

BEATTIE NESBITT ARRAIGNED AND IS BAILED IN $15,000

Former President of Defunct Farmers' Bank Allowed His Liberty On Heavy Bonds—Counsel Asks Remand and the Doctor Will Appear Before Commissioner Meredith.

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, Ont., May 13.—Dr. William Beattie Nesbitt, former president of the defunct Farmers' Bank, who was brought back from Chicago through extradition papers, appeared in the police court for a few minutes this forenoon and was allowed his liberty on $15,000 bail. His bondsmen are Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., and Dr. Walter McKeown, each giving his security to the amount of $7,500.

Little Changed.
Dr. Nesbitt, little changed in appearance since he was last seen in Toronto, with the exception that his hair is slightly more sprinkled with white and minus the goatee and moustache he affected in exile, came into the courtroom from the detective department at fifteen minutes to twelve o'clock and was ushered into the prisoner's dock. He was arraigned on four charges of fraud in making false returns of condition of the finances of the Farmers' Bank to the Government.

Remand Asked For.
H. H. Dewar, K.C., Dr. Nesbitt's

counsel, asked for a remand until next Monday without electing or pleading, stating that the case had been brought on so hurriedly that he had not been afforded an opportunity to consult with his client. He asked for bail, and the crown named $15,000 as the figure. Mr. Dewar named the bondsmen, and Dr. Nesbitt stepped from the prisoner's dock, and again went toward the detective offices, shaking hands with a number of his friends on the way.

So brief was the stay of the doctor in the courtroom, that the small army of newspapermen and artists, who were in attendance to get either a sketch or a word picture of him caught little more than a fleeting glimpse of the man who had eluded the authorities for 16 months.

The investigation into the affairs of the Farmers' Bank by Sir William Ralph Meredith was resumed this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Osgoode Hall. Before it concludes, Dr. Nesbitt will be asked to give the commission his version of the history of the defunct institution.

SPOILSMEN FORCE OUT MR. W. H. HARVEY AT PETROLEA

Oil Bounty Officer Dismissed—A Former Londoner.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Petrolea, May 13.—Word has been received here that Mr. W. J. Harvey, bounty officer for the Dominion Government, has been dismissed, and his successor will be named shortly.

Mr. Harvey was named some years ago, and has been an efficient officer in every respect. Enjoying the confidence of all the citizens he discharged his duties with entire satisfaction. While Mr. Joseph E. Armstrong has been wielding the axe very freely in East Lambton, it was not thought that Mr. Harvey would be one of the victims of the spoilsman.

When questioned as to the reasons for the dismissal, the Conservative workers declare that it is the intention of the Government to abolish the office. It has also been found that a well-known office-seeker here has been instructed to go to Ottawa as fast as possible, and it is expected that he will be given the position.

Mr. Harvey is a well-known Londoner, and formerly practiced law in this city.

SISTERS TERRIBLY INJURED IN RUNAWAY AT WINGHAM

Mrs. John Campbell Was Hurlled Headfirst Against a Tree and Her Sister Has Severe Internal Hurts.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Wingham, May 13.—Mrs. John Campbell is in the local hospital with serious injuries about the head, and her sister, Mrs. Peter Campbell, has severe internal injuries as a result of being thrown from their buggy when their horse bolted as they were driving into town. When the horse started it ran onto the lawn in front of Dr. Kennedy's house and the buggy struck a tree. The axle was smashed, and the two women were hurled out. Mrs. John Campbell struck the tree and was picked up in an unconscious condition. Fortunately, Dr. Kennedy was just coming in, and at once attended both women. Mrs. Peter Campbell was taken home and it was found that she had her hip and shoulder hurt, in addition to the other injuries. She was unconscious for some time. It was stated today that Mrs. John Campbell's skull was not fractured, as was at first feared. The scalp, however, is terribly torn as a result of her being hurled headfirst against the tree. Both women are progressing favorably.

WESTERN FAIR BOARD WILL SEEK PART OF THE GRANT

Government Has Set Aside a Special Fund For Fall Fairs.

The Western Fair will endeavor to secure a portion of the large grant recently made by the Dominion Government for the encouragement of agriculture. For some time there was some doubt whether or not the fairs throughout the province would share in the proceeds. However, the Windsor fair board has been assured that it will receive $2,500 of the grant, and this has encouraged other associations to go after a piece of it.

Secretary A. M. Hunt, of the Western

Fair Association, informed The Advertiser that the directors would ask for a share.

"Last year we received from the Government the usual grant of $1,225 for the fair," explained Secretary A. M. Hunt. "We will get about the same this year from the ordinary funds for the fair. We were in doubt as to the intentions of the Government in the distribution of the special fund to be devoted to agriculture. However, if Windsor and other fair associations are to receive some of the money, we will ask for our share. We are entitled to a grant, if any fair is, and I do not see why we should not receive a portion of it. If Windsor is entitled to $2,500, the amount the directors there are asking for, surely the Western is entitled to $10,000."

POLICE SEEKING FOR RELATIVES

Joseph Felen, Who Died in California, Said To Be a Former Londoner.

Information Is Sought by Members of the Elks Club of Durango.

The police have received a communication from Victor J. Bloom, of the Elks Club, Durango, Cal., in which the aid of the department is solicited to locate the relatives of Joseph Felen, who died at that place on May 2, and who is supposed to have been a native of London.

Felen, according to Mr. Bloom, was very eccentric and refused to talk about himself, even to his closest friends. However, on one occasion he stated that he had come from London when a boy, and had been home but once since. He was fifty-four years old on March 16, and had been a resident of Durango for twelve years.

According to the information given in the letter, Felen, while living in Arizona, was visited by a nephew, and shortly after his departure the uncle made his home at Durango.

PETITION NOW GOES TO THE CITY COUNCIL

Ornamental Lights On Dundas St. From Wellington St. East to Fair Grounds.

The petition for ornamental street lighting on Dundas street from Wellington to Quebec streets, has been presented to the city council and will be acted on at the next meeting. The document is signed by 177 ratepayers, and represents 143 different blocks of properties. It has been submitted to the assessment department, and has been found to be sufficiently signed.

Work on construction will be commenced as soon as the contracts are awarded. If the figures are not right, the conduits will be laid by day labor, the water commissioners now having in their employ an expert on this kind of work.

The petition for the Richmond street system is being rapidly signed, and it is expected that it will be ready within a short time.

TURKEY BOTTLED UP

Rome, May 13.—It is announced in the newspapers today that the occupation by Italy of the islands of Karpathos, Kaso, Pisco, and Nisyro, in the Grecian archipelago, and belonging to Turkey, together with the capture of the Turkish islands of Stampalia and Rhodes, completely closes the Aegean Sea. Turkey is thus blocked and isolated from the Mediterranean, and she is consequently unable to dispatch warships or troops to Tripoli.

HOME FROM SOUTH AFRICA TELLS OF ESCAPE IN EXPLOSION

Mr. Dudley Mooney Was Thought to Have Perished in the Transvaal—A Thrilling Tale of Deaths of Canadians in the Famous Uprising of the Zulus.

Dudley Mooney, a former Londoner, who was reported killed in South Africa in November last, when a portion of the New Primrose mine in the Transvaal fell in, walked into The Advertiser office today, hale and hearty declaring like Mark Twain, that the reports of his death were greatly exaggerated.

He has just returned from Africa, where he has spent many adventurous years. Mr. Mooney enlisted in the Canadian South African Constabulary in 1900, going from London. He went through the Boer war, but his love of adventure not being satisfied, he remained in South Africa, later taking part in the Zulu uprising.

There he lost his chum, Lorne Boak, a former St. Thomas school teacher, who was killed in an ambush by the Zulus. He was buried near the scene of his death, and his body rests in Zululand still.

Fighting on the Veldt.
On arriving in South Africa, Mr. Mooney went directly up country with the Constabulary, fighting his first engagement at Belmont on the Modder River. He fought later at Paardeburg and Zand River, and in minor engagements. When the Zulu uprising broke out, he was again sent out, suffering his only wound during his service, when a bullet from a rudely-constructed rifle, made of gas pipe, and the like, tore a piece out of his thigh. Otherwise he came out unharmed. When the war was over, he went into the mining business, serving as captain in the New Primrose mine for three years. He was in charge when the wall collapsed in November last, killing 106 negroes and 1 white man. He had a narrow escape himself.

The Killing of Boak.
"Boak and I joined the Constabulary and went through the Boer war," declared Mr. Mooney to The Advertiser. "We took part in a number of engagements, coming out unscathed. When the Zulu uprising took place in 1906, we again went to the front. One day thirteen of us were going through the bush at Nechonsia, little dreaming that the Zulus were close at hand. We had become separated from the main column, and had lost our way. Boak told me that he was going up the woods to look about, while I said that I was going to get a drink of water. He walked on some trees, and as he stood upright, the Zulus saw him, and in an instant he dropped back, cut through by seven assegais. Another Canadian named Roberts, from down east, was beside me, and he called out to me. I turned sharply around and saw a big Zulu just ready to throw his spear at me. I shot him, and in a minute we were in a fearful fight. Out of the thirteen, seven of the boys were killed, including Boak and Roberts. Only one man escaped unharmed. I was not badly

BERLIN PLANNED NEW ALLIANCE

Kaiser Wanted a Triple Combination of Britain, Germany and Japan.

SENSATION AT LONDON

Daily Telegraph Prints Some Remarkable Statement Taken From Letters of a Diplomatist.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 13.—A cable to the New York Times from London says: Daily Telegraph's Vienna correspondent, in connection with the accepted belief that Baron Marshall Von Bieberstein is coming to London on a peace mission from the Kaiser, sends two and a half columns on Anglo-German relations, wherein he recounts certain pages of modern history, for which he had access to the documents of unquestioned importance, his authority being Baron Friedrich Von Holstein, who for more than thirty years was head of the political department of the German foreign office, and who was regarded during that time as "the power behind the throne."

Tried for Compromise.

The evidence upon which the correspondent's assertions rest is supplied by a series of letters written by Baron Von Holstein, which the correspondent recently had the opportunity of reading. These letters, which, the Daily Telegraph says, "the public may confidently accept as a trustworthy addition to the secret annals of our time," show that three definite attempts have been made by Germany to attain a sort of working compromise between Germany and Great Britain within the last forty years. Two of them were due to the initiative of Bismarck himself, the third attempt belonging to the time when Von Buelow was chancellor. It is impossible to set forth here the whole of the Vienna correspondent's

W. R. WHITE, PEMBROKE, MAY REPLACE MORINE

Name Mentioned For Chairmanship of the Public Service Commission.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, May 13.—It is understood that W. R. White, of Pembroke, will be appointed chairman of the public service commission when the resignation of Hon. A. B. Morine is accepted. It looks as though Mr. Morine might stop his investigations within a short time. He had intended to hold an investigation at Sorel, but it is understood the minister of marine has objected, and that other members of the Government are objecting to Mr. Morine investigating their department.

CROPS HARD HIT

Tuesday—Moderate winds; fair and cool.

Temperatures.

The following were the highest and lowest temperatures during the 24 hours previous to 8 a.m. today.

Stations	High	Low	Weather
London	68.5	51	Snow
Victoria	70	54	Clear
Calgary	66	36	Clear
Winnipeg	48	26	Fair
Port Arthur	50	28	Clear

Quebec	66	40	Rain
Father Point	50	42	Cloudy

The highest and lowest temperatures for the 24 hours previous to 8 o'clock on Sunday morning were 65 and 46 at the London observatory.

The depression which was approaching the Great Lakes on Saturday is now centred in the Ottawa Valley, while a pronounced cold wave covers the Northwest. Rain has fallen in Ontario and Quebec, attended by gales on the lakes, and frosts have been general from Alberta to Lake Superior.

Balmy Rains of Sunday Are Followed by Blast of Winter.

ENTIRE WEEK WILL BE COLD

Probs Say Frost Tonight—Prospects Are Anything But Bright.

THE PROBS.

