Celebrated Norwegian Jigger

Fishermen should use these Jiggers and rig them with swivels same style
as in Norway, then the Jigger acts like a minnow and when spinning attracts the fish, so that instead of jigging they really snap the Jigger and in this manner you never fail to catch them. Ordinary leads can be used, but the Norwegian style seems more simple and easily made. Our fishermen should try this great Norwegian fish killer.

The Earl's Son;

TWO HEARTS UNITED

CHAPTER VI.

The earl's perfect set of white teeth were revealed in a rather ghastly smile.

"By gad, I should think they were glad to be rid of you!" he said, in his thin, metallic voice. "Judging by that speech of yours the other night, I should imagine your party would be better pleased with your absence than your company."

Denby smiled mirthlessly. "One must speak the truth sometimes, sir," he responded.

"Must one? I daresay; though I thought politicians were never guilty of such banality. But no doubt you are right, and things are changed since I sat in the Bauble Shop."

"Dinner is served, miss," announced the butler, solemnly.

"Give Veronica your arm," said the earl. "I will crawl in at my own pace."

They went in and the meal proceeded; a stately and apparently interminable one of innumerable courses, of which the earl chose one—dish of cutlets and plainly boiled potatoes. Mr. Talbot Denby, though he accepted plate after plate, only made a pretence of eating them, and Veronica was the only one of the three who did fair justice to the famous chef's efforts.

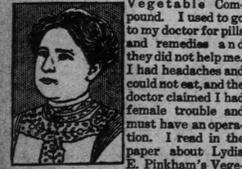

She sat silent for the greater part of the hour and a quarter, listening to the earl and Talbot at times, but—alas! and alas! for her pride!—most thinking of Ralph Farrington, and wondering whether he was disappointed and angry—no, that would be too absurd; a gamekeeper angry!—because she had broken her promise.

The two men talked "society" and politics. Now, you cannot talk "soci-

TWO WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chicago, Ill.—"I must thank you with all my heart for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to go to my doctor for pills and remedies and they did not help me. I had headaches and could not eat, and the doctor claimed I had female trouble and must have an operation. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it and feel fine. A lady said one day, 'Oh, I feel so tired all the time and have headache.' I said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' and she did and feels fine now."—Mrs. M. R. KARSCHNICK, 1438 N. Paulina Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The Other Case.
Dayton, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of pains in my side that I had for years and which doctors' medicines failed to relieve. It has certainly saved me from an operation. I will be glad to assist you by a personal letter to any woman in the same condition."—Mrs. J. W. SHERER, 126 Cass St., Dayton, Ohio.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ety" without talking scandal, and every now and then the earl glanced under his brows at the girl's beautiful face; but he need not have feared: to the pure all things are pure, and, besides, Veronica's mind was otherwise employed; she was thinking, as has been said, of the strange young man who apparently found it so difficult to remember the difference in station between a gamekeeper and the chateleine of Lynne Court.

The noiseless servants at last placed the dessert on the table, the butler reverently carried in a bottle of the famous and priceless Lynne port in its wicker cradle, and Veronica, with an almost audible sigh of relief, rose and went to the drawing-room.

"We shall not be long," Talbot Denby said in his low, clear voice as he opened the door for her. "Perhaps we shall be fortunate enough to persuade you to play for us."

Veronica nodded and smiled as she remembered the cold and condescending way in which he had dismissed her on his last visit.

"I will both play and sing for you," she said, graciously. "Dancing would be rather out of place, wouldn't it?"

Talbot went back to his place at the table. The earl had sunk lower in his chair, and regarded him with an upward glance of cynical anticipation.

"How much is it, Talbot?" he asked, in his thin, half-mocking voice.

Mr. Talbot Denby forced a smile and bit his thin lip.

"You always come to the point, sir," he said.

The earl passed his white, fleshless hand over his bloodless lips.

"Time is too valuable to the old to be wasted," he said. "I am, of course, aware that you wouldn't have honored us"—Talbot noted the "us"—"without an object. And the object is generally—money!"

Mr. Denby crossed his legs and smiled with an affectation of ease.

"To be frank as yourself, sir—my balance at the bank is rather low," he said.

The earl toyed with his wine-glass.

"Yes? Let me see, I allow you five thousand a year. Not a meagre sum, Talbot—"

"No, sir, by no means; but you have no idea how the expenses of a man in my position run up—"

"Oh, yes, I have," retorted the earl, if any speech in so cold and impulsive a voice could be called a retort. "You forget that I played the game myself: and on a much smaller sum."

"—wonder—what you do with your money? You do not keep an establishment. No, you are not that sort of man. I—excuse me—I sometimes wish you were. But it would interfere with your political career, I suppose. Yes, I wonder what you did with it? Pardon my curiosity! I admit that I have no right to express it."

My privilege is to supply the future Earl of Lynborough with sufficient money to enable him to live up to his position. How much do you want, Talbot? That is really the only question."

Talbot Denby inwardly writhed under the cold cynicism, the almost sardonic indifference.

"My expenses have been very heavy lately. I am afraid I shall have to ask you for a couple of thousand, sir."

"Certainly, certainly! Why not?" said the earl, with ominous cheerfulness. "I'll give you a cheque before you go. When is that? To-morrow, I suppose?"

"Yes; I have to speak to-morrow night."

"Just so. Veronica shall make out the cheque in the morning. Oh, by the way, speaking of Veronica, Talbot, I ought to tell you that I made my will the other day and that I have left all my fortune, indeed, every penny I can leave her."

His eyes narrowed to points, rested like gimlets upon his nephew's face; but Talbot Denby did not move a muscle, though his face grew whiter than his wont, especially about the nostrils.

"Really, sir," he murmured.

"Yes, really," said the earl, smiling at the effect which his keen eyes saw that he had produced. "Why not? She has proved herself faithful and devoted; she is of my kin. And you will not want the money; the rent roll has improved of recent years; there will be enough for you. I have saved money out of the income, and there is no reason why you also should not."

Talbot's lids almost covered his eyes; the organ he called his heart was thumping like an engine dragging at a weight too heavy for it, the room seemed to spin round. He had always counted on the earl's, so to speak, private fortune; and to be told suddenly that it was to go to the girl, this kind of superior housekeeper!

"You have every right to do what you please with the money, sir," he said at last, wondering whether he had succeeded in keeping the hate and disappointment which raged within him from revealing itself in his voice.

"Quite so, quite so," assented the earl. He was silent for a moment or two, his eyes peering, under the hand that supported his head, at the young man's face; but though no sound reached Talbot, the bloodless lips moved and the old man was saying to himself:

"Why not? He is, I suppose, no worse than the ordinary run of men. She would make a fine Countess of Lynborough. I don't like him: he is not worthy of her. But what man is worthy of any woman? Shall I suggest it? Scarcely necessary: he'll think of it swiftly enough, trust him!" he added with a grim smile, then aloud:

"Veronica has grown into a beautiful woman, don't you think, Talbot?" Talbot shot a glance at the white, sphinx-like face.

"Into a very lovely one," he said, promptly and warmly. "I was startled when she came into the room this evening; I had not seen her for some time."

"She will be rather a good match," murmured the earl, musingly. "It is scarcely necessary to say that she is very much admired. Even without the fortune she would probably have made a good marriage."

"Most assuredly!" said Talbot, rising. "Shall I give you my arm into the drawing-room, sir?"

