Mr. Hyman's Picnic Broke All Records

Over Twenty Thousand Londoners Were Guests

Queen's Park the Scene of the Greatest Political Outing in the History of Ontario --- Mr. Hyman the Man of the Hour===His Reception of the Old=Time Kind.

The spirit of '87 broke loose on Saturday. It spread over London from early in the morning, until, by 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the city proper was practically depopulated, and Queen's Park boasted of a crowd which put the record-breakers of the Western Fair's palmy days in the shade. The occasion was the Liberal picnic.

The spirit of '87 is the spirit which took hold of the Liberal party when first Mr. Hyman sought parliamentary honors in London and which finally resulted in his election as member for the city, with later the greater honor of a cabinet portfolio for London.

Consequently, when Hyman gave a picnic, and told his supporters that he wanted them to be on hand and enjoy themselves with him, the men who hadrather than have missed the big event.

And on Saturday they turned out with their wives, and children, and friends, to the number of somewhere between 20,600 and 25,000. The of good management could handle the thousands upon thousands who

It was half-past 4 before the first sign of a let-up in the arrivals was noticed. And then again at 5 o'clock the crowds again began to pour into the grounds. These latter were the people who had found it impossible to get away from business in the afternoon, but who were determined to celebrate with Hyman sooner or later.

For three weeks the Liberals of London had prepared for the outing. "It's mine," Mr. Hyman told his followers. "The picnic is and must be nine. But I want you to run it for me. I will give you all the help I can. Give the people such a picnic as they never had before. for the citizens of London.'

The result of the preparations was manifest to all Saturday. The tremendous crowd. which threw into utter insignificance all previous picnics, handled without a slip. Every detail had been attended

Mr. Hyman, assuredly, in the words and thoughts of the people, was the

With such a mighty crowd it might have been expected that there would have been some sort of disturbance, and at least a few untoward incidents, but to the credit of themselves the day passed off without so much as an argument, much less a row; without a man the worse of liquor making his appearance, and without any ill-feeling whatever manifesting itself.

From all points of the compass the picnic, the greatest Ontario has ever known-perhaps the greatest Canada has ever known-was a credit to Hyman, a credit to the Liberal executive, a credit to the citizens, and a credit to Canadian Liberalism.

The atmosphere was surcharged with the old-time spirit of Hymanisn:. The Liberals were not pienicking to triumph over their defeated opponents. They were simply out to spend the day with the man in whom they have always had the utmost confidence, a man whom they now believe has shown by his rapid advancement in the councils of the nation that the confidence they peposed in him was justified. All the pent-up enthusiasm of the years in which he has been a busy man at Ottawa, making a name for himself, for the party he represents, and for the city which elects him, found vent in the goodwill of the people on Saturday.

Many of the opposite political faith-and there were many of them on the grounds-realizing in a manly spirit that the battle was now over, and that Mr. Hyman is a citizen of London and a credit to the city, joined in the festivities of the day, and accorded the new cabinet minister a reception which they did not feel justified in extending to him a few No one could deny Hyman Saturday. Free in his manner itself, he went among the people who were his people, and the radiance of the entire picnic seemed centered around his stalwart person. And amongst men he was the idol of more than a score of thousands of persons present, and to one and all he was Charlie Hyman. It was shortly after 2 o'clock when he made his appearance before the stands, on his way into the ring. The cabinet minister was attired in a simple suit of flannels, and looked anything but pretentious, as, cane in hand, he strode along. Suddenly someone caught sight of him and the cry went up, "There's Hy- | fact that they were his guests, and as man!" The effect on the 15,000 people in one man in the crush at the door of the the stands was electrical. Dread of Another Rising Is Clash Feared With Fishermen Being Felt by All Europeans.

Simla, India, July 9.—Dread of another mutiny is being felt by all Europeans here. India is in a very serious state, and the authorities are making heroic endeavors to prevent the unrest and the mutinous spirit, which, in spite of all their efforts, is spreading like an infection from province to province.