TODAY—Strong winds and gales, northwest to north; decidedly cool; occasional rain or snow today; then clearing; local frosts tonight. TUESDAY—Moderate winds; fair and cool.

Snow in May! B-r-r-r-h! Just think of it. For seven months snow has been pestering the people of London. In November there was plenty of it. Then there was a lull, and December looked more like October. Christmas was green, but a few days afterward the most severe winter within the recollection of the oldest inhabitant set in, and has been setting more or less ever since. This is too much winter.

The balmy rains of Sunday gave way today to colder weather, and for several hours snow has been falling with the persistency of a winter month.

Weather History.
Three years ago there was a heavy fall of snow the last day of April, and the cold weather, with intermittent snowfalls continued until the 6th of May.

In 1907, on May 12, close to a foot of snow fell and it retained its foothold for several days.

Today the prospects are anything but bright. The probs, issued by the weather bureau at Toronto give no hope of relief for a day or so, while the predictions of the weather bureau at Washington are that the weather will turn to fair, but the temperature will be unseasonable for a week at least.

The Effect in London.

The storm continued all day with unabated fury, until 2 o'clock, when there was a lull, and much inconvenience and loss has been occasioned by it.

Building operations are at a standstill, it being impossible to do any outside work whatever.

The London street railway service is badly interfered with, the sticky rails, and the wet wires delaying the cars a great deal.

The steam roads are running behind time also, the slippery rails being the trouble.

The traction company is operating its lines without difficulty.

FROST AND SNOW SWEEPING STATES

Wintry Conditions Prevail From Montana to Ohio and South to Texas.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 12.—A belated cold wave sweeping down from the Canadian Northwest is causing frost, snow and shivering temperatures today, from Montana and Colorado eastward to Ohio. The cold weather extends south as far as Texas by tonight, and tomorrow will have reached the Atlantic coast, causing frosts and probably snow in the states along the Canadian border. This morning there were low temperatures with frosts in the Missouri and upper Mississippi valley and western upper lake regions. The thermometer registered freezing at many places in the northwest and central Rocky Mountain region, and there was snow in Colorado and at Duluth, Minn.

The force of the cold wave soon will spend itself, weather experts say today, but temperatures will be low, and there will be frosts tonight in the upper lake and western lower lake region, the Ohio Valley and the mountain districts from Pennsylvania to North Carolina.

LINER LIMPS IN.

R. liner Empress of Ireland arrived in this port this morning, having been delayed two days by an accident to her machinery, which left her with the use of only her port engine. AN IMMORAL MEASURE.

Eighty or ninety years ago our grandfathers were some of them striving to secure a free government in this Province. The one thing most necessary was the complete control by the people's elected representatives of all the public revenues. That is, of course, the keystone of British liberties; without it all is naught. The principle of the people's right to raise and appropriate its taxes was the issue of the great civil war in the seventeenth century, and was clinched for the mother country by the revolution of 1688. It was won by the old Reformers of Canada for this country. But the act passed recently by the Ontario Legislature gives a shock to the complacency which takes representative and responsible government for granted in this Province and country.

Against this bill, sensibly for the development of Northern Ontario, strong protest was made by the small but vigorous Liberal delegation in the assembly. An amendment moved by Mr. Rowell, which accepted, have removed the unconstitutional and potentially immoral element of the measure. But the majority registered the will of its reactionary manager.

The act authorizes the borrowing of $5,000,000 and the expenditure thereof under the order of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. Section 1 makes a broad enumeration of New Ontario public purposes of a like character as the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may deem expedient. It is, "Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council" is, needless to say, merely Sir James Whitney and his cabinet. The Legislature has voted away from itself all future direct control over this vast expenditure. Salaries, expenses, subsidies, everything is now beyond the control of the people. And notice that the sweeping conclusion to the first section allows the Government to spend some of this money, if it likes, even on purposes not necessarily germane at all to the development of Northern Ontario! Never did any assembly of men so recklessly hand over to any keeping, however "honest," without any safeguards, their very birthright.

In his work on "Parliamentary Government in England," second edition, Vol. I, page 116, Todd says:

"The constitutional rule, now so well understood and acknowledged, that the sums granted and appropriated by the Commons for any special purpose, should be applied by the executive power only to that purpose, wholly unrecognized in earlier times, was first distinctly enunciated and partially enforced soon after the restoration. But it was not until the revolution of 1688 that the great principle was finally established, and incorporated into the system of parliamentary government."

The Government has, therefore, violated the British and Canadian constitution in dragging its majority to pass this measure. It is stealing from us the rights won by declaring its honesty. "Trust me and all will be well," says the Premier. It is no better than a confidence game, for all we can tell.

The Government has offered no plan of development; it has merely had the people's purse transferred from the Legislature's keeping to its own. Asked by Mr. Rowell, in the course of the discussion, how much of the money would probably be expended in the ensuing year, the Government replied that the outside amount would be $250,000. Why not take a vote, then, for $250,000, and let the House deal with the balance next session? But that they would not do.

The Government has not said what it wants the money for. Is it for a gigantic scheme of corruption, as it may very well be? Apart from that, the appalling fact stands out that the people of Ontario have, through their Legislature, parted with the pivotal right of self-government, the control of the exchequer. By means of such encroachment, Sir James Whitney could, if he wished, develop into a Diaz, holding all things by patronage and corruption. This power should not be put into any man's hand, no matter what his professions or intentions may be.

BRITISH CAPITALISTS COMING.
The influx of British capital has become a commonplace in Canada, but the British capitalist is not so familiar an acquaintance. In June and July we are to have sixty of them—in a body. The party, which it is said will represent $250,000,000, will include some of the foremost manufacturers and commercial magnates of the British Isles. It will visit all parts of Canada in a special train, including this portion of Ontario. London will be one of the stopping points, and will be reached about June 21.

The tour is due to the enterprise of the Financial News of London, which has devoted much attention to Canadian affairs. The Canadian Government will co-operate and no doubt public bodies at places to be visited will organize a welcome. The object of the tour is to implant in representative British manufacturers and financiers a personal interest in Canada and the opportunities she offers. As a rule British producers have neglected the Canadian field. British money has been poured out in loans to Canada for public and semi-public purposes—our railways, for instance, are financed almost wholly from Great Britain—but the Briton has been far less ready than the American to seize industrial openings here. Most of the outside capital put into Canadian industries has been American. The British manufacturer has been derelict in another respect. He has taken no special pains to cultivate the Canadian market. He has not followed up the advantage of tariff and sentimental preferences in his favor. Producing for a world market, he has been more disposed to impose his standards on his customers—with great success in some lines—than to adapt his wares to the various standards of various countries.

The Canadian tour will help to teach this lesson to some British manufacturers and may yield important results. The visitors will be certain of a cordial welcome, and will see Canada at her best.

OLD LONDON NEWSPAPER CHANGES.
The absorption of the London Morning Leader by the London Daily News leaves only two Liberal morning dailies in the metropolis, the News and the Chronicle, both halfpenny papers. In the afternoon field also there are only two, the Westminster Gazette and the Star. Against these are the Times, Mail, Standard, Post, Telegraph, Pall Mall, Graphic, Mirror, Globe, Mail Gazette and Evening News. The Liberal majority which London returns to the House of Commons would seem to discredit the power of the press, but the Unionist newspapers are so obviously class institutions that they have no weight with the masses. Excepting Harmsworth's Mail, the pioneer of halfpenny journalism in England, they have a circulation small in comparison with that of the mammoth weeklies, which are the mental pabulum of the poorer Londoners who feel they cannot afford a daily.

The growing cost of the publishing business, if the Pall Mall Gazette says, four Unionist dailies in London are for sale. The London Times was rescued by Harmsworth's millions, and there are signs that some of its competitors will have to resort to amalgamations or some other money-saving or money-getting device. The only Liberal penny morning paper in London, the Tribune, expired five years ago, after sinking $2,500,000. The Daily News has the Cadbury millions behind it. The Westminster Gazette has been financed by the late Sir George Newnes, who made a fortune in other enterprises, and sank a large portion of it before the Gazette was fairly on its feet. In the face of such conditions the Labor party has recently taken the risk of establishing both a morning and evening newspaper in London.

Stay in Ontario!
Mr. Taft's managers already see a clear majority for him in the convention, and Mr. Roosevelt's managers have certain victory in their hands.

A deadlock between Wilson and Clark might give the Democratic nomination to Bryan. With Bryan and Roosevelt in the field it would be Hobson's choice for the conservatives in both parties.

Roosevelt explains that he favored reciprocity as a means of promoting good feeling between the two countries. Unhappily some Canadians affect to view any effort of this kind with suspicion.

The London Mail has opened a symposium on the labor unrest in England. Something is achieved when a paper like the Mail consents to present all points of view. One of the causes of unrest is the blind opposition of a class to legislation intended to help the laboring classes. The Mail has been the organ of that class.

THE POET.
[S. E. Kiser.]
The poet sang of sparkling rills
And bursting buds and country lanes,
And violets and daffodils
And sweet, refreshing April rains.
All muffled up and having chills
And doped with seven kind of pills,
He sat where fog and smoke were thick,
And, looking from his window, where
A muffled light shone out,
Saw but a wall composed of brick,
And as he looked and as he wrote
A lump rose in the poet's throat,
For he was weak and sad and sick,
"I fear," he said beneath his breath,
"That I am doomed to starve to death."

MIMIC WARFARE IS SLATED FOR GUELPH.
Col. Hodgins and Staff Will Take Part Next Week.

On Thursday next Col. Hodgins and his staff will go to Berlin, where they will spend a couple of days doing practical work in that district. They will motor to Berlin, and will work from that city to Guelph. A number of the officers of regiments in that vicinity will join them.

A mimic warfare will be conducted, and it is expected that as beneficial results as followed the recent maneuvers at Windsor and Woodstock will follow.

Water Commissioner Philip Pocock will take the officers from headquarters here to Berlin in his car.

THE LAND OF LETTERS

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

Last week a Winnipeg student, in the stress of an examination in English, made an amazing statement. He informed the examiner that Shakespeare thought that, if Keats had lived a few years longer, he (Keats) would have been one of the greatest of all poets. This is almost better than the easy assertion of another student to the effect that Milton married a sister of John of Gaunt. But I cite these answers not to hold the young up to scorn, but to point out that the use of Shakespeare's name as an authority is symbolic of our attitude to a national idol. The student thinks that if he can quote the immortal William in support of his assertion on Keats, or Dickens, or Bernard Shaw, why it is as good as a quod erat demonstrandum, that joyous phrase which used to terminate our erstwhile Euclidian labors.

So deep is our veneration for Shakespeare that we are not at all surprised when the great men of the world vote him as the worthiest of all the sons of Adam. We do well to admire his myriad-mindedness, and to love him for his wide humanity; we are to be pardoned when we exorcise Tolstol because he saw nothing in Shakespeare. And yet, is not our national idolatry of the Swan of Avon a little hysterical? There are spots on the sun, and there are blemishes, even on Shakespeare's escutcheon. Although Dryden's splendid compliment is true, "He was not for an age, but for all time," nevertheless Shakespeare was a child of his age and inherited its large and easy habits, its carelessness, its grossness, its love of blood and lust for horror. We wink at atrocities in our beloved Shakespeare which we would not tolerate in more modern writers. We do this because we are charitable enough to believe that, great as he was, the Elizabethan was a semi-savage in some respects.

While I protest that I yield to no man in my love for Bacon's great contemporary, and think him ahead and shoulders above Bacon, too, I always feel that it is good for me, and for all the admirers of our matchless dramatist, to hear a voice, an English voice at that, raised in sober criticism of one whom we adore. In a series of articles, entitled "Among My Books," Frederick Harrison is pouring out for the readers of the English Review the rich results of a lifetime of reading. After paying his addresses to the sublime genius of Shakespeare, he continues: "We ought to get free from the superstition that he was always at his best," always faultless, and almost superhuman, not only in intellect, but in soul and in character. There is enough evidence that he was very far from heroic or saintly as a man, and good ground to think him incredibly careless even of his own genius, and a reckless spendthrift of his own unparalleled powers. I am unable to get rid of the suspicion that he knew better than any man how often he had failed to give his best, how at times he let himself down to the level of his fellow-playwrights, and even yield to the temptation of raising a gross laugh. The more we judge Shakespeare by the test of his own life, the more we realize that he was doing his true justice. Although Mr. Harrison considers Shakespeare to be the greatest of all poets, he thinks that Aeschylus eclipsed him in tragedy and Aristophanes outdid him in comedy.