"Thanks, no. If you will please ring for my man, I will go to bed. Don't let me keep you from Veronica."

The hall door was open and Talbot went outside and paced up and down for a minute or two before entering the drawing-room. He was still staggering under the blow he had received; he, and only he knew how badly he wanted the money. Indeed, it was absolutely imperative that he should have it. The significance of the earl's encomiums of Veronica were not, of course, lost upon him. Yes; she was a beautiful woman: he hated marriage, would have put it off as long as possible; but—

He looked through the window into the drawing-room. Veronica was seated at the piano, but she was not playing, though one hand was still resting lightly on the keys; the other supported her chin, and she was looking before her as if she were lost in thought. She made a picture lovely enough to thrill any man; but Talbot Denby's cold heart beat with an emotion far different to that of admiration or love. He only saw the girl, the dependent, who had robbed him of his uncle's money. After a moment or two he forced the scowl from his face, and, with a smile, went in thro' the window.

"Will you play or sing for me, Veronica?" he said.

Veronica was faintly surprised at the softness, the friendliness of his tone. It did not occur to her that the earl had told Talbot that she was an heiress, and if it had she would not have deemed any man of Talbot's class so mean as to be influenced, so quickly influenced, by the fact.

He leant against the piano as she sang for him, and expressed his gratitude in the same softened, ingratiating manner.

"Your voice has immensely improved," he said. "It was always sweet and clear, but you sing like an artist now—"

"I've had good lessons," she said, naturally pleased at his praise, though she did not like him. "Lord Lynborough has been very good to me."

"No wonder!" he said. "How could he—how could anyone, be otherwise?" He bent over towards her as he spoke, his black eyes resting on hers with an expression of admiration. But he saw, by the look of surprise that came into her eyes, that he was going too fast, and, with dexterous facility, he began to talk of the earl's health and the people on the estate. He must stop slowly and guardedly, he told himself. This was no shallow-minded girl to be caught by a sudden ardour, however well simulated. Looking into the depths of those violet-grey eyes he knew that she would have to be wooed before she was won. So he went cautiously.

How to Help a Cause.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Better a wise enemy than a foolish friend."
How many times the friends of a cause do it as much harm as its enemies.
A suffragist and
an anti-suffragist
were discussing
the great question the other day. "You should hear Miss E."
said the anti-suffragist, mentioning a well-known anti-suffrage speaker.
"I hate her," said the suffragist.
"She's a liar. Besides, people say terrible things about her reputation." Naturally the anti-suffragist was not won over by that argument.
Who would be?
Naturally she went about relating
the little incident, which, of course, helped to prejudice against woman's suffrage. Those already inclined against it. Myself, I could have wept when I heard it, knowing the harm it would inevitably do.
There are certain things that any man or woman who works for a cause, with a capital C, should try to remember. One is that personal vituperation of the people who believe other than you do does not prove anything except that you have poor manners.
Calling a man or woman a liar is not the best way to win a third person's sympathy for your cause. On the contrary.
Again, if you want to help a cause along, do not overstate. Do not say things you are not sure of. Every time you do that you are giving the enemy an enormous advantage. He can disprove that argument, and by inference discredit the trustworthiness of all your other arguments.

Understate rather than overstate.
It's safer in the end.
Never get angry when arguing for your Cause. If you do that you degrade yourself, and make yourself ridiculous. And since you are its representative you degrade your Cause and make it ridiculous.
Don't refuse to listen to the other party's arguments. Give him a fair chance at the floor. Remember that your reason for discussing this matter is not merely to talk cleverly and entertainingly, but to convince. And you cannot do that unless you have to remove. Listen quietly and respectfully. Don't break in or interrupt.
Give your opponent a fair chance.
Convince him that you are in favor of a square deal.
Then speak with moderation and good manners. Try to keep all acrimony out of your voice and your heart. Remember that the personality of its supporter is in itself a big argument for or against a Cause, and conduct yourself accordingly.
Lastly, be open-minded. Remember that it is not all important that your arguments should win, but it is all important that the Cause of right and justice should triumph.
If any one can offer you proof that you are not on the side of right and justice and the world's best interests, be brave enough to lower your standard, for that is the supreme bravery of all.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, June 3rd, 1914.
A CRUISE FOR THE KING.
If King George can spare the time, it is his intention to take a short cruise on board the Royal Yacht Victoria and Albert for a few days after inspecting the assembly of the warships at Spithead on July 18. His Majesty may not be able to devote to this cruise more than a few days, always having many matters of importance to attend to before the Court leaves London at the end of July for the summer vacation. For some time the King has been anxious to visit Dartmouth to inspect the Royal Naval College there, as well as Plymouth and Devonport, but hitherto he has not been able to gratify this desire.
It is probable that the Queen will accompany His Majesty upon this occasion, but should the cruise not take place His Majesty will content himself with a two days' visit to the fleet and the Queen will not be present, but will remain in town until His Majesty's return.

of luxury has been very slack during the present London season. The tendency is for larger stocks to be kept in order to meet the exigencies of customers, and for the period during which the bulk of the stock is turned over to be prolonged. The quietness of the Stock Exchange, which is one of the most important sources of large purchases, is gauged by observing the volume of business transacted with its leaders. Judged by this standard, it seems to be established that there is in prospect a period of much slackness in spending except as regards the more useful departments of household equipment.
It is to this cause that may be attributed the activity displayed in establishing branches in great spending centres abroad. It is significant that the Argentine and Canada are the favorite areas chosen for this purpose, and that the creation of branch establishments in Johannesburg and Sydney is no longer pursued with any eagerness or optimism.

FUTURISM AMONG THE TAILORS.
Signor Marinetti, the leader of the futurist painters and poets, and the chief apostle of futurism and cubism in everything, may well have confounded some of the faithful amongst his audience at the Dore Galleries, London, during his lecture last week
by hard words concerning long hair and sombreros. Aesthetic Chelsea with its streets of painters' studios and its appanage the Cafe Royal, the great London resort nowadays for art, poetry and literature, are doubtless fated to some radical changes, for Futurism is about to take in hand the masculine wardrobe. In a month's time a compact little band of ten fu-turists will be dazzling the streets of Rome with manifestations of futurist costume for men expressly designed for the occasion, by Signor Balla, one of the leading cubist painters. The new costumes, of course, will have no sentimental connection with the past.
Futurism we all know is the sworn enemy of romance and antiquity and Signor Balla's "creations" are conceived to fit the spirit of the age, which is immensely more difficult a task than fitting our figures. According to the futurists, the spirit of the age is in a mighty hurry, no doubt to catch up with them, and therefore the prophetic costume is to be one that can be put on or taken off in a moment. Hygienists who are not yet futurists, will be relieved to hear that comfort and cleanliness are also to be fundamental considerations. The clothes are to be made in one piece, and belts or anything that may restrict movement are to be denied.
There is a pleasant old-world flavor of "rationalism" about all this, but there will be no complaining of the immediate futurism of Signor Balla's cut or of his colours. Our clothes are to be bound integrally to the atmosphere by dynamic (how

The Gatlin Treatment EST. 1900. For Drink or Drug Habit

The results accomplished by the Gatlin Treatment have caused the establishment of "Institutes" throughout the world for the cure of the liquor and drug habits. This great treatment quickly and permanently removes the craving for stimulants, tones up the entire system, placing the patients in the same or better mental and physical condition as before the habit was formed.
The Gatlin Treatment is administered without hypodermic injections, contains no powerful narcotic drugs, nothing in any way harmful, is quick, certain and lasting in its effects.
Through its efficiency thousands of men and women have been permanently cured.

fond the futurists are of that word)
line and color. The color is to be violent, and stuffed in the pockets of our new-fangled garments we shall all carry loose fragments of color with which to vary our appearance as we walk. These "modifications," as Signor Marinetti called them, are going to give us all temperaments. Or, if they cannot quite do that, they are going to give us all the means of expressing such temperaments as we have. The complete futurist will be a kind of emotional channel. Spattering himself with impetuous handfuls of color, he transforms a naturally commanding presence into one of amorous entreaty, and (greatest marvel of all) he will assail the nostrils of the fair with perfume.

