

ATTACKED FIRST AND THEN

SERVIA, ENMESHED IN WAR, MAKES HASTY PREPARATIONS

EXECUTION OF MISS CAVELL ROUSES AMERICAN PRESS

With Serbia now enmeshed in the great war every preparation is being made to withstand the horrors attending this entire conflict. Recruits are being sworn in every direction and the sturdy soldier boys in the trenches are fighting desperately to delay the enemy's advance.

At Bulgaria... The Bulgarian Government declared war only after having succeeded in occupying by surprise the following along the frontier: Egnaevatz, Kriva Palanka, Goleche, Orlovci, Kamen, Rosovici, Detchini, Gladenzat, Tarni, Vrhivna, Gniva, Devoair and Bogadaritza.

On the 15th of October the Bulgarians powerfully assaulted our positions east and southeast of Zaechar. Three attacks were repulsed. Severe fighting took place southeast of Egnaevatz and in the direction of the passage of St. Nicholas. Attacks on the left bank of the Nishava, near Grolman, Boulic and Vlassinia, on a section of the customs house of Gremen, and in the direction of Egri Palanka, near Tchoupinou Brdo, and on the station of Strumitza all were repulsed.

KING GEORGE V TO HIS PEOPLE

London, Oct. 23.—King George has issued an appeal to his subjects to come forward voluntarily and aid Great Britain in her fight against the German allies. The message follows: "To my people: At this grave moment in the struggle, between my people and a highly organized enemy, who has transgressed the laws of nations and changed the ordinance that binds civilized Europe together, I appeal to you.

THE ITALIAN OFFENSIVE IS GENERAL

Official Report States It Extends Along the Whole Front to the Sea. Rome, Oct. 22, via Paris, Oct. 23.—The following official statement, received from main headquarters of the Italian army under date of October 22 was given out here to-night by the Italian War Office: "Our offensive, happily begun along the Tyrol-Trentino frontier in developing and extending along the whole front to the sea, in the Giudicaria valley, where the capture of Monte Meino secured for us a large amount of war material, we have occupied Monte Sei Pini, and Hamlet T'iano in Feri-ore. In Val Lagar in Anathemy supported by batteries on Monte Bianca, attempted on the evening of the 20th a counter attack on our new positions on Monte Cressano. He was repulsed and pursued with heavy losses a 'volcano' which extends toward Schenberbach, taking enemy trenches and making some prisoners.

Hurried Presentation to Lieut. Wallace

Mayor Spence and Two or Three Others Gathered in Chief Slein's Office and Remembered Departing Officer so Hurriedly Cailed to Duty.

This morning Lieut. William J. Wallace, son of Sergt. Wallace, left for Niagara Camp to join the 58th battalion which is shortly proceeding to the front. Lieut. Wallace received his appointment only on Tuesday, and it was not known until late yesterday just when he should leave. As a result when the call came, his departure was hurried and little time was allowed for formalities.

GREECE MUST BE IMPRESSED BY SUCCESS

Not Likely to Enter the War When She Feels Allies May Not Win. London, Eng., Oct. 23.—The status of political affairs in the Balkans is almost equal in interest to the military situation. The belief is growing here that neither Greece nor Roumania is likely to enter the war; at least unless the Entente allies gain some decisive success. Greece apparently regards this as more important than the offer of the Island of Cyprus, and it is feared in Athens that the allied troops have come too late into the Balkan field.

HINDENBURG'S DRIVE TOWARDS RIGA CHECKED

Vienna Admits That Austrian Troops Have Retired in Galicia. Berlin, Oct. 23.—(By wireless to Sayville)—The German federal government decided to-day to assume control of the price and supply of victuals throughout Germany. Up to the present time the state provincial authorities had been considered competent to handle the food situation. The German government now considers it necessary, the Overseas News Agency says, to equalize the price of the various sections of the empire as to the distribution and the price of victuals which are abundant but under different conditions in the various states and provinces of Germany.

ITALIAN FLEET AIDS THE ALLIES

BRINDISI, Italy, Oct. 23.—via Paris, 2.40 p.m.—The Italian squadron is taking part in the blockade and bombardment by the entente allied warships off the Bulgarian coast in the Aegean Sea, according to a wireless received here to-day.

Well Known Cricket Player, W. Grace, Dead

London, Oct. 3.—Dr. William G. Grace, the famous cricketer, is dead. He was 67 years old. Dr. Grace played on English cricket teams against Australian cricketers for many years continuously. He also wrote on this sport, among his publications being "Cricketing Reminiscences and Personal Recollections."

Budapest Military Experts Hold That Constantinople Will be Reached in Six Weeks, and Then Britain Will Sue for Peace.

Budapest, via London, Oct. 23.—The military experts on the newspapers here estimate that not more than six weeks will be required to establish communications with the Turkish army. The Pesti-Napolo, however, says: "The German Emperor will spend Christmas in Constantinople at the head of his victorious troops." The editorials in the newspapers dwell on the importance of the Balkan campaign as a means of establishing a basis for an early peace. The Pesti-Hirla says in this connection: "AIMED AT ENGLAND The stroke through the Balkans will bring peace nearer, for it is a stroke aimed directly at England, which heretofore has stood safe and isolated, boasting of her ability to continue the war three years or more. England lately has been the only obstacle in the way of an early peace. As soon as her world power is threatened she will manifest a willingness to consider the question of peace."

More Than All the Counts in the Bryce Report of Atrocities in Belgium it Will Weigh in the Scales of Judgement.

It is an act that mobilizes all that is real, enduring, noble in a race. The results will be found in all the days hereafter, until the great day when Europe at last frees herself from a tyranny which is both brutal and stupid and in its stupidity has sealed its doom. The Herald sees a direct snub to the United States in the way the case was handled. SNUBBING AMERICA. "There might as well have been no American legation in Brussels," says The Herald. "It will be noted that the German Government subsequently sent a despatch to the Spanish Government stating that the carrying out of the death sentence in the case of two French women for whom the Spanish minister was pleading jointly with the American legation had been deferred. There is no record that it sent any communication to anyone connected with the United States. Count Revettow has given the explanation. Judging from the general tone of the German press this country is to be judged as a friend or foe of Germany entirely by its dealings with Great Britain. It is to be expected that resentment will be shown in other ways, even perhaps to the extent of reviving the 'friends of peace' and the German American alliance on American soil." That the press of the United States is unanimous in condemning the German rulers of Belgium for their killing of Edith Cavell is shown by the following editorials: BOSTON VIEW. The Boston Transcript:—It was an atrocious exhibition of the barbarism of the German military law and of the savagery of the German military character. The handling of the case and the treatment of the pleas of the American and Spanish ministers for clemency in Miss Cavell's case show the utmost contempt not only for these gentlemen and their governments, but for the humane sentiment of the civilized world. The deed explains, as Louvain and the Lusitania had explained before it, why America condemns and hates German militarism. In the light of the full and clear statement of Minister Whitlock and Secretary Gibson this shocking affair brings forward into the light not only a brutal piece of woman killing, but a positive affront to the United States in the person of a diplomatic representative, Mr. Whitlock, whose disinterested service for humanity has been as the shadow of a great rock in her horror, and dreads nothing so much as the success of her arms. The executioners of Edith Cavell but carried out the spirit and purpose of the imperial military police. They did their part in the working of the brutal monstrous crime. It is because of this spirit of these purposes, of such deeds as that at Brussels that Germany has lost her standing among civilized nations devoted to the ideals of humanity and of progress; it is because of these things that the praying goes up in all the peaceful countries of the earth that her enemies may triumph, to the end that such a ruthless rule may not be established in power upon earth."

UNBELIEVABLE STUPIDITY

"The Tribune says: 'Americans will feel a deeper sympathy for Miss Cavell because an American minister's own words certify to the enormity of German inhumanity. For us there is a plain case, testified to by one of our own countrymen. The facts lie clear, the facts, be it said, not of illegality, but of inhumanity, surpassing brutality, unbelievable stupidity. HER COURAGE AN INSPIRATION. "Looking at the courage, the heroism of a British woman, is it possible to believe that British men will fail where their women have succeeded gloriously? Something there is of en- during grandeur in this woman's sacri-

The rooms were fragrant with vases and bowls of chrysanthemums, pink and white, in every conceivable corner, while in the dining room the polished table centered with an artistically arranged centre piece of Killarney roses and smilax, was presided over by Mrs. Christopher Cook and Mrs. Thos. Large, while Miss Nan Powell, Miss Mildred Cook and Miss Dorothy Wilkes assisted at the table on Wednesday, while on Thursday Mrs. Lloyd Harris and Mrs. Geo. Matthews poured tea and coffee, assisted by Miss Lottie Large, Miss Mae Wilson, Mrs. T. H. Whitehead and Miss Lillian Wisner.

