in easily and a whole gang of men would only be in the way. I have three men working on it now and will have four men on it to-morrow morning. The work will be completed in two weeks' time. I have put down many sewers in Chatham and I have acted as inspector over many more and I think I should be given a little credit for knowing it. This is the first time I have heard of any complaint about my work."

TILBURY SPECIAL RATES

May 18.—Rev. N. Shaw, of Egmondville, formerly of Tilbury, was renewing acquaintances here yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, of Detroit, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart. At a meeting of the council on Monday evening, the residents on Canal St. brought forward two petitions, one asking that the proposed new Sider walk be laid on the inside, and the other that they be put on the outside of the trees along the street. It was finally decided, to satisfy the majority, that the walk be laid on the inside of the trees on the north side of the street, and outside the trees on the south side, which may make the street look a little peculiar. ### CHAPTER III.

NOTHING day passed, then two. Before Wilbur knew it he had settled himself to his new life, and woke one morning to the realization that he was positively enjoying himself. Daily the weather grew warmer. The fifth day out from San Francisco it was actually hot. The pitch grew soft in the Bertha Miller's deck seams; the masts sweated resin. The Chinamen went about the decks wearing but their jeans and blouses. Kitchell had long since abandoned his coat and vest. Wilbur's skin became intolerable, and he was at last constrained to trade his pocketknife to Charlie for a suit of jeans and wicker sandals such as the coolies wore, and odd enough he looked in them.

The captain instructed him in steering and even promised to show him the use of the sextant and how to take an observation in the fake short and easy easting style of navigation. Furthermore, he showed him how to read the log and the manner of keeping the dead reckoning.

During most of his watches Wilbur was engaged in painting the inside of the cabin, door panels, hatches and the few scattered moldings, and toward the middle of the first week out, when the Bertha Miller was in the latitude of Point Conception, he and three Chinamen, under Kitchell's direction, rattled down the fore rigging and affixed the crow's nest upon the foremast. The next morning during Charlie's watch on deck a Chinaman was sent up into the crow's nest, and from that time on there was always a lookout maintained from the masthead.

More than once Wilbur looked around him at the empty curving indigo of the ocean floor, wondering at the necessity of the lookout, and finally expressed his curiosity to Kitchell. The captain had by now taken not a little to Wilbur, at first for the sake of a white man's company and afterward because he began to place a certain vague reliance upon Wilbur's judgment. Kitchell had remarked as how he had brains.

"Well, you see, son," Kitchell explained to Wilbur, "os-tensibles we are after shark liver oil, an' so we are, but also we are on any lay that turns up ready for any game from wrecking to barstray. Strike me, if I haven't thought of scuttling the dough dish for her insurance. There's regular trade, son, to be done in ships, an' then there's pickin's an' pickin's an' pickin's. Do you know there's millions made out of the day-bree and refuse of a big city? How about an ocean's day-bree? Just chew on that notion a turn. An' as for a lookout, lemme tell you, son, cast your eye out-ya." And he swept the sea with a forearm. "Nothin', hey? So it looks, but lemme tell you, son, there ain't no manner of place on the ball of dirt where you're likely to run up aful of so many things—unexpected things—as at sea. When you're clear o' land lay to this here piece—'A million to one on the unexpected.' The next day fell almost dead calm.

The hale, lanky lunged nor'wester that had scouted them forth from the Golden Gate had lapped to a sloop. The schooner reeled lazily southward with the leisurely nonchalance of a grazing ox. At noon, just after dinner, a few cat's paws curdled the milky blue whiteness of the glassy surface, and the water once more began to talk beneath the bowsprit. It was very hot. The sun spun silently like a spinning brass discus over the mainmast. On the fo'c'stle head the Chinamen were asleep or smoking opium. It was Charlie's watch. Kitchell dozed in his hammock in the shadow of the main-sheet. Wilbur, was below tinkering with his paint pot about the cabin. The stillness was profound. It was the stillness of the summer sea at high noon.

