TEMPERANCE COLUMN.
Contributed by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Hamstead, N. B.
Rise up ye Women that are at Ease
A NATION'S NEED.
God never fails to find the man
When mighty deeds are waiting
For full protection of his plan.
Some new, subtle plotting,
When wrong has trampled o'er the land,
And widens his oppressor's hand.
The men are there on every hand
To go in and possess it.

To-day His voice is heard, and some Have listened to its calling;
O men heroic, listen, come;
On your feet the need is falling;
Come to the field of active strife,
With brain and heart on fire;
A nation looks to you for life,
In you is its desire.

Put self aside, O man, to-day;
Be blind to all ambition;
The God who calls, he will not stay
His will will be fulfilled;
Your strength is needed in this hour,
When truth and best endeavor
Are called to wield a mighty power,
And build a last for ever.

Damp Hands.
Many girls suffer great discomfort from damp hands. This complaint generally arises from a weakly constitution and highly nervous temperament. Excessive preparation is not only unpleasant for the sufferer, but renders the hands repulsive to others; therefore anyone who has the misfortune to suffer from this complaint should do their utmost to cure it.
It is usually worse in hot weather; but in most cases the patient suffers both in winter and summer. If it is not a very bad case, it may be successfully treated with ablutions of very hot soft water, and the application, after drying, of foller's earth or a medicated powder prepared as follows: Salicylic acid, three parts bark, seven parts; starch ninety parts.
Before going out into society in the evening, when the hands are likely to get very hot and damp, plunge them into water, in which some powdered alum has been dissolved.

One Woman's Ruling Passion.
"There goes a woman," said the girl, "who hasn't a thought of earth except dress. I know what superior man attributes this particular weakness to all women—but it's a curable, is of course, and fine out of ten of male estimates of women."
"She conquered a refractory Burton on her glove before she continued."
"But that woman who passed us, in without doubt, the most dress-crazy woman I have ever met. She knows no topic save dress—can speak of no other subject. She spends one half of her time at her dressmaker's, and the other half in expounding the handicraft of the modiste. Goodness only knows when she manages to get anything to eat."
"She's dead to every feeling, I believe," except that which has to do with dress.
And what do you think she said Saturday? I met her as we were going out of a house of mourning. A young woman whom we both knew had died—and we had been at the funeral. Coming down the steps I noticed my friend, but the feeling of sorrow was too fresh upon me to permit anything more than a nod of recognition."
"For half a square we walked side by side. Then said: 'Poor, dear Clara—alive and well one week ago, and now new she's gone!'"

General Wauchope's Speech.
Here is an amusing story about General Wauchope as a soldier and a politician.
When in command of the Black Watch, the famous Highland regiment, he was said to have attempted to address the men after parade at Maryhill Barracks, Glasgow. From the demeanor of the colonel the regiment anticipated an eloquent address, but it is stated that the general addressed only got the length of:
"Men of the gallant 42d, when his tongue seemed to cleave to the roof of his mouth."
"He did not make the attempt, and thrice did he fail to make progress, until, exasperated with himself he suddenly exclaimed, to the astonishment of the regiment: 'Man of the gallant 42d, right-about wheel!'"

Clever Advertisers.
A clever advertising scheme was employed by a firm in a southern city. The junior partner of the firm wrote out a warrant for the arrest of the senior partner on the ground that he was selling goods below cost and that the firm was constantly losing money thereby.
The case came up in court, and the counsel for the senior partner asked for a postponement in order to have more time to prepare his case. The judge granted the request, bail was fixed and the senior member released. As he left the courtroom the junior partner rose and exclaimed, "If he is released the warrant will go on!"
The news soon spread, and the firm did a better business.
When the case was again called, no plaintiff appeared, and the charge was dismissed. The firm had succeeded in their object—advertisement.

ABOUT INTERVENTION.

Under the guise of sympathy for the Boers and a desire for the world's peace the enemies of Great Britain in Europe and the United States are clamoring for intervention on the part of President McKinley in the South African war. It should be kept in mind that Mr. Kruger and his advisers are responsible for this war. It should also be kept in mind that Mr. Kruger has been preparing for this war during the last ten or fifteen years and that he has the counsel, sympathy and aid of every power in the world that is opposed to Anglo-Saxon progress. Mr. Kruger is simply the tool of Great Britain's enemies, and the man, whether he is an Englishman, a Canadian or an American who sympathizes with the enemies of Great Britain is simply a traitor to his race and an enemy to the progress of civilization. Mr. McKinley will not intervene nor propose to mediate; the Boers brought the war upon themselves and the only way they can escape a continuance of its horrors is by laying down their arms and acknowledging their defeat. Intervention on the offer of mediation on the part of Mr. McKinley would be nothing less than a display of impudence and ingratitude unparalleled in history. In the war with Spain, England proved herself the steadfast friend of the United States by preventing intervention on the part of Germany or France; she has done the same ever since the insurrection in the Philippines, was inaugurated. The Anglo Saxons of the United States will not forget this, and happily they will predominate in that country. We may not live to see it, but our children will: the time when the Anglo Saxon will be the arbiter in the differences of all the other nations of the earth; when his word will be law, for no other power will dare question or attack him. Then peace will reign everywhere and civilization will extend all around the globe.

ST. JOHN LETTER.

