Life's Common Things.
The things of every day are all so sweet:
The morning sunsets wet with dew;
The daisies in the meadow, the blue
Of far-off hills where twilight shadows lie,
The night with all its music, mystery of sound
And silence, and God's starry sky!
Of life—the whole life—is far too brief,
The things of every day are all so sweet.
The common things of life are all so dear,
The waking of the warm bed-room,
To find again the old familiar room,
The accents and smiles and sounds that cheer
The lonely work, the plain, the light of baby's Laugh,
The creases of the open fire:
The washing, then the footstep coming near,
The opening door, the hand clasped and the
The things of every day are all so dear.

North Grand Pre.
AN ESSAY WRITTEN BY ESTHER
L. GOULD, AGE 11 YEARS.
Many years ago the wooded land of North Grand Pre was completely surrounded by water.
What is now known as the Bass' glittering with silver sheen, appeared like a mirror set with emerald.
The glassy sea reflected the image of the majestic trees which swayed o'er head.
And wreaths of pale blue smoke could be seen curling up to the capillary sky which was flecked with fleecy clouds.
At sunset the sky was painted brilliant in hues of crimson, gold and the richest purple which were reflected by the water until the glorious sun sank behind the horizon and the shadows of darkness o'er spread the land.
And Blomdon looked on in the background, guarding in grim defence that enchanted scene.
That smoke arises from numerous wigwags, the homes of the Indians, the only inhabitants of this beautiful site which is destined to become our Niagara.
These people with their dusky complexions and fiery eyes, clothed in the skins of wild animals lived in a primitive way in their cone shaped wigwags which were covered with birch-bark.
They lived by making the sea give up its treasures and the forest its game.
The fierce savages lived under the protection of their imaginary god, Glooscap, whose statue and consecrated Blomdon.

But this scene is not the same all the year. In autumn the leaves are tinted richest and most delicate hues that one could scarcely imagine.
But when the biting frost comes these leaves wither and fade and are borne to the ground by the autumnal blast.
Then how softly the snowflakes fall from the leaden sky while old Mother Earth draws them in loving embrace to her bosom.
Then the Indians bound on their snowshoes and hunted the fox, wolves, moose and other wild animals.
The settlement of white people started was at Grand Pre proper. It consisted of French who were seeking a home. A feeling of genuine friendship sprung up between them and the Indians who crossed over the broad expanse of water in their canoes.
They taught them many arts and crafts unknown in France, and were the means of their prosperity.
Soon the French started to construct the vast Grand Pre dykes, and this required a great amount of hard and incessant labor, but they at last accomplished it and it yielded its owners large quantities of hay and grain.
Many years passed away leaving with them peace and prosperity for these simple Acadian peasants. The only disturbance was caused by the English who claimed the whole country and ordered them to take the oath of allegiance to Great Britain. This they refused believing that in time France would be recognized as ruler of the whole domain.
Great Britain, noticing all this did not think it safe to let them remain

Sluggish Liver Action
Causes indigestion, constipation and bilious headaches—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the cure.
"Sluggish liver has been my trouble," writes Mrs. F. P. Smith, Paris, Ont., "and I have been greatly benefited by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have taken medicine from several good doctors, but none ever did me the same amount of good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I could not keep up and do my work if I did not use these pills when the bilious spells come on, and I have recommended them to many."
"Dr. Chase's medicine were about the only kind that came into my father's house 40 or 50 years ago, and they were always satisfactory."
Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prompt, definite and direct in their action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and are therefore the most effective treatment obtainable for biliousness, indigestion and constipation. 25 cents a box, 5 for $1.00, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Banish Pimples and Eruptions.
IN THE SPRING MOST PEOPLE NEED A TONIC MEDICINE.
One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order is the pimples, unsightly eruptions and eczema that come frequently with the change from winter to spring. These prove that the long indoor life of winter has had its effect upon the blood, and that a tonic medicine is needed to put it right. Indeed there are few people who do not need a tonic at this season. Bad blood does not merely show itself in disagreeing eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism and sciatica; the sharp stabbing pains of sciatica and neuralgia; poor appetite and a desire to avoid exertion. You cannot cure these troubles by the use of purgative medicines—you need a tonic, and a tonic only, and among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their tonic, life giving, nerve restoring powers. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ and brings a feeling of new health and energy to weak, tired, ailing men, women and children. If you are out of sorts give this medicine a trial and see how quickly it will restore the appetite, revive drooping spirits, and fill your veins with new, health-giving blood.
You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