Chicago police will take moving pictures of crooks so as to be sure of future identification.

THE FIRST SUBSCRIPTION TO THE BRITISH RED CROSS.

He was a very little boy and he tramped all the way from Eagle Lake to the headquarters of the British Red Cross on Cayuga street.

The lists had not been opened but the caretaker was at the rooms making ready for the campaign. The little lad held tight in his hand four coppers.

"I want to help the British Red Cross," he said.

There were no officials there to take the money, but the caretaker accepted the offering of these four pennies, and thus was started the Brantford campaign of thousands of dollars for our wounded soldiers and sailors.

Four coppers! But no cheque running up into the hundreds showed greater love or greater sacrifice.

Women's Institute

The regular monthly meeting of Terrace Hill and Grand View Women's Institute was held on the 20th. In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. A. McWebb, presided.

Mrs. (Dr.) Addison of St. George gave a very interesting paper on "Housekeeping fifty years ago," dealing particularly with the home furnishings, customs and employment, making a comparison with that of to-day.

She believed there was a strong desire to get back to the more simple life, where plainer food, plainer clothes and more sociability made a stronger and happier people. At the close of the paper, comments were made by Mrs. A. McWebb, Mrs. A. Kenny, Mrs. A. Scruton, Mrs. J. McKay and many others were able to look back, if not in their own life, to the time of their fathers.

When special mention was made of grandfather's clock, the president believed we could have that good old song, and immediately struck the air on the piano, when nearly all present joined heartily in singing two verses and the chorus. A splendid musical program consisting of piano solos by Miss Lake, city, and Mrs. J. Laing, vocal solo, Mrs. Davis, city, "If you love them tell them so," duet, The Holy City, by Misses Norwood and Rose, city, was much enjoyed, as was shown in the hearty applause.

COCKSHUTT PLOW DEFEATED VERITY'S

The Cockshutt Plow Bowling team demonstrated their ability in the City Bowling League last night on the Y. M. C. A. alleys by taking two out of the three games.

The games were all won by small margins and some good scores were registered. Murray McGraw carried off the honors for the evening with a nice score of 532 for three games and a single of 201. Frank Kingdon for a Verity PLOW was high with a 509 count. The following are the results.

REMARKS
The Cockshutt Plow team shattered the Kolts' record by 2 pins.

Frank Kingdon is getting into his old time form again. He lost out a few pins by violating the foul line rule.

Harry Fleming of the Kolts wins the high triple prize for the week with a count of 538.

Murray McGraw gets the night single with 201.

"Punch" Woolman claims that the Cockshutt's won by getting more pins than their rivals.

Elgy Beatty is over due for a respectable score, he has not shown a ray of his last year's form yet.

On Monday night the Kolts and the Keystones will clash, both managers claim a victory already.

The foul line judge is a busy man. It was remarked last night by one of the Kolts, that he would make a good judge for a "foul" show.

A glass of beer drunk by a man at Galthead, Durham, is surely the dearest on record. Including the money paid at the time of ordering it cost him over $70. It was ordered by the man for a friend, and as it contained a quantity of the incident had a sequel at the police court. The fines imposed by the court on all concerned amounted to the sum mentioned.

work officers, possessed with courage that will make splendid leaders.

SENIORS.
On Thursday evening a meeting of the seniors was held, which was addressed by Mr. Woodard, who made a definite offer to the Boy Knights. This was keenly debated from every standpoint. As a result on motion of H. Easterbrook and A. Reynolds, it was accepted.

The following motions were passed: One of thanks to the executive committee for their kind efforts and help to our organization and its hearty appreciation of the band.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Woodard, the election of A. Reynolds as Band Secretary and H. Easterbrooke as treasurer.

CHANGE OF NAME.
The decision of the military authorities at Ottawa to change the name after application had been made by committee for such purpose, came as welcome news and the Boy Knights who feel that under the name of "Brantford Boy Knights" there can be no misunderstanding, and their sphere of usefulness will be greatly enlarged.

"Boy Knight" work upbuilds youth, mentally, morally, physically, instills a spirit of obedience, discipline, patriotism, veneration and love of principle, preserves a spirit of liberty, independence, keeps the old flag flying in the breeze and trains the boy to be a decided asset to his city and country.

Old World Notes

The new Lord Mayor of London, Sir Charles Cheers Wakefield, will take oath of office on November 9. He is the third native of Lancashire in succession to be Lord Mayor and he will be succeeded next year by another Lancastrian in the person of Sir William Dunn. With rare exceptions the post is never held but one year, and there has been no exception for thirty years. Sir Charles is a self-made man, has built up a large business in lubricants and is known to have considerable wealth. Indeed, that is almost a necessary adjunct, for although the salary of Lord Mayor is $50,000 a year, it is possible in the Mansion House calls for an outlay said to be much larger than that.

The heavy outlay budget is causing many old English families to part with masterpieces of art which have long been heirlooms. Louis Kallston, the New York art dealer, has been in England taking advantage of the circumstance which has forced many rare paintings on the market, and has brought many valuable masterpieces to America. He says that the demand for the work of master painters is as great as ever in America and that in his belief the operation of the new budget will make possible the purchase of many rare paintings which hitherto have been held from the market.

A pretty story is told in the summary of a week's work issued by the British Red Cross Society. A juvenile case, offered to give the child $5 a week for life if by a given date 10,000 of their cigarette pictures were handed in. Five thousand were still needed, and time was going on, when the pit store of the hospital took the matter up. Many soldiers gave prized collections, with the result that the 5,000 pictures were obtained from the patients themselves in two or three days.

Gen. O'Callaghan and Capt. E. C. Baker were injured by an explosion the other day. The officers were in Mount Pleasant Parcels Post Office, London, examining some parcels. General Sir Desmond O'Callaghan had a distinguished career in the Army. He was created a K.C.V.O. in 1908, and was formerly Colonel-Commandant of the Royal Artillery.

A ghastly tragedy of the sea was revealed in the trial in the Humber of the Dutch herring lugger Nordzee. The Nordzee sailed from Katwyk with a crew of thirteen hands, and was picked up derelict with ten men on board all dead, which it is understood had killed their shipmates and tossed the bodies into the sea because the men were possessed of evil spirits.

It appears that the crew had a quantity of drink on board, and that through over-indulgence in the raw spirits familiar to seamen as "chain-linking" the crew, which it is understood was a mixed one, became delirious. Their delirium assumed a religious form. Seized with the idea that the ship was full of devils, apparently the crew then embarked upon a devil hunt. When the majority of the crew turned upon the three men who were not of their belief, they said that the devils had entered them and they attacked the luckless trio with knives, hatchets, and staves. The victims ultimately took refuge in the life boat, when the ship was full of devils, apparently the crew now means of sailing the vessel north of navigating her, the men seem to have allowed her to drift. Thus she was sighted by the Norwegian steamer

The Lord Roberts Memorial has just been opened in London for the training of disabled soldiers in some useful trade. There are about two hundred men in the place and all seem very cheerful and willing to learn. What they like most is that there is no charity about it. They can feel that they are making things which are wanted and will be paid for at the ordinary commercial rate. The organizers have found that the disabled soldier much prefers being given a definite job, and put on his mettle to do it well and quickly. He wants to be on an ordinary business footing. The place looks exactly like a normal workshop, and it is difficult at first sight to believe that the men working so quickly and skillfully are all disabled. But the lad making a basket as if his life depended on it helped to drive the Germans back from the Marne and lost a leg in that victory; the man cutting wood with a power-driver saw lost his left arm on the Amethyst when she was within sight of the Narrows; and the giant making a cabinet was in the trenches round Ypres at the winter. It is hoped to establish a number of the memorial workshops in various parts of the country.

Mercantile marine officers may now obtain transfers to the Royal Navy. The Admiralty has recently issued a notification to the effect that officers of the mercantile marine who possess a Board of Trade certificate not lower than that of first mate, and who are between twenty-one and twenty-three years of age may volunteer for temporary service as sub-lieutenants in the Royal Naval Reserve.

The economy at present being practised in England is having a hard effect on the taxpayer in the Midlands, who finds himself in serious difficulties through the falling off in the demand for guinea-pigs and white mice, in which he specializes. His adult customers are mostly in the army, while the parents of many white mice, and put on his mettle to do it well and quickly. He wants to be on an ordinary business footing. The place looks exactly like a normal workshop, and it is difficult at first sight to believe that the men working so quickly and skillfully are all disabled. Boy's Banquet at the Y.M.C.A.

