Mrs. Blaine's Death

Further particulars as to the accidental drowning of Mrs. A. C. Blaine, of Cranbrook, B. C., have been received by her mother, Mrs. A. E. Baker, of Waterdown.

Mrs. Blaine was drowned while out in a motor-boat in company with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Moe, of Cranbrook, on a river near that town. The rudder of the boat jammed, and as the current was very strong, the craft was drawn under a bridge. An overhanging branch capsized the boat and all were thrown into the water, and were helplessly swept down stream. Mrs. Blaine and Mrs. Moe were carried swiftly into deep water and lost their lives. Their bodies have not yet been recovered, although search parties have been watching for days.

Mrs. Blaine was a native of Waterdown, but had resided in Cranbrook for a number of years. Besides her mother, she leaves to mourn her death a brother, Seymour Baker, and a sister, Mrs. F. F. Johnson, both of Hamilton.

Edison Re-Creation Concert

Arrangements are being made to have an Edison Re-creation Concert given in Waterdown sometime in the near future under the auspices of one of the local churches. The programme will be supplied chiefly by an official Laboratory model of "The New Edison". This instrument will be identically the same as that used in the celebrated Tone test concerts such as the one that was held in Hamilton a short time ago, in which the artists sang or played in direct comparison with their own Edison re-creations, and the audience found it impossible to detect the slightest difference.

This concert will be looked forward to with pleasure, as some of the greatest artists the world has ever known will be heard. The date will be announced later.

Lila Grace Hewer

Lila Grace, youngest daughter of Frederick and Mrs. Hewer, Hamilton Road, died on Saturday evening last at her parents home. Deceased was two years and ten days old at the time of her death. She was a bright, lovable little child and a general favorite with all. This is the second death we have been called upon to chronicle in the past two weeks in Mr. Hewer's family, another having died a few days ago. The sympathy of the whole community will go out to Mr. and Mrs. Hewer and in the great loss they have sustained.

The funeral took place on Monday morning last to Waterdown cemetery. The services at grave were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Preacher of Hamilton. Many beautiful floral tributes were received testifying to the high esteem in which she was held by a large circle of friends.

NOTICE

I wish to announce that I have opened a watch repairing business on Main street opposite the Post Office, where I am prepared to repair all kinds of jewelry, watches, clocks etc. promptly and at very reasonable charges. Over 40 years experience in the watch making business.

Nelson Zimmerman

Wood-Ireland Wedding

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. John's church, Nelson, on Wednesday afternoon, June 30th, when Miss Edith Ireland, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ireland, of that place became the bride of Mr. Percy T. Wood, of Hamilton. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. H. Newton Smith. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Earl Ireland, and looked very charming in a beautiful white satin messaline gown, with silver and chiffon trimming, and chiffon hat to match. Miss Lillie Ireland, sister of the bride, was in pale blue poplin with bead embroidery, and Miss May Cutter wore pale blue embroidered crepe de chine, both wearing picture hats. Amid a shower of confetti the bride and groom motored directly to their new home in Hamilton.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wood were formerly members of Grace Church here, and were active in the Anglican Young People's Association. Mr. Wood having held the presidency for two years.

Ward-Briden Wedding

A very happy event took place on Tuesday last at the home of the brides parents in St. Catharines when Miss Helen Montgomery Briden was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Ward of Uxbridge. Mr. Ward is Assistant Principal of Adelaide Hoodless School, Hamilton. He has resigned his position in the Hoodless school, and on his return from the honeymoon will become head of the business department of the Canada Business College. Mr. Ward is well and favorably known here, having been attached to the staff of the High school a few years ago. His many friends will extend to the young couple heartiest congratulations and best wishes for a happy married life.

Increased Grant for High School

To Peter Ray belongs the honor of securing from the County Council a further grant of $200 for the Waterdown High school. This means that the government will have to meet this with an additional grant of $200 to the school. Peter is the right man in the right place. He has always taken a keen interest in educational matters, realizing the young man's need of a High school education.

Mr. W. Shaidle has purchased from a prominent breeder in Cayuga a valuable road horse. We understand that handsome price was paid for the animal, which has been a consistent winner at several of the large exhibitions in the Dominion, capturing the blue ribbon at Toronto Industrial last year. We can confidently expect to hear of its winning further honors at provincial and county fairs this year. It is reported that the price paid for this fine animal was in the neighborhood of $1200.

Base Ball

(By the Sporting Editor)

Loose Baseball by both teams on Saturday last between Millgrove and Waterdown Juniors. Gordon pitching for Waterdown was wild at the start, giving Millgrove the jump, which they held until the seventh, when Waterdown started in with their war clubs and pounded out enough runs to win two games.

The score by innings.

Millgrove 3 0 0 1 4 2 0 1 1-12

Flamboro Centre defeated Carlisle at Carlisle Saturday, the home team leaving the field and would not come back despite the request of their manager and other supporters. Carlisle should be the last team to object to the umpire's ruling, as they upheld him when he decided against Waterdown and wet grounds at Millgrove. And at a previous game which Waterdown could have protested but would not, at the raw decisions of their own umpire. Play the game Carlisle and quit umpire baiting. Real base-ball is won and lost on the ball diamond, and not in committee rooms.

Millgrove	1	6	142

The Seniors again pounded their way to victory on Saturday against the Dominion Glass in a game that featured in the heavy batting of the winners. Vern Willis had a perfect day at the bat, having five trips to the plate. He hammered the old pill for a three bagger, two bagger and three singles—some hitting. Fisher for the home team, besides pitching masterly ball, found the pill for a home run.

On Thursday, July 1st, Waterdown will play the Tungsten Lamp team in a regular league game. A good following is what the boys are looking for to cheer them along.

Manager J. K. Aylward with the Proctor-Gamble team of Hamilton motored to Waterdown on Tuesday evening and crossed bats with the Seniors, winning in a well played game by a score of 5 to 3. The battery and infield work of the winners showed snappy ball. Slow delivery of the ball to the plate by the home team was responsible for two or three of the winners runs. Vern Willis, three-base smash featured. The all around good sport conduct of the visitors speaks well for the Proctor-Gambles. The teams lined as follows.

Waterdown	Proctor-Gamble
Kirk	Kruse
Vance	Howard
Metzger	Thompson
Burns	Simpson
Torrance	Simmomds
Willis	McKay
Henry	Hollinrake
Gordon	Reid
Willis	Johnson

Drinks For Hot Weather

Fruit juices, when free from adulteration, are not only agreeable to most people but are healthful as well, and can be used as freely as pure water itself. A home preparation of fruit juices, in variety, may be had by every family willing to prepare them, at a slight cost. They should be securely sealed in glass jars, wrapped in brown paper to exclude the light and labelled.

The recipes given here are simple and anyone may make refreshing drinks for the hot days coming.

RASPBERRY VINEGAR.

Pour two quarts of vinegar over four quarts of raspberries. Cover it, put in a cool place for two days. Strain the juice through cloth and pour it over four quarts of fresh berries. Set the mixture aside again for two days, strain again and add three quarts of sugar. Heat it slowly and skim the liquid until it is clear, then boil 20 minutes. Seal it in sterilized bottles. When you serve, use two tablespoonfuls of the syrup to a glass of ice water.

GINGER ALE.

Put one quart of chopped ice in a gallon jug, add one pound of sugar and one tablespoonful of strong ginger and shake the mixture well together. Add one pint of good cider vinegar and fill the jug with water. Keep it on ice until it is very cold.

