Lack of Employment, He Says, is More Rife in Protected Countries Than in Britain

Replies to Balfour's Aberdeen Speech—Ex-Moderators of Irish Presbyterian Church Urge No Votes for Home Rule Supporters—Bonar Law Expounds Preference Doctrine—Mrs. Pankhurst on Suffragettes' Plans

(Times' Special Cable) London, Jan. 12.—At Ipswich Mr. Asquith replied to Mr. Balfour's Aberdeen speech. He said the Liberals were not flying against the example of other nations, but taking warning from their sad experience. Taxes once imposed continue to rise. The aged father of Ruth and Stella Smith, Canadian girls held in a house of detention in Los Angeles, lies critically ill at his home in Winona.

He deliberately gave the opinion that unemployment was more rife in protected countries than in our own. Here there was a highly gratifying decrease in unemployment. In London there had been a decrease of $300 in a year. He accepted Balfour's challenge and argued that free trade had increased our productive capacity beyond all records. He pointed to the fact that the amount available for investment and said it was foolish to suppose that capital sent abroad was diverted from industry at home. There was a vastly larger amount of capital in the country last year.

Bonar Law on Preference Bonar Law at Dulwich, expounded preference. He declared that bread would never be greatly increased in price through tariff reform because the political power was in the hands of townsmen not the agriculturists, who would "kick" against any increase in the price of their products. Mr. Law said one great hope lay in the increased expansion of British exports within the empire. Canada is doing an immense trade in manufactured goods with somebody. It rested with the electors whether she would do it with Britain or her competitors.

Both Sides Claim Victory London, Jan. 12.—Reports received at Liberal headquarters to the prospects of the party, are entirely satisfactory. Some Liberal enthusiasts claim the party will do better than in 1906, but this is countered over sanguine. Similar confidence and enthusiasm is to be found at Tory headquarters, where the organizers say the reports from all quarters are most reassuring. It will be next week before either party will know which has been mistaken in its view of the electorate. From different sections of the kingdom some reports of disturbed meetings. The "plunging" of both sides are making their presence known at both Liberal and Tory gatherings, but it cannot be said the elections are causing excitement among the Canadian people.

boom company from extending their work up-river. Several proprietors at tide head and owners of fishing privileges and water rights are interested in the matter. The boom company, it is stated, has had its charter since 1879. Judge Barker was chairman of a commission to make inquiries into the claims of owners, two years ago, and he made a report to the government at that time. An investigation was also begun by the late premier, Hon. C. W. Robinson, but before the investigation was completed there was a change in the government. As it is claimed no remuneration has been paid claimants, and as the company is reported to be now undertaking to extend their works, which would take, it is held, the rights of other proprietors up-stream, the present action is being taken. The message contains primarily a summary of the work accomplished by the various city departments, together with views of the department heads looking to a more economical administration as had been requested of them by the mayor.

DR. JAMES HANNAY FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM IN PUGSLEY BUILDING EARLY TODAY

In Failing Health of Late But Last Evening Saw No Indication of the End

Historian, Writer of Verse and Newspaper Man of Wide Experience—Was Sixty-Eight Years of Age and Last of His Own Family—His Life and Work; Has Done Great Things in the Field of Historical Literature

The city was shocked this morning by the report of the death of Dr. James Hannay, who was found dead early today in his apartment in the Pugsley building. Dr. Hannay, in October, 1908, suffered a slight stroke of paralysis and recovered from this, but for the past year, and particularly since the death of his wife, he had been in failing health. In November he took a sea voyage to Philadelphia in the hope of recuperation, and on his return went to Gagetown, coming to the city about two weeks ago, but not much improved in health. For some time Dr. Hannay had rooms in the Pugsley building and on his return to the city went there, taking his meals at the Union Club. Last evening, while he was not really well, there was no indication that the end was near. John A. Boves called on him during the evening and spent a couple of hours in conversation. Dr. Hannay was in as bright spirits as ever and talked of furnishing his rooms. Mr. Boves left him a little before 10 o'clock, and that was probably the last time he was seen by anyone. Dr. Hannay of late had been eating but little in the mornings, and Mrs. Warren, the janitress of the Pugsley building, had been bringing in a light breakfast to his rooms, and when she did this this morning, she was shocked to find Dr. Hannay sitting dead on the floor of his room, resting against a bureau. He had probably risen during the night, and been fatally stricken. Word was sent to Mr. Boves, and Coroner Berryman was also notified. The members of Dr. Hannay's own family are all dead, but he is survived by two adopted daughters, Mrs. Bright, of Brooklyn, New York, and one in Australia. He also leaves one brother, John, of Washington, and Arthur B. Hannay, of the Ottawa press gallery, is a nephew.