The Ham and Weener banquet at the Y. M. C. A. last night was a reward for the membership campaign. All new members and all bringing in a member were invited to attend, about 110 being present. The membership had been divided into two teams, "The Hard Boiled," they can't be beat, and the "Nutmegs," they were "grater." The latter won with a total of 5,255, while the hardboiled obtained 4,950. Every boy bringing in 500 points was awarded the boys' department honor emblem. The following is a list of the individual winners: Douglas Hutton 840; Harry Standing, 810; George Verity 755; Nelles Silverthorne 670; Lloyd Smith 620; Charlie Murray 515; Leslie Watt 510; Walter Benton 500; Benton Schultzy 500; E. Crumback 500. Mr. Fred Grobb, chairman of the boys' work committee, presided and spoke briefly on last year's work. Mr. G. L. Goodwin and Mr. J. V. Hutton also gave interesting anecdotes of last year's activities. Mr. Frank Wood, the new boys' work secretary, was formally introduced, and outlined the season's program, emphasizing the need and opportunities for the development of every phase of a boys' character. After the banquet the fellows had a social hour around the piano with popular songs and patriotic songs. The banquet was voted a splendid success and certainly intimates a year of progress and activity in the boys' department. About 35 fellows have promised to attend a big hike down the river this afternoon, leaving the boys' department at 2 p.m. This is the first of the season and a cordial invitation is extended to every boy 12 years of age and over.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant, and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandering hair cleanser." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most; will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug-gist or toilet counter, and just try it. Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.

GENERAL CHANGE IN TIME TABLE. (From the C.P.R. Press Bureau, Montreal). The tendency now, is on the great railway systems, to make the time tables as simple and as clear as possible, so that the public will see at a glance just what is desired in the way of information. The C.P.R., for instance, in addition to the changes noted in this column, have adopted a new departure on the front page of the time table—a departure which is the outcome of one of the many suggestions received by the company in response to the invitation issued some time ago from headquarters to the employees for fruitful suggestions as to improvements and betterments along the system. This is in the form of a new departure on the front page, pointing out when the general change in the time table takes place, so that the public will know to a minute just how the schedule stands. For instance, the notice reads: "General change in time table takes effect 12:01; 24:01; midnight on October 23rd."

This notice, meeting the eye on the present folders now in use, warns the public not to put faith in the latter beyond the date mentioned. This notice will appear on the front page of the folder which precedes that which is to take its place, and will prevent any confusion by announcing how long the present folder is valid and when it ceases to be operative. Thus, those who do much travelling will know precisely when the time table changes, and when such changes will be general. The idea should prove helpful. The Inward Effects of humors are worse than the outward. They endanger the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla eradicates all humors, cures all their inward and outward effects. It is the great alterative and tonic, whose merit has been everywhere established.

Saturday, October 23, 1915.

The Situation.

From the British standpoint, the present outstanding feature is a direct appeal from King George. He expresses sincere gratification with regard to the response thus far made, but brings home the fact that men, and still more men are needed from throughout the Empire. He points out that in days of old, the darkest moment has ever been the time of sternest resolve among the race, and that this is a dark hour with need for every possible effort no one will question who is seized of the facts.

The impression deepens that the King of Greece has some understanding with the Kaiser, and that this accounts for the failure of that country to join with the allies or to come to the help of her ally, Serbia. The people apparently do not want it this way, but unluckily they are governed by an absolute monarchy. Unfortunately her conduct is quite liable to react on Roumania.

The Serbs are still pluckily resisting, but their slaughter is great and it looks as if almost annihilation might be expected. British war vessels have bombarded the Bulgarian coast.

The Russians have apparently quite effectively checked the Germans in the Riga region and they are striking hard at the centre of the enemy.

The diabolical murder of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, has sent a renewed thrill of horror and repudiation throughout the civilized world. It is simply one more evidence, if such were needed, of what Prussianism means. The brave woman met her death fearlessly, with eyes unbandaged and holding in her hand a small white flag. Her martyrdom will still further intensify the determination to crush the devilish cause of which she is only one of countless victims.

The Red Cross Response. The sum of $500,000 is what Ontario was asked to give in connection with the above splendid object. Indications are that the response will be more than three times that.

The men and women: the boys and the girls have all had a part in this thing and the reply is one which serves to demonstrate that more and more we are all commencing to realize the Empire need. Such responses should not be characterized so much as "giving" as a proper acknowledgment of the many glorious privileges enjoyed under the Union Jack. Those of us who go about our business and our pleasures in the usual way, must, as Sir George Foster so eloquently said, at the Opera House, learn to sense and visualize the Empire danger and the absolute need for proper attention to those brave ones at the front who are fighting for our liberties and the liberty of future generations as much as their own. Help offered, and which will be more and more demanded, must go much farther than superficial giving. There must be a response which will involve actual personal denial, in no other way can we be able to go to the front, show that we know and realize the need and desire to have a share in the burden.

Locally the record bids fair to be worthy of the city and county. Residents of the latter have most emphatically done their part in connection with the existing appeal by private donations. Township Council grants and now the splendid sum of $5,000 from the County Council.

The city is still in the process of doing its share. The sum of $5,000 is to be considered by the City Council, and individual gifts are mounting up very handsomely.

Have you done your part? If not, your sleep should not be normal until it has been accomplished.

No Deadlock. By Special Wire to the Courier. Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—Answering a message of enquiry about a report that a deadlock in negotiations between the Canadian, Northern and Great Northern at Vancouver would delay the start of the C. N. R. transcontinental strike, the general manager, M. H. MacLeod, of the C. N. R. wired: "There is no truth in the report of a deadlock between the Canadian Northern and the Great Northern at Vancouver."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Speaking of the Red Cross fund, if you haven't, why haven't you?

No doubt there will be iron crosses of the first class for those who did to death Miss Cavell.

It is satisfying to note the unsparing denunciations in U. S. papers of the cold-blooded murder of Miss Cavell. More and more across the border they are commencing to realize the truth so tersely put by Hon. Mr. Graham: "If Germany wins, good-bye, United States."

It is grand news which tells of the fact that Bocha has been sustained in South Africa, and that in his individual contest he won out by 663. He and the Unionists were subjected to fierce and insidious opposition, with the violent stirring up of race feelings, and the victory is not only of local but also of Empire import.

The death of Dr. W. G. Grace will cause a feeling of genuine sorrow throughout the British world. This notable cricketer was something more than that, for he possessed a personality much beyond the ordinary. He was the first batsman of modern times to make two separate hundreds in a first-class match—at Canterbury away back in 1858. He completed his 100 centuries in first-class matches by scoring 288 for Gloucestershire against Somerset in 1895. During that season, while in his 48th year, he made nine centuries and had an aggregate of 2,346 runs, or an average of 51. During his career with the willow he compiled 126 centuries in first-class matches, and 213 centuries in all matches. In later life he had been a notable lawn bowler.

FRENCH OFFICIAL

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Paris, Oct. 23, 2:35 p.m.—Yesterday evening detachments of German troops endeavored to advance from their trenches near Bois-en-Hache and at Givenchy, but they were quickly dispersed according to official statement given out by the war office this afternoon.

The text of the communication follows: "Yesterday evening troops of the enemy endeavored to come out from their trenches in the southern part of Bois-en-Hache and near the fort at Givenchy, but they were immediately and easily dispersed.

"In the Champagne district also strong reconnoitering parties of the enemy supported by the firing of shells which irritate the eyes and produce suffocation endeavored to take our position in the vicinity of Platte de Tahure. These parties were everywhere repulsed and virtually destroyed by the fire of our infantry and machine guns.

"On the front in Lorraine French forces, after a stubborn and hand-to-hand conflict, occupied a trench held by the enemy at a point near the junction of the roads running between Leintrey and Condrexon and Amencourt and Reillon.

"The night passed in relative calm on the remainder of the front."

Germany's determination to win international and military law to suit her needs, cannot but feel a shudder at this latest development.

This should and may be the cause of mental awakening on the part of those who have hitherto remained obstinately secure in the face of a world of terrors. Civilization is breaking faster and faster. How far the sword and torch will sweep no man can prophesy, but this we know: the American nation as a nation has given to the German Empire an offense greater than that furnished by Belgium and has not as yet taken any steps to protect itself from retribution.

