THE FAIR IMPOSTOR.

CHAPTER IX. THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

To a running chorus of conversation and continued laughter, the dinner went its course. Delivered for once from the bondage of their sombre, evening dress, the gentlemen laughed and talked at their ease, and the whole thing resembled an indoor picnic more than a dinner party.

And when the dessert appeared, there was no stampede on the part of the ladies, as is usual, but all kept their places, and all seemed to approve of the arrangement save one person, and that was Harold.

All through the dinner, while listening and talking to Laura, he had kept a wistful glance toward the upper end of the table, where, between the marquis and the duke, Lillian was seated.

Not once—and he watched her closely, though covertly—had she glanced his way. Harold was too sensible to be jealous of Lord Vavasour, but he felt, for all his common sense, a pang of jealousy, and sometimes he answered at random the patter of his little, fairy-like neighbor.

At last it was over. With a sigh almost inaudible, he rose with the rest, and made his way toward her. He was hungering for a word or a look, though it should be the cold one which he usually got from her.

As he came up to the group, he saw that they were holding an animated discussion. Gerald was leaning over his chair, his eager face turned towards Lillian, who, standing in the center, with downcast eyes, was apparently standing out against some proposal.

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY THERAPION

This successful and highly popular remedy, as employed in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Jobert, Volpau, and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of this kind and surpasses everything hitherto employed.

THERAPION No. 1 maintains its world-renowned and well-merited reputation for disengorging the kidneys and bladder, pains in the back, and kindred ailments, affording prompt relief where other well-tried remedies have been powerless.

THERAPION No. 2 for impurity of the blood, scurfy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swelling of the joints, gonorrhoea, and all diseases for which it has been too much a fashion to employ mercury, arsenic, iodo, &c., to the destruction of sufferers' teeth and hair of health. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates every poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3 for exhaustion, nervousness, and all the distressing consequences of disipation, worry, overwork, &c. It possesses surprising power in restoring strength and vigour to those suffering from the enervating influences of long residence in hot and healthy climates.

THERAPION is sold by all Chemists and Mercantile throughout the World. Price in England 2/6 & 4/6. To order, state which of the three numbers is required and observe above Trade Mark, which is a facsimile of the word "THERAPION" as it appears on British Government stamps in white letters on a red ground affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Home Office, and without which it is not genuine.

THERAPION may also be obtained in Dragee (Tasteless) form.

'Admirable!' said the duchess. 'What's the difficulty?' He pointed to Lillian, playfully. 'There!' he said. 'Miss Woodleigh persists in refusing to make one of the company, and I tell her that she is indispensable. You know my whim about faces, and I am convinced that she can act!'

'But, my dear Gerald—' said her grace. 'He raised himself by the chair, and laid his hand on Lillian's arm. 'Come,' he said, 'don't refuse me! I have set my heart upon it—I have indeed! We will have "Romeo and Juliet" or anything you like, and I will paint the scenery. You will play, won't you?'

By this time a small crowd, attracted by the discussion, had gathered round them. Pale and embarrassed, but still smiling, she stood the center of the group, her eyes lowered, her hands folded over her fan.

'Come, say yes, I beg, I implore!' said Lord Vavasour, bending toward her. 'I am sure you can act, and my instinct never deceives me.' There was a moment's silence, then she raised her eyes. There was appeal—almost alarm—in the sudden glance which she directed at the pale.

enthusiastic face, but he and the lookers on saw nothing but maiden modesty. 'Say yes,' he pleaded. 'I have set my heart upon it. I would give all the world to see you in "Juliet," or "Julia in the Hunchback!'

The duchess looked from one to the other. 'Don't humer him, my dear,' she said; 'he's a wicked, wilful boy.' She might have saved herself even then, but she looked at his face, and her prudence melted within her.

'I cannot act,' she said, 'but I will try, if you wish it,' and even as he clasped his small hands together in childish delight, her heart sank with a vague dread.

Instinctively, she looked round for her father, but Sir Talbot, standing a little apart, nodded with proud approval. If she had undertaken to fly from there to Jerusalem he would have believed in her capability of accomplishing it.

And so, with a smile upon her lips, and with vague, indefinite fear at her heart, she stood listening to the impromptu program which Gerald was making out.

'Well,' said Gerald, 'let it be so. We must all take our share. If you insist upon changing the scenes, I'll paint them, and uncle—' looking round.

'Will pay for them,' said the duke, trying to look grave, and utterly failing. 'Oh, yes, I know, Gerald; it is all to be easy, and a mere nothing! But already, in my mind's eye, I see the drawing room—or is it to be in the dining room—with the tapestry torn to shreds, great beams across the ceiling, which has only just been painted, to please you, and an endless world of hammering.'

'My dear uncle, it is a mere nothing!'

'So you said of the tournament last year, my dear Gerald,' said the good natured old man.

'I give you my word,' he said, turning to Sir Talbot, 'That it took ten months to get the lawn straight again, and Parsons, the gardener, wept tears of anguish over the ruined flower beds.'

'Parsons is a sootie,' said Gerald, looking rather disappointed, which was just the signal the duchess was waiting for.

'Don't be so absurd, Plantagenet,' she said to the duke. 'Why should you interfere with the boy?'

'I don't intend to, my dear,' said the duke, with a laugh; and all who knew him knew that, in so many words, he had promised to render every possible assistance.

Two hours later, when the gentlemen had surreptitiously smoked a cigarette, and the ladies had returned from a gossip in the drawing room or a rest upstairs, Lady Warner, on the duke's arm, led the way to the lawn again.

But it had disappeared. As if by magic, a vast marquee stretched across it, and in place of the emerald grass was an admirable dancing floor. In four short hours the well-known contractors had erected an Aladdin's palace—a fairy ballroom bright with light and flowers, and already filled with the opening strains of a crack military band.

