The Importance of School Fairs

(From The Chatham News.)
Kent county has been fortunate this year in having a number of very successful school fairs, held under the direction and with the assistance of the local representative of the Department of Agriculture. The object of the school fair is to interest children in the home life of the farm and to get them interested also in the growing of farm crop, in chickens and stock, as well as to teach them proper methods of raising crops and live stock so that better results may be obtained. The purpose is to show the boys and girls that there are better opportunities for the average person on the farm than in the cities to encourage the young people to stay on the farms and to also encourage them in making the home life on the farm more cheerful and interesting and to benefit the social relations of the communities in which they live. Such objects and purposes as laid down for the school fairs are worthy of the most hearty co-operation and assistance of all classes of people.
The arguments against young people rushing to the commercial centres are many; the needs of increased production on the farms are fairly

AFTER GRIPPE

Mrs. Findley Made Strong By Vinol
Severy, Kans.—"The Grippe left me in a weak, nervous, run-down condition. I was too weak to do my housework and could not sleep. After trying different medicines without benefit Vinol restored my health, strength and appetite. Vinol is a grand medicine and every weak, nervous, run-down woman should take it."—Mrs. GEO. FINDLEY.

clearly understood and the need of overcoming some of the unfavorable conditions attached to residence in the rural sections have been emphasized repeatedly. Those who are on the farms or who come closely in touch with the farming community realize fully the manifold advantages of better and more modern methods in farm work. There is just as much reason why a farmer should use his head as there is for the manufacturer to adopt business methods in his plant. The farmer who uses his head more and his hands less than was the system a few years ago is the man who ranks first in the community and the educating of the children to this principle and plan means more success for the rural sections and a corresponding advantage for the cities and towns. All classes of people benefit by the results obtained from better methods on the farm and this advance in method can only continue when the children are shown the advantages and the opportunities which are before them.
The influence of the school fair should be extended.

Military Hospitals.

The Military Hospitals Commission at Ottawa informs us that 2081 soldiers were under its care at the beginning of this month. Of these, 426 were at Sanatoria for tuberculosis, and 1616 at Convalescent Hospitals, 682 of the latter being out-patients—while 39 members of the force were in asylums for the insane. Of the 426 cases of tuberculosis, it may be added, almost exactly half were discovered in time to prevent them leaving Canada for the seat of war.
According to a statement prepared by the Militia Department, up to Oct. 5, the number of soldiers sent back to Canada because of medical unfitness was 6208. Of these, 961 were suffering from wounds, shell-shock, or the effect of gas; 122 were insane; 245 were afflicted with tuberculosis; while the remainder, 4880 were suffering from other diseases and disabilities.

A Good Creed

A creed published by the Guelph Herald for residents of that city is just as well adapted for Watford by substituting the name of the latter for the former and the word town for city: "Brookville is my city—my home—and as such it demands the best I have to offer in loyalty and in service. I cannot be truly loyal to my city, or to myself, unless I do my full share towards placing it where it will deserve my unqualified loyalty. I owe my city a debt—perhaps larger than I can realize. Here I find my one best chance to pay a part, at least. I owe it to my self, to my children, and to my friends to leave this city better than I found it when I became a part of it. The more I help Brookville the greater will be the opportunity for me while I am here and for those who are to follow after."