CURRENT SHRUB.

Heat two quarts of ripe currants and strain the juice through a cheesecloth. To every quart of juice add three-quarters of a pound of sugar and stir the syrup until the sugar dissolves. Add the juice of one lemon and enough cold water to dilute the syrup. When it is cold pour it over the cracked ice and ornament each glass with a slice of lemon or a bunch of ripe currants.

LEMON MINT.

Wash the mint well and pick off a large cupful of leaves. Put them in a stone jar with one quart of chopped ice. Stir the mixture until the leaves are thoroughly bruised and the flavor extracted. Strain off the water and add the juice of two oranges and six lemons and one pint of sugar. Put it on ice, and when it is thoroughly cold serve it in tall, thin glasses, with a sprig of fresh mint and a very thin slice of lemon in each cup.

LEMONADE FOR A WEEK.

Boil together two quarts of water and four cupfuls of sugar for 10 minutes. Remove the syrup from the fire and add four and one-half cupfuls of lemon juice. Let the mixture cool, then seal in glass jars and put it in a cool place. When you want to make lemonade dilute a little of the syrup with ice water.

LIME PUNCH.

Put eight cubes of sugar in a bowl and pour over them the juice of two limes and two oranges. Add one and one-half cupfuls of cold water, and when the sugar is melted, chill the syrup with cracked ice. Just before serving it add a slice of pineapple and a few crystallized cherries. The recipe makes only a small amount of punch. For a large company it should be trebled.

AN EGG DRINK.

Beat three eggs thoroughly and six tablespoonfuls of sugar and one and one-half cupfuls of ice water. Whip into the mixture juice of one orange. Serve it in glasses topped with whipped cream.

A Ready Quotation.

The following story is told of Admiral Sir Montague E. Browning when he was commanding one of our battleships, says the London Chronicle. A "hard bargain" was brought before Capt. Browning, charged with having broken his leave for more than 100 hours. The evidence being heard, the captain asked the default: "Have you anything to say in your defence?" "Nothing, sir," came the reply, "except that to err is human, to forgive divine—Shakespeare." "Ninety days' detention without the option of a fine—Browning," was the ready if unpleasant rejoinder.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

May Pass the Critical Period Safely and Comfortably by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Regina, Sask.—"I was going through Change of Life and suffered for two years with headache, nervousness, sleepless nights and general weakness. Some days I felt tired and unfit to do my work. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and found good results, and I also find it a very helpful Spring tonic and use it for constipation from which I suffer much. I have recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to several friends, and am willing you should publish this."—Mrs. MATHA W. LINDSAY, 810 Robinson St., Regina, Sask.

If you have warning symptoms such as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backache, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness, get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin taking the medicine at once. We know it will help you as it did Mrs. Lindsay.

Those Early Garden Peas

Properly prepared there is nothing quite so delectable as early garden peas. But even these, fresh as they may be, can be utterly spoiled by improper cooking. The French have a way of cooking peas, which is supposed to bring out their full flavor. A few lettuce leaves are laid on the bottom of the saucepan, and a pint of shelled peas over them. Very little water is required, as the water on the lettuce and that drawn from it by the heat will be sufficient to cook the peas.

Peas are always nicer if the pods are put in cold water an hour or so before shelling them. This crisps them, and cleans them, too, which means that the shelled peas will not have to be washed, for washing robs them of their flavor. It is a mistake to shell old peas with freener ones. Sort out your pods, and shell only yellow and cracked ones for soup or some other dish where the fresh flavor is not so important.

Always pour boiling water on your peas to cook them, and never let them cook mushy. Salt should not be added until they are nearly done. Some cooks find that it not only intensifies the color of fresh peas, but brings out the flavor to put into them with the boiling water a piece of washing soda no bigger than a large pea. Other cooks add just the least bit of sugar. Where peas are assuredly fresh the simplest and best way to prepare them is to season delicately with salt, pepper and sugar, generously with butter, and serve piping hot.

A NEW ENGLAND METHOD.

Wash and shell four quarts of marrowfat peas. Pour over them just enough water to barely cover them. Boil gently for 20 minutes, then add a dozen small new potatoes, a teaspoonful of salt, and cook 20 minutes longer. When done add one tablespoonful of butter, and one cup of thin cream.

SALAD OF PEAS.

This is a good way to use the little left-over dish of peas for next day's luncheon. Mix with the cold peas an equal quantity of chopped peanuts. Add a little minced sour pickle and enough salad dressing, either French or mayonnaise, to moisten the ingredients thoroughly. Chill and serve on lettuce.

BACON AND PEAS.

Cut half a pound of trimmed bacon in dice and slightly brown in a saucepan. Sprinkle over the bacon half a tablespoonful of flour. Add one-half glassful of water, one pint of shelled peas, half an onion, and a few stalks of parsley tied in a bunch. Cook all until the peas are tender. Season with pepper and salt. Take out the onion and parsley when ready to serve.

PEA CROQUETTES.

Press two cupfuls of left-over peas through a sieve. Flavor with a little onion, a little chopped parsley and season. Add two well-beaten eggs. If the mixture is too dry moisten with stock, or too thin thicken with flour. Mold the puree into croquettes, roll in egg and cracker dust and dry in deep fat.

STRAWBERRIES

Some Ways to Make Most of One Box.

Nearly everyone agrees that the luscious ripe red strawberry, dipped in powdered sugar and eaten from the stems cannot be improved upon as a dessert, but with berries so very costly, and with sugar so scarce and high one cannot serve them this way often. It is the time when housewives are searching through cook books to find recipes that will make one box of berries go a long way. Following are some of the recipes:

Soak 3/4 of a cup of tapioca in cold water for two hours and then cook in the double boiler with 2 1/2 cups of boiling water until transparent. Cool and pour over a box of strawberries that have been hulled into a glass bowl and sprinkled with sugar. Serve with sugar and cream. Do not cook the berries with the tapioca or the real berry taste will be lost.

The most delicious bread puddings becomes a desser de luxe with a strawberry sauce. Crush the berries and sprinkle with sugar. Let stand a while and serve a spoonful with each portion of the pudding. Whipped cream can be served also.

For the popular strawberry whip soak a tablespoonful of gelatine in a little cold water until soft, then dissolve in a cup of boiling water. Mush a box of berries, and add the juice and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice to the gelatine. Set in a cool place till it commences to harden. Then whip with a Dover beater until light and frothy. Set in tall glasses garnished with a spoonful of whipped cream and a whole berry.

For an emergency dessert split one of the popular sponge cakes that are sold in most of the smaller grocery stores. Mash the berries and sweeten. Spread over the cake, put together, pour the rest of the berries over the top and garnish with teaspoonful of whipped cream or meringue.

Fish That Cannot Swim.

It sounds strange to say that there are fish which cannot swim. Yet it is a fact. A Brazilian fish called the maltha is one of these species of fish. It can only crawl or walk or hop. It has a long, upturned snout, and resembles, to an extent, a toad. The anterior fins of the maltha are quite small, and are not able to act on the water. They only move backward and forward, and are, in reality, thin paws, which are of no service for swimming, as are the fins of other fishes.

TRADE BALANCE AGAINST WORLD

U. S. Has One of Seventeen Billion Dollars

Rolled Up Since Opening of Great War.