Two Ways Open, Says Mr. Meredith
City May Build a Breakwater by Vote of People or by a Frontage Tax.

All the City Can Do With West London Embankment at Present is Repair It.

A permanent breakwater to protect West London will have to be constructed either as a local improvement, the whole cost to be paid by the property benefitting, or by money raised by a vote of the ratepayers.

Ald. Robinson, chairman of the board of works, received this opinion today from City Solicitor Meredith, and will report to the board on Thursday evening.

This decision was brought about by the deputation of West London citizens who waited on the board of works on Thursday night last, and asked that a permanent breakwater be constructed.

The board of works have in their estimates the sum of $2,000 to make the deputation insisted that this money be expended in permanent concrete work to insure a breakwater and secure the city from future floods.

Ald. Robinson was denuded to interview City Solicitor Meredith and secure his opinion as to the legal point on which the work would have to be done as a local improvement.

Ald. Robinson brought this point out early in the year, and later emphasized it when the estimates were struck.

Mr. Meredith gives it as his opinion that a permanent breakwater such as is desired by the West London citizens may be constructed as a local improvement, or by deputation issue, but that all we can do is repair the present structure. We may build it up as it is, or strengthen it, or there, but we cannot do anything in the line of permanent work. That is beyond our jurisdiction, as we cannot build new roads without our taxing the property benefited with the cost.

It is the general impression at the city hall that the committee will "shred" and render the breakwater "worthless" by the weak snore and "sneer" of the breakwater will be "strong" as it was before the flood. It is a "strong" as it was before the flood. It is a "strong" as it was before the flood.

There was a pink and blue smell in the garden, while before her eyes came the delicate perfume of orchids. The public what he has to sell. And if his "ad" is not on deck, the people pass him up, by heck! In his lap. The kettle gave a short burst of delight, and looking up, she beheld the man coming toward her. He was lately putting at a tragical pace. Then he saw her and drawing near, he gently stroked her hair, bent his head with a pick-axe.

"How natural it all seems," she breathed.

AGREEMENT IS READY
Port Stanley Is Pushing the New Roads Scheme.

Reeve Taylor, of Port Stanley, was in the city today with the agreement covering the opening of a new street on the beach at Port Stanley, and a new road from the Port Stanley Heights.

It was presented to the Port Stanley council last week, and was found to be perfectly satisfactory in everything save concerning the hydrants on the beach grounds. The city demanded that the hydrants be placed on the hill, and two on the beach. The Port council amended this by putting in a clause to amend the hydrants to be placed on the hill, and the city would furnish the hydrant. In every other particular the agreement was satisfactory, and it is probable that the city will agree to the amendment.

The man who stops his little "ad" is not so very wise, he'd better. Because his advertisements tell the public what he has to sell. And if his "ad" is not on deck, the people pass him up, by heck! PROGRAMME PREPARED FOR ALEXANDRA SCHOOL
Opening Exercises Will Commence at 2:30 On Wednesday.

The programme for the opening of the Alexandra school on Wednesday is being prepared. So far as arranged, it is the intention of the board to meet Hon. Dr. Pyne on his arrival in London from Toronto about noon, and take him to the Tecumseh House, where lunch will be served.

At 2:30 the exercises at the school are timed to begin. Mayor Graham will present the Boyle medal to Roy Bolton, and the chairman, John M. Gunn, will deliver a short address in introducing school, will speak for a few minutes. It is expected that others will take part.

Inspector Edwards is preparing the history of the school. The Alexandra school replaces the old Union school, constructed in 1849. For forty years the old Union school was the centre of education, all the higher grade students being educated there. In 1889 the school boundaries were rearranged, and the school was known as Colborne street school. Since that time it has been doing good service, and has now been replaced by the most modern school in the city.

Hon. Dr. Pyne will be interviewed relative to industrial education, and it is expected that a grant will be secured for day industrial classes.

A superstitious Palmston statistician has laboriously computed that the mythical Wandering Jew is due to appear in America in 1912. This personage had heretofore confined his wanderings to the old world. If he could be captured he would make a great special attraction for the Toronto fall show. Barium is said once offered $10,000 for the capture of the Wandering Jew or a suitable substitute.

AGREEMENT IS READY
Port Stanley Is Pushing the New Roads Scheme.

Reeve Taylor, of Port Stanley, was in the city today with the agreement covering the opening of a new street on the beach at Port Stanley, and a new road from the Port Stanley Heights.

It was presented to the Port Stanley council last week, and was found to be perfectly satisfactory in everything save concerning the hydrants on the beach grounds. The city demanded that the hydrants be placed on the hill, and two on the beach. The Port council amended this by putting in a clause to amend the hydrants to be placed on the hill, and the city would furnish the hydrant. In every other particular the agreement was satisfactory, and it is probable that the city will agree to the amendment.

Cynthia Grey and EVERY WOMAN'S Page

High school girls who graduate soon and mothers who are planning the wonderful gown may find this a helpful suggestion. It is simple, but very pretty, and for that very reason can be made easily from cheap materials.

A SECRET MARRIAGE

She's secretly married, and she writes me a poor, little tear-stained letter, telling me all about it and asking what she ought to do. "He keeps telling me I mustn't tell," says the letter, "and then he makes me wait and wait and I don't know what to do."

"I know people talk about me. I'd talk about any girl that acted the way I do but he says if I tell he'll run away and never see me again."

"I think he's afraid of his mother. He's her only son and she thinks nobody is good enough for him. I'm afraid she'll never approve of me, but I can't let it go now, and what shall I do?"

Do, little sister? There's just one thing to do, and do this very day! Stop every one you know, in the very streets, if you have to take them by the coat to do it, and tell them the foolish, honest, awkward truth.

Tell them you are married, tell it as if you thought, of course, they had known it all along, and then if there's any doubt about it—the least lingering particle of doubt—prove it, and be done with all this folly of secret and subterfuge.

Says he'll run away and never see you again if you tell, does he? Tell quick and let him run; the farther the better. What do you want with such a man as that, anyhow?

How in the world did you ever happen to consent to a secret marriage in the first place? Thought it was romantic and mysterious, didn't you? It is mysterious enough in the name of all that's fair and square and honest and unselfish, but romantic? Ask the first police court attaché you meet what he thinks about it, and he'll tell you there's very little romance in most of the secret marriages that come to his notice.

Secretly married! What a story of petty deceit, small fibs and mean subterfuges the very phrase tells! If I couldn't be proud of the man I married and the fact that I was married to him I would stay an old maid to the end of my days.

Afraid of his mother, is he? Well, if he tried to make me compromise my good name with this secret business very much longer there'd be someone else that he'd be afraid of, let me tell you; and he'd have reason to be afraid of me, too.

No, it isn't just for yourself you must think; you must think for him, too. You're a wife now, and you must have discovered by this time that the woman must set the standard of a man's behavior in these things.

If it were not for the fact that some woman is watching there would be very few heroes in this world at all. Men live up to what the women they love expect of them. Expect this young husband of yours to be a man, and ten chances to one he'll be a man.

Let him be a sneaking coward for even a little while, and the first thing you know you'll put the brand on him and he'll be a coward all his life.

Afraid of his mother? Nonsense! His mother will doubtless wonder why he insulted her with such deceit, but she won't eat him up for it, at that. If he won't tell her himself, you do it. Go straight to her; go with your head up and your eyes sweet and innocent and unafraid. Walk right into the room where she is and tell her the whole story. Ten chances to one you'll be in her arms before you've half begun it.

Stern, maybe; but she's human, too, or there wouldn't be any son at all. She isn't Mrs. Medusa—dead to all human feeling just because she's forty and over.

Maybe she cried herself this very morning thinking of some silly quarrel she had with the husband she loved when she was your age, the man who has been dead for years, but not forgotten for one single moment.

Maybe she will wonder how you married her son, but before you know it you'll realize that she's something more than his mother—that she's a woman, too; just a plain, loving, foolish, sorry woman like you, and then the trouble will be all over.

I hope she'll take that son of hers over her lap and give him a good spanking before the thing is done with for good and all. He deserves one.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENCE

She's Only Fifteen.

Dear Miss Grey: I have been going with a young man for two months, and my parents object seriously because I am only fifteen. How can I tell him without hurting his feelings? WORRIED.

A—Tell him the truth. If he is the right sort he will admire you for your consideration of your parents and your obedience.

Piano Treatment.

Dear Miss Grey: Please tell me how to care for my piano keys and case. Also what will remove the yellow from the keys. M. L.

A—Dip a soft cloth in alcohol and clean the keys with it. This will clean and whiten them. Wash the case with warm soapsuds and a soft linen cloth, rinse with clear, warm water, wipe dry and polish with equal parts of linseed oil, turpentine, and kerosene. Sometimes a little kerosene in the water with which the case is washed will be sufficient to polish it, if it is not badly marred.

Can't Buy a Diamond.

Dear Miss Grey: Not being able to buy a diamond, please suggest something suitable for an engagement ring. Is it necessary for a couple to join right hands while the ceremony is being performed? A READER.

A—A ring set with the birthstone of the bride-to-be. 2. The officiating minister will explain all these rules.

A Linen Shower.

Dear Miss Grey: I expect soon to give a shower for a married friend, and would like some pointers. Would you call it a novelty shower, or a house party? Suggest a luncheon and decorations. R. M. F.

A—If your shower is to be a linen one, call it that, so your friends will know what to bring. If you do not mean for it to be any particular line, but just anything they care to bring, call it a miscellaneous shower. A light luncheon might consist of grapefruit cocktail, salad and sandwiches, coffee or chocolate, an ice and a cake. If this is too elaborate, omit the cake and the ice cream. Decorate with potted plants or spring flowers.

Fudge Recipe.

Dear Miss Grey: I have a recipe for fudge. A READER. A—Cook together one cup sugar, one-half cup milk, one-quarter cup molasses and one cup grated chocolate or coconut, stirring often, until a little dropped in cold water will harden at once. Beat in a tablespoonful vanilla, stir well for two or three minutes, then turn into a well-greased pan. When cool mark into squares.

Women's Canadian Club

A Synopsis of the Organization in London—A Patriotic Body.

Just two years ago this month the Women's Canadian Club of London was organized at an inaugural meeting held in the public library building. Some 47 ladies were present, many of them coming in response to a notice inserted in local newspapers by Mrs. A. T. Edwards, a lady whose name and practical working abilities are closely allied with "forward movements" of this nature. For some time Mrs. Edwards, with one or two other public-spirited women, had seen the need of some organization for London women that would foster in them the spirit of patriotism. After due consideration, constitutions of the Women's Canadian Clubs in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto were procured, and a specimen constitution for a London club was drawn up. At the organization meeting, Miss Isabel Armstrong, now of Regina, described a visit she paid to the Women's Canadian Club of Vancouver, and told of the excellent society the ladies of that city had established.

The Club is Formed. The idea of a distinctly Canadian organization soon engendered the thought, and the club was founded with a membership of 45. The constitution, with one or two changes, was formally adopted, this being the aim of the club:

"The purpose of this club is the fostering of patriotism, and the encouragement of a deep interest in the history, institutions, arts, literature and resources of Canada, as well as the consideration of leading questions of the day, at home and abroad, and the endeavor to engage Canadian women in such work as may be within their power for the welfare and progress of the Dominion, both by the invitation of speakers of note to address the club and by other means. Since that time, May, 1910, the progress of the club has been rapid and most encouraging. In the year that is just closing the membership numbered 246, and the officers hope to double the list this year.