One Million Dollars for a Good Stomach.
THIS OFFER SHOULD BE A WARNING TO EVERY MAN AND WOMAN.
The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.
His misfortune serves as a warning to others.
Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.
Dyspepsia is commonly caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices, or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach; the result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.
We are now able to supply certain missing elements—to help restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to aid in making the stomach strong and well.
We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a most dependable remedy for disordered stomachs, indigestion, and dyspepsia.
We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.
Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, A. V. Rand.

closer examination it proved that the dykes were flooded and the waves were dancing and sparkling in the sunlight. And many cattle found their water graves in the rebel deep. They began at once to rebuild the dykes the most of which was done that fall.
Many people have come here and settled and they have all prospered. And fifteen of the wealthiest farmers in the country are enjoying the benefits of its vigorous climate and freedom, of which few countries can boast.
The orchards yield apples and other fruit which are renowned all over the world for their flavor, size and quality. The hand of the farmer has so settled the soil that North Grand Pre might well be called the 'Garden of Kings county.' There we find the highest phase of farm life, for here we find handsome farm houses all equipped with all modern conveniences.
Develpine Beach has become a famous summer resort and contains many cottages, a hotel and restaurant and is becoming one of the best known places for pleasure and pastime.
A school-house has been erected and in it we are being educated so that our names may be entered among the great men and women of the universe. Modern bungalows are about to be erected and we extend a hearty welcome to all intended newcomers.
And Blomdon looks on as it did centuries ago ruling supreme over this band of happy, prosperous farmers.

"Speaking on etiquette, did you see how a crown for those advertised instructions on 'What to do at table'?"
"Yes."
"And what did you get?"
"A slip with one word printed on it: 'Eat!'"
"Dyspepsia makes me think of a spy bee."
"Indigestion is he?"
"Oh, no, it is that way—nearly every one he touches gets stung."

Remarkable Bible Text.
The eighth verse of the third chapter of Zephaniah contains every letter including the final, of the Hebrew language, while one will find in the twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra, every letter of the English alphabet except J. The verse reads as follows: 'And I, even I, Ar exercez the King, do make a decree to all the treasures, which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of Heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily.'—From the Young's Word.

In Full Sympathy.
Since fresh air at night has become imperative the right way to curtain a bedroom must be studied. Every window must be raised at top and bottom, which is better for lungs and complexion than for hangings.
The specialist advises no curtains; so will most men, who rarely like the faintly draperies dear to women. Few householders agree with this, even health fanatics. Nothing furnishes a room like fresh white curtains. Besides, the publicity of the uncurtained room is objectionable, not to mention the bare look of the outside of a house.
The woman who believes in fresh air never hangs at her bedroom windows curtains that cannot be laundered easily or that are ruined by dampness. Windows up on the year around soon works have delicate lace or colored curtains.
Double draperies are not advisable for the bedroom. Too much air is shut out, though they are lifted back each night. Where one will have them choose denim, wash prints or heavy wash silks that will stand tugging.
One woman fastens to the side lines of her windows, high above the middle sash, a small hook. In a convenient place she keeps cords for each half of curtain, and her maids are taught when preparing the room for the night to loop the curtains up and back, thus giving a free current of air.
The most practical method of curtaining a bedroom is to divide the curtains in two sections horizontally. A rod is run at the top of the lower sash and the lower half run on it by a narrow casing. The upper curtains are cut longer than the lower one and hung to a rod at the top of the casing so they conceal the lower rod.
By this arrangement the window can be lifted with no floating draperies to blow out the window and get stringy, yet the room has the benefit of curtains.

A Baking Help.
The following contrivance is very successful when you wish to bake hot rolls or gems and do not have time to heat the oven. Place a flat-iron stand on top of the stove, put gem pans on it, and cover tightly with a pan, letting them remain there just long enough to bake thoroughly on the bottom; then take them off, and put them on the upper grate in the oven to brown the tops.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAY 10, 1912.

Decline of the Shad Fishery.

