

ARTS BACCHANALIA SATURDAY TO FEATURE NOTED WRITER

by Peter Kent

David Walker, novelist, will be the guest speaker at the Arts Bacchanalia on Saturday, February 21.

The Bacchanalia will be held at the Kent Inn, starting at 6.30 p.m. It includes a banquet and a social evening, and will be the closing event of Arts Week.

Born in Scotland

Mr. Walker, who at present resides in St. Andrews, N.B., has twice won the Governor-General's Award for fiction.

He was born in Fife, Scotland, in 1911, and was educated at Shrewsbury and Sandhurst.

From 1931 until his retirement in 1947, Mr. Walker served as a member of the Black Watch Regiment.

He was Aid-de-Camp to Lord Tweedsmuir, when Governor-General of Canada, in 1938 and 1939. From 1946 to 1947, he served as Comptroller to the Viceroy of India.

Awarded Degree

In 1955, he was awarded an honorary D. Litt. from UNB.

Among Mr. Walker's best known novels are Geordie, 1950; Digby, 1953; and Harry Black, 1956.

Geordie was filmed in 1955 and Harry Black was made into

FEW OFFER FOR SRC POSTS

by Mary Jean McNichol

The names of the candidates in the forthcoming SRC elections have been released by SRC President Ron Manzer. Although there is a large number of offices to be contested, there appears to be only a few of the Council positions in which candidates will have to campaign.

The following is a complete list of the nominees who will be contesting at the polls, and of those who have been elected by acclamation.

Students' Representative Council

President of the SRC: Ted Boswell (Forestry 4), Art VanWart (Pre-Med 3), Richard Alexander (Bus Ad 3).

1st Vice-President: Douglas Caldwell (Bus Ad 3).

2nd Vice-President: Carol MacPherson (Arts 2).

Treasurer: Roy D. Davis (Bus Ad 2), Edward Daughney (Bus Ad 2).

Secretary: Jane Trimble (Arts 1).

President of the AAA: Don Bryant (ME 4), Gordon Mockler (Arts 3).

Vice-President: Hugh Millar (Arts 2).

Secretary: —

Chairman WUSC: Zeta Rosenberg (Arts 3).

Chairman NFCUS: Jim Ross (Bus Ad 2).

Class Representatives

Candidates for the 4 Senior Class Representatives are: Kathryn Hart (Arts), Al Brennan (Forestry), Robert Sutherland (Arts), Barry Yoell (Arts), David Petrie (Arts), Eric Jamieson (Arts).

Candidates for the 3 Intermediate Representatives are: William Sutherland (CE), Charles Daughney (EE), Stephen Hart (CE).

Candidates for the 3 Junior Representatives are: John MacLean (E), Finn Rimmer (E), Carl Redstone (Science), Allan Chandler (Bus Ad), Hugh Millar (Arts).

Candidates for the 3 Sophomore Representatives are: G. Ian Fergusson (Arts), Don Hammond (Forestry), Tom Sifton (Forestry), Bob Hallet (Forestry), Keith Thompson (Arts), Toby Rankin (Bus Ad), Fred Eaton (Arts), Andy Cote (E).

Class Executives

Nominations for class officers have been very few — in fact the Intermediates and the Juniors have no nominations. The following is the list of nominees for the Senior and Sophomore Classes:

President of the Senior Class: Paul Rennick.

Vice-President: John Peter Jolly.

Secretary-Treasurer: —

Vice-President: Jim Williams, Tom Sifton.

Secretary - Treasurer: John Ostrander, George Albers.

President Manzer has stated that the matter of no nominees for several posts will be brought up at the next SRC meeting.

Three Parties Active....

Joint Model Parliament March 6

On Tuesday Evening Dave Covert was elected chairman of the Joint Model Parliament Committee. This group is an associate effort on the part of all parties to be represented in this year's Model Parliament, tentatively scheduled for the N.B. Legislature on March 6.

Election for the Parliament will be held concurrently with the SRC elections of Feb. 25. Parties competing for seats will be Christian Athiests, Conservatives and Liberals.

This year's session will be the third Model Parliament to be held on the UNB Campus. In 1957 the Conservative Party had a majority of four seats in a 40-seat legislature, with 14 Liberals and four Social Credit members forming the opposition. Last year the Conservative minority government of 22 members lost the confidence of an opposition composed of 12 Liberals and 11 Christian Athiests shortly before the Parliament adjourned on Saturday afternoon.

