the skirmish at Abu Kles on the 17th says before the rebels fell back there was some very active fighting between the sharp-shooters on both sides. The Arabs did not come near enough to make volley firing effective. Lord Wolseley thinks Col. Buller will reach Gakdul wells without serious difficulty. The London papers magnify this encounter into a British vio-tory. As Wolseley has sent no report of the affair it is probably regarded by him as insignificant. The withdrawal of the Soudanese to Metëmneh is attributed to a want_of water and supplies. Korti despatches say it is expected there that the attacks on Buller will be renewed. The Soudanese around Abu Klea wore the mahdi's uniform, showing that his contin-gent has arrived from Khartoum. Col. The committee met Saturday. It was ordered that unsuccessful designs in the competition be returned within thirty lays. At the request of the architects it and plans estimated above that amount be thrown out. It was also decided to increase the commission to the success-ful competitor from four to five per cent. on the contract amounts. The stipulation that the building should be erected of Canadian material was struck out, as it was shown that it would increase the cost of the work.

Now their territory runs alongside of the United States boundary for about 3000 miles, and States boundary for about 3000 miles, and it may be imagined that in so great a length causes of differences may arise. Yet ex-perience has proved that anything in the way of misunderstanding is capable of explanation and adjustment, and the natural wish and tendency of the people on each side of the line is to commingle and to be good neighbors and relatives. Let us take the experience of the last few years, and in brief survey proceed from west to east. Alaska has been bought by the United States-not a very profitable purchase, but States-not a very profitable purchase, but it has given the authorities of Washington an opportunity to show their good-will by helping the British Columbians to keep order among the coast Indians. On the northern boundary river the territories of the two countries are so dovetailed that a rectification of the line is needful, because rectification of the line is needin, because prisoners to justice are obliged to be taken actors places where an escape would mean freedom under international laws.