Washington report: Since the beginning of the war in 1914, the United States has rolled up a trade balance of approximately seventeen billion dollars against the world. This exceeds by several billion of dollars the total balance in favor of the United States from 1875 to 1914.

United States Department of Commerce figures to-day show that the trade balance in favor of the United States in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, was $2,155,599,375. During the succeeding year the total was $3,530,599,299.

Meantime, the United States had entered the struggle and in the year ending June 30, 1918—the first full fiscal year of her participation—the balance was only $2,974,055,973. In the next year ending June 30th, however, it was $4,136,562,618.

During the first eleven months of this fiscal year the balance was only $2,788,451,602, but exports were larger in those eleven months than in any other fiscal year in the nation's history, totalling $4,474,193,349, as against the previous twelve months' record of $7,232,282,686 made during the last fiscal year.

At the same time that the American export trade began to advance by leaps and bounds, the import trade also showed an enormous increase totalling $2,917,833,510 in the year ending June 30, 1916, and advancing steadily each year to a new high record of $4,885,741,747 during the eleven months of the present fiscal year. The previous high record was $3,095,720,098 last year.

Most of the favorable trade balance of the United States has been against the Allied and neutral countries of Europe. Many of the South American and North American countries and some of those in the Far East have a balance against the United States.

RESENT INSULT TO UNION JACK

Prominent N. Y. Women Are Indignant.

New York despatch: A group of nearly 50 prominent women of this city to-day disclosed that they had written to Sir Auckland Campbell Geddes, British Ambassador, expressing indignation at the action of Irish women sympathizers in burning the British colors before the Treasury in Washington on June 2. Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby has expressed a formal apology to the British Government over the incident.

The letter to the British envoy was as follows: "We, the undersigned American women, desire to express our deep indignation at the wanton act committed by that group of women pickets in Washington on June 2, when they demonstrated by the public burning of the British flag in front of the Treasury that they had not at heart the interest and welfare of this country."

"We cannot forget what that flag, carried on more than twenty battle fronts of three continents throughout the war period, represents to civilization."

"This is now the hour of reconstruction. All nations are striving for mutual understanding, and we believe the war ties of kinship and the same high aims, insuring our efforts in the readjustment of world affairs, will ever bind our two great nations together."

In acknowledging receipt of the protest, the envoy expressed his "warmest appreciation of the spirit which actuated it."

"CAROLINA MONGREL"

London cable says: "Eamonn De Valera should be placed in the prisoners' dock, for, before Heaven, he is responsible for deluging Londonderry with the blood of well-meaning fools," said Thomas W. O'Sullivan, presiding at a London meeting of the Irish Vigilance Association to-night. "De Valera is a Carolina mongrel feathering his nest 4,000 miles from the scene of bloodshed."

FINE HARVEST PROSPECTS GENERAL IN THE DOMINION

Toronto despatch: Crop prospects in Canada, from coast to coast, in regard to grains, fruits and vegetables, according to reports gathered by Canadian Press, Limited, to-day, give reasonable ground for optimism as to Canada's agricultural and horticultural production for the year 1920.

In the fruit-growing districts of eastern Canada, the prospects are for bumper crops, and there is already great anxiety as to securing help for the harvesting of them. Strawberries are already coming in, and other smaller fruits may be a glut on the market, in some districts. Apple crops promise well.

Western Canadian wheat reports are optimistic. In some parts of Ontario record crops of wheat and oats are promised, while other grains are also doing well. The same is true, generally speaking, of the reports from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Potatoes are doing well in practically all centres, although the area seeded was restricted, owing to the high cost of seed.

The various pests are making themselves felt—cut worms, and grasshoppers are being fought with every weapon known to agricultural science. There is still danger from frosts, and the help problem is ever in sight—but so far as actual growth is concerned, Canada's crops, according to the reports received generally to-day, are in a remarkably favorable position.

WIND SHOOK DOWN FRUIT. St. Catharines, Ont., despatch: Up to yesterday fruit prospects were the brightest in four years, the indications pointed to a prolific crop, of peaches and apples and abundant yields of peaches, plums, cherries and grapes. In the afternoon, however, a heavy wind developed, which has shaken great quantities of tree fruits of all varieties to the ground. Numerous reports are being received from every part of the province that the wind has done considerable damage to the fruit crop.

growers agree that considerable of this dropping could be stood with benefit, as the trees generally were too heavy. Recent rains have brought on the strawberries to such an extent that the supply of boxes has grown short.

SHOWERS WORK WONDERS.

Toronto despatch: Plentiful showers during the last week have worked wonders in the agricultural and horticultural districts centering on Toronto, and throughout Central Ontario fields which were given up as dead, following the unusually dry month of May, have suddenly changed to green, and the dry and withered fall wheat crops have put on several inches in growth. Oats, barley and wheat promise big yields; potatoes and roots are coming along well, and the vegetable plants in Toronto suburbs are very promising. Strawberries have grown to record sizes, and a few days' sunshine will put on the market a very heavy berry crop. In some districts the fruit men are already awaiting a dry day to get on the ground and harvest them.

LIGHT AROUND LONDON.

London, Ont., despatch: In many parts of this district crops will be light, owing to the scarcity of help. Farmers in a great many cases are putting in barely enough grain to take care of their own needs. The prospects are for an abundance of fruit and of fine quality. Hay is reported somewhat short, owing to the long hot spell.

FAIR IN ESSEX.

Windsor, Ont., despatch: The crop situation in Essex county is fair. Growers of small fruits are not optimistic of a big yield, and base their contention on the fact that a hail storm two weeks ago played havoc with this year's growth on the bushes.

The heavy rains of the past few days have put new life in the root, tobacco and corn crops. As a result, the Warne tobacco leaf is good, but the recent dry spell somewhat stunted the growth of the Old Burley leaf, which constitutes the bulk of the early crop in this county. It is certain this leaf will be small, and the crop will be considerably lighter than last year. The rains also have assured a fair potato crop, while corn and grains are flourishing. Clover and timothy hay is not so heavy, and is shorter in stock than a year ago.

GOOD ABOUT PETERBORO.

Peterboro, Ont., report: The grain crops throughout this district are in excellent condition, except wheat, which is inclined to be light owing to the drought earlier in the season. Farmers in all parts of this district say the crop situation never looked more promising. Big fruits and vegetables look very promising and the potato crop never looked better. Cut worms have appeared among the vegetables.

QUEBEC GRAIN SATISFACTORY.

Quebec report: As a whole the grain harvest through the Province of Quebec is likely to be satisfactory. Hay is of the highest quality.

IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

St. John, N. B., report: The hay crop in New Brunswick will be light. Grain thus far is looking well, and the same may be said of vegetables. The potato bug, however, is reported to be rather more plentiful than usual in many districts.

PINE IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Halifax, N. S., report: Officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture state that crop prospects in Nova Scotia are at present the most encouraging. An unusually large crop of roots, grains, and potatoes has been seeded and present indications are that a record harvest will follow. It is estimated that the apple crop will total one-half of last year's record harvest of 1,500,000 barrels.

IN ALBERTA.

Calgary report: No further rains have fallen in South Alberta since Saturday, but many of the southern districts report good rainfall during the later part of the week. Warm weather is bringing on the late grain in fine condition.

They were drowned from a motor party at Letellier, Man.

FARM CONDITIONS

Rains Have Much Improved All Crops.

The following is a summary of reports by the Agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

Rain falls during the past week have more or less covered the Province, and as a consequence all field crops have been much improved.