BRINGING A MAN.

The utter freedom of modern fashionable manners, as shown in the invitations "to dine, dance, and bring a man," reminds your correspondent of a mid-Victorian incident bearing on the point that was the talk of the town at the time. A hostess in the country, being short in her establishment, telegraphed to a woman friend who was coming on a visit, "Can you bring a man?" The friend interpreted the request in a way that nowadays would not seem remarkable, and brought her sweetheart. It is not only young women who name their partners to hostesses, but young men in a limited way do the same. It is not uncommon for a young Guardsman, when accepting an invitation to ask his hostess to ask Miss So-and-so—"She dances so beautifully."

HERR ANDREE.

A Polar tragedy which has hitherto remained unsolved is recalled by the report transmitted in a Reuter's message from Gothenburg, in Sweden. Andree was a Swede, and any information which is at all likely to throw light upon an aerial voyage that must have ended in disaster, is sure to be received in his native land with profound interest. He twice essayed to reach the North Pole by balloon. It was on 15th June, 1896, that he made the first attempt,
but it was a failure, and he returned on the 24th of August following. Next year, after perfecting his arrangements as far as possible, he ascended in the "Eagle" from Danes Island, a distance of 617 miles from the Pole, accompanied by Drs. Strindberg and Fraenkel. This was on 11th July, 1897, shortly after two o'clock in the afternoon. From that time to the present nothing that was definite or authentic has reached Europe regarding the fate of the adventurous party, excepting three messages dropped from the balloon on the day of their departure. There have been several reports of the finding of relics of the expedition, and one described the discovery of a grave in Northern Labrador, marked by a cross with Andree's name upon it. Several expeditions were sent out in search of the party, but all were unsuccessful. The latest report is that parts of an old balloon have been found in a forest in Eastern Siberia, and that they are supposed to be the remains of Andree's balloon.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small,
a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure

Odd Fellows' Banquet.

Last night the visiting Grand Master, Mr. C. E. Cruickshank, was dined by the Oddfellows at Woods West End Restaurant. The affair was attended by about seventy persons, and after an excellent menu, the following toast list was discussed:

"The King"—Prop. Chairman, Bro. G. Grimes, N.G., M.H.A.; "God Save the King."

"The Grand Lodge and Grand Master"—Prop. Bro. C. E. Hammond, V.G.; Resp. Bro. C. E. Cruickshank, Grand Master.

"Newfoundland"—Prop. Bro. J. Adrain, P.G.; Resp. Bro. Dr. Rendell.

"The Grand Encampment"—Prop. Bro. E. D. Spurrell, P.G.; Resp. Bro. Geo. W. Barrett, G. Marshal. (Grand Encampment of the Maritime Provinces.)

"Sister Lodges"—Prop. Bro. W. T. Quick, P.G.; Resp. Bro. Peyton (Exploits), Bro. House (Cabot).

"Our Guests"—Prop. Bro. W. W. Halfyard, M.H.A.; Resp. Bro. C. E. Cruickshank, G.M.; Bro. J. O. Hawvermale.

"Absent Brothers"—Prop. Bro. S. G. Collier; Resp. Bro. J. W. Bartlett, P.G.

During the evening a splendid programme of vocal and instrumental selections and recitations was given, the contributors being Messrs. Hart, Rowe, Hammond, Cook, Spurrell, Snow, Walker and Chafe. All the items were received with much applause, and the speeches of the evening were both witty and interesting. A vote of thanks was heartily accorded those who made the evening so enjoyable by their musical numbers. The singing of the National Anthem brought the affair to a close at an early hour this morning.

Excellent Show at Rossley's.

There has been a good all-round show arranged at Rossley's for the holiday. Mr. Dan Cusack, the favorite song and dance man in new English, Irish and Scotch songs, with a dance that will make you feel you would like to join in. The pictures brought out by the s.s. Digby are the finest in the country. Mr. Jack Rossley wishes it understood he no longer hires his pictures but buys out right from the finest London firms, therefore getting the pick and choice of the market. There are two splendid Vitagraphs, a Gaumont, Lubin and Bison, all new reels never seen here before and each and every one a feature.

Correction.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Would be pleased to be allowed space to correct the following typographical errors contained in the article re presentation to Rev. J. W. Bartlett, which appeared in last evening's issue. In the names of soloists instead of Mrs. Cornick should have read Mr. Cornick; also, re duets should have read Messrs. Claridge and Mew, and instead of Button should have been Butler. In justice to parties referred to I thought it wise these corrections should be made. Thanking you, etc.

BRUSSELS, June 16.
A great storm did much damage throughout Belgium last night. At Brussels five were injured by lightning. Near Ghent some railway employees were killed, and at Renix two trains collided, the signals having been disarranged by the storm. Many persons were injured. Hundreds of cattle have been drowned or killed by lightning.

PARIS, June 16.
Delegates from the United States to the International Olympic Congress stood hand-in-hand with those of Turkey, Japan and France, yesterday at the opening session of the Congress, when they voted against the eligibility of women to compete at the Olympic games. Twenty-eight other countries, represented by some 200 delegates voted in favor of the German proposition that women be allowed to compete. The English proposal that points gained by women should be counted, when calculating the position of the various nations was also adopted. A suggestion from Sweden, which attracted attention was that women should organize a series of exclusively feminine Olympic games to be held between the quadrennial Olympic games for men.

PARIS, June 16.
Paris presented scenes of devastation to-day, with gaping holes in some of the main thoroughfares, as the result of yesterday's subsidence, caused by a storm, while the whole population of the city was deprived of water, gas and electricity, cut off as a precautionary measure against floods, explosions and fires. A number of lives is known to have been lost through vehicles falling last night into cavities formed in the earth. Heavy rains to-day added to the difficulties. Firemen and city workmen are engaged in the task of searching for the bodies of people, believed to have been engulfed beneath the debris. A street collapsed early to-day in the northern district of Montmartre, behind the great cemetery. From other cave-ins the people in the vicinity scurried away as the ground began to sink, and managed to escape.

Bodies Found.

The bodies of the young men Crowell and Bath, who were drowned by the upsetting of a canoe on the Gander River last week, were recovered yesterday about fifty yards below Glenwood Bridge.

The accident happened on Friday evening last when the lads set out with some others in a canoe to go salmon fishing. While paddling the canoe along the little craft struck a rock and upset, throwing the occupants into the water. Three of them managed to struggle to the shore but Crowell and Bath were carried down by the stream, as they were unable to swim, and were thus soon lost to view. Since the accident occurred parties had been searching for the bodies, and yesterday at noon one of them was found below the bridge and an hour later the other was dragged from the bottom only a few feet away.

