THE PRUDENT MINISTERS.

"The appointment of customs collector at Montreal was under the consideration of the cabinet to-day, and it was decided to let the matter stand. It is likely, therefore, that Mr. Robert White will have to wait until parliament is dissolved before he receives the position." This is the announcement conveyed in the Colonist's Ottawa dispatches this morning. The prudence displayed by the ministers is commendable from the partisan point of view, for Cardwell, the county now represented by Mr. White, would surely be lost to the government if he were appointed to office now. Then kept vacant for Mr. White for nearly three years because they feared a contest in Cardwell no great harm could result from leaving it vacant a few months longer. The fact that Montreal business men have been protesting more and more loudly against this cavalier treatment of an important office is a ing as they did a pronounced slight to voiced by R. D. The farmers of this province will not be slow to perceive that in this agreement there is not a single provision that can inure to their advantage, for it cannot open the New Zealand door to anything they have to sell. On the other hand, practically all the competition for which the treaty provides is competition against their agricultural products, animals, meats, grain, etc. This is proposed, be it remembered, by the men who are held up as their special friends. The farmers will no doubt be fully able to judge the sincerity of the gentlemen who approach them with the palaver of protection and at the same time are arranging for them the strongest kind of London, Oct. 23.—The Windward was docked vesterday. The documents she brought from the explorer Jackson, who was left at FranzJosephland, have been kent sealed up in one of the cabins and will not be opened until to-morrow. After repairing and embarking coal, provisions, etc., the Windward will return to Franz-Josephland in order to bring the explorer home. It is understood that Jackson, on the journey north, made some unexpected discoveries. The Windward had a perilous voyage home, battling with the ice for 65 days, and being reduced to such an extremity for fuel that she was compelled to burn all the woodwork on board of her which could be spared, and in addition portions of her masts, spars and bulwarks, as well as the 'tweendecks, were consumed in the furnaces.

INTRODUCTORY SPEECHES. The chair was occupied by Mr. Heman McRay, president of the North Leeds and Grenville Liberal Association, who made a brief and seasonable introductory address.

Mr. Frost, the Smith's Falls manufacturer, who condemns the protective policy of the government and advocates revenue tariff, spoke briefly, congratulating the people of Merrickville upon the proportions and quality of their demon stration in honor of the Liberal leader, and expressing the hope that the result of the meeting would be to convince the doubting ones.

Mr. George P. Graham, of the Merrickville Recorder, who, besides being an able editor, is an effective platform speaker, was the next gentleman to be invited to address the audience. He said that he was a Liberal because, after reading the history of his country, he could be nothing else. Mr. Graham referred to the leader as Sir Wilfrid, and he recalled the fact that he had been so styled a few days ago.

"And I protested," interpolated Mr. Laurier.

"Yes," continued Mr. Graham, "Mr. Laurier protested against any such titles: he does not want any such distinctions, but he wants to be on a footing of equality with his fellow-men." He said that the Liberals were proud to follow Mr. Laurier because he was a man on whose character there was not a stain. Mr. Graham deplored the degeneracy of the Conservative leadership, from Sir John Macdonald to Sir Mackenzie Bowell was a long way. "Why," declared Mr. Graham, "the mantle of that illustrious statesman would make an overcoat for the entire cabinet and have room to What Canada wanted" he concluded, "was men, and in the leader of the Liberal party they had one who was a man, every inch of him."