The first cuttings of sweet clover and alfalfa have been made in several counties and both crops as a rule are giving satisfaction.

Red clover is heading, and will be ready for cutting, but it is short in stalk and although now thickening after the recent generous showers it will be a comparatively light crop. Alfalfa is also described as having a low stand.

Early potatoes are in blossom, but the bug is said to be prevalent, and the flea beetle is also doing injury to the crop.

Sugar beets are doing well. With recent rains all roots are doing better.

Fall wheat is heading out nicely, but the straw will be shorter than usual, although recent rains have improved the general prospects of the crop.

Spring grains have also picked up well since the rains.

Orchards promise well. While the usual June drop has been going on, the quantity of fruit setting well on the trees has been large compared with recent years. Strawberry fields have been refreshed by the rains and will likely yield good pickings.

Live stock are now doing well on pasture. Veal calves are bringing 15 and 18 cents a lb.

The milk flow has about reached its peak.

Referring to farm labor conditions the Wentworth representative says: "Many farmers who would hire married men have houses which are empty because they cannot get help, although they are offering large wages."

CLOUDBURST CAUSES DEATH OF 50 PEOPLE.

Morning Services—Junior Congregation Services. Missionary Story Service.
Evening Services—The Compassion of Jesus.

Mr. O. B. Griffin is the owner of a new Ford car.

Mr. W. McGregor and J. Barlow, of Galt, were visitors in town on Tuesday last.

Miss Beatrice Higgins of Guelph College is spending her vacation at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Baker of Detroit are visiting his brother, Mr. Isaac Baker, this week.

The Rev. R. A. Facey and family leave this morning for their new home in Hanover.

Mr. Kenneth MacKenzie spent a day last week with his old school mate, Mr. Chas. McMonies.

Mrs. Reading and little son of Hamilton are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slater.

The program which the committee has secured for the annual Garden Party this year is one of the best. Don't fail to see it.

Mr. J. H. Prudham and Miss McQueen of Galt spent the week end in the village, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Prudham.

Miss Jean Drummond, who has been doing private nursing in Philadelphia, returned home for her holidays, and is at present in Long Branch renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Mount has received the Memorial Cross which is given for the supreme sacrifice made by their son, Roy W. Mount. This medal is also known as the Supreme Sacrifice Cross.

Mr. Frank Speck has moved into his new shop and warehouse on Main street. The new building reflects great credit on the contractor, Mr. A. J. Thomas, and when completed will be an added improvement to the street.

A meeting of the Lawn Tennis club was held on Friday evening last at the home of Mrs. W. H. Torrance. The meeting was largely attended. The club expects to have the courts ready for play by the first of the month.

The Rev. Father Coren of the Redemptionist Order, Toronto, who has been conducting a series of services in St. Thomas church here for the past week, delivered his final address on Sunday morning last. The meetings were well attended and productive of much good. The Rev. Father is an eloquent speaker, and his addresses were much appreciated by all who had the pleasure of hearing him.

Miss Edith Ireland, of Nelson, whose wedding is recorded in this issue, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given at the home of Mrs. and Miss Cutter on Tuesday evening last. An enjoyable evening was spent with cards and music. Before the removal of the family to Nelson Miss Ireland was prominent in the Sunday School and A. Y. P. A. of Grace Church here, and the many beautiful and useful gifts which she received were graceful testimonials to her popularity.

No Hall This Year

It will now be another year and perhaps longer before Waterdown will build a Memorial Hall. Last Monday evening the hall committee met in the Bell house and opened the tenders which had been called for, and when it was learned that around $30,000 would be required to erect the building this year, the committee decided to do nothing for the present but to wait for a more opportune time. The bulk tenders were $33,797.00, $29,709.00 and $29,347.00.

Sparks Family Re-Union

A very pleasant event took place on Saturday last at the home of Reuben and Mrs. Sparks when their children, grand-children and great-grand-children and families met at the Spark's home on Mill street and enjoyed a pleasant afternoon and evening. Hearty congratulations were extended to this estimable couple who have been spared to enjoy each others company for so many years, and the wish is extended to them that they may be spared to spend many more happy years together. The following relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. N. Morden, Strab ne; H. J. Sparks and family, Hamilton; Mr. C. and Miss Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. A. Driver, and Miss A. Sparks, Buffalo; Dr. F. Sparks, San Francisco, Cal.; Mr. W. Sparks, Ithica, N. Y.; Mrs. Hicks, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Mills and family, Kilbride Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Vance, and Mr. Ed. J. Sparks, Waterdown.

Millgrove

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Griffin have returned from Halgrave after attending the golden wedding of his sister, Mrs. Darley Zimmerman. The evening following the wedding dinner the neighbors gave them a surprise party and presented them with a purse of money, showing the high esteem in which they were held.

Mr. John Everitt had the misfortune to fall from his wagon fracturing two ribs which will necessitate his being confined to house for some time.

The Millgrove Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. J. Roberts on June 17th. The address on citizenship by Mrs. Bluett, Government speaker, was much appreciated by all. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, July 27th at the home of Mrs. Edgar Carey, when Miss Agnes Hunter will give a demonstration on Physical Culture, and Mr. John Dalton will give a talk on Our Government.

Greensville

Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and little daughter, of Hamilton, are visiting in the village.

Mrs. Dr. Miller of Hamilton and Miss Cornell paid a flying visit to Miss M. Green's this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Black of Cope-town spent Sunday in the village.

Mrs. London leaves on Thursday to visit her son in Winnipeg.

Mrs. B. Connell of Hamilton was visiting her parents here.

Miss Doris Stone of Hamilton is visiting her cousin here.

Thomas A. Edison.

Edison Spent Three Million Dollars to Give You Music

Thomas A. Edison invented the phonograph in 1877. Later he improved his original phonograph to a point where his business advisers said to him: "You have now the best phonograph in existence. Let us go ahead and market it."

Mr. Edison shook his head and replied: "I am not going to put out a new phonograph until it is so perfect that its reproduction of music cannot be detected from the original."

Mr. Edison spent three million dollars in real money to perfect the phonograph. He finally succeeded, and you can have Edison's three million dollar phonograph in your home at an exceedingly moderate cost.

BACK AT OLD GAME.

Hon. Frank Oliver a Newspaperman Again.

When Sir Sam Hughes was in the West a little while ago he made an old-acquaintance call on Hon. Frank Oliver in Edmonton.

"Please tell him that a stranger in the city would like very much to see him, if possible," he said to the telephone girl in the Bulletin office. He said it meekly and diffidently, and some of the meekness must have got into the message that went upstairs; for an answer came booming back on the wire to the effect that if there was anybody down there who wanted to see him so much they were to send the poor thing up and be done with it.

And so it came about that presently there was a timid little knock at the sanctum upstairs, and the Hon. Frank stamped across the room to open the door. When he had opened it, Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, of wide renown, stood before him.

"Oh! and so you're the poor old thing, are you?" said the Hon. Frank by way of greeting. He was surprised, but he wasn't going to show it. If Sam Hughes wanted to fool an old friend that way, he would have to take chances on being called names.

Sir Sam, it seems, used in days gone by to be rather fond of playing jokes on Mr. Oliver, and he hasn't got quite over it yet though the years have brought sobering changes to them both.