Prizes and Lectures. A fine feature of the Women's Canadian Club work here is the presentation of prizes to school boys and girls who write the best essays on various subjects, mainly Canadian. These prizes are annually presented on Empire Day in the schools of the city. The frequent lectures, given under the auspices of the club in the Normal School, have been a strong educational factor in the life of the members, and cannot be too highly commended. Some of the best lecturers on the continent have spoken on a widely diverse range of subjects dealing with many leading problems, both social and political. Occasionally the women's club has united with the Men's Canadian Club in bringing to London a speaker of especial note, and the attendance at these lectures has been extremely gratifying.

The Women's Canadian Club of London is indeed living up to its aims and purposes, and there is no doubt but that continued success will follow it throughout its third year of existence.

Onions also are preventatives of insomnia. Cranberries serve as a "cure" for malaria and erysipelas. Parsley is an excellent aid to digestion when eaten with a hearty meal it will prevent dyspepsia.

FASHION'S FRIVALS

Double ruffles of pleated tulle or lace finishes the long sleeves on waists and coats.

Frills of shadow, maline or other light laces, about three or four inches wide, are used as high neck finish.

Parasols of allover embroidered batiste and of fine embroidered handkerchief linen, trimmed with lace bands of frills, will be carried in sultry weather.

Fashionable Parisiennes are wearing evening scarfs of maline to supply the note of contrast to evening gowns. The scarf frequently matches the satin girdle of the frock.

Parasols of terry cloth or Turkish toweling are freaks of the moment.

Clear or colored crystal buttons are modish, as are also gold, silver and gun-metal. White jet buttons figure on Parisian gowns.

The between seasons and early spring hat is of maline, white high cockades, ruffs, pleatings and bows of maline are used as trimmings on straw ones.

Old blue is popular this spring, while shades ranging from amber to old gold up to the pale straw tints are seen in straw.

A ruche round the hem of the skirt emphasizes the beauty of small feet, but it must be chosen with care.

Vegetables as Medicine

Watercress is an excellent blood purifier.

Lettuce has a soothing effect on the nerves, and is excellent for sufferers of insomnia.

Tomatoes are good for a torpid liver, but should be avoided by gouty people.

Spinach has great aperient qualities, and is far better than medicine for sufferers from constipation. It is also excellent for kidney troubles.

Beet root is fattening and good for people who want to put on flesh. So are potatoes.

Parasnis possess the same virtues as sarsaparilla.

Apples, carrots and Brazil nuts are excellent for sufferers from constipation.

Apples and carrots also have a beneficial effect on gouty persons.

Raw carrots cure indigestion. When cooked they will cure asthma.

Celery contains sulphur and helps to ward off rheumatism. It is also a nerve tonic.

Dates are exceedingly nourishing, and also prevent constipation.

The juice of grapes are laxative, but the skin and seeds are likely to cause constipation.

Bananas are beneficial to sufferers from chest complaints.

Onions furnish the most substantial cure for nervous prostration and all other nervous disorders; they have a soothing effect on consumptives, and are excellent for colds, coughs, and croup. They have been known to cure in grippe and pneumonia.

KITCHEN KEYNOTES

Orange fritters are as delicious an accompaniment to boiled or fried ham as apple sauce to spare ribs.

When serving afternoon tea, try using slices of oranges instead of lemon; this, with green tea especially, gives it a delicious flavor.

If rice is cooked in water it will absorb about three times its measure. If it is cooked in milk at least half as much liquid will be necessary.

If you want to cut hard butter into squares, and you find you cannot do it without crumbling, fold a piece of wax paper in which the butter was wrapped around the blade of the knife. You can then make a perfectly smooth cut.

Don't pour the salt into cold milk when making a custard. Put the salt in after the milk has been scalded; otherwise the custard will separate, as though curdled.

A careful laundress always uses a wooden spoon in preparing starch, and never makes starch in a tin utensil. These precautions taken, there is no danger of the starch imparting rust spots on the clothes.

Wipe off screens with a duster each morning and beat with a soft brush. The beating should be done lightly in order that the wire be not bulged.

When using valuable vases for table decorations fill them with sand, for this makes them stand firmly and renders them less likely to be knocked over and broken.

Dandelion Recipes.

Dandelions are most commonly used for greens, either alone or mixed with other herbs, plantain, young milkweeds, beet tops and horseradish tops. Wash and examine all herbs used for greens, and then boil them until tender in slightly salted water. A little baking soda added to the water in which the greens are cooked will preserve their color, and it also softens the cellulose. When done, drain them in a colander, and while draining cut them through and through in every way, to facilitate serving them; then put them on a hot platter. Season with butter and salt and send vinegar around with them. In making salad choose only the small and tender portion of the plant, wash carefully, drain, and shake out the water, place in a salad bowl and cover with French dressing. Chives and chervil may be sprinkled on top before applying the dressing, or add a little sliced onion if liked, or lettuce or other vegetable.

The Tearkerchief

There are many quaint and pretty customs that prevail in Tyrol; but none more so than that of the tearkerchief.

When a girl is to be married, and just before she leaves her girlhood home for the church, her mother gives her a handkerchief made of newly spun linen, which is called the tearkerchief. With it the bride is to dry the tears which are regarded as only natural as she leaves home.

The tearkerchief is never used after the marriage day; but it is laid away with the bride's most cherished possessions until the day of her death, when it is taken out and spread over her face.

prevent its turning yellow. Another method is to prepare good bran-water, by boiling in water bran contained in a bag and squeezing the bag to extract the virtues of the bran. When moderately hot wash about a square yard at a time with a flannel cloth dipped in this bran-water, and dry it at once with a linen cloth, to remove stains, mix lemon juice and salt, apply it to the stain, let it stand several hours, and then wash with clean water.

THE CARE OF BROOMS.

About once a week dip brooms in hot soapsuds; it can be done on wash day when the suds are at hand. It will make the brooms both tough and flexible, and will increase the wear of both carpets and brooms. Put a screw-eye in the end of the handle and hang up the broom; that is the best way to keep it. Patent holders may be bought, but this answers as well. Always keep a new broom for sweeping the carpets, the old ones may be used for the outside stairs and yard, or have a course broom for that purpose; never use the same broom for both.

A HINT TO HOUSEMAIDS.

Old newspapers are treasured by servants who know their use. When sweeping a room there is nothing better to aid you in collecting the dust. Take a page of newspaper, wet it in hot water and press it between the hands until it ceases to drip, then tear it into pieces and throw them over the carpet. No you may sweep, and you will find that most of the dust will gather on the wet paper.

THOUGHT DROWNED.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 11.—The finding of his coat on the Government dock leads to the belief that Richard King, former with the Canadian Messenger Service, and who lived at the corner of Spadina and Parliament streets, Toronto, has been drowned. In company with Stanley Simpson, he came here a few days ago. He was last seen going to the dock after 11 o'clock last night, when he left a neighboring hotel. The river is being dragged this morning. King is aged 20.

CANADIAN LEAGUE CLUBS READY; ONLY GOOD WEATHER NEEDED NOW

Hamilton Club Plans a Big Opening With Impressive Ceremonies
—Players in Great Shape—Ottawa Expects Ten Thousand People at Opener.

Hamilton, May 12.—Given a good break in the weather, which at the present time is simply rank, the Canadian League season will get away to an auspicious start here on Tuesday, when the Kolts and Peterboro will meet in the opening clash. Following a monster street parade, Mayor Lees and the civic officials will look after the opening ceremonies, while James P. Fitzgerald, president of the Canadian League, President J. J. McCaffery of Toronto International League club; President J. J. Stein of the Buffalo International League club; President Denham of the Peterboro club; Vice-President E. G. Patterson of the Peterboro club, and a host of other notables will be in attendance, the guests of the local club.

A Clean-Up.
Manager Knolly Lee has made his final clean-up, and his team is now complete for the opening game. Purdy, Hess and Marshall were released on Saturday night, and the announcement made that the Kolts would start the season with the following players in uniform: Lee, Schaefer, Keenan, Fisher, Martin, Farrell, Corns, Killea, Maguire, Teed, Garlow, Rose, Killea, O'Brien, Mollineux, Murphy, while the batting order for the opening game will be as follows: Schaefer, first base; Keenan, third base; Lee, right field; Corns, centre field; Killea, second base; Farrell, left field; Fisher, catcher; Maguire, shortstop; Teed, pitcher. Walter Teed, last year with the champion Berlin team, is in the best condition of any of the local twirlers and will be asked to do the heavy lifting in the first game. He, along with Garlow, is sure of making a regular twirling job. Fisher, catcher, and Murphy, shortstop, will be asked to do the other two twirling jobs. Fisher and Murphy will do the catching, while Maguire will be retained as utility infielder.

"YOU LOOK SO WELL"
Just say that to a woman and see her eyes sparkle with pleasure. She knows there is no beauty like the beauty of health.

Unfortunately, at this time of year so many women are in a weakened, run-down condition that there are few to whom one can say it.

Mrs. C. Langan, 1544 Anthony avenue, New York City, says in a letter: "My health began to run down two years ago, and from that time till last April I was in a badly weakened condition with little energy and poor appetite. Having heard so much about Vinol I began taking it and already I have improved so much that all my friends notice a great difference. I have entirely recovered my former strength—thanks to Vinol." This delicious cod liver and iron remedy without oil, is of the greatest value in creating strength, restoring appetite and building up the body. Pale, sickly women, overworked men, feeble old folks and delicate children all need it, and we positively guarantee Vinol to give satisfaction.

Following players in uniform: Lee, Schaefer, Keenan, Fisher, Martin, Farrell, Corns, Killea, Maguire, Teed, Garlow, Rose, Killea, O'Brien, Mollineux, Murphy, while the batting order for the opening game will be as follows: Schaefer, first base; Keenan, third base; Lee, right field; Corns, centre field; Killea, second base; Farrell, left field; Fisher, catcher; Maguire, shortstop; Teed, pitcher. Walter Teed, last year with the champion Berlin team, is in the best condition of any of the local twirlers and will be asked to do the heavy lifting in the first game. He, along with Garlow, is sure of making a regular twirling job. Fisher, catcher, and Murphy, shortstop, will be asked to do the other two twirling jobs. Fisher and Murphy will do the catching, while Maguire will be retained as utility infielder.

Pretty Likely Bunch.
The Kolts, as named in the foregoing, shape up like a pretty likely bunch. The first five in the batting order hit over the 300 mark last year, and averaged 300 runs bases each, showing a lot of batting strength and speed. In addition, they are all hard hitters, and it is a safe prediction that the club will prove the best hitting aggregation in the league.

Manager Lee has made no claim as yet as to what his team will do, and when asked to express an opinion was rather reticent, although he did express much confidence. "You can say this for me," said he, "that I think I have the best hitting club in the league, and that if our pitchers stand up as they should we will be up there fighting hard all the time. I have a bunch of aggressive, scrappy ball players who will hit hard and often, and I consider our team 50 per cent stronger than last year, and you can reckon on it."

In the meantime as little Jimmie in the comic supplement would say, the management is in consultation with the weather merchant in an endeavor to get the real stuff that makes fans crowd peanuts in their stomachs, absorb pop and chuck hot clinkers on the knaps of the meanest man on earth, viz., the umpire.

JACK JOHNSON TRAINING HARD

Will Leave for Las Vegas Camp About the Middle of June for the Flynn Bout.

[Canadian Press.]
Chicago, Ill., May 12.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, of the world, will leave for his training camp near Las Vegas the middle of June. Johnson is doing light training for his fight with Flynn July 4. He has taken off in the last week eight pounds, which does not regard as a bad record for beginning. He does road work every morning and four times a week he boxes with Jimmie Wells, Marty Cutler and a muscular negro, that the champion calls his "black horse."

YOUNG JOCKEY KILLS ANOTHER

Did Not Know the Revolver Was Loaded, So He Pulled the Trigger.