There had been no sound of hammering—as a matter of fact, the boards dovetailed together, the huge poles fitted like the joints of a fishing rod, and ropes, not nails, supported the roof and sides of the vast marquee—no noise of preparation, and the surprise was complete.

Asaya-Neurall

THE NEW REMEDY FOR Nervous Exhaustion
Night sweats are a sure sign of nervous exhaustion. They weaken the body and depress the mind. "ASAYA-NEURALL" will overcome this condition. It feeds the nerves with Lecithin, the element required for nerve repair. Full control of the bodily functions soon returns. Restful sleep is obtained, the appetite and digestion improve, nerve vigor is regained. $1.50 per bottle. Local agent.

M. CONNORS.

become the property of the reigning sovereign. The King has the sole right to print the Bible, the Book of Common Prayer, and all Acts of Parliament in the United Kingdom. If he so desired he could forbid the printing of any or all of them within the British dominions.

The sturgeon and the whale are popularly known as royal fish. Whenever they are cast upon the coast of England the sturgeon's body becomes the property of the King, while the whale is divided between the King and the Queen—the former taking the head and the latter the tail. Some old authors justify this division on the ground that the Queen needs the whale's tail to furnish her wardrobe with whalebone. But it has been rightly objected to these old authors that baleen, or whalebone, comes from the head and not from the tail of the whale.

Also, purists have recoiled at the use of the word "fish" as applied to the whale, which is not a fish at all, but a mammal. King Edward VII. possessed a number of distinctions that were personal to himself. He was a clergyman, a lawyer and a doctor. As presbyter of St. David's Cathedral in Wales he received a salary of £1, or $5 a year, which entitled him to preach a sermon in the cathedral pulpit. He was called to both the English and the Irish bars, though it would have been impossible for him to practice the profession of a barrister in view of the fact that this would have antagonized the old-time convention forbidding the bodily presence of the King in the temples of justice where he was constructively imminent.

Some years ago the Royal College of Physicians made him a member of the Faculty, and the Royal College of Surgeons also gave him permission to append the initials F.R.C.S. after his name. He welcomed all these honors in order that he might be associated with all fields of the national life.

KNEW WIFE AND DOG.

A man's voice, husky with anxiety, called up police headquarters the other night at about 2.30 a.m. It was a distraught husband begging the police to help him find his wife, who had been missing since 8 o'clock in the day.

'What's her description?' asked the official at the phone. 'Her height? Weight?'

'Eh—about average, I guess, stammered the husband. "Color of eyes?'

A confused burring sound came back over the wire.

'Blue or brown?' prompted the official.

'I don't know!'

'How was she dressed?'

'I guess she wore her coat and hat—she took the dog with her.'

'Bring kind of a dog?'

'That'll do!' gasped the official. 'We'll find the dog!—Puck.'

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Do you remember the days when the vertical writing mania swept over this country?

Do you remember when you, if you were a youngster then or your children, if you are of the older generation, talked painfully to make all the letters sit bolt upright and to banish the suspicion of a forward slant from the page?

And do you also remember that a good many of the children in their eagerness to make those letters absolutely upright even slanted them over backwards in a perfectly absurd and unnatural manner?

How many grown up people are doing just that same thing?

Figuratively, I mean, of course.

I know a rather poor girl who happened to be thrown into contact with wealthy people a good deal. She desperately disliked toadying, and was so afraid that she would be guilty of it that she was often actually disagreeable and impolite to her rich friends, whereas her manner to those of her own strata was always sweet and charming. Wasn't that slanting the letters over backwards?

I know a man in a certain office in this city who is so afraid that he will seem to be trying to curry favor with his employers that when he happens to come into touch with them he drops the pleasant manners that make him popular with his office mates and becomes a rather surly person. Isn't that slanting his letters over backwards?

I know—and I am sure you do—several people who are so anxious to tell the truth and never flatter, that they very frequently slant backwards into saying unnecessarily unkind and rude things.

My sister and I called on one of these people the other day. She looked us over with the entirely unveiled scrutiny, that is part of the pose of these people, and then remarked, "I like your waist, Ruth, but I don't like Bertha's a bit." How absolutely unnecessary. It wasn't as though her opinion had been asked, and it had been necessary for her to say something. Even then, what she said would have been needlessly crude, but under the present conditions, it was simply a pure case of an eagerness to be frank, slanted over backwards into a plain rudeness.

Of course in these days when all sorts of new thoughts are the style, you have met the person who is so afraid of being narrow-minded and old-fashioned that he slants back into a Bohemian disregard for conventionalities and a worldly wise pose of cynicism.

And conversely you have met the girl who is so afraid of being lax in some way that she slants backward into prudery.

It is well to hate toadying and favor-courrying and flattery and narrow-mindedness and laxness.

It is well to shrink away from them. But it isn't well not to know when to stop shrinking.

At the farthest extreme from every sin or mistake is another sin or mistake.

Virtue and wisdom are the golden means between these extremes.

Do you slant backwards in anything?

Value of Experiment In Developing Resources of a Country.

(Concluded.)

To those wishing to see developed the agricultural possibilities of the future for Newfoundland the following summary of Prof. Hansen's will be of no little interest. He has discovered new kinds of alfalfa which will grow in the coldest regions of the world and which when crossed with the southern ones promise to give the best forage plants a range as far north as the American continent. He has now fine flavored strawberries, raspberries and plums which will stand 40 degrees below zero of frost without need of covering. Also hybrid between Chinese apricots and wild plum of the Canadian Northwest.

Among other discoveries are large sweet grapes grown in northern Persia and since introduced into Russia, and vying with Italian grapes. These facts are gathered mostly from an account of Prof. Hansen's work given in the "Outlook." He is Professor of botanical research at the South Dakota Agricultural College and can be addressed there. He is now working at the production of his ideal alfalfa, which plant has already leucobled and trebled the value of lands where it has been planted.