U. S. SHOULD ACT

The Philadelphia Public Ledger.—The administration has a duty in this matter which it should not overlook. Miss Cavell, as a British subject was under the protection of the American legation. The American minister made both an official and a personal request that her life be spared. This request was not only refused; it was treated with contempt. Mr. Gibson's report is scrupulously restrained in language, but his indignation may easily be read between the lines. The sentence of the court was carried out with a haste that emphasizes the inhumanity of the United States; the procedure from the beginning was marked by insolence to its representatives. To let the matter drop here would be a confession that this country can neither protect its citizens interests nor those of other nations whose interests it has undertaken to guard. Is the patience of even the president equal to this strain upon it?

Iron Cross to Ferdinand.

ONTARIO HAS GIVEN TREBLE AMOUNT ASKED

Wonderful Response in the Whole Province for British Red Cross Funds.

Poor Lost Little Ford Forlorn in a Big City

Unidentified Car Picked Up by the Police and Taken to the City Custodian.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—"One hundred thousand pounds, a portion of Ontario's subscription to British Red Cross and Order of St. John, will be cabled Saturday. To whom will this sum be remitted." This cable was despatched to Lord Lansdowne, president of the British Red Cross Society by Sir John S. Hendrie, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, last night following a meeting of the central committee which had charge of the great Trafalgar Day campaign and collection. Moreover, a statement was issued by Sir John Hendrie, as chairman of the committee, in which the assertion was made that "it would not be surprising if three times the amount asked for from the province, as a whole, was contributed. The province, as a whole, was asked to raise for the organizations which are caring for the sick and wounded soldiers and sailors of the Empire the sum of $500,000. Almost twice that amount is already at hand. Yet the grand total of Ontario's offerings to the cause is not complete and about 650 out of 830 municipalities of Ontario have not been heard from. Many of them have not made their final returns of Thursday's collections and many will not make their campaigns for funds until next week. A list of contributions received by Dr. A. H. Abbott, committee, he said in his report, came from places outside the city up till late yesterday accounted for $34,023 given to the fund. At the same time it was stated that about $142,500 more was in sight. The list given out yesterday covered some 182 municipalities, leaving about 650 still to be heard from. It was felt by Dr. Abbott and other members of the committee then that the province, including the City of Toronto, might be expected to raise in the neighborhood of $1,500,000 for the two British associations.

In his statement as chairman of the Ontario committee for Ontario, Sir John Hendrie, the Lieutenant-Governor, made known that the Provincial Government bore the expenses of the committee. He said that although there were many municipalities which had been invited to contribute, not furnished the collection of funds for the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John, most of the work was completed on Thursday.

"From information which is already in hand it may be confidently stated that the citizens of Ontario have answered the call of the Motherland in a truly remarkable way. The response has been general, which in itself is most gratifying, but beyond that it has been generous to an unprecedented degree. The central committee asked the citizens of the province to contribute $500,000. It is already known that more than double this amount has been contributed and the returns, which are coming in, are being compiled as rapidly as possible.

"The city of Toronto has, by means of a complete organization and owing to the enthusiastic response of its citizens, contributed considerably more than double the amount the central committee had any reason to expect, and approximately 150 other municipalities of the province which have already reported, have doubled the amount expected from the whole province outside of Toronto. No forecast of the total contribution of the province can yet be made, but from present indications it would not be surprising if three times the amount asked for from the province as a whole were contributed.

"Miss Cavell has not died in vain. The world now may read what has happened in Armenia to say," declared Miss Florence Guernsey, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs. "It is the most significant, the most poignant thing that has happened since the outbreak of the war."

Andrew Carnegie said he would not trust himself yet to say what he thought of the execution of Miss Cavell. Miss Olive Carpenter, a leader of the women's peace party, compared the fate of Miss Cavell to the treatment accorded Mrs. Herzog by the British authorities after her conviction as a spy. Mrs. Herbert was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

the success of the campaign, of the advertising firms which assisted and of the many patriotic citizens who gave their services freely. The women of the province he said, "have supported the appeal as unit and once again have demonstrated that in all humanitarian work the women of Ontario may be relied upon." In this connection he mentioned the inspectors, principals, teachers and scholars of the schools. "Never before," he asserted, "has the machinery of our school system been organized with such telling effect for any cause, and here in particular the committee would express its thanks to the Acting Minister of Education, Hon. G. H. Ferguson, for the strong circular letter which he addressed to every teacher in the provincial system."

The Boy Scouts of the province, he stated, "worked as only those can who have a great cause at heart and are organized to do their bit." Further, the Lieutenant-Governor acknowledged the value of the co-operation of the Canadian Red Cross Society with their committees in the several provinces. "The members of the Red Cross Society in Ontario," he asserted, "have worked in support of this appeal as heartily as they had been called by their own organization, and the response to the appeal in no small measure is due to the help given this committee by the leaders of the Canadian Red Cross Society and the St. John's Ambulance Association."

"In thus expressing my personal thanks and the thanks of the committee, he said in his report, I may also express my personal gratification at the wonderful response to this first appeal of the Motherland. It is indeed gratifying to have this fresh evidence of the patriotic spirit of the province to the great cause in which we are at this moment interested above all others."

EVEN HERMAN RIDDER SAYS "IT IS TERRIBLE"

A Woman Should Not be Executed, Says Editor of Staats Zeitung.

By Special Wire to the Courier. New York, Oct. 23.—Men and women prominent nationally were outspoken in their condemnation of Germany for the execution of Edith Cavell. Many expressed surprise at Germany's action, holding the deed to be consistent with the war policies of the Kaiser, says the Tribune. Others, especially the men, felt that humanity had been outraged.

"Shocking and atrocious," said Oscar Straus. "Germany has no appreciation of the public conscience."

"It is a terrible thing," said Herman Ridder, editor of the Staats-Zeitung. "It seems too awful that such things should have to happen. There should never be a necessity for the execution of a woman under any circumstances."

Yet Mr. Ridder like George Sylvester Viereck, editor of The Fatherland, tried to condone the offence by adding that had the case been taken before the Kaiser, Miss Cavell would "probably have been saved."

"There are times when German commanders may do things in the heat of passion which their own people will not support."

"Only the allied forces and such a navy as America has stands in the way of the same thing being done here as was done in Belgium by the Germans," said Maurice Leon, the international lawyer. "Miss Cavell has not died in vain. The world now may read what has happened in Armenia to say," declared Miss Florence Guernsey, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs. "It is the most significant, the most poignant thing that has happened since the outbreak of the war."

"SHE WAS BRAVE AND BRIGHT TO THE VERY LAST"

Pathetic and Simple Account of How Miss Cavell Met Her Death.

London, Oct. 23.—The British Foreign Office last evening made public the report of the Rev. H. S. T. Gahan, the British chaplain in Brussels, who visited Miss Edith Cavell just before her execution, and a letter from Brand Whitlock, the American Minister to Belgium, to Walter Hines Page, the American Ambassador in London. In his letter Mr. Whitlock says he requested that the body of Miss Cavell be delivered to the School of Nurses, of which she was the directress, his request being referred to the Ministry of War in Berlin.

NURSE PERFECTLY CALM.

The Rev. Mr. Gahan in his report says: "On Monday evening, October 11, I was admitted by a special passport from the German authorities to the prison of St. Gilles, where Miss Edith Cavell had been confined for ten weeks. The final sentence had been given early that afternoon.

"To my astonishment, I found my friend perfectly calm and resigned, but this could not lessen the tenderness and intensity of feeling on either part during that last interview of almost an hour.

"NO FEAR OR SHRINKING." "Her first words to me were upon a matter concerning herself personally, but the solemn statement which accompanied them was made expressly in the light of God and eternity. I found my friend perfectly calm and resigned, but this could not lessen the tenderness and intensity of feeling on either part during that last interview of almost an hour.

"We partook of the Holy Communion together, and she received the gospel message of consolation with all her heart. She gave me parting messages for relatives and friends. She spoke of her soul's needs at the moment, and she received the assurance of God's words as only a Christian could."

"WE SHALL MEET AGAIN." "Then I said good-bye," and she smiled and said, "We shall meet again."

"A German military chaplain was with her at the end, and afterwards gave her a Christian burial. He told me: "She was brave and bright to the last. She professed her Christian faith and said she was glad to die for her country. She died like a heroine."

GERMANS HOLD BODY. Mr. Whitlock in enclosing the letter he wrote to Baron von der Lancken, the German Governor, with the request that Miss Cavell's body be delivered to the School for Nurses, of which she was directress, says: "I have not received a written reply to my note to Baron Lancken on this subject, but he came to me yesterday afternoon and stated that the body had been interred near the prison in St. Gilles, where the execution took place, and that under the regulations governing such cases it was impossible to return the body without written permission from the Minister of War at Berlin."