To Economize Digestion

Indigestion is often attributed to hasty eating and people are reproved and rightly so, for bolting their food; but it is interesting to observe that while the bolting of meat is always severely censured, one never hears any blame attached to those who swallow fruit by the mouthful, and devour uncooked vegetables without any attempt at mastication. Nevertheless, it is the hasty swallower of vegetable fibre who is really the inciter of gastric rebellion. Vegetables are, at all times, very imperfectly digested by the stomach, and require their tough fibres to be thoroughly broken up by the teeth if they are to be dissolved even in the bowel.
There is a well-known saying which avers that digestion waits upon appetite, and there is no doubt that of all the helps to digestion a keen desire for food is the most powerful and important. But appetite itself often depends upon conditions which are independent of the body's absolute necessities. Thus the aspect of the food, its smell, taste and even the manner in which it is served, all help either to stimulate a desire for it, or to induce a sense of aversion, while the environment of the diner often exercises important influence, beneficial or otherwise. Brain work of any kind interferes with the rapid digestion of food and even the habit of reading during meal times, practised by so many, is conducive neither to appetite nor digestion. A well-lighted room, music and frivolous conversation will often permit a chronic dyspeptic to enjoy without remorse the pleasures of the table, while a depressing atmosphere, un congenial company, and unappetizing dishes may induce a fit of indigestion in the most healthy individual.

Buy at Home

When you want to help your town, Buy at home!
When you want shoes, hat or gown, Buy at home!
Never mind what 'tis you need, Canned goods, collars, chicken feed, Frame this phrase up for your creed: Buy at home!
Other folks may buy by mail, You buy at home!
Help the home store to a sale, Buy at home!
Every dollar sent away, Means a dollar less to pay
What is owed right here to-day, Buy at home!
Are you for your town or not? Cheaper elsewhere? Tommyrot? Buy at home!
Home store qualities are true, Home store merchants work for you, This much then you ought to do: Buy at home!
—By Frank Farrington, Oil City, Pa.

Every careful and observant mother knows when her child suffers from worms. She also knows that if some remedy be not speedily applied much harm will result to the infant. The best application that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They drive worms from the system and set up stimulating and soothing effects, so that the child's progress thereafter is painless and satisfying.

In Doubt

The Sunday-school teacher had explained the familiar Bible story at length, and then asked Tommy if he expected to be among the sheep or among the goats. "I dunno," said Tommy, doubtfully, "How's a feller to tell when his ma calls him a lamb an' his pa says he's a confounded kid?"

NOTE AND COMMENT

Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, has issued a protest to the civilized world against the deportation of Belgians to Germany for forced labor. The protest is dated November 7th, and is signed by Cardinal Mercier in behalf of all the Belgian bishops except the bishop of Bruges, with whom he was unable to get in touch. "To-day," declares Cardinal Mercier, "all able-bodied men are carried off pell-mell, penned up in trucks and deported to unknown destinations like slave gangs."

Montreal Gazette: A boy who has just finished school and is about to attempt to earn his own living asked his Principal for advice as to the books that would give him the broader education he coveted but must acquire by himself. The reply was as follows: "For every work of fiction read a well selected volume of history or biography. Study living people as well as books. More may be gained from the perusal of a good newspaper than from the pages of many histories." There is better guidance in that advice than in most of the lists of "the best books" that have had wide publicity.

London Times: Everything depends upon the power of the Allies to keep up the pressure unrelaxed, and their ability to do this demands more men, and still more men. We must not suffer ourselves to be deluded by the brilliant successes we have begun to win, or by any notions that the German armies are generally and permanently demoralized. The only way to save ourselves from an indefinite prolongation of the war, and from all the sacrifices in blood and treasure which such a calamity would involve, is to bring our full resources to bear upon the enemy at the earliest possible moment and to exert them relentlessly until his strength and spirit is broken.

The money in the banks does not belong to the banks. It is the people's money. It is put in the banks for convenience and safety. The banks use it and the business men borrow it. The great share of business of the country is done with borrowed money. If the people withdraw their money the banks can't make loans, and the business men, unable to borrow, go to the board, and this condition of things continued any length of time produces a panic, and then those who have drawn their money out of the banks, and in reality produced the panic, will find they are the first to suffer. If you have any money you are not using put it in the bank.

AN ELECTRIFIED FUTURE

An Occupation for Wounded Soldiers

The soldier owes much to electricity. Success in battle is largely due to knowledge of the enemy's position and movements, often gained by wireless signalling from aeroplanes; and to the rapid transmission of that knowledge and the consequent orders by telephone and telegraph. Our command of the sea is perfected and maintained largely by wireless electric communications between our ships, and between ship and shore.