The cause of this condition is the war between Russia and Japan for the supremacy of the yellow race, which has come as a revelation to the natives. That an Asiatic race has defied and even conquered a European race has made them think. The spirit of dissatisfaction and trouble in the air now is far more acute than it was two years before the acute than it was two years before the

What makes the situation more dangerous is the ability of the "Baboos" to spread the tidings of revolt to every end of the Indian Empire with rapidity and ease. The problem of how news traveled to the utmost ends of India in the days of the mutiny has only been partly solved. Since then Lord Ripon has dignified Indian native opinion, and the "Baboo" can make himself as easily heard as his master.

The potential possibilities of the situation has been brought directly to the attention of the King, and it is known that he has had a number of consultations with prominent Anglo-Indians now What makes the situation more dan that he has had a number of consulta-tions with prominent Anglo-Indians now in England on leave.

It is a fact that in Central India hun-dreds of Afghans are loafing and skulk-ing, alone or in couples. This is consid-ered to be an ominous sign, for the Afghans do not wander so far south with any peaceful purpose in mind. If a holy war were to be preached, the Mohammedans would be as much the object of native fury nowadays as the Christians.

The situation has an ugly look, and there is a prayer on everyone's lips that the cloud will not entail a storm.

LONDON, MONDAY, JULY 10.

The Picnic.

The picnic is not an integral feature of the party system, but perhaps some them. It was more frequent in former times when the people in the rural districts were not so easily assembled and were inclined to make the most of their occasional gatherings. Political speeches, like sermons, were longer in those days, and folks came provisioned portunity to serve the cause of peace into a steam roller. against a half-day's siege of oratory. by advancing the proposition that the They allow those beastly things to go nations should call a half in their naval much too fast" Saturday's helped to draw the sting out of the late election. The city of London is sometimes accused of nursing too much party bitterness, but Saturday's affair was an answer proclaimed a public holiday. to all such charges.

It was feared the arrangements would break down at some point owing to the else was. extraordinary proportions which the picnic assumed. The hundreds who volunteered their services and worked like heroes had their reward in the entire success of their efforts. To serve refreshments to such a multitude was a feat never before attempted in this part of the country, or perhaps in any part. In handling this greatest of all picnics, the Liberals of London displayed the skill in organization which has served them so well in many a hard-fought contest. They have the thanks of twenty thousand people. The dimensions of the picnic may be regarded as a personal tribute to its central figure. Canadian Fast Atlantic Service

Sir William Mulock's prediction that all the postal matter passing between Europe between Europe and North America will take the Canadian route before many years, is not so fanciful as some of our neighbors across the line pretend to think. The Canadian route has geography on its side. An interesting experiment is under way. The turbine steamer Virginia, which left Liverpool on Thursday last, is expected off Sydney C. B., tomorrow. Waiting for her there will be the Government cruiser Canada, and as both are equipped with wireless apparatus, no difficulty should be experienced in arranging a meeting, as proposed, 40 miles out to sea, for the transference of the mails, and the Canada will proceed at full speed to Sydney, where a special Intercolonial train will be in waiting to convey the mails to Montreal.

From Liverpool to Sydney via Cape Race, the distance is 2,150 miles, compared with 2,460 miles to Rimouski via the Belle Isle route. From Sydney to Montreal the rail distance is 989 miles; from Rimouski to Montreal 343 miles, and a conserva-baitin' hooks an' stringin' fish that I tive estimate figures a saving of ain't havin' a bit of fun." eight hours by the new route. It is calculated that by this means that the British mail will reach Montreal 24 hours ahead of mail by the New York

The shortest practicable sea route is ports, which will reduce the time of the ocean voyage below that of the fastest New York lines. This would attract a great stream of travel from the United States. The business interests of the United States would demand the speediest mail service, and the postal subsidy would go to the Canadian lines. It will be some years, however, before there can be an improvement on existing conditions. The prise. turbines Virginian and Victorian are as thing." fast as steamers can be economically run on the Canadian route at present. A 20 or 22 knot service could be established at this time only by enormously increased Government subsidies.

Kustenji, Roumania, July 9. - Admiral Kruger this afternoon boarded an took possession of the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine, King Charles of Roumania having sent instructions to the commander of the Roumania squadron that the vessel be delivered to the Russian authorities without raising difficulties. The torpedo-boat which accompanied the Kniaz Potemkine, however, left for Odessa without surrendering, declaring that she had not mutinied, but that the Kniaz Potemkine had forced her to follow. Admiral Kruger arrived with his squadron this morning, and, after exchanging the customary salutes, intimated that he had come to arrange for the transfer of the Kniaz Potemkine.