"He added that he had no authority to ask for permission to exhume the body, but that immediately upon the return of the Governor-General he would request him to take the matter up."

"I shall hope to be able to tell you that the body has at least been able to accomplish this small service."

Edward C. Racey
Once of Brantford
Dead in Chicago

The following is taken from the Chicago Tribune of October 20, 1915: "Attendance by practically all the city officials able to leave their offices is expected to-morrow at the funeral of Edward C. Racey, member of the city civil service commission, who died yesterday following an operation.

His friends attribute his illness largely to his heavy labors last spring in arranging and managing the "prosperity parade" for Mayor Thompson, his closest friend. The mayor manifested deep regret at Mr. Racey's death, which came only a few hours before the mayor's return from the west.

Mr. Racey was born in Brantford, Ont., May 5, 1867, and came here with his brother, H. F. Racey, who died five years ago. They were brick contractors, but later E. C. Racey invested heavily in the cigar business.

INTERESTED IN ATHLETICS
He was always interested in athletics and in 1910-11 was president of the Illinois Athletic Club. He was one of the most active proponents of the original Federal league baseball team and served as treasurer in the first season.

Mr. Racey is survived by his widow and a sister, Mrs. R. W. Bennett, of Kalispell, Mont. He was a member of Exemplar lodge No. 956, A. F. & A. M., Fairview chapter No. 161, R. A. M., and Aryan Grotto No. 18, M. O. V. P. E. R.

He retained his old interest in the affairs of the First infantry, Illinois National guard with which he started for the front in the Spanish war, only to be taken with typhoid and sent back to Chicago.

OLD COMRADES TO BE AT THE FUNERAL.
Many of his old regimental comrades will attend the funeral service to-morrow at 2 p.m. at Boydston Brothers' chapel, 4227 Cottage Grove avenue.

The active pall bearers will be Capt. Hiram Keck, Capt. Charles L. Wagner, Capt. Harry I. Keator, Lt.-Col. George K. Harman, Musician J. O. Sitzer, and Capt. Philip R. Chippen, all from the First Illinois. Burial will be at Graceland.

Dumba Nearly Home.
By Special Wire to the Courier.
The Hague, via London, Oct. 23.—Dr. Dumba, former Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States, will leave here this morning for Vienna by way of Berlin.

Advance Guard of Battalion is Now in the City

An advance guard of thirty from the 84th Battalion, half of which will be quartered in the city for the winter, has arrived here to commence preparations for the accommodation of the main body.

Storm doors have been placed on the Drill Hall where the men will sleep and four large Buck furnaces are being installed.
The property on Dalhousie street where J. S. Hamilton and Co. used to be located is to have a thorough overhauling. Half of the downstairs quarters and the entire upper floors will provide ample quarters for the men to have their meals.
Four small Buck heaters and three double cooking ranges are being installed.

Bout Postponed.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—The ten round contest between Charlie White of Chicago and Matt Wells, the British lightweight scheduled for Monday night at Milwaukee, has been postponed until next Thursday. White is suffering from ptomaine poisoning, but his condition, it was said to-day, is not serious.

Cutting Down Meat.

London, Oct. 23.—The Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company says that according to advices from Berlin, the federal council has forbidden the sale on two days of each week of dishes consisting of meat.

Prince Leopold Banned.

Rome, via Paris, Oct. 23.—Prince Leopold, of Cobourg, a nephew of King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, was burned with acid and wounded with a revolver by a woman friend, the daughter of a Viennese police captain, according to a despatch from Vienna. It is stated that the woman committed suicide by shooting. The condition of the Prince is most grave and he is likely to lose his sight, it is said.

Revolt in China.

Manila, Oct. 23.—The Chinese province of Kwantung, Kwang-si and Hunan are on the verge of a revolution prepared by those who are opposed to the establishment of a monarchy, according to information received here from a private source, which is believed to be reliable. It is stated that many arms recently have been smuggled into Canton.

NEWS NOTES

For offering a New York magistrate's chauffeur cigars and money to release two women, three men were convicted of conspiracy.
It is alleged the vaudeville trust of United States barred the appearance of Harry Lauder at the Pilsmon Temple, Salt Lake City.
Dorothy Lynch, stenographer at the office of the National Guard, New York, was rescued from a pet rigger that got loose there.
While cleaning a boiler at the steel works at Bethlehem, Pa., Frank Nerrit and Frank Horwith were overcome by gas and cooked to death.
An abandoned cemetery in the centre of Baltimore has become infested with snakes of a harmless variety.
Sixty city nurse graduates are to be inducted into the sanitary police service of Cleveland.
The little son of William Pearson, of Harrisburg, Pa., underwent a successful operation after swallowing a pop-corn chip.
A disastrous disaster worry is held to be the cause of the fatal illness of Capt. Ina Mansfield, inspector of hulks at Chicago.

HIGH RUSS IS REAL

Amazing Story of How Personal Safety of Czars Was Shown to be Formant of Berlin

Details are leaking out of serious treason case lately in Russia.

Hitherto all that has been heard is the hanging for high treason of Lieut. Col. Missaiedoff, a number of his accomplices, sentencing to hard labor of Grothus and Von Freint.

The chief conspirator was Lieut. Col. Ivanoff Missaiedoff, a long period he had a high position in the gendarmerie, and as an important personage.

The Russian gendarmerie has a peculiar position. It corresponds some ways to the Scotland Yard as the "Petit Journal" puts it, endowed with enormous powers, and under a constant surveillance, usually no control. The officers of the gendarmerie are recruited from the best of the army.

Missaiedoff was a man of exceptional brilliance. He spoke French, and German as if his native languages. He knew body, and mixed in the high society, to which his elegant manner and talents recommended him. GUARDIAN OF CZAR'S PERSON.

Up to the outbreak of the war had been his special duty to over the personal safety of the Emperor. He then asked that he be appointed the General Military Headquarters, and that a constant surveillance was necessary for the protection of the Grand Duke Nicholas. This granted the request and transferred this high official, ordinarily a to his own person, to the Command-in-chief.

A dramatic story is told of a discovery of his treason. After fighting on the Yser certain medals were found on the body of a Bavarian officer. There were indications that the presence of the very heart of the Allied Command Staffs, as we have been informed, thanks to wonderful system information, or Our marvelous informant has greatly facilitated the attack. With him the war became more game.

These notes were sent to French Headquarters. General at that time was just setting out his visit to Russia. He was to acquaint the Grand Duke of his recovery.

"You tell me nothing that I do not know before," said the Russian Commander-in-chief, "I am aware that what we were being better but by whom? That is what we have to find out."

Thereupon a "fake" military was drawn up. Care was taken that it should be communicated to a small group of people who were already suspected. The expected happened. Germany at once took military action in consequence. The spies had fallen into the trap only remained to put the suspected in rigorous cross-examination.

BETRAYER HIS FRIEND? Lieut. Colonel Missaiedoff, who was for his own skin, and he volunteered to make certain revelations if the Grand Duke would spare his life. He was not a spy, but a man of high position in the Empire who were in a position to know. Russia is

HIGH RUSSIAN OFFICIAL IS REALLY GERMAN SPY

Amazing Story of How Man Who Watched Over Personal Safety of Czar, and Later Grand Duke Nicholas, Was Shown to Have Been For Ten Years an Informant of Berlin.

Details are leaking out of a very serious treason case lately disclosed in Russia. All that has been announced is the hanging for high treason of Col. Miassiedoff and a large number of his accomplices, and the names of hard labor of Baron Freinax and a conspirator was this Baron Freinax, Miassiedoff, for whom he had a high position in the Russian army, and as such was a person of considerable importance.

A dramatic story is told of the betrayal of his treason. At the beginning of the war, certain members were found on the body of a Russian officer. There were phrases which indicated the presence of a spy in the very heart of the Allied General Staff, as "we have been victorious in our wonderful system of information," or "Our marvelous instrument has greatly facilitated our work. With him the war becomes a mere game."

These notes were sent to the French Headquarters. General Paul was just setting out on his visit to Russia. He was told to acquaint the Grand Duke of his discovery. "You tell me nothing that I did not know before," said the Russian Commander-in-chief. "I am fully aware that we were being betrayed, but by whom? That is what we have to find out."

Thereupon a "fake" military order was drawn up. Care was taken that it should be communicated only to a small group of people who were already suspected. The expected result happened. Germany at once showed a knowledge of the order, and a military order in consequence, the spies had fallen into the trap. It only remained to put the suspects under rigorous cross-examination.