There was a time when the shad fishery of the Maritime Provinces was a most important industry. Thirty years ago a fleet of boats from this port engaged in this business during the summer months and numerous weirs along the shores of Minas Bay in made good catches. During recent years this industry has dwindled away to very small proportions. Some idea of this falling off may be had when it is stated that the quantity caught in these provinces has declined from 10,036 barrels in 1903 to 5,242 barrels in 1910. In this vicinity the decrease in the number of fish taken is very much in excess of this proportion. The fishery is confined to the Bay of Fundy and its tributary waters. Different causes have been assigned for the decline, chief among which are the catching of the fish when they go up the rivers in the spring to spawn and the lack of fish-ways in dams on streams flowing into the Bay—a circumstance which also held by some that the amount of sawdust which has been allowed to go into the rivers in past years from the various sawmills has driven away the fish. The catching of the spawning shad is the more indefensible because when the fish are ready for spawning their fish is foul and unfit for human food. In the year 1908 the Dominion government appointed a commission to inquire into the cause of this decline in the shad fishing. This commission met at various points, including Wolfville, and made an investigation, examining numerous witnesses, and recommended steps to be taken to rehabilitate the fishing. So far as we know, however, nothing of any account has been done in that direction. The matter is a most important one and deserves immediate attention. The opinion as to the cause of the decrease from men who may be engaged in the fishery or who are interested in it can be worth but little after all. The opinion of the best experts obtainable should be secured and their advice acted upon. We shall be very glad to publish correspondence regarding this important question.

An Excellent Remedy.

Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent remedy for little ones. They never fail to relieve baby of stomach and bowel complaints of the many other little pills that worry him. Besides this they are absolutely safe, being guaranteed by a government analyst to contain no opiates or other harmful drugs. Concerning them Mrs. Sam. Legros, Ste. Cecile, Que., writes: "I have found Baby's Own Tablets an excellent remedy for my little one and would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The May Rod and Gun.

Every sportsman interested in the welfare of Canada's fish and game resources should read the May number of Rod and Gun in Canada published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., which contains the first chapter of the Final Report of Mr. Kelly Evans of the Ontario Game and Fisheries Commission. Mr. Evans has spent two years in the preparation of this report and the information contained therein and the recommendations which Mr. Evans makes as to a broader policy of administration should be read by every sportsman. 'An Ideal Canadian Holiday' will appeal to those who already have visions of a summer outing. Trap-shooters will find their interests particularly well looked after in this month's issue which contains in addition to the usual department news and scores a specially illustrated article on 'Cannock' on the Easter Inter-Club Shoots, between Montreal and St. Hubert clubs.

In the Canadian Magazine, for April 11, Col. C. F. Winter's 'Recollections of Tel-el-Kebir' are extremely interesting. They relate the experience of a Canadian in that famous encounter. F. M. Wightman gives the first of a series of articles on the contrasts in customs, names, expressions, etc., that prevail in the Maritime Provinces. Mary Adelaide Sieder contributes a stirring account of how the British in 1912 avenged the destruction of the good ship 'Nancy'. Garry Love describes a fascinating fishing trip along the Bow River near Calgary. H. Montrose Lamb has a splendidly illustrated article on 'Photography as a means of artist expression', and Katherine Hale has a comprehensive review of the 'Music of the season'. There are short stories, sketches and poems by Anne Warner, Miss Inland, Corroll C. Allen, Miss Augusta Henrietta Mowbray, Lloyd Roberts, E. Hyatt, Jane Graham, Ada Macdonald, Clara Griffin and L. J. Boston.

The bill to amend the Nova Scotia Temperance Act, so as to make it apply to the city of Halifax, which was before the Legislature during the last session of the late session, was defeated by a vote of 21 to 12. Kings county is a representative north vote against the measure. Those who believe that law is a good thing, King county should continue to support it.

The Boys Scouts' Entertainment.

Wolfville is to be congratulated upon the magnificent way it patronized the Boy Scouts' first entertainment on Monday evening. The Opera House was comfortably full, the audience being thoroughly representative and very appreciative. The first Wolfville Troop, which, up to about a month ago, consisted of only the Wolf Patrol, now has four patrols—the additions being the 'Otters,' the 'Cackoons' the 'Beavers.' All but two of the 'Beavers' being members of the newly organized Wolfville Band, which was also making its debut on the same occasion, only the other three patrols were able to participate in the proceedings. Dr. Archibald, chairman of the Executive Council, presided, being supported by his worship the mayor (Mr. J. D. Chambers) and vice-presidents the Reverends R. F. Dixon and E. D. Webber, B. A. and others.