An ornithologist estimates that a pair of bob-links with a brood of four young ones hatched on the fifth of June, during the 130 days that would elapse before they took their departure for the south would consume 78,000 grubs and other insects injurious to vegetation, including those that the parent birds would destroy between their arrival in the spring and the fifth of June when they began providing for their brood of young ones. Now if each insect is a menace to vegetation to the extent of one fourth of a cent that pair of bob-links in a single season would benefit agriculture just $195. One hundred pairs of bob-links at this estimate are worth annually to a country or province $19,500, and there are many other birds that are no less destructive to insect pests than the bob-link, and the common chickadee is one of them, but it hunts for smaller game. Were it not for the birds that subsist chiefly on insects, grubs and wild fruit and which are often wantonly destroyed for the sake of killing or to provide decorations for my lady's hat, it is ascertained that in twenty years the world would become a desert in which it would be impossible for human beings to live.

Markets continue very steady. American mutton is higher, quoted today at $12.75 per barrel; clear pork, $13.50 per bbl.; plate beef, $15.25 bbl.; extra plate, $18.75 per bbl.; beans, $1.00 per bushel; barley is lower, $4.10 per bbl.; split peas are lower, $4.10 per bbl.

Messrs. deForest have the agency for McIntosh's Crown brand roller oatmeal, free from all impurities, which they quote at $3.90 per barrel and for McIntosh's Swiss Food, sold in three pound packets -- an excellent breakfast food in the form of mush, gams, puddings, etc.

A house on Sand Point road was totally destroyed by fire last Thursday night. The roof collapsed a moment after the inmates had escaped in their night clothes.

EDWARD EDWARDS, St. John, Feb. 24.

Washington Letter.

(From our regular correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20, 1900.

The most brilliant social season in the recent history of Washington will close with the advent of Lent on February 23. Before the end of the present week, what will probably be the most interesting event of the season will take place when Robert Bromley, honorary attaché of the British embassy will marry Miss Lillian Pauncefoot, third daughter of Lord and Lady Pauncefoot. The ceremony takes place at St. John's Episcopal Church at noon on Saturday, Bishop Satterlee of the diocese of Washington and Dr. McKay Smith, rector of St. John's officiating. President and Mrs. McKinley, the members of the cabinet, the Supreme court, the diplomatic corps and other distinguished people have already accepted invitations. Miss Audrey Pauncefoot, sister of the bride; Miss Esther Bromley, sister of the groom, and Miss Hetty Sargeant, of Boston, will be bridesmaids, while the groom will be attended by his brother, Bromley-Wilson. The ushers will be the four unmarried secretaries and attachés of the British embassy.

The bride will wear ivory satin trimmed with old point lace, with a court train borne by Master Sydney Kent Legee, who will be dressed in the costume of a cavalier of the time of Charles I--with white satin slashed with blue velvet and a hat with ostrich plumes. The bridesmaids will be attired in blue silk trimmed with white lace and chiffon and will carry bunches of Parma violets. A breakfast and reception will follow the ceremony at the British Embassy. The table is to be typically English.

The Hon. Lillian Pauncefoot is exceedingly attractive. She is slight in figure, with soft golden-brown hair, blue eyes and an engaging manner. She has a charming voice, and, like her sisters, is possessed of more than ordinary talent both in music and as a linguist. Mr. Bromley, is tall and good-looking and an immense favorite in Washington.

The bridal gifts which have been arriving at the Embassy for the last fortnight have come from England, India, Africa and all parts of the world. They make a display that would do credit to an empress. Mr. Bromley's gifts to his bride include a diamond necklace and a tiara, which are heirlooms in his family, and to each of the bridesmaids he will present a representation of a pheasant, his family crest set in diamonds, with a gold bar bearing the motto of "Pheasant Forte," which happens to appear on the south-east of both the Bromley and Pauncefoot families. Two policemen have been detailed to watch the railway building until after the wedding, on account of the immense value of the presents.

The British Ambassador and Lady Pauncefoot gave two dinner parties last week. The first was in honor of Secretary of State and Mrs. Hay. Among the other guests were: The Italian Ambassador and the Baroness de Pava; the Russian Ambassador, the Mexican Ambassador and Senora Aspiroz, the Belgian Minister and the Countess de Lichtervelde, the Spanish Minister and the Duchess d'Arco, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, Senator and Mrs. Wetmore, General and Mrs. Miles, Lady Bromley, Senator and Mrs. McMillan, Senator Wolcott, Hon. John A. Kasson, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Hitt. At the second there were present among others: Chief Justice and Mrs. Fuller, Justice and Mrs. White, Lady Bromley, Secretary and Mrs. Gage, Postmaster General and Mrs. Smith.

An ambitious inventor has offered the British government, through Col. Led, the military attaché here, an apparatus by which the army of the Boers may be entirely destroyed without endangering the lives and limbs of the British soldiers. His plan is to introduce electricity into warfare, and arrange wires so that when the enemy attack the mysterious current will be turned on and they all receive a shock which will paralyze them and enable them to be made prisoners without spilling blood. Both the process and the apparatus are kept secret, for fear the Boers will discover and counteract them, but the general principle is to give the Boer army an electric shock and then run in and capture them before they recover from it. Another suggestion offered to the British embassy consists of a contrivance similar to the little sacks of bread which are strapped upon the backs of the dogs that are sent out by the monks of St. Bernard for the rescue of travelers in the passes of the Alps. This inventor proposes that the British commander secure several thousand dogs, saddle them with these little contrivances, filled with dynamite instead of wine, and send them across into the territories of the Boers. Attached to each key of dynamite will be a time fuse, long enough to enable the dog to become fairly domesticated before it explodes. There is also an arrangement by which the charge will be exploded if any attempt is made to remove it from the dog's back. The inventor thinks that by the sacrifice of a few thousand dogs and a few hundred pounds of dynamite the Boers may be overcome.