The lookout in the crow's nest broke the quiet. "Hy-yah, hy-yah!" he cried, leaning from the barrel and calling through an arched palm. "Hy-yah, one, two, plenty, many turtle, topside watah; hy-yah, all same turtle."

"Hello, hello!" cried the captain, rolling from his hammock. "Turtle? Where away?" "I tinkum 'bout qualah mile, mebbe, four piece turtle all same weatha bow."

"Turtle, hey? Down y'r wheel, Jim; haul y'r jib to win'ward," he commanded the man at the wheel; then to the men forward: "Get the dory overboard. Son, Charlie and you, Wags, watah in. Wake up now and see you stay so."

The dory was swung over the side, and the men dropped into her and took their places at the oars. "Give way," cried the captain, settling himself in the bow, with the gaff in his hand. "Hey, Jim!" he shouted to the lookout far above. "Hey, lay our course for us." The lookout nodded, the oars fell, and the dory shot forward in the direction indicated by the lookout.

"Kin you row, son?" asked Kitchell, with sudden suspicion. Wilbur smiled. "You ask Charlie and Wing to ship their oars and give me a pair." The captain complied hesitatingly. "Now, what," he said grimly—"now, what do you think you're going to do, sonny?" "I'm going to show you the Bob Cook stroke we used in our boat in '95, when we beat Harvard," answered Wilbur.

Kitchell gazed doubtfully at the first few strokes, then with growing interest watched the tremendous reach, the powerful knee drive, the swing, the easy catch and the perfect recover. The dory was cutting the water like a gasoline launch, and between strokes there was the least possible dimming of the speed. "I'm a bit out of form just now," remarked Wilbur, "and I'm used to the almighty seat, but I guess I'll do."

Kitchell glanced at the human machine that once was No. 5 in the Yale boat and then at the water hissing from the dory's bows. He spat over the bows and sucked the nicotine from his mustache thoughtfully. "I see-marked," he observed, "as how you had brains, my son."

A few minutes later the captain, who was standing in the dory's bow and alternately conning the ocean's surface and looking back to the Chinaman standing on the schooner's mast-head, uttered an exclamation: "Steady! Ship your oars! Quiet, now! Quiet, you fools! We're right on 'em. Four of 'em, an' big as dinin' tables!"

The ears were shipped. The dory's speed dwindled. "Out your paddles, sit on the gun! and paddle ee-asy." The hands obeyed. The captain's voice dropped to a whisper. His back was toward them, and he gestured with one free hand. Looking out over the water from his seat on the gun, Wilbur could make out a round greenish mass like a patch of floating seaweed just under the surface some sixty yards ahead.

"Easy, sta'board," whispered the captain under his elbow. "Go ahead, port. Ee-asy all! Steady! Steady!" The affair began to assume the intensity of a little drama—a little drama of the sea. In spite of himself, Wilbur was excited. He even found occasion to observe that the life was not so bad after all. This was as good fun as stalking deer. The dory moved forward by inches. Kitchell's whisper was as faint as a dying infant's. "Steady all, steady, steady!" He lunged forward sharply with the gaff and shouted aloud: "I got him! Grab hold his tail flippers, you fool swabs—grab hold quick! Don't you leggo! Got him there, Charlie! If he gets away, you swine, I'll rip y' open with the gaff! Heave now—heave—there—there—son, stand clear his nippers. Strike me, he's a whacker! I thought he was going to get away. Saw me just as I swung the gaff an' ducked his nut."

Over the side, bundled without ceremony into the boat, clawing, thrashing, clattering and blowing like the exhaust of a donkey engine, tumbled the great green turtle, his wet green shield of shell three feet from edge to edge, the gaff firmly transfixed in his body just under the fore flipper. From under his shell protruded his snake-like head and neck, withered like that of an old man. He was waving his head from side to side, the jaws snapping like a snapped silk handkerchief. Kitchell thrust him away with a paddle. The turtle craned his neck and, catching a bit of wood in his jaw, bit it in two in a single grip.