The Social Credit Party has not been represented in the Model Parliament since its initial participation in 1957.

Canterbury Panel Discussion

Recently members of "Canterbury" heard a lively panel discussion, "Fighting Words", modelled on the well known television program of the same name. Panel members were: Professor Blue, Professor Brookshire, Professor Clark, and Rev. John Farmer. Tom Evans acted as moderator. Subjects discussed ranged from what constitutes a "great man" to the Christian position regarding war. The panel was considered a great success by those present and plans for similar meetings are being arranged for the near future.

Campus History Told

Professor W. S. MacNutt, in addressing the Arts Society meeting last Thursday, said that the students at UNB today lead a far more exciting life than the students did in the nineteenth century or at the beginning of this one.

Speaking on student traditions at the university, Prof. MacNutt told of the tenure of office of two former presidents and of some student activities that took place at that time.

He told of President Hea who was forced to leave the university after a student laid a charge of assault against him. The case was tried and the decision was in favour of the student who had suffered from the president's rough discipline.

Prof. MacNutt also told of the austere President Bryden Jack. Under this president, the famous "cannon episode" took place. President and students fought for seven years over the students' firing of a cannon at Encaenia.

The Burial of Anna was another student activity during Encaenia Week. Anna was analytic geometry.

Arts Ball Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets for the Arts Ball and the Bacchanalia are on sale every day at noon in the Student Centre and the Great Hall of the Arts Building.

The Arts Ball, the highlight of Arts Week, Feb. 15-21, will take place in the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel on Friday, February 20.

Robin Roberts and his orchestra will provide the music. Any member of the Arts Faculty, including the departments of Physical Education and Business Administration may attend. Each Artsman may bring guest couples with him.

Cost for admission to the Arts

Ball is $2.00 per couple. Cor-sages are not necessary.

The Bacchanalia will take place at the Kent Inn on Saturday, February 21. The evening will include a banquet, to be addressed by David Walker, followed by a social evening.

The Bacchanalia will be restricted to Artsmen and one guest if desired.

The cost for this occasion will be $2.00 each. If anyone wants to attend the social evening only, the admission is 25 cents each. The social evening begins at 9 p.m.

Tickets for the Bacchanalia must be purchased in advance.

SCM Summer Projects

Applications are now being received for participation in the summer works projects sponsored by the SCM of Canada, stated Craig Neylan, General Secretary of the SCM at UNB.

The projects, which consist of work in industrial and mental health centres, are organized through the summer months at these places:

Mental Health: Weyburn and Dartmouth, N.S.; Industrial: New Westminster, B.C., and Toronto; International: Toronto.

Interested persons are asked to contact Mr. Neylan either at Hut 3 — (behind the Chemistry Bldg.) or call 5-8142 or 5-3074.

UNB Debate Tonight

Two UNB debaters, Brigid Toole and David Case, will oppose St. Thomas debaters, Gary Briand and Paul Glynn, in a Maritime Intercollegiate Debating League contest to be held in the Student Centre at 7.30 p.m., tonight.

The resolution is: "Resolved that capital punishment be abolished". UNB will uphold the affirmative side as St. Thomas defends the negative.

Judges for the debate will be Dr. R. E. Balch, Director of the Forest Biology Laboratory; Mr. H. W. Hickman, Senior Counsel, Attorney-General's Department and Mr. D. A. Middlemiss, Di-

BRYAN PRIESTMAN LECTURES TO START TOMORROW NIGHT

The annual Bryan Priestman Memorial Lectures will be delivered at UNB tomorrow, Thursday and Friday by Dr. J. T. Wilson of the University of Toronto. Dr. Priestman was physics professor at UNB who lost his life while aiding a drowning friend in the St. John River on November 2, 1945.

Prof. Wilson's first lecture will be delivered on Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in Room 3 of the Chemistry Building on the subject "Mountain Building". The second lecture in the series will be given in Teacher's College Auditorium on Thursday evening, when Dr. Wilson's topic will be "The Results of IGY".

A final lecture in the series will be presented in the Chemistry Building on Friday morning at 11 a.m. All lectures are open to the general public, and all UNB students are urged to attend.

Dr. Bryan Priestman

rector of Curriculum and Research, Department of Education. This debate is the third and final one in UNB's MIDL series for this academic year. In other intercollegiate debates UNB lost split decisions to both Dalhousie and King's College in Halifax.