The ex-Minister of the Interior is now a newspaper man again, as he was before he first went to Ottawa. He writes long editorials, in which there are often traces of that same fiery heat that used to characterize his speeches in the House of Commons and especially his campaign speeches at election-time. But he also turns his hand now and then to a bit of reporting and is not at all above interviewing a big man who may happen to come his way.

Mr. Oliver, it must be remembered, is one of the West's pioneer journalists, and though it is now a long time since he brought his first little printing press by ox-cart to Edmonton—forty years ago, to be exact—the lure of the same old writing and printing game is still upon him. As to that, are there not a lot of worse things an ex-statesman might do than to run a newspaper, in which every day he can say what he thinks about what the world is coming to?

It was in 1883, only three years after he began publishing the Bulletin, that Mr. Oliver entered political life as a member of the old Northwest Council. He went to the House of Commons in 1896, and was Minister of the Interior from 1905 to 1911. After the defeat of the Laurier Ministry he continued to be a member for Edmonton till 1917, when he was defeated by the overseas vote. Since then his political activities have been confined to making speeches of the old war-horse type at party rallies and conventions and to writing editorials.

Not all his old acquaintances of the Ottawa days have been as well able as Sir Sam Hughes to get away with a little fun-making at Mr. Oliver's expense. It is told of one of the erstwhile Opposition members, whose name isn't necessary at this point, that in a debate on the United States tariff question he characterized the attitude of the Government as "a sight that would make angels weep and jackasses laugh."

Mr. Oliver was quickly on his feet and observed, with his most deliberate calmness, that he had observed that the honorable gentleman himself had been one of those who laughed.

Hon. F. B. Carvell once got into a somewhat heated discussion with the Minister of the Interior during a consideration of Indian affairs and asked him what was the difference between one Indian and one white man.

"The Indian is naturally a gentleman," answered the man from the West without hesitation.

It is this ability to hit back quick and strong, together with the two facts that he is an old-timer and that he has been always a bold champion of the West's rights and needs, that made Hon. Frank Oliver a people's favorite for so many years. Even yet there are many in Edmonton and in Alberta who like to see and hear him in his fighting moods, and as long as there are old-timers alive he will have a deservedly admiring clientele. But in these later days there has arisen a new generation that knew not the Hon. Frank, and that is why he has gone back to the pleasant but less spectacular work of writing editorials, with occasional calls from old-time friends, announced or otherwise, to break the office tedium.

Canada's Helium Gas.

Helium gas rising out of the ground in Alberta and other parts of Western Canada, and now used, in some localities of that country, to do the family cooking, may one time be carrying Britain's lighter-than-air flying machines in all parts of the world. It has been stated that there is enough of this gas, which makes a satisfactory substitute for the highly inflammable hydrogen commonly used for airships, to supply the entire British Empire for many years. The wells in Western Canada are the only sources of the gas in the Empire. Its weight-supporting ability is 90 per cent. that of hydrogen. Aviation is occupying a good deal of attention in Canada, and this natural supply of the filler for gas bags of dirigibles promises to advance interest in air navigation.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

July 4th, 1930
David in Camp and Court
40-49; 18:5-9.

Commentary—1. Israel's armies defeated (17:11). The armies of the Philistines and of the Israelites were facing each other in a narrow part of the valley of Elah. The crests of the hills are about a mile apart and five or six hundred feet high. One army occupied the highland on the north and the other the highland on the south. For one army to leave its place of defence and descend into the plain and ascend the hill on the other side would be to give the other army an advantage and invite defeat. Each army waited thus day after day hoping that the other would do so. At last the Philistines challenged the Israelites to decide the struggle by single combat. They named Goliath as their champion. He offered to fight any one of Israel. It was probable that he was of the remnant of Anakim, nearly all of whom Joshua destroyed, which remnant became identified with the Philistines. Goliath was from eight to ten feet in height. The cubit is the length of the forearm from the tip of the middle finger to the point of the elbow, hence varies so much that the cubit is said to be from sixteen to twenty-one inches. He wore metallic armor weighing from ninety to one hundred and fifty pounds.

II. Goliath's challenge accepted (17:12-47).—David was the youngest of Jesse's eight sons. The three eldest sons were in Saul's army and Jesse sent David from his home in Bethlehem to the valley of Elah with a supply of food for them. When he saw Goliath's defiance of Israel and their God, his courage arose and he declared that he was willing to meet the giant. Elah, David's eldest brother, was displeased with David's offer and desired that he should be quiet. When David's statement was reported to Saul, he sent for him at once. Saul doubted his ability to defeat Goliath, but when David told of his successful combat with a lion and a bear and expressed his faith in God, he consented to let him act as the champion of Israel.

III. David's victory for Israel (17:38-58). 38, 39. In preparation for David's encounter with Goliath, Saul put his own armor upon him, but David was not accustomed to such equipment and was sure he could not use it successfully. 40. Staff—The shepherd's crook. Choose him five smooth stones—Smooth stones would pass more easily through the air than rough, and would be more likely to hit the mark. Out of the brook—Through the centre of the valley ran a brook in a ravine, and there was an abundance of pebbles in the bed of the stream. Scrip—A small bag for carrying his belongings. 41. The man that bare the shield—Goliath, mighty in physical strength and clad with weighty metallic armor, advanced toward David accompanied by his shield bearer. David was alone, a youth and with no weapon of defence. 42. Disdained him—Goliath felt insulted when an unarmed youth presented himself for combat against him. A youth—He may have been from twenty to twenty-five years of age. Ruddy—Auburn-haired. 43. Am I a dog—It was customary for combatants before engaging in the fight to hurl abusive remarks at each other. Goliath's speech was full of venom, but David's was full of pious trust in the God of Israel. Cursed David by his gods—The gods of the Philistines were Dagon, Baal and Ashtoreth. Goliath called down upon David the curses of these gods. 44. I will give thy flesh, etc.—The giant believed he could easily vanquish his adversary. He had no regard for God, in whose name David trusted.

45. Then said David—It was not simply a contest of man with man, but of the true God with false gods. David expressed his firm reliance upon his God. 46. The Lord will deliver thee into mine hand—Goliath boasted in himself, but David depended upon Jehovah, that all the earth may know—David was not considering his own exaltation from the expected victory, but had the honor of God in view. 47. The battle is the Lord's—From a human standpoint the advantage was entirely in Goliath's favor. His helmet of brass, coat of mail, greaves and shield promised complete protection from any missile his youthful antagonist could hurl, but David looked higher than the natural. He believed God would interpose in his behalf. 48. David hated—He was eager to meet and defeat the foe of God and Israel. 49. smote the Philistine in his forehead—The stone either struck an unprotected spot or pierced the giant's helmet. David did his best in slinging the stone and trusting God, and God gave the victory. 50-58. Having laid Goliath low with his sling and stone, David ran and covered his head from the body with the giant's own sword. When the Philistines saw that their champion was dead, they fled as in a panic, and the armies of Israel pursued them to their strongholds, Ekron and Gath. David took the giant's head to Jerusalem and kept his great sword for himself.

IV. Saul's anger toward David (18:1-9). 1-4. Jonathan, Saul's son, became greatly attached to David at once, and their friendship continued until Jonathan's death. Saul kept David in his court. 5. David went, etc.—David was obedient to the king, behaved himself wisely—He exercised foresight and was successful in the discharge of the duties Saul placed upon him. over the men of war—

The king promoted David to have charge of his military forces. 6 came out . . . with instruments of music.—To celebrate the victory over the Philistines. 7 Saul . . . his thousands. . . David his ten thousand.—Honor was bestowed upon David. 8. Saul was very wroth—Saul was possessed of a spirit of envy and jealousy. He feared David's popularity. 9. Saul eyed David.—The prophet had distinctly told him in the day of his sin, that the Lord had rear his kingdom from him, and had given it to a neighbor that was better than he; and in David he could read the marks of such a man.