It may not be in this plant, possibly, or even at this time that Newfoundland will find the consummation of her best agricultural prospects, but it must be attended through scientific and at first apparently unremunerative effort. An experimental agricultural farm in a fishing country like Newfoundland may seem visionary to many. It has met with most bitter criticism, but true wisdom is justified of her children and those who think they know have perhaps more to learn than they admit. Dr. Alexander G. Bell, the famous inventor of the telephone, of aeroplanes, of teaching the deaf and dumb to speak by their lips, and many other things, has been experimenting many years at his own expense, right alongside of us at Baddeck, in Nova Scotia, in trying to produce sheep that will give as a sow gives a litter of suckling pigs. Already he has accomplished a little: He keeps no rams in his flocks possessed with less than five rudimentary teats, and he keeps discarding ewes that give less than three lambs. The neighbouring farmers all recognize now that they are more likely to get twin lambs if they mate one of Dr. Bell's rams. A sheep in Hare Bay, the property of Mr. Elliot, has a record of three lambs twice, and the unique record of four lambs once. This sheep I am now trying to obtain for Dr. Bell's experimental farm. The expense has been great, the returns as yet not all that could be wished for—but Dr. Bell is far from being discouraged.

It would be humiliating to believe that a whole country cannot afford to do what one man can do, and has not the faith and pluck to expend money and effort for the sake of generations to come even though it may be true as the Irishman remarked: "Posterity never did anything for me."

If the development of the past industry merely for fuel is a success it will mark an era in the colony's progress. If the agriculture of the country could be improved it would almost insure the permanency of our fisheries. It is more than sad to a lover of Newfoundland to know that the population of many of our most famous fishing towns such as Brigus, Catalina, etc. in spite of the fertility of our families is not increasing but decreasing in numbers. But the fact remains, and while the Colony needs good fisheries, it needs for good fisheries a development of home industries tries to preserve her fishing population. I have travelled from New York to San Francisco and from Halifax to Vancouver, and seldom in any city have I failed to be greeted by ex-Newfoundlanders, men who love their country but simply couldn't afford to live there. The man from whom I hired a horse at Pasadena on which to ride up Mount Wilson, was a Newfoundland, now a prosperous California farmer. Is it not worth even a sacrifice and much labour that instead of sending farmers to California we could bring California plants to grow in Newfoundland?

Personally I am convinced that such a possibility lies in the womb of the future.

Examination Week at Flat Islands.

On Monday, June 20th, nineteen candidates presented themselves for examination, viz. seven Primaries eight Preliminaries and four Intermediates. The examination was conducted under the following officials: Mr. P. Mulloy, teacher, Odein, Supervisor; Mr. L. S. Coughlin, Chairman; Miss Flora C. Masters, Secretary, together with several ladies of the place who formed the committee. Although the weather during the week was not at all favorable, yet every candidate was strictly attentive and showed earnestness and goodwill in fulfilling their duties.

On Thursday afternoon, before the first sitting, Mr. Burke, the superior teacher, came to the school and announced to the candidates and committee that it had been customary in recent years at the last day of the exams, to have a social gathering and tea to entertain the Supervisor and others who assisted during the week, and requested that the same rule be observed this year. His request was unanimously responded to on Saturday evening when all the candidates and their parents together with several others to the number of about sixty assembled at the school, where tea was served by the ladies and the inner man strictly attended to. After tea Mr. Burke arose and again reminded all present that the principal object of the assemblage was to entertain the Supervisor. Being a stranger he felt it the duty of all to pay their best respects in the best manner possible. He also took pleasure in expressing the feelings of all concerned as to the manner in which the examinations were conducted under the leadership of Mr. Mulloy, and on the part of all he hoped that he may live to fulfill the same duty in 1911. Mr. Mulloy in a few well chosen words heartily thanked Mr. Burke for the compliment paid him and also expressed his gratitude to all for assembling to pay him such respect. He also expressed his pleasure in being able to congratulate both teachers and pupils on their orderly conduct and strict attention during the whole of the examination.

When the tea tables were cleared all joined in several parlor games, and a most enjoyable evening was spent which concluded with the singing of the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne. OBSERVER.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Wellman's Venture.

In view of the preparations by Messrs. Walter Wellman and Ventman to attempt the crossing of the Atlantic Ocean in a dirigible, as reported in to-day's cable despatch, a short review of what has already been done by lighter-than-air flying machines should prove of interest.

Here are some of the records:—
 In 1907 Mr. Walter Wellman organized an airship to the North Pole for the Chicago-Record Herald. The airship was built at Paris and taken to Spitzbergen. Here quarters were built and tests were made. In one of the trials the airship met with disaster, but fortunately no lives were lost, the airship being wrecked on a glacier in a snow storm.

In August, 1908 Wellman made a second attempt to sail in an airship from Spitzbergen, but it fell in the sea and was destroyed.

July 1st, 1908, Count Zeppelin made a 200 mile journey.

August 4th, 1908, Count Zeppelin did 280 miles in 12 hours.

September 12th, 1908, Major Cross made a voyage from Berlin to Madagascary and back to Berlin, covering 188 miles in 13 hours.

On May 30th, 1909, Count Zeppelin made his famous journey of 800 miles in 38 hours.

It will be remembered that Zeppelin built an airship to carry passengers which was wrecked a short time ago over a wood and torn to pieces.

Several journeys have been made

MAC'S LUCK

The Young Woman Reporter's Story:

The following food tale written by a clever young newspaper woman is a true story that came under her personal observation:

"I have been with the ——— (a paper in a Calif. town) for nine years and Mac had been with us all that time and I do not know how much longer.

"Last winter and the winter before Mac, probably from constant night work and improper food, got badly run down, could not eat much, what little he did eat did not do him much good and he always complained he could not keep warm.