In repairing the ravages of war, also, specially on human beings, electricity is most valuable. Electric treatment is one of the many scientific methods by which the Military Hospitals Commission of Canada is restoring our wounded and weakened soldiers to strength, and making them fit for independent and self-supporting activity in civil life.

Mr. George Iles, a Canadian writer who has devoted much attention to this subject, writes to the Military Hospitals Commission suggesting that electricity may also furnish a congenial and profitable occupation for many of these soldiers when they leave hospital.

Electric smoothing irons, toasters, heaters, lamps, motors, sweepers and tools are very popular where they have been introduced. Their popularity is bound to go on increasing as they become better known, and a large increase of output will bring about a decrease in price when normal times return. The price of electric current has been reduced already thanks to the partial development of our magnificent water-powers.

A blind officer, Lieut. Edwin Baker, one of the few Canadian soldiers who has lost the sight of both eyes, has just been appointed to a position on the engineering staff of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. Mr. Iles suggests that many other Canadian Veterans unfitted for hard muscular work might well be employed, as canvassers and demonstrators, in popularizing electrical appliances throughout the country.

The battle of the Somme, where Canadians have played so conspicuous and heroic a part, is sending home hundreds of men unable to rejoin the fighting ranks, and thousands of our disabled men had returned even before that great battle had begun.

Every suggestion of useful and profitable employment for injured soldiers, therefore, is to be warmly welcomed.

The brains as well as the sympathies of the nation must be actively engaged in promoting the success of this national enterprise.

An Appeal By The Queen

Buckingham Palace, October 24th, 1916

On the threshold of the third winter since the beginning of the war, I appeal to all those who have generously responded to my requests for work during the past two years not to relax their efforts in providing comforts for our soldiers and sailors.

The applications from regiments and hospitals at home and abroad increase instead of diminishing, and an almost unlimited number of things is needed if the Queen Mary's Needlework Guild is to meet all the demands made upon it.

As Sir Edward Ward has recently pointed out, the chief needs at the present moment are mittens, mufflers, helmets, socks, gloves and cardigans, and my Guild is also being specially asked for pyjamas, day shirts, bed jackets, blankets and sheets.

I wish to take this opportunity of thanking again the many workers in many lands who have so kindly contributed to the splendid total of 3,990,784 garments, which have been sent out in 26 months from Friary Court.

(Signed) MARY R.

In answer to the appeal Lady Hendrie has graciously arranged a Shower for Soldiers Comforts to be held at the Government House on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 7th, and all those desiring to contribute in response to the Queen's request may send their gifts or comforts or money to Lady Hendrie, Government House, Toronto, at any time before the 7th of December.

CHOP STUFF

Andrew Anderson, a former resident of Forest, dropped dead in Chicago.

The front part of the old Gattis House, Thedford, is being fitted up for a post office.

Hydro was turned on in Highgate last week, and Rodney will get it next month.

Sgt. C. E. Routley, of Enniskillen, has been granted a D. C. M. for bravery at the front.

Dutton granted $850 to the Red Cross Fund. Glencoe's contributions now amount to $941.00.

W. L. Hills, of Wheatley, has an eight months old Lincoln lamb that produced 10-inch wool at that age, which is considered a record.

For twenty years or more the village of Thamesville has made the Herald an annual grant of $12 for publishing the minutes of the council.

The Vendome hotel at Sarnia was damaged by fire to the extent of $3000 last week. The fire caught in the attic supposedly from defective wiring.

Another of Plympton's old settlers passed to her rest last Monday in the person of Margaret McDougall widow of the late Donald McIntyre in the 80th year of her age.

There is some talk amongst some of the farmers of Bosanquet, of forming a plowing association, matches to be held annually. Some years ago Bosanquet farmers held plowing matches, the last one being held on the farm of Mr. Carrothers, 6th con.