BETRAYED HIS FRIENDS. "Lieut.-Colonel Miassiedoff" was his own skin, and he volunteered to make certain revelations if only Grand Duke would spare his life. A promise was made, but under pressure he admitted his guilt and betrayed the name of his accomplices. Ten years he had been in the service of Germany! He had kept Berlin informed of everything that was happening in Russia, and there were in the Empire who were in such position to know. Russia had no

HAMILTON IS WORRYING OVER BALL SITUATION

Hamilton Paper Wants to Know What They Are Going to Do in 1916.

The following is from the Hamilton Herald: Ask any of the directors of the Hamilton Canadian league ball club what the prospects for next season are and you will receive the answer that they do not know.

Doesn't this sound strange? Here we are in the month of October, with the Canadian league meeting two months off and nothing doing in Hamilton! The club has no place to play, no manager and the authorities don't seem to be worrying much over such a predicament.

Following the close of the Canadian league season the ball club directors stated that they would not utilize Britannia park again so long as the rental was so high. A few weeks later the owners of the park property made sure that there would be no baseball there by announcing that the park would be cut up and disposed of in building lots before next season.

So there you are! What will the Hamilton representatives at the Canadian league meeting have to say when they are asked what is doing in this way? Judging by the pace they are setting now they'll be speechless. It's not certain yet whether the league will operate next season, but it wouldn't be a bad idea if the local owners prepared for a campaign, anyhow.

The directors are said to have their eye on the Scott property on East Barton street with a view to converting it into a ball yard. They talk of securing fifty local enthusiasts to sink $100 each as a means of securing the rental of the property and to defray the cost of rendering it suitable for baseball. If they are going to do this, now would be the most acceptable time to get busy.

Newspaper men have a habit of asking questions. They can't get away from the practice; if they did they would cease to be newspapermen.

We asked a few of the ball club moguls within the past few days what was doing and no person seemed to know. Acting president "Sandy" Battentine is about to leave on his annual hunting expedition and it doesn't look as if they'll know much more until he gets back.

It's about time there was something like a move made to ascertain the situation Hamilton is too valuable as a ball town to be wasted by inaction.

Appeal For Funds Made For Aviators

Canadian Airmen Must Train at Their Own Expense, and Many Cannot Stand the Cost.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—The announcement from Ottawa to the effect that the Government cannot at present make any provision for training aviators necessitates a change in the plans of the Canadian Aviation Schools Fund, but does not affect the determination to pursue the main object of the organization, which is to give aid to the firing line at an early date as possible through trained Canadian aviators and, if practicable, aeroplanes made in Canada.

The Government intimates that it cannot render any assistance unless the British Government asks it to do so, and the proposals in regard to the establishment of aviation schools, and the ultimate formation of a Canadian Aerial Corps are consequently upset at least for the present.

In the meantime the fact has been made public that quite a considerable number of the young men now in training at the aviation schools which have been established here in connection with the manufacture of machines for the British Government, are not in a financial position to continue the course, and are in fact in somewhat strained circumstances, while any number of other desirable young fellows are anxious to become aviators, but lack the means. Consequently the class of men the Allies most require, according to all accounts, are being kept out of the service.

Col. Madinn, writing from the Military Aeronautic Directorate of the British war office to Major Ross, who is now in Canada, stated "we can do with every pilot you can produce, so that the greater the Canadian output the better." That being the case, Col. Wm. Hamilton Merritt, the Toronto officer who promoted the Canadian Aviation Schools fund, maintains that the work of preparing and sending along aviators from the Dominion must go on, the expense to be borne by private subscriptions.

An appeal is therefore made to public spirited citizens throughout the Dominion for funds to assist present aviation students who are in need and others who contemplate a course of valuable service. Branches of all chartered banks in Canada will accept deposits for this fund.

The British Government has accepted representatives in Canada to accept pilots. The object of the fund, for the time being is to assist in having Canadian aviators properly trained and equipped at the private schools already here, to as large a number as possible and also to provide aeroplanes made in Canada for service in the war.

The fund is under the patronage of H.R.H. The Duke of Connaught, and the Lieutenant-Governors of the various Provinces. Col. Merritt is Honorary Secretary, and Lieut.-Col. C. W. Rowley, Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Winnipeg, is Honorary Treasurer. The distribution of all monies received, will be made by a Board of prominent gentlemen who have consented to act as trustees. Col. Merritt will cheerfully answer any enquiries addressed to him at his office, Canadian Defence League, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

GAVE ALL KINDS OF DELICACIES IN MISTAKE TO SPY

Irish Fusilier Loaded Up Man He Thought Friend With Wine, Bread, Tea and Jam.

Humorous stories from the battlefields of Belgium are rare; but Private R. R. Lockhart, a native of Winnipeg, and a former member of the Winnipeg Engineers, has nothing else to tell. He has been covered with wounds; he is lame, and having spent several weeks in an English hospital, he has been discharged from the army as unfit for further service. Still he is laughing—always laughing and merry.

One of Lockhart's best stories is this: "Myself and another comrade were on duty one day near Ypres in Belgium. The town was level as the fields. We were walking past a ruined house that I think had been a wine cellar once. Suddenly I heard a peep behind the door. Surely some spy was thick with Irish brogue.

"We halted and saw a Dublin Fusilier. 'Times are pretty hot,' said the Fusilier. 'An' me lads, wid ye care for anything to ate? I've something down here.'

"We said we were hunting a spy. 'The Irishman said: 'Arra, what sort of a fella was he?'

"We said he was a tall fellow. 'Right,' said he: 'and had hea blue coat?'

"He had. 'An' had he a thickish appearance?'

"He had. 'An' did he seem to be an innocent sort of man?'

"Thin, he the powers, that's the fella that I'm after tratin' here leek a lord. I got him wine, an' bread, an' tay, an' jam, an' all sorts. Oh! if I only knew he was a spy. What fun I'd have. First I'd ask him what he'd have. Then when he'd tell me I'd get the stuff, an' bring it to him, an' when I'd be offerin' it to him I'd give him a tobacco spit in the eye. Then I'd tie him up to the wall, an' sit an' look at him. Then I'd get my bayonet, an' walk up an' down, just to show that we Irish are generous at givin' food to those who are our enemies. I'd give him a taste of the steel every time I passed.

"The spy was caught a short time afterwards, and paid his penalty."

Lockhart tells also a story of the pluck of a Connaught Ranger. "We were out of the trenches this time," he said, "and enjoying ourselves. There was a Connaught Ranger in the crowd. We flung darts at a mark. The Ranger put his right hand over the mark and made a bet that not one man could hit his first finger. Several of the men fired, and the darts fell all around, but none hit. At last one struck the Irishman on the back of the hand and almost pinned the hand to the wall. Blood poured forth. Turning to the man who flung the dart, the Ranger said, pointing to the finger he put up as a target: 'That's the place I told you to hit; it was a bad shot.'

"The Ranger then got another soldier to put out his finger for a target while he fired. His first dart pierced the finger. There were two bleeding hands, but the men laughed and went on at another game."

The co-eds of Oberlin College, O., must not sport their colors on the streets.

Music and Drama

Manager Gus Hill has launched another winner apparently in his latest production "Bringing Up Father", a new three act singing and dancing comedy suggested by the popular cartoons of George McManus, the famous artist. The latest offering will be at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday evening next. In point of plot, interest and continuity, the vehicle is easily the best that Hill has fostered in his long and successful career as a surveyor of wholesome theatricals. The aim has been to provide entertainment on a scale calculated to appeal to the masses as well as the classes. There are no lagging moments in the fun which accrues from the situations as well as the lines of the piece which has been pronounced one of the best of its kind now catering to the approval of a critical and exacting theatre-going public.

THE PROVINCIAL PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN

What the Labor Educational Association, With the Co-operation of the Various Committees, Aims to Accomplish.

The provincial publicity campaign (Industrial Banner). The idea behind the proposed Provincial Publicity Campaign that the Labor Educational Association is about ready to launch is simply this: get in immediate touch with all the varied interests that view with favor action on the part of the Provincial Government to adopt a progressive land policy that shall have for its object the providing of facilities that shall make it comparatively easy for land settlement in the vacant but fertile districts of the Province of Ontario.

The land question in Ontario is a provincial problem, while in the western provinces it comes more directly under the scope of the Federal government. The crown lands of Ontario are owned and administered directly by the province itself, while in the western provinces they are owned and administered by the Dominion.

the problem and to get all the various interests that favor it to combine for the purpose of creating an overwhelming sentiment in favor of action being taken by the Province and the Legislature.

Its promoters will offer its heartiest co-operation to the Government and will support it in a progressive policy of land settlement that will tend to fill up the waste places and to develop vast tracts of territory that remain at present waste and undeveloped.