ARTS WEEK LAUNCHED

Message from the President . . .

I am very happy to have this opportunity to commend the members of the Arts Faculty for the greatly increased activity of the Arts Society during the present academic year. This is our oldest faculty. It has shown remarkable growth both in numbers and in strength during recent years, and the organization of our first Arts week is to be commended.

It is particularly gratifying to learn that we now have a student literary magazine on the campus, and I wish to congratulate the students who have worked so hard to make a success of the first issue of "Intervalles".

AND FROM OUR PROFESSORS

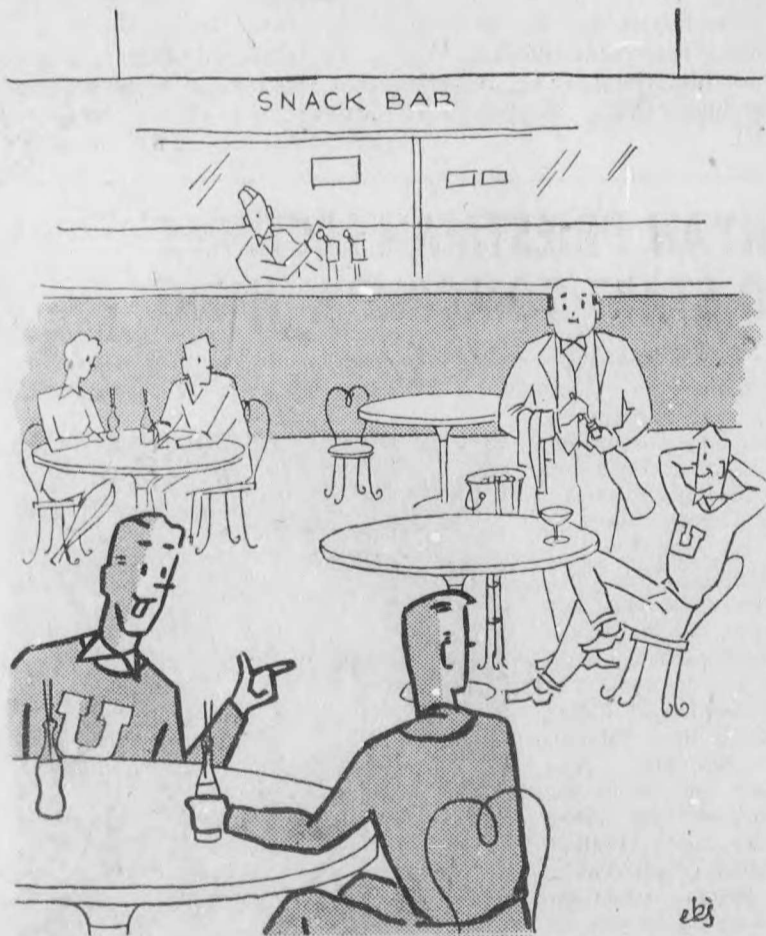

When encountered by our roving reporters and asked to make a statement regarding the proposal that co-eds be permitted to wear leotards to classes

..... NOTABLE QUOTES

Prof. Meagher seemed to be the lone supporter of the idea—"just for kicks", he agreed. Others, such as Dr. Bailey were a bit more reluctant to commit themselves—"Now, ladies and gentlemen". Prof. Maher found this a complicated "type of operation". Prof. Boote viewed it as a controversy and he was seconded by Prof. Sears' emphatic "purely and simply". Prof. MacNutt pondered the question, and then, "What do you think, Mr. Reporter, hmmm?" However, Prof. Chapin was a bit overcome, "lecherous, lewd, licentious!" "I don't agree, said Prof. Love, there being no doubt about his opinion on the matter.

Prof. Cogswell hesitated, "the difficulty is . . .". "By God", exclaimed Dr. Pacey and Prof. Clarke began, "Now, I don't want to labor the point, but . . ." Prof. Whalen elaborated for us, "you have schizoid and paranoid tendencies to such an extent that, in this day and age, are adequate to have you all placed in an elmsanary institution".

