IMPRESSIONS OF CONGRESS

It is the King's birthday and all folk are all back to hear the "secondly" of this great congress preaching. As has been said, we have had the Dogology and going-up-peals of the Sabbath, Monday was "firstly" and so the "sermon-tasters" are ready for the "second point." But we hope it is not the same crowd for "one head" of such deep discourses in about enough for even a Presbyterian. However, we can see a row of "true blues" who reach all the way from the towering elder of Hanth, N. Blackett Robinson, Ottawa, standing like a standard of the church, which he is.

Rev. W. D. Reade Delivers an Aggressive Address on Immigration.

RUTHENIANS PRESENT

Presbyterian Congress Cables Birthday Greetings to King George.

"God Save the King" and "Blest be the tie that binds" almost synchronized and were in unison of sentiment at the Presbyterian Congress yesterday morning at Massey Hall.

The national anthem was in celebration of the birthday of His Majesty while the hymn was an exultation over the announcement that twenty Ruthenian ministers were present applying to be received into the Presbyterian Church.

Chairman Rev. D. McKay introduced Rev. Dr. Carman of the Methodist Church, who prayed for the Royal Family.

A cablegram of congratulations to the King was authorized on the suggestion of the chairman.

Rev. W. D. Reade, Montreal, made an aggressive address on immigration. Many newcomers he declared were actively anti-Christian. "We must Christianize these people or they will paganize us," he declared.

BOOK REVIEWS BY CHESTER FIELD

GEOFFREY CHAUCER

M. Legouis, whose study of Wordsworth has established his reputation as a critic on English literature, has given an equally valuable study of Chaucer, the first by a French critic. He traces Chaucer's life and examines his character in relation to the history of his times and takes up his works in critical detail, always having in mind their historical background.

VIRGINIA

Ellen Glasgow, in this her latest book, deals with the analysis and interpretation of woman, and the problem that is vexing the thousands. Virginia embodies the feminine ideal of half a century ago. To look at her was to think inevitably of love, but her life is a demonstration of the fact that the time when love was woman's whole existence, is past and gone forever.

CORNWALL, June 3.—(Special.)—Louis Bero, proprietor of a hotel at Hogsburg, N.Y., across the river, lost his life in a fire which destroyed the hotel last night.

The fire was discovered in the rear of the premises in a two-story frame structure and the building was soon a mass of flames in a very short time.

What's the answer?

SOME folks estimate the value of an Electric Fan by the first cost. That's hardly fair. An Electric Fan is an investment in health and comfort, and should be valued accordingly.

The correct method of valuing an Electric Fan is this: "Divide the price by the years it lasts"—the result comes out in cents. That's the answer.

AS for the cost of operation, it is indeed small enough. Less than a cent an hour will keep you cool, good-tempered, cheerful, all summer long. Think of it! Less than one cent an hour!

And the kind of fans we sell our customers are noted for their longevity. They've got to be or we wouldn't handle them.

THE Toronto Electric Light Company, as well as the manufacturer, stands behind each sale to guarantee you satisfaction.

Come in today and see our display of fans in every size, for every purpose, all ready for your choosing.

Symptoms Wan to Remove the Cause

The ordinary doctor spends his efforts in arresting symptoms rather than removing the cause. Gradually he is often compelled to do this against his better judgment in order to satisfy the demands of his patients.

Symptoms are removed at a dreadful expense to the organs of the body. As an example, consider the effect on the nervous system of drugs so powerful as to immediately stop headaches and other bodily pains.

The reaction of an exhausting on the system, and the result is that the pains and aches return, and the system constantly grows weaker and weaker.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures by removing the cause. Gradually and naturally this food cure revitalizes the feeble, wasted nerves and by invigorating the system drives out pains, aches and diseases.

This is Nature's way of curing disease. It is the only way. The treatment of symptoms is only a makeshift way of avoiding pain. It overlooks the importance of symptoms as a warning of impending trouble.

To get well and keep well use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food until the blood is rich and red, the nerves steady and the body filled with health and vigor.

