THE NOME CONTINGENT.

The exodus on the steamer Susie last night revived recollections of one year ago when every steamer sailing for the lower river was freighted to the guards with outgoing passengers. But the scene of last night will not be repeated this season. The Nome contingent has now gone and but a straggling few are yet here to leave on subsequent boats. Of the crowd that did leave last night less than one half were residents of Dawson, the majority being late arrivals from the outside who preferred the river route with its opportunity for visiting the Klondike metropolis to the open ocean route with its accompanying seasickness and notorious scenery.

Of the Dawsonites who departed yesterday for down the river there were two classes. Many of them have property interests on the Alaskan coast which require the presence of the owners, while the other class consisted principally of sporting and theatrical people whose habits are as migratory as those of wild geese. The former go in quest of less restricted towns than Dawson and where open games are to be found. The latter class go in quest of new audiences to entertain, new footlights to grace—or disgrace, as the case may be.

Dawson has experienced its exodus for the lower river for this season and the number gone will not be missed from her busy throng. The steamers from the upper river will land more people within the next ten days than departed on the Susie and from now on and until the close of navigation Dawson's population will steadily increase.

A SEASON OF PROSPERITY.

The powers which guide the destiny of nations have signified their approval of the will of the people of Canada by blessing us with a season of great prosperity almost continuously since the assumption of the reins of power by the Liberal party. It was predicted with confidence by the Conservative leaders that ruin and disaster would surely follow any attempt to tamper with the sacred provisions of the national policy. But notwithstanding unshelved hands were laid upon it and Sir Charles Tupper proclaimed that the "wall, the miserable wall," of ruined industries was heard in the land, and the establishment of soap kitchens and other institutions for feeding the hungry might be proceeded with immediately, the wished-for collapse did not come and the discovery was made that the tariff had not been tampered with to the extent that was at first thought. Mr. Foster said the reduction was only thirty hundredths of one percent, and Colonel Prior was ready to stamp this assertion with his approval. At any rate the tariff on British goods has been reduced one-third and the raw materials most necessary to manufacturers are admitted free. The demand for Canadian goods in Great Britain has increased tremendously. The farmers of the East have been prosperous beyond parallel as a consequence, and the discoveries of gold and minerals of all kinds in the West have filled the horns overflowing.

It was thought possible that our aggregate trade for this financial year might reach the four hundred million mark, but it seemed almost too much to expect. It was felt that there was a possibility of the tide falling for a while in accordance with the laws which govern trade and everything else. But the time of recession has not yet come. There is a possibility that it will be postponed indefinitely, as there are prospects on all sides for another year of rich harvests and plenty.

The revenue has expanded in sympathy with trade. The surpluses have been large, and in one year there was a substantial reduction in the debt. But the increase in trade demanded greater expenditure to provide for its accommodation. The providing of better communication with Great Britain was the cause of the increased sale of farm produce there. The conversion of the Intercolonial railway into an up-to-date line in all respects cost a large amount, but it has made it pay. The efficient administration of the Yukon country was an expensive business, but it was made to pay for itself. The dispatch of the Canadian contingent to South Africa involved between one or two millions, but none of us would undo that act if we could. So while the revenues have been large the demands upon them have almost kept pace with their growth.—Victoria Times.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

The Toronto Star gives people something to ponder over when it asks the following question: "The men who assassinated a constable yesterday were, all three, ex-convicts. Too many capital crimes are committed by men who have been punished, but not reformed, by imprisonment. Why should the state continue imprisoning men over and over again for three or four year terms? Why should not the incurable criminal, when once recognized as such, be permanently deprived of his liberty?"

The above is a terse and pointed argument in favor of capital punishment, the indisputable truth of which has lately been forcibly brought to light right here in Dawson in the case of what the Toronto Star aptly terms an "incurable criminal," a man who evidently could not keep out of jail and who was ever ready to commit any crime in the category from petty theft up to wholesale murder, an "incurable criminal" which only death or life in incarceration will prevent from complying with his natural or acquired instincts. Capital punishment is looked upon by many as a severe measure, but there are those whom it is dangerous to permit to live even in prison, and for all such the rope or electrocution constitute the only proper treatment.