Questions.—What positions did the armies of Israel and the Philistines occupy in the opening of the lesson? What plan was offered for deciding who should be the victor? Describe Goliath and his armor. How long did Goliath defy Israel? Describe the coming of David to the camp of Israel. What offer did he make? What equipment did he have? What was the outcome of the combat? Why did David undertake the contest against Goliath?

FRAGMENTS SURVEY
Topic—Overthrowing modern Goliaths.

I. David's victory. Jamieson concludes that the events of the lesson occurred about twenty-seven years after the Philistine overthrow at Michmash. They occurred about eleven miles southwest of Jerusalem, and appear to have been the conclusion of a long campaign. Saul's culminating act of disobedience, and consequent rejection, appear to have been followed by a fresh assault and invasion on the part of the Philistines (17:1). To complete his preparation for his future dignity, David was introduced to the associations of court life. It is apparent that previous to the events of the lesson his presence had been intermittent, interspersed with frequent returns to his father's house and to his former occupation (17:15, 28). His prowess on this occasion led to his being permanently attached to the royal retinue (18:2) until the insanely jealous persecution of Saul necessitated his departure. With the lesson began the prolonged succession of events which both displayed and braced his own character, and culminated in his elevation to the throne to which he had been anointed.

I. David's victory. The advice dismay of Saul and "all Israel," the presence of the persistent Philistines challenge, is no small evidence of the decadent morale resulting from disobedience, and the consequent withdrawal of "The Spirit of the Lord" (1 Sam. 18:14). The bold of faith had been broken, and they possessed neither courage nor champion. The opportune visit of David brought forth "The Spirit which rested upon him" (1 Sam. 16:13) moved him with indignation at the reproach upon Israel and upon their God. Equally heedless of Eliab's jealous taunts and Saul's anxious dissuasions, and equipped with his simple shepherd weapons, "in the name of the Lord of hosts," he accepted the challenge, removed the reproach and transformed defeat into triumph. The secret of David's strength was his trust. He represents the spiritual, simple, reverent, trusting, contending not for self, but for truth. Goliath represents the material, towering, terrible and defiant.

II. Saul's envy. It is always the lot of excellence or achievement to be envied. None are more inclined to this unworthy and belittling passion than those who are conscious of forfeited possibilities. In Saul's life had come almost unparalleled opportunities. With the growing consciousness of failure and forsakenness came increasing envy, deepening into revengeful jealousy of David's achievements and consequent popular favor. As David became more and more fitted for the exalted place he was to occupy, Saul became increasingly unfitted for kingship. The lesson leaves him where it finds him in external position; but given in detail some of the steps by which he descended to moral levels lower and lower still, David's divinely imparted discretion was his safeguard, and more terrible than any anger could be. He was neither cringing nor defiant. He executed devery trust with exacting faithfulness (18:14, 15). "The Lord was with him." The "armor of righteousness" is a surer defence, and faithfulness an invulnerable panoply.

Salads For The Summer

These are salad days. The housewife can go into her garden and get the wherewith to make suitable salads for every meal. Nothing gives greater relish to our daily food than a good salad adjunct. Here follow some careful salad recipes:

SALAD OF PEAS
Cook some peas in a tender. Season them with pepper and salt, as usual. When done and cool drain off the liquid and turn into bowl. Grind an equal quantity of helled and skinned peanuts. Add a little minced sour pickle and a touch of salad dressing to moisten the ingredients thoroughly. Toss and serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

BAVARIAN SALAD
Yolk of one egg, one level tablespoonful finely-minced onion, one-half level teaspoonful salt, one fourth level teaspoonful each paprika and mustard, four tablespoonfuls oil, two tablespoonfuls vinegar, two cups cold boiled diced beef, one head lettuce. Beat the egg yolk, add the onion, salt, paprika and mustard. When well mixed add the oil and vinegar very slowly, alternating. Have the lettuce washed and crisp. Pile the beef lightly on it, and pour over the dressing.

SPANISH SALAD
Remove the skin from six ripe tomatoes and put in a stewpan with one onion and three sprigs of parsley, the two latter chopped fine. Add a good-sized piece of butter, salt, pepper to taste and boil 20 minutes. Dissolve a teaspoonful of corn-starch in a little milk and add this, stirring continually. Cook two minutes and remove from the fire, then add three eggs, beaten very lightly. Add a little more salt. Serve on toast.

FROZEN TOMATO SAUCE
This is most refreshing. Peel and chop rather fine half a dozen ripe, solid tomatoes; season with salt, white pepper, a tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar and a tablespoonful of some hot meat sauce such as Worcester-shire. Freeze the pulp solid in an ice cream freezer. When hard packed in fancy molds let stand two hours in salt and ice; then turn on crisp lettuce leaves. Serve with a spoonful of mayonnaise.

POTATO SALAD
Ordinary potato salad may be transformed into an attractive and appetizing dish by making French dressing and pouring it over two cups of potatoes cut into small cubes. Heat the mixture on a platter with a border of lettuce leaves. On the top of the potatoes at each end spread small cubes of seeds divided on one side by the rice whites of hard-boiled eggs and on the other side by the rice yolks, garnished with lettuce and sprigs of parsley.

PALE AND WEAK WIVES AND MOTHERS

Can Regain Health and Strength Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Many women who had a good color in their glibbed grow pale and colorless when they become wives and mothers. When the fading color in the cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause will be found in the state of the blood.

Many causes contribute to the condition of the blood known as anaemia. Overwork in the home, a lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet—these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips, brightness to the eyes and lightness to the step. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and nerve strengthener. They begin with the very first dose, and through a fair use make new blood that carries strength and health to every part of the body. The appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect and energy and ambition return. The case of Mrs. Wm. McNish, Abbott Street, Brockville, proves the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mrs. McNish says: "I was quite young when I married, and in raising my family I became all run down and a nervous wreck. I became so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without sitting down to get my breath. I slept poorly and at times my nerves would twitch so that I could not keep still, and I was in constant misery. I tried many medicines, but they did not help me; indeed my condition was growing worse until one day a friend told me that she had been in a somewhat similar condition and had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so I decided to try this medicine. After the use of a couple of boxes I felt they were helping me. My appetite was better and I slept better. By the time I had used half a dozen boxes I felt like a new woman, my health had fully returned and I could do my household work with ease. In view of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, I cannot recommend them too highly." The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DEATH ENTRY TO JOY.

Apart from the mystery of lives cut off in their early prime, and this is the horrid catastrophe of war, it is certain that in our natural clinging to life we exaggerate the importance of the incident of death. "Will you never find an abiding peace?" said a friend to a restless poet. He replied, "All life is a wandering to find home." Michael Fairless writes in the Road Mender: "To the large majority death in Pluto, king of the dark unknown whence no traveler returns, rather than Azrael, brother and friend, lord of the mansion of life. Strange how men shun him as he waits in the shadow, watching our straining after immortality, sending his comrades sleep to prepare us for himself. When the hour strikes he comes—very gently, very tenderly, if we will have it so—folds the tired hands together, takes the way-worn feet in his broad, strong palm; and lifting us in his wonderful arms he bears us swiftly down the valley and across the water of Remembrance. Very pleasant art thou, O Brother Death, thy love is wonderful; passing the love of women."