Some seventy-five farmers in Enniskillen, Sarnia and Brooke townships have signed agreements with the Lambton Flax Co. to accept fifty per cent. of the value of their flax, same to be payable now, the balance to be paid at a later date. One farmer refused to sign. This, so far as the growers themselves are concerned, settles the matter.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Duncan, 4th line east Enniskillen at eight o'clock last night, when their daughter, Mary, was united in marriage to Oliver Tennant, also of Enniskillen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Knowles, of Petrolia, in the presence of the immediate family and a few friends.

THE ANSWER IS WEAR RUBBERS

Many People Will Don Goloshes Early This Season to Combat the High Cost of Leather Foot-wear

"Buy rubbers," says the shoe-man, the dealer who plays fair with his customers.

Leather is up and shoes are up to such an extent that the buying of a pair of shoes is almost on a level with the acquiring of a new suit or coat. Shoes must be worn, but the economical person will don rubbers as soon as the weather gets the least bit "damp under foot"; not only for the protection to the feet, but the rubbers afford, but to save the costly shoes he or she wears.

There was never a problem in economics that was not solved sooner or later, and rubbers and over-shoes seem to be the answer to the augmented price of shoes this winter.

Mothers Value This Oil.—Mothers who know how suddenly croup may seize their children and how necessary prompt action is in applying relief, always keep at hand a supply of Dr. Thomas' Eucalyptic Oil, because experience has taught them that there is no better preparation to be had for the treatment of this ailment. And they are wise, for its various uses render it a valuable medicine. m

LOVELL'S

The Typhoon

A Story of Japan

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Wendell had been in Japan a week when he decided to leave Nagasaki and make his headquarters in a tiny fishing village.

The motive came upon Ray Wendell the very day he decided to leave Nagasaki.

It came in the shape of a typhoon. Toward noon there was a cloud before the sun.

Everything portable was fastened as tightly as possible, and then all one could do was to pray for deliverance from the whirlwind.

Even the foreign population living in the substantially built hotels and large private residences recognized the signs of approaching storm.

A yellow light seemed to brood over the city. Birds flew restlessly among the trees and shrubs in the gardens, and mothers gathered their little ones into the house.

In the bazars the boxlike counters were quickly telescoped, the stock in trade vanished as rapidly as only the swaying standards and paper lanterns were left to waste warning.

Wendell, walking toward the ticket office to see about reservations for his journey to the fishing village of his dreams, paused for a moment and looked down the street to the very end, where the busy thoroughfare became a jutting wharf—a choppy yellow gray sea, not a sail in sight and the shipping in the harbor rocking uneasily.

All at once the typhoon came screaming down the wind like a thousand furies let loose.

Frail roofs were lifted like paper and sailed through the air like huge kites.

Wendell gasped for breath and clung to a pole. His hat vanished and became one of other myriad flying objects. Furniture, clothing, uprooted trees, signboards, flew past at dizzying speed. People struggling against the wind turned and went with it, many to destruction.

Wendell, pausing at a corner, turned it to get away from that dizzy glimpse of the sea. He lost all sense of locations.

Dogs dodged under his feet. Paper umbrellas, whose owners had neglected to fasten them, were torn to shreds and went swirling through the air like huge paper kites. Signboards danced and clattered overhead.

There were shrill screams as women fled toward their frail homes. Clogs clattered on the pavements and there were tinkling crashes of porcelain as shop windows blew in and devastated the stock of some luckless merchant.

Amid the eerie ringing of temple bells sounded the hoarse notes of warning whistles in the harbor. The cries of flying jinrikisha runners were lost in the pandemonium of sound.

Wendell wondered what he should do. He could not find his way back to the hotel, yet he must find some place of refuge and find it very soon.

When the blighting wind had passed over the city there might follow its aftermath—the tidal wave. Very likely the shops in the harbor were preparing to meet the shoreward thrust of the mighty waters.

Wendell tried to hail a rikisha man. He might get back to the hotel. But every vehicle was filled and his call was unnoticed. He addressed one or two fleeing passersby. He offered money to be guided to the hotel. But his offers were ignored. The wind tore the words from his lips, and no matter which way he turned he met absorbed, fear set faces or fleeing blue cotton backs.