"I missed him for awhile until yesterday I overtook him on the street going toward the office, and hardly knew the man; had it not been for the familiar walk I should surely have passed without recognizing him. He was stout, his face was round and ruddy and his eyes bright as I had never seen them before.

"I said, 'Mac, I hardly knew you, what on earth have you been doing to get so fat?' He replied, 'Grape-Nuts, nothing else. I started in on Grape-Nuts food three months ago when I weighed 128 and was feeling miserable, but now I weigh 160 and feel better than I ever felt in my life. I quit my old diet and went on Grape-Nuts and that's the whole story.'"

Exercise is necessary but there's no nourishment in it and proper food alone can supply that. Grape-Nuts for 10 days is a pleasant trial and proves big things.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

from Aldershot to London. In 1907 the Null Secundus made the journey and was afterwards wrecked near the Crystal Palace.

A few weeks ago an army airship made the same journey and called over St. Paul's during the night. The airship was wrecked afterwards.

The long projected journey of a Clement Bayard airship from Paris to London has not yet been accomplished, although the ship has been built in Paris, and a garage has been built at Wormwood Scrubb by the Daily Mail for its accommodation should the attempt be successful.

It is a long cry between a Paris-London journey and an Atlantic trip. There is a big step between what Zeppelin has done and what Wellman projects. We fear that until a greater toll of life, limb and treasure has been extorted, Wellman's project will remain as futile as his effort to reach the North Pole in a dirigible. But the strides in aeronautics have been so great during the past three years, that it is by no means fantastic to imagine that the present generation of citizens may see a trans-Atlantic airship over Signal Hill.

Cochrane St. Church.

The Rev. J. M. Westlake will conduct the morning service to-morrow at the above church. The rev. gentleman has been appointed as the Assistant Pastor of Gower Street Church, and we feel sure that he will receive a cordial welcome from the Methodists of the city. In the evening the Rev. Alfred Woods, of the Postmaster General, will preach. Mr. Woods is a native of St. John's, and is well known to our citizens. He is now connected with the Boston Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and has filled a number of important charges in connection with that Conference. No doubt his many friends will be glad to see him amongst us, and will take this opportunity of hearing him preach. Ushers will be in attendance to accommodate visiting friends.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

To-day Capt. Clarke was summoned for bringing a man named Ford to the country who was liable to become a charge on the Colony. The captain took the man back to New York by his ship and the case was therefore quashed.

A boy who used lewd and insulting language to a teamster was fined $2 or 7 days.

Trip to Brigus.

The Shamrock Amusement Club's excursion to Brigus, promises to be a big success, a large number of tickets are sold, and a large number of people have tickets engaged. Mr. Hianley, the Club's representative, has just returned from Brigus, where he reports that all the people there intend to give the excursion a good time. Cricket and football matches have been arranged and everything is to make the day a pleasant one to be done. The train leaving here on Tuesday night and returning before midnight Wednesday night, gives everyone an excellent opportunity for a night's rest before returning to work.

Missing Child Found.

Little Johnnie Newell, of Nunery Hill, who wandered from his home yesterday evening, was found at Big Pond by Miss Fizzle, who lives out that way. The little fellow, who is only six years of age, attended the sports on Brien's field last evening and wandered away from there. The little fellow was all right and was safely restored to the parents to-day who were most anxious about the little one.

More Boys Suspected.

To-day a number of respectable boys of the Central part of the city were in the lockup. They had been spending money freely for days past and it was thought that they might have had something to do with the larceny at Wood's. It was found when the boys were examined that they had stolen the money from their parents. A deplorable fact about boys so acting of late is that they purchase rifles and ammunition for as low as $4 from hardware people and go about indiscriminately firing at improvised targets. Such a practice is highly dangerous and hardware men should not sell weapons to young chaps under any consideration.

Had Narrow Escape.

Thursday evening as Peter Cole, R. Codner and Samuel Martin, of Torbay, were coming in off the fishing ground with 3 quintals of fish in their boat, while reaching across the Bay their boat went up on a shoal known as Jonathan's Rock which, it being high tide, was covered with 2 feet of water. The sea running in threw the boat well in and the men were enabled to crawl up to the highest part of it and thus saved their lives. The next sea swept the badly smashed boat off and she went to bottom immediately. Had the men remained by her death would have certainly been their portion as a high sea ran and it blew hard. The rock could not be seen from the shore, but the boat was discerned drifting away, and the people knew an accident had occurred, and all expected that the men were drowned. They hurried to the scene in skiffs and picked the men off the rock. They were drenched and cold, and narrowly escaped death.

Riot at Execution of Paris Apache.

Paris, July 1.—Liabeuf, the Parisian Apache, famous for his nail-studded gauntlets, was executed shortly after daybreak this morning.

For weeks past the question of whether or not the death sentence passed on him for the murder of a policeman should be carried out has been a burning topic in Paris. The Socialists and opponents of capital punishment generally clamored for commutation of the sentence on the ground that Liabeuf had originally been a victim of false police evidence, and that his feud against the police consequently had justification. However, Prefect of Police Lepine threatened to resign if clemency was shown to Liabeuf and encouragement thus given to Parisian Apaches in their continually increasing attacks on the police.

Revolutionary Demonstration.
 President Fallieres finally decided that a law must take its course. A violent manifestation by the revolutionary Socialists occurred at the scene of the execution. At the very moment the blade fell several of the rioters fired revolvers. The police charged them repeatedly with bayonets. A police captain was shot in the throat and several persons were badly injured.

Great crowds gathered in the boulevards fronting the Sante Prison to witness the execution, but they were kept back from the guillotine by heavy details of police and municipal guards.