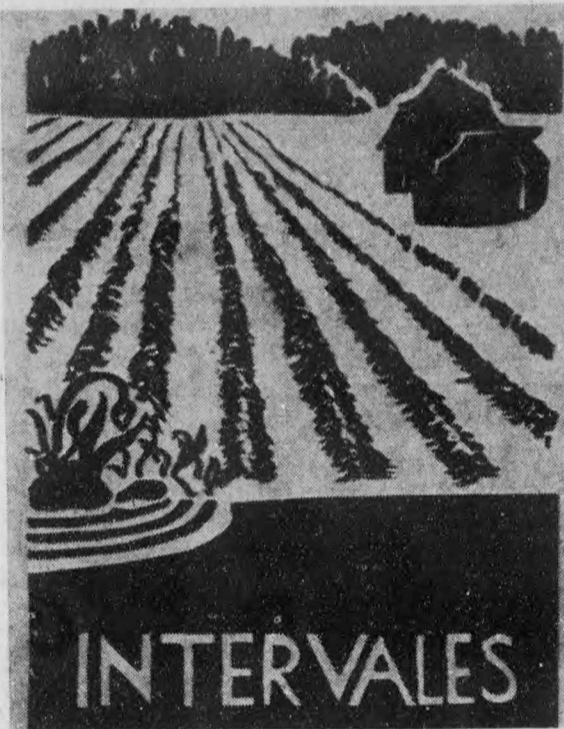

The female members of the faculty were rather taken aback—"Well now", said Dr. Snodgrass, but Dr. Hubener rallied to exclaim "so I say the hell with it". Dr. Milham echoed many others' thoughts as she announced, "It's a problem I don't quite know how to cope with".

Intervalles Here Tomorrow at Ten

Intervalles goes on sale tomorrow. For the first time in twelve years, the writing of UNB students has been published and made available to members of the university. The magazine, selling for one dollar, may be purchased in all campus buildings.

One of the more ambitious projects undertaken by the Arts Society this year was the publication of this magazine. Beginning early last fall with the appointment of an editorial staff, Intervalles progressed rapidly. Manuscripts were submitted by members of all faculties. By the time of the final deadline, January 20, about half of the available material was selected and sent to the printer.

The magazine will contain fifty-six pages of short stories, essays and poetry. As with most student publications, the tone of Intervalles is generally defeatist, but with notable exceptions.

The interest in the magazine, both on and off the campus, has been high. The Premier of New Brunswick is one of the patrons; The Fiddlehead the other. Radio station C.F.N.B. will carry an interview with the editors, Ron Manzer and Carl Wallace, this evening at six-thirty. C.H.S.J.-Television will also broadcast an interview with the editors. This programme may be seen next Tuesday, February 24 at six-fifteen p.m.

As only three hundred copies of Intervalles have been printed, it is expected that the magazine will not be available beyond Friday of this week. Booths will be set up tomorrow in the various buildings of the university for the purpose of selling the magazine. Sales will begin at ten in the morning and end about three.

To prevent duplication of meeting times and places and to ensure a listing in THE BRUNSWICKAN, please report all campus events to SHEILA CAUGHEY, campus coordinator, at the Maggie Jean Chestnut House (Phone GRanite 5-9091).

- BUS. ADMIN. CLUB: Oak Room, Student Centre, 7 p.m., Thursday.

Roman Carnival Opening Event

Arts Week began last night with a scene from the glory and splendor of the Roman Empire. The scene was called "the Streets of Pompeii", and was put on by the Classics Department under the direction of Dr. M. E. Milham.

For Arts Week, it was but the beginning, but for the Arts Week committee, it represented the culmination of long weeks of hard work. Said Hubert Henderson, chairman of the committee, "With the tremendous effort which has been put into this Arts Week by the committee and faculty, I feel assured that it will be a complete success."

Tickets are now on sale for the Arts Ball on Friday night and for the Bacchanalia on Saturday night. Admission to the Arts Ball is $2.00 per couple. The Bacchanalia, consisting of a dinner and a social evening, has its tickets priced at $2.00 each. David Walker, novelist from St. Andrews, will address the Bacchanalia.

The events of Arts Week are open to the professors as well as to all students in the Arts Faculty.

Artsmen Abject?

The answer to this question is, without hesitation, NO! Possibly this should be qualified since it is not, after all, the popularly accepted view. Too many people are inclined to be scornful of Artsmen and Artswomen (let not the fair sex be overlooked) and never rationally consider the contributions of these students to the campus life.