Trade With the Yukon.

Mr. Geo. Brimstone, of the firm of Brimstone & Stewart of Dawson City has spent the past month in Toronto and other parts of Canada, buying for his firm. He has visited many manufacturers and has made a selection of house furnishings upholstered goods pictures and picture mouldings etc. which will be a surprise to the people of the Yukon territory and which will show them that they can enjoy more of the luxuries of life than they have been able to obtain in the past. He has made his purchases from Canadian manufacturers thus saving the heavy duty on American goods and on this account he will be able to sell them at from 25 to 50 per cent less than the fancy prices that have been charged up to this time. Among his other purchases is a full stock of undertakers' supplies and embalming goods. Mr. Brimstone was one of the first settlers in the Yukon district and was largely interested in mining and in fact still holds some claims at Sulphur and Quartz creeks. He is now on his way home and expects to reach Dawson in two or three weeks.—Toronto Globe May 30.

Unsigned Communication.

A communication relative to the inland sea in the rear of the Fairview hotel was received by the Nugget today, but the writer's name not accompanying the letter, it does not appear. No attention can be given to communications unaccompanied by the writer's name, not necessarily for publication but for the reason that the newspaper which publishes articles from unknown is liable to be jobbed.

Murder and Suicide.

New York, June 15.—A man named Meinhope, said to be a butcher, shot at a young woman known as Miss Mary Bolte in the Bronx tonight and then sent two bullets into his own head. The woman died several hours later and Meinhope is in a hospital dying. Miss Bolte is said to have come here from Los Angeles, and Meinhope, before being taken to the hospital, said she was his wife.

REGARDING WEDDING CAKES

An Aggregate of 1400 Tons Eaten in United Kingdom Last Year.

Queen Victoria's Jubilee Cake Weighed 500 Pounds and Cost $1,500—Many Curious Designs.

There is something rather appalling even to the most sentimental lover of wedding confectionery in the very thought of a pile of wedding cake more than a hundred times as lofty as Scullin, and so weighty—amounting to 1400 tons—that it would require a big host of strong horses to run away with them.

And yet this is but a modest estimate of the cakes made and consumed last year, for more than 310,000 weddings in the United Kingdom, at a cost ranging from a few shillings to scores of pounds each.

Perhaps no wedding was more liberally furnished with these dainty, if indigestible, confections than that of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York. Two of the royal cakes alone weighed together between four and five hundred weight, and had a combined height greater than that of bride and bridegroom.

The largest cake, made by a well known confectioner, was an exquisite beautiful creation, nearly seven feet high, and weighing two and a half hundred weight; while the smaller cake, of equal beauty of design, was four and a half feet high and weighed exactly two hundred weight. It rose in three tiers, the lower of which was surrounded by panels containing bas-reliefs of the prince's ships, Melampus and Thrush, with groups of anchors and life buoys. On the topmost tier were kneeling Cupids, supporting a nutmeg shell filled with—basil flowers, and the entire cake, with its decoration of white roses and May blossom and its daintily molded pillars and figures, was a triumph of the art of confectionery.

In addition to these two masterpieces there were 18 smaller cakes, the aggregate weight of all the cakes being a little under a ton, and some of the slices sent to all parts of the world weighed as much as 12 pounds.

For Queen Victoria's wedding the cakes numbered nearly a hundred, two weighing over 50 pounds. The principal cake was four yards in circumference, and was considerably more than twice the weight of the fair young bride. It was crowned by a figure of Britannia in the act of blessing the royal pair, a dog crouching at the feet of the prince and a pair of doves at her majesty's feet; while a plump and mischievous sugar Cupid was entering the date of the marriage in a saccharine register.

But this Goliath among bridal cakes was a pigmy compared with Queen Victoria's jubilee cake, which was as tall as two Life Guardsmen, one standing on the head of the other, weighed five hundred weight, and cost at the rate of £1000 a ton. In an amusing contrast to this leviathan was a tiny cake made for the young daughter of an American millionaire. This cake, which was a marvel of minute decoration, was small enough to rest on the child's palm, weighed only three ounces and cost a sovereign an ounce.