"I will go with the wind," he muttered savagely, and with this resolve in mind he swung around the next corner and with the wind at his back felt himself impelled with great velocity.

The street he was now on was free from shops and he could see glimpses of red tiled roofs among the cryptomarias in the gardens. Here the wind was tearing tiles from the roofs and lashing the trees to destruction.

Wendell saw a group of Japanese scudding down the street to some safety they had in mind. The street sloped sharply downward. Suddenly something flashed past the young American and he heard a girl's frightened cry.

It was a jinrikisha, with no sign of attendants, rolling wildly down the street. In the slight two wheeled vehicle sat a girl, gowned in white, with ruddy brown hair blowing back from her face—a white, staring face. She thrust out appealing hands to Wendell, and then the jinrikisha had borne her down the steep incline.

In an instant Wendell was after it.

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

They sat together on the mats and drank the tea and ate the priest's rice cakes. When they had finished Wendell dropped a handful of coins in the box and returned it to the place where he had found it.

Listening, he decided that the storm had abated in a measure and, going to the door, thrust his head out into the portico. The world was bathed in a glory of golden sunshine.

"Come," he called to his companion. "I think we may go now."

She joined him and cried aloud at the transformation. The temple garden was in ruins. Along the roadside people were hastening to their deserted homes. The road was muddy.

As Wendell helped Alice Lovell up the hill toward the storm beaten city, he felt that something new had come into his life with the typhoon. Love had come riding on the crest of the storm. It had passed him for an instant, but he had caught it. He laughed exultantly and the girl turned, and their eyes met in a long glance.

When she turned her eyes away her face was rosy, but it was not the sunset's glow. It was rather the fair morning sunshine of love.

He went with her to the hotel, where her friends were frantically searching for her. His meeting them and listening to their thanks for his timely rescue was like a dream. The only real thing was the girl and himself.

As he said goodbye in the hotel garden, he looked down into her dark blue eyes.

"You are going to be here awhile?" he asked.

"A month," she answered.

"And I may come and see you?"

"Ah, I hope you will!" she cried impulsively, and then she blushed once more.

That is the reason why Ray Wendell decided not to leave Nagasaki.

On their wedding trip, a year later, they came to Nippon, and a priest served them with tea in the temple garden. And he told them a strange tale of the day of the great typhoon, when the storm gods took the tea and cakes from his cabinet and replaced them with many yen. And of course Wendell filled the little drawer with copper coins once more, telling his wife:

"In memory of the day when I met you, dear."

Misery in Back, Headache and Pain in Limbs.

Dear Mr. Editor—For more than a year I suffered with misery in the back, dull headache, pain in the limbs, was somewhat constipated and slept poorly at night until I was about ready to collapse. Seeing an account of the wonderful qualities of "Anuric," prepared by Doctor Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., I sent for a box, and before using the whole box I felt and still feel improved. My sleep is refreshing, misery reduced, and life is not the drag it was before. I most cheerfully recommend this remedy to sufferers from like ailments.

Yours truly, W. A. ROBERTS.

NOTE: You've all undoubtedly heard of the famous Dr. Pierce and his well-known medicines. Well, this prescription is one that has been successfully used for many years by the physicians and specialists of Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for kidney complaints, and diseases arising from disorders of the kidneys and bladder, such as backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, congestion of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, scalding urine, and urinary troubles.

Up to this time, "Anuric" has not been on sale to the public, but by the persuasion of many patients and the increased demand for this wonderful healing Tablet, Dr. Pierce has finally decided to put it into the drug stores of this country within immediate reach of all sufferers.

I know of one or two leading druggists in town who have managed to procure a supply of "Anuric" for their anxious customers in and around this locality. If not obtainable send one dime by mail to Dr. Pierce for trial package or 50 cents for full treatment.

EDITOR—Please insert this letter in some conspicuous place in your paper.