JUROR'S LONG DRIVE TO COURT AFTER MISSING HIS TRAIN

W. S. Mason Came to St. John From Hampton and Had to Drive Back to Take Place on Jury in McAllister Case

Hampton, N. B., Jan. 12.—(Special)—The circuit court resumed this morning, when the case against Ronald McAllister against Thomas W. Johnson, conductor on the L. C. R., was resumed. There was a hitch over the absence of one of the jurors, Warren S. Mason, who went to St. John on Tuesday evening and missed the morning train. Sheriff Freece located the hotel at which he stayed, and found he had secured a ticket to drive him to Hampton and might be expected at any time. He arrived at 11 o'clock. Maritime Judge McLeod heard the argument of counsel upon certain points raised in the plea. Mr. Mullin, for the plaintiff, argued that no officer had the power to create a new offence under the criminal law, that a provision was made for the imposition of a fine for infraction of the regulations, and that there was no provision other than that, no power under the act was given to hand an offender over to the police authorities. He quoted case.

DR. HANNAY'S LIFE

James Hannay was a son of the late Rev. James Hannay, a Presbyterian minister of Wigtown, (Scot.) who was for some years minister in Richibucto, (N. B.). His mother before marriage was Jane Salket of Hants, (N. S.). He was born in Richibucto on April 22, 1842 and received his education at the new Kilpatrick parish school, (Scot.) and at the St. John Grammar School. His connection with the press dates from 1882. He was admitted an attorney 1886 and called to the bar in 1887. In the same year he was appointed official reporter of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, and held that position up to his retirement therefrom in April 1873. He was assistant editor of the St. John Daily Telegraph, 1872-83, when he became assistant chief editor and city editor of the Montreal Daily Herald. He (Continued on page 3, third column)

BARONESS VAUGHAN'S FIGHT FOR PROPERTY

Paris, Jan. 12.—The appeal of the Baroness Vaughan from that part of the decision of December 22 in which the court ordered an inventory of her property at Balmcourt, was heard yesterday. Decision was reserved for one week. In the course of his pleading, the attorney for the baroness severely criticised the action of Princess Louise in trying up the appellant's property in Belgium and France, saying that her sisters, Clementine and Stephanie had refused to join in the undignified proceedings of discussing the extent of their father's liberality toward the baroness. The attorney for Princess Louise based his argument on three points: First—That Baroness Vaughan possessed nothing before her association with the late King Leopold; second—the Chateau Balmcourt was purchased, remodelled and sumptuously furnished at the expense of Leopold, and third—Leopold spent much of his time at Balmcourt, notably during the month preceding his departure for London.

JAMAICA PREFERENCE TO CANADA MADE CONDITIONAL

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 12.—The Chamber of Commerce will welcome any proposition for the closer union of the empire but says it must be recognized that Canada can furnish an outlet for only a portion of the island's products. The chamber is not prepared to recommend that any preference be given to Canada unless Canada will take the responsibility of arranging that Jamaica shall retain the advantageous position she now holds regarding markets, especially that of the Queen's State.

INCREASE OF $15,000 BY TWO BOARDS

City Departments of Works and Safety Ask For Larger Appropriations

At a meeting of the board of works, held yesterday afternoon, the estimates for the year were passed and recommended to the council. The estimate this year is $78,300, as against $71,800 last year. The principal increase is in the vote for scavenger work, which is $15,000 this year, as against $10,000 last year. The estimates in detail are as follows:

At the meeting Ald. McGoldrick presided and Ald. Belyea, Spry, Libby, Holder and Codner were present. Ald. Belyea sitting as a visitor.

After the estimates were read Ald. Holder objected to the increase. He thought the department should be run on the same money as last year.

Ald. Scully thought there should be some provision for block pavement in West St. John and also that more money should be voted for retaining walls there. Many of the walls are dangerous, particularly one in Charlotte street, opposite the Baptist church.

Ald. McGoldrick said the city would eventually have to apply for legislation to abrogate its liability for building retaining walls. He knew of one wall in Dufferin ward which would cost $6,000.

Ald. Libby moved the adoption of the estimates as submitted.

Ald. Scully seconded Ald. Libby's motion. He said he had been placed in a false position because he had been put on the board without his knowledge and knew nothing of last year's appropriations. Ald. Baxter and Belyea had shared the responsibility for west side work and all the applications came to him.