The United States Commissioner of Navigation has been officially advised that the Canadian government has authorized a refund to the owners of American steam vessels of tonnage dues levied since January 1, 1898, on American steamboats arriving in Ontario from United States ports. The dues in question were collected by the Canadian authorities under the steamboat inspection act of Canada.

The Secretary Treasury has formally announced that bills of health are no longer required for vessels proceeding from places in British Columbia or the Northwest Territory, Canada, directly to places in Alaska unless quarantinable diseases prevail at the port of departure. E. G. Siggers, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C., reports the following patents granted by the United States Patent Office, February 13, 1900, to inventors residing in the Dominion of Canada. He will mail copy of specification and drawings of any patent for 10 cents. Postage stamps will not be accepted.

A CLERGYMAN'S INFLUENCE.

Paine's Celery Compound

Recommended by Rev. C. M. Tyler a Methodist Minister of Nova Scotia.

It Saves the Life of Mr. George W. Parks.

A Gain in Flesh of Thirty-two Pounds in Three Weeks.

Amongst professional men who are active and ardent advocates of Paine's Celery Compound, clergymen are found who never weary in recommending the wonderful medicine to members of their churches who are ailing, sick and distressed.

The true and honest clergyman who has himself experienced the life-giving powers of Paine's Celery Compound -- who has been raised from weakness of body to full health and vigor, feels it a duty to speak to others of the only true health and strength builder that the world has ever seen.

Mr. G. W. Parks, once near the dark grave, but rescued and saved by Paine's Celery Compound after failures of his doctors, sends the following letter:

"While at sea I was taken sick, which compelled me to abandon my work and seek home and rest. I consulted the doctors who pronounced it typhoid or slow fever. I suffered severely from night sweats, and cold chills during the day. Added to this I was extremely nervous, which weakened me and reduced my flesh until I was a mere skeleton. This continued until last winter, when my wife and friends began to despair of my recovery, as the medicines I took produced no good, and I was gradually growing worse.

"Through the influence of the Rev. C. M. Tyler, I was induced to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial, and I can truly say it worked wonders. The first bottle gave me great relief, and five bottles completely cured me. I gained thirty-two pounds in three weeks, and am now strong and healthy. I would urge the suffering everywhere to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial."

Serious Gunning Accident.

DIST, Feb. 19. --Clyde Fielding was the victim of a serious gunning accident here on Saturday, and the terrible affliction of being deprived of his sight may be the result of his carelessness with fire arms. After putting a cartridge in the breach of his gun, he found it was too large, and foolishly struck the cartridge with a stone to drive it in place. The cartridge exploded, driving the full contents into young Fielding's face. Fielding will be sent to the Victoria General Hospital for treatment.

A telegram from Montreal says 28 Canadians were killed in Sunday's battle.

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.—John Barry, eldest brother of Neil Barry, killed in South Africa, on learning of his brother's death, telegraphed the minister of militia for permission to fill his brother's place, offering to pay the cost of his own transportation to South Africa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—After routine in parliament yesterday Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it seemed the proper time to call the attention of the house to the news which had arrived from Africa. The news was partly cheerful and partly sad. It was gratifying to know that the Canadian troops had done their duty. It was the nature of war that its triumphs were mixed with tears. Twenty of the Canadian volunteers were dead and sixty were lying between life and death. Their heroism would inspire us, if it were necessary, to do our duty. We may assure the stricken families of our deep sympathy and tell them that the loss they suffer is not their own, but the loss of the whole country.

Sir Charles Tupper said the Canadian troops in Africa had realized what was expected of them. Those who fell have given their lives for their country and for a righteous cause. They have not only won undying honor for themselves, but have conferred honor on their country. The heartfelt sympathy of this House will go out to the friends of those who have fallen. The lives of glorious victors is thus tempered with sadness.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—The following is a copy of the cable message sent by the premier to Gen. O'Her, last night: OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 21, 1900.—I desire to convey to you and your men the grateful thanks of the government and parliament of the dominion for the gallantry displayed on the battlefield. Canada warmly appreciates the sacrifice made by her sons for the honor of the Empire. The wounded have our sympathy and our prayers for speedy recovery. Those who have given up their lives will ever be held in remembrance by a grateful people. (Sgd.) WILFRID LAURIER.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 21, 1900.—With flags at half-mast, the city mourns the loss of 40 per cent of her volunteers in the first South African contingent. The legislature adjourned today as a tribute to the dead. The flag on the United States consulate is among those at half-mast. The men killed were mostly members of Col. Gregory's regiment.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 21.—Private G. F. Adams of G. company, who was among the wounded in Sunday's engagement, is a step-son of Captain Charles F. Harrison of St. John, transport officer of the Milwaukee contingent, who sailed today. As Mrs. Harrison, who came over from St. John, was bidding her husband goodbye, she was shown by Colonel Markham of St. John, a telegram with the news of the battle and the name of her son in the casualty list. Mrs. Harrison has now a brother, two brothers-in-law, husband and son in the Canadian contingent.