This is a big undertaking; it is not going to be accomplished in a month or a year, and it is going to entail the expenditure of a large amount of energy. Where it will come easy will be by the appointment of good live committees in every town and city of the province and by securing the cooperation of all the forces that have already been mentioned.

With the Famous

Few, apart from those of antiquarian bent, are acquainted with Rahere's tomb in the choir of St. Bartholomew the Great.

As a sprightly courier of Henry the Norman, he may, therefore, fairly be regarded. His foundation of the priory and hospital of St. Bartholomew resulted from an attack of malarial fever while at Rome on a pilgrimage.

Rahere, or Rayer, after the custom of those days, vowed, if he recovered to build a hospital for the "recreation of pious men."

Guarding Paris Against Attack; How the Aerial Defences Are Secured

London Should Profit by Following Example Led by Paris, Says Balfour.

In view of the increasing part played by aircraft during war and the well-known German methods of waging war against combatants and non-combatants alike, the problem of aerial defence of the capital becomes one of great importance. In this respect the French defence of Paris, which were recently the subject of much comment by Mr. Balfour in the House of Commons, indicate one method of dealing with an always present danger. Mr. Balfour's remarks, however, also gave other aspects of the question, and drew particular attention to certain points of difference between two such cities as London and Paris.

Paris has been taken," he said, "in a surprise movement, with the aid of the defence of the capital, which has been learned and will be learned from studying their example. But," he went on, "we must not be carried away with the idea that the problem of London is identical with that of Paris. Not so the problem of London as that of the Minister who has to defend Paris. Paris starts with being under a single military government, and starts with being a great military fortress, and therefore being a military fortress in its own right. Not so the problem of London as that of the Minister who has to defend Paris. Paris starts with being under a single military government, and starts with being a great military fortress, and therefore being a military fortress in its own right. Not so the problem of London as that of the Minister who has to defend Paris. Paris starts with being under a single military government, and starts with being a great military fortress, and therefore being a military fortress in its own right.

FLEET OF ARMED FRENCH WARPLANES WHICH FORM PART OF AERIAL GUARD OF CITY OF PARIS.

The result that the French authorities immediately set to work upon a new system for the defence of the capital, which has amply justified itself by the absence of German attempts on the city since its inauguration. According to a report issued by the French military authorities in the early stages of the war, Paris was visited day after day by German aeroplanes. The government called back to Paris General Hirschauer, the former chief of the Aeronautical Department (who had gone to another post), and systematic defences against aeroplanes which extend in every direction from Paris itself across country toward every point of the firing line. Every section of the organization is con-exceedingly thorough manner, so that there is little chance of any hostile aircraft being able to stay over the city long and to do damage worth mentioning. Should any raiders arrive near Paris they would be received by gunfire from the forts and anti-aircraft batteries, while a squadron of aeroplanes would also go out to meet them.

In the raid of March last—the only one of its kind carried out by the enemy—various anti-aircraft defence posts opened fire on the Zeppelins, which the searchlights kept constantly in view. The aeroplane squadrons took part in the fight, but a mist hampered them in their pursuit. In a word, the Zeppelin raid on Paris completely failed, and merely served to demonstrate the efficient working of the defence organization of the city. When it is considered that the German lines to the north of Compiègne are but some fifty to sixty miles away from the capital, it will be seen that the defence works of Paris must be extraordinarily good to keep off any raiding aircraft. The city has now been left in undisturbed peace for many months, and there can be no question as to the cause of this.

The views on this page illustrate certain aspects of the aerial defence of the capital. The top view shows a portion of a fleet of armed aeroplanes, which are ready at any moment to ascend and attack any enemy aircraft threatening the city. The other two views show the means employed by French aviators to beat off attack and a close-up view of one of the biplanes guarding the entrenched camp of Paris.

Crown Prince of Bavaria Is Latest Idol of German People

Rupprecht, Called by the Kaiser the "Stonewall Jackson of the Empire," Shares Honors with Field Marshal von Hindenburg for His Stubborn Defence at Lille.

(Special Despatch.) BERLIN, Oct. 23. Newspapers from Germany arriving here are filled with laudatory articles about Crown Prince Rupprecht, who is in command of the German army to-day in France. He now shares honors with Field Marshal von Hindenburg, and meetings and celebrations are being held throughout Germany toasting and congratulating him for his stubborn resistance and his success thus far in holding the German line against the terrific attacks of the Allies. Incidentally, it is mentioned that the Kaiser himself selected Crown Prince Rupprecht to command the forces around Lille, contending that this would be the most difficult part of the line to hold in Northern France. While not a strategist like Field Marshal von Hindenburg or Field Marshal von Mackensen, the Kaiser regards the Bavarian Crown Prince as the greatest fighter in Germany. He has spoken of him as the "Stonewall Jackson" of the Empire.

GERMAN WOMEN ASK GREATER ALLOWANCE

(Special Despatch.) BERLIN, Oct. 23. According to the socialist newspaper Vorwaerts, a petition has been addressed to the German Reichstag by Frau Louise Zietz, in the name of the socialist women of the country, asking for an increase in the government war allowances. "Numerous soldiers' families," the document reads, "in less fortunate circumstances have been reduced to a pitiable plight. The State allowances are miserably small, 12 marks (about $3 a month) for women and 8 marks (about $2.50) for children. Thousands of communities do not supplement this meagre grant with a local allowance, and in the few cases where this is done the assistance rendered is of little account. Only in some very rare instances the communal authorities contribute an amount equal to or greater than the national government allowance. Hence, our plans are continually being raised by the increased prices of provisions, and it is impossible for the common people to procure sufficient nourishment for themselves. Unlucky administrative measures have also lately aggravated the already critical situation.

CROWN PRINCESS STARTS BABY FUND

(Special Despatch.) BERLIN, Oct. 23. Crown Princess Cecilie on the occasion of her twenty-ninth birthday recently issued an appeal to the women of Germany asking contributions for a fund for children born during the war. She said: "Having happily given birth to a little daughter, who, with God's help, came into the world with the sun shining in her face, I appeal to the patriotic women of Germany to contribute to a fund for the maintenance of the poor mothers of the empire who give birth to children during the war while their husbands are at the front. I, therefore, ask that all women help those sisters who have been blessed by the birth of a war baby, and request that they give me all possible assistance in this work." As a result of this appeal numerous contributions were forwarded to the Crown Princess at Potsdam from all parts of Germany, and cases of distress are being quickly relieved.

Says Conditions Differ from Time of Napoleon

Dr. Paul Michaelis Contrasts Invasion of Russia in 1812 with Germans' Advance and Declares Latter Cannot Be Trapped or Defeated as French Emperor Was.

(Special Despatch.) BERLIN, Oct. 23. Dr. Paul Michaelis, one of the military experts of the Berliner Tagblatt, who has accompanied the German army in its drive against the Russians, makes a critical comparison between the campaign of Napoleon in 1812 and that of Field Marshal General von Hindenburg at the present time. He draws his conclusions, why Napoleon failed and why the present German campaign in Russia will succeed. He writes as follows from Kowno: "Opposite the City Hall of Kowno, with its tall, slender tower built in the sixteenth century, there stands in the market place an iron monument. It is a tall, hexagonal pyramid, crowned with a golden Byzantine globe, and was erected in memory of the victories which freed Russia from the French invasion. This monument was placed there about sixty years ago.

"At that time no one believed that Russia and France would unite to war on Germany and Austria. The remembrance of Napoleon's occupation still lingered in the minds of his footstepers, and it was only the Russian army, already in that time on its march toward Constantinople and the Balkans, and regarded England and France as her hereditary enemies, and thus ten years before the Crimean War this monument was erected against the city's enemies of the west, particularly France. However, since then things have suddenly become her friends, and she has become the ally of the Little Corporal and the Russian master of the world, but who met the end in the icy wastes of Russia, and followed his footsteps here and there, if the Russian General Staff would only show that they not only do not forget anything, but that they are on the other hand not learned. The circumstances to-day are quite different from what they were a century ago. The majority of the Russian troops have been rendered incapable of any prolonged resistance. More than two million men are now prisoners in German hands, and Austria-Hungary and an equal number have no doubt been killed or wounded.

