Sackville, N. B., June 6, 1878.

Orders from Dorchester Corner.

A Religious War Resolved on!

For ever a quarter of a century, a clique at Dorchester Corner, through such means as intrigue and bribery has held the political mastery of this County. This "Corner" party is falling to pieces, simply by force of its own internal corruption, and its leaders despairing of holding power by virtue of legitimate and honorable means, have adopted the expedient of desperate men, viz: of raising a warfare between the Catholic and Protestant communities of this county. An extra edition of the Sackville contemporary published on Monday, of which an edition of 5,000 copies are said to have sent to Dorchester Corner for distribution, contains the proclamation of War against the Catholics! As a citizen we protest against the madness, the folly, the wickedness of prostituting religion to aid an electioneering campaign; as a Protestant we abhor the attempted use of Protestant traditions and Protestant principles of civil and religious freedom to deprive Catholics of their rights and privileges as citizens. As a lover of law and order, we deplore lighting the fires of religious hatred and jealousy, filling the land with the midnight horrors of sectarian strife! We have too much confidence in the moral sentiment of the Protestant people to believe that the conspiracy of these political incendiaries will for one moment succeed. We believe that those grand principles of civil rights and religious freedom, the corner stone of Protestantism, have too strong a foothold in our country, to permit a whole people to be ostracized that a political faction may preserve its mastery. Have the struggles of Luther been forgotten—the thunders of Calvin ceased—the fires of Smithfield died out—the spirit of Latimer become extinguished—that men dare in this nineteenth century to make the Protestants a party to a conspiracy to deprive the Catholics of their civil rights? Have Protestants struck their own shackles off, in order to become in turn the oppressors and tyrants? If such be the case, then indeed has the world gone back to the darkness, injustice and tyranny of the middle ages, and the time has again ripened for the rack and thumbscrew, the stake and the gibbet.

What is the offense of these people, for which Dorchester Corner proposes to punish them by Peter Landry? Their crime is this: Peter Landry declined their proposition to ally himself with Messrs. McQueen, Wood and Humphrey, and chose instead Messrs. Killam, Hanington and Black.

Sackville Politics.

The maid, who, in search of a place and being asked for her recommendations, explained she had "lost her character," does not appear to be in a worse plight than Mr. Josiah Wood, who, in the earnest manner in which the Smith organ assures the public that Mr. Wood is really a man of good character, solid reputation, etc. We condole with Mr. Wood for being obliged to accept a certificate of character from such a quarter. Honors and distinctions are valued in proportion to the recognized authority and respectability of the source from which they emanate. The Marine organ has given Mr. Wood a certificate of character; who will now give the Marine organ a like certificate of character? Certainly not the four hundred electors of Sackville, whom a year ago it denominated as "Hiring Mob," because said electors had ventured, notwithstanding the prayers and protestations and vomitings of abuse of that paper, to triumphantly elect Mr. Joseph L. Black to the County Council! Be it far from us to say that Mr. Wood is not a second Peel in state lore, a Demosthenes in oratory, as virtuous as Diana, and as open handed and open hearted as Lionel Rothschild, but certainly the "Hiring Mob" of Sackville will require some other evidence of the fact than the bald statement of the organ whose fury was spent last year to defeat Black, and which this year not only denies him fair play, but seems determined to wreak a double vengeance on him. It says:

"We have, indeed, been informed that Black is even now working to hurt Wood, and that knowing that the proposed road to the station is very unpopular in Rockport he has been endeavoring to fix the responsibility of it on Wood. Every man in Sackville knows how unfair this is. Black has been the active mover for that road and has devoted his time and money to it. More than this, he is the owner of property on the line of road for which he will get $75,000 in damages when he can afford to give the land away in consideration of the building sites which the road would give him. It is said he shirked the vote on the road at the Council, but he had expressed himself in favor of it, and as he is a fascinating man we presume he did not dodge the vote without a due sense of coming events."

What a pitiful string of lies these are! Mr. Black had nothing to do with the petition for the road; Mr. Wood was the mover; Mr. Black refused to sign it; Mr. Wood did sign it; Mr. Black was not present.

when the jury went over the ground; Mr. Wood was; Mr. Black advanced no money to pay expenses; Mr. Wood did. Mr. Black on no one occasion urged the commissioners to proceed with it. Mr. Wood has been openly and undisguisedly its advocate first and last. In short, Mr. Black had nothing to do with it. Months after the damages had been assessed, Mr. Black purchased the S. F. Black property, through which the road passes, and actually paid the value of these damages to S. F. Black. Yet when the assessment came up in the County Council, what was Mr. Black's course? He stated in his place distinctly that he was in favor of the road, and although he had already, he considered, paid Mr. Black the damages assessed, he was not going to prostitute his position as a Councilor to vote money "into his own pocket." Could any man have taken a more straightforward, honest, honorable course? What a howl there would have been from his enemies, if he had voted himself $375! How infamous under these circumstances to say he shirked the vote!