Horrible Fatality.

FREDERICTON, Feb. 21.—News comes from Lakeside Corner, Sunbury county, this afternoon of the horrible fatality by which Edward Lawrence, his wife and three children were burned to death in a fire which consumed their home at that place last night. The hired man and one child, the only other inmate of the house, escaped. Lakeside corner is in the parish of Sheffield, about four miles back from Sheffield Village.

FREDERICTON, Feb. 22.—From details which have come to hand to-day of the Lakeside Corner fire, in which Edward Lawrence and his wife and three children perished yesterday morning, it is almost impossible to perceive how any of the inmates of the house failed to escape. The house was a two-story one, with all, also of two stories, attached. The second floor consisted of a hall, running from the front to rear, on one side and two bedrooms opening therefrom on the other side. A flight of stairs ascended from a point a few feet back from the front door in the lower hall to the rear of the upstairs hall to the room over the kitchen in all. On Tuesday night there slept in the house Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lawrence, aged respectively forty-six and forty-five; their two sons, Woodville and George A., aged respectively eighteen and seventeen; their two daughters, Jane and Theres, aged respectively thirteen and eleven; Mrs. Lawrence's sister, Miss London, and Oscar Little, a carpenter, who had been doing some work about the premises. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and their son George, were asleep in the front room, the two daughters and Miss London in the back room, and Woodville and Little in the hall. Woodville arose at 5.30, and after putting a fire in the kitchen stove, went out to the barn some distance from the house, to attend to the horse and cattle. While he was in the barn Miss London was awakened by the smell of smoke. Going into the hall she opened the door into the oil and found the room over the kitchen filled with smoke and flames beginning to eat through from the kitchen, but barring the smoke, there was no sign of fire in the main house. Miss London at once aroused Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and the other inmates of the house, and leaving her two nieces dressing in her bedroom, proceeded to carry out a sewing machine and other articles of furniture.

Mrs. Lawrence rushed down stairs and out to the back door yard, after calling to Woodville in the barn that the house was on fire got a pail of water and ran up to her bedroom with it. In the meantime Little seems to have jumped out of an upstairs window and alarmed some neighbors. Neither Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence or any of the three children having got out by this time. Little raised a ladder to the window of the front bedroom, climbed up and broke the window. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence were then in the bedroom, and Little called to them to come out. Mr. Lawrence answered: "There's no use trying," and this seems to have ended all attempts to rescue them. By this time the hall was filled with flames and ten minutes later the whole building was a mass of fire. When the building fell the bodies of the five victims came down with it in a heap, indicating that they had all got together in the front room. They were burned to a crisp. The story seems an almost incredible one and is consistent only with the theory that all the inmates completely lost their minds in the excitement occasioned by the discovery of fire.

POOR DOCUMENT

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

Speeches Made by Messrs. Laforest and Labllois on the Speech from the Throne.

(From the Official Report.)

Mr. Laforest followed Hon. Mr. Emerson in the debate on the address. Although he did not pretend to be a great authority on parliamentary matters, he thought that it was customary that when a member found it necessary to change his position toward an administration which he had supported that he should take the earliest opportunity of explaining why he had changed his position and if possible to justify his action. Before going into details as to why he had adopted a different attitude towards this government from that of last year he would speak of a matter upon which the parties on both sides of this house agreed. He referred to the paragraph in the address relating to the unfortunate campaign in South Africa, which campaign he hoped they would be all able to soon refer to as a fortunate one. As a representative of a French Canadian and Roman Catholic constituency, and being himself a Frenchman and a Roman Catholic, and having in view the great effort that is being made in different parts of the province to stir up race discord, he deemed it a duty to contradict the statement that the people of his race and religion were disloyal. (Applause.) He was proud of the fact that he was a British subject, but, unlike some high personages, he was a British subject first, last and all the time. There was no condition nor limitation to his loyalty. He was proud of the privilege which he enjoyed under the British crown. He would not exchange his position as a citizen of the British nation for any other citizenship in the world. (Applause.) French blood flowed in his veins, he was born a French Canadian and a Catholic, and these were facts of which he was not ashamed. What was dearer to him than anything else were the rights of citizenship as guaranteed to him under the British constitution.