Ald. Belyea was given permission to speak and made a strong plea for retaining walls in West End.

The estimates passed, and the board adjourned.

PERMANENT PAVING TO BE LAID HERE

The general committee of the council decided last evening to ask the council for permanent street work on Main, Pond, Smythe, Nelson and Water streets, as recommended by the board of works. The cost of the permanent work will be about $80,000 and after the tenders have been received it will be decided just what portion of the work will be done this year. The amounts are as previously published except that in the case of Pond street it was decided to lay the granite blocks in sand instead of concrete. This means that the estimate for Pond street is reduced to $28,000 from $34,000, the estimate for concrete work.

Mayor Bullock presided and the aldermen present were Codner, Hayes, Libby, Holder, Wilson, Scully, Vanwart, Spry, Baxter, Belyea and Poits, with Engineer Manlock and the common clerk.

There was some discussion as to the advisability of removing the stone crusher from the land owned by Frank Hollis, on Rockland road, to Kennedy street, and it was finally decided that the crusher remain where it now is.

The New Commandment

By Anthony Verrill.

This was the thought that abided in his brain in his hours of waking and sleeping. The marriage would be God's since he had thrown them here together. The symbol was ready—that great golden torch, which blew upon him, he had wrought of the magnet at his camp. This he would place upon her firm brown arm—at once his insignia and the link to bind them each to each for ever. It was all a savage, elemental mating that shaped itself in his mind—and he felt it soon must come.

There came a stark, sweet night when the fragrance of some goddess, trailing her new spring garments across the dirt, intoxicated Ghent with an overwhelming ecstasy of life. Nature was naked out of doors and laying her soft, tingling hands upon all her living things. Ghent became a creature of the moonlight. He stood in his shelter silently and stood for a moment in the marvelous moonlight, feeling all the world around him out in clear, sharp contrast to the mass of rocks in which he made abode. With his hands he traced the grooves for the fire, he practically naked, he was all a gray-and-ivory being, save for his beard and hair, which had grown long and heavy. In his hands he bore nothing but an all-not even the bracelet of bold. He remained there to scrutinize the gorge below and to listen, in the silence, for a melody that he noisily descended to the greenery, proceeded down its grassy bed, and was presently climbing the slope to the man's watch.

The man was trembling violently. His mouth was dry. All his senses were tremulously acute. A clammy perspiration had broken out upon him. He could feel his heart beat in its rapid, heavy strokes.

He approached the mouth of the cave from off at the right, and was thus unable to discern it as he made his way along the slope. In his moon and his shadow upon the wall a patch of black as black as ink. Absolute silence wrapped the world.

He slipped on a rock as he neared the mouth, and the stillness magnified alarmingly. Then, suddenly close to the final turn of the rise, he eagerly halted at a sight that chilled the marrow in his bones.

Lieping towards a dark cave-mouth far more stealthily than any man could have hoped to creep upon a victim, her eyes ablaze, her jaw dropped down, her tall straight neck behind her, a huge mountain lioness, heavy with whelps, was almost at the entrance of the cavern. That all her faculties were intent upon a single object there could be no doubt. That the cave had been here for former whelpings was as certain as that now she smelled a human intruder in her den and meant to slay, in her frenzy of approaching motherhood, and occupy the place.

Her movements told the man transfixed in admiration. There was something majestic in the terrible purpose which the creature revealed by her steady approach. All the passion and fire had abruptly sunk in Ghent's throbbing arteries and left him nothing but awe. It was Judith's peer, imminent and perhaps insupportable, that arrested a new emotion. A memory of the day when he had seen her—a child—helplessly riding on the floor, surged upon him. He had suddenly lost all selfishness, all desire to make her his own.

He had lain for fifteen minutes unconscious, before the first draught of the tonic. He awoke, and when morning dawned at length upon the scene he was weakened to utter helplessness.

He had tremulously. The panther had torn out only channels in his flesh, but the flash itself from his bones. His legs were convulsed with the secretion of nerves and veins and thence. He had lain for fifteen minutes unconscious, before the first draught of the tonic. He awoke, and when morning dawned at length upon the scene he was weakened to utter helplessness.

He awoke, in a slow, deliberate way, for the sun was in his eyes, and even his eyelid muscles were torpid. She fetched him a drink, in a small, conical stone cup, could hold scarcely half a dozen spoonfuls. He drank it, but made no effort to speak, either to express his thanks or to offer explanation of his graceful hero in the night.