As the Band boldly struck up its maiden effort, the curtain went up and revealed a bustling scene, in which six 'Cackoons' were competing with six 'Wolves' in the building of a wigwam. The fresh spruce brush, which was being brought in from the woods, was being used to build the wigwam. The scene was very lively and the boys were very busy. The Rev. Mr. Martell, of Windsor, whose portrait is on Graham's studio on Main street. His verdict was given in favor of the 'Cackoons,' but he was an individual member of any patrol. When the curtain went up again, the band struck up marching music and the Patrols marched on to the stage in review order, and after a short drill, very well done, were inspected by the District Commissioner, who expressed himself as well satisfied and urged the troop, under all circumstances, to 'be Scouts.' The troop responded by singing 'The Maple Leaf Forever' and after 'God save the King' had been sung, the Rev. Mr. Dixon moved the heartiest vote of thanks to the man who, alone, was responsible for the existence of the 'Boy Scouts' in Wolfville and to whose labors was due the successful event of that evening—Mr. Percy Brown, with whom he would associate the name of the Hon. Sec.—(Mr. Tamplin) Dr. Archibald—condemned and the motion was enthusiastically carried.

The next scene was a morning in camp. Bugler Leander, Thurber sounded the 'Reveille,' Patrol 1 after Stanley Morrison hoisted the flag and the troop stood by the salute. White Scout's Francis Archibald and Max Brown, with drums, played 'God save the King'—altogether, quite an impressive number. So also was the flag signalled. The Scoutmaster's flag was adopted by Patrol leader Martigan Tamplin (who wore the King Scout and other badges) seconded by Patrol leader Harold B. Birdy. The enquirer 'What is the matter at the lake?' To which Scout Harold Tamplin, seconded by Scout Robert dekerin, replied, 'By nearly drowned, send help.' 'O'er patrol to the rescue,' instantly shouted Scoutmaster Brown from the unknown. Two Scouts doffed their coats, put their staves through the sleeves, which had been pulled inside out, and with this quickly improvised stretcher hurried off to the scene of the accident in quick time.

Meanwhile, the Morse Code was displayed by Scout Max Brown (seconded by Patrol leader, Stanley Morrison) signalling—Canada expects every Scout to do his duty. To which Scout Donald Grant (seconded by Scout Francis Archibald) signalled the answer—Every Wolf will do his part! (Applause.)

The rescuing party now arrived with Scout Hobbie Pingo, seemingly unconscious, on the stretcher. While King-Scout Tamplin skilfully attended to the resuscitation operations, Scouts Arthur Tingley, Harold Shaw and Fred Eagles saw to the hot water bottle, taking off the boots, and holding the head, respectively. The reviving was very naturally done, and, as the patient was carefully re-wrapped and replaced on the stretcher and taken away, the audience cheered heartily when the curtain dropped.

The Rev. E. D. Webber, B. A., then came to the front, and briefly reported the results of the evening to the Rev. Mr. Dixon and himself as adjointors of the evening. 'Why I am a Scout,' eight compositions had been received and the task of awarding the prize had proved a not very easy one, owing to the excellence of them all. In their best combined 'Baptismal and Episcopal' judgments, however, No. 25 was the best and deserved the prize. But they regretted having only one prize to offer, as Nos. 9 and 22 were also deserving of one and their prizes would offer something. On No. 25 being called Scout Harold Tamplin stepped forward read his composition, received his prize and prettily related as he withdrew again, amidst a great applause.

did emphasize and then came the rousing chorus—'Canada, dear Canada, men of the North are we,' after which the Scout Laws were repeated and the chorus 'Smile whenever you can' was sung after Law VIII, while at sunset the band, 'The Wolf Patrol,' sang, with due reverence, the Campers' evening hymn, to the time 'Say, Breathe an Evening Blessing.' The effectiveness of this scene was greatly enhanced by the efficient manipulation of the lights by Mr. Black, the proprietor of the Opera House.