MR. LAURIER'S SPEECH. Mr. Laurier was not permitted to prohad again demonstrated its admiration of and affection for the leader. He set out with an allusion to the splendid demonstration of which he had been the fied by it beyond measure. He knew that when he came to the old riding of North Leeds and Grenville he was coming, if he might say so, though he might in a sense be astray, among friends; but though he was coming amongst Conservatives, he was coming amongst fellow-citizens and brother Can adians. While it had not been his pleasure up to the present time to welcome to the house of commons the intellectual face of his friend Mr. Frost, it had been his pleasure to see the cheerful face of Dr. Ferguson. He thought Mr. Frost had erred when he said that the Liberals of Leeds and Grenville were in the minority. They had been in the minority, but it seemed to him that if this demonstration meant anything it was that the tide was turning and that a new day was dawning on North Leeds and Grenville. It seemed to him that it was not an extravagant hope to indulge in that when the next election came around it would be his pleasure to see a different spectacle, and that no longer he would see before him the cheerful countenance of Dr. Ferguson but the intellectual face of Mr. Frost. He was delighted beyond measure at the reception which had been given him. He had not expected that so many people would turn out in a town the size of Merrickville. . He was pleased to see all who were present. Mr. Laurier's exposition of his view of the Manitoba school question was greeted with applause indicative of the approval of his audience. After reiterating his oft-expressed conviction that an investigation of the facts is essential to a settlement of the question, he said:-"The government may perhaps pass an act of parliament; they are powerful enough, but they will not solve the question in that way. The solution of the question will only come after all the facts have Leen placed before every elector, whether he be Protestant or Catholic, that he may pass judgment upon them. Charles Tupper and other leaders of the Conservative party told the people that Mr. Mackenzie was simply a fly on the wheel, and that if the Conservatives had the power in their hands they would by legislation increase the price of farm hour. For four hours she went full products. Who was right and who was speed, under forced draft and made wrong? If that appeal had been made in 1882 to his friends, the Conservatives of North Leeds and Grenville, they would have voted for the government, which had, in their estimation, increased the price of wheat from $1 to $1.40 a bushel. If they would have done that, then he pass judgment upon the facts? Let the prices of the commodities be brought down to the level of the prices that tney received for their products and prosper ity would be restored to the farmers of Canada. That was the policy and the aim which the Liberal party had in contemplation. They did not pretend to be able to increase the prices of farm products, but they did contend that by decreasing the tariff they could decrease the price of all the commodities which the farmers had to pay for with reduced prices of their wheat, cheese and butter. Mr. Laurier explained the operation of the tariff, which was so framed as to take from the people 'n taxes double the amount which went into the public treasury. He pointed ment, which had increased the expenditure from twenty millions of dollars in the time of Mr. Mackenzie to thirtyeight millions of dollars at the present time. This led him into a discussion of the wasteful methods of the government, which were exemplified by the superannuation system, the franchise act, and the scandals which had so sadly tarnished the fair name of Canada. There was an outburst of applause when the leader resumed his seat.

In the evening a reception was given in the town hall, at which Mr. Laurier had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of a large number of peo-ple from Merrickville and surrounding country. Re construction of drain to divert water

City Engineer. Referring to the drain on the Cadboro Bay road, Ald, Macmillan thought it would be better to let it remain as it than it would be to run a box drain to Richmond road and turn the sewage loose there. There were more residents, he contended, around Richmond roal than there were opposite the place where the drain now empties.

Ald. Bragg thought the only way to deal with the matter was to build a sewer to the sea. By doing this they would settle the hospital sewerage question at the same time. Ald. Macmillan said the question of running a sewer to the sea had been gone into early in the year. It would cause a nuisance at Oak Bay. The only way was to connect with the regular sewerage system. The estimated cost of doing this was $40,000. The report was referred to the street

Vancouver Letter.

Vancouver, Oct. 21.-With even more than its usual show of insincerity, the News-Advertiser has attacked in a long editorial article the views expressed in this correspondence regarding the pro priety of allowing Deadman's Island to be used for the purpose of a marine railway. "Probably, however," says the paper mentioned, "the management of our Victoria contemporary has not noticed the use that is being made of its columns to 'boom' a project which is directly at variance with the policy that the Times has always advocatedthe abandonment of the pernicious sys-The water committee was empowered tem of giving away the public domain for the benefit of speculators." The impertinence of the reference to the Times' management in the sentence acteristic of the paper guilty of it; but the untruth that the sentence contains must be noticed. There is no proposal to give Deadman's Island away to "speculators." The grant is made for marine railway on the island, which is so small in area that there is not more space than will be needed for the acprovincial lands to people who want to make use of it, either for agriculture or News-Advertiser, also, has always advocated this course,-indeed it has made blindness of a fury occasioned by a failure to achieve personal advantage for itself (or its friends, which amoun's to the same thing) could have intervened to permit that paper to make the pitiful exhibition of itself which it does in this matter. In the course of the article now in question, the News-Advertiser speaks of the enterprise and its promoters as the "audacious scheme" of a set of "speculators" who are "not practical or shrewd business men," and a few sentences further on complains that it has been kept in ignorance of who the men are! Could there be anything A more ridiculous? But the paper, with the most apparent insincerity, concludes by basing all its opposition to the en terprise on the ground that it would alienate from the city a piece of ground valuable for park purposes. Stanley Park, to which Deadman's Island is adjacent, is so large that in fifty years, it is safe to say, not half of it will be utilized for park purposes, and if the city were twenty times as large as it is now, there would still be ample 100m for the recreations of the people. Your correspondent has spoken to numbers of the best citizens of Vancouver regarding this matter, and not one of them has anything else but a laugh of derision to offer as his comment on the position assumed by the News-Advertiser, whose insincerity, as has been said, is apparent > to everybody. The Liberal Association of Vancouver, it is learned, is shortly to hold a meeting for the purpose of inaugurating the pre-paratory work for the coming election. In this connection, the view is expresed that something should be done in the way of organizing a provincial organization. If there is to be any harmony of action between the various constituencies in the conduct of the election, this step is absolutely necessary. It would not be difficult to get together a convention of representative Liberals from every riding in the province, and with the organization made on general lines, the party would undoubtedly be greatly strengthened in the coming fight.