Women compose 5 per cent. of the student body in the universities of Germany. Then the newspaper comments on the duchess' idealism: "Advocates, yes, from a practical housewife and mother who has to do it, a working woman is willing to take it, but not the patronage of a duchess. Do not, your grace, preach from your luxuriously upholstered pedestal the practice of these virtues, of which the working women know as much as you."

QUEEN PRESSES BUTTON AND NEW HOSPITAL'S DOORS SWING OPEN

Queen Mary of Great Britain, by the placing of her finger upon an electric button at 1:30 yesterday afternoon, signified the official opening of the Weston Free Hospital for Consumptive Children at Weston. This unique ceremony, which was successfully carried thru by the assistance of the intervening cable wires, was witnessed by thousands of visitors thronging about the grounds of the new institution. By a clever mechanism the energy put in operation in the royal palace swung the great hospital doors on their hinges, and a loud burst of enthusiasm marked the opening of the latest venture promoted by the National Sanitarium Association towards blocking the white plague in Ontario.

The ceremonies of opening the new building were conducted by Lieutenant-Governor Sir John Gibson, and those taking part in the addresses of the occasion were Hon. W. J. Hanna, Hon. W. A. Charron, Mayor Hocken, ex-Chancellor Burwash of Victoria College, W. J. Gage, Controller McCarty, Dr. Hastings and Rev. Alexander Gilray.

A host of school children joined in the procession from Toronto and were led by the public school bugle band.

The institution, which is the first of its kind in America, consists of a substantial brick building costing $100,000. It will accommodate eighty patients. Arrangements have been made for thirty-five of these with the nurses to go into immediate occupation of the wards and treatment will be given.

First of its kind.

Mr. Gage, the founder of the National Sanitarium Association on behalf of the board of trustees, voiced the satisfaction experienced at being able to place the new institution at the disposal of the citizens of Toronto.

"You will be interested to know," he said, "that this is the only hospital for consumptive children in America, and today the only one of the kind in the British Empire."

"I do not believe any movement has ever been started in Canada that has taken such deep root as the sanitarium movement. It has not only had a remarkable development, but has been full of surprises, with the greatest possible encouragement to all interested."

"The starting of the movement was an innocent looking letter I wrote to the mayor of the city 20 years ago, offering to give a certain amount if the city would furnish a building site. The mayor's reply was a proposal that the money be expended in building a wing to the Home for Incurables."

"His reply fairly crystallized public opinion of the day in the common belief that the sufferer from consumption was doomed to death."

Change of Sentiment.

"We all know how public sentiment has been changed—due to the living testimony of thousands who have passed thru our various sanitariums and who are now ready for all the activities of life. This testimony has been supported by the statistics furnished by our sanitarium."

"In the last annual statement, which has just been issued, of the Toronto Free Hospital, located on these grounds, covering a period of eight years, since the institution was first opened, it is reported on patients who were in residence one month or over, the physician-in-chief states that 49 per cent. were improved by treatment."

"This remarkable statement is the more noteworthy when it is remembered that only patients in the advanced stages of the disease are admitted into the Toronto Free Hospital."

"The report of the Muskegon Free Hospital, just issued, states that during the ten years since the institution was first opened, of those under treatment one month or over, 71 per cent. were improved. This includes a large number who were either completely cured or had the disease arrested."

"I have it on the authority of the physician-in-chief that in the children's hospital he expects that fully 90 per cent. will be cured or greatly benefited."

Suitable Vines For Pergolas.

As a pergola is built mainly for the purpose of providing suitable support for a number of varieties of vines, there is no reason in the world why every month in the year should not see some vine blooming away merrily, whether it has companions or not.

Roses, of course, play a very important and beautiful part in the decoration scheme, but, not by any means are they the only ones to be considered. The varieties of splendid climbers are legion. But do not forget that we must study for permanency of effect because only after some years careful cultivation do some vines approach perfection.