"I tol' you so—I tol' you to stand clear his snapper. If that had been your shin now, eh? Hello! What's that?" "Faintly across the water came a prolonged hallooing from the schooner. Kitchell stood up in the dory, shading his eyes with his hat.

"What's the 'em now?" he muttered, with the readiness of a captain away from his ship. "Oughta left Charlie on board, er you, son. Who's doin' that yellin'? I can't make out." "Up in the crow's nest," exclaimed Wilbur. "It's Jim. See; he's waving his arms."

"Well, whadus he wave his blasted arms for?" growled Kitchell, angry because something was going forward he did not understand. "There, he's shouting again. Listen—I can't make out what he's yelling."

"He'll yell to a different pipe when I get my grip of him. I'll twist the head of that swab till he'll have to walk backward to see where he's goin'. Whadus he wave his arms for—whadus he yell like a philly-oo bird for? What's him say, Charlie?" "Jim heep sing, no can tell. Mebbe tunkum sing, come back chop-chop."

"We'll see. Come out, men; give way. Now, son, put a little of that Yale stingo in the stroke." In the crow's nest Jim still yelped and waved like one distraught, while the dory returned at a smart clip toward the schooner. Kitchell lathered with fury.

"Oh-h," he murmured softly through his gritted teeth, "jess lemme lay mee two hands aful of you wunst, you gibbering, yellow philly-oo bird! Believe me, you'll dance! Shut up!" he roared. "Shut up, you crazy do-do, ain't we comin' fast as we can?"

The dory bumped alongside, and the captain was over the rail like quicksilver. The hands were all in the bow, looking and pointing to the west. Jim slid down the ratlines, bubbling over with suppressed news. Before his feet had touched the deck Kitchell had kicked him into the stays again, fulminating blasphemousities.

"Sing!" he shouted as the Chinaman clambered away like a bewildered ape. "Sing a little more! I would if I were you. Why don't you sing and wave, you fool philly-oo bird?" "Yas, sah," answered the coolie. "What you yell for? Charlie, ask him whafo him sing."

"I tinkum ship," answered Charlie calmly, looking over the starboard quarter. "Ship!" "Him velly sick," hazarded the Chinaman from the ratlines, adding a sentence in Chinese to Charlie.

"He says he tinkum ship sick, all same; ask me something—ship velly sick." (To Be Continued.)

BY

Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Benjamin Brooks, a well-known farmer of West Cape, P.E.I., tells of how his son was cured of Kidney Disease, and how he was cured of Backache.

The First Sign of Kidney Trouble.

He says: "Our little boy was troubled with kidney disease. We had tried many kinds of kidney pills but they only helped for a time. We got Doan's Kidney Pills and one box effected a perfect cure. About six weeks after this I caught a very bad cold that settled in my kidneys. My back was so sore I could hardly walk. I went to the drug store and got a box, took them according to directions and the result was that my back was completely cured. I believe they are the best kidney pill on the market to-day."

There is not a kidney trouble from Backache to Bright's Disease that Doan's Kidney Pills will not relieve or cure. The price is 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 and may be procured at all dealers or from

I saw B.B.B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. Dainty Lingerie Affairs to Be Worn Under Short Coats.

Under the new short boleros will be worn some very smart specimens of batiste shirt waists ornamented with valenciennes lace and embroideries or quaint muslin embroideries. The Nice Woman.

The term "nice" has been so over-taxed that it has come to convey a rather vague meaning apart from the general idea of agreeableness. It is really a comprehensive term, embracing all the desirable qualities in a woman. A nice woman says "Good morning" as if she meant it, and she shakes your hand in the same hearty way. She shows real sympathy for suffering and is eager to relieve you. She does not rail at the weather or at petty inconveniences. The woman who is designated "nice" does not inflict her friends with her bodily ailments and petty cares. In other words, the really nice woman is reasonably optimistic.

