Looking unto Jesus. O silent Lamb! for me thou hast endured; Jesus, thou holy, perfect sinless One! Thy grief and bitter anguish have secured My soul's salvation, when this race is run Then let me, to thine image true, Thus meekly suffer with the crown in view

The narrow way that leads us up to beaven, Must bere through strife and tribulation lie Then in the thorny path may strength be given, This sinful flesh, O Lord, to crucify,

O take this feebleness away, And make me strong to meet each future

Here daily crosses come to try our weakness. But O, my Saviour, if I take with meekness The cross appointed by thy love and care, Too great, too long, it will not be, For it is weighed and measured out by

If thus we journey patiently through sadness Each grief will make us dearer to our Lord But if we fiee the cross in search of gladness, We cannot shun his dread, avenging sword O blessed they who hear the call. Who take the cross, and follow, bearing

So help me, Lord, thy holy will to suffer, And still a learner at thy feet to be; Give faith and patience when the way is

And at the end a joyful victory, Thus grief itself is changed to song, Oft-times on earth, but evermore ere long. -Bogatzky.

Religious Freedom in France. The Times' Paris Correspondent, writing on the 6th, says :- The Debats of to-day contains a letter addressed to it by a member of the Protestant consistory of Lille, with respect to the recent arres at Maubuerge. One of the objects of the letter is to correct some inaccuracies in the account given of the affair by a Belgian journal, by the Debais. It appears that for nearly a year past Protestant worship has been celebrated at Maubeuge. It was opened officially, legally, and publicly, and with the requisite authorisation of the municipal authorities. Divine service has been peaceably and regularly performed according to the usages of the Reformed Church of France. A passage of the letter warrants The Persecution at Fernando Po the inference that the mere existence of this quiet and decorous worship gave offence to certain parties, who are not named or indi-DEAR SIRS.—By the last mail from the cated. The Sower to his Seed. Sink, little seed, in the earth's black mould, Sink in your graves, so wet and so coldre must you lie; Earth I throw over you, Darkness must cover you, Light comes not nigh.

What grief you'd tell, if words you could say What grief make known for loss of the day! Sadly you'd speak: " Lie here, must I ever ? Will the sunlight never My dark grave seek ?"

Have faith, little seed. Soon, yet again, Thou'lt rise from the grave where thou art lain Thou'lt be so fair, With thy green shades so light And thy flowers so bright Waving in air.

So must we sink in the earth's black mould-Sink in the grave, so wet and so cold; There must we stay, Till at last we shall see Time turn to eternity. Darkness to day. _London Journal.

ORIGINALLY SYSTEMATIZED AND PRACTICED BY JOHN S. RAREY,

THE PRACTICE OF HORSE-TAMING. The one principle which you must establish firmly in your mind, and which is so essential in horse-taming that it is almost the corner-stone of the theory, is the law of kindness. Next to kindness, you must have perseverance. With these qualities in us, The horse receives instruction in, and by the use of, four of his senses—namely, seeing, head is pulled toward his shoulder it is inpossible for him to get up. VEGETABLE OINTMENT. In its is the principle upon which horse-taming is founded.

Choking a horse is the first process in taming, and is but the beginning of his education. By its operation a horse becomes docile, and will thereafter receive any instruction which he can be made to understand. Teaching the animal to lie down at our bidding, tends to keep him permanently cured, as it is a perpetual reminder of his subdued condition.

The operations of teaching a horse to the first process in the left hand, so as to keep the beard of the interest while if the snow be melted it becomes drinkable water. Nevertheless, although, if melted before entering the mouth, it assuages thirst like ciber water, when melted in the mouth it has the opposite effect. To render this paradox the more striking, we have only to remember that ice, which melts more slow-ly in the mouth, is very efficient in allaying thirst.—Blackwood.

The operations of teaching a horse to minder of his subdued condition.

The operations of teaching a horse to striking a horse to should be added to the mouth of time it has been before the public is conclusive, throughout the Union, are unanimous in the remedies that may be prescribed by a regular physical states during the solices. Nevertheless, although, if the snow be melted it becomes drinkable water. Nevertheless, although, if the snow be melted it becomes drinkable water. Nevertheless, although, if melted before entering the mouth, it assuages thirst the remedies that may be prescribed by argular physical stream on the fittels, and in the snow the greater is its demand it was the opposite effect. To render this paradox the more striking, we have only to the strike shough, if the snow be melted it becomes drinkable water. Nevertheless, although, if the snow be melted it becomes drinkable water.

The following remedies are offered to the public

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. Ayen's Cathartic Pills have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor, — health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anyonish. He has been drenched inside and blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these Pills, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these Pills to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his bace and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking discase, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. gone. Give her these PILLs to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLs in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body.

away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLs in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sideache, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausca, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLs rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, Aven's Cherry Pectoral has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSTMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing capy; his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless golds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchits, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

An Invaluable Remedy For Horses and Cattle

FROM the peculiar nature of the GARGLL G OIL, and the unparalleled success it has met with, in the hands of those who have the care of Horses, it is but justice to say, that of the great number of medicines which have been offered none have been so well adapted to the promp cure of many discases to which thorees are inble. I has been very justly called "a complete Panacka for the horse" has been very justify called "a complete random forbore"

A faithful trial of this remedy will satisfy any person that the many cures it proposes to perton, is not to be magnified or misrepress invalible, as there will be lound areas broad the reach of any remedy.

The Old English CONDITION POWDER. The Condition Powder has been found very valuable as a spring and fall medicine. At three scaons, the horse undergoes great changes, he changes his cont and ts preparing for a new state of things. Nature oftentimes requires a little assistance, and in such cases the Condition Powder will be found most invaluable.

Langley's Antibilious Aperient Pills.

THE great popularity acquired by these Pilis during the I welve years they have been offered for sale in this Province is a convincing proof of their value, as no undue means of increasing their sale have been resorted to, by puffing advertisements-no certificates published respect puffing advertisements—no certificates published respecting them.

These Fills are confidently recommended for Billous Complaints, or morbid action of the Liver, Dyspepsia, t.osa tweness, Headache, want of Appetite, Giddiness, and the numerous symptoms indicative of denangement of ta digestive organs. Also as a general Faintly Aperiant. They contain no Calomet nor any mineral preparation, are effectual, yet so gentle in their operation, that they may be taken at any time, with perfect safety, by persons of both sexes, and do they, as do many Pilis, necessitate the constant use of Purgative medicine, the ingasdicuts of which they are composed effectually obviating the common difficulty.