EXTRAVAGANT EUGENIE

The Empress Coasted That She Never Wore a Gown Twice.

It is true that the cost of women's dress has so increased that it is not given to the many to be as truly elegant as their grandmothers were able to be at comparatively small cost. But, then, those were the days when an elaborate ball gown consisted of yards of flosses of tulle and some other light and uncostly material.

Empress Eugenie, it is said, declared she never wore the same gown twice. She it was, by the way, who made Worth, the renowned Paris couturier, famous. The great luxury in those days was to wear several ball gowns during the course of a single ball. Dressing rooms were provided, and the ladies retired to reappear resplendent and as fresh as at the beginning of the evening. The gowns of the day, which were flimsy of train and spread by crinolines, suffered much from an evening's wear; hence these wasteful ways.

There is a tale of the lovely Empress Elizabeth of Austria which recounts her appearing at a function in a white tulle gown, flounced and ample, decorated with garlands of real camellias, and changing both gown and camellias every now and then to preserve the impression of absolute and uncrumpled freshness.

Bird Stories.

A German scientific journal published in 1807 a story to the effect that a golden eagle shot in that year at Esseg, Slavonia, was found to have a ring about its neck engraved on which were the arms of a Slavonian family, and the date 1646.

In 1793 the Gentleman's Magazine told about a hawk, captured when flying in the vicinity of the Cape of Good Hope and taken by an Indian ship to England, which wore a gold collar inscribed:

"This goodlie hawk doth belong to his Most Excellent Majesty James, King of England, A. D., 1610."

If this bird really escaped from England in the reign of James 183 years elapsed between its escape and its recapture, and it had flown a distance of 6,500 miles away from its former owner.

Have a Cheery Kitchen.

One should bear in mind that the kitchen is the engine room of the home, and the comfort and happiness of the family depend upon its running smoothly and well. Lack of system, inadequate equipment, inconvenient arrangement of furniture and utensils and the total absence of beauty and cheer are the things that make drudgery of housework. Servants are as susceptible to surroundings as their mistresses, and the little aids to housework, such as cheerful aspect and pretty furnishings, do much to secure a more loyal interest and co-operation. A harmonious environment in a kitchen will go a long way toward making a happy home.—Harriet Sisson Gillespie in Mother's Magazine.

WATFORD ASTONISHED BY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Watford people are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika. ONE SPOONFUL removes such surprising foul matter it relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. Because Adler-ika acts on BOTH lower and upper bowels, a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. Taylor & Sons, Druggists.

Fatigue Injures Temper.

More than half of the ill temper and irritability displayed by women are due to fatigue, not only of the body, but of the nerves. Every woman should learn how advisable it is to rest daily and to rest in the proper way. After a tiring day, whether it be housework, looking after the children, shopping or paying calls, half an hour's rest will work wonders.

Take off your shoes, put on soft slippers and slip into a loose gown. Pull down the blind; then either lie down or sit in a comfortable easy chair, say, for twenty minutes. Even if you don't sleep you will rest. After bathing, rearranging the hair and getting into fresh clothes you will feel like a totally different woman and equal to any work that may be necessary.

Good Coffee.

Four two quarts of boiling water over one-half pound of best coffee and let stand one-half hour; then strain off the clear liquor through cloth, add one quart of milk and one-quarter pound of sugar. Pour into freezer and pack well around with ice and salt. Let it stand an hour before using, then serve in small coffee cups.

The Largest Painting.

"Paradise," by Tintoretto, is the largest painting in the world. It is eighty-four feet wide and thirty-three and a half feet high. It is now in the Doge's palace, Venice.

Sure to Grow.

IS THE WAR MAKING YOU RICHER OR POORER?

A Question That Suggests An Answer That Every Citizen Should Make

Said a clergyman in a pulpit in one of the Eastern Townships of Quebec, a year ago: "The Canadian who comes out of this war richer than he went into it, will have cause to be ashamed of himself."