The wedding cake of the Princess Louise (now Duchess of Argyll) would be considered by many the most artistic of all the royal cakes. It was purely classic in design, each tier rising on pillars, and adorned with exquisitely modeled statuary, and the whole crowned by a model of that most graceful piece of classic statuary, Canova's Hebe. This cake was nearly six feet high and weighed 280 pounds, which, curiously enough, was the exact weight of bride and bridegroom.

It is interesting to note that these royal wedding cakes are always baked half a year before they are wanted, and that some of them have been the work of 20 or more artists.

The designs of wedding cakes are often very fantastic. One recently designed by a sporting bridegroom was crowned by huntsmen, horses, and hounds in full cry after a fox, which

Commissioner Ross in a recent interview said: "A fact which impressed me was the improved methods which are being used in developing the mines of the country." He had just returned from a visit to the creeks. He added: "On No. 8 above, Bonanza, the entire surface of the claim is being uncovered by the use of plows and scrapers propelled by electricity. No wonder the distinguished gentleman was surprised and interested. Here is an evidence of progressiveness never duplicated in the history of the world."

Look back a few years—imagine the conditions of '98. Why, the man who would prophesy such a change in so short a time as is illustrated in words of the commissioner would be looked upon as a mouthing lunatic. This, mind you, only shows progress in a limited sphere of action—all other branches of business have kept the pace. In our line we tried to not only keep abreast of the times but it has been our aim to be pioneers in progressiveness. We have at our store, and many of our patrons are wearing today, clothing which cannot be excelled in style and finish in any city of the world. was in the act of disappearing over the edge of the cake.
A New York undertaker recently, with deplorable taste, insisted on having his bridal cake decorated with skulls and cross-bones and other grim suggestions of his profession; and a well-known racing cyclist, who was married a year ago, had a very realistic representation of the "last lap," with himself winning by a wheel, on the summit of his cake.
One of the most appropriate and beautiful of these "eccentric" cakes was that designed by Admiral Markham when he married his Scottish bride in 1894. It was covered with every kind of nautical design—captains, life buoys, anchors, davits, etc., all artistically arranged, and perfect to the smallest detail; and on its top was a marvelously exact reproduction of the famous Alert, which he commanded a quarter of a century ago, caught in Arctic icebergs.—Ex.

Got Even With One.

A party of men in the lobby of the Rainier-Grand was discussing the incident of an Eastern man who, while being initiated into a secret order, began firing his revolver. One of the party said that it reminded him of the following story:
"Several years ago there was a society in Boston called the Gilseys. It was organized for the purpose of having a good time, which was provided by the money received from initiation fees. One of the candidates initiated was a policeman, and they didn't do a thing to him when they put him through—
"About a week afterward he saw a drunken man on Tremont street and old him if he didn't go home he would run him in.
"You wouldn't arrest a brother Gilsey, would you?" said the man.
"What are you one of them fellows?" replied the policeman, who proceeded to give him a double clubbing, which left him in a condition more fit for the hospital than a police station, and then sent him to the lock-up in a patrol wagon.
"When the captain saw him he remarked that he was in pretty bad shape, to which the policeman replied: "You should have seen the way he resisted." As he left the station the policeman muttered, "Well, I've got even with one of them, anyhow."—Seattle Times.

Is It Contraband?

Last night a whisper breathed into the ear of Corporal Piper the police waterfront guardian of Dawson told him of the arrival and disposal of intoxicating liquors in the City of Dawson by a party not possessed of a proper license for so doing.
Mr. Piper immediately commenced a search for the parties and found that the liquor had been delivered by the bar keeper on the steamer Columbus to a Second Avenue saloon. Piper took the goods to the barracks. In court this morning both the Columbus bar-keeper and the saloon proprietor explained their positions in the matter as being wholly open and above board, each thinking that a retailer in Dawson has the same right to buy goods from a wholesale house in Whitehorse as in Dawson, both places being in the Yukon territory. Decision in the case was reserved.

Business Reverses.