The French Canadians loved France as the country of their fathers, and while for that reason they sympathized with France, they rather pitied her present condition. England, who she conquers a country, gives that country greater rights than they ever enjoyed before. That was the case with the Frenchmen in Canada, and that, he believed, would be the case when the war with the Boers was over. Those people would enjoy greater rights, and have more freedom than they have heretofore enjoyed, and it is in recognition of his admiration for England's methods towards the people that she conquers that he wished England God speed in the present war. The French in Canada hated England before the latter had conquered them, but because of her generous treatment towards them, the French Canadians had learned to love England, and could be depended upon to stand by her until the end. While he said this he could not but deplore the fact that an attempt was being made—and in this regard he would not blame one political party more than another—to incite race and sectarian strife. Why are the French Canadians and Catholics of Canada proud of belonging to the British Empire? Because we know we have more rights in Canada under British rule than it would be possible for us to have in France. He most congratulate the members of this house upon the happy tone of the speeches made on both sides. There had been nothing in those speeches calculated to disturb the harmonious feelings which should exist among all classes, creeds and nationalities among our people. That was the way that the members should act toward each other if this country was to be made the great country that it was possible for Canada to be made. As a representative of the French Canadians and coming from the most essentially French Canadian county in the province, he must deplore the attempt on the part of some English speaking papers to stir up racial strife. Their conduct was calculated to start a fire in this country, their articles being as a flaming torch applied to a stack of straw. It was the duty of public men when England required a united Canada to do everything possible to stamp out this fire. The present was an occasion when on all sides the public men of the country should be moderate in their language, so that racial and religious strife might not gain a head way. He hoped that the press to which he referred would stop the nefarious work of casting reflections upon the loyalty of French Canadians. Their present conduct was a disgrace to Canada. Of course he did not mean to say that all the English speaking papers were guilty of the conduct of which he complained, and he was not afraid to say that some of the French Canadian papers were also a disgrace to Canada by reason of their attempt to appeal to the prejudices of the people. He did not wish to be understood as an alarmist, but he thought that if something was not done speedily, in order that the harmony that is necessary to a country's greatness should exist among all classes and creeds, the prosperity which Canada would otherwise undoubtedly enjoy, would be greatly retarded, if not completely destroyed. If the fires of discord are to be permitted to blaze, there is no knowing what calamity may occur. Something more is wanted to allay discord than even the action of the press, or the moderate expressions of public men. The governments of the country have a duty greater than the press, or the people's representatives. He had no sympathy with the idea that this or that man should be appointed to an office because of his being a Frenchman or a Catholic, but there was no denying the fact that this country was made up of different creeds and nationalities, and it was by harmonizing these different elements, that it was possible to make Canada the greatest country on the earth, and the government that does not take these matters into consideration, is not doing its duty towards the people of the country. What do we find here in New Brunswick? Notwithstanding the fact that in this province there is a large French and Catholic population, and the additional fact that during the last twenty five or thirty years, ever since he was a small boy, that there were two Catholics in the government of this province, today there was but one Catholic in this government with all the seats filled up. He had no hesitation in declaring that this was wrong, and it was one of the main things that go towards adding to the discord which is so disastrous to the welfare of the country. Of course this government can afford to do as it chooses, because of the following in its house. They can even ignore the claims of the people from whom they receive a very large part of their present strength. The present condition of things, so far as the personnel of the government was concerned, was one of the reasons why he was not in union at the present time with the government. He hoped the matter of which he complained would be remedied. He would not say that of which he complained was intentional on the part of the government, but the present condition was calculated to add to the present, and create new discords.

He would ask the government to show more consideration for the rights of the Catholics of the province than they had been doing. Not only had the French and Catholic representation in the government been decreased, but the French and Catholic representations on the floors of this house had diminished. The election of the honorable member for Gloucester (Mr. Young) was a most extraordinary thing, considering that that county is very largely French and Catholic, and while he said this he had no desire to reflect upon the honorable member, whom he believed was in every respect a worthy gentleman. The honorable member's election, however, showed him what he regretted to observe, that the influence of the French people of this province was going down. He regretted to notice that they did occupy the proud position in this province that the English people occupied. He would like to see the rights of the French Canadian respected. A few years ago there was a bye-election in the County of Gloucester, and he had the spectacle of a minister of the crown going into that county in order to bring about the defeat of the French candidate, and he had the statement of an honorable member on the floors of this house on that occasion that the French majority of the county must be taught a lesson. That county, as he already said, was very largely French, and the action of the minister, and the remarks of the honorable member, had just referred to were not calculated to assist in bringing about the harmony that should prevail among the different sections of the people.

Hon. Mr. Emerson—I do not desire to interfere with the Hon. gentleman in the delivery of his speech, but I do not believe that the statement was ever made on the floors of this house that the majority of Gloucester county must be taught a lesson. If any such statement was made, it would be in the Hansard, and if the honorable member can produce such a statement, he should do so immediately. Mr. Laforest—I have a copy of the report of the speech in which that remark was made. I will mislead it at the moment, but I will produce it in support of what I have stated. Hon. Mr. Tweedie—Who was the honorable member who made any such statement? Mr. Laforest—I would have preferred not mentioning the name of the honorable member, as he is not now a member of the house, but I have no objection to saying that the member to whom I referred was Mr. Venoit. Hon. Mr. Tweedie—Do you say that Mr. Venoit is reported in the official debates as having made any such statement? Mr. Laforest—I will have the report here. I am not going away. I read the statement from the official debates as they appeared in one of the papers. He (Laforest) had no desire to make any reflection upon Mr. Venoit, particularly as that gentleman was not now a member of the legislature, and he believed Mr. Venoit to have been thoroughly patriotic, but on the occasion referred to, he had gone into Gloucester at the instance of the government, and in company with a minister of the crown, in order to bring about the defeat of the French candidate. After the defeat of Hon. Mr. Richard, it was expected that another French Catholic would be taken into the government. This had not been done, however, although Mr. Johnston, the member for Kent had been hounded by the government to give up his position in order to find a constituency for Mr. Richard.

Hon. Mr. Tweedie—Mr. Speaker, this will not do. It will not do for the honorable member to say that the honorable member for Kent was hounded by the government, or any member of it, because such a statement is not true. Mr. Laforest—I would prefer hearing that statement from Mr. Johnston himself, rather than from the Provincial Secretary. While there was but one Catholic member in the government, it might be of interest to know that the salaries of all the assistants in the department over which that Catholic member presided were increased with one exception, and that was the case of the Catholic assistant. He regretted to call attention to these matters, or to have occasion to open up this matter at all.