580 Miles of Catacombs

The catacombs at Rome were the burial places of the early Christians. They are about five hundred and eighty miles in extent and are said to have contained 6,000,000 bodies. During the persecutions of the Christians under Nero and other Roman emperors, the catacombs were used for hiding places. Under Diocletian the catacombs were crowded with those for whom there was no safety in the face of day. The art of the catacombs is unique and most interesting. Simple designs are etched in the slabs which seal the tombs. Now and then are small chapels where paintings are to be found. All are Bible illustrations, so that the catacombs may be said to be a pictorial Bible in effect.—The Christian Herald.

Injured Man Here.

W. Brake of Humbermouth, was brought in on the express from Clarendville to-day and taken to Hospital in the ambulance. Dr. Paterson accompanied him and did whatever was possible to lighten the man's suffering. The unfortunate man who is an engineer on the railway construction work at Goose Bay was making some repairs under his engine, fixing a fire box, preparatory to going on to Seal Cove, when another engine backed up and striking Brake's engine he was jammed beneath the pilot in a doubled up position. He was taken out more dead than alive. Fortunately Dr. Paterson was on the spot. The unfortunate man was given immediate attention. It is believed that with the careful attention he will get at the Hospital, he will recover.

Reindeer Increasing.

A family of Lapps—a man, his wife and two sons—who were at St. Anthony for two years herding the reindeer there, arrived by the Prospero yesterday on their way home. Local men are now adepts at the care of the animals, of which, fawns included, there are now 800 in the place. Recently one of the deer gave birth to triplets, a very unusual occurrence. It is known now that the reindeer have crossed with the local caribou and it is possible that an improved species of reindeer will be evolved. The Canadian Government, we learn, are purchasing a number of the deer.

ANOTHER BANKER HERE.—The banker James Tibbo, of Grand Bank, arrived from the Banks to-day having lost some of her gear. She will re-fit here before again proceeding to the fishery.

EIGHTY-SEVEN IN THE SHADE.—At Cape Spear to-day the thermometer registered 87 in the shade, equal to 110 in the sun. This is an unprecedented record for Cape Spear, out in the open Atlantic.

FLORIZEL SAILS.—The Florizel sailed at 1 p.m. to-day. Her additional passengers were: For New York—F. Brown, For Halifax—W. McGregor, Mrs. Giovantti, Miss Burke, W. A. Carroll and several steerage.

Nigger Tit-Bits For White Men.

THE ONLY "WHITE MAN" IN THE BUNCH.

Johnson appears to have had to fight the crowd at Reno, but he won out.

He knocked out Jeffries with his fists, Corbett with his tongue, and the crowd by his smiles.

Each time he was taunted, he gave a soft reply to the glib, a smile to the crowd and a licking to Jeffries.

Here are some of the tit-bits:—
 1. Corbett: "He wants to fight a little Jim."
 Johnson (smiling and landing Jeff a stinger): "You bet I do."

2. Again, to an irritating taunt by Corbett, he rushed Jeffries and replied: "Too much on hand right now."

3. Corbett: "It only takes one or two, Jim."
 Johnson's reply: two stingers for Jeffries, and to a third he called Corbett's attention with the remark, "See that?"

4. Corbett to Jeffries: "Make that stiff fight."
 "This fetched from Johnson a blow and the retort: "That's right; that's what they all say."

5. Another remark of Corbett's got more punishment for Jeffries, and for Corbett and his crowd the smiling retort: "Thought you were going to have me wild."

6. As Jeffries slackened Corbett sickened and became silent. This elicited from Jeff's friends the suggestion: "Talk to him, Corbett."

7. Corbett in despair at last ventured to the smiling nigger: "Why don't you do something?" And to it the nigger laughingly replied: "Too clever, too clever, like you."

8. And at last they all end with the pitiable appeals: "Don't let the negro knock him out; don't let the negro knock him out."

Altogether the fight appears to have been a sorry spectacle of degradation to which white men can sink.

The "black nigger" appears to have been the only "white man" in the bunch.

DIPHTHERIA AGAIN.—A woman residing at Wood Street developed diphtheria yesterday and was taken to hospital.

Temperance in the French Navy.

We learn from the French Consul, M. Chorat, that a regulation was adopted recently by the French Naval authorities whereby Savings Banks for the sailors have been established on all the French ships. It is supervised by the paymasters, and tends not alone to make the men provident by keeping them from spending much money when on shore leave, but also keeps down the expenditure at the canteen and makes for temperance.

There was an illustration of this, the Consul says, on board the Surcouf, the warship which has been in port the past few days. Since the regulation went into force the men have deposited in the bank a large portion of their wages, and in two months, the time the law has been in vogue, not a case of drunkenness was reported when the crew was ashore.

To save their money the men, it is now noticed, at mess take only a glass of light claret, and the innovation will be of incalculable benefit to the men.

The Power of Fear.

How Fear or Sudden Shock Turns Hair White.

Authentic instances of the hair turning white in a few hours or a night through fear or sudden shock could be multiplied indefinitely says Orison Swett Marden in "Success Magazine." It is well known that when Ludwig of Bavaria learned of the innocence of his wife whom he had caused whom he had caused to be put to death on suspicion of her unfaithfulness, his hair became as white as snow within a couple of days.

When Charles the First attempted to escape from Carisbrooke Castle, his hair turned white in a single night. The hair of Marie Antoinette was suddenly changed by her great distresses. On a portrait of herself, which she gave to a friend, she wrote, "Whitened by affliction."

This power of fear to modify the currents of the blood and all the secretions, to whiten the hair, to paralyze the nervous system, and

The Silent Chaperone

Lady typists and other business girls sometimes find it necessary to protect themselves against the unwelcome attentions of male passengers by tranter or omnibus.

It was the heroine of a "Punch" story who adopted green goggles on going out as a goddess to conceal her own good looks, but a present-day girl has devised a far neater method.

Every morning she appeared at the office with an encyclopaedia-looking volume labelled "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire."

(One evening her employer caught sight of it, and exclaimed: "Well, for pity's sake, don't tell me you are reading this?"