New York, June 15.—Dudley R. Walker, a grandson of the late Rear Admiral Walker, and well known in musical circles, committed suicide by inhaling gas at his boarding place in Brooklyn. He was 30 year old. Business reverses are thought to have caused him to take his own life.
Sidewalk Needed.
The residents of Fifth avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets have, at their own expense, constructed a sidewalk of the regulation size the entire length of the block. This is commendable on the part of the residents of that part of the city, but something more is needed. A sidewalk should be constructed along Fifth street from Third to Fifth avenues in order that these enterprising people may reach their own walk without plugging through mud to do so. Upwards of 100 families would be benefited by a sidewalk along Fifth street and a petition to the Yukon council asking that such an improvement be ordered will be presented in the very near future.

MR. JOSIAH LANGDON JONES

Was Badly Handled in His Obituary Notice.

Simpkins Tried to Do the Proper Thing but His Copy Was Butchered—Printing Office Mistakes.

Jones was a prominent citizen of Skook. When he died, the other day, one of the city papers telegraphed to Simpkins for too words about him. Simpkins had never been in print. So he warned everybody to look out for his great obituary.

An entire evening was spent upon his notice writing and rewriting, crossing out and condensing before he could get his subject's good qualities down to 100 words. When the work was completed it ran:

"On Tuesday, the 10th instant, Josiah Langdon Jones, one of the most prominent and highly respected citizens of Skook was found dead in bed by a servant entering with his morning cup of coffee. Mr. Jones was prominent in all schemes for the town's material advancement. Although not a church member he might be called an earnest worker in the vineyard, since so philanthropic plans passed without his endorsement. He leaves a talented wife and several bright minded children. Deceased was in the 50th year of his age. He was a man of wealth, unblemished character and marked ability."

With flushed face Simpkins handed his message at the village telegraph office. Unfortunately the operator's pen was also flushed—from a different cause—and when the obituary reached its destination, it read:

"On the 20th instant Josiah Langdon Jones most improvident and hardly respected citizen of Skook, was found dead in bed, servants entertaining him with toddy. Mr. Jones was prominent in all schemes for town's advancement, a church member when not in vineyard. Philharmonic plans found his endorsement leaves a tawdry wife and several light minded children deceased was in fiftieth year of his age of health character and marked irresponsibility."

A certain editor scratches his head and breathes heavily before his blue pencil succeeds in molding 'Jones' obituary to:

"Suddenly, on the 20th day of the present month, Josiah Langdon Jones, of Skook, passed peacefully away. He was a man of wealth, unblemished character and marked ability. He was a church member when not in vineyard. Philharmonic plans found his endorsement leaves a tawdry wife and several light minded children deceased was in fiftieth year of his age of health character and marked irresponsibility."

The intelligent compositor made speedy miscemest of Jones. When his obituary left the typesetter it stood:

"Suddenly, on the 20th day of the previous month, Josiah Langdon Jones, of Skook, passed peacefully away. This morally weak citizen was found dead drunk in bed. While said event was taking place servants were carousing with him in the early morning hours. Mr. Jones was prominent in all schemes for the town's material advancement. He was a church member late in the year, though earlier he was engaged with wife. He was a musician of unblemished character, raising frequently philharmonic societies. He lived with his wife. Left her a legacy and several mortally afflicted little ones. Deceased was in the 45th year of his age. Strong in viciousness to the last."

"On the 31st instant, Josiah Langdon Jones, of Skook, died suddenly of excessive drinking. This was especially lamentable, as Mr. Jones was prominent in all schemes for the town's material advancement. The strange part of his career was that he always swore off at the end of the year. He was something of a musician, though there are reports of his raising philharmonic musical societies while in his cups. He lived with a woman whom he called his wife, and to whom he left a legacy and also several mortally afflicted children. Deceased was in the 45th year of his age. Strong in viciousness and lack of virtue to the last."