The dictionary defines abject as: poor-spirited, lacking self-respect, contemptible. Surely such strong adjectives cannot be applied to all members of this faculty, at all times. A survey of campus activities shows that Artsmen and Artswomen occupy positions of importance in all fields, administrative and athletic as well as scholastic. Executive positions are not the only ones to be considered for many work in positions of lesser authority with no thought of reward, and do an excellent job. Generally Artsmen are "pulling their share of the load". Artsmen then can see the challenge in hard work and are willing to accept it.

This is not to cast aspirations on members of other faculties who also contribute to campus welfare, ably and amply. Rather it is to bring to the fore the Artsman, in this first Arts Week, so that he may receive his oft-forgotten share of laurels. The institution of an Arts Week shows that Artsmen and women are not lacking in initiative, or even courage.

It is unfortunate, however, that there is a small minority of Artsmen who cannot be nominated for plaudits. They are the ones to be termed abject and even apathetic (Webster: indifferent, impassive). They are interested in nothing except themselves. They can see nothing beyond the borders of their own small world. They take no interest or part in activities of either the campus or their own society. No organization can hope to be active and successful without support. These Artsmen must pull up their socks. The campus and the Arts Society need them.

This is a situation to be deplored, but what is the remedy? In a democratic society one of the aims of education involves citizenship—community interest. It can only be hoped that these Artsmen and Artswomen who have brought "disgrace" to their faculty will take a look at themselves, their aims and ideals so that they may be increasingly cooperative, not only in the Arts Society, but in campus societies as well, before they have completed their formal education. Everyone has something that they can contribute and with a little thought they can discover the place where their efforts are most needed. Then there will be no reason for anyone to be ashamed of being an Artsman. The new edition

MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN OF ARTS

Alfred G. Bailey

The students who this year have been responsible for the revival of the Arts Society are to be highly commended for the initiative they have shown. The Society once played a part in the life of the students enrolled in this Faculty through sponsoring banquets at which guest speakers expressed their views on important topics of many kinds, and led discussions which enlivened student life and were a stimulus to thought.

Because of the multiplication of campus societies devoted to particular activities that had originally concerned the Arts Society as a whole it fell into abeyance. This was greatly to be regretted because as the Faculty grew in numbers of students, courses and departments multiplied as well. The result was that the student body was split up into many small groups, and the sense of a corporate identity, deriving from a common academic programme, was in danger of being lost. This has been particularly true of the Faculty of Arts which has many more departments and a far greater variety of courses than any of the others. It is sufficient to note that within the Faculty four different Bachelor's degrees and two post graduate degrees are offered.

Because of these developments such an organization as the Arts Society is particularly needed. It can provide the means to restore a sense of common endeavour among Arts Students. I do not think that it should or will instill parochial feelings towards students in other faculties. Rather, when I speak of a sense of common endeavour, I mean that out of it should grow the idea of the wholeness of knowledge and of the essential interrelatedness of fields and disciplines. Bringing people together is conducive to the creation of a common vehicle of thought and in this age, when men are so divided, and when so many evils flow from their divisions, providing the means to unite men in common understanding and purpose is as worthy as any task that could be undertaken.

If the Arts Society can contribute to this end, in its own small sphere, and however limited its field of operation, it will have justified itself. Entertainment and conviviality are lesser ends, but not incompatible. I hope, therefore, that all Arts students, both men and women, will give their fullest and most whole-hearted support to their re-founded Society, and to the various activities of Arts Week which it has undertaken to sponsor.

Alfred G. Bailey,
 Dean

BAC-A-WHAT?

What is a Bacchanalia? Many students at UNB have undoubtedly asked this question before unburdening themselves of the admission fee to the Arts Bacchanalia, being held this Saturday night in the Kent Inn.

The Arts Bacchanalia has a long and glorious tradition which has been passed through the ages to the present day at UNB.

According to some history books (which were lost in the sack of Carthage), this great festivity was first celebrated at the University of Rome in 59 B.C. Rome U. at that time supported 2,000 students distributed among five faculties: Arts, Gladiatorial Education, Latin, Oratorical Administration, Bath Engineering.

The Arts Society of that university, under its president, Carl Cicero, decided to top off its annual Arts Week with the student orgy to beat all student orgies.

The evening began with a banquet. Guest speaker at the banquet was Sam Bacchus, God of Wine, and President of the Bacchus Winery Co. Ltd. Mr. Bacchus gave an inspiring after dinner address on the temperance question as it related to Arts students at Rome U.