There are many varieties of the honeysuckle, some early and some late, that may be chosen. The old-fashioned coral trumpet is exceedingly brilliant and sweet scented. This is the honeysuckle of our grandmothers' gardens and may be depended upon to give absolute satisfaction. The honeysuckles form more or less permanent vine stalks, so that every year a decided gain is evidenced.

The wisterias, purple and white, must be given a place on the south or east side. Their time of blooming is early in June and the great drooping clusters of pea-shaped flowers can only be adequately appreciated when seen. The perfume is penetrating and lasts. When the leaves appear shortly after the flower-clusters have reached their best, the delicate green is always lovely.

The wisteria must be some years old before bloom is expected. In the meantime the central stalk can be used as a support for one of the annuals, grown from seed, the brightest of which is the yellow canary creeper.

The jasmmines will bloom thruout the mild spells of winter. The hardy yellow variety is jasmminum nudiflorum, which should be at least three years old before placing in its spot along the pergola.

The climatis family gives us three or four reliable varieties, Jackmanni, montana, a lovely variety coming into bloom early in the spring, and that incomparable climatis paniculata, the Chinese kind, all billowy and foamy with masses of dazzling white followed by feathery seeds, until late in the autumn.

Some of the dogwoods are of a climbing habit, and anyone who has seen the dogwood in the early spring will not rest when they know that one specimen at least has been added to the pergola.

A pretty plan is to plant an annual, say the morning glory, close to the vines, such, for instance, as the wisteria, and allow it to twine up the stem.

The morning glory is a very old, but beautiful flower. Nothing could possibly be prettier than to see the sun shining upon these deep blue, rich red, or snowy white "glories," for nothing else in the way of names, would be suitable to them.

Eulogizes Sir J. M. Gibson.

The speaker eulogized the services that have been rendered by His Honor Sir John M. Gibson, especially in his magnificent leadership in the "King Edward Memorial Campaign."

"That this province has more sanitariums in proportion to its population than any province in Canada or any state of the union," he went on, "and is doing more to stamp out tuberculosis than any similar area in America, is due in a large measure to the practical help given by the provincial secretary, the Hon. Mr. Hanna, and those directly in connection with his department in the years that have helped given to the sanitarium movement and his great prison reform work will form the most attractive pages in the history of this province."

Rev. Dr. Burwash solemnized the proceedings with prayer, calling for the benediction of the Almighty upon the spirit of humanity and charity which had inspired the occasion. Queen Mary, and the congregation then moved to the Prittle building, which was also opened with ceremony. This structure, erected at a cost of $28,000, was given by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Prittle in memory of their little daughter Katharine.

The buildings, which have been fitted with all the latest arrangements which medical science can devise, include an open-air school room on the roof, where the patients will take place under the most healthful conditions practicable.

Those wanting the very latest creations in footwear can be suited in its regular $4 lines. All sizes are carried.

PLANKED SHAD

THAT'S a delicacy to conjure lovers of good eating with. It comes into our market just at the close of Lent, when every one feels sure that they have had enough fish to last them the remainder of their lives, yet no sooner does shad appear, than every one of us has a cook the roe. Nothing is easier, yet how often the dainty hard and tasteless, and more like sea sand than moist and full of game fish flavor, as it should be. Try making the roe into cutlets, or pin a spoonful of the roe in a wide, thin slice of bacon, and cook as directed in preceding article on shell fish, for pigs in blankets.

Now we are back to the shad, and I take pleasure in giving you the same method that was given to the early colonists in Maryland by the Pascatoway tribe. Only you will probably have to use the broiler burner of a modern gas range or the front of a wood or coal stove, as a pile of cordwood three feet high, burned down to a fine bed of glowing coals, is not numbered among the culinary conveniences of twentieth century housekeeping. But the methods change, the shad will never be other but the king of fish for planking.

Have the fish man bone the shad. He will tell you he cannot, but he knows he can, with a sharp pick, remove the only imperfection in this perfect fish—the most of the bones adhering to the backbone.

When you are ready to cook the shad flatten him out nicely and pat the broken flesh into shape. You will cook him skin side up so the ragged under side will never show.