Even a versatile woman musician may have a propensity for harping on one string.

"It is the little rift within the lute which ever widening, makes the music mute." It is just a little rift in the health of a woman often, which gradually takes the spring from her step, the light from her eyes, the rose from her cheek and the music from her voice. Perhaps the bug-bear which has frightened the woman from the timely help needed at the beginning has been the dreaded questions, the obnoxious examination, the local treatments, of the home physician. There is no need for these. Nor is there need for continued suffering; Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can be relied on by every woman, suffering from what are called "female troubles," to renew the health and cure the disease. Women are astonished at the results of the use of this medicine. It not only makes weak women "robust and rosy cheeked," but it gives them back the vigor and vitality of youth.

MASS MEETING FOR RE-UNION

Splendid Progress Being Made for the Great Coming Carnival.

What the Various Committees are Doing—A Very Encouraging Outlook.

A very large and enthusiastic meeting of the Old Boys' Re-union organizers was held at Harrison Hall last night with the president, Dr. Hall, in the chair.

Secretary Scane opened the meeting with a short address, in which he spoke of the hard work that was being done by all committees to insure the re-union being a great success. "This re-union will be a great advertisement for Chatham," said Mr. Scane, "and many, who come and see how greatly our city has gone ahead and how much more beautiful it looks will, I feel sure, decide to make their home again. After much effort, we have induced the railroads to make even lower rates than at first." In conclusion, Mr. Scane impressed on the several committees the great importance of strenuous work.

The various committees were then called on for reports. Treasurer George W. Cowan, of the Finance committee, reported his committee had $1,200 in sight from different sources.

Secretary J. M. Pike, of the Entertainment committee, said arrangements had been made to have the 48th Highlanders for the 3rd of June. They would give a parade in the morning and a concert in the rink in afternoon and evening. Secretary Scane reported that he and the Mayor had wired on Col. Rankin in reference to having the Regiment parade. Col. Rankin and the officers of the Regiment were to have a meeting that night and would then decide.

The question of setting aside a certain day as a holiday was brought up, but this was not thought feasible. After some discussion it was decided to appoint a committee to interview manufacturers regarding giving their consent to allowing employees off on a certain day to attend in a parade. This committee consists of John A. Morton, B. Bloude, F. B. Stevens and O. L. Lewis. They will meet at Bloude's factory to-day to plan out their interviews.

The Decorating committee are now at work estimating cost of decorating a number of members of the veteran firemen were present at the meeting. Chief Pritchard said the veterans had made arrangements for reception of visiting veterans, also for parades and a banquet at the Auditorium. All these arrangements were found to fit in satisfactorily with the Old Boys' Re-union plans.

After some discussion over various plans, etc., the meeting broke up, and everyone present felt success was assured on account of enthusiasm shown.

Britain Building Sixty Three Vessels for Maintenance of Navy.

London, May 17.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Austen Chamberlain, defending in the House of Commons to-day the expenditure for the navy, said the necessity for the maintenance of a two-power standard had not changed. He trusted the country would not be involved in another great war, but if it occurred he hoped the House would not be unwilling to pay what was necessary to defend its honor. The Chancellor pointed out that Great Britain was now building 63 warships against the same number for France and Russia.

Mr. Chamberlain added that he entirely differed from those who thought the result of the Russo-Japanese war had been to wipe out one of the great navies of the world.

Here china, bronze lamps, fine tapestries—one in particular, representing Sir Walter Raleigh and the Clock scene, loaned by Mrs. Stirling of Dundas—Indian bead-work, etc., deserved careful observation.

Mother Jarley's wax-works brought in a hundred spectators at the first exhibition, and when it is explained that Miss Hill is the director, the success of this part of the fair is understood. R. Brackin as "George" was also a show in himself, side-splitting scenes, rivaling side-shows at any circus, were presented in the big tent. A change of program is promised for each evening. It is safe to say that financially, as well as otherwise, Miss Hill's temporary studio was in the lead last evening.