The girl broke into a friendly smile. "Why, this is my chaperone, which I take with me to have going home alone in the train," she said. "Ever since I've been carrying it I haven't seen a man yet who would look at me a second time."

The young lady added that only the outside belonged to Gibbons; the covers were filled with the latest story magazines.

Here and There.

Mr. P. Hanley arrived here by last night's train from Brigus where he completed all arrangements for the Shamrock Club's excursion.

MORE LAPP'S HERE.—Some Lapp-landers, who arrived here by the s.s. Prospero, were on Water Street West yesterday afternoon and their appearance and peculiar dress drew much attention to them.

BECAME SUDDENLY INSANE.—A poor woman who only arrived from Fortune Bay on Tuesday last, who is very ill, and was placed in the hospital, became suddenly insane here yesterday morning. She had very violent periods, had to be restrained or she would do herself injury, and was taken to the Asylum by Const. Power.

GOOD FISHING DONE.—Thursday and Friday all the boats at Petty Hr. were loaded with excellent cod. The stormy weather of Thursday night tore some of the traps badly causing a delay to the work, which is a great loss to the fishermen as trap time is getting short. THE DOG FISH PEST.—Dog fish during the week made their appearance in different parts of the country, and are already becoming a pest to our fishermen. They carry off the hooks and bait from the trawls, and occasionally damage twine. Some means should be devised to exterminate the pests.

GOOD SALMON FISHING.—Messrs. W. H. Herder, Tessier, Dickinson, Crowley and Boone arrived in from Salmonier by last night's train, having done splendidly with salmon. Mr. Nicholas Coady, grocer, accompanied by his wife, is also at Salmonier, and both have taken a large number of salmon. Mrs. Coady has proven herself an expert angler and captured several large fish.

GOOD FOOTBALL TEAM.—An interesting football match will be played at Bell Island to-day between the employees of the N. S. S. Co. and the D. I. S. Co. Both are excellent football aggregations and a lively game is expected. It would be a good idea if a team picked from both combines would come to St. John's and try conclusions with our boys before the season closes.

A Rare Opportunity.

Editor Evening Telegram: Dear Mr. Editor,—In a recent issue of the "Telegram," I noticed an advertisement of farms for sale on the West Coast, and as I am more or less acquainted on the West Coast, it occurs to me there is a chance for some of our young men to take advantage of the encouragement given by the Government to buy farms for themselves and settle down to home life.

I know the farms alluded to, and information of them may be had from Steer Brothers. It is well known that the Codroy Valley is a prosperous farming settlement, and the farm alluded to is one of the best farms in the Valley, and as for the farm at Stephenville it has been said by Judge Little to be one of the finest farms on the island.

As an instance of what might be accomplished in the way of farming in Newfoundland, I have heard of a man from Nova Scotia buying a farm near the one that is for sale in the Codroy Valley, that was about three years ago. He brought with him four milk cows and six calves, and bought one cow and calf after coming. Now I am informed on good authority that this man sold eleven hundred weight of butter last summer, and sent beef cattle to St. John's in the fall to the value of over $300.

So I trust that some of our enterprising young men will embrace the opportunity, buy a farm and so help to advance agriculture, instead of going out of the country in search of employment.

Thanking you for space, I remain, Yours truly, A NEWFOUNDLANDER. St. John's, July 6th, 1910.

Banierman Park Notes

(For The People's Paper.)

On behalf of our citizens let me thank the band of the Methodist Guards in giving us a free concert last night. I am certain our City Fathers appreciate such generosity.

The programme was one of merit in many points of view, the various instruments blending most harmoniously, the time perfect, and short intervals between each item, a point most pleasing to the audience at all times.

The electric lights require immediate attention for they appeared as mere glimmers last evening. They should be replaced by a few lamps such as the one "beauty" at the Park entrance on Military Road.

It is not pleasant to notice the unseemly conduct (horse play) that is indulged in by some young men, especially during concert night at our Parks.

Upwards of four thousand persons were present at the Park last night. We believe this is the record to date. No doubt the beautiful summer weather and the Guards' presence in full uniform was the cause of such a very large gathering.

But the old saying is that it is impossible to please everybody. Hence it was last night with the gem programme rendered. Many present would have preferred to listen to a programme of popular airs.

In this connection the name of Bennett's Orchestra came in, and many expressed the opinion that Bennett's programme of Park Concerts was the most popular and at all times caught the crowd. These opinions freely discussed were in no way derogatory to the excellent musical combination presented last night.

And now that the Park Concert season is begun the wish as expressed by hundreds last night is that the incoming Council will continue in the footsteps of their predecessors and let us hear the familiar strains of Bennett's band, old, but ever new, to the citizens of St. John's.

It was pleasing to notice amongst the throng last evening some of the newly elected Councillors, Messrs. Coaker, Mullally, Ryan and Myrick. They were welcomed by their many friends.

The delapidated looking old city flag has done service for a number of years should without delay be replaced by a new one. What say you, Mayor Ellis?

July 8, 1910. VISITOR.

Mr. Lethbridge Missing To Cross Atlantic In Airship.

Special to Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, N.Y., July 8. Walter Wellman and Melven Ventman will attempt this coming fall to cross the Atlantic Ocean in the dirigible balloon America, which was built for the Wellman Polar Expedition and has twice been tested in voyages over the Arctic Ocean. The attempt will be made solely on the responsibility of the aeronauts, but the New York Times and the Chicago Record and Herald and the London Daily Telegraph have arranged to buy the news expedition which will be transmitted by wireless from the airship, just as news now is from ocean liners. On her long voyage the America will carry a crew of 6 men, including the wireless operator, and 1,600 gallons of gasoline in a steel tank. Equipped for a day's run she could carry 75 passengers in addition to her full crew. In size she ranks second only to the latest Zeppelin airship. Two engines will drive her—one 70 h.p. for ordinary duty, and one 300 h.p. for emergency service, when high service is needed.