[Canadian Press.]
Louisville, Ky., May 12.—With a revolver he didn't know was loaded, a fifteen-year-old boy, a jockey, killed another jockey, fifteen years old, at Churchill Downs yesterday. McDonough, another jockey, fifteen years old, at Churchill Downs yesterday. McDonough, after being taken to a hospital, died soon after being taken to a hospital. The dead boy was the son of George McDonough, a wealthy Philadelphia plumber, who, with his wife, is attending the races here. Young Nathan gave himself up to the police.

WHAT IS A BALK?

"When the pitcher after having advanced out of his box to receive the ball from the catcher, while in the act of returning makes a motion to throw the ball to second base when occupied by a runner, and fails to complete the throw, is this a balk?" If so, does the batter move?

A. No, this is not a balk. The pitcher must be in the pitcher's box before he makes a balk. In any case the batter does not move.

With the Candidates at the Woodbine

Capital performances by King's plate candidates from the Brookdale, Crew, Gorman, Davies and Seagram stables on Saturday and Sunday have not enabled horsemen to agree upon the probable winner of the guinea on Saturday next. All the stables but that of the O. J. C. president, were worked on Saturday, while the Waterloo players were given their trial. The track was fast, probably more so in the afternoon, when God Bait, the Davies candidate, was given her trial over the plate route. The track had just been rolled, and all the conditions were favorable.

Hersey and Tropaeum, the Brookdale candidates, worked the mile and quarter in 2:12, the first mentioned leading all the way and showing a length in front of his stable companion 1:38, 1:29 4-5, the route. The fractional time was 24, 37, 49 4-5, 1:03 1-5, 1:16 4-5, 1:30 3-5, 1:43 3-5, 1:57 2-5.

Calumny and Mary Bud, the Gorman players, next worked the mile and quarter in 2:13 3-5, having, as usual, the first half at a terrific clip. Calumny led by a couple of lengths at the finish. The fractional time was 23 2-5, 35 2-5, 48 2-5, 1:01 4-5, 1:13 4-5, 1:27 4-5, 1:40 1-5, 1:53 2-5.

Amberlie, the Crew candidate, with Dalton McCarthy in the saddle, and accompanied by Kilo for the last six furlongs, broke from the head of the stretch and worked the mile and quarter in 2:11 1-5. The work was an impressive one. The fractional time was 23 3-5, 36 4-5, 50, 1:12 3-5, 1:24 1-5, 1:38 1-5. The filly ran straight and true.

While the morning trials were all good, the work of Gold Bug, the Davies candidate, in the afternoon was considered by some horsemen to be the best shown by any plate candidate. The 3-year-old mare was ridden by E. Martin, the stable jockey, and accompanied by Queen Sain the last part of the journey. She covered the mile and quarter in 2:11 2-5, the fractional time being 25, 39 4-5, 1:14 4-5, 1:42, 1:56 4-5.

Had the daughter of Alles d'Or and Gold Bug, rated with better judgment, she would have undoubtedly shown a faster trial. However, it was not possible to satisfy the belief that Mr. Davies has a royal chance to capture the guinea.

The Seagram players, Havrock, Rustling and Head Sea, worked the plate distance in 2:14 4-5, the three finishing in that order. The hat was run in 2:15 3-5, the three-quarters in 1:18 3-5, and the mile in 1:46.

ALL LINES ACTIVE IN FOREST CITY

Volume of Business in London Compares Favorably With Last Year.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT

Commercial Situation in All the Chief Distributing Centres of the Dominion.

London reports to Bradstreet's say all lines of trade there continue active, and the volume of business is considerably more than last year. Local factories are busy and wholesalers report good orders for all lines of goods. Collections are fairly good.

Ottawa reports say retailers there are now satisfied with the volume of business. The wholesale trade reports a heavy business in sorting orders, and all factories are busy. Travelers out state that the outlook for fall trade is good. Collections are generally satisfactory.

Quebec reports say little change is noticeable in trade conditions. The volume of business is fair for the season, but warmer weather is wanted to create a demand for seasonable wear. Orders to hand are largely of a sorting-up nature. Provisions and groceries are moving freely, there being a steady demand for supplies at remote points, which are usually reached during the season of navigation. Builders' supplies are in demand. Local shoe factories are busy, retailers report favorably, and a satisfactory turnover in house furnishings which is usual at this season.

Situation at Montreal.

Montreal reports say beyond the arrival of several ocean steamers at this port, there has been little feature to the trade situation here during the past week. General business is moving very satisfactorily and prospects for later business continue very bright. Retail trade is generally active. All lines of trade are good. In dry goods, boots and shoes, and general clothing it is particularly brisk. A feature of trade at the moment is the firmness in cotton textiles following upon the recent advance. A tone of firmness is also noted to other staple lines of dry goods. Business in hardware continues active. Shelf goods are in excellent demand and a heavy business has been done in farming and gardening tools. A shortage is reported in British iron and prices are firm. Country roads are in better shape and retail trade in a large part of the province is more active. Wholesalers seem to be well pleased with the state of trade in both the eastern and western provinces. Receipts of dairy products are steadily increasing and prices are easier. For hog products and other lines prices are firm in tone. Collections are generally satisfactory. Those from the west continue to show some improvement.

Active at Toronto.

Toronto reports say all lines of trade report continued activity. Retail trade is brisk here and at other provincial centres. Spring house cleaning has created a brisk demand for wallpapers, paints and kindred lines, and there has also been a very good business in general house furnishings. The great activity in building is responsible for a large business in all kinds of patterns and decorative materials. Values are firm. A feature of conditions here is the steadily increasing cost of building, which is partly the result of higher wages for mechanics. It appears this is true in all parts of Canada. Western orders for general supplies are heavy, and indications are that business in this connection will continue good throughout the summer. Country produce offers fairly freely. Dairy products are quoted lower. Other prices are steady to firm. Winnipeg reports say general trade in

Who is Your Customer?

HAVE you ever met your real customer?

Have your salesmen a speaking acquaintance with him? Have you told him about the merits of your product? Have you explained why he should give your goods the preference? Have you done anything to stimulate his desire for your goods?

In short, have you made any attempt whatever to sell your goods to him?

"Most assuredly," you say. "Every dealer in Canada is known to our travelers, and we certainly wouldn't pay a salesman who couldn't tell our customers all—"

When the user wants your goods and won't take any other—then you are independent of all but him, your real customer.

To make the user want your goods, you must do two things:

- (1) Produce an article of value.
- (2) Tell him what you make, and why he should prefer it.

That's advertising.

One minute, please. The dealer isn't your customer. He's simply a part of your sales organization, and a decidedly independent part of it at that. He is distributor for other concerns in whose goods he is just as much interested as he is in yours. And he isn't particularly interested in your product, any more than in your competitors'.

The dealer realizes that he can serve six who order their goods by a well-known trade name as quickly as he can serve one to whom he has to demonstrate that a product is good.

Your real customer is the Public—the Public who wears your clothing, eats your pickles, uses your safety razor. You've got to sell your goods to the Public.

When are the makers of piano actions, for example, going to discover that they do not know their real customers; and, what is worse, that their real customers do not know them? So the public have to buy pianos in blind ignorance of the quality of the most important mechanical part of the piano.

What is it going to be worth to the piano-action maker who first discovers that his real customer is the Public, and not the piano manufacturer who incorporates the action into the complete instrument?

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or through the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Bldg., Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

all parts of the West is now brisk active. Money for general business purposes is offering fairly freely. Hamilton reports say general business there is steady in character. Receipts of country produce at the market are increasing.

CEYLON TEA.

THE LAST VOYAGE OF THE DOG AT ISRAEL
 BY RANDALL PARRISH
 Author of "The Shipwreck of the Sea Queen"

I was over the rail with a leap, fronting the deck. Almost to my surprise, the crole landed beside me, and without a word we struck out at the heads in our front. It was a mere mix-up for a minute, yet only a man or two stood with Anderson, the suddenness of our assault taking all the fight out of most of them. I struck Big Bill twice squarely in the face, driving him back against the steps leading to the forecastle deck; over these he fell sprawling, his head thumping the plank. The next instant I had De Nova's antagonists in the rear, and together we laid them out against the rail, and none too gently. The mate's smile had become ugly, and he would have leaped into the rest of the bunch, but I caught his arm.

"They've had enough," I said, breathing hard. "Go back on the bridge, De Nova. Now, my lads, get busy. If one of you soldiers, or talks back again, he'll go to his bunk for the rest of this voyage. Get up, Anderson, and stop that growling. You fellows may well learn first as last that I am commanding the Sea Queen, and that we are homeward bound."

Within the space of five minutes I had the whole gang at it, a profane, shuffling crew enough, yet carrying out my orders after a fashion, and sufficiently cowed to be obedient. And I kept them busy about the icy deck for an hour or more, while the yacht lay well over under freshening gusts from the southwest, raced ahead, plowing the floating ice from out her track, the ever-thickening snow chasing down upon us the frozen rigging overhead whistling in the wind and showing the decks with ice fragments. The swell of the sea increased, flinging us on the crests, and compelling the wheelman to ease her off another point of so. At last I dispatched the starboard watch below, and leaving De Nova in charge of the bridge, started back to the companion. To my surprise, Lady Darlington, muffled to the eyes, still stood, half protected, in the open door of the chart house.

"What in the world are you doing here in all this snow and blow?" I questioned. "Waiting for you," she answered, her eyes glowing. "I could not go to the cabin until I knew you had really won. It is true that the weather is not so good."

"Yes," I answered, not altogether happy over her evident pleasure. "The Sea Queen has sailed her farthest southing. Are you glad?"

"Glad!" Her gloved hands sought mine. "In all my life I was never happier. These impulsive words, natural as they were, nevertheless hurt me, and perhaps my face exhibited it. Her eyes fell on me. 'You cannot know how much I have suffered on this voyage,' she said, 'and I heartily cry out for relief, but it is not because I wish to lose any friendship formed on board.'"

"Yet that is what being homeward bound must inevitably mean."

"Her long lashes were uplifted, disclosing the depths of her eyes. 'Not with me, Mr. Stephens; I am not a woman to forget.'"

CHAPTER XXIII.
 In which the Yacht Meets Disaster. I have been endeavoring to recall in sequence, the occurrences of the three days and nights following our turning northward, but it is all chaos, vague, confused—an exhibit of the maddest, wildest, and most reckless of all the maddest of which we battled for life is as

PAUL WEISBROD IS PROMOTED
 Former Aylmer Man Is Made Superintendent of C. P. R. at Moose Jaw.

BEGAN AS AN OPERATOR

Was First With the G. T. R. and Later Went Over to the Canadian Pacific—A Brilliant Railwayman.

It has been officially announced that Mr. Paul Weisbrod, formerly of Aylmer, Ont., has been promoted to the superintendency of the Moose Jaw division of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He will commence his duties at once. Mr. Weisbrod is a brother-in-law of Mr. J. C. Crombie, master of transportation of the Grand Trunk in this city, and is well known in London, and in this neighborhood.

He learned telegraphy on the Grand Trunk at Aylmer, and then joined the Canadian Pacific. His first appointment was as night operator at Leaside Junction. From that time on he was promoted rapidly. He became night operator at Thamesville, where he married Miss McCarty, daughter of Mr. J. McCarty. Later he went to St. Thomas, and was operator at the C. P. R. station at London. His stay there was not long, as he was soon promoted to the position of agent at Bothwell.

Going Up!
 Residing in that place a year, he was transferred to West Toronto, where he was given the position of yardmaster. An offer was made to him to go West in 1907, and he accepted, being made stationmaster at Winnipeg. This position he held for a year and a half, when he went to Brandon as trainmaster. Promotions came rapidly, and he went first to Cranbrook, B. C., as trainmaster of the Mountain division of the C. P. R., and later to Macleod, where he had charge of the Alberta division.

He was in charge at Macleod, when he was offered the position of superintendent at Moose Jaw, which he accepted. He will take over the position immediately.

Mr. Weisbrod is a comparatively young man, barely forty, and of greater things are predicted of him by C. P. R. men, who are intimately connected with him.