Six Pictures at the Nickel to-day.

As will be noticed by advertisement elsewhere in this issue, the Nickel Theatre has a big holiday programme as is usually given on Wednesdays, in store for patrons to-day. The subjects are all varied, there are no two alike and all who attend are assured a pleasant and profitable time. From the titles it will be seen that the films are of a highly interesting character and are certain to please. There is a Pathe Weekly which are always popular, two heavy dramas, two splendid comedies and an educational subject. There will be two songs, and Prof. McCarthy and Mr. Ross will give some high class music. The Nickel is the popular resort on Wednesdays. Everyone should be in the swim and attend.

Household Notes
When frying doughnuts, avoid possibility of their burning by putting a piece of bread in the fat; the bread may burn, but the doughnuts will be a lovely golden brown.
Bronzed ornaments when cleaned should first have all dust brushed out, then apply a very little sweet oil all over the article. Polish with a soft duster and finally with a chamois.
If you find insects when washing lettuce, put it through salted water, then rinse again in clear. But be sure not to leave in the salt water more than a minute or it will wilt.
In cellar or pantry where it is difficult to keep the air dry, place bowls of unslacked lime on the shelves near the food. The lime, of course, should be renewed from time to time.
Moths breed in darkness and dust; therefore, before packing away the winter clothes see that your room is thoroughly aired and cleaned and let in as much sunshine as possible.
The hair mattresses which are filled with black hair are much better than those filled with white hair, because the latter has generally been bleached and is deprived of its springiness.
Holes in kid gloves can be successfully mended by first buttonholing around the hole, then filling it with buttonhole thread. This should be done with thread matching the glove.
To secure fresh air in the sleeping room without danger of dampness, hang a piece of flannel in the open window; the dampness will cling to the flannel, but the fresh air will come in.

Canada's Setback.

It will be remembered that a few days ago in commenting on the failure of Sir Edward Morris's mission to London to float the Three and a Half per cent Debentures, authorized to be issued by the Legislature last winter, we called attention to the underwriting of the last loan of the Dominion of Canada. We drew attention to the fact that it was not a Three and a Half Bond, but a Four per cent. For the past 18 months we cannot recall any issue of a Three and a Half by any Colonial Government. Most of the issues have been Four per cents, although several of the Canadian Provinces have offered Four and a Half.

As to the last Canadian Four per cent which was underwritten early this month, it was offered to the public last week. But the public received it very coolly, and only subscribed for 12 per cent of it. They bought some $3,000,000 of the debentures, and left on the Underwriters hands unsold about $22,000,000, and this in face of the fact that this was a Four per cent offered at 98. In other words the Dominion Government agreed to pay Four Dollars, a year for every Ninety Eight dollars lent to then on the strength of these debentures.

According to the Montreal Star during the last two years no less than 23 Colonial Government public issues have been made in London and only 6 of these have been fully subscribed by the public. On June 11th the day of the announcement of the public result of the issue, the stock was at a discount of 1/2 to 3/4. Thus, the public could buy this new Four per cent inscribed stock at 97 1/2 and 97 3/4. In face of the continued prevalence of such a money market, is it any wonder that Sir Edward Morris failed in his attempt with Three and a Half.

C. L. B. Old Comrades.

The dance held by the C.L.B. Old Comrades at the British Hall last night was attended by about 200 couples, including several representatives from the sister brigades. The ballroom was tastefully decorated and presented an attractive appearance. At the interval the ladies served an excellent supper which was thoroughly enjoyed, and after which dancing was continued until about 3 a.m. The music of the C.L.B. band received much favorable comment, and all present thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mrs. Eagan wishes to express her sincere gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Winslow of St. George's Hospital, Signal Hill; also Nurse Taylor, Walsh and Green and Leary for their kindness to her daughter Margaret while at that institution; all those who sympathized with her in her hour of bereavement.

Red McGehee says: When summ'n' up the speedy gents, don't pass up Shct'n. He's immense! He sure can shake his feet. He makes them jump from base to base at reg'lar Barney Oldfield pace — darn few throwa he can't beat.

Like Milan an' the Georgia Peach he chases pellets made by Reach out there in center field. An' when a fly starts out towards Burt some battin' av'rage sure gets hurt. All flies are begged an' sealed.

His name ain't any household word, he ain't no quarter million bird nor one o' baseball's clovins. But he gets out an' does his bit an' gets his little daily bit for ol' Branch Rickey's Browns. St. Louce players may be fine an' still not get much chance to shine — tradition says they're dubs. This boy that makes the baselines scorch would shine out like a red fire torch on those top-notch clubs.

It's runs that win yer ol' ball games an' that's where Burt cuts in an' claims his little credit slip. When he gets on he goes the route. It's seldom that he falls to scoot clear 'round to that home strip. He'll make his hundred runs a year an' steal his fifty bases clear, an' stretch his one-base hits. If he keeps on he'll get to shine so fans'll worship at his shrine and eat out of his mits.

We know who he will buy it for? But who will he buy it from? Hundreds of Engagements and Weddings are sealed yearly in Newfoundland with Trapnell's Solid Gold Rings. Hundreds of friendships and tokens of affection to sweetheart, wife, mother, sister and friend are embodied in lasting embraces with Trapnell's Rings, the popularity of which is based upon their quality, finish and variety and beauty of design. Big Steam Roller Shuts a Barroom.

Crude, but More Effective Than Prohibitionists at Sharon, Pa.

Sharon, Pa., June 9.—Much more effective than the efforts of the prohibitionists here this year, a steam roller put the bar of the Farrell Hotel out of commission to-day, and narrowly escaped flattening out several patrons who were imbibing when the big ten-ton machine was wrecked and the barroom was demolished.

The roller was approaching the hotel when the engineer lost control of it. The machine cut through the wall and continued through the barroom, taking the bar and fixtures with it, and piling them up in a heap in the far end of the room, where it came to a stop.

Several men who were drinking at the bar made a dive for a rear door, and barely got through in time. No one was injured. The damage is said to have amounted to several thousand dollars.

Lady Sackville is Shrewd in Business

London June 6.—Lady Sackville's selling for a large amount the famous collection of art treasures she inherited from the late Sir John Murray Scott and which has been stored many years in the Scott mansion on Rue Laflite, Paris, is regarded as another proof of her consummate business ability, considering the demoralized would preserve the collection intact. condition of the antiquity market.

Lady Sackville made it plain that the increased taxation imposed by Chancellor Lloyd George's budget and the heavy death duties made it impossible for her to retain the collection, which, if not sold privately, must go to the public auction room.

Thereupon Jacques Seligmann formed a syndicate to take the collection for $1,250,000.

The gem of the collection is Bouch-er's "Venus," for which Mr. Seligmann once offered Scott $120,000.

The entire collection is now in M. Seligmann's Paris residence in Paris, St. Germain, where it will be sold privately.

In the famous lawsuit in which Lady Sackville established her right to this collection and other Scott treasures, she testified that Sir John bequeathed these treasures to her because he believed she shared his love and pride in them and therefore Egotistical youths with flexible affections have from time immemorial made it their avocation to bombard young women of the stage with mash notes. Every actress gets them. Feminine charms seem to cast a spell across the footlights that plays curious havoc with many a masculine heart down in the audience.