The 5,000 Edition of the Marine Organ states: "We have read of his presence at their bell consecration; we have heard of him hand shaking at their bazaars, dancing at French balls at Aboussagan, and we have been told of his subscriptions to the funds of their church." True, Mr. Black admits he was once at a French bazaar, but it was held in the vicinity of his mills at Aboussagan, almost adjoining his store, and amongst his employees. What was topical about that? He authorizes us to say he was never at a bell consecration in his life; he was never at a French ball; and he never subscribed a cent for their church. Such are the stupid senses falsehoods deemed necessary to be circulated in the interests of the clique that is attempting to rush the Protestant people of Westmorland into a collision with the Catholics! Do the men who manufacture such lies deserve the slightest consideration at the hands of the honest men of Westmorland?

Mr. Landry has withdrawn his card, and substituted another, announcing that he has united his interests with Messrs. Killam, Black and Hanington. It is a well known fact that overtures to him were made by Mr. McQueen's friends and by Mr. Josiah Wood and Mr. Humphrey personally, to form a combination with him. Mr. Landry at first held aloof from any combination, no doubt hoping to gain his election as an independent candidate. The formation of two tickets naturally forced him to ally himself with one or the other; hence on Friday last at Salisbury he made and announced the combination, and hence his card to-day.

Personal and Political.

Edison, the great inventor, was formerly a newsboy on the Grand Trunk.

Forbes, the great War correspondent, is to lecture in Canada this summer.

The Emperor William was shot at on a house in Berlin on Sunday while driving and received some thirty small shot in his face, arms and back.

The Quebec Assembly met on Tuesday Furcotte (Conservative) was elected speaker—33 to 32. It will be seen the Joly Government thus secures a majority of one!

POLITICAL MEETINGS.—Messrs. Killam, Black, Landry and Hanington addressed the electors yesterday at York Vets; and will speak to-day at Buskirk's, and at Oulton's Corner to-morrow.

THE VISITOR ON MR. KILLAM.—"His splendid business habits, combined with rare perseverance and sterling honesty, make him a very desirable candidate."—Christian Visitor.

NORTH-BRELAND NOMINATION.—Between three and four hundred electors were present. Candidates are Adams, Allan, A. Davidson, E. Hutchison, Robert Swin, Thomas E. Gillespie, L. J. Tweedie and William Swin.

GLOUCESTER NOMINATION.—The candidates are McManus, Blanchard, Seivewright and Ryan. It is said that Seivewright and Blanchard will form a ticket against the other two who are running together. Burns holds himself in reserve for the Dominion.

THE ART STUDIO OF THE Ladies Academy was much admired by visitors. It was trimmed with evergreens, flowers and autumn leaves, and with a multitude of pictures hung about its walls, it presented a really artistic appearance. Copies in oils, by Misses Ruth Smith, Carr, Satter and Walton, were very promising evidences of talent, and in water colors, Misses Maud Carr, Annie E. Freeman, Robinson and Mahon, exhibited a niceness in coloring not always possessed by amateurs.

OUR Sackville contemporary states it is said the Post is owned in part by Mr. J. L. Black. If any responsible party will state that fact over his name to bring it within the libel law, we will give him an opportunity of proving it.

PEACE.—Congress meets at Berlin on Thursday.

The McCarthy Murder!

Thursday's Proceedings.

Chip. Smith, produced P. O. money order book. John Osborne bought order in favor of McCarthy & Cook for $52.23 on January 19th. Philip Colwell said after he got his hatchet back from the Osbornes, he broke the handle off close to the eye—an inch and a half off. Could not remember when he pawned it.

Those Smith, Station Master, shewed from freight that Anthony White, shipped 7 barrels of oysters to Amherst on the 11th Oct.

Daniel Patton, liquor dealer, St. John. In August, Osborne purchased $212 in liquors. Paid $85 in December. On 17th Oct. McCarthy owed him between $500 and $600. Garnished it. Received since, between $350 and $400 on account.