SO MUCH PER YARD TO POSE FOR FILMS

The Price Paid Bernhardt Was Only One Cent Per Yard.
 Paris, May 12.—A lawsuit during the week brought out the fact that notable actors have been receiving payment at so much per yard for posing for movie pictures. The leader, Coquelin, got five cents a yard. Bernhardt, only a cent a yard, while a little star, like Eva Levallier, got two cents for ten yards. All this was quoted in a suit brought against Chas. LeBarby, the Beau Brummel of the French stage, and former husband of Madame Simone, by M. Lavedan, for neglecting the business of an artistic firm company which they promoted. The claim for damages amounts to $4,000.

NOT ONE WOMAN IN TWENTY HAS A STRONG BACK.
THE KIDNEYS ARE TO BLAME NINE TIMES OUT OF TEN.

Women are coming to understand that weak, lame and aching backs from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys. The poisons that ought to be carried off are sent back into the blood, taking with them a multitude of aches and pains. There is no use of expecting relief until the kidneys are restored to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills are the quickest and most reliable remedy. Mrs. Ed. Baxter, Upham, N.B., writes:—"I take a good deal of pleasure in telling you what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. I was troubled with my kidneys for a number of years, and my back was so lame I could not weep the floor. A friend of mine advised me to try a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and after using three boxes I am as well as ever. I highly recommend them to anyone suffering from lame back or kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box. This is the price at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. M. Burns Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

HARD COAL MINERS MAY ACCEPT TERMS
 Believed That the Locals Will Vote to Go Back.
 Scranton, Pa., May 12.—Sentiment has completely veered heretofore on the question of the acceptance or rejection of the tentative agreement for settling the hard coal suspension. Most significant of many developments of the past few days is a statement from one of the prominent union officials, who has been fighting the acceptance of the agreement in its present form, that the delegates to the Wilkesbarre convention on Tuesday will vote for acceptance.

The locals seem to be in favor now of taking what the district presidents tell them is the best they can possibly get," said this official, "rather than to have the dispute go before the anthracite strike commission. No more strikes, no more commission for them, the officials friendly to the district presidents, sub-officials of the mine companies, merchants and newspapers of

SPIRITED AWAY FROM CHICAGO NESBITT ARRIVES AT TORONTO

The Doctor's Home-Coming As Much of a Sensation As His Departure—Dodges Reporters by Jumping Into Taxi Before Train Reaches City.

THE NESBITT CASE

Dec. 19, 1910—Farmers' Bank suspended.
Jan. 14, 1911—Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, former president, is charged with making false returns to the Government, and escapes from Muskoka to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.
Jan. 16, 1911—W. R. Travers, general manager, pleads guilty and is sentenced to six years' imprisonment.
April 13, 1912—Dr. Nesbitt is arrested in Chicago.
April 26, 1912—U. S. Commissioner Foote orders Nesbitt's extradition to Canada.
April 30, 1912—Secretary of State Knox signs warrant of surrender in Washington.
May 11, 1912—Nesbitt is surrendered to Inspector Boyd, of the Ontario police, in Chicago.
May 12, 1912—Dr. Nesbitt returns to Toronto to face trial.

Toronto, May 13. — Dr. William Beattie Nesbitt is back once more. Early Sunday morning, while the good folk of his home city still slept, the doctor was rushed from the off-side of a Grand Trunk train at North Parkdale station, down the winding stone steps into the subway. A taxi picked him and his police escort, and in a few minutes he was off on a roundabout way to the jail. There in the big gloomy building beside the Don he is waiting, an unwilling guest, for his first appearance in a Canadian court of justice. A stone's throw away from him is W. R. Travers, the man who stood by him in the troubled operations of the Farmers' Bank, and who is now paying with years of his life for the wrecking of that ill-fated institution.

The Exile's Return.

The return of the exile came with dramatic suddenness, rivaling in interest the circumstances surrounding his hurried flight before the arm of the law, eighteen months ago, when he made his escape by driving from his Muskoka home over the frozen lake. Saturday morning, the people of Toronto were reading of habeas corpus proceedings in the Chicago courts, were noting interviews with Nesbitt's Chicago counsel, in which he spoke of a surprise that was on the way. The "surprise" arrived, but not one counsel expected. Early Saturday afternoon a wire reached Toronto declaring that the ex-bank manager had been spirited away from Chicago without being given a chance to consult his legal advisers, and was well out of the State of Illinois before his friends were aware that he had been removed from the Chicago jail. His entry to Toronto was as quietly carried out, and a dozen newspapermen, with a few press photographers as aides, went on a wild-goose-chase from North Parkdale station to the Union station, while the prisoner and Provincial Detective Boyd rolled swiftly off from Parkdale.

How It Was Planned.

The provincial police planned their coup on Friday, and the plan made then was carried out without a hitch. The document which Superintendent Rogers had been daily expecting—the warrant of surrender—reached the Attorney-General's department on Thursday, and things began to move. The superintendent wired to Chicago for definite information regarding the

BUILDING FOOD

TO BRING THE BABIES AROUND.

When a little human machine (or a large one) goes wrong, nothing is so important as the selection of food to bring it around again.

"My little baby boy, fifteen months old, had pneumonia, then came brain fever, and no sooner had he got over this than he began to cut teeth, and, being so weak, he was frequently thrown into convulsions," says a Colorado mother.

"I decided a change might help, so took him to Kansas City for a visit. When we got there he was so very weak when he would cry he would sink away and seemed like he would die."

"When I reached my sister's home she said immediately that we must feed him Grape-Nuts, and, although I had never used the food, we got some, and for a few days just gave him the juice of Grape-Nuts and milk. He got stronger so quickly we were soon feeding him Grape-Nuts itself, and in a wonderfully short time he fattened right up and became strong and well."

"That showed me something worth knowing, and when later on my little girl came, I raised her on Grape-Nuts and she is a strong, healthy baby and has been. You will see from the little photographs I send you what a strong, chubby youngster the boy is now, but he didn't look anything like that before we found this nourishing food. Grape-Nuts nourished him back to strength when he was so weak he couldn't keep any other food on his stomach." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"All children can be built to a more sturdy and healthy condition upon Grape-Nuts, and cream. The food contains the elements nature demands, from which to make the soft, gray filling in the nerve centres of the brain. A well-fed brain and strong, sturdy nerves absolutely insure a healthy body."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in packages. There's a reason. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

writ of habeas corpus, which Nesbitt's Chicago counsel promised to secure. Whether Pattinson was working what in Yankee parlance is known as a "bluff" or was getting his weighty arguments ready is not known, but the answer received from Chicago was that no proceedings had been instituted.

Realizing that if it became known that the warrant of surrender was on its way west in the pocket of a Canadian officer, Nesbitt's counsel might make his last move in a hurry, not a word was allowed to leak out. Provincial Detective Boyd was given his orders and left on Friday armed with a letter to the Assistant Chief of Police at Chicago. He reached that city on Saturday morning and presented his letter. An officer was detailed to accompany him and at 2 o'clock they made their appearance before the assistant United States marshal, and produced the warrant. Nesbitt was brought from the jail, the warrant was read to him and a few minutes later he was in a taxi, speeding through the busy streets of the Windy City.

A Chicago "Joy Ride."

The Toronto train was due to leave at 3 o'clock, but in order to give Nesbitt's counsel an opportunity of discovering his whereabouts the taxi did not go near the station, but kept on the move, here and there, until three minutes before the hour. Then it was rushed up to a side entrance of the Dearborn street station. Nesbitt was hustled out and into the waiting train, in which a stateroom had already been engaged. The car porter was sworn to absolute ignorance regarding the appearance of the little party. The Chicago officer went along and at the Forty-seventh street station jumped out to reconnoitre. He found no trace of anyone interested in the Canadian prisoner, and for the first time Boyd began to breathe easy. A short time later the train crossed the state border into Indiana, where a writ would not be operative, and, satisfied that nothing but smooth sailing lay ahead, Boyd got off the train and reported progress.

Not Handcuffed.

The trip to the city was uneventful. Nesbitt was not handcuffed, and he chatted freely with Boyd. According to the detective, however, he did not mention his case. He appeared to be in good spirits, and the only thing that worried him at all was the prospect of meeting newspapermen at Toronto. Nearing the city the porter informed Boyd that two newspapermen were on the train and were anxious to get into the stateroom, and at Weston the officer received word that a crowd of newspapermen and photographers were waiting at the station. Nesbitt then expressed a desire to send word to his brother to meet him at the station with a car, and a message was accordingly sent on. As the train pulled in Boyd and his prisoner jumped off on the west side and shielded by the coaches, slipped down the stone steps to the subway. The newspapermen and photographers crowded on the train, and when it had started for the Union station the two men came around to the station and entered the waiting taxi.

Taken to Jail.

Boyd sent word to Superintendent Rogers, and, upon instructions, took his prisoner to the superintendent's home on Jamieson avenue. Nesbitt did not relish the prospect of spending the day and night in one of the police stations, and it was decided to take him down to the jail. The taxi started off again, this time with an extra passenger, in the person of Superintendent Rogers. The doctor was handed over to Governor Chambers, with a caution that he was not to be allowed to speak to Travers. This morning Nesbitt will be formally bonded over to the city police, and will make his appearance in the police court. Dr. Beattie Nesbitt must stand his trial on four charges. His extradition was ordered upon these charges, all coming under the heading of fraud, and he cannot be proceeded against upon any other charges. If he should be acquitted upon all of these it would be necessary to give him a reasonable opportunity to leave the country. It is not likely, however, that the police will again have to go on the hunt for the former bank president. Should he escape upon the charges of fraud preferred he would in all probability be satisfied to stay and face any fresh charges that might be produced.

The specific charges are that he "did make, sign, approve and concur in false returns made by the Farmers' Bank to the Minister of Finance on or about Dec. 31, 1906; Jan. 31, 1907, and Feb. 28, 1907, these returns containing, according to the charges, "false and deceptive statements."

The fourth charge is that on May 10, 1907, he "made, signed, approved and concurred in" a false statement specially called for by the Finance Minister of the Dominion of Canada. Will Be Given Bail. Mr. Hartley Dewar, Nesbitt's counsel, was out of town when his client was brought back, but a hot-up message was sent to him and he will appear in the police court this morning. It is likely that the doctor will be given his liberty this morning upon substantial bail, which he will have no difficulty in securing. His counsel will probably ask for a remand and the jury trial that will be asked for will hardly come before the next assizes. It is understood that the crown will not rush the prisoner by trying to bring him before a jury in the present assizes.

FEDERATION OF BROTHERHOOD LAUNCHED IN DOMINION

Canadian Association Formed at Inaugural Convention Held at Toronto.

Toronto, May 12.—With every omen of a career that shall be both unusually active and constructive, a new agency emerged out of the womb of events on Saturday. It was the birth of the Brotherhood Federation of Canada. An organization of men, its catholicity of thought and aims, its wide scope of activity, its diversity of elements that it brought together under a common banner, federated under one name are such societies as the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and Philip, the Methodist Young Men's Association, the Baptist Young Men's Association, the Congregational Brotherhood, the British Welcome League, and kindred organizations. The aims and objects of the new body are: To win the men of Canada for Christ, to promote the development of men's Christian organizations, to foster worthy ideals of citizenship and to focalize public sentiment upon great moral issues.

The feature of the convention was a flying visit from a delegation of 126 members representing the National Brotherhood of Great Britain. Many distinguished men of the Old Land were in the number. They brought happy greetings from the parent brotherhood to the new-born federation. The opening meeting of the convention was devoted wholly to transacting the general business of the new organization, including the election of provisional officers who will look after the brotherhood interests until after the first general meeting in November. The constitution was also approved, but owing to a certain amount of dissension among the delegates it was passed subject to further approval. It will be dealt with fully at the next meeting.

USE THE BACILLI TO ROUT TYPHOID

The Pasteur Institute Discovers a New Feature in Vaccine.