District Commissioner, the Rev. Geo. T. Bryant, of Barwick, briefly but lucidly, explained the organization of the Boy Scouts by Scouts, tracing the whole chain, link by link, from H. M. the King to the individual member of any patrol. When the curtain went up again, the band struck up marching music and the Patrols marched on to the stage in review order, and after a short drill, very well done, were inspected by the District Commissioner, who expressed himself as well satisfied and urged the troop, under all circumstances, to 'be Scouts.' The troop responded by singing 'The Maple Leaf Forever' and after 'God save the King' had been sung, the Rev. You will be proud of the bread you'll make with PURITY FLOUR

AFTER seeing a batch of big, golden-crust, snowy-white loaves, that you have baked from PURITY FLOUR, you will, indeed, be proud of your cooking-ability—and proud of your wisdom in deciding to pay the little extra it costs to procure such high-class flour. You will admit, too, that we are justified in the pride we take in milling this superb flour.

PURITY FLOUR
"More bread and better bread"

PURITY FLOUR is milled exclusively from the best Western hard wheat—the world's finest. More than that, PURITY FLOUR consists entirely of the high-grade portions of the wheat. The low-grade portions are separated and excluded during the PURITY process of milling. Such high-class flour, of course, expands more in the baking. It makes "more bread and better bread."

It makes lighter, fluffier pastry, too. If you just take the precaution to add more shortening. On account of its unusual strength PURITY FLOUR, for best results, requires more shortening than ordinary flour.

Why Not Give Your Body a Spring House Cleaning?

It is reasonable. You stay indoors too much all winter—you breathe the foul air—you sleep in close rooms and you rest too much. In fact your winter life is pretty much artificial and unnatural. Then why not renovate your whole system this spring.

Canadian Boy Scouts.

(By JOHN POWELL'S) To the Editor of THE ACADIAN. DEAR SIR:—May I venture upon your space to say, through the medium of my pen, what I had intended saying orally in the Opera House, Wolfville, on Monday evening, but owing to the lateness of the hour I did not. In addition to the remarks I then made I desired to say further that the Boy Scout scheme is for boys of every class and creed, but, at the same time, a Troop may be formed and managed by any local church, school, or other body, and membership may, if desired, be restricted to boys identified with that body. Such Troops are affiliated to the Local Association, and they agree to conform to the principles contained in the Official Handbook, and the 'Boy Scout Regulations.' The general principles of 'The Boy Scout Association,' which are embodied in a statement issued by the headquarters committee, are as follows:— 1. The aim of the founder is to form character, to train boys in habits of observation and obedience, to make them more helpful and thoughtful and more valuable citizens. 2. The Boy Scout Association has no connection with any military or political party, etc. 3. The Association repudiates any system (other than Boy Scouting) organizations presumably of training or teaching which is not based on the threefold promise of the Boy Scout, (1. To honor God and the King, 2. To help other people at all times, 3. To obey the Scout Laws), and on the instructions contained in the Official Handbook. 4. In the Scout's Promise the obligation of duty toward God is put in the first place as the necessary foundation of the whole, and it is expected of every scout that he shall belong to some Church, and regularly attend his own place of worship. This religious policy has received the approval of the heads of all the leading denominations. In regard to the subject of finance, I may state, the scouts are not permitted to beg for money. The money should be earned by the boys themselves, although public subscriptions towards local expenses, may be solicited by the executive of a local association. Why wait to be solicited? Pay to the Secretary-Treasurer of local association your subscription and thus help a good cause. Every boy, upon joining, should pay a registration fee. They cannot learn too early the value of money, and the importance of thrift. It is a mistake to provide everything free of charge. Boys do not value half so much a thing that is given to them, as something they have worked hard to obtain. There are many means and methods by which money can be earned. I might mention, doing chores; (the members of 'The Berwick' invariably refuse pecuniary remuneration for doing chores); displays; concerts; selling something they have made themselves, for example ice cream, candy, snap shots of themselves depicting camping life, scouting practices and games, doing good turns under instruction in proficiency class; the cultivation and selling of the products of the garden; exhibition of handicrafts, etc. Whatever methods are employed, the scouts must work hard, or they will miss one of the most essential of all Boy Scout principles. The Boy Scout Movement is being the world. Those who truly are meeting the picturesque uniform of the Boy Scout at every stage of their journey. The great brotherhood of Boy Scouts is an object lesson of the most impressive character. Shall we not stand shoulder to shoulder and join hand, head and heart in developing this great movement which has for its object the conservation of boyhood. G. BRYANT, District Commissioner, Canadian Boy Scouts, (Baden Powell's), Berwick, N. S. May 7, 1912. P. S. Why should not the Boy Scouts develop side by side with cadet corps and all other Boy's organizations. There is room for them all. We cannot do too much in behalf and for the benefit of our boys.