Thought to be Dead.

A report was current recently that Mr. Lethbridge, who formerly ran a business for Duder at the premises now owned by Mr. Wm. Ashbourne, died recently.

The Sun has been informed that private letters received say that Mr. Lethbridge went to the docks at London to see his youngest and only surviving son, Cecil, off for South Africa on May 14th. Since then he has not been heard of and it is supposed that he fell overboard and was drowned.

Of his children, Will, Claud and Clarence are dead, Mrs. (Rev.) A. Pittman, of Tit Cove, is the only one in this country, and the others are in England.

Mr. Lethbridge was well known in Twillingate, where he conducted a business for many years.— Twillingate Sun.

Prince's Rink Secured

Boy Reported Missing.

Johnny Newell, aged 6, of Nunney Hill, was reported missing to the police last evening. He left his home shortly after tea and was seen at the Christian Brothers boys' sports with some boy friends, but afterwards did not turn up at his home. The police were acquainted of the matter and last night Head Constable Post and other officers searched everywhere but could not locate him. He might have been taken in by friends who did not report his safety. He had not been found up to 8 a.m. to-day.

Banking Schr Damaged

The vessel reefs at Job's. This is her second trip and she has 1,000 qts. stocked for 7 dories. She reports fish scarce in the section on which she worked.

Wild Socialist Speech.

Special Evening Telegram. MADRID, July 8. Pablo Iglesias, the first socialist deputy to speak in the Cortes, created a sensation by a violent revolutionary speech about the Barcelona riot. He proclaimed the innocence of Ferrer and avowed that the Barcelona socialists who were affiliated with the International organization had precipitated disorders to stop the war in Melilla. He declared that if Senor Maart, the former Conservative Premier, was returned to power, he would be assassinated.

presented by Christianity and Christian civilisation, and likewise to point to the dark places of the earth where the Gospel had not yet been heard. In Africa alone there are seventy millions of people outside the evangelising sphere of Christianity; in the whole world it is computed there are 113 millions with no Christian provision made for their religious needs.

This Conference devoted much time to the consideration of missionary problems in relation to the non-Christian world in connection with the report of the Commission, which suggests that an international committee should be appointed. Dr. George Robson applied himself to the problem of pagan Africa. In starting language he told also of the enormous advance of Islam, and was not afraid to attack boldly the British administration "which to its shame gives every encouragement to pagans becoming Mohammedan and hinders Christian missions from appealing to Moslems." A strong missionary force, he said, "must be thrown right across the centre of the continent to bar the advance of Islam and to carry the Gospel northward into the Sudan." Then Karl Kumm perhaps no living explorer knows more of this remarkable advance of Mohammedanism in the Sudan and southwards, and he also joined in the accusation that European Governments are directly and indirectly assisting the advance.

"At one Session," says the Scotsman, "the question of whether it was advisable to have native agencies in the East dependent upon foreign support raised a difficult question. Among the natives prejudice is easily stirred against the native evangelists supported by the West, and the taunt is easy that they are traitors to the country in foreign pay. The difficulty, however, of theorising was apparent when one delegate declared that in China, whether desirable or not, it was necessary. And the theories all failed when Dr. Ross told how in Manchuria, in the last few years, 30,000 had been received into the Church, yet only 100 of these were received as the direct result of work of missionaries—the rest were received as the results of the work of native evangelists—and these were supported from the West. The words of Dr. Ross made a profound impression as he said that the work of Christianising the world was hopeless if Christianity depended wholly on the missionary of the West."

Results that are Anticipated.

"As a result of the Conference," says the Guardian, "we anticipate that every missionary society and organisation will be enabled to recognise its place as never before in the missionary enterprise of the world, and thereby to revise its methods and adjust its resources to better purpose; secondly, the waste caused by overlapping will be checked, and the forces of Christian bodies, differing little, if at all, in principle, will be more effectively concentrated; thirdly, the question of co-operation in the mission-field is more capable of solution abroad than it is at home, and the conference may be able to show that 'comity' in mission work is more than a phrase of the newspapers. The advance of Christian unity may be set down as a fourth indirect result which may be looked for; and the last, but not the least valuable, effect will be the education of the United Kingdom in missionary principles, for it is proposed on the conclusion of the conference to scatter the thousand delegates and other workers over the whole country in a campaign of missionary interest."

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.

Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dread insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dosing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pain and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.

"Though I tried several doctors, I was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. It is simply wonderful what benefit have obtained from this treatment. Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanston Bates & Co., Toronto. ## Shutting the Door.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
BERLIN, July 8.

The liveliest interest is felt in official circles regarding the Russo-Japanese agreement, the text of which has not yet been forwarded to Germany. The maintenance of the status quo, which the agreement is ostensibly intended to secure, is considered most desirable. The most delicate point in the agreement refers, according to the semi-official Frankfurter Zeitung, to the understanding to act mutually on the defensive against the intervention by third powers in Manchuria, which all belongs to China. It is pointed out that America obtained a concession for the Aguin Chia Chew railroad from China, and the question is now raised whether the agreement is intended to oppose America's unwelcome intrusion in the Russo-Japanese sphere of influence. If so, the agreement is taken to mean the closing of the open door.

The French Shore Fishery a Blank.

Apparently our hopes for a brighter outlook on the French Shore are doomed to crumble. Schooner after schooner has arrived, nearly all with clean holds.

The following are the arrivals as far as we have been able to get them: H. J. Earle's fleet. Arrivals are: Emma Jane, 8 brls.; Zephyr, from Ming's, 8 brls.; New Vancouver, from Hooping Hr., 60 brls. The last named reports Mabel, 140 brls, still getting a little fish. As far as Mr. Nott, who supplied us with the above, can learn the trap fishery is a failure, not from lack of fish but because fish seems to lie in deep water.