John A. Humphrey furnished Osborne lumber last summer to the amount of $231. White, his son-in-law paid $70; Osborne paid $100. Thaddeus Larral was down at the Point, on Oct. 12th, where he got some money from a stoveholder. His wife came after him and walked home. Passing the Waverly House, noticed a light on the left side of the front door. Left his wife standing on the street and went there for a bottle of rum, but failed to enter and went home and went to bed. His wife then told him that she had seen Chip. Smith and McCarthy and Smith had spoken to her and told her she had better be home taking care of her children. She said she replied that she could take care of them, because she could find them at home to take care of. She said she knew McCarthy, because of a particular word he used to her. His wife is now sick at home. Did not see Smith or McCarthy, himself, that night. Arrived home at twenty minutes past two.

Daniel White testified that when he took McCarthy's body ashore, the second and third button of the cloth coat were buttoned and the top button of the rubber coat. Found a rope about 5 or 6 weeks ago, which I took to be a piece of bed cord with a slip knot, about 100 yards below the bridge. Handed it to Volmer, who let it drop on the ice. The rope in Court is probably not the one found by me.

Frank Gallant said he raked up a stone in the Scudow, with an oyster rake. The water was 18 inches deep at low water. Buried not over an inch in the mud.

Sheriff Botsford: Been Sheriff for 24 years. I was in my office at Dorchester when I first heard that McCarthy's body was found. I think it was about 2 o'clock, not later. Wm. Backhouse, the registrar, told me; others were present. I cannot recollect who told me. Edward Chandler, jr., about that time. He may have been present, or came in just after. I was in the record office. I saw him before I saw John Osborne, and afterwards, when Backhouse told me how the report came, I did not believe it. Some time after he told me, the telegraph operator came into my office, and said reports are going over the wire that McCarthy's body had been found. Taking these two reports together, I thought there was something in it. I went to the jail and told Osborne that a man had come from Shediac who reported that McCarthy's body had been found. Before I had time to believe it," replied, "I don't believe it," but," said I, "the telegraph operator tells me that there are reports about the body being found, going over the line, and that there certainly must be some truth in it." Osborne replied, "If he is found, they will find all his things upon him." I immediately went out, being in a hurry to catch the train for Shediac.

Friday's Proceedings.

Sheriff Botsford volunteered to say that Dr. Tuck, and in the conversation with him, that Osborne specified different articles that would be found on McCarthy, he (the Sheriff) did not intend to convey that meaning.

J. P. Johnson: I fix it in the 2nd or 3rd of Oct. that Detective got the key, by the fact that I knocked off 2 weeks rent, up to 15th.

Douat Cormier, book-keeper for E. T. Smith, bought trees from one Dorion on 15th Oct. Three or four days after, another apple tree was applied to him to order, think it was either Sargis or Myrick.

Dr. Legere detailed the circumstances of McCarthy going to the Weldon House, bar-room at 10 o'clock on 12th, and his (the Dr.) coming out at 10:30 p.m. and leaving him, Chip. Smith and Milligan there.

W. H. Sumner, merchant, was paid $20 by Osborne's son-in-law, Oct. 15th, and $27 by Osborne on 27th January.

A. Milligan, of Summerside, P. E. I., a farmer, and dealer in horses, was at Shediac on 12th Oct. He was in the bar-room of the Weldon House in the evening. About 10 o'clock McCarthy came in. Had a talk about selling him a horse. I think he went from 11 to 11:30 when I left the bar. I could not swear any closer. I think Martin once or twice said it was time to shut up. McCarthy, Smith and I went out of doors. They went down the steps on to the ground but I did not go off with them. They were talking and gathering there. Smith asked McCarthy where he was going that night. McCarthy said he was to Point du Chene. Smith said "you be damned, you are not going to walk to the Point to-night. Go in with Milligan and go to bed." It appears to me that I said if you come in I will show you a room. They went away and I went in the front door. This conversation took place while we walked around the platform, they were on the ground. I did not see them again. I can't say if there was any one in the smoking room. I got a lamp on the table up stairs and went to bed.

Mrs. Ellen McCarthy, widow of deceased, testified they had been married 14 years, 29th August last. We were married at the Cape. We lived part of the time at Cocagne, then on the Intercolonial line, and 9 or 10 years ago moved to Moncton. Deceased left five living children. The eldest is a boy 14 years of age in June next. He left two boys and three girls. He kept a public house in Moncton the past eight years. He owned the house and did a good business. I thought he had about $1,000 about him when he last left Moncton. I saw him have a roll of bills shortly before leaving on the 12th. I asked him for some money. He gave me five dollars from a round floor roll. I saw him take from his sock in the morning. I did not see the bills. The round roll had an elastic around it. It was pretty large too. He told me he was going away. He requested me not to ask the clerk for money while he was gone as he had a notion of going north. He gave me the money to consult Dr. Harrison of Shediac.