Paris, May 12.—A medical discovery of last week was an anti-typhoid vaccine by Dr. Broughton, of the Pasteur Institute, which was described by Professor Metchnikoff before the Academy of Sciences. A new feature of the vaccine is the use of living bacilli. This is impregnated with certain special substances found in the serum of animals which have been highly immunized against typhoid. Two persons were vaccinated some months ago at their own request. The reaction which followed was almost nil. Forty-four persons have since been vaccinated successfully.

The first vaccination introduces five hundred millions of typhoid bacilli into the system. The second, which takes place eight or ten days afterwards, doubles or trebles the dose. Professor Metchnikoff says: "The method is entirely satisfactory as to results. It is simple and inoffensive and needs a minimum of time. It should be useful for troops taking part in manoeuvres, or asylums, which are often veritable typhoid centres."

SETS FIRE TO SELF AT BABY'S GRAVE

Dreadful Act of Mother Who Lost Reason Through Death of Child.

Tampa, Fla., May 12.—After kneeling in prayer at the grave of her baby son, recently buried, Mrs. Marie Morterello, wife of a prominent manufacturer, poured wood alcohol over herself and set fire to her clothing. She was seen by a pillar of flame at the foot of the grave. When they reached her she had fallen and she died on the way to a hospital. Mrs. Morterello was the mother of seven girls before the boy came. When he died she lost her reason.

CHINESE AT LHASA WERE ROASTED ALIVE

Celestials Fire Monastery of Lamas and Fatal Rioting Follows.

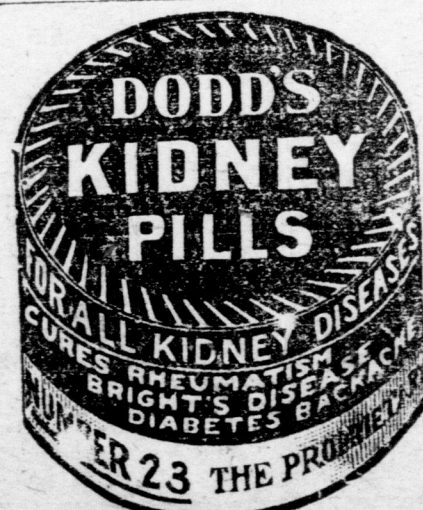

[Canadian Press.] Victoria, B. C., May 12.—News is brought here by the steamer Samuk of rioting against Chinese at Lhasa, the capital of Tibet, during which many Chinese were roasted alive after an attack on the Chinese quarters in which many on both sides were killed and wounded.

The affair followed a statement by a Tibetan lama that Chinese were destined for divine punishment. A fight ensued and the lama fled to the Sera monastery, which was fired. The Chinese quarters were then attacked by angry Tibetans and many were roasted alive.

CHILDREN SHOULD HONOR AND OBEY

Rev. Richard Whiting Tells of the Respect Due Parents.

Yesterday morning Rev. R. Whiting, of the First Methodist Church, gave a short address to the children, in which he advised them to honor and obey their parents. After the conclusion of the children's address he spoke to the older people present on "How People Get into the Kingdom of Heaven." "Beginning to do things is only the commencement of the Christian life, and it takes a long time to acquire the habit of doing things right," said Mr. Whiting. In the evening he spoke on the subject, "The Meek Shall Inherit the Earth."

CLOSER GUARD FOR COASTS

Powerful Fleet of Destroyers To Be In Continuous Service

AT ALL POINTS FACING GERMANY

New British Naval Scheme To Prevent Surprise Attack By Kaiser's Ships.

London, May 12.—Under a scheme of defence initiated by Mr. Winston Churchill, the first lord of the admiralty, the destroyers of the British fleet commenced, on May 1, a continuous patrol of the coasts of the United Kingdom. The northeast coast, menaced as it is by the powerful fleet of the German Empire, is necessarily most closely guarded, and there the most modern and powerful vessels of the mosquito fleet, supported by submarines, have been stationed.

Four Flotillas.

Heretofore the two battle squadrons of the home fleet have had attached to them a destroyer flotilla, with reserve flotillas at the naval bases at Davenport, Portsmouth and the Nile. The new scheme provides that no destroyers are to be permanently attached to the battle fleets. Instead, the whole available forces have been organized into eight flotillas, four being in full commission and four in reserve with nucleus crews. Of the four active flotillas, the first and second, composed of thirty-six of the best and most powerful vessels, will have their base at the new naval headquarters at Rosyth, on the east coast of Scotland, and facing directly across to Germany, besides guarding the exit to the Atlantic. The third flotilla will have its base at Harwich, another east coast station, and the fourth at Portsmouth, the English Channel, where it will be available for work on any coast. At each of the bases named there will be one reserve flotilla, while other destroyers will patrol other parts of the coast not covered by these.

No fewer than 165 destroyers are included in the new organization, besides eight fast cruisers, eight scouts and eight depot and repair ships. Of the number one-third are assigned to the North Sea. What with twenty-four submarines with base at Duxbury and Harwich, the coasts of England and Scotland are well guarded. Naval experts, in fact, estimate that the new scheme doubles the effective strength of the advance guard along the eastern seaboard.

All New Vessels. With the exception of the fifth flotilla all the North Sea destroyers are driven by turbines and their majorities should be well over thirty knots, and have a speed of 29 knots, and they will shortly be strengthened by the new 27-knot boats. All have either been designed or altered for work in the rough waters of the North Sea. The active flotillas are fitted with wireless telegraphy.

Reference is made in the foregoing to the "new 27-knot boats." Some of these, recently completed under the 1910-11 programme, easily attained in their trials a speed of over 30 knots. A number of the destroyers, building under the 1911-12 programme, will range in displacement from 920 to 1,200 tons and will have a speed of 33 knots.

A TORONTO PASTOR IN THE CENTENNIAL

Anniversary Services Were Held on Sunday in East London Church.

The services at Centennial Methodist Church on Sunday were of a special nature on account of the Sunday school anniversary. Rev. A. C. Crews, D. D., of Toronto, conducted the morning and evening services, and also addressed a platform meeting in the afternoon. Special music was given by the church choir, assisted by the children of the school, who were all grouped on the platform. The subject for the children's meeting was "The Bible as a Lamp to Our Feet." The Bible served as the basis of the services on different occasions, as a street lamp, beacon light, a light for business and shop work, and as a light for the home.

The evening service was for the young people, and Dr. Crews chose as his text, Proverbs, xxii, 1: "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." A good name is of more value in business life than money, although nearly everyone would like to have more money than what they have. While all cannot attain the wealth that they desire, the attainment of a good name is possible for all.

COLONEL ASTOR'S WILL

Expected That Provisions Will Be Carried Out Without Contest.

[Canadian Press.] New York, May 12.—Preparations for the probating of the will of Col. John Jacob Astor on Friday next are being quietly conducted, and it was said today that the distribution of the estate will be accomplished without interruption.

Although many contingencies are being discussed in an unofficial way, it is understood that the beneficiaries are desirous of carrying out every provision mentioned by Col. Astor. There is no reason to believe that Mrs. Madeleine T. Force Astor contemplates any contest of the will. Wm. H. Force, father of Mrs. Madeleine Astor, made today the first public statement he has made since the filing of Col. Astor's will, which provides for his daughter $100,000 cash, a life estate on the Col. Astor's Fifth Avenue house, and $5,000,000 to be forfeited by her remarriage. He is quoted as saying: "The only thing I know about a contest is what I see in the newspapers."

No petitions for guardianship papers for the three chief beneficiaries, all infants in the eyes of the law, have been presented to the surrogate court.

MEXICAN INSURGENT ARMY BEATEN AND IS IN RETREAT

Fierce Battle Ends In Rebels' Defeat, Leaving Ten Cannon and Large Amount of Ammunition—Federals Confident of Wiping Out Enemy.

At the Federal Front, Comjcs, Mexico, May 12.—Burning bridges behind them, the Mexican rebels today continued their retreat northward before the federal army of General Huerta, victorious in the last three days' fighting. Five bridges, spanning wide arroyos, were destroyed by the insurgents, causing delay to Government troop trains. No fighting was expected today, as both sides were occupied with their dead and wounded from yesterday's engagement.

The rebels are believed to have lost six hundred in killed and wounded.

At the Federal Front, Canojcs, Mex., May 12.—Twelve hours of brisk fighting on the desert plains 300 miles south of the American border, between a force of 5,000 rebels under General Orozco, and an equally strong body of Federals under General Huerta, resulted today in a decided advantage to the Government.

The rebels abandoned ten cannon and much ammunition in their retreat. General Telles, who had been stationed in the rear of Huerta's vanguard at noon, was sent around to the eastward to flank the rebels and cut off their retreat. Tonight Federal headquarters claim the rebels are completely surrounded and that the second day of fighting will prove equally decisive. Should the advantage gained today be followed by equal success tomorrow, the Federal leaders are confident it will mean the annihilation of the insurgent arm. General Tuerta considers it probable, however, that the rebels will make their last stand at Escalon, their central base, fourteen miles to the north where they have built fortifications and trenches in the last fortnight.

ODDFELLOWS HELD A CHURCH PARADE

93rd Anniversary of the Order Was Fittingly Celebrated in London.

REV. MR. HAZEN'S SERMON

To Fill the Ministry of a True Friend and Brother is Mission of the Oddfellows.

In celebration of the 93rd anniversary of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, the members of the local lodges and lodges from Dorchester, St. Thomas and the surrounding district, held a church parade to Centennial Methodist Church Sunday afternoon. The turnout was a good one, about 500 members taking part in the march. Starting at the corner of Dundas and Clarence streets, and led by the Hussars' Band, Cantons London No. 1, and Victoria No. 5, Patriarchs Militant, numbering 50 men, the lodges marched out Dundas street to the church.

The Church Service. Rev. G. N. Hazen, pastor of Centennial Church, occupied the pulpit. He preached a sermon on friendship, using the story of David and Jonathan as his text. He welcomed the lodges to the church and hoped that the service would be mutually profitable.

In dealing with friendship, Mr. Hazen stated that the main characteristics of true fellowship were constancy, self-sacrifice and service. Man finds his highest joys in fellowship. Men need each other, and are drawn together because of their dependency upon each other.

"To fulfil the ministries of a true friend and brother is the principle of Oddfellowship," said Mr. Hazen. "The O. O. F. inquires into the character of the men who enter. When an Oddfellow is not living up to the principles of true friendship, he is not living up to the principles of Oddfellowship. The greatest thing that can be said about the Oddfellows or any other such organization, is that it lives in the name of Jesus Christ, to serve humanity and relieve distress. I hope you will go out from this anniversary to exemplify a supreme beauty of friendship, love and truth."

During the service special music was rendered by the choir.

In Charge of Parade. The Oddfellows formed up at the conclusion of the service and marched down town again. Those in charge of the parade were Major Tanner, Staff Capt. Priestley, Captain Logan and Lieut. Goodburne. The marshal of the parade was Bro. T. W. McFarland.

The last message says: "Three p.m. (probably Saturday).—Picked up one body, member of crew. No marks to identify. Buried at sea with suitable services."

It appears that the Montmagny is working under great difficulties of fog, but that she is keeping at the search day and night, one of the bodies having apparently been picked up at 10 o'clock at night.

ESSON STARTS FOR IONA REFORMATORY

Young Petroler Man Will Be Deported on Completing His Term.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, May 12.—George Esson, the Petroler young man, recently found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the killing of Thomas Major at Port Huron, left today to begin his term in the Michigan State Reformatory at Ionia. Esson will shortly be given a hearing before the immigration authorities, and the necessary steps will be taken to insure his immediate deportation to Canada at the expiration of his sentence.

Sheriff William Wagenseil, of Port Huron, was in Sarnia yesterday investigating a clue which may shed more light on the death of Major, in connection with whose death Esson was sentenced. Another man is believed to have been implicated, and circumstances, which it is alleged, may connect a young man living near Sarnia with the crime. The sheriff stated that his investigation had not progressed sufficiently to warrant an arrest.