Whether Judith respected his mood of silence or could not herself locate the barrier between them mattered little. She did not speak. She fetched three slender poles of willow, tied them together at the end, and secured a rag upon it, to shield his eyes from the light. Then she cooked a pone of her cornmeal on a flat piece of rock and gave it to Ghent for his breakfast. He ate it and once more fell asleep.

For Judith, with Ghent thus laid at her threshold, helpless and all but killed, there was much important employment. There was food to be covered on the sand and rocks, and the body of the panther to be skinned and dragged away. With a thought of needs to arise some day, she stripped off the hide with no compunction, after which her next concern was to move the carcass far enough away to secure the ravine against any possible offensiveness.

Therefore, she finally hauled it down through the greenery, past the walls where her cold-eyes had been swept clean away by the cloudburst, and so to one of the barren slopes from which the skeleton of the two boys had been washed by some of the freshets.

When she came once more to her dwelling Ghent was again awake. He had her posture a more cleanly appearance to the place where the light had taken place, and watched her sit down at her corn rock implements and grind up the meal on which they must both of them live. Indeed, he watched her all day long, her restless change, and her ministrations. Some way, despite the ceaseless tortures in his mangled flesh, he was wondrously happy, thus to be helpless at her feet.

And he was utterly helpless; she could do with him quite as she liked. There was no more for him to do. He was helpless not because of the letting of his blood, but rather because of some chastening that had come to him as a punishment when he had wished to protect her from a ravaging beast. He loved her, and the love in his heart had been touched by divine grace and rolled away the dross and refines and brightens the gold.

ISNER TO JAIL FOR THREE MONTHS

Moncton Disorderly House Case—More Men for Springhill Mines

Moncton, N. B., Jan. 11.—(Special)—David Isner was convicted today of keeping a disorderly house on Main street, and was given a stiff sentence by Magistrate Kay this afternoon. He was sentenced to three months in jail without the option of a fine, and another three months with the option of paying fifty dollars.

Isner, who gave evidence in his own behalf, contradicted flatly the evidence of the girls who told of immoral conduct that took place in the house.

Springhill, N. S., Jan. 11.—Another carload of men arrived at Springhill today for breaking jail. In the mines where there has been a strike for five months.

Moncton, Jan. 11.—In Westmorland circuit court today, Judge McKeown presiding, Ben LeBlanc, of Moncton, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for breaking jail.

LeBlanc was arrested last summer with his brother charged with stealing a sum of money from the house of Fred Burke, Shediac road. While the parties were awaiting trial Ben broke jail and was at large until a few weeks ago when he was arrested by the Moncton police.

Ben's brother was allowed out on suspended sentence on the ground that he was the least of the offenders. Ben who has been sentenced for breaking jail, will be tried on the robbery charge next March.

In the case of Moody Dalton, charged with attempted rape, the grand jury found no bill.

BEER AND BRIBERY

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir:—The contest now going on in Britain, the above heading will account for many of the successes of the Tories. It will be worth while for the public to watch the result in many of the towns and cities of England and Scotland. The brewers and distillers of these countries feel that their craft is in danger, therefore they will flood every place possible with beer, cheap liquor and money, but we hope they will fail utterly.

For the present government of not less than two hundred, perhaps more, but for the above named causes it may be a landfall for the Liberals. As for tariff reform, so-called, it is like our own view N. P. a lying deception, taxing the poor and the heaviest of the nation.

German sears, the whole cause is the stupid blunder of Salisbury in coding the island of Heligoland to Germany. This giving them a naval base in the North Sea.

O. C. T.

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announce something wrong with the heart is the irregular or violent throbs. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling, or again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushing of the skin, and visible pulsations of the arteries.

There may also be experienced a smothering sensation, gasping for breath, and feeling as though about to die.

In all such cases the action of Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart and restoring it to its normal beat, is beyond all question marvellous, as our thousands of testimonials will show.

Mrs. Martha Mason, Marlbank, Ont., writes:—"Just a few lines to let you know what Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart, would have severe choking spells and could scarcely lie down at all. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all with heart or nerve trouble."

DR. JAMES HANNAY Canadian historical literature has been enriched by Dr. James Hannay, the news of whose death came as a shock to the citizens this morning. Only last evening he was discussing with his friend and publisher, Mr. John A. Boves, his literary plans for the future, but ere the morning came he had answered the last summons, that terminates all earthly effort and all ambition.

DAIRYING PROSPERS All who are interested in dairying in Canada will read with interest the following article copied from the Toronto World.