Sad Death. After a painful illness of about three weeks' duration the death of Mrs. (Rev.) D. E. Hatt occurred at about 1 o'clock on Monday morning last at her residence in College where she has made her home for some months. Her passing away is a peculiarly sad one and the bereaved husband and family have the sympathy of the community generally as well as of a host of friends throughout the county and provinces. In April it will be remembered Rev. Mr. Hatt left here for British Columbia expecting to be joined later by his wife and family. No sooner had he reached his destination than he was summoned back by the news of the serious illness of Mrs. Hatt. He returned immediately and everything possible was done but without avail. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clement, of Port Medway. Her parents and two sisters were with her at the end, one sister who arrived at Halifax from Boston on Sunday reaching here by auto mobile on Sunday afternoon. Three children survive, the youngest being about eleven years of age. A brief funeral service was held on Monday morning, conducted by Rev. S. D. Webster, and the remains accompanied by the surviving relations were taken to the family lot at Port Medway for interment.

"Fruit-a-lives were so beneficial to me when I suffered with distressing dyspepsia, that I wish to inform you of their satisfactory results.

Although I have, in part, suffered agony with dyspepsia, I am now in perfect health. "Fruit-a-lives" accomplished the desired result.

Ten Don'ts For Young Men.

- Do not speak of 'The Old Gent' and 'The Old Woman'—fathers and mothers are a necessary evil in the present system of things. They have spoken respectfully of you when outsiders could not see anything on which they could hang even a small compliment.
- Do not defile all your attention to the education of the brains on the outside of your head. Football and a letter on your jersey are not sufficient training for life. The young fellow who is old-fashioned enough to go to school for study still has a place in the world.
- Do not invest your nickel in a glass of beer, then afterwards criticize the other fellow who has invested his nickel in a savings bank. Beer checks and savings bank checks, as investments, are not in the same class.
- Do not put the money of your father or your washerwoman in 5¢ opera seats and 25¢ theatre tickets. They may prefer to spend their earnings in some other way. Do not measure your job entirely by the size of the pay envelope and the length of the vacation. Highway robbery is an ideal vocation measured in these ways.
- Do not try to get rich quick; smarter men than you, who have come to town without a cent, have tried it and lost all they had.
- Do not wrong a woman. Every woman is some mother's daughter. The white life you ask from your mother's daughter you have no right to take from the daughter of another.
- Do not defile your tongue with profane and vulgar speech revealing your ignorance and showing the coarseness in your soul.
- Do not think you have sounded all the ocean of truth when you have let out all your little lies. The ocean on whose shore Newton had gathered only a few pebbles can never be all in your tin cup.
- Do not be a stranger to the church of your father. The old pew looks lonesome without you. Your father went to his honor and his property straight from the church door. The pew is still there. You need the church and the church needs you.—Z. Adv.

Swarthmore, Penn.—"For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the change of life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles."—Mrs. EMERY SUMMERSOLL, Swarthmore, Pa.

Canadian Woman's Experience:

Fort William, Ont.—"I feel as if I could not tell others enough about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was weak and tired and I could not rest nights. A friend recommended your Compound and I soon gained health and strength and could not wait to sleep better. I know other women who have taken it for the same purpose and they join me in praising it."—Mrs. W. M. BURBY, 681 South Vicker Street, Fort William, Ontario.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner.

The Place to Grow Up In.

The natural health and vigor of children reared in the country are superior to city-raised children. Country cooking, with fresh vegetables, eggs, milk, butter and bread made by the farmer's wife, far surpasses in health-producing attributes other styles of living in cities. In the country the air is clear, while in cities it is heavy with coal smoke and clouds of dust swept up from the streets by every wind that blows. The country is the ideal place to grow healthy bodies and develop clear, strong minds. The child with a robust body trained to do things has confidence in herself that cannot be acquired in any other way. The child reared in the country develops the qualities of a leader, and from the farm have come the men who are now the world's captains of industry. The contact with nature not only instills the principles of honesty and morality in the mind but brings them

Neuralgia and Sciatica

Caused great suffering for 28 years. Nothing effective until Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills were used.

"It affords me pleasure to speak favorably of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. W. T. Collins, Morphett, Ont. "I had been a sufferer for 28 years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia and had nearly lost all hope. The remedies advertised without one particle of benefit until I began the use of Dr. Chase's medicine. Before I had finished two boxes of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I noticed considerable benefit in my condition. I have so much confidence in these medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends."