Mr. Pugsley—You are just doing it in order to promote greater harmony in the province. Mr. Laforest—I am doing it with the hope that it is not too late for the government to remedy these matters. With respect to his own position, he (Mr. Laforest) might almost repeat his remarks of last session. The position of himself and his colleague was a peculiar one. They had been elected as Liberals and could not do otherwise than support the government. In their election provincial matters had scarcely entered into the contest at all. The government was not pleased with the election of his colleague or himself, certainly not until after the election. The government had done all they could to defeat his colleague and himself. Indeed they had had the influence of two governments against them. Having been elected as Liberals and being no Liberals on the Opposition side of the house, he had been nothing left for his colleague and himself to do but support the government. He had given the government a fair support last session, but the government had ignored the will of the people of Madawaska, and in the distribution of patronage had not consulted the representatives of the people, representatives who, as he had said, were disposed to treat the government fairly. The French people of Canada saved this country to the British empire, but they were among those who rose in rebellion when there was a condition of things in Canada that was obnoxious to the people. If the government was to treat the people of Madawaska in the future as they have since the election of his colleague and himself, then he could say that there was no more law in this country, and it was time to enquire where the law was going to stop. The people who have had the distribution of the patronage since his election have had no right to it. They have it against the will of the people, and if the government was going to continue its present tactics with respect to the patronage in his county, then it was impossible for him to longer support them. He had mapped out a line of conduct for himself during the present session, and he had his intention to ask for information, and perhaps for investigation into affairs in Madawaska county. He believed that when the facts were brought out with reference to the conduct of the government regarding matters in his county, that the people of the county would be astounded. The honorable minister of Agriculture had not visited his county during the year. He regretted to have to call attention to these matters, but felt obliged to do so in the interests of the county and in defence of his own position in withdrawing his support from the government.

Hon. Mr. Labllois said it was not his intention to have addressed the house on the present occasion and would not have done so had it not been for the remarks of the honorable member for Madawaska, and that honorable member's reference to himself (Labllois). He was proud to hear the honorable member speak of the loyalty and devotion of the French Canadians to the British Empire. (Applause.) He had lived for fifteen or sixteen years in the grand old city of Quebec, and he knew how thoroughly attached to British institutions were the French Canadians of that city, and he was glad to be able to state that from his travels elsewhere, from all he could see and hear, that what was true of the loyalty of the French Canadians in Quebec was also true of the French Canadians in every other part of the Dominion. (Applause.) He wished to be understood as agreeing fully in what he said regarding the loyalty of the French Canadian people, but he thought the honorable member had gone out of his way in the statement that the French people of this province were going backward instead of forward, and were losing their influence in this province. He believed that the very opposite was the fact, and that the French people of the province were making rapid strides. Take the county of Madawaska, which the honorable member (Laforest) represents. When the officers of the Board of Agriculture visited that county the year before last, we found agriculture in such a backward state that leading men of the county told us that it would be useless for us to hold meetings. We held meetings, however, and the result of our visit to that county was to give a great impetus to agriculture. He thought it was unmanly for the honorable member to charge against him that he had not been in the county last year, considering the attention he had given to it the year before. Mr. Laforest—I was not in the house the year before, and I fail to see where I was guilty of anything unmanly in mentioning that you had not been in the county last year.

Hon. Mr. Labllois—As a result of the efforts of the Department of Agriculture, Madawaska has come to the front as a leading agricultural county. Two cheese factories that had been for a long time idle began active operations, and last year some thirty thousand pounds of cheese were manufactured, a large quantity of butter was produced, and two roller mills were in operation. With regard to the statement of the honorable member that a member had declared on the floors of this house, that a lesson must be taught to the French majority of Gloucester he had no hesitation in saying that Mr. Venoit had been misrepresented and on no occasion had Mr. Venoit made the statement attributed to him by Mr. Laforest. He felt satisfied that the official debates would bear out his statement of the honorable member for Madawaska. (Applause.) The attempt of Mr. Laforest to excite religious and national strife by his reference to the election of the honorable member (Mr. Young) an English speaking gentleman in the French county of Gloucester was not in the best interests of the county. Mr. Young was a gentleman who had large interests in the county, and the French Catholic people of Gloucester had supported him in preference to one of their own nationality, thus presenting a spirit of liberality which could not fail but win the approval of all right minded people. It was not right to introduce these questions of race and creed. He (Labllois) had been many times elected in the county of Restigouche where there was a majority of English as well as a Protestant majority. If we are to work in the best interests of the county, we must put aside these appeals to race and religious prejudices. Such appeals are dangerous, because, if they operate in favor of one particular element in this county, they may operate against the same element in some other county. It was true at the present time there was but one Catholic in the government, but honorable members would know that it is not always possible to have due regard to matters of detail as viewed from particular standpoints. The government could be depended on at all times to do justice to all classes and creeds. The attempt to make it appear that he (Labllois) had increased the salaries of the Protestant employees of the agricultural department, and had failed to increase the salary of the Catholic employees of the department would lose its force when he informed the house that in the case of the former they were old officials while the latter was a new man. It was by sinking our sectarian and racial feelings and working as a united people that this province can be made the great country which nature intended it to be. (Great Applause.)