I hope you have a fish plank that is a family heirloom; black with age and strong with the rich odor of many a gone, but never to be forgotten, shad, for these planks improve with use. If you are to use a new one do not be particular about anything except that it be at least two inches thick and of seasoned oak. My finest plank I picked up in a wood yard; the planer charged me ten cents to run a groove around it to catch the juices from the cooking fish. This plank has been used at home and in classes for six years and is just getting into prime shape. I would not trade it for the finest new one in the country.

Impale the fish on the buttered plank, skin side uppermost, spread with fresh butter and put under, or in front of, the flame. Baste with hot water and butter mixed whenever the blistering skin looks dry. When it is all puffed up and brown, which will be in about twenty minutes from the time you have started to cook it, and when it smells so good you can wait no longer, you will know it is done.

Draw out the tacks or small nails that have held the fish on the plank, but do not disturb the shad. Lay the plank in the big platter and decorate with cross and quarters of lemon. Now have mashed, creamed potatoes hot, and pipe them about the plank thru a tube. Or new potatoes, mashed in thickened cream, drained slightly and sprinkled with parsley, will do. On the potatoes, or between them, place the shad roe croquets, or shad roe cooked in bacon strips, and send to the table.

There are other ways to prepare shad, but the best is not too good for this noble fish.

It may be broiled, but has not then the fine flavor imparted by the oak plank. A baked shad is somewhat similar to the broiled article. Split the fish as directed, cover with melted butter and lemon juice. Fasten strips of bacon across the back so it is like a lattice in appearance. Lift the fish into a shallow baking platter, that will answer to serve it in, and bake in a very hot oven, basting often. Serve with green ravigote sauce,

NO OTHER WAY

By GORDON HOLMES

His wife was strung to a pitch of agitation that was almost unbearable, she caught some new cadence in his voice, some note of deep reverence and unavailing sorrow, that made him seem, for an instant, like a man who, even in the blithe days of wooing, had Claude spoken in that way. How he had changed! His manner with women, even at his best, was apt to be truculently jocular; yet now he was addressing her as she were some fair goddess whom he had transgressed against beyond hope of mercy.

"What had caused this sudden change, and the soul springing into being in one who had seemed to be coarsest clay? Her mother's heart went out to him. She longed to take him in her arms, and kiss away the needless fear that for him there was no forgiveness."

But she restrained herself, and was content to put a timid hand on his arm.

"We have at least taken a decisive step when we are ready to discuss our troubles," she said. "Dear, will you walk with me a little way? There is a seat yonder, near the statue of Antigone, where we might sit awhile, and talk over the wreck we have made of our lives. I am not hysterical, as you well know. I was naturally excited at first; for I could not guess how you would receive me. But now I shall be calm. You need not dread the tears which you hate, as every man does. I suppose. But, candidly, I should like to be seated. I am somewhat tired. It has been a wearing day, for my nerves, at any rate, and I am sure you will not drive me away now until I have told you what is in my mind. Come! Let me tell you first how deeply moved I was by the solicitude that breathed thru every sentence in your letter. It was your right arm that was injured, was it not? So I can take this arm while we walk, and then I shall be able to speak with more confidence, since you cannot escape, as you did at Narragansett Pier, while I am holding you."

Doris was so sure of her ground now that she actually laughed, with the low, hushed coo of a woman who has won back an errant husband from the slough of sin and despair. But she felt that he was trembling, and her eager thought read in this sign of physical neither his wife nor this lurking ruffian had any inkling of. So, without further ado, he struck Joe Brett hard and true between the eyes, and the right-arm blow that stretched the eave-dropper like a log on the path. Instantly he regretted his action, and turned to reassure the frightened woman.

"There is only one way to argue with prowling creatures of this type," he began.

Then he leaped forward to catch Doris before she fell; but he was too late, for she swayed and collapsed in a dead faint on a small bank of turf that ran by the path on the park side.