Admiral Koslinsky, commander o the Roumanian squadron, boarded the Russian battleship Tchesme and in-formed Admiral Kruger that King Charles had ordered him to turn the vessel over to the Russian admiral The formalities of the transfer were completed this afternoon and Admiral Kruger boarded the Kniaz Potemkine.
The Associated Press representative inspected the Kniaz Potemkine after the withdrawal of the Roumanian guard. Despite the efforts of the Roumanians to get things in ship shape, officers' cabins were stripped of everything of any value and bloodstains were everywhere. There was sufficient ammunition board the Kniaz Potemkine to have enabled the mutineers to make a desperate resistance. It is said that during the last few days the vessel was navigated by two engineers and an officer with revolvers at their heads. All of the sailors wished to surrender the exception of Matuschenko the leader of the mutiny, who resisted for some time and wanted to blow up Seven officers were prisoners aboard the Kniaz Potemkine. They were in a pitiable condition from ill-treatment. It is in the oven construction that the greatest difference is found between the Imperial Oxford and any other range on the market. The diffusive oven flue draws the cold air from the floor, super-heats it, and distributes it throughout the oven, keeping it at an even temperature in all parts. This flue also makes it easy to regulate the heat of the oven and secures a marked saving in fuel. > Thousands of Citizens Witness the Impressive Spectacle— Last Sad Rites.

A large and most impressive military funeral was accorded the late Private Harry M. Wood yesterday afternoon. Thousands of citizens lined the streets, he solemnity of the occasion impressing all. The slow, measured tread of he soldiers, and the solemn music, all contributed to the imposing and memprable spectacle. After the accident by which the late H. M. Wood lost his life, the remains were taken to Smith, Sons & Clarke's undertaking parlors on Dundas street. The dead soldier was dressed in his uniform, and his helmet and side arms were on the coffin, which was covered by the Union Jack.

The soldiers formed up at the undertaking parlor, and the firing party (13 men, under Sergt. Good), with arms reversed, began the march to the Armories. Then followed the gun carriage bearing the remains, with the pallbear. ers, Corp. Campbell, Corp. Gilbert, Pte. Keating, Pte. Treusch, Pte. Love and Pte. Camp. marching beside it. The proceedings were opened by Sir H. Montagu Allan, the president, taking e chair, and requesting Mr. C. N. Reid, secretary of the bank, to act as secretary son and John Morrison. THE ANNUAL REPORT.

THE ANNUAL REPORT.

The president submitted the following report of the directors:
The directors beg to present to the shareholders the annual statement of the bank's business as at 31st May last.

It will be observed that the earnings have fallen somewhat short of the previous year. This has been due in large part to the generally lower rates of interest prevailing at New York and other loaning centers.

The directors have nevertheless been able, through recoveries realized in some of the securities formerly written down, to add $200,000 to the Reserve Fund, in addition to writing $50,000 off banking premises and making the usual contribution to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the credit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, carrying for ward a balance to the retirement of the Officers' Pension Fund, the profit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, the profit of Profit and to the Officers' Pension Fund, the profit of Profit and the profit of Profit and the profit of Profit and the profit of Profi

While the full dinner pail race was not one of the issues of the campaign, it was one of the events Saturday. It was exceedingly diverting. Each contestant, a mechanic, over 40 years of age, he was given a pail full of good things. He was to run 25 yards, take off his coat and hat, eat his lunch, and finish 25 yards further on. There were many competitors. Among them was a big colored man. He ran half-way, sat down, looked into his pail, jumped up, and ran to the finishing line. He was disqualified, because h had not eaten his lunch. But he did not care, as he had won a dinner pail, and the last seen of him he was enjoying a laugh. It was a huge joke to him. W. Bennett was first, Alex. An derson second, and W. H. Robinson

The married ladies' race was run in two sections. The winners of the first section were: 1 Mrs. Middleton, 2 Mrs. Teale, 3 Mrs. Glade, 4 Mrs. Bonsor, 5 Mrs. Beaumont, 6 Mrs. Tapping. The second section winners were: 1 Mrs. Dean, 2 Mrs. Wood, 3 Mrs. Young, 4 Mrs. Lochead, 5 Mrs. Beswarwick,