BIGNESS AND GREATNESS While giving every encouragement to the plan of booming St. John, arousing a more universal spirit of confidence and enterprise among the citizens, and more effectively advertising the city's material resources, and the opportunities offered for the profitable investment of capital, we may fully endorse the following remarks made in a recent issue of the Victoria Colonist.

FOR YOUNG MEN The personal factor in the work of social reform is the most potent of all forces employed to induce delinquents to change their manner of life. Many a young man who seemed to be hopelessly given over to his appetites and passions, or to have become case-hardened, has been reclaimed by the personal effort of someone who gave him companionship, friendship, wise counsel and timely service.

of these men was given the name of a boy, who lacked home influence and who was beginning to draw police attention to himself, the idea being that the man would as far as possible, act towards the boy much as a big brother would, did the actual relationship exist. The men did not preach at the boys nor attempt any violent methods of reform. Each man hunted up the boy for whom he made himself responsible, tried to gain his confidence, found his interests and assisted him in their development, loaned him money when necessary, and advisable, helped him out of scrapes, gave him occasional theatre tickets, had dinner with him now and then, encouraged him to talk, and generally allowed the boy to understand that he had a friend who would stick by him through thick and thin. Each individual case naturally suggested individual treatment. The chief requisite of the men who formed the club, was tact, and an understanding of boy, human nature. Success was beyond all estimate or question. Dozens of boys were given the necessary impetus towards a useful and honorable career. Boys who were headed straight for the penitentiary, because it was no one's special interest to give them a helping hand, were placed in good positions and proved themselves worthy of the help that had been extended. Possibly there is nothing particularly new about the idea, except that which has been done, more or less by individuals, being done in a systematic and united way.

There are in the city of St. John many young men's associations or clubs. How many of the members of these are putting in practice the "Big Brother" idea? There is no lack of material. If a vigorous effort were made, even by a few members of each organization, there would very soon be a large and widening circle of helpful influences brought to bear upon youths who are drifting away from safe moorings of faith and practice. If, for example, members of the Y. M. C. A., the Y. M. A.'s of the churches, the temperance organizations, the Every Day Club and others should take up this personal work, each in a friendly and unobtrusive way gaining the confidence of some one who stood in need of just that simple human touch, the aggregate result would in a year be an immense gain for the cause of manhood and good citizenship. The question is one that deserves attention, and there is no other season so favorable as the winter for putting a good resolution along this line into practice.

It has been inferred by some that because our exports of dairy products this past year have been less than the previous year, our dairy industry is declining. Add to this the fact that New Zealand's exports to Great Britain have quadrupled in the same time, and alarmists think they have much to work on. J. A. Rudick, in reviewing the situation at Belleville this week, showed the fallacy of all such appearances. Canada's exports have fallen off merely because of the great home demand for our cheese. Not only are we producing more cheese than ever before, but we are putting out a better article. Unfortunately statistics regarding the total production are hard to compile, yet the estimates from most reliable data place Canada's total production of cheese against about 77 millions in 1901. New Zealand's increase has been solely due to Canada's inability to supply the English demand. The future of the dairy cow indeed is bright, and this year will no doubt witness a bigger home call as well as the echoes of soon-coming call from the United States for provisions for her millions. Already the lowering of the duty on cream, although perhaps a mistake of Uncle Sam's legislators, has caused the export from Canada during the last six months of some two million pounds. The future of dairying was never brighter, and with the use of the best cows, there is no more profitable form of agriculture.

The debate on the Canadian naval programme will now absorb public attention, and we shall learn to what extent the Conservative leader has succeeded in restoring harmony in the ranks of his followers.

The advance in the value of real estate in St. John in the last ten years, as shown in the Times yesterday, is an answer to those who can find no evidence of progress. Real estate does not go up in a deceiving community.

The Standard had much to say about a split in the Liberal party in Ottawa. Now that the smoke has cleared away the split is found to be in the Tory party. The Liberals have only one candidate, but two Conservatives are running. The Standard very ungraciously observes that one of these nominated himself.

There is a dispute about the meaning of certain remarks made by Mr. A. R. Slipp, M. P., relative to his attitude toward the St. John Valley Railway. All reports agree that Mr. Slipp declared that unless something is done before the next provincial elections he will drop out of politics. If that is not serving notice on Mr. Hazen it comes so very near that Mr. Hazen will probably do a little hard thinking on the subject.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND AND A RECENT CASE

(Letter in Times). Sir.—Every Churchman must feel that the point brought forward by the Bishop of Birmingham is of crucial importance for transcending the merits of this particular case. There can be no question that our Lord, followed by His apostles, ascribed to the church the solemn authority of admitting persons to, or excluding them from, the communion of His church. And all Christian communities have claimed and exercised that right as an inalienable part of their special privileges. The church has done so.