The Nationalist party of this city held its first meeting in its new quarters in the old free library hall last Friday night. This party is extreme radical. It goes in for land nationalization, woman's suffrage, the initiative and referendum, absence of property qualification for municipal representation and others of the more advanced political ideas. The association is in-deed socialist. The meeting last Friday night was well attended, the hall being completely filled principally by workingmen, amongst them being a sprinking of ladies. The speaking was spirited and the enthusiasm of the audience was always manifest. Mr. Macpherson, M. The Women's Christian Temperance Union of this city, your correspondent is informed, has decided to adopt, in connection with the institution of the osed Women's Home here, practically the suggestions thrown out in this respondence some time ago. It is agreed that anything having the flavor of a charity would be fatal to the institution, and to place it on a distinctly business footing is now the effort to be made. Assuredly the joint stock idea is the best one, because it will limit the the promoters to appeal to the public for subcriptions of stock in a far stronger and more self-confident and self-reliant way than could be done in an appeal for a subscription of funds for simply benevolent or charitable purposes. THE CANADIAN COPYRIGHT. Herbert Spencer Discusses the Question-The Times' View of it.

London, Oct. 22.-Herbert Spences writes a long letter to the Times this morning on the Canadian copyright question, in the course of which he indicates an important issue which has been entirely ignored, namely, that the multiplication of the centres of production prevents the writing of many books that would otherwise be written. This does not much affect the works of amusement but the works of instruction. It often weighs with fatal effect. not killing, but preventing their birth. The exaction of a condition, Mr. Spencer. goes on to say, that books must be printed in America, is a serious evil in the American Copyright Act and would be increased of Canada and other culonies were to succeed in enforcing a similar stipulation on British authors. "had I not obtained a sale in America without reprinting there, the works which have occupied me since 1860, would never have been written." The Times has an editorial commenting on the foregoing, in which it says that it trusts the controversy will be settled by the commanding influence of common sense on both sides, and apneals to Canada whether it is fair or wise to push its pretensions to the utmost. If Canada is to have a separate law, the Times points every British colony may claim the same power, which would prove ruinous to authors."

NORTH WENTWORTH'S MEMBER. Mr. Thomas Bain, M. P., who, it will be remembered, made one of the notable speeches during the budget debate last session, and who has a thorough grasp of trade and other questions, was then introduced to the audience. Mr. Baiu reminded his hearers that the policy of the Liberal party was the result of the deliberations of the greatest political convention that had ever taken place in Canada, and one at which there had been a complete representation of the party. He asked the people if they had ever known the government to hold six ses grand old leader of the Conservative par-Mr. Rose's letter, explaining his with-drawal, reads:—In view of the repeated of the Brockville & Westport railway of the Brockville & Westport railway of the repeated of the Brockville & We ests and in their attachment to the British crown. He appealed strongly to the with a fence to keep him from falling down, or to tax any other man to make his own business profitable. They pro-posed to take sufficient in taxes to maintain the economically administered public services and the credit of the country. The national policy had promised the farmers a home market, yet Canada had, after supplying the home consumption, to find a market outside for $15,000,000 worth of cheese. Mr. Bain alluded to the financial position of the country, and pointed out that while Sir Richard Cartwright was denounced for having a deficit of $1,900,000 in 1878, Mr. Foster had on June 30th last a deficit of $4.080.-000. After exposing the Curran bridge scandal, he referred to an article which had been published in the Mail and Empire in which Mr. George Taylor, M. P., was credited with having secured the prohibition of the importation and manufacture of oleomargarine so as to prevent it from coming into competition with home-made butter and cheese. Mr. Bain showed, on the authority of the records of parliament, that the credit was not due at all to Mr. Taylor but to Mr. William Patterson, M. P. for Brant, on whose resolution the decision was made to legislate against the oleomargariutrade. What the government had proposed and what Mr. Taylor was willing to accept was that a ten cent custom duty be imposed on oleomargarine and that its manufacture should be permitted here under an inland revenue tax of 8 cents. The article had stated that Sir Richard Cartwright had sneered at the proposal and opposed it. The only statement that Sir Richard had made respecting that matter was that it would injure the reputation of Canadian dairy roducts in England. Mr. Bain said that he despised a man whose position was not strong enough to relieve him of the necessity of misrepresenting a political opponent.