End-of-the-Century Offer.

AN EXTRAORDINARILY LIBERAL PROPOSITION.

FOR LESS THAN THE 2 PAPERS AND A 300 PAGE BOOK PRICE OF ONE PAPER

FIRST, and properly, in making a choice of reading for the home you select your own home paper. However good may be the reading of other papers, there is none that comes home so closely to you as your local weekly. It is to further increase this interest by adding to our lists that the following liberal proposition is made to subscribers. We have been careful to form combinations only where we knew we were touching safe ground, and could thoroughly recommend the publications offered. Read carefully every word of this offer for it means a saving of money to you.

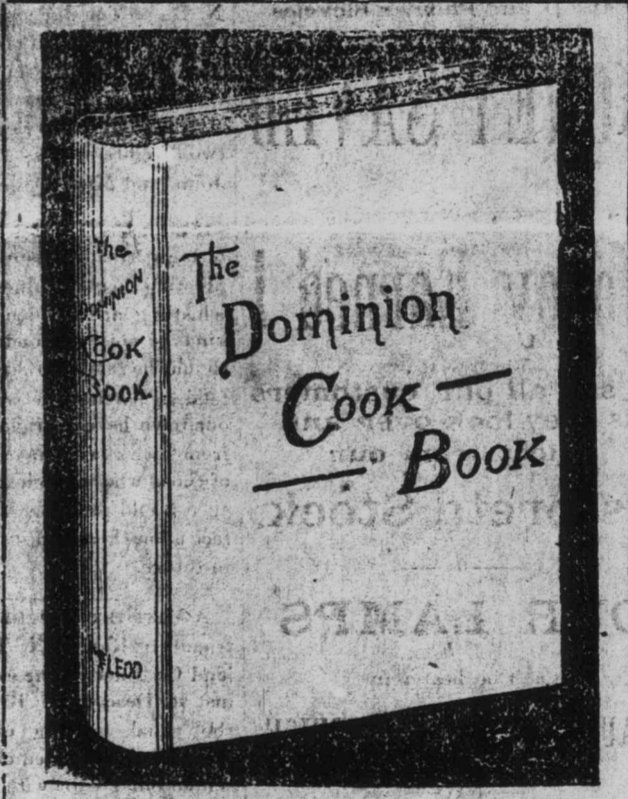

Montreal Daily Herald

A GREAT METROPOLITAN DAILY

WE are pleased to announce that we have been able to make most extraordinary liberal arrangements with the publishers of one of the greatest of Canadian dailies—the Montreal Daily Herald. The Herald has achieved a well-deserved reputation for the remarkable value it gives its readers. It is one of the most enterprising newspapers in the Dominion, and in thousands of home circles is welcomed on account of the great interest it manifests in subjects of special interest to the family. It is admittedly the favorite daily of the women of Canada. To the farmer and business man, it appeals through its accurate market reports and business columns. To the young man, through the attention it bestows on clean, manly sport. To the lover of fiction, through the excellent stories appearing regularly in its columns. To the politician, through the calm and moderate tone of its editorial expressions.

The only reason which prompted the publishers of The Herald to make us the offer, which enables us to club the two papers at the extraordinarily low price given below, is their desire to immediately introduce the Daily Herald in large numbers in this neighborhood. The offer they now make will hold good for a limited time only.

It should be mentioned that subscribers to The Herald during the next few months will enjoy to the full the opportunity which that paper is offering to all readers to secure valuable books at merely nominal figures.

The... A Copy for Every Subscriber

Dominion Cook Book

IN the best sense of the term this is an Ideal Cook Book—ideal in being a practical book—a book which the housewife will want to keep constantly by her side and can depend on, because of the simplicity and reliability of every recipe. Starting with a chapter on soups, naturally the first course, throughout its three hundred pages and over there are to be found more than 1,000 recipes, winding up with an excellent chapter on sick room cookery. Following the cookery section there is a department entitled "The Doctor," in which are recipes selected from eminent authorities, and which will be found invaluable where the doctor is not readily available. The recipes are numbered throughout the book, and each is prefaced with a list of the ingredients called for by the recipe, rendering it unnecessary for the housewife to read through the entire recipe and make calculation of what is wanted. Size of page is 5 inches by 8 inches, bound in handsome cloth cover. It would be a mistake to confuse this book with any paper-bound cook book that would go to pieces in no time.

OUR BIG OFFER

an Ideal Local Paper, every week, from the present date to January 1, 1901.....	$1 00
THE MONTREAL DAILY HERALD, One Year.....	3 00
THE DOMINION COOK BOOK, over 300 pages and more than 1,000 recipes, bound substantially in white cloth.....	1 00
	$5 00

ALL THIS FOR $2 00

Wisdom suggests taking advantage of this offer quickly. If you are now a subscriber to either paper, and your time has not yet expired, by taking advantage of our big offer promptly, your subscription will be extended one year from date of expiry. Everything will go to you as once. The Herald, during the closing months of 1899, will make some wonderfully liberal offers to subscribers. The Cook Book is mailed to you promptly on receipt of order, and coming along with Fair Time and Thanksgiving Day, and later Christmas and New Year's, you want this book beside you. Drop into the office the first time you are in town, or, if more convenient, sit down now and write a letter, enclosing amount, and everything will have our prompt attention.

of arms, (not the implements of war) but the arms of a compulsory law which shall provide for the education of all children between certain ages.