Mrs. Price received a special prize from Hon, Mr. Hyman, Young ladies' race, over 15 years-Pearl Bugg, Helen McNab, Rena Pole,

Anna McGregor. Girls under 15 years, first section-Grace Fleming, Beatrice Mowat, Mar-Dicker, Edna Pope, Myrtle Craig, Ver-

Hyman threw off his hat and coat, a mighty cheer arose from the stand. They were sent off to a good start. The Minister of Public Works took a good lead, but was caught a few yards from the tape, and the second somewhat higher. They wance in force, and tions of a general end it was only by a good run that the youngsters could reach the apex. It was a common occurrence for the youngsters to fail to reach the latter, the ground the result being that they would slide to the ground. This would necessitate another attempt. But a boy's troubles caught a few yards from the tape, and beaten out by Mr. E. Conner, who is beaten out by Mr. E. Conner, who is very fast for one of his size. Fred first summit. STOCK MARKETS. H. C. Becher, stock broker, next Free Press building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, July 10.-Noon.-An regular opening was succeeded by a continuation of the selling in evidence at the close last week. While part of the pressure undoubtedly represented October 7 92 efforts of traders to depress the market, the bulk of the selling was liquidation of long stocks, chiefly U. P., Reading and a few of the industrials. attempt was made to create a little bullish enthusiasm over A. C. P., but the movement failed to attract an important following. Toward the noon hour the market strengthened somewhat, this fact being particularly noticeable in the steel stocks. However, at the moment, the market is much duller than for some time past, and the course of prices this afternoon in our opinion will depend largely upon

Two ordinary games of ball were played at Tecumseh Park on Saturday before a rather small crowd. McClarys won from Perrins, and the Londons beat the Rockets out. The Perrins traveled in hard luck, out-hitting the foundrymen decisivebut they put up a most lurid game in the field. Bennett pitched well, and with decent support would have won easily, but a handicap of nine errors was too much for him.

McClarys made a hit in every inning. The Perrins got busy in the second inning, With one gone, Bennett gave the ball a rap to left for two stations, and scored when Patrick knocked a single to right. They had a chance to win the game in the third, but bad base-running caused them to lose. Clark singled, stole-second, and was thrown out when he tried to purioin third. After Perkins struck out, two singles followed. Bennett went out on an infield hit. Phillips was bumped hard from that on, but good fielding kept McClarys on the safe side. The candymen woke up in the ninth, when Taylor singled with two gone; Ball missed Jeffries' grounder and scored when Bennett made his second double of the unn had a chance to win, but a fly to Ecclestone ended it all. The Rockets got their bumps in the second game, Bert Sheere, who was supposed to be a candidate for Oslerization, was in the box for the Londons, whose patchwork team gave cause for very little enthusiasm, and he certainly was there with the big curye. He won out against a big handicap, his support being somewhat weird. The Rockets simply could not land right when hits meant runs. The Rockets drew first blood in the second, when they scored three runs on two hits and a regular carnival of errors. Rev. Jas. Livingstone's Sermon Moves the Brethren to Applaud.

Wellington Street Methodist Church Mr. William Reid, a steamfitter, of 309 from the fright, her yesterday afternoon, where their annual sermon was preached by the Rev. James Livingstone. The church was friends. The address of the reverend gentleman seemed to stir the blood of the loyal Orangemen present, for they punctuated his address several times with hearty applause.

Mr. Livingstone took his text from Cor. xvi., 13: "Quit you like men, be strong." Paul, he said, had a high ideal of manliness. He loved the highest type of manhood. We make a mistake in making manhood departmental whereas it required the summing up of all the elements before we could stand up before the world and say "This is a man." God's method of raising manhood was not by bringing men up to God, but by coming into man. Men are not raised by supernat-ural means, but by natural. Christ became human and worked out the problem in its human form. When man fell, his loss was not a garden, but manhood. He fell out of manhood. God's method was taking us at our weakest point, and raising us up to the full stature of manhood in Christ Jesus. The heights were beyond, al-