Other speakers at the banquet were Dr. C. B. Caesar, President of the university, Dr. A. G. Virgil, Dean of Arts, and numerous senators and congressmen.

The floor show was provided by fifteen Arts co-eds dressed in transparent togas, who did a bewitching interpretation of the Canna-canna, a new dance imported from Gaul.

Joe Hannibal, veterinarian of Carthage, brought in the wine on thirty-five pink elephants, and the after-dinner entertainment began.

During the course of the evening, Rome was burned and rebuilt, the Peloponesian Wars were refought, Julius Caesar was murdered, and the empire fell.

The first Bacchanalia was such a stimulating event that the students decided to make it a regular feature of Arts Week.

Thus, when a noted alumnus of Rome U. founded UNB, the custom was brought to these shores. It has been out of use for the past 175 years, but is being revived this week.

Beavers Second In Quebec Meet

by Doug Paton
Friday night at the CMR Sports Palace, UNB Varsity Beavers swimming and Diving team took part in the Invitational Swimming Championships at St. Jean Quebec. The meet was originally organized between UNB, CMR, Laval, University of Montreal and McGill but due to illness of team members at U of M and poor travel conditions for Laval from Quebec City, a three way meet was held between CMR, UNB and McGill.

The seven man squad from Up The Hill looked rather insignificant sandwiched between the 15 man teams of McGill and CMR but the picture changed abruptly when UNB pounded its way to victory in the first event, the 400 yard medley relay. The team of Wayne Barry, Glenn Murray, Albert Bene and Dave Sanger came home in 4:27.5. Last week this same crew pulled off a 4:17 for this event which chopped 2 seconds off the Quebec record set in '58 by McGill. Jones of UNB came in third for his 220 yard free style led by Pond of McGill and Carr of CMR. Keith Cameron fought hard to gain second berth in the 50 yard free style in 27.2, his fastest time for the season. Cameron Grout of McGill, who holds the Canadian record for this event finished first in 23.6. The 200 yard butterfly was also won by Grout of McGill with captain Dave Sanger of the Beavers coming in second. Pond of McGill notched a 54.16 rating in the 100 yard freestyle with Wayne Barry of the Beavers coming second. Rees of McGill had a lot of trouble winning the 200 yard back stroke as Glenn Murray of the Beavers paced him neck and neck for the eight laps. At the finish only 9 tenths of a second separated the two. Jones dropped the 440 yard free style to Pond of McGill.

Gerry Shaw put in the finest performance of his diving career and finished only four points behind McGill's MacKie. Moffat of CMR who dove 3 meters against the two, one meter competitors dropped in a 162 rating.

The 200 yard breast stroke saw McDougall of McGill pull ahead of Bene of the Beavers to finish in 2:52.2. The most spectacular piece of swimming in the meet appeared in the 400 yard free style relay. Cameron, Murray and Barry of the Beavers stroked through four lengths each to give the Beavers a 30 foot lead. Sanger hit the water and held this lead for two lengths, then the greatest swimmer Canada has in free style pulled out the stops and passed Sanger in the last few yards of the race to win in 4:04.3. This swimmer of swimmers, Cameron Grout was timed in 50.4 seconds for his 100 yards in this event which unofficially broke his own Canadian record in this event. No other person in Canadian swimming could have pulled McGill out of the predicament they found themselves in when Sanger hit the pool. It was a heart-breaker for the UNB team, but as coach Legere stated, when you have swimmers like Crout against you, what can you expect!

Legere Happy
Final tallies showed McGill 50 points, UNB 32 and CMR 12. CMR in previous meets had defeated U of M and Laval which leaves UNB second only to McGill in Quebec swimming circles. The Beavers came out with one first, seven seconds, and two thirds; a notable achievement and much better than traditionally pessimistic Coach Amby Legere predicted. Coach Legere was all smiles after the meet and said he knew his men swam their very best and he could ask for no more.

Red Bloomers Defeat Rotary

On Thurs. evening, at the UNB gym, the Co-Ed Basketball Team avenged two earlier losses by defeating the Saint John Rotary squad, 57-41.

Following the pattern of recent games, the Red Bloomers went ahead from the first whistle and maintained a steady lead throughout the game. The second quarter was the big one, with the co-eds netting 20 points. The line of Dede Smith, Barb Barnes and Jo-Ann Carr supplied the big punch offensively, scoring 18, 13 and 13 points, respectively. At the other end of the floor, guards Doady Armstrong, Biddy Wilson and Pune MacElman turned in a steady game.