The man who made up the paper's obituary mixed up Mr. Jones' obituary with an account of forest fires, so that when it reached Skook it read:

"On the 31st instant Josiah Langdon Jones Skook died suddenly from excessive drinking. He was a great good man that swept over the country like a tornado. The strange part of his career was that he always swore off at the end of the year. He was something of a musician, attended with great loss of life. He lived with a black and charred woman whom he called his wife, and to whom he left a legacy and also several imbecile children. Deceased was in the 34th year of his age. One shrinks from the thought of such noble specimens of Nature's art devoured by consuming flames."

One of Mr. Jones' very large "imbecile" children is looking for Simpkins about now.—Anon.

Story From Liverpool.

A certain doctor the other day saw at a grocery some patent "dog biscuits," which have come into use lately for feeding dogs. The biscuits are about three inches square, an inch thick, and hard as iron, with an appearance the same as an army hardtack. The dog biscuits are made of poor flour and water, filled with meat fibre, liver, or any kind of cheap meat. The doctor had a dog that was a little off his feed, and he thought that perhaps the dog had eaten too much stuff around the house, so he bought a few pounds of the dog biscuits with the idea of changing the diet of his favorite pointer, and had the biscuits sent home. He did not go home to lunch, but about 4 o'clock he appeared on the scene, and found a sort of coldness where there was usually a genial warmth in the household. His wife looked hurt, and did not speak to him, his mother-in-law was lying on a lounge with both hands on her stomach, which was apparently swelled to twice its natural size, and a young lady friend of his wife, who had laughed with the family, was complaining of a nameless feeling in the region of the heart, which she could not account for. The reception was cool enough, and the doctor picked the body off the floor, and found the little one bravely gnawing at a dog biscuit, with its four little teeth, and looking discouraged.

"Great heavens," said the doctor, as he snatched the dog food from the baby and held it up, "do you want to kill the child?"

"They all looked at the biscuit and shouted:

"Why, what is it?"

"Dog biscuits," said the doctor, red of cross.

No newspaper can publish a diagram of three female yells, yelled in concert. The wife was then first to regain her composure, and she said:

"Husband, didn't you send those great biscuits up for lunch?"

"Lunch nothing," said the doctor.

"That is patent dog biscuit for sick dogs, or any kind of dogs. It is scraps of meat pressed with flour and baked."

"Merciful heavens!" said the wife.

"We have eaten them all except the one the baby has. That I should live to feed guests on dog food."

The mother said she knew she would die, as she had eaten her dog biscuit dry, and the water she drank had swelled it until she had to loosen her corsets. The young lady got down on her hands and knees and gave a bowl that showed the dog food was getting in its work. It seems the cook had seen some directions in the paper in which the biscuits were wrapped up, to the effect that the biscuits might be soaked in water, or milk, or eaten dry, and she served them both ways. The doctor had more on his hands for a few minutes than he could attend to with credit to himself, but in a short time all were considered out of danger, but they would not speak to the doctor all the evening, and now the ladies can't see a dog without being sick at the stomach. The mother-in-law says she expected almost anything when her daughter married as she did but she had never supposed she would be fed on dog food when she visited her dear daughter.—London Weekly Telegraph.

Foster Assassination.

Shreveport, La., June 15.—The situation here tonight with regard to the Foster assassination is unchanged. There were many reports current today that the negro, Prince Edwards, had been seen in several places, but up to tonight the officers have made no arrest. The twelve negroes under arrest for complicity in the killing remain in jail at Benton, fully guarded, and it is believed there is no danger of violence. The town is quiet and the sheriff says he apprehends no further trouble. Gov. Heard today offered a reward of $250 for the capture of Edwards. This makes $7500 offered for the apprehension of the fugitive.

Son Killed the Mother.

Montreal, June 15.—Investigation of the Redpath tragedy by the coroner's jury showed that Mrs. Redpath had been shot twice, once in the back of the head and the second time in the right shoulder, while a bullet had entered young Redpath's head to the right of the temple. The jury brought in a verdict that the young man had killed his mother while in a fit of temporary insanity brought on by an epileptic fit, and that he had taken his own life.

Was She Murdered?