HATRED OF ENGLAND DWINDLES IN BERLIN

(Special Despatch.) BERLIN, Oct. 23. The campaign of hate against England, which received its great impetus in Germany with the publication of Lissauer's poem, "A Chant of Hate," is on the wane. A change has come over Berlin, as is shown by the newspapers. Heretofore there was scarcely a theatre or dance hall where the poem by Lissauer was not recited with regularity every night, the audience going wild over it, jumping out of their seats, shouting and waving their fists in the direction of the British Isles. Now Lissauer's "chant of Hate" is no longer heard and is not in demand. Both press and the public have tired of it. Up to a few weeks ago a theatrical manager in Berlin who would have dared to produce anything that came from England or was written by an Englishman would have been badly handled. To show the change which has taken place in sentiment, the Berlin newspapers now announce with every indication of pleasure that Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra" will have its initial performance at the Royal Opera House in Berlin this week.

Capt. A. E. Ogilvie of Montreal, who went over seas with the 42nd Highlanders some five months ago, has just been invalided, having from Shorncliffe. Four years ago Captain Ogilvie injured his spine while Master of the Montreal Hunt, and the old trouble has broken out again in Shorncliffe. Capt. Ogilvie who is a son of the late Senator W. W. Ogilvie, was born in Montreal in 1875. He is well known as a famous polo player and horseman.

Mr. Albert Grigg, M.P.P. for Algoma has recently been appointed Deputy-Minister of Lands and Forests for the Province of Ontario. Mr. Grigg is an Ontario born, having been born in Huron County in 1873. He spent practically his entire life in the Algoma district where he filled many important positions. He was first elected to the Legislature in 1908, and has remained in parliament ever since. He is regarded as being particularly well-informed on forest matters and will make a good successor to the late Aubrey White.

"What's in a name?" finds a fitting answer in the case of the McAvitys, of St. John, N.B., four of whom have answered the call of King and Country. In addition to the four fighting Macs, there have been thirty-five employees of the firm of T. McAvity and Sons, who have already gone overseas. The four McAvitys are: Lieut. Col. James L., commanding the 26th Battalion; T. Malcolm, Brigade Major 5th Infantry Brigade; Ronald, Captain and Quartermaster 12th Battalion; and Percy D., Lieutenant 26th Battalion.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., West Peterborough, has offered himself for overseas service. He is the eleventh member of the Canadian Parliament to enlist. Mr. Burnham is a native of Peterborough having been born there in 1860. He was educated at the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall. He has practised his profession in Peterborough for a number of years and was also for some time editor of the Peterborough Review. Mr. Burnham has also written a number of books and is altogether a progressive, thorough-going type of Canadian citizen. He was elected to parliament in 1911.

Mr. James Cousins, former vice-president and managing director of the Ford Motor Company, whose resignation has aroused the greatest interest in both Canada and the United States, is a former Canadian. Mr. Cousins was born at Chatham, Ont., but early in life went across to Uncle Sam's domain and became a resident of Detroit. He became associated with Henry Ford and next to Ford, is the largest shareholder in the Ford Motor Company. He was locked after the mechanical end of the business, while Cousins attended to the finances. He has made an immense fortune in the Ford Company.

Major-General G. W. Goethals is back on the "job" as Governor of the Panama Canal zone. He resigned the position about three months ago but the real sides which have taken place on the "big ditch" forced him to reconsider his resignation and go back and clean up the latest slide. Goethals, a canal builder, was a military man first, and an engineer second. Much of his success in building and operating the canal is due to the fact that he paid the zone under military discipline, taking into consideration such important problems as sanitation, mosquito pest, yellow fever and other difficulties. He was born in Brooklyn in 1858, and had a lengthy military and engineering experience. He is regarded as one of the world's greatest engineers.

Lord Bertie, of Thans, British ambassador in Paris, is now repaying the reward of his many years of effort to establish the Entente Cordiale between Great Britain and France. The British ambassador who is better known as Sir Francis Bertie, would have retired on the score of old age, had it not been for the outbreak of the war, it is now understood that he will continue in office until the restoration of peace. The embassy in Paris is regarded as the blue ribbon in diplomatic circles of Great Britain, as it carries with it a salary of $50,000 a year, liberal allowances and a beautiful residence in the city. Lord Bertie comes of an old English family.

Rear Admiral Troubridge, who was in the Mediterranean at the outbreak of the war, and who was relieved of his command and summoned home for allowing the German cruisers, Goeben and Breslau, to reach Constantinople in safety, is now in charge of the British guns in Serbia. For some months he has been in charge of a group of British naval gunners, who have been entrusted with the task of making the river defences impregnable to German and Austrian attacks. At the court of inquiry held for allowing the German ships to escape, Troubridge was acquitted, as he was able to show that he had received most peremptory wireless orders in the secret code of the British Admiralty, ordering him to let the two cruisers out of the Bay of Messina without let or hindrance. Later he discovered that the wireless

Stomach Trouble and Rheumatism Relieved By "Fruit-a-tives"

"I have been restored to health by taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. For two years, I was a miserable sufferer from Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble. I became very weak, had frequent dizzy spells and when I took food, felt wretched and sleepy. I suffered from Rheumatism dreadfully, with pains in my back and joints and my hands swollen. A friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and from the outset, they did me good. After I had started the second box, I felt I was getting well and I persevered in the treatment. I can truthfully say that 'Fruit-a-tives' is the only medicine that helped me.

Gen. Kuropatkin, commander of the Russian forces in the war with Japan of ten years ago, has "come back." Although the Russians, under Kuropatkin, were defeated in that struggle, subsequent investigations have shown that the fault was not due to Kuropatkin's generalship, but rather to the interference to Admiral Alexiev and others of the nobility. Following the war, Kuropatkin published a book in which he took full responsibility of his own mistakes and at the same time paid a high tribute to the bravery and self sacrifice of his men. His book and other investigations have shown that Kuropatkin was a brave, honest and resourceful leader, but the internal weaknesses of the Russian army system of a decade ago, proved his undoing. It is an encouraging sign to see an able general like Kuropatkin being called upon to take a post in which he has a say in the direction of the whole Russian campaign.

Theophile Delcasse, Foreign Minister for France, whose resignation has been announced, is probably the strongest statesman in that country. Delcasse has been in the limelight for most of the last century. He was the man responsible for the Anglo-French Entente Cordiale and was also the man who brought about the Triple Entente. In addition he always kept a close watch upon Germany and thwarted her upon every possible occasion. In North Africa especially his efforts to extend France's sphere of influence met with severe opposition in Germany, so much so that the Moroccan crisis of 1905 resulted in his resignation as Foreign Minister, a position he had occupied for eleven years. He has filled several governmental positions since that date, but when war broke out in 1914, he was immediately made foreign minister and has held the position until a few days ago. His health is given as the cause of his resignation.

Despite the assertion that modern journalism has become an impersonal matter, there still remains a journalist to newspaper men everywhere as "Marse Henry." His editorial broadsides are fierce and strong enough to sink any super-dreadnought float. Another man in this neighboring republic who has a national reputation for pithy paragraphs and puns is S. W. Ewing, editor of the Southern Lumberman of Nashville, Tenn. Ewing's caustic comments are probably quoted more than the remarks of any other editor in the United States. A third editor with a breeziness and freshness all his own is H. B. Hughes, editor of the Insurance Register of Philadelphia. Any man who can make insurance statistics illuminating, interesting and informing not to mention humorous, deserves a medal. Hughes has a happy faculty of making the dry bones live and in brief produces the breeziest, brightest and most interesting editorials on insurance appearing anywhere on the continent.

Terrific Bombarded Advance try Against Pe

GORIZIA MAY NOW HAVE

Hurrying to Com Advance Before Stops Opera

Milan, Oct. 22—News from the front by official reports is that the Italian of Trentino and Carso regions better results than those in only the partial possession of Saint Michael.

The second offensive Monday, when two gun caliber 8, including two heavy, began bombarding positions from Caporetto to the slopes of Mount S. distance of six miles. The operations lasted for 48 hours, which early trench redeployed wire entanglement on front is named under the name of the first offensive. The heavy artillery were carefully concealed in Isonzo, confined their fire to the forts of Malborghetto strong defensive works. The intense was this first offensive, the heavy artillery were compelled to batteries to positions behind the lines.

AUS'RIANS DEMO

The infantry advance before Thursday morning. The were utterly demoralized by the precipitate onrush of our troops.

In making their advance troops were protected shield, which greatly reduced the effect of the enemy's gun and rifle fire.

The Austrian trenches to be full of dead and wounded. The comparative number of prisoners taken whole of the time the Austrians were on the defensive.

Italian officers add they will go very near through the ultimate result of this offensive.

It is the belief of the officers attached to the G. However, that the strong defending Gorizia will be before the Italian onslaught preparations made for the been most minute and the the tanks is of the line. Moreover, the Italian General Cadorna, the Isonzo line must be the rainy winter season.

The Duce D'Asola and both are present during the of this offensive.