An Oil for All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lambo and overcome rheumatism, it has no equal. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicines and those taken on a journey.

TELL THEM BOTH ONE

As Mrs. Lushington tossed to and fro one night the clock struck three, and the voice of a child came plaintively from a crib: "Mamma!" it said. "Yes, love." "Mamma, I can't sleep." Won't you please tell me a fairy story, mamma dear?" "Wait, my love," said Mrs. Lushington. "Your father will soon be home now and he will tell us both one."

Dust Causes Asthma. Even a little speck too small to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the breathing tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must pass. From this condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy brings the user to perfect rest and health. It relieves the passages and normal breathing is firmly established again. Hundreds of testimonials received annually prove its effectiveness.

A woman is inclined to feel that she has lost her grip when she can no longer twist a man around her little finger.

A Clever Baboon.

An almost incredible instance of the human-like ways of a baboon is recorded in an interesting volume, "The Natural History of South Africa." Jack was a baboon who for 12 years previous to 1894, when he died of tuberculosis, served as under-study to a legless postman and sign-man on the Graff Reinet line called Wide, wheeled him in a lorry by and from his work, assisted him in his garden and in his household operations, and for years worked the levers at the signal station without error or accident. "A gentleman told me how he watched Jack adjusting a trolley on the rails in front of his master's cottage. This job completed, he went into the cottage for Wide's walking-stick, which had been forgotten, and on emerging he carefully locked the door and handed both key and stick to his master, who was sitting on the trolley."

HEALTHY CHILDREN ARE HAPPY CHILDREN

The well child is always a happy child—it is a baby's nature to be happy and contented. Mothers, if your little ones are cross and peevish and cry a great deal they are not well—they are in need of medicine—something that will set their bowels and stomach in order, for nine-tenths of all childhood ailments arise from a disordered state of the bowels and stomach. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, soothe the stomach, and thus drive out constipation, colic, indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers, and make the baby healthy and happy. Concerning them, Mrs. Albert Halsey, Pierreville, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I know of for little ones. They relieved my little girl from constipation when nothing else would and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A King's First Smoke.

King Alfonso has been telling the story of his first cigarette. This incident occurred immediately after he had been formally crowned as King of Spain on attaining his majority on his sixteenth birthday. Up till that time he had not been allowed to smoke, nor even then was prohibition withdrawn. Nevertheless he came to the conclusion that, as a ruling monarch, he might as well do as he liked in this respect. Accordingly he asked his brother-in-law, the Prince of the Asturias, for a cigarette. "I haven't got one," said the prince, faithfully to the family orders. Then the king applied to the officer of the guard, who said solemnly: "I regret that I do not smoke them." At last the young king made his way to the sentry at the palace door, who amiably produced a plug of black tobacco from his trousers' pocket and rolled a cigarette for his majesty, who smoked it proudly through the palace. "It made me violently sick later on," he said, in telling the story, "but I enjoyed it at the time. I felt, as I puffed and puffed, that I was really and truly grown up at last."

The Works of Peace.

There remains to us a great duty of defence and preservation; and there is open to us also a noble pursuit, to which the spirit of the times strongly invites us. Let us advance the arts of peace and the works of peace. Let us develop the resources of our land, call forth its powers, build up its institutions, promote all its great interests, and see whether we, also, in our day and generation, may not perform something worthy to be remembered. —Daniel Webster.

A JEWEL IN THE ROUGH

His friend bowed, too, and then they all three laughed and felt instinctively that they were friends. There is nothing truer than the saying, "Good looks are perpetual letters of introduction." These three carried their letters of introduction on their faces, and they were all mutually satisfied.

"I know you—father quite well," remarked Talbot to her. "This Pistol Shot has been at the institution longer than I have been here; but I never knew he had a daughter."

"No," said Katrine, tranquilly. "I dare say not. Father and I quarreled a little while ago, and since then I have been living by myself in one of those little cabins in Good Luck Row. Do you know it?"

"No," answered Talbot. "I come into town very seldom—only when I want fresh supplies. I stay up at the claim nearly all the time. Do you live all by yourself, then?" he added, wondering to himself as he looked at her—for her beauty was quite striking, and she was certainly not over twenty, yet there was something in the strong, noble outlines of her figure, in the tranquil calm of her manner, the self-reliance of her whole bearing, and the busin'-like way those pistols were thrust to her belt, that modified the wonder a little.

"Quite," she said, with a laugh. "Oh, I've always been accustomed to take care of myself."

"But don't you feel very dull and lonely?"

"Sometimes," answered the girl; "but then I would much rather live alone than with someone I can't agree with."

Both the men knew the drunken habits of old Poniatovsky, so that they silently sympathized with her, and there was a pause as they watched other miners coming in.

"Well," said Katrine, after a few moments, straightening herself from her leaning attitude. "I think I will go home now; this place is getting so full we shan't be able to breathe soon."

The men looked at each other, and then spoke simultaneously: "May we see you as far as your cabin?"

strated Stephen, trying to push on past the saloon.

"Why not?" said Katrine; "it's too early to go to bed. Come in; I'll pay," and before either of them could answer, she had pushed open the door and was holding it for them with one hand, while with the other she laid down three quarters on a small trestle inside, where an old man was sitting as door-keeper.

It was a large, oblong room, with a partition running half-way down the middle, dividing it in the front part, where they were standing, and where the bar was, and the back part, which was strictly the dancing portion. Stephen sat down on a bench that faced the inner portion, with the determination of a man who was not to be moved from his seat. At the other side of the room was a low raised platform, where some very seedy-looking musicians were sawing out a jerky tune from their feeble violins. The room was fairly full, and a more heterogeneous collection of human beings Stephen thought he had never seen. There were miners in the roughest and thickest clothing, laborers, packers, a few Indians, some youths in extraordinary attempts at evening dress, some negro minstrels with real dress shirts on and diamond studs, girls with old velvet skirts and odd bodices that didn't match; and here and there, idling against the wall, looking on with absent eyes, one could find a different figure—that of a student, or artist, or newspaper correspondent, or gentleman miner—one need not despair of finding almost any type of humanity in that room.

Talbot looked at the girl's bright, sparkling face as they entered, and then without a word slipped his arm round her waist and they started over the rough wooden floor.

"You dance fine," observed Katrine, both given themselves up to the pleasure of mere motion. "I guess you have had lots of practice before you came out here."

"Talbot smiled down into her admiring eyes.

"Yes," he said, thinking of the foreign embassies, the English ball-rooms, the many polished floors his feet had known "in England."

"My! I expect you're a great swell!" remarked the saloon-keeper's daughter.

"All the same," he answered, laughing. "I have never had a partner that danced so perfectly as you do."

"Now, that's real kind of you," answered Katrine, with a flush of pleasure; and they gave themselves up to silent enjoyment again.

At the end of the dance they came back to Stephen, and found him in the same corner, watching the room with a doleful sadness on his face. Katrine, flushed and with sparkling eyes, sat down on the corner of the step beside him.

"Come and have a dance with me to cheer you up," said Stephen, shortly.

"I'll teach you," volunteered Katrine, leaning her chin on her hands and looking up to him.