The ceremony of laying a cornerstone of a new temple of God cornerstone of a new temple of God was most appropriate, as so much peace and happiness would ensue. The people of the east end of Stratford deserved great credit for providing a place of worship. The building of a house of God would add glory and honor to God and peace to mankind, and to the glory of the triumphant Jesus over the powers of darkness. Every new church was a larkness. Every new church was a pledge of the bond Taye between God and man, and the reconciliation of man and God. The reverend father traced the history of paces of worship of God from the tabernacle of Moses in the wilderness to the time, three hundred years after the birth of Christ, when Pagan Rome gave up her splendid temples to the Christian Church, after centuries of persecution of Christians. He callled to mind that the cornerstone was laid on the twenty-third anniversary of the ordination to the priesthood of Bishop McEvay, who had helped to build so many churches, and concluded by wishing the congregation of St. Joseph's peace and prosperity.

The right reverend the bishop then added a faw weeks the states of the staber.

DON'T BECOME A CHURCH WANDERER

Rev. Alfred Brown's Inaugural Sermon in Askin Street

A large congregation greeted Rev. Alfred Brown, the new pastor of Askin Street Methodist Church, who vesterday morning. Mr. Brown's sub- goals in the last quarter. The line-up ject was, "Go Not, from Church to was: Church," and he proved himself an great object of all moral reform was earnest, effective preacher. He was listened to with the closest attention. The morning text was Luke x., 7: 'Go Not from House to House." The words were those of Jesus, who was now about to send forth his disciples. Hitherto in one company, they must now break up. But as they went forth, the Lord warned them against the restless spirit. They were to be pilgrims, but not vagrants. The preacher said these words applied to the membership Cornwall on Saturday afternoon of the church today, substituting the word house for church.

We were living in a restless age. Many were literally going from house to house in the matter of residence. The rich spent their days in city homes, in summer resorts and in ravel; one-half of their time, it was computed, was spent in hotels. In England the everage tenancy of a house was three years. In America it was Cornerstone of Roman Catholic much less. The same was true in the social life. Society demanded of its votaries that they keep on the move, sipping tea, leaving cards, often to the neglect of domesticity and solid friendship. The same thing was found in the industrial world. "I do-not speak in priestly authority," said the preacher, "but in love for souls." may well be proud. It is situated close to the junction of Wells and Dourg around a church home. The idea of home was closely associated with the Church of God. The Christian without a church home was a sort of religious gypsy. He was like the man who eats in restaurants and sleeps in lodging houses. It was all very well to talk about belonging to the church invisible, but no man belonged in the truest and highest sense to the church invisible without belonging to the church visible. Go not from church to church in the spirit of faultfinding. "If these persons should find a perfect church, would they be fit for it? Would not from church to church in the desire for novelty, for entertainment, for special preachers. There were those who seemed to think that the business of the church was to entertain, yet the church should be more attractive than the theater or the social party. Go not from church to church in neglect of Christian worship. that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God." Could you imagine a pillar that moves about? To say you can be just as useful and good a Christian cutside the church was to say you way was better, than the Master's.

LACTOSSE. CHIPPEWAS OUTCLASSED. Brantford, Ont., July 8.-The Chippewas were completely outclassed here today by Brantford in the senior C.L.A. match, the score being 7 to 0 in favor of the home team. Excepting the last quarter, the game was a listless exhibition, mostly by loose and amateur playing. The game was rough at times, and in all ten men were ruled off for tripping and slashing, which was done preached his inaugural sermon there on both sides. Brantford scored four Detroit, Mich., July 8.-For the first time during the Highland Park meeting Ohiyesa, A. Brown & Co.'s The Commoner filly, was today given the benefit of a good ride, and under it showed what she could do, by annexing the Detroit stake, worth $1,200 to fair at 5 furlongs and attracted half a dozen of the best 2-year-olds at the track. Ohiyesa and Little Mike, Brown pair, were made favorite at 6 to 5, and they justified the price by running one, two, a length and a half apart, in 1:01. Ohiyesa caught Cocksure and Father Catchem above the eighth pole, after they had raced themselves out making pace, and passed them in the final sixteenth. Little Mike closed fast in the stretch and got the lace in the final strides. BASEBALL.