Chicago, June 10.—A. H. Hunger and F. Wayland, who have been on trial for conspiracy to defraud insurance companies through the death of Miss Mary Defenbach, were this evening found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary. Frank H. Smiley, indicted with Hunger and Wayland, pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence. It is likely that he will escape with a light sentence. The evidence in that case showed that Hunger, Brown, Smiley and Miss Defenbach entered into a conspiracy by which Smiley was to appear as the affianced husband of the woman. She was then to be ill and die, leaving the insurance, which included one policy in a stock company and two in fraternal organizations, the total aggregating $25,000. The woman in her will said that she desired her remains to be cremated, and it is thought that it was the intention to hurry her away after her supposed death and cremate another body procured from a hospital. The woman was taken ill according to program, but did not fall and died. Her body was at once cremated. An inquest was held by Assistant Coroner John B. Weickler without a jury, and Weickler returned to the coroner's office a verdict that the woman "had died of natural causes. The death of the woman is shrouded in mystery and physicians on the stand differed widely as to the cause of death.—The state, however, declared that the woman was murdered, although it could not be proved. It was shown that all the insurance carried by the woman was assigned before her death, and that her will was drawn up after these assignments had been made.

The Steen Controversy.

Montreal, June 8.—The civil action Rev. J. Steen, an Anglican clergyman, is taking against Archbishop Boud of Montreal, will be entered in the Supreme court in the course of a week or ten days. The action is one for damages and the amount claimed is $2500, sufficient to allow of the case being carried to the privy council, if it is necessary to take the matter before that tribunal. The case grew out of the withdrawal by the archbishop of the license allowing Rev. Mr. Steen to perform the duties of a clergyman in the diocese, the archbishop not approving of Mr. Steen's views, which are alleged to be unorthodox. There has been a lengthy discussion on the subject printed in the papers, the archbishop holding that certain statements made by Mr. Steen in lectures before the students of the diocesan college cast doubts on the inspired character of the Bible.

NEW STEAMER PROSPECTOR

Is Handsomest of the Entire Yukon River Fleet.

Owned and Operated by Stewart River Company - Initial Trips From Whitehorse to Dawson.

The new and handsome steamer Prospector arrived in port this morning from her initial run between Whitehorse and Dawson. She brought in 80 tons of merchandise consigned to the Dome Commission Co. and Townsend & Rose. The boat is without exception the handsomest craft on the river, her lines being exceptionally clean cut and graceful. She was built under plans drawn by Capt. Smyth at a cost of $25,000 and is 110 feet in length by 22 feet beam. Her carrying capacity is 80 tons which when loaded displaces but two and a half feet of water. When light she draws but 12 inches.

The Prospector, together with the steamer Quick, is owned by the Stewart River Company, which will operate the two boats this season, sending the Quick up the Stewart and using the Prospector to connect at the mouth of the river with that boat.

The new boat is licensed to accommodate 50 first-class and the same number of second-class passengers. On her run down river she attained a speed of 15 knots an hour. Her engines are more powerful than either the Bailey or the Zealandian and have a 12 inch bore with a 45-inch stroke. The staterooms are handsomely fitted up and contain berths with wire spring mattresses, fresh, clean sheets, finely woven blankets and such accessories as are found in any first-class steamer in any country. The middle of next July the Prospector will make a special run to the head of navigation on the Pelly and McMillan rivers as considerable interest is being manifested in that district.

Stockholders of the boat are: W. Meale, Capt. Smyth, Capt. Ritchie, H. C. Davis, Emil Stauf, H. E. Ridley, W. D. Rainbow and C. V. Anthony. Capt. Ritchie is navigator of the craft, than whom there is no more able man on the river. She returns to Whitehorse, starting tomorrow night.

DR. SPARLING OF MANITOBA

Will Occupy the Methodist Church Pulpit During Summer.

Rev. A. E. Hetherington of the Methodist church leaves some time this week with his family for a trip to the outside. He will be away until the 1st of September and during his absence his pulpit will be occupied by Dr. Sparling, principal of Wesley College, Winnipeg.

The request to Dr. Sparling to occupy the pulpit here during the summer was sent by wire and the answer that he would leave immediately was received here by wire.