Bob was anxious to gnaw his prostate enemy; so, Waverton, holding his wife's limp form in his arms, was compelled to shout an imperative command to the dog to leave the man alone. It was a distinctly awkward situation, for Bob's fighting blood was roused; yet Waverton was strangely reluctant to lay his helpless burden on the grass so that he might hold the animal while the spy could scramble to his feet and slink off. He solved the difficulty by lifting Doris bodily off the ground and striding away in the direction of the house, meanwhile calling loudly to the dog to follow.

When the astounded ruffian ventured to lift his head, Waverton had already carried his wife a considerable distance, and the setter had gone with him. Then Joe Brett tenderly felt the bridge of his nose, and produced a soiled handkerchief to mop the dark fluid pouring from that damaged organ. He knew, too, that when morning dawned he would find himself decorated with a pair of spectacles of Nature's own contriving. But the man's low organism was governed by an innate love of sport, and he was actually more concerned with the style and force of the blow he had received than with its effects.

"Injured right arm, has he, the paralyzing 'dude'?" he muttered, scrambling to his feet. "Well, may I go plumb to blazes, if he can hand out that sort of punch with the right, what in thunder would have happened if he'd dealt me one with the left?"

He went to the lake and dabbed water on his face; then, hearing voices, he dived into the wood and vanished. But his warped mind recurred in thunder to the pugilistic science that lay behind that half-arm blow, and he even waxed enthusiastic over it the next day when Rice was sent to the village with a ten dollar bill as a solace for the unknown man "who had accidentally sustained two black eyes

Whereat the rascal laughed scornfully. "D'ye think I don't know how he hit me?" he said. "That's a Sim dandy of a tale, that is! I can take chances myself when the other fellow doesn't prance into the argument like an injin-rubber mule; but take my tip, mister, if Mr. Claude G. Waver-

CANADIAN CIRCUIT RACES AT DUFFERIN PARK TODAY

Three Events on the Card, Including 2.30 Class Pacing Stake, the 2.18 Trot, and a Race for Local Horses — Denver Horses Here.

The racing season for trotters and pacers on the Canadian circuit will open this afternoon at Dufferin Park, when three races will be decided, and, from reports of the trials shown by the horses in training for this meeting, some exciting contests are sure to be seen. The feature race on today's card will be the Union Stock Yards Stake, for 2.30 class pacers, and for which the purse will be $1000. The probable starters in this race are all without records, but some of them have shown very fast in their work. The wealthy Denver, Col., horseman, George H. Estabrook, well known in the harness horse world as the owner of Colorado E. (2:04 1/2), holder of the world's record for harness-year-old trotters, etc., has entered in this race, and the mare will be driven by Ramey Macey, a young driver who has had Grand Circuit experience. Another smart pacer that will start in the stake race is Little Alfred, owned by T. H. Brownlee of Ottawa. This horse raced here last fall, when he won an interesting half-mile heat race.

Horses Shipped To Military Camp

The Repository presented one of the busiest scenes in Toronto on Monday and Tuesday of this week, over two hundred horses having been shipped from there to the military camp at Niagara Falls. They were a grand lot of horses for the purpose, costing $200 to $275 per head, and the best of the kind that could be procured. They were all purchased by Mr. Burns of the Repository, and will give such service at camp as has never been obtained before. Out of the total number purchased, only five were rejected, these being a shade too small, which shows the care taken in the selection of the horses. Colonel Hall and Major Simkins, the veterinary inspectors for the government, stated they were highly pleased with them, and that they were a much superior lot of horses to what they had expected. The officers going to camp also expressed their appreciation. It is worth noting that all these horses will be sold at the Repository on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 8th and 9th, after the camp is over, and parties wanting good horses should look these dates well in mind, as the horses will then be for absolute sale.

The Right Price for a Suit of Clothes

WE GIVE ALL WE CAN FOR THE MONEY. YOU GET ALL THE MONEY YOU CAN BUY.