JOH. NORVIC. The Palace, Norwich, Dec. 21. OBITUARY Miss Lavinia Mahoney Gagetown, Jan. 8.—The death of Miss Lavinia Mahoney, of Gagetown, daughter of the late Daniel Mahoney, occurred on Monday evening, Jan. 3, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Susannah Mahoney.

Deceased had been in failing health for some time, and two weeks ago contracted a cold, which changed to pneumonia, and terminated in her death. She was thirty-four years of age, and leaves to mourn, a mother, two sisters, and five brothers. Interment took place in the Roman Catholic churchyard, near Gagetown.

Philip McCafferty Woodstock, N. B., Jan. 11.—(Special)—Philip McCafferty, aged twenty-eight years, after an illness of three years, died last night at Patten, Maine, from consumption. He was the only son of the late John McCafferty of this town. His widow, two children and a sister survive. The body will be brought here for interment in the Catholic cemetery tomorrow.

THRESCORE AND TEN (Richard Henry Stoddard.)

Who reach their threescore years and ten As I have mine, without a sigh, Are neither more or less than men— Not such am I.

I am not of them; life to me Has been a strange, bewildered dream, Whence I knew no things that be From things that seem.

I thought, I hoped, I knew one thing, And had one gift when I was young— The impulse and the power to sing: And so I sung.

To have a place in the high choir Of poets, and deserve the name— What more could mortal man desire Than poet's fame?

I sought it long, but never found, The choir so full was, and so strong The jubilant voices there, they drowned My simple song.

Men would not hear me then, and now I care not, I accept my fate, When white hairs thatch the furrowed brow Crowns come too late!

The best of life went long ago From me; it was not much at best! Only the love that youth hearts know, The dear unrest.

Back on my past, through gathering tears, And once more I cast my eyes, and see Bright shapes that in my better years Surrounded me!

They left me here, they left me there, Went down dark pathways, one by one, The wise, the great, the young, the fair; But I went on!

And I go on! And, had my good, The old allotted years of men I have endured as best I could— Threescore and ten!

IN LIGHTER VEIN GRANT. "Why do you always go to that church? I thought you belonged somewhere else?" "I do, but I know the man who passes the plate there."

BREAD AND BUTTER. The kings may care for capon And cake and jelly and wine, And some can do with kidney stew, And some with a bit of chine. But I tell you all and ever, If there's nothing else round to eat, What's better than bread and butter, With hunger to make it sweet! —Baltimore Sun.

REAL POLAR FARE. "Help a poor explorer who is just back from the north pole," whined the tramp at the kitchen window, "and give me a bite of chicken pie and milk biscuit." "None!" retorted the good housewife. "Explorers are not used to chicken pie and milk biscuit. Here's an old pair of boots and half a candle. Eat and be merry!"

SHE. If you were a rose and I were the wind, And earth was a bowler where no one had stinned, I'd kiss you at twilight, embrace you at dawn, Until every teardrop and dewdrop was gone.

HE. If you were a zephyr and I were the rose, I'm sure that the breath of your kiss on my nose Would be so like zero, I'd waste no time. For I am a double-crossed Jonah for fair. —St. Louis Star.

PINK TEA SWINDLE. It was a prohibition country. As soon as the train pulled up a seedy little man with a covered basket on his arm hurried to the open windows of the smoker, and exhibited a quart bottle filled with rich, dark liquid.

"Want to buy some nice cold tea?" he asked, with just the suspicion of a wink. Two thirty-looking cattlemen brightened visibly and each paid a dollar for a bottle. "Wait until you get out the station before you take a drink," the little man cautioned them. "I don't wanter get in trouble!"

He found three other customers before the train pulled out, in each case repeating his warning. "You seem to be doing a pretty good business," remarked a man who had watched it all. "But I don't see why you'd run any more risk of getting in trouble if they took a drink before the train started?" "Ye don't hey? Well, what them bottles had 'im, partner, was real cold tea." —Everybody's Magazine.

INDICTMENT AGAINST HATTIE LeBLANC FILED

Boston, Jan. 12.—Hattie LeBlanc has been indicted for murder by the Middlesex grand jury in connection with the killing of Clarence F. Glover, the Waltham laundryman. The jury reported before Judge Bond at East Cambridge.

Mrs. Mary Kelleher of Somerville, who previously had been indicted for murder in causing the death of four children, was re-indicted on charges of killing her infant son, Stephen Kelleher, and her sister, Bridget Knowles.