Stephen flushed angrily. "It's not that—my conscience won't allow me to."

"I'll make you forget your conscience," with a very winning smile on her sweet scarlet lips.

Stephen turned toward her and looked at her with a sudden horror in his eyes. The girl looked back at him quite undisturbed and un-moved. She saw nothing in what she had said. To her, conscience was a tiresome possession, that might, she knew, trouble you suddenly at any time, and if any one could succeed in making you forget your own gratitude, she was surely entitled to her own.

Words failed Talbot; he only looked at her with silent horror and fear growing in his eyes. Katrine waited what she considered a reasonable time for him to reply or to accept her offer, and then she rose and turned to Talbot, who had been standing looking down upon them both with amusement.

"I'm very thirsty; let's go and have a drink," she said; and they strolled across the room, and then down into the further end where the bar was. They elbowed their way to the counter and stood there waiting to be served. Most of the men seemed to know Katrine and made way for her, and she had a word of chaff, or a nod, or a smile, or a laugh, or friendly greeting, for nearly all of them. Talbot noted this, and noted also, and though the men were rude, and though rough enough, there was apparently no disrespect for her. Talbot wondered whether this was due to her snarls or her pistols.

"Who's your friend?" asked two of three voices at her side while they stood waiting.

"Mr. Talbot— one of the lucky ones," replied Katrine, promptly. "He has a claim up the gulch that's bringing him in millions— or going to it," she added, mischievously.

The men looked Talbot up and down curiously. Even in his rough miner's clothes he looked a totally different figure from themselves. Slim and tall and trim, with his long neck and refined, quiet face, he was a type common enough in Bond street London, or on Broadway, New York, but not so common in the Klondike.

"Well, if that's so, pardner," slowly observed a thickest, crop haired man, edging close up to him, "you won't mind standing a drink for us?"

"Delights!" returned Talbot, with a pleasant smile. "Give it a name."

The result of taking votes on this motion was the ordering of ten hot whiskeys and two hot rums—one for Talbot and three for the other three.

When The Day Is Over

When the household cares and the worries of everyday life have dragged you down, made you unhappy, and there is nothing in life but ache and worry, turn to the right prescription, one gotten up by Dr. Pierce fifty years ago.

Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, irregularities, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life.

Ophelia, Ont.:—"I suffered from a bad case of woman's trouble with backache, nervousness, disordered digestion, irregularity and I had great pain all the time, sometimes I would faint at my work. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I then took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it fixed me up all right. I look much better and feel fine. I will recommend the 'Prescription' to all suffering as I did."—MRS. MAYBELLE B. GRATRICK, 115 Albert St.

never drank spirits at all, and the terrible concoctions of the cheap saloons were an abomination to him. He took his glass, however, to show his friendliness, had it nearly filled to the brim with water, and then could hardly drink it.

The fluid seared his throat like red-hot knife blades. Katrine took her straight blades, as it was handed across the counter and tossed it down her throat at one gulp, seeming to enjoy it.

"Well, Jim," she said to the young man next her, "what luck have you had lately?"

"None," he replied, gloomily. "Since I left the old place I've lost all along in the 'Sally White'."

Talbot thought they were speaking of claims and that the man was referring to his work, and the next minute, when Katrine turned her head to him and said rapidly, "The Sally White is the third in the next street," he was rather mystified.

He came so little into town, and mixed so little with the un congenial life and company it offered, that he was ignorant of its prevailing fashion, pastime, and vice—gambling. Fortunes were made and lost across the trestle tables of the saloons quicker and easier than on the claims. He did not take much notice of what she had said, nor ask for an explanation. The girl was handsome and a beautiful dancer; but the company at the bar he did not appreciate at all, and his only idea was to withdraw her from it.

"Are you not ready for another dance?" he said, as the violin began to squeak out another tune.

Katrine nodded, and they had already turned away, when a voice said over her shoulder:

"You won't quite forget me this evening, will you?"

A Child Must Lead Them.
(By Benjamin De Casseres.)

The human race has got itself into the bad fix it is in by deserting the children.

Its eyes are fixed on material progress, its heat set on motion in the empire of matter, it has forgotten the magic of its origin—childhood.

The human, being to-day knows all sports, he indulges in a thousand pastimes, from picnicking to horse-racing; but he has forgotten how to play.

The play-spirit in us is lost because we have got too far away from the heart empire of the children, who have everything to teach us, and to whom we teach scarcely anything except the ugly art of growing old early.

How easy it is, when one tries, to pick up the fairy-story of our golden days and its tremendous meanings! Every child's innocent eye is a mute invitation to enter its kingdom, to play hooky with the stupid seriousness for our grown-up days and become again as a child.

"A little child shall lead them," is not a theological truth, but a psychological and physical fact.

These little darlings, elves out of some Hyperborean world, with the curly hair and the bell-like voices—our children—can take us by the hand and rebare the world.

All life is a make-believe, and it is only the make-believe world of the kiddies that is the true one. They are the morning of the world at our door. Kingdom come is reached by travelling backward to them.

We speak of the children growing up. They never do. They grow down to us.

It is we who need to learn the magic art of growing up to the children.

Tried Them and Now Is Satisfied

MADAM LANDRY TELLS WHAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DID FOR HER.

New Brunswick Lady Who Had Tried Other Medicines Claims She Found the remedy she was looking for in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Leolin, N.B., June 28th.—(Special.)—Among the many women who claim they owe their health to Dodd's Kidney Pills, none is more enthusiastic than Madam Bruno D. Landry, a highly esteemed resident here.

"It is with great pleasure that I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills," Madam Landry says. "I was ill for a long time, and nothing I took relieved me. I read often of the good Dodd's Kidney Pills did for others, but I had not much faith in them."

"At last, after having tried a lot of other medicines, I decided to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result has brought me perfect health."

"If those who suffer from kidney disease will use Dodd's Kidney Pills, they will find them good and soon be convinced, as I have been, that they are the remedy for kidney disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no faith cure. You don't have to believe in them to find in them the relief you are looking for. But if you ask your neighbors they will tell you out of their own experience of the work Dodd's Kidney Pills have done.

Oldest Tune in the World.

"For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" is said to be the oldest tune in the world. The origin of the air is lost in antiquity, but it is supposed to have been learned from the ancient Babylonians by the Egyptians, who popularized it in Africa and Asia Minor.

Arabs still sing it. The Crusaders caught the tune from their Saracen enemies, and sang it under the walls of Jerusalem. The air was ultimately carried into Europe, where it survived, in various forms, among the folk songs of the different nations.

In 1709, after the defeat at Malplaquet, the French, following a false rumor of the Duke of Marlborough's death in battle, composed a satiric lament, "Malbrook is Off to the War." Like most topical songs, this one was of short-lived popularity, but in 1781 it suddenly echoed from one end of France to the other. The young Marie Antoinette gave birth to an heir, and the baby prince's nurse used to put her royal charge to sleep with the old song of her village home, and as if by magic the song became the craze of the day.

DIDN'T WANT DUCKS

In a village in Staffordshire a lady started a poultry farm with one hen and thirteen eggs. Not having had the least experience in keeping poultry, she inquired of a friend how long eggs generally "took" to hatch. She received the reply: "Three weeks for chickens and four for ducks." The old lady met her friend some time later, and on being asked how the poultry farm was going replied:

"Oh, I've finished. At the end of three weeks there were 10 chickens, so I took the hen off, as I didn't want ducks."