An Unusual Showing of High-Class Suits at Low Prices

Once in a while we get right down to brass tacks and talk PRICE. Do you realize that we carry a stock of men's clothing that could not be duplicated for $40 a suit? We sell these suits for $25. We have a large range that the most economical tailor could not make up for less than $30, and we sell these suits for $20. Last, but not least, we want to say something about $15 suits. There is a big demand for suits at that price in Toronto. It would open the eyes of many a man to see what we give for $15. Compare the materials, compare the finish, compare the fit and style; you will say "Ed. Mack gives more for $15 than any tailor or clothier I ever saw." Whether you want a blue or black serge, a tweed or worsted, you will save time by going to Ed. Mack's first.

Overhears a Fanning Bee and Gives His Own Views—Yesterday's Game Nearly Ended in Mobbing of Umpire—Quigley Chased O'Hara From the Grounds.

Toronto fans are not a bit pleased with the work of President Barrow's staff on the field, and yesterday's game nearly ended in a riot. Finerman made a mistake when he called Bradley out at first base. He was not to be taken into consideration, but the fans let this go by as an error. Judgment. It was not until Quigley called O'Hara out on strikes in the ninth, when he should have had a base on balls, and then chased O'Hara off the field, that the work of the spectators was raised. Bradley ended the game a minute later by rolling out, and the crowd swarmed on the field. A couple of hundred crawled around Quigley and told him just what they thought of him. UNUSUALLY HIGH-CLASS SUITS.

Among the firms that take advantage of every opportunity to supply the needs of the public in high-class suits at out prices that of Ed. Mack, 167 Yonge street, is conspicuous. His mottoes are: "We give all we can for the money," while to the customer it says: "You get all that the money will buy." These are good mottoes to gain and retain business and the success of Ed. Mack is due to the methods which enable him to carry them out to his satisfaction and that of his large and increasing clientele. It is Ed. Mack's object to get the right price for a suit of clothes, and neither more nor less. Just now he is running three special lines of high-class suits. One that could not be duplicated for $40 a suit he sells at $25. Another large range of $30 suits he offers at $20, and for $15 he offers more quality and style than can be obtained anywhere. These suits can be supplied in the black serge, tweeds and worsteds, all first-class materials and made up in the best manner. Ed. Mack's suits are made up in the best manner, and he is a specialist in this line.

TEN STRAIGHT WINS FOR CY. FALKENBURG

Cleveland's Good Heaver Found the Yankees Easy Pickings. NEW YORK, June 3.—Cleveland easily won its first game with New York, 8 to 2. Keating pitched fairly well for New York, but his support was too big a handicap for him. The game was Falkenburg's straight victory. He pitched and Walter were "boomed" from the field for their poor work. Borton and Zelder, however, pitched well. The Yankees made a good impression. Score: Cleveland, A. B. R. H. O. A. E. ONLY DILUTED ACID SHOULD BE SOLD

O. C. P. President Calls Attention to Death Toll From Carbolic Poisoning.

In his address presented at the semi-annual meeting of the Ontario College of Pharmacy Monday afternoon, President Stewart of Guelph expressed the opinion that more stringent legislation was necessary in regard to the sale of carbolic acid.

"During 1912," he said, "no less than 34 fatal cases in Ontario have been recorded that were directly the result of poisoning from this drug. I would recommend that council should take action at this session with a view of amending the act and making it legal to sell only carbolic acid of 5 per cent strength, which will meet practically every purpose for which the acid may be required."

Commenting on the work of the college during the year, Mr. Stewart called attention to the fact that at the present examinations only two had failed out of a class of 102 students. Forty-eight had passed with honors.

Only one report was presented at the afternoon session—that of the presiding examiner, H. Waters of Ottawa, which was referred to the committee for approval.

One of the recommendations made by Mr. Waters was that instead of the present system of four years' apprenticeship and one year's work at college for pharmacy students, the apprenticeship should be for two years, followed by the same length of time at the college. This would enable candidates to qualify in four years instead of the present five.