Altogether the jury reported thirty-four bills and four no bills. Excepting for the LeBlanc and Kelleher cases and that of George Marcotte, of Lowell, most of the indictments were for breaking and entering and larceny.

Marcotte was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder. He is ninety-seven years old. He pleaded not guilty to the indictment. Following his plea Assistant District Attorney Charles F. Wier addressed the court, informing Judge Bond of the facts of the case. He said that Marcotte was charged with trying to kill his seven-year-old brother, whom he pushed into a canal at Lowell last Sunday. According to testimony, he said, the attempt was deliberate, and the young boy would probably have drowned if he had not been rescued. Since the affair the police had discovered that the younger boy was injured in favor of the defendant. Judge Bond placed him in his case at $10,000.

It is understood that one of two secret indictments were also returned.

MONTH TRYING TO GET INTO NEW YORK HARBOR

Norwegian Bark Thirty-Five Days in Effort to Get Inside Sandy Hook

New York, Jan. 12.—When Captain L. B. Jacobsen, skipper of the Norwegian bark Silas, coffee laden, finally dropped anchor in the ice floes off Staten Island this week, he called to the first small boat that came near to ask what had happened in the world during the 117 days he had been out of reach of land. "Have you heard of Cook and the North Pole?" he was asked. He said he had not, and the whole matter had to be explained to him. "I can tell you how he has been buffeted by big waves and bad storms ever since he left Penning in the Straits Settlements, and had been washed about the deck and the cabin of his little ship as the waves came aboard and made miniature lakes in his waterway."

It has been decided by the management of the Seaman's Institute to try to raise the outstanding debt of $1,500 on the building by popular subscription. The churches will be asked to solicit funds from their members.

LARGEST MONEY TRANSACTION IN WORLD'S HISTORY

Receipt For Billion, Two Hundred and Sixty Millions and Some Thousands

Washington, Jan. 12.—What is said to be the largest financial transaction in the world's history has just been completed here. It consisted in the giving of a receipt for $1,233,134,948.83 by Lee McClung, the treasurer of the United States to Charles H. Treat, who retired from that office on Oct. 21, and is an acknowledgment for the money and securities in the office on Nov. 1. The practice is a customary one with the change of treasurers.

In the circuit court before Judge Barry yesterday afternoon the case of Miles Ross vs. Adam Bell, was finished and the latter was awarded $230 by the jury. Weldon & McLean appeared for the plaintiffs, and W. B. Walker, K. C., and J. K. Kelley, for the defendant.

UNIONISTS ARE MORE CONFIDENT

Balfour's Party Seems Certain to Cut Down the Liberal Majority

ASQUITH'S ADDRESS

Criticism by Balfour at Glasgow Meeting—Battle Rages Around Cost of Living—Lloyd-George Draws an Apology from Lord Rothschild

London, Jan. 11.—Unionist confidence seems to be increasing. It is claimed the tariff reform is making greater headway each day and it is prophesied that the results in London will show a two to one majority in favor of the Conservatives. The display of election tokens on the houses in the various metropolitan constituencies certainly supports this view.

Confident on Both Sides

London, Jan. 11.—The increasing confidence which is being manifested at the Unionist headquarters and the enormous enthusiasm which has been aroused throughout the country betoken that a tremendous poll will be recorded at the coming elections.

Mr. Balfour devoted himself to criticizing the omissions in the premier's election address.

Mr. Asquith dealt at some length with the question of tariff reform. He asserted that the advance of Germany and the United States was attributable to other causes than tariffs.

Among the minor incidents of the campaign, David Lloyd-George, a hatched of the exchequer, has drawn a handsome apology from Lord Rothschild for wrongly attributing to the chancellor a declaration that there was likelihood of Great Britain leaving to expatriate the Jews.

The late president McKinley was quoted tonight by a political lecturer as having declared that if he were an Englishman he would be a free trader.

INDIGESTION IS ENDED FOREVER

Out-of-Order Stomachs Feel Fine Five Minutes After Taking Some Diapiesin

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Est what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, Belching, Gas on Stomach, Heartburn, Headaches from stomach, Nausea, Bad Breath, Water Brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 20-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin you could follow the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there could be no indigestion or sleepless nights or headache or stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapiesin can be obtained from your druggist, or a confectioner, and is sufficient to thoroughly cure the worst case of indigestion or Dyspepsia. There is nothing better for Gas on Stomach or sour odors from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

You couldn't keep a handkerchief or more useful article in the house.

from that bought by my poorest customers, except the loaves are slightly larger."