Mash Notes

"Letter, Miss Winthrop," said the stage-door keeper to Marian on the fourth day of the week's run of "The Climbers."

Marian opened the letter with surprise, after a futile effort to fine anything familiar in the handwriting in which it was addressed. Surprise gave way to sheer amazement, as she let her eye run down the written page. Thus ran the letter:

"My dear Miss Winthrop: I've seen you in two performances this week and will be in the theatre again on Thursday night. You've got me going forty different ways. I'm crazy about you. I can't sleep for thinking about you. All you've got to do is to say the word, and you can have anything I've got. I'm not one of the city's gilded millionaires, but what I've got is yours for the asking.

"I never had a girl affect me the way you do. It was love at first sight, and I don't care who knows it. You're the girl I've dreamed about for years, although I never saw you until Monday night. Everything about you simply knocked me silly. Your voice, your eyes, your face—everything.

"I'll be at Thursday night's performance. I'll be in the second row, in the aisle seat on the right hand side. You can't miss me. For good luck, I'll wear a red carnation. If you'll look at me and smile, I'll be the happiest man on earth. If you want me to meet you at the stage door at ter the show, look at me and smile, and I'll be there. Don't forget the arrangement. I'll be waiting.

"You're a cinder, Wheels."

"The nerve!" sniffed Marian, tearing up the letter. "What on earth do people take a woman for, anyway, just because she happens to be making her living on the stage," she mused, rebelling inwardly against the liberty the writer of the letter had taken with her.

She hurried to the dressing room, and dressed and made up for the night's performance. It was Thursday. The smitten man would be in the audience, in the second row. Already she could feel his gaze boring her through. She felt weak, sick, devoid of interest in her share of the impending performance.

"What's the matter, Winthrop?" demanded the ingenue, who had dashed into the room and begun to fly into her "make-up." "Bad news? I saw your eyes glued to a letter back in the hall."

"Bad news, yes," answered Marian. "Honest? I'm awfully sorry," was the sympathetic response.

"News from some fresh man that he wanted me to smile at him over the footlights to-night," pursued Marian with a sneer.

"Pshaw, is that all?" laughed the other. "That's easy. Chuck your eyes in his direction, and if he looks good to you, slip him a smile. Otherwise, the frozen glare for his. But it's generally the old fogies who write mash notes. The live ones are up and coming. They manage to find a way to take you out to supper without writing any fool letters. They're too wise to put anything on paper."

Secrets of Beauty.

Selected Recipes From Here and There—Things Every Woman Wants to Know.

THE MAGNETISM OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR.

Beautiful hair adds immensely to the personal magnetism of both men and women. Actresses and smart women are ever on the look out for any harmless thing that will increase the natural beauty of their hair. The latest method is to use pure stallax as a shampoo on account of the peculiarly glossy, fluffy and wavy effect which it leaves. As stallax has never been used much for this purpose it comes to the chemist only in ¼ lb. sealed original packages, enough for twenty-five or thirty shampoos. A teaspoonful of the fragrant, stallax granules, dissolved in a cup of hot water, is more than sufficient for each shampoo. It is very beneficial and stimulating to the hair, apart from its beautifying effect.

PERMANENTLY REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

How to permanently, not merely temporarily, remove a downy growth of disfiguring superfluous hair is what many women wish to know. It is a pity that it is not more generally known that pure powdered phenol, obtainable from the chemists, may be used for this purpose. It is applied directly to the objectionable hair. The recommended treatment not only instantly removes the hair, leaving no trace, but is designed also to kill the roots completely.

FALLING HAIR.

How often one hears the lament: "I have tried everything on the market, and my hair comes out in handfuls." Not so surprising either when you come to think it over. Hair tends to be effective must be fresh, and there is no earthly reason why every woman should not make her own lotion at home. The finest vegetable tonic I know of is made by mixing a packet of boranum with ¼ pint of bay rum, and adding sufficient water to fill a half-pint bottle. This lotion rubbed briskly into the scalp sets the hair roots tingling with new life, and will, if persevered with, give you back your "crowning glory."

HOME BEAUTY AIDS.

A persistently shiny nose or a dull, lifeless complexion, drives many a woman to cosmetics and consequent despair. And all the time a simple remedy lies at hand in the home. If you have no clemite in the house you need only get about an ounce from your chemist and add just sufficient water to dissolve it. A little of this simple lotion is nature's own beautifier. It is very good for the skin and instantly gives the complexion a soft, velvety, youthful bloom that any woman might envy. It lasts all day or evening, renders powdering entirely unnecessary, and absolutely defies detection.

TO HAVE SMOOTH, WHITE SKIN.

Does your skin chafe or roughen easily, or become unduly red or blotchy? Let me tell you a quick and easy way to overcome the trouble and keep your complexion beautifully white, smooth and soft. Just get some ordinary mercerized wax at the chemists and use a little before retiring as you would use cold cream. The wax, through some peculiar action, checks off the rough, discolored or blemished skin. The worn out cuticle comes off just like dandruff on a diseased scalp only in almost invisible particles. Mercerized wax simply hastens nature's work, which is the rational and proper way to attain a perfect complexion, so much sought after, but very seldom seen. The process is perfectly simple and quite harmless.

Vigorol

VIGOROL removes the lazy feeling. You can feel better, stronger, with one hundred per cent. more vigor and strength, by taking VIGOROL, the Great French Tonic. Every organ will be made clean and healthy. Every drop of VIGOROL contains ambition essence. Headaches, biliousness, tired feeling, pain in the back and under the shoulders, impure blood and lack of ambition, is blotted out with VIGOROL. Get a bottle if you want to feel strong and full of life. Sold at all drug stores.

Shackleton's Arctic Tests Successful.

London, June 8.—Sir Ernest Shackleton and the members of the Imperial Transantarctic Expedition who went to Norway to conduct experiments with equipment and rations, for the journey across the South Polar continent returned from the snowfields of Finse and the Hardanger Glacier recently. Extensive tests have been made of tents, motor-sledges, man-hauling sledges, and good, and valuable results have been obtained.

The new tent, designed by Sir Ernest Shackleton and Mr. Marston (in charge of the clothing), proved a complete success, especially as regards pitching it in a high wind. It may seem a small matter, but with the circulation rendered sluggish by the intense cold of the Antarctic the mere raising of the arms above the head to pitch any ordinary tent can only be done at the imminent risk of frost-bite.

The new tent can be likened to a couple of motor-car hoods joined together and folded flat in the shape of a large "D." One man places it flat on the ground and another throws snow on the snow-cloth, while a third pulls on a guy and raises the structure in a few seconds in an emergency. In fair weather it can be raised by one man. Except for minor troubles, mostly due to vibration, a motor-sledge ran consistently, at times carrying heavy loads and as many as six men, and simultaneously towing another sledge, also carrying a load and two passengers. The engines used were of the 30 h.p. Anzani aeroplane type, and these were geared up to a large propeller working in the air.

The conclusions arrived at may be summed up as follows:

1. The suitability of the new type of tent, weighing only 35 lb. and accommodating six men.

2. The nature and the packing of the provisions, the only change in the ration shown to be desirable being the substitution of an animal for a vegetable protein.

3. The establishing of the practicability of the principle of a motor-sledge, driven by an aerial propeller, being capable of carrying heavy loads at an average speed of fifteen miles an hour over a fair snow surface.