Officials of the Monarch Realty and Securities Corporation yesterday announced that an offer of about half a million dollars was being made to the Ontario Government for the normal school grounds. While not stated, it is expected that the company intends, if the offer is accepted, to hold awaiting early developments in the district that will make the property valuable for store or railway purposes, which is similar to what inspired the purchase of the site a good one are already being mentioned.

Options on some nearby properties on Victoria and Gerrard streets have been taken by the agents of the same firm, Tamm & Gales, and this has given rise to reports that the tene-menters do not expect that the developments will be belated, and firms that might find the site a good one are already being mentioned.

The school grounds are 570 feet square, with a frontage on Church, Victoria, Gould and Gerrard streets.

TO HOLD CLASSES IN LIBRARY INSTRUCTION

Lectures Will Be Given by Hester Young in University Library.

The students no longer crowd the library accommodation at the University of Toronto, the building will not remain idle even until after convocation. For four weeks after convocation, the library will hold classes in library instruction will be held daily in the women's reading room of the university library in Queen's Park.

Instruction will be in charge of Miss Hester Young, B.A., under the direction of the inspector of public libraries. It will embrace lectures in literature, library administration, book selection, cataloguing and classification according to the Dewey decimal system, reference work, bookbinding, children's work, fines and accounts, traveling libraries, and a course of lectures on the Public Library Act. Well known library experts will do the lecturing.

No entrance or tuition fee is required from those desiring to attend lectures, but the number of applicants admitted is necessarily limited by the extent of accommodation available. Candidates are required to have received an education equivalent to a high school course. All the books and supplies needed are provided free of charge by the department of education.

Two summer sessions for librarians have already been held, in 1911 and 1912. Several librarians and novices who passed the examinations at these sessions have since been promoted to more advanced work and are earning bigger salaries than formerly.

Practical work for beginners will be instituted in an attempt to duplicate the daily routine of an average library. The course is based upon the assumption that the student has had little or no experience in library work. The minister of education expects that in the near future a longer session than a wider field of instruction will be organized.

Certificates will be granted at the end of the session to those students who pass the examination.

Off for the Day! SEE this couple starting out for a pleasant day in their machine. Are they happy? They most certainly are. And why shouldn't they be? They have just purchased this good little machine at a price so low it astonished them. And now they are ready for a whole summer of happy days spent whizzing thru the country in the good happy air.

They aren't the first owners of this car, but you couldn't tell that to look at it. The former owner had to sell it because he needed the money or for some other reason. So he advertised it at a very low price in the Classified Section of this paper under the heading of Automobiles.

And when he did, this couple was right at hand to take advantage of this opportunity because they had been looking for it for quite a while. They had been watching these Ads every day and this was their reward.

Now, what they did, many other people are doing every day. And you can do the same. These Automobile columns are filled with exceptional bargains in used cars every day. If you follow them you will soon find the car that is exactly suited to your requirements and to your pocket book.

So turn over to these Automobile Ads and begin looking now. Pick out the Ads that suit you and go out and see the cars.

Remember that the people who get bargains in Automobiles or in anything else, are the people who are looking for them.

And mention this paper please each time you answer an Ad.

GOOD BUYING OF SOLID DOMESTICS
Is What Local Brokers Predict—Steady Payers Will Do Better.
LOCAL BOARDS CLOSED
Two Big Issues in Eyes of Toronto Speculators Were Firmer.

Canadian stock exchanges were closed for holiday yesterday and the only indication of the trend of domestic securities for the day came from London and New York. The two big issues in the eyes of Toronto speculators, C.P.R. and Brazilians, were firmer in the London market. Brazil sold lower than Monday's close here, but closed at 88, about a parity with Toronto's last transactions.

C.P.R. made a decisive upward movement in London, selling up to 219. The shares were nervous in New York and after a rally of 3-1/2 points from Monday's close, fell back a full point. Local brokers and traders, who somewhat perturbed by the general market weakness, are of the firm conviction that the standard issues with dividend records, will meet good investment buying from now on, and more than sufficient to take care of any speculative issues, which might have to be sacrificed by over extended accounts.