The speaker had more in his mind than army contractors and their profits. He was thinking of the sacrifices—financial as well as personal—that are inevitably imposed in time of war on every good citizen.

In the time of such a world cataclysm to the real patriot nothing can be normal. He must view every act as it will help or hinder the winning of the war, and he is bound to spare no effort, to save no money, if thereby the cause is advanced. When nearly four hundred thousand Canadians are so impressed by the gravity of the call that comes to them that they have offered to risk the loss of limbs, of health, of life itself, what good citizen can hesitate to meet all righteous demands made in the same cause on his pocketbook? Let us confess that these demands are heavy; yet if Canadians were to give only their surplus earnings in, say, 1913, these demands would be more than satisfied.

Of all these calls, none is more important than that of the Canadian Patriotic Fund. This is the fund that guarantees to the mothers, wives and children of our soldiers freedom from all danger of privation while their breadwinner is away. To make this provision for the dependents of Ontario's soldiers in 1917 will cost at least six million dollars, of which four millions must be raised by personal contributions of patriotic citizens. Let every man whose profits or income have been increased since August 4, 1914, consider well if he will not have reason to be ashamed of himself if this great Fund is unable to fulfil its mission, and he at the same time is able to count himself the richer for the war?

HARD WORKING WOMEN

Will Find New Strength Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman at the head of a home, every girl in offices, shops and factories is subjected to more or less worry. These cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible, and to build up her system to meet unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. To guard against a breakdown in health the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition nothing can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They strengthen the nerves, restore the appetite, bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and renew energy to listless people. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep up their strength and keep away disease by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. N. E. Tompsett, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "For several years I suffered terribly from nervous debility and was scarcely able to do a thing. During that time I consulted several doctors, and many medicines without getting any help, and I began to think that I would never get better. One day I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised and thought I would try them. After taking four boxes I was much better, but I continued using the pills for several months when I was again in the best of health. When I began taking the pills I weighed only 100 pounds. While under their use with my renewed health I now weigh 140. I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every one whom I know to be ailing."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BROOKE COUNCIL.

Alvinston, Nov. 18th, 1916

Council met pursuant to adjournment, members all present. Minutes of former meeting read and on motion by Bourne and Johnston were adopted, after the following change was made, viz:—That the Engineer be instructed to vary the assessment for maintenance to lots benefited, for the repairs to the 9 and 10 sideroad drain, if he deems advisable.

Engineer's report read and considered on the proposed repairs to the Benner-Duffy drain.

Johnston—Campbell—That Engineer's report be adopted and by-law be prepared authorizing work and loan.—Carried.

Communications:—From Culloden Sewing Circle with report of the work done by the Circle in aid of Red Cross, and asking for a grant to assist the work, also a report of the work being done by the Union Red Cross workers and soliciting aid.

Bourne—Annett—That a grant of $10 be given to Culloden Sewing Circle, and $15.00 to the Union Red Cross workers.—Carried.

Mr. W. A. Davidson and three others served notice to have the Edgar drain No. 1 repaired by deepening.

Bourne—Kennedy—That petition be received and Engineer instructed to examine and report so that work might be proceeded with.—Carried.

Kennedy—Johnston—That Paul Kingston be paid $16 for one lamb killed and two worried by dogs.—Carried.

Mr. John Hearn complained that the Hand Award drain had not been repaired.

Kennedy—Johnston—That Clerk notify interested parties to repair their portion.—Carried.

Bourne—Johnston—That the adjourned Court of Revision on Thompson Drain be re-opened.—Carried.

After considering the assessment it was moved by Johnston and Kennedy that assessment on W ½ 15, con. 3, be reduced $15.00 and assessment on E ½ 15, con. 4, be struck off and amounts added to lots W ½ 15 and E ½ 14, con. 4, and Court closed.—Carried.

R. Williamson complained that the Watson drain on lot 8, was in need of some repair. Referred to Reeve and Commissioner Johnston.