The following item taken from the Manitoba Free Press gives an account of a love feast at which Dr. Sparling read the telegram and announced his intention of coming north:

"The love feast opened with the breaking of bread, followed by a fellowship meeting at which nearly all the venerable men at the conference recited their spiritual experiences. A number of ladies also spoke on the work conducted by the various church aid societies organized by the women of the Methodist church. At the conclusion of the love feast, Dr. Sparling read a telegram received from his son inviting him to preach at Dawson, and he announced his intention of spending July and August in conducting services in the Yukon."

Chicago to Great Britain
New York, June 12.—A special to the Tribune from Montreal says:

Warren F. Purdy, manager of the Northwestern Steamship Company of Chicago, who is in town, says that the company is satisfied with its venture in having ships plying directly between Chicago and Great Britain by way of the St. Lawrence route. There is $1,000,000 invested in the four steamers already running and two more are to be constructed immediately.

Dr. Purdy says he is satisfied that the announcement of the Dominion government that there is fourteen feet of clear water in the St. Lawrence canal is well founded, as on the voyage of the North Town, which has just come through, he held the tape himself and found a minimum depth of more than fourteen feet.

Mr. Purdy predicts that other Chicago shipping firms will follow the lead set by his company and expects to see half a dozen different lines plying direct between Chicago and Europe. There is, in his opinion, an astonishing future before the St. Lawrence waterway.

Special Power of Attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

STEAMBOAT NEWS.

The Clifford Sifton is now again on the ways at Whitehorse, she having been taken from the water where she was recently submerged by those having her in charge at the time. No particular damage is reported to have ensued from her sinking save the valuable time lost by her owners. She will be relaunched Monday next.

The water fell four inches since last night and all apprehension of a flood is now passed as the water will in all probability continue to fall until the coming of the July rains.

Steamer Susie left last night at 8:30 with a big passenger list, the same being published in yesterday's paper. An immense throng of people witnessed her departure from the neighboring docks, in fact it appeared as though nearly everyone in town was down to see the boat off. The next boat for the lower river will be announced in a few days.

COMING AND GOING.

The Prospector will sail for Whitehorse tomorrow night.

Nearly all the hotel rooms in the city were vacant last night their former occupants having left for the lower country on the Susie.

The territorial courts have adjourned for the balance of the month and will meet again on Tuesday, July 2d, Monday being a legal holiday.

Mr. Rose of the firm of Townsend & Rose returned to Dawson from a trip to Whitehorse on the steamer Prospector this morning with a consignment of 80 tons of merchandise.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ashely are among the recent sour dough arrivals from the outside. They spent the winter in Chicago where on their return they left their little son Elmer in school.

Andy McKenzie, head mixologist at the Aurora refreshment emporium, has been confined to his home for the past two days. Whether it is a bad cold or a case of cucumbers his physician has not stated.

Hague Court Organized.

Berlin, June 15.—F. W. Hollis, the United States member of The Hague arbitration court, during an interview today, informed the correspondent of the Associated Press that The Hague arbitration court has only just been organized by the appointment of the last of the 55 judges, but several international questions are already before the court. The Transvaal question was certainly not one of these, because The Hague peace conference had decided that the Boer states were not sovereign states. The court will not be in permanent session, but will only act when suitable questions are presented to it when the whole court will select a bench to adjudicate each question.

Mr. Hollis said both Count von Buelow and Baron von Richthofen, the foreign minister, had received him in the most kindly manner, sharing his belief that The Hague court, was like the Magna Charta an agreement around the future of which international law will crystallize. Mr. Hollis believes the emperor, the German government and the German people are now sincerely in favor of The Hague arbitration court and all questions which seem to properly belong there. Mr. Hollis thinks this is all the more remarkable because Germany, during the conference of 1899, had at first a number of serious weighty objections to urge against arbitration. But she has now honestly altered her opinion.

Clossen Dismissed.

In Magistrate Howard's court this morning C. A. Clossen, charged with being drunk while on duty as captain of the ferryboat Marjorie, was dismissed with a warning that will probably cause him to refrain from looking again on red liquor for some moons to come.

DAWSON

Causes a Montana Chechako to Become Ulay.