The baker proudly showed telegrams ordering loaves to Balmoral, Sandringham, and the royal yacht, for he sends it wherever the king and queen are, and where it is difficult to obtain it.

The gross personalities of the electoral campaign have not produced a worse instance than the utterance ascribed by a Conservative newspaper, Mr. Steadman, an ex-member of parliament and Liberal-Labor candidate in Finsbury. In attacking his opponent Major Archer Shee, Steadman is reported to have said: "The only recommendation Major Shee has besides his wealth is an American wife, who is probably anxious to get the entire into society."

He added that he had met these American ladies and had been told they were a vulgar lot, who because they had plenty of dollars thought they could rule the world. Steadman is a large builder by occupation.

While the struggle is maintained with undiminished vigor, it becomes increasingly difficult to find anything striking or novel in the speeches of the candidates.

CONSTABLE COMPLAINED HE WAS ASSAULTED

Walter Moore pleaded guilty in the police court this morning to a charge of assaulting Constable A. M. Sherwood on the Marsh road some time ago, and made no statement in his own defence, beyond saying that he was so drunk at the time that he knew nothing of it.

Constable Sherwood said that he was walking along the Marsh road when he was struck by Moore, who was standing by a corner in company with six or seven other men.

The prisoner was remanded. His honor commented on the appearance of Moore before him, saying that it was simply a continuance of trouble with men from about the Marsh road who persisted in drinking to excess.

ESKIMO COOK KEEPS IT GOING

Schooner Which Had So Hard a Time in Bay Furnishes Another Story

Isaac B. Thurber, of Nova Scotia, cook on the schooner Eskimo, which met with a hard time in the bay a few days ago, and which is at present loading dock at the North Market wharf, was given a ducking in the chilly waters of Market slip this morning about 10:30 o'clock. But for the promptness of a stevedore named Stackhouse, he might not have been gotten back to safety so quickly as he was.

Thurber was going aboard the schooner with a pail of water, but in crossing from the wharf to the vessel's deck, his foot slipped on the icy ladder, and he was thrown between the boat and the wharf, narrowly escaping striking his head a severe blow. Stackhouse was working on the deck and promptly went to the man's assistance, and pulled him out. The cook was taken aboard the boat, given a change of clothing and was soon busily engaged in preparing dinner for his mates.

A good start has therefore been made in the canvas of the city to raise the amount. The second contract includes all the mason work, plumbing, lighting and wood work.

With everything complete, the building will have cost in the vicinity of $15,000. The amount of the first contract was somewhere in the neighborhood of $7,000. The gift of Mr. Robertson has greatly encouraged the management, and the work of getting the balance will be pushed with vigor.

FIRE ALARM WAS NEW THING TO THE LAD FROM COUNTRY

A short session of the juvenile court was held in the police court this morning before Judge Ritchie, when the case of Kenneth Morris, reported for sounding a false alarm from 107 1/2 St. Somerset street, came on. His honor said he was greatly surprised to see the boys—there were three of them—Albert Connell and Willie Mathewson being witnesses in court, and such a proceeding was contrary to his orders. The time for hearing cases in which young people figured was on Saturday mornings at 10 o'clock, and he wished it to be understood. To have boys brought to court during the week, meant absence from school, and this his honor said he did not wish to have occur.

Young Morris said he saw the glass in the box broken on Saturday, but he did not know that the box was for. He did not think, when the hook was pulled, that it would bring the fire department to the door. He had only come in from the country and for this reason was not acquainted with city customs.

Connell said that he and young Morris were standing by the box, the door of which was open. Morris asked what the box was and his nature was explained to him, at the same time that he was told to withdraw his hand at once. The young lad tried to do this, but in taking his hand away, his mitten became entangled in the hook and as a result the fire alarm sounded.

Chief Kerr said that in view of the circumstances, he was not desirous of prosecuting the youngster, but said he would like when the door of a fire box was found open that the matter should be reported to him.

His honor dismissed the case, warning the boys to be more careful in future and advising them to hasten back to school.

But the Oak Hall store, if it has done nothing else, has always made good its statements, and you can accept as indisputable our announcement of this great sale. It will be one of the biggest value-giving chances we've ever known—and that's a great deal.

The clothing is new, snappy, up-to-date and guaranteed for satisfactory service.

It is just the sort of clothing men and young men want for wear during the balance of the winter. And let us give you a pointer—buy for next year if you don't need any clothing for immediate use. If you read the papers you know that clothing is going to be much higher and it will be a very long time before you'll be able to duplicate these values.