Witness described her trip to Shediac, told when she saw her husband last, and gave a touching account of her feelings when she found after it had been recovered from the Scudow.

In the cross-examination, Mr. Gilbert said he would attempt to show that a coolness existed between witness and her husband which might have been the cause of the murder. In reply, she said that the coolness arose from his not wishing her to then come over to Point du Chene. He was talking to her at Moncton Station. Witness further stated: My brother, Maurice O'Neil, did not tell me that he applied to Kinney for a wagon to drive to Shediac on the night of the 12th. The remainder of the cross-examination was principally devoted to her conversation with Annie Parker.

Saturday's Proceedings.

Mrs. Catherine Johnston, was a servant at the Waverly House after Annie Parker left. She said she did not know the house while at Osborne. The little girl, Minnie Osborne, said to witness one morning not to say anything about the hatchet, as she was going to put it away; why she child said this witness could not say. She saw the hatchet again; heard John Osborne say the morning he was arrested that it had come to the final thing at last—they were to be arrested; the hatchet witness could identify.

Mary Fitzgerald, the woman supposed to have raised the report that McCarthy was killed by Parker, Annie's brother, took the stand. Dr. Tuck ignored this witness and threw her on the hands of the counsel for the defence for examination. She deposed she came from Alberton, P. E. I., with Deputy Sweeney.

Dr. Tuck—Why don't you ask her if Russell, a Shediac lawyer, was not over after her first.

Mr. Holstead—Never mind; that comes after.

Witness continued—Had a child which she called Albert Parker; had never seen McCarthy; had lived in Shediac as a domestic; knew a man named Captain Parker; did not see him here on the 12th of October.

There being but three criminal cases to be brought to the notice of the Grand Jury, his Honor adjourned the court to the 13th inst. He said in consideration of increasing population of the County and its varied interests, the business before them was small.

The first case they would have to inquire into was one for larceny, committed by one James Costello for stealing a book, containing a small amount of money, from the counter of a store in Shediac. The second case was also a charge of larceny, brought against one John Smith by the proprietor of the Man and Horse Hotel, for stealing an amount of $30 out of a bill.

The last case was one for assault on a constable in the lawful discharge of his duty. True bills were found in all these cases.

THEOLOGY.—A public competition of the students in theology in connection took place at Lingley Hall on Monday night. Rev. Doctor Stewart presided. Two prizes were awarded yesterday—one, $25 to Mr. Robinson, for proficiency in elocution and declamation. It was the gift of John McDonald, M. P. for Toronto Centre. The other was given Mr. Williams. It was $15 cash, and was donated by Josiah Wood, Esq. Six young men competed and the above result was arrived at by a committee.

THE MAX STERN, the Sackville people will be sorry to learn, does not intend to return to Sackville next year. He has so often charmed our audiences with the divine melody of sounds, he will in the future sadly miss. He has become popular not only as a brilliant performer but for his many admirable personal qualities and the best wishes of the public go out to him for his future success.

ALUMNI SOCIETY OF MR. ALLISON.—Officers for 1878-79: Pres't, Mrs. Inch; Vice, Mrs. G. W. Burbridge; Sec'y, Miss Johnson; Mrs. Chandler; Sec'y, Miss Lockhart.

Annie Parker was out shopping, when she came in and was displaying her purchases, Mrs. Osborne asked her where she got all her money; Annie said it was none of her business, got mad and went upstairs. Mrs. Osborne went out to the kitchen and Parker came down stairs and talked to me about it. I asked her where she got it. She said she got it from a friend and then she said she got it from Mr. Nickerson. I said Mrs. Nickerson would have something to say about it; she said he was not married. I didn't see her that night nor the next morning. In November I missed my passage and had to walk to the Junction from Moncton and met Annie Parker on the road near Cook's Brook. She said she was staying a few days at Cook's Brook, and was soon going to live with McCarthy. She said she had plenty of money now and wasn't going to work any more, because Mrs. McCarthy told her she would keep her like a lady if she would say about it. "Osborne killed McCarthy." Asked her what she'd tell such a lie as that for. She said she didn't care how much she lied if she got well paid for it. She said she was looking for Mr. Nickerson. She said she was looking for her pocket a flask of liquor, and showed me some money—about a dollar.