Miss Jessie Gemmill weighed nearly a hundred people at five cents a head and incidentally made lots of fun.

Those who have not seen W. Richards' confectionery exhibit should make it a point to do so. The representation in sugar of King Edward's bedroom is a marvel of "sweet art."

Alex. VonGuten has a very fine exhibit of souvenir jewelry, while Maclure's cut-glass ware is most costly and beautiful.

The various bazaars under the directorship of the married ladies, the young ladies, and the girls, are deserving of inspection and patronage, the prices being quite reasonable.

The central feature in the Exhibition is, of course, the grand and really patriotic display of the Chatham Gas Company. It is, to say the least, a credit in every way to that enterprising concern.

The Ice-cream Parlor, under the direction of Mrs. George Stephens and Mrs. D. Crombie, did a rushing business, every bit of ice-cream being sold out long before the close of the exhibition.

The Two T's exhibit of gentlemen's ties, etc., was under Miss Belle Stringer, and a large sale is reported from this booth, as also from Stone the Hatter's.

Mrs. D. S. Paterson, assisted by Miss E. Rispin, had a particularly tasty booth, where delicious cups of Cowan's Coron refreshed a large number of patrons.

The Watt Bros. exhibit, installed at considerable cost, shows complete bath-room fittings, as well as gas-stoves and other articles.

The Gray Carriage Company—both No. 1—have a full equipped outfit for a King Edward and decorations such as Mr. James Gray only, knows how to arrange and harmonize.

Mrs. Landon has a fancy stock of stationery in the Sulman booth which, no doubt, will bring a steady flow of patronage.

The Manson Campbell exhibit of fanning mills and incubators, particularly the latter, was very interesting. A brood of chickens is expected to hatch out to-day and no doubt many will be attracted by this novel exhibit.

The Ross exhibit of plants and flowers, presided over by Mesdames A. Bell and C. Bell, forms a very pretty picture, facing the main entrance.

Space will not permit even a mention of all the exhibits, nearly a hundred in number, and our readers must pay the exhibition a visit and see for themselves what is undoubtedly the best of its kind ever seen in the Maple City.

NOTES.

The part of Britannia, played by Mrs. D. Crombie in the tableau, was brilliant and correct in every detail. A grand supper is on the boards for this evening and a large crowd is expected.

ARE ALL PRETTY WOMEN?

Quite an unnecessary question, because so many women have such poor complexions. We want to tell all women with pale, sallow cheeks about Ferrozone, which quickly imparts fine color and gives the skin a clear, rich appearance. It's pure blood that makes fine complexions, so by producing lots of vitalizing blood, building up the debilitated system, increasing the circulation Ferrozone quickly brings the glow of health to faded cheeks. It's no trouble at all to beautify your looks—simply use Ferrozone. Try it. Price 50c. at druggists.

LAOLOSSE

Mickey O'Connor, who was with the Brantfords two years ago, is slated for the inside home position with the Chippewas. There are a good many worse players in the world than the gim-kneed Irishman. — Woodstock Express.

The Tecumseh held a good run-out on Tecumseh Park last evening. The boys are fast getting into shape and will make good account of themselves on May 24th with Detroit. The High school grounds have been secured for practice, and another full practice will be held to-morrow evening.

Tommy McFarlane took rather a cool bath last evening. He was attempting to get the ball out of the river when he slipped or, rather, was pushed in. He managed to get out all right, but very wet. He says the water is still a little cool for swimming.

The Best

The present is one of the best seasons of the year for making a start in any of our departments. It is now current talk throughout the country that the student who intends to take a business or shorthand course, and wants to be placed in a paying position when graduated should attend CHATHAM BUSINESS COLLEGE, Chatham, Ont.

Students of last year already earning over $1000 per annum, are placed in 11 months. Do you know of any other business school getting such results. We pay your railway fare. Have you seen our catalogue. If not write for it now.