Marlene Mason and Jean Sawyer sank 16 and 13, for Rotary. The Rotarians hit for 11 out of 22, on foul shots; while UNB managed 13 out of 19.

Next in line for the Red Bloomers will be an exhibition game this evening, as they host the St. Stephen High Basketball Team.

Lineups

UNB—Stiven 3, Colpitts 6, Smith 18, Barnes 13, Carr 13, Sanger 4, Armstrong, Wilson, Gardiner, MacElman, Murray.

Rotary—Sears S., Russell 4, Sawyer 13, Mason 16, Busey 8, Kelly, Sears M., Young, White, Bradford, Miller.

feated the Junior Engineers 3-1, and Soph Engineers whipped the Senior Engineers 4-2. In consolation playoffs, Arts blanked Foresters "23" 5-0, and Faculty-Grads defeated the Intermediate Mech and Electrical 5-4.

Raiders Road Trip Disastrous

The UNB Red Raiders saw their chances of repeating as NB-PEI cage champs disappear over the weekend as they dropped two games. On Friday night, the Red and Black lost a rough 59-45 decision to the Saints of Saint Dunstan's University, while on Saturday afternoon an outstanding one-man effort by Herb Mays sent the Raiders down to defeat 88-73.

On Friday evening it was clearly a case of the sharper shooting squad walking off with the spoils. The Saints hit from outside with consistency, while the Raiders connected on less than 20% from the field sinking only 8 of 47 attempts in the second half. McGuigan for SDU was the big scorer as he struck for 26 points, mostly on long one hand set shots. Morgan and McHugh were high for the Raiders with 12 and 13 points respectively.

Mays Scores 48

On Saturday afternoon, it was simply a case of "too much Mays" as he hit from all parts of the floor with uncanny precision for a staggering total of 48 points. The Toronto native was right at home in the Mount Allison "band box" and made good use of his 6' 5" frame to haul down numerous rebounds and lay them in the basket. As typical of all Mt A, UNB encounters, spirits were high and the game frequently got out of the control of the officials.

The Raiders were led by Belfoi, who played his best game of the year, scoring 17 points, McHugh 14 and Guy Collin who dumped in 13, all coming in the hectic second half.

For the Hawks, Hosiak, Hayden and Mays all fouled out in the dying minutes of the game, while Taylor, Petrie and McHugh all left early in the fourth quarter.

Devils Blank Saints

Scoring in spurts, the UNB Red Devils hung an 8-0 whitewashing on Saint Dunstan's in a NB-PEI intercollegiate hockey fixture played in the Lady Beaverbrook Rink last Saturday night.

The Saints, playing their second game in as many nights were severely understaffed due to injuries received in the Saint Thomas game. Topnotch centre, Sandy MacDonald, Whalen and Murphy were forced out of the lineup.

The return to action of the skillful puck handler, Henri Girard provided the spark, as the Devils pressed for a playoff berth. Girard scored two goals and set one up for his linemate Don Morrow. Morrow and Bob Soward matched Girards' total with two goals each. Singletons were triggered by Norm Bolitho and Galen Parent.

Devils' sensational young netminder, Dave Inch, registered his first shutout of the season. The scrappy Islanders, although outmanned had 30 shots on Inch to make him work hard for his perfect game. Ralph Shepherd, tending goal for the Saints blocked 27 drives as UNB outshot their opponents 35-30.

Referees Vic Leury and Bob Dunphy handed out 13 penalties, five to SDU and eight to UNB.

Central New Brunswick Senior Hockey League proxy Del Gallagher presented the Daily Gleaner Trophy to the Devil's captain Don Morrow before the start of the game.

UNB meets the league leading St. Thomas Tommies in Chatham tomorrow night in a very important fixture for both teams. The Devils need a victory to assure them of a playoff spot.

Lineups—UNB—goal, Inch; defence, Sears, Hughes, Parent.

Beardsley, Boland; forwards, Soward, Jarrett, McLellan, Girard, Morrow, Bourque, Jones, McCarthy, Bolitho, Bartheaux.
SDU—goal, Shepherd; defence, Clough, Sark, Rivard; forwards, Harris, Gillis, Noonan, Roberts, Manning, St. Julien.

Officials—Vic Leury, Bob Dunphy.