It is understood that Sir Ernest Shackleton is going to Paris to examine various aeroplane engines with a view to incorporating these in the construction of the motor sledges to be taken to the Antarctic.

The Plumber

With stately stride the plumber comes a n d stays around a while and plumbs. He gives t h e boiler s u n d r y, slaps, and tinkers with the pipes a n d taps and when he leaves a smile of gladness lights my face. For he has made a modern shack of my abode, which, three weeks back, was such 25 people used to own along about the age of stone. For years I bought all kinds of pills to cure my relatives of ills. My poor old granny had the heaves, and swallowed tea of boneset leaves, year after year, and still felt punk, with daily spasms in her trunk. My aunt was foundered, and she knew green palms with every breath she drew, and though I bought her palls of dope, the poor old girl was shorn of hope. My Uncle Hiram's rheumatiz just kept him mittering, "Gee whiz!" And everyone around the shack had pink lumbago in the back. And then the "Wise Man" came along, and said, "You'll ne'er be well and strong, you'll always have the grievous gripes, until you put in modern pipes." The plumber came, with lead and brass, and freed the place from sewer gas, and sprung some sanitation curves—and gets the praise that he deserves. Now granny has no fell disease; she's swinging on the high trapeze; my aunt can take a fall from Goteh in seven minutes by the watch, my Uncle Hiram, rid of aches, can whip Jack Johnsoning in three shakes.

AS THE CAMEL

is indispensable to the traveller crossing the African deserts, so also is SUNLIGHT SOAP indispensable to a careful housewife. A Camel can go for several days without drinking, but a good housewife cannot afford to let a single day pass without putting SUNLIGHT SOAP to some use. The first duty of every housewife is to economise; the duty of

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is to help the housewife to economise. The daily use of SUNLIGHT SOAP is practical economy. It does the most washing in the shortest time, with least labour, and with no discomfort. Use a piece in your next wash, and you will be convinced as to its value.

The Leopard.

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

The leopard is a very extensive, cat with the disposition of a bottle of vitriol. It is also known in Africa and India as the Cheetah, and acquired a considerable reputation under this name by being shot by Kermit Roosevelt in 1909.

The leopard grows in different sizes, the larger ones being meaner than the smaller because their capacity is larger. A large leopard is nearly five feet long exclusive of his tail, which continues on to the rear for three feet more, mad all the way. He is fawn or buff-colored and is profusely decorated with beautifully designed black spots. He is the spotted animal there is. The coach dog is monotonous compared with him. Where the leopard got his spots is a mystery, but it is supposed that they are the spots which he has knocked off his enemies in his long and hostile career.

Sometimes these spots are so large that there is not room for all of one spot on a leopard. In those cases the animal is solid black. If there is anything less cheerful than a spotted leopard in a lonely place, it is a black leopard. It is like meeting the funeral before the disease begins.

The leopard lives by himself in the jungle and plains and spends a busy life killing things. He kills anything that isn't more than twice his size but is extremely partial to dogs. A dog is dessert to a leopard. For this reason, in many Indian villages where there is no dog tax and no city official with a wire loop and a cage-dog, the leopard is highly regarded and is allowed to amuse himself as he pleases, especially on moonlight nights.

The leopard will also kill a man by jumping upon him from behind and biting him in the neck. It is always safest when meeting a leopard to examine his intentions. This can best be done by shooting a small tunnel through him with an express rifle. If he does not attack you after this, he is probably peaceably inclined.

There are no leopards in the United States, which is a great blessing. However, we should not pity India and Africa too much. Revolvers are expensive in those countries and a fool often has to save up for months before he can buy one and shoot enough citizens for a mess with it. There are worse things than leopards and a fool with a revolver is one of them.

Heroic Deeds at Vera Cruz.

Among the heroic deeds at Vera Cruz, reviewed by Rear Admiral Fletcher, appears the following: "Ensign H. C. Frazier, U. S. N., ran forward to rescue a wounded man, and, in doing so, he was so exposed that the fire of his own men was temporarily suspended for fear of hitting him. He returned at once to his position in line."

The young Ensign Frazier is the son of Col. J. C. Frazier, U. S. A., who visited St. John's for many years each summer, and who made many friends in St. John's. They will be remembered as having given an entertainment at the Methodist College Hall in aid of the Home for Incubables.

Dizzy Headaches Cured in One Night.

If Troubled With Head Fullness, Ringing Noises, Specks Before the Eyes, the Stomach is at Fault.

Quick Relief and Certain Cure Came From Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away, and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would still be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made strong, ruddy, and healthy, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Thousands who are in an ailing, low state of health need nothing else but Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or the Cattaraugus Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

A palatable way to serve cold, boiled potatoes is to put them through the sieve. Season them well with butter and salt; form into cones and brown in the oven.

Five Million Drop

IN THE REVENUE.

Ottawa, June 11.—Figures issued by the Finance Department show a drop of no less than $5,392,213 in the revenue for the first two months of the fiscal year, as compared with April and May of last year. The total revenue for the past two months was $21,572,161 as compared with $29,964,374 for the corresponding two months of the last fiscal year.

Customs revenue for April and May last was $14,125,864, a decrease of $5,220,674, or over twenty-five per cent, as compared with the corresponding two months of last year. There was a decrease of nearly $400,000 in excise revenue and also a considerable falling off in Intercolonial Railway earnings. The Post Office revenue, however, for the two months shows an increase of $150,000. The total net debt on the 31st of May was $313,558,250.

BIG BLAZE

Early This Morning.

The Martin Hardware Building Gutted--Over $80,000 Worth of Damage --- Origin Unknown --- Insurance Carried $56,000.

A disastrous fire broke out this morning on Water Street, gutting the premises of the Martin Hardware Company and doing damage to the extent of some eighty thousand dollars. Between 3.45 and 4 o'clock, as far as could be ascertained, the fire was first discovered by Head Constable Sparrow and two constables who noticed smoke issuing from the top portion of the building. Immediately the officers sent in an alarm and then acquainted Mr. Frank Martin, owner of the store. The General and East End Companies responded quickly and when the seriousness of the situation was discovered the West End firemen were called into requisition and came hurriedly to the scene. The fire-fighters put out a half dozen streams but even this had little effect as the blaze was well under way and was eating its way through the ceilings and down through the main and ground floors. At the same time the fire gained rapid headway towards the roof which fell in at the outset. At 4.30 or a half an hour from the start the blaze reached large proportions and most of the stock began to ignite. Inspector General Sullivan was present and directed the firemen who worked nobly and well. Citizens also rendered yeoman service. At 6 o'clock the fire was got under control but not before the building was badly gutted. The top and lower floors and their contents of stock was burnt up. Particular attention was paid the second or main floor where the most valuable stock of hardware was. Notwithstanding everything was either destroyed or ruined by smoke and water, a section of the floor foundered and only the main walls of the building were left standing. Despite the early hours of the morning thousands of people turned out to witness the fire. It was stated that a serious conflagration would be the outcome as it was said there was a quantity of dynamite kept in stock. The Martin Hardware Company has been always looked upon as one of the noted headquarters where sportsmen and hunters could be supplied, hence the reason for such a theory being advanced. As a matter of fact we were told by Mr. Martin himself that at the time of the fire there were only five pounds of powder in the building and a few cartridges. This indeed was fortunate, otherwise serious injury or loss of life might have resulted and the victims would probably be the firefighters. There was one explosion of a small quantity of powder but nothing to hurt. Still Smouldering. Up to press hour this forenoon the ruins of the place were still smouldering and several firemen and policemen were standing by. Origin Mysterious. The origin of the fire is unknown and is a mystery to Mr. Martin, who says that everything was all right when he closed his business at six o'clock last evening and was horrified to see it this morning a total wreck and a mass of ruins. Loss $80,000. At a late hour to-day we were informed that the entire loss, which has been conservatively estimated, is $80,000, $56,000 of which is carried by insurance so that the owner stands to lose over $24,000. The building and stock were insured with the following companies:-- Alliance $2,000 Sun 14,000 Royal 4,000 Phoenix of London 4,000 Union 2,000 Caledonian 8,000 Valentine 4,000 Phoenix of Hartford 4,000 Rimouski 4,000 Northern 6,000 Guardian 4,000 Mr. F. Martin tells us that the fire did not impede his business much and that he will continue right away next to S. O. Steele's store on the north side of Water Street, opposite the King George Institute.