J. W. Hodge has the two following arrivals:—Energy, Isaac Earle, master, 65 barrels, and James Gillard, master, 78 barrels.

Mr. Wm. Ashbourne has several arrivals to date, many of them clean or nearly so. The Ophir and Stanley Smith have about 100 each; Emerald, 40; Violet Carrie, about 15. Mr. Ashbourne fears a poor voyage from present indications.—Twillingate Sun.

Boys Have Outing.

The boys attending the Christian Brothers Schools at St. Patrick's Hall had an enjoyable outing at O'Brien's farm, Freshwater Road, yesterday afternoon. Though the affair was impromptu all enjoyed it, and the good Brothers did everything possible to make it a success. The lads entered with zest into the races of various kinds and games of football and cricket, and all voted the evening an extremely pleasant one.

Placentia Notes.

On Sunday, July 3rd, High Mass was celebrated in the Sacred Heart Church, the celebrant being Mgr. Reardon, while Rev. Father Gough was the Deacon and Rev. Father O'Reilly performed the duties of Sub-Deacon. The High Altar was beautifully decorated in honor of the Precious Blood. During the progress of the Mass Rev. Fr. O'Reilly preached a fine sermon on the Gospel of the day. He was listened to with rapt attention by all present, who departed from the church much more enlightened about the Precious Blood than when they entered.

Rev. Dr. O'Reilly was born in Placentia some forty years ago, and was a son of the late Magistrate, Mr. T. O'Reilly. From his earliest years thoughts of the priesthood had been coming through his mind, and at last he determined to study for the religious order. To-day he is one of the best preachers in the island. He will remain a week or two visiting friends in Ye Ancient Capital.

Salmon and trout are taking to the S. E. River already. Some salmon have been caught weighing from 4 to 10 pounds, and trout from ½ to 5 pounds. The tourist who may be looking for good fishing cannot secure a more suitable place. Up-to-date hotel accommodations can be had at very lowest rates at the "River View Hotel," Edward Fulford, proprietor. The river is only two minutes walk from the hotel.

As each train arrives numbers of tourists are coming to share in the everlasting sport that is to be had in the river. To give people an idea of the great sport that can be had would not be out of the way. On Monday evening Mr. W. J. Walsh went to the river, and came back Tuesday morning having six salmon (averaging 6 pounds) and two trout (3 and 3½ pounds). A trip is well worth the money, and after once being there it will not be the last visit. Come early, enjoy the sport, so that your friends will be able to follow you.

Rev. Fr. Fyde arrived from Cape Shore on Monday, and proceeded to the city by train same day.

Mr. Taylor and mother arrived from New York by Saturday's train to enjoy a week's fishing at the S. E. River.

Mr. Billingsby and bride, arrived from the city by Tuesday's inward train. Immediately upon arrival they drove to the S. E. River by carriage and put up at River View Hotel.

Mrs. T. Bonis, and daughter, also Miss M. Collins arrived from the city on Monday.

Points From the Congress of Missions.

A Question Which the Laity will ask and the Clergy Must Answer.

The grey and stately city of Edinburgh has for long been the familiar Mecca of the Gospeller. Conventions and congresses, some national, others international, have come and gone with the years; but for impressiveness surely the World Missionary Conference will not only have an abiding place in the public recollection of events, but will, as its promoters believe and expect, mark out a great forward step in Christian vindication and Christian opportunity of foreign mission enterprise.

"No aspect of the Conference," remarks the Scotsman, "will more appeal to the lay mind than the fact that so many Churches, of diverse creeds and organisations, should meet in one great council, their differences all put aside, to consider how best to ensure the triumph of what is common to them all. It is an impressive witness to the unity of the Churches in regard to the essential matters, and it is a happy arguery for the future. The advance of Islam and the quickening to new life of non-Christian nations have created a situation which demands the united action of all the Churches."

The same lesson is rammed home by the Glasgow Herald, which says:—"The note of the present gathering is comprehension. Its business is not with creeds and confession, but with practice. It does not inquire of its members what they believe, but what they are doing or are prepared to do in propagation of a common faith.

So by widening the basis it affords a platform for denominations which have fought bitterly one with another in the past, and which continue to adhere unflinchingly within the domestic domain to their peculiar doctrines and forms of faith, and to defend their historic differences.

"This Missionary Conference, properly regarded, is nothing less than a confession that most of the things which keep, as they have kept, Protestant Christians each in his little narrow fold are of small account when the problems of heathenism and paganism have to be tackled in a business-like and workman-like manner. If the world, without our petty sectarianism, can be won to Christianity without the various denominations fighting over the historic episcopate, and methods of church government, and so forth, why cannot the world which lives at close quarters with the everyday evidences of disunion and division be evangelised in the same catholic and comprehensive spirit? That is a question which this Conference will compel many of our laity to ask. It is one that some day our clergy of all denominations will be obliged to answer."

Dr. Gibson, of Swatow, in one of the debates, emphasised the fact that the native churches are now no longer to be regarded as small and scattered communities.

"In Japan and China especially there are growing up strong, healthy churches that are likely before long to become independent of European and American missionaries. Here," as the Manchester Guardian says, "the repetition of the denominational divisions, still so rigid in the Old World, cannot be but a deplorable mistake. These divisions have grown up out of our unhappy history; but the foreign converts have had no such history—no expulsions of Puritans and Methodists, no protests of Baptists, Independents, and Quakers, each resulting in the rise of a new sect. Surely what we should work for on the virgin soil of any new area of Christendom is not a mechanical imitation of our pens and pounds, but the formation of a national church—which, of course, need not be, and Free Churchmen hold must not be, a State-established Church."

On a famous occasion the late Lord Salisbury advised the public to the use of large maps. In a figurative as well as in a realistic sense the Conference met this want. The missionary map was unfolded of both hemispheres, and living indexes were there to point to the white places re-