Daniel Nickerson arrived at Dorchester at noon on day McCarthy's body was found, and told Mr. Backhouse, E. B. Chandler and the Station Agent.

B. G. Burns was present when Caldwell pawned the hatchet.

Alexander McQuarry, Moncton, contracted with Osborne to build a house. Paid on Osborne's order from Aug. 20 to Nov. 10, $800, and on Nov. 10 paid John Osborne $50.

W. A. Fraser, Bank of Montreal, Moncton, testified: McCarthy had his credit at time of his disappearance.

C. A. Holstead collected and paid Osborne $150.80 some time about October.

G. P. Andrews swore: Remember Oct. 12 seeing three apple trees in Shediac; recollect seeing Wells and Lawson in the Weldon House before they were in the Waverly House.

Dr. Ross, of Moncton, testified he paid John Osborne $20 and $30 for office rent, in October.

Donald White, Osborne's son-in-law, swore he paid John Osborne $60 in Oct., $50 in Nov., and $80 in Sept.; that he had seen him having gold and that he believed Osborne had considerable money.

This closed the case; the Coroner addressed them, and the Jury disagreed. Messrs. Wells, Whitcomb, Gallant, Dickie and Miner bringing in a verdict that the Osbornes were guilty of murder, and Messrs. Avar and Maillet that McCarthy came to his death by blows inflicted by some party or parties unknown.

County Court.

PRESENTATION.—At the Reception at the Ladies' Academy on Saturday evening, Miss Annie Freeman, on behalf of the young ladies, delivered an address to Principal Inch, testifying their affectionate respect for him, and asking his acceptance of them of a clock. It was a very handsome bronze one.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—A Frenchman named John Goutro attempted to commit suicide, on Monday, by jumping into the river at Moncton, but the water was so shallow to drown him, and after floundering about for some time he returned to the shore very much exhausted. He is said to be insane.—Times.

FATAL DROWNING ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon, Blair, a son of Mr. Robert Bickerton, aged seven years, was playing on a deal in Morice's pond, when the wind drifted the deal off, and the lad becoming alarmed jumped off into deep water, and before he could be rescued life was extinct. He was a fine manly little fellow and his parents are greatly grieved.

AN INRANE OX.—On Monday, John Ayard, Esq., of Bristol, purchased a pair of oxen at Point de Bute, and he nearly reached the Lake House with them, when one of the oxen suddenly rushed for the Lake, in which he immersed himself. Mr. McKay and Mr. Ed. Pillmore launched a boat in pursuit. The ox, observing them, rushed at the boat with a terrific roar and they were glad to reach the land safely. The ox, following them, got mired, but after extricating himself he followed them on the road. A crowd collected and a rope 25 feet long was thrown about him and he was anchored to a tree. He broke loose and furiously attacked a wagon on the road, when finally a period was put to his wild career and his life. The best of the day had no doubt affected him.

Address by Hon. S. L. Shannon.
Music.—Gloria from 12th Mass.—Mozart.

The music throughout was exceptionally fine. The taste and execution of Miss C. Campbell in her performance on the piano were perhaps never equalled at Mount Allison.

The vocal duet by Miss Hibbard and Prof. Sterne won a storm of applause. That young lady's soprano has gained much in firmness since she was last before a Sackville audience. The choruses were simply overwhelming floods of melody that filled the building and shook it with its own excess. "The Heavens are Telling" was particularly effective, Mr. Robinson tenor, Miss Churchill soprano, and Mr. Lewis bass. The "Gloria," from the 12th Mass, was scarcely inferior. Mount Allison has to be congratulated on the great success of its musical department during the past two years, and Principal Inch paid a not undeserved compliment to Prof. Sterne's talent and skill for the satisfactory results.

The literary proceedings commenced with a recitation by Miss Kennedy, an interesting little lady, who gave it with much spirit and self possession. The next Little Elsie, was a well drawn parallel between the faithful keepers of the vineyard and the faithful keepers of the vineyard. The vineyard through the walls and gates and destroy the young vines, and the faithful keepers of their own souls. One erects a Wall of Pride, which is undermined by ambition, and self conceit which destroy it. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the

such as Coughs, Colds,

Whooping Cough,

Bronchitis, Asthma,

and Consumption.

The reputation is attained, in consequence of the marvelous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it, acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

As a safeguard to children, and to the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued and restored to health.

This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it constantly produces are too remarkable to be forgotten. No family should be without it, and those who have once used it never will.

Eminent Physicians throughout the country prescribe it, and Clergymen often recommend it from their knowledge of its effects.