Welsh Singers Capture Audience.

The second concert by the Royal Gwent Welsh Singers brought together a large house, the only noticeable thinness was in front, the body and back of the hall being packed by an audience which listened in rapt silence to the part songs, choruses, the quartette, the duet and solos, and waxed enthusiastic as each was brought to a close. The response to encores was generous. The part singing appealed most to us, but the choruses were equally good. The Hallelujah Chorus, given as an encore to the "March of the Men of Harlech," impressed us most. "The Two Beggars" was most amusing, but the quartette "Little Tommy went a Fishing," in finish and precision took the palm. The tenor, baritone and bass solos were finished productions. Today there is a matinee and at night the closing concert. The like of this choir has not been heard here before and the opportunity of hearing them should not be missed. Those who have heard them once wish to hear them again. Mr. Hesser is to be congratulated on his enterprise and should be supported in his effort to bring musical talent along.

Entertainment at Presbyterian Hall.

Last night a very enjoyable entertainment was held at the Presbyterian Hall under the auspices of the C. of E. Cathedral Mission Auxiliary, in aid of the Home Missions. An excellent programme was carried out in which the following took part: Miss Sue Irving, Miss Marie Devine, Mr. Arthur Bulley, Miss Croucher, Mr. Collier, Mr. Stan Green, Miss Grace Colton, Mr. Macklin, Miss Marjorie Rennie, Mrs. Stranger, Miss Goodland, Messrs. Macklin, Burley, Luxon, Spooner, Misses Reid, Ellis and West. Accompanists--Miss Joffe, Messrs. Crocker, Hirst and Roseworthy. During the interval a sale of candies, ice cream and plain work was held, the proceeds of which amounted to a satisfactory sum. At the close, Rev. J. Brinton proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies in charge which was unanimously accorded.

Gave His Life For His Mother.

Another Story of Heroism in the St. Lawrence Tragedy. His name will not go down on "the blazing scroll of fame," but nevertheless Bandsman Leonard Delamont of the Salvation Army, died a hero's death when the Empress of Ireland was wrecked. When all hope was abandoned and death stared every passenger of the doomed Empress of Ireland in the face, the courage of young Delamont rose superior to the common instinct of self-preservation. Coming up on deck with a lifebelt on his breast he found his mother there, without any protection against the waves that were fast creeping up the slanting deck. A son's affection and a man's duty immediately assumed sway, and the young man, tearing off his lifebelt, fastened it around his mother. Taking a last farewell of his parent, for whom he had done all he could, he plunged into the sea, trusting to his strength and skill as a swimmer. His dutiful act was his last, for when he dived, he jumped to death. His mother was saved, and her safety is entirely due to her son's action, who proved himself a man and a hero when hundreds quailed and fought for life. WANDERER FOUND.--An old woman was found wandering about the West End last evening by the police. She was unable to tell her name but after much difficulty her place of abode was discovered.

Last Night's Football Match

CASUALS DEFEAT SAINTS. The Casuals and St. Andrew's faced off on St. George's Field last evening, and after a fairly even struggle the Casuals gained the victory by one goal to nil.

The weather was very unfavourable, but notwithstanding there was a goodly gathering of spectators. On the whole the exhibition was slow, due mainly to lack of practice of both teams, yet the dampness of the atmosphere and the thick fog made the field wet and the ball greasy, consequently it was difficult to control the ball, besides the conditions hampered the game from a spectator's standpoint.

At the start the Saints got away quickly, rushed into Casual territory and by poor judgment Burns lost a splendid chance to score. On resuming play became of a give and take nature. There was plenty of individual play and erratic shooting but an absence of combination. The first period closed with no scoring being done.

During the latter part of the game the Casuals were in much better form and worked with determination. Dick and Barnes for the Saints defended well and stopped several rushes. Eventually the efforts of the Casuals were crowned with success when Smith landed the one and winning goal.

After that the Saints made several hard attempts to equalize but on each occasion Hartery drove the ball out of danger. No further scoring was done and the game closed: Casuals--1; Saints--0.

The line-up:-- ST. ANDREW'S--Goal, W. Ross; backs, Dick, A. Barnes; halves, H. Fraser, D. Stevenson, Irvine; forwards, W. Burns, Howard, D. Kerr, R. Innes, E. Way.

CASUALS.--Goal, Posier; backs, Bradbury, Hartery; halves, W. Chaney, C. Stevenson, R. Marshall; forwards, O. Chancey, Pottle, Smith, Wall, Garland.

Shamrock IV. Sails Fast.

OUT-DISTANCES SHAMROCK III IN YESTERDAY'S TRIAL; WORLD'S CHAMPIONS INCREASE LEAD IN LEAGUE RACE.

Portsmouth, June 9.--Carrying all the canvas that could be tacked on a single mast, the challenging yacht Shamrock IV., with which Sir Thomas Lipton hopes to lift the America's cup, was put through another speed test in the Solent to-day. Shamrock IV. was paced by Shamrock III, which was out-distanced easily by the new boat. Sir Thomas and other British yachtsmen who have had a chance to see Shamrock IV. in action are delighted with her speed. The new Shamrock allows Shamrock III. 4 min., 23 sec. in 30 miles.

Lipton's Only Worry. A Southampton, G.B. despatch says: "At a conference on the Erin, between Sir Thomas Lipton, designer Nicholson and W. P. Burton, the decision was reached not to ask the New York Yacht Club further concessions in regard to towing the challenger on the Atlantic voyage."

"We do not wish to ask anything that might embarrass the New York Yacht Club," Sir Thomas said. "They have always been very kind to me, and we feel they would not refuse the towing privilege if they could do otherwise. We wish to conform to the rules."

Bread Cake AND Pastry

JOHN B. AYRE.

The correspondence between the club and Lipton at the time of the challenge dealt at length with the towing matter, the club taking the position that no greater concession than was made to the Shamrock I. could be considered now. This left the matter, as interpreted by Lipton, as before.

Permission was granted the Shamrock I. to tow in calms. In the present case towing in anything but calm might prove a detriment to the challenger's very light hull. As the southern route will be followed by way of the Azores, heavy weather is not expected. The date of her departure has been fixed for July 15.