Wm. Morrison a chechako from Montana who has only been in Dawson for a week has been celebrating his arrival in this celebrated camp by getting on a glorious jag. Yesterday afternoon he was on First avenue in a very intoxicated condition using obscene language and was taken to the barracks and this morning pleaded "Guilty, your honor." The circumstance of the case was told by the arresting constable and a sample of the obscenity which Morrison had been using was also told to Magistrate Wroughton, who gave the offending chechako the option of paying $10 and costs or spending 15 days on the royal wood pile and also told him that such conduct would not be tolerated in this country to which Mr. Morrison replied in a very meek tone of voice, "I will never let it happen again, your honor."

C. D. McKay, waiter at the Orpheum was before the magistrate charged by D. T. Webber with keeping $45 change out of a $50 bill with intent to defraud. Webber was put on the stand and gave his testimony in a halting undertone manner. He said he is a miner and has recently come in from the creeks. He had been to both of the theaters last night and taken drinks at both. He had about $165 last night including several $10 and $20 and one $50 bill. He had given the waiter the $50 bill and had received $5 in change. He had inquired for the balance of the change and had been informed that he had all that was coming to him as he had only given the waiter a $5 bill. Under cross-examination he said that a search of the cash drawer had been made and it failed to reveal the presence of that particular bill. He had also gone back to the Standard to see if he had lost it there, and he could not swear positively that he had given the $50 bill to the waiter. The defense brought forward no witnesses although several were in the courtroom. The magistrate dismissed the case, the evidence of the prosecution not proving the charge.

Reserved Seats.
The demand for tickets to the Bates Slavin go on next Saturday night has compelled the management of that affair to place the same on immediate sale. Parties desiring reserved seats can obtain them at the Exchange tonight or at Savoy theater the night of the go, should they not all be sold prior to that time. Perkins who formerly met Slavin in a 10-round go is now on his way down river to witness the event and make a match with the winner.

HOOTCH SEATTLE DIVORCES

Stanley Case Again Being Aired in Court.

Seattle, June 18, via Skagway, June 26.—Tomorrow the celebrated Stanley divorce case will have another airing in the court. It has been in the courts three years. Stanley is the son of a Klondike millionaire and his wife claims his parents have alienated his affections from her.

The case of Schorbron against Louis Schorbron for separate maintenance is still on in the superior court. She alleges her husband should have $45,000 and he says he gave most of it away, nearly all to his wife at various times and in various sums. He says he cannot live with his wife on account of her unreasonable behavior. She was accustomed to keep him awake at night by scolding him because he was not versed in etiquette. The wife says she knew before she married him that he was coarse, but thought he knew sufficient to say "excuse me" if he was called away from the table while she was still eating.

THE HOTEL M'DONALD

Has an Unaccountable Fire in a Disconnected Flue.

This morning a disconnected flue in the kitchen of the McDonald hotel caught fire and for a moment threatened to do considerable damage. The chemical responded quickly to a telephone message and succeeded in putting it out before any damage resulted. The cause of the fire is unexplainable as no stove is connected with this flue in the entire building. Two flues run up through the roof from the kitchen, both of which are the same height and about 15 feet apart. One of them connects with the kitchen stove and the other is used for heating stoves, all of which are now removed, so that no smoke or fire is going up one of the flues. It was in this one that the fire caught which makes it peculiar. The only explanation is that a spark from the connected flue must have dropped into the other setting fire to some paper inside.

We Want to Know.

Not only the Nugget but several hundred Dawsonites as well would like to know why it is that on an occasion like the leaving of the steamer Susie yesterday a policeman presumes to stand at the gate and discriminate as to who shall pass through and who shall not. A representative of this paper yesterday evening stood by the gate and dozens of respectable men and women were refused admittance and later when he passed on through found every prostitute and tinnhorn gambler in town on the wharf. If the policeman is self-appointed, the sooner such officiousness is put on the better, and if he is otherwise appointed the sooner the person who makes the appointment gives explicit orders that no discrimination is made the more profound will be the respect entertained for the policeman. The majority of people desire to conform to official orders but they object seriously to being discriminated against.