Ledyard, chairman of the board of directors, to become effective in a few days, according to an announcement made today, following a vacation to recuperate his health. It is said by close friends of L'Hommiedieu that he will be a great asset to President Brown, of the New York Central Lines.

MAY FLOP TO BRYAN

Bets Made That Nebraskan Will Secure Democratic Nomination.

Pittsburg, May 12.—Bets have been placed here to the effect that William J. Bryan will be the final nominee of the Democratic convention at Baltimore. Guy McCandless, of the Bryan League of Allegheny County, is reckoning 100 Nebraskans, who will go to Baltimore and carry banners in a parade, bearing the inscription, "Bryan Only."

While it is known that the 70 delegates to the Baltimore convention are pledged to Wilson as long as his name is before the convention, it is claimed that many of these are for Bryan, and if the opportunity presents itself they will flop to the Nebraskan.

URGES LOCAL OFFICE FOR OXFORD COUNTY

Speakers in Ingersoll Churches Made Strong Pleas Against Drink Traffic.

(Special to the Advertiser.) Ingersoll, May 12.—Although weather was not favorable, rain falling incessantly, the special services held in local churches yesterday under the auspices of the Dominion Alliance were well attended.

Strong, impressive addresses were delivered, and much important work done towards arousing public sentiment for the local option campaign here later on.

The outside speakers yesterday were Rev. E. Cockburn, pastor of the Methodist Church, and Mr. Duggan, a Presbyterian minister of the Paris presbytery, having been stationed at the town of Ingersoll.

In the morning Mr. Cockburn occupied the pulpit at the Methodist Church, and gave a most impressive address, in the course of which he called attention to the distress and suffering caused throughout the world by the liquor traffic, and of the progress that has been made by temperance workers.

His message was well received, and was evidenced by the few repeat votes. In the afternoon Mr. Duggan, of the Baptist Church, and Mr. Duggan, of the Methodist Church, after the church services a large attendance at the meeting was held in the town hall.

At the evening of the Playgrounds' and Child's Welfare Association will be held Wednesday afternoon to complete arrangements for the course of lectures to be given by Dr. Curtis during the week commencing May 20th.

Dr. Curtis will give three addresses every day that he is in London, and it is expected that much more interest will be taken in his visit to the city than there has been before.

A Sudden Death. Mr. Minnie Brown, of lot 74, West of Talbot road, Westminster, who was 55 years of age, died yesterday at Woodland Cemetery, the funeral which was held from her late residence, being very largely attended.

The services were conducted by Rev. J. J. Garbutt and Rev. Mr. Fisher, of Lambeth. Messrs. William Duncan, Arthur Dale, and William Player were the pallbearers.

Buried in Mount Pleasant. Mr. George Bawden, the well-known contractor, who died on Friday at his residence, was buried yesterday at Woodland Cemetery, the funeral being held from the undertaking parlors of Ferguson & Sons, Rev. C. R. Gunne, of Christ Church, officiated at the services, while six offidellers acted as pallbearers.

An English Visitor. Mr. Frank Speagh, of London, England, known throughout the English-speaking world as an interpreter of Dickens' works in this city, the guest of his cousin, Mrs. R. Grant-Harris, of Alma street, Mr. Speagh, who is well known to Londoners through his recitals, has been in the United States, where he addressed large audiences in every city.

He is now in the city, where he is a hearty welcome wherever he speaks on the works of the English master.

Conductor Explains. The conductor, Dundas car 75, who conducted the carload of passengers, refused a transfer to a little girl at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, on Saturday at noon, gives as his reason for so doing that he had not collected a fare for the child. The little one boarded his car in West London, he claims, and tendered a 5-cent piece for two half-fares. His supply of tickets was exhausted, and for that reason he carried her for nothing to the transfer point, telling her to pay her fare on the other car. When she reached the main corner, she refused to pay, and the conductor, who was not a party to the situation, and thought she should have been given a transfer.

Lat. Mrs. Kilborn. The remains of Mrs. Jennie Kilborn, who died in Victoria, British Columbia, were forwarded to her home in London, Ontario, on Saturday afternoon by G. E. Logan to her home in Thorold, where they were buried at that place.

LAKE ERIE COAL CO. A GOOD CUSTOMER

City Is Loath To Do Anything To Give Offense to Company.

The position of the Lake Erie Coal Company in respect to the London and Port Stanley Railway is a growing source of interest among the merchants and the action of this company will largely determine where the lease of the road will go.

At the present time they are the largest customers of the city's line. Last year there were approximately 500,000 tons of freight brought from Port Stanley to London and other points by their ships. This is about 90 per cent of the total freight, and shows the importance of this customer to the successful operation of that line.

Smaller freight is carried, but the Lake Erie Coal Company furnishes practically all the freight handled. When the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway first leased the London and Port Stanley, there was very little freight, but it has since increased along the line. The late Hon. Israel Tarte was then minister of public works in the Dominion cabinet, and at the request of the Lake Erie Coal Company, he secured for it a special position for improving the dockage and harbor at Port Stanley. The case of the company was laid before him by Mr. W. R. Bismarck, a well-known company. The latter agreed to build a slipdock, put on a line of boats, and run coal to London, provided the Government would fix the harbor up. Mr. Tarte indicated the Government intended to do this, and the Government delivered the goods, and the Government improved the harbor.

Since that time the business has been developing. What to do with the road's best customer is the problem worrying the Government, and it is giving them an anxious hour.

It will be settled in a few days. It will be considered soon. There is some disposition to give the lease to them, but some of the older men want to electify the railway and give the other line a chance to run over it. However, the problem is giving them something to think about.

Elevator at Port.

Ald. Spittal is in favor of establishing an elevator at Port Stanley, and a movement is expected along that line in the near future. "An elevator is a necessity for the Port," said the chairman of the manufacturers' committee. "I understand that an effort was made some time ago to secure one, but some difficulties arose over the site. However, we should be able to overcome that trouble in some way. Anything that will help the Port and bring freight to our roads should be encouraged by us. Godrich is securing a new elevator, and we should endeavor to secure one for the Port."

AUTOMOBILE CAVED IN

HEAD OF BASE DRUM

Ran Into Band While the Odd-fellows Were Parading on Sunday Afternoon.

An automobile, reported by Randmaster Roscoe Pocock, to be No. 7861, bumped into the rear of the First Hussars Band on Dundas street east yesterday afternoon, and sorting out a big bass drum, caved its head in. The incident was reported to the police.

During the afternoon the band escorted a party of Oddfellows in procession to the Centennial Methodist Church, and while returning, the accident occurred. The band was spread out from curb to curb, and with the spectators, who were content with watching the procession from the sidewalk, swarmed down onto the pavement, made a passage along the street pretty nearly impossible.

The driver of the car endeavored to get through, and in the crowd bumped the drum. The music was thereafter provided with difficulty, the wielder of the bass being compelled to hammer the opposite side of the drum.

POST-MORTEM SHOWS

THAT CHILD LIVED

Attempt to Drop the Body of an Infant Into the River Proved a Failure.

INQUEST WAS OPENED

But So Far There Is No Real Clue to the Guilty Party.

The jury empanelled by Coroner Dr. MacLaren to investigate the death of the new-born male infant, found on one of the abutments near the Dundas street bridge, wrapped in a silk scarf, and inclosed in a shoe-box, viewed the body at the underlying parlors of Smith, Sen & Clarke, on Saturday evening, and adjourned to hear the evidence at the police station on Tuesday evening, May 28.

A post-mortem examination was conducted by Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, and at its conclusion Coroner MacLaren ordered the burial of the corpse. While Dr. Stevenson, as is the custom, refused to make known the result of his examination, it is said that there is evidence that the child had lived for a time after its birth.

The detectives are working on the case, but as yet have discovered no clue that would assist in revealing the guilty party or parties. The intention of those disposing of the body was undoubtedly to drop it into the water, but the box, which was probably thrown over the railing of the bridge on Friday night, alighted on the cement foundation of one of the centre abutments. On Saturday morning four small boys playing about the boathouse at the foot of Dundas street, discovered the box, and, rowing out, brought it back to the shore.

Clues Are Scarce.

The corpse was wrapped in a silk scarf and placed in a box bearing the label of the Boston shoe. The box was then covered with brown paper, and tied neatly with ribbon. Nothing else that might lead the police to any conclusion could be discovered.

A similar case baffled the county police only a few weeks ago, when a party of small boys, wandering about in the fields near the London and Lake Erie Railway power-house in Chelsea, found the corpse of a female infant wrapped up in a newspaper. Coroner Ferguson then conducted an inquest, a very strong general verdict having been brought in, in which the jury expressed its belief that this form of crime could not be punished.

"MOTHERS' DAY"

OBSERVED SUNDAY

Beautiful White Flowers Were Worn in Profusion in Church and On Street.

A MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Touching Tributes Paid to the Mothers in the Churches of London—Some of the Sermons.

"Mothers' Day" was becomingly observed throughout the city on Sunday the white flower being seen in profusion in church and on the street. There was a flower in every man's button hole, a silent tribute to his best friend, in the churches, special sermons were preached, dealing with the influence of mother. In spite of the very uncertain weather, the edifices were crowded.

In the Talbot Street Baptist Church, Rev. H. Bingham preached at the evening service on "A Mother's Ministry." The sermon was most impressive. He spoke of a mother's influence in all ages, molding the characters of her children, and leading them in the ways of truth and righteousness. Her sacrifice and tender love had made many a man great, and had made all men better. Mr. Bingham told of his own conversion, and the influence his mother had exerted upon his life and ministry.

The great and good influence of mothers in the world was part comprehension, and was akin to God's great love for humanity. Next to the Christ's influence on humanity, the love of mother was the greatest influence for good in the world.

The Great Teachers.

Rev. H. A. Graham, of the Wellington Street Methodist Church, spoke in the morning on Mothers' Day, taking his text, "Forasmuch as the law of the mother." Mothers are the great teachers of the land. It was a great thing for Canada that Canadian mothers are wise and prudent. Mothers are the great instructors in conduct, prudence and morals, the molders of men's characters. Mothers are the great religious teachers in the world today, as they have been in the past. History is full of the names of great men who confessed that all they ever did was due to the influence of their mothers, men like Ruskin, Abraham Lincoln, John Quincy Adams, the Wesleys, and countless others. Wise mothers make happy homes, and while their influence predominates for good, so long will a nation prosper and be happy.

Preserve the Home.

In his morning sermon in New St. James' Presbyterian Church, Oxford street, on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Mitchell referred to Mothers' Day. His text was, "He that believeth shall not make haste." He dwelt with the haste so characteristic of modern times, and the disintegration of the home. Home was tending more and more to become a dormitory rather than the greatest prop of modern civilization. When the home decays, nations die, and when the mothers' influence is not for good, men become sinful, and wander away from God and truth. Men are obsessed with the idea that possession and investments are the great things of the world, when God and home and happiness were the things that men should seek and follow after.

A Mother's Reward.

"A Mother's Reward" was the subject of the morning sermon on Sunday preached by Rev. W. L. Stevens, of the Egerton Street Baptist Church. He dealt with the influence of the mother in the home, and declared that it was to her love for her children that made the world as tolerable a place to live in as it was today.

"Mother's Love" was the theme of the sermon delivered by Rev. W. R. McIntosh in King Street Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning.

The mother was the guide of the home, and the guide of the destiny of man. To her was given largely the care of the youth of the land, and it was her influence that kept men close to God. She was the guide to eternal life, and the guide of the mothers were not living in the fear of God was in the gravest danger.

A Great Influence.

Rev. F. C. Harper, of Chalmers Presbyterian Church, took as his subject at the evening service, "The Blessed Truth of the Virgin Mother." He spoke of the great influence exercised by mothers from the time of Christ to the present time. Happy was the man, he declared, who had a Christian mother.

At the Christian Church on Sunday morning, Rev. B. H. Hayden spoke on Mothers' Day, paying a tribute to the Christian mothers of the land, whose influence was leading so many men to Christ.