LEADERS MAINTAINED A GOOD UNDERTONE
Erickson Perkins & Co. (J. G. Beatty) wired at the close of the New York market, with weakness in a new group of stocks the market today continued highly irregular, but some of the leaders maintained a good undertone. Among these were Union Pacific, Steel, Reading and Copper. Canadian Pacific gave an unusually good account of itself and from the looks of things there has been a little increase in the short account of this specialty.

FIGURES TO COMPARE COMING CROP REPORT
The United States Government crop report issued on June 3, and will be compared with the following table:

Years.	Spring Wheat	Summer Wheat	Winter Wheat	Wheat
1912	20,157,000	96.8	74.3	95.8
1911	20,157,000	96.8	74.3	95.8
1910	19,742,000	92.8	80.0	92.8
1909	18,291,000	95.2	80.7	95.2

CROP PROGRESS IS VERY MARKED
WINNIPEG, June 3.—According to reports from 213 points in the Canadian prairie west, the average height of the wheat is from 3 to 4 inches, and progress is fair since hot weather came, 75 per cent. of the oats and barley being seeded and fifty per cent. of these grains are up. Not more than 25 per cent. of the flax acreage is seeded. Fully 178 points report an abundance of moisture, nearly all of them having had heavy rains on the 23, 24 and 25 of the month. Thirty points report that rain would be desirable and 10 points report that rain is badly needed. The weather is now reported as warm over the entire western wheat belt, and crop progress since the rain and warmth set in on May 23, is very marked, indeed.

BIG FAILURE REPORTED.
A big failure in South America is reported in a London cable. The name of the firm is not given, but the failure is reported as being for 2750,000 sterling.

STANDARD OF KENTUCKY.
Accompanying the declaration of an initial dividend of $5 on Standard Oil of Kentucky, President Collins says the debt to Standard Oil of New Jersey has been 100 per cent. paid off, and hereafter earnings may be applied to dividends.

EARNINGS OF C. & O. LOW.
Ches. & Ohio seems not to give heed to a very satisfactory showing for April—$246,000 gross decrease, and $650,000 net decrease. This was discounted by the directors' statement that earnings for the fiscal year would be barely five per cent.

EARLY GUESSES ON U. S. CROP.
Clement & Curtis of Chicago are out with a wheat and oats estimate. Wheat, 330,000,000 bushels; 240,000,000 bushels; 74,000,000 bushels; 20,000,000 bushels; 1,950,000,000 bushels; 1,418,000,000 bushels; final last year.

C. P. R. and Union Pacific Started Rally, But Reaction Followed.

SOME NEW LOW POINTS
London, at First a Buyer, Reversed Position During the Day.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Renewed liquidation of dividend-paying stocks, some of which were under heavy pressure earlier in the year, and the unfavorable tenor of the government's weekly weather report, put a check on the improving tendency displayed by the market during the early trading today. For a time after the opening the tone was more cheerful and some progress was made toward recovery from yesterday's sharp decline. Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific, the weak features of the preceding day, moved up strongly at the outset, and the whole list presented a better front. In the afternoon, however, the market worked downward again with active selling in the final hour, which carried prices around yesterday's low point.

SEVEN THOUSAND A WEEK FROM STATES
American Railways Report
Good Crop Prospects in Canada.

ST. PAUL, June 3.—Seven thousand American immigrants are going into western Canada every week, according to the reports of the passenger departments of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo roads.

Said a general traffic manager: "The month leading to Canada are taking from the states some of the best farmers. They are attracted by the low prices for land and the large crops of small grain. We are sending very few who are attracted by their household goods or even stock. These follow the settlement. I estimate that since the first of March seven thousand new settlers for the Canadian northwest have gone thru St. Paul. Most of these land seekers are well fixed financially, and come from the various states east and south. They are getting locations generally in the Saskatchewan valley and many are going as far west as Edmonton."

The Canadian Northern and the Canadian Pacific similarly reported the influx of Americans, as well as a large sprinkling of English and Scotch immigrants.