Irregular attendance at school, the ignorant rascally opposition to the teacher, the untrained home child, and the almost sacred rights of some children are a sad hindrance to the welfare of the community, and I would be much pleased to know that the rights of the States should be respected if that should be by the force of law.

Maugerville.

Feb. 21.—The school children assisted by others, under the supervision of Mr. Sewell, gave a very successful entertainment and basket social, in the hall here, on the evening of Feb. 14th.

A large number were in attendance, the results financially being about $31.50 which will go towards painting the school house.

The program, which was enjoyed by all, as each one performed their part exceedingly well, was as follows: Opening chorus—Jolly boys.

Chorus—Queen, Flag and Country. Recitation—"Eli Child," Josie Easter.

Dialogue—"Woman's Rights." Recitation—"Only a Pin," Sterling Harrison.

Dialogue—"Bridget's Investment." Recitation—"Stolen Custard," Jack McFadden.

Month of January.

Feb. 23.—The meeting held in the church hall on Wednesday night last was largely attended. It is easily seen the farmers in this parish are becoming awakened and that much interest is taken for the erection of a cheese factory which will be built near the La Tour mineral spring.

The site on which the supposed building is to be placed is complete with good drainage. Such a factory is what we have been anxiously looking for and we hope each and every person will take part therein and make it a grand success.

There was between six and seven hundred dollars signed for said factory, this with one hundred and fifty from the government will make the whole complete. The work will commence as soon as convenient for the erection of building as everything will be in readiness by the first of June next.

The officers elected were C. L. Shipp, president; Capt. James Watson, vice president; J. B. Novers, Treasurer; E. P. Dykeman, Sec.; Capt. Alastair Camp and A. E. McAlpine, directors.

The La Tour mineral water is still on the move as a New York company is about taking an interest and will no doubt soon issue water as far in the center of Africa as possible.

As soon as navigation opens large quantities will be shipped to our Canadian boys who are fighting for queen and country. Also they purchase building a hotel which will accommodate about one hundred people.

A BIG NAME.

Given to Kidney Disease by a Doctor Who Failed Where DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS SUCCEEDED.

Case of Thomas Harrison of St. Mary's—Actually Urinated Blood—Three Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills Worked a Radical Cure.

St. Mary's N. B., Feb. 28.—Mr. Thomas Harrison of this place is a living testimony to the power of that famous remedy Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Some years ago Mr. Harrison was taken ill. He began to suffer with pain in the back accompanied by a lethargy impossible to overcome. These are the invariable symptoms of kidney disease and Mr. Harrison grew alarmed.

He consulted a physician of Fredericton who gave the trouble a very learned name but utterly failed to give Mr. Harrison any relief. In spite of the treatment the patient grew worse.

At last the most serious stage possible was reached. Mr. Harrison began to urinate bloody urine.

It was at this time Mr. Harrison was told of Dodd's Kidney Pills. An anxious friend who had heard of this remedy and knew personally of cures made by it, advised him to try Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Harrison was sceptical of patent medicines, but he was, however, finally prevailed upon to take Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have the reputation of curing all diseases of, and resulting from, the kidneys: Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Bladder and urinary complaints, Women's Weakness and Impurities of the Blood, all come under the head of Kidney Disease and Dodd's Kidney Pills cure each and all of these complaints infallibly.

Mr. Harrison had only used one box when he passed an immense stone which had formed in the bladder. This stone is at present in the possession of a doctor who had interested himself in observing the working of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Harrison felt relief at once after passing the stone. The blood ceased to come with the urine and the pain in the back grew less severe. After three boxes of the pills Mr. Harrison was completely cured.

"Judge of my gratitude for my escape thus promptly and safely," he writes. "Having taken only three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am most happy to say I am completely cured with no sign of any return of the trouble."

Red Bank.

Feb. 14.—A very heavy snow storm, accompanied by wind, raged all day Sunday, here and the roads are pretty well blocked.

Miss Maggie Fraser, daughter of Councilor Fraser, entertained a number of her school mates at her home, on Saturday. A very pleasant time was spent.

We are glad to state, through the good work of society and Sunday school teachings, that unity has at last reached this ever troublesome place.

A number of ladies were invited to a party at the home of the Sisters one evening last week. The tables were tastefully decorated and when ample justice was done to the good things prepared for the occasion the party retired to the beautifully furnished parlour, where the evening was spent in singing, and playing various games. The evening was brought to a close by Miss F.—singing, in her best style, "Here is a handsome set of nice old maidens."

One in Seven Dies

... of Consumption

And Consumption Begins with a Cold that Could Be Cured by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine.

That one in every seven persons dies of consumption is proved by government statistics, and when it is remembered that it is usually the young man and young woman who succumb to the effects of this terribly fatal disease, the ravages of consumption are more fully realized.

Consumption always begins with a neglected cold, and how dreadful must be the misery of every mother whose dear ones fall prey to this monster as a result of mother's neglect to cure the cold.

It is rarely that consumption is ever cured, but it can always be prevented by a timely use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine, the most popular and fact-forged remedy for throat and lung diseases.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine is composed of the best ingredients ever used for coughs and colds. It is pleasant to take, prompt in its action, and a positive cure for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, sore throat, hoarseness, asthma and coughs and colds of every description.