In severe cases of this nature the combined use of these medicines brings results which are both surprising and permanent. The Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the action of kidneys, liver and bowels, while the Nerve Food enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system.

The man obeyed and was immediately sworn.

"Mr. Storme," said his counsel, "will you tell the jury that the witness stated that he would make a full report of the matter, and that he would leave town and never bother anybody again. Beggled me, whom he befriended—befriended, gentlemen—not to give him up. That all he wanted was twelve hours to arrange matters in—gave me his word that all was not so bad as it looked."

"When H. Stanleigh Storme talks, gentlemen, there is no answer. I went dutifully, but I went, nevertheless. I would have hesitated to give him up. I hoped there would be some way out of it."

"Gentlemen, you know what happened. I was the man who sat in the other game on the night of the Morlaunt robbery, and the man who was next of honor at the Derdington dinner on the night when the First National was robbed."

"The man that sits there, gentlemen," he continued, "is H. Stanleigh Storme, the man who committed each crime and all the others that have been so much explored, and upon each occasion without my knowledge, was able to evade an alibi."

"I have come here," added the witness, "to make what reparations I can for my innocent share in those two crimes by revealing to you the exact state of affairs as it exists. That is my story, gentlemen," he concluded, "pointing to the prisoner, "and that is also his."

The prisoner sat spellbound, looking at the witness with a fascinated gaze in which desperation, wonder and admiration struggled for supremacy.

CHAPTER XVII

The Biggest Surprise of All.

The witness waited for the cross-examination. But there was none. He then stood up and addressed the judge.

"Your honor has my address," he said quietly, "and I can be found here at any time if I am wanted, is there any reason why I should not go?"

The judge looked at both lawyers, and shook his head.

"You may go," he said.

The witness stepped down from the stand, and the crowd made way for him as he walked slowly down the water aisle. He had almost reached the door when the prisoner roused himself.

"By heaven's sake!" he exclaimed wildly, "you are not going to let that man go! Your honor, I will be heard—I must be heard," he cried insistently. "I am not—"

"Silence!" roared the judge again. "If you interrupt the course of this proceeding in this manner again," he continued severely, "I'll have you bound and gagged. You have counsel. You will have an opportunity to be heard when your time comes. But you must not interrupt the court."

The man who had passed down the water aisle smiled slightly to himself, and then stepped out through the door. The prisoner took his seat with a resigned air.

"Let it be upon your own head then, your honor," he said quietly, "it matters but little to me."

"Proceed," went on the judge, ignoring him.

"That's our case," said the district attorney with a note of triumph in his voice. "We rest."

"Proceed with the defense," exclaimed the judge.

Now the counsel for the prisoner had been doing some tall thinking during the testimony of the last witness, and in spite of the startling nature of the evidence he was pretty well prepared.

He knew one thing—that the resemblance between the two men, having deceived many people before, would constitute a strong argument with the jury in the defendant's favor. For it was just as likely that the witness Warburton had robbed the bank as it was that the prisoner himself had done so.

He had a dim recollection of the hospital that had been made out of the resemblance of Charles Dornay and Sydney Carton in Dickens' 'Tale of Two Cities,' and he proposed to avail himself of a similar advantage here. The more he thought of it the better he liked it.

He had had, of course, no feeling of this from his client, and he had been unable to prepare himself for it. In fact, his client's whole demeanor had changed from the instant the other man had appeared. He had ignored his counsel and kept his eyes fixed upon the witness and the court. He had not even confided a his counsel what it was he had wished to say.

But the lawyer was pretty sure from the present haughty attitude of the prisoner that he could trust him without further preparation on the stand. His client was no fool.

He touched the prisoner on the arm.

"You take the stand," he said.

The prisoner looked at him, but did not move.

"You heard your counsel," said the judge with some severity. "Take the witness stand."

"Add they never did. For H. Stanleigh Storme was only half right in his last statement to the court."

The judge had his address all right, but that he was correct. But he was allowing himself some serious misapprehension when he bid the judge that he could be found there any time, I wanted.

"For they tried it many, many times, and with great persistence—later, and they found he'd proved an alibi."

"Where was he when it was being tried?" said O'Connell after it was over. "Was he the devil or St. Peter?"