Bourne—Campbell—That tenders for the following drain debentures be accepted, viz:—McTaggart drain, F. Kelly; Zee-Ainsley, John Hair; Corriate, F. Kelly; Dolbear—Gray, Mrs. John McLean; 7th con., John Hair.—Carried.

Campbell—Johnston—That tender of Angus Stewart for $1000 to furnish material and do the work on the Dolbear—Gray drain be accepted and that accepting the tender on the 7th con. drain be left with Commissioner.—Carried.

Mr. James Melton made application for a loan of $400, under the terms of "The File Drainage Act" also a report from Inspector certifying that he had completed 1000 rods of drain. By-laws submitted and read authorizing a loan of $400 to James Melton for tile drainage.

Kennedy—Bourne—That by-law be read a third time and finally passed, and Reeve authorized to issue debentures to that amount.—Carried.

Kennedy—Campbell—That by-law No. 18, be read and finally passed, appointing the Municipal Nominations for 1917, be held in Cude's Hall in the village of Alvinston, during the hour between one and two o'clock, p. m., and naming the following parties Deputy Returning Officers for the several polling sub-divisions, viz:—Division No. 1, James T. McKeown; No. 2, John McAlpine; No. 3, Thomas Oakes; No. 4, Robert Clark; No. 5, Geo. Lightfoot; No. 6, Archie Walker; No. 7, Lachlan Lindsay; No. 8, Samuel Johnston; No. 9, Wm. Brown; No. 10, Howard Shirley; No. 11, Wallace Watson, No. 12, Donald McDonald.—Carried.

Bourne—Johnston—That Council do now adjourn to meet in Alvinston on Dec. 15th, 1916.—Carried.

W. J. WEED, Clerk.

Wreck At Kingscourt

There was a rear-end collision between two freight trains on the C. T. R. at Kingscourt on Sunday morning about 8.30, when Harry Dier, of Sarnia, one of the firemen was injured, and later Joseph Levinsky, of Hamilton, one of the wrecking crew dispatched to the scene, was severely injured about the head when the smoke stack of the rear engine, which was being derailed, fell from the engine while it was being raised by a steam derrick.

Drs. Newell and Siddal of Watford, were called to the scene and attended the injured men, afterward Levinsky was sent to the Sarnia hospital. He is in a critical condition.

The cause of the accident has not been determined. Engineer Crow was in charge of the engine of the rear train, while Conductor Porter had charge of the train ahead. Both trains were eastbound making for Point Edward.

The lines were blocked for some time. One train was cleared by noon, and the other a few hours afterwards. Trains for Port Huron were sent by way of Detroit. A number of cars were derailed and damaged considerably. The engine of the rear train was sent over on its side.

The wrecked cars contained sheet metal consigned to Winnipeg.

Supt. Chas. Forrester is conducting an official investigation into the wreck.

Engine Goes Through Sawmill Root at Alvinston

Alvinston, Nov. 17.—The engine of D. J. McEachern's saw mill, or at least considerable of the machine, went through the mill root on Wednesday. The fly-wheel broke into several pieces and one segment crashed through Mr. Shaw's house across the road, while another piece dropped through the roof and dropped into Mr. Nicholson's store. Fortunately no one was injured.

Mr. McEachern was sawing a timber, when he suddenly threw the machinery into reverse. The load on the engine was too sudden and heavy for the governors to control, and the result was as noted above.

The Kettle Point Shooting

Forest, Nov. 19.—The commitment of Sergt. Finnegan of the 149 Battalion to stand trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction for "shooting with intent," and the abrupt arrest by Provost Marshal Major Baron Osborne of Pte. Moses Wolfe, as a deserter, provided the climax of the trial on Saturday before Magistrate Thomas Jones.

Sergt. Finnegan shot Pte. Wolfe, a halfbreed Indian, through the right shoulder, November 7, when the latter made a dash for the woods at Kettle Point, to escape from an escort of the 149th Battalion, who had been detailed from London to take him back to his unit.