Sir Thomas Lipton says: "My only worry is about the safety of the Shamrock in crossing the Atlantic. If she gets across without straining I think you will see that piece of silver in a special locker reserved for it on the Erin."

Good Sign of Fish.

From passengers who arrived in the city by the Trepassay train last night we learn that codfish were plentiful yesterday at Ferryland and other points along the shore. The fish are off in deep water, and some of the men secured as high as ten quintals on the hook and line yesterday. Caplin have not made their appearance in any great quantities yet. The outlook for a good trap voyage seems to be more encouraging.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferer and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Perce Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?

Mexico Has Wealth of Interesting Ruins.

MODERN VILLAGES AND CRUMBLING CITIES OF PAST CENTURIES ARE SIDE BY SIDE.

That Mexico is full of ruins of ancient cities, of crumbling stones, traces of grotesque figures and queer designs, is a statement of a report issued by the Pan-American Union on Mitla "The Place of Death."

In Yucatan alone there are seventy or more such ruins, it is stated. Approach to some of these is too arduous for most tourists, but on the southernmost shore of the republic lies the state of Oaxaca, whose capital is easily accessible. Oaxaca City is reached from Puebla by the Mexican Southern. The distance is 228 miles and the trip takes twelve hours. It is 238 miles from Mexico City and the same distance from Vera Cruz. Its population is 40,000. It was the early home of both Porfirio Diaz, former president, and Benito Juarez, the patriot and national hero.

Its age makes it very attractive, but it is quite modern in many ways, possessing tram cars, electric lights, telephones and other factors of comfort. Another feature connected with Oaxaca, says the Washington Star, is the fact that from the city the excursion is made about twenty-five miles to the southeast to the ruins of Mitla, some of the best preserved prehistoric remains of all Mexico.

In an Arid Plain.

Mitla is a contraction or corruption of the word Mictlan, meaning "the place of death." The modern village and the ancient ruins occupy the center of arid plain or valley, surrounded on all sides by equally arid hills, on the highest summit of which are the well preserved remains of a great fortress, whose walls are of a rough construction and without ornament of any kind. Nearly in the centre of the plain five great groups of buildings stand out completely exposed. Many of them are now nearly shapeless mounds and masses of ruins.

Two great groups, however, are in comparatively perfect preservation, a third is incorporated with an old church and a fourth, the great sacrificial mound, is surmounted by the ruins of a very ancient church. The principal buildings are of stone masonry. A condensed description of one will give an idea of the others.

The hall of pillars, the northernmost building of the north group, is a great room, 125 feet long and twenty-three feet wide, interior measurements. The height of the walls is about twelve feet, the thickness varying from three feet two inches on the sides to four feet six inches for the front wall. The entrances are three doorways nearly eight feet wide, each composed of three members, two enormous monolithic door jambs about seven feet high, six feet wide and two feet thick, surmounted by monolithic lintels nearly twenty feet long, three feet wide and five feet thick.

Row of Great Columns.

The most striking feature of the room is a row of six monolithic columns running lengthwise of the room, each column standing eleven feet one inch above the floor which is covered with cement. Their circumference is each nine feet six inches. They are slightly tapered at the top, which is slightly flat. The interior walls are plain. The exterior walls are covered with a rich decoration of panels of mosaic work, surrounded by large squared and sometimes incised sculptured stones.

The great group, of which this is the principal building, was probably the ceremonial hall. The south group was probably that in which the final ceremonies attending the death of a chief, high priest or other dignity were performed. The remaining buildings were probably for the use of the visiting dignitaries and for the priests and officers who served Mictlan Tecuhtli, "the lord of the place of death."

Mysterious Rites.

The mounds on which the building now stand were covered with cream-white stones, forming ample terraces about the buildings. The buildings themselves stood in the midst of the vast plain, brilliant crimson and white in the glaring sunlight. Entering the buildings one was plunged into almost absolute darkness. Here amidst the dim light of flickering torches, were performed the mysterious rites attending the awful mystery of death among these people centuries before the conquest of Mexico by Cortez.

Announcement.

D. J. Furlong wishes to announce to his friends and the public generally that he has opened a custom establishment in connection with the Cleaning and Pressing in the store lately occupied by N. W. Chown, 7 New Gower Street, and is now prepared to receive orders for any garment in the tailoring line; also wishes his friends to notice that he is giving a very special offer to anyone having suit length to be made up. Every garment will receive the best of attention. Call now and see our goods and select your pattern. Workmanship guaranteed. All goods well shrunk before making.

Two Men Killed.

White Burg, Ky., June 11.—Two men are dead, four are believed to be dying, and a small boy lies fatally wounded as the result of an attack by Wm. Day, a mountaineer, on officers who sought to arrest him at Neot, near here, last night.

One of the men killed was an officer and the other was Day himself. Day's weapon was a shotgun.

Day was killed by possemen who trailed him to the mountains, whence he fled, after making a desperate stand at his home. Day wanted on a minor charge, resisted arrest.

Try Again.

You have, it may be, used ointments, pastes, lotions for Eczema till you begin to get tired of trying things. Well, but you should remember that science is advancing all the time, and that what was not possible yesterday can be accomplished today. If you neglect to try Zylax—the newest and best thing that science has yet to offer for the relief and cure of Eczema and other annoying and disfiguring skin diseases—you are missing a great opportunity. It may be that it will cure you. It has cured some very bad cases. Price 50c. a box. Zylax Soap, 25c. a cake.

GOT LEG BADLY HURT—W. Hart, of the Star football team, who got a kick in the knee during Monday evening's match with the B.S., is now confined to his home, the leg being more hurt than at first thought. It is not likely that he will be able to play any more this season.

Golf National Danger.

Headmaster at Eton Classes it with Bridge.

London, June 10.—Dr. Lytleton, Headmaster of Eton, at a meeting in support of the "Duty of Discipline" at Lansdowne House, said that golf, on which this country spent £70,000 yearly, did a grave social harm, because the players insisted upon having caddies at all hours, and thus created a "blind alley" occupation.

Bridge, too, he described as a grave national danger. Any game, he said, was a menace that kept Cambridge undergraduates in bed on Sunday and other mornings and throughout the whole day in rooms full of tobacco smoke, when they ought to be out in the sunshine.

St. John's Gas Light Company.

Dear Sir,—I have analyzed a sample of Sulphate of Ammonia made at your works and I found 20.5 per cent of NITROGEN, Sulphates of Ammonia and Nitrate of Soda are the two principal Nitrogen manure.

Sulphate of Ammonia is less soluble than Nitrate of Soda, consequently it is a safer manure to use during a wet season.

A BIG TWO-REEL FEATURE FOR THE HOLIDAY BILL.

When Pierrot met Pierette, a two-reel feature with Barbara Tennant, the noted actress, is a splendid Eclair feature that is the headliner at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day. It is a stirring story of the trials of a young girl who was the dupe of a fortune hunter and a gang of criminals. The second picture is an educational subject "The Sponge Industry" and the comedy is Adventure No. 3 of the great Freckles series entitled "What Happened to Freckles?" The great three-reel special "Uncle Tom's Cabin" the historical Southern story will be in all probability exhibited on next Monday and Tuesday. Miss Louise Arkandy is singing new songs and the bill in every respect will be in line with the best.

A good way to serve salad is in tomato shells. Take the skin off the tomato, cut a slice off at the stem and scoop out core and seeds. Put in refrigerator until wanted.
