THE MESSAGE

By LOUIS TRACY

Author of "The Wings of the Morning," "The Wheel of Fortune," "The Captain of the Kansas," etc.

Of course you want to talk about Lechner, he said quietly. "Now, Mrs. Laing, it will be wiser to speak in plain language. Evelyn Dale is my promised wife. I would marry her within the hour, if you were here now, and the law permitted, I would marry her within the hour. You know me well enough to believe that once my mind is made up I do not change. Well, then, why are you endeavoring to create discord between me and the woman I love?"

Rosamund flushed. She had expected him to say something of the kind, but it was none the less disagreeable in the hearing. The fury that convulsed her stood in a ready outlet in the tears that stood in her beautiful eyes.

"It is very unkind of you to blame me," she half sobbed. "How could I make up all these wicked inventions? I had never even heard the girl's name before I went to Lechner. It was her own foolish tongue that revealed things—about you and the men of Ok—and what you saw that night at Cowes. She is either very wicked or very thoughtless, Arthur. If you are engaged in some secret business for the Government, and she really was true to you, would she have spoken of it to Billy—to Lord Fairholme?"

Warden was beaten. He poured out a glass of wine and drank it. He felt that if he spoke at once his voice might be heard, but he hesitated for five precious minutes. Better go to Africa with his dear old shaver than carry with him the lingering torture of doubt.

"I think you were right when you switched our talk off to Oswald," he muttered at last. "May I give you a word of advice? Forget what you have just said. It is a dangerous problem—one not to be settled by woman's tongues."

So they left it at that, and when they parted, not without a tacit understanding that they would meet again at Evelyn's of the field.

Early next morning Warden went to his shipping office, and the people there advised him to send a reply-paid telegram to the coast-guard station nearest Loch-Saas. Warden did so, and he carried first word when the Sans Souci carried Evelyn off the field.

He passed many hours in writing a full statement of everything that had taken place—including copies of Rosamund's letter and telegram, and a literal record of his conversation in the hotel—and enclosed the ring and manuscript in a stout package and fifty pounds, with explicit details as to its assignment and the reasons which governed his present decision.

"You are to find Miss Dane, no matter what the cost," he said. "You may hear of her at her home in Oxfordshire, or at her address, where you have my permission to open my letters that arrive during my absence. If you run short of money, or are compelled to take an expensive journey, apply to my bankers. I shall have full instructions that your requirements are to be met when you explain them. The one thing I want you to do is to deliver this letter into Miss Dane's own hands."

Peter, somewhat avariciously by Warden's gravity, yet proud of the trust placed in him, promised obedience.

"Never fear, sir," he said. "If the Sans Souci is afloat on the seven seas I'll get her beam's one way or another. Sink me if I don't find that gal afore a month. I'll unship my prop, sell the Nancy, and be to the work."

In disposing of his belongings, Warden packed the gold and the parchment among some heavy clothing which was useless in Africa. He told the hall porter exactly which portmanteau he meant to take with him, but on arriving at Paddington Station at 4.30 A. M. on a cold morning, he found the bag containing the gold and parchment piled with the rest of his goods on the platform.

He eyed it resentfully, but yielded. "So you mean to stick to me," he growled. "You mesmerized that sleepy ascal into carrying you downstairs and depositing you on the roof of my cab. Very well. Let us see the adventure through in company."

He was chatting with the skipper of the Water Witch one day while the ship's position was being picked off on the chart. "You are keeping close in to the Spanish coast, Captain," said the passenger. "Not particularly, Mr. Williams," was the reply.

"But I have always been under the impression that vessels bound for the West Coast headed for the Canaries?"

"So they do, if they're logged for a straight run. It happens this time, however, that my mate has to call in at Rabat and Mogador."

"At Rabat?" repeated Mr. Williams, seemingly staggered at the mere mention of the place.

"Yes, funny little hole. Ever bin there?"

"Well, p'raps you'll go ashore. If you do you'll see the queerest collection of humans you ever set eyes on."

Mr. Williams turned and gazed at the horizon.

"I think I'm bewitched," he muttered.

"Odd thing. I've been dreaming of Rabat."

The captain grinned.

"When you've seen it you'll fancy it's a nightmare," he said.

CHAPTER X

Hassan's Tower—And The Colonial Office.

Warden did not find Rabat so intolerable as the captain of the Water Witch led him to believe. Its streets were more regular and cleaner, or less dirty than those of the average Moorish town. Its people seemed to be devoted to commerce—probably because they are not pure-blooded Moors, but of Jewish descent. It was a town of a few miles from a man from Fez or Tafila when he wants a heavier dowry with a Rabati shawl and potery.

The Water Witch entered the river soon after dawn, and Warden was assured that she would not be able to clear her shipments until next afternoon at the earliest. He was surprised at finding quite a large number of British and other European merchants' offices near the quay, while the abridges of several Vice-Consuls and Consular Agents bespoke some semblance of law and order.

In a word, Rabat looked settled and prosperous. It was utterly out of keeping with the picture conjured up by the tales of the past. Warden was agreeably surprised at finding quite a large number of British and other European merchants' offices near the quay, while the abridges of several Vice-Consuls and Consular Agents bespoke some semblance of law and order.

FAST TIME FOR CANADIAN MAILS

(Montreal Herald, Friday)

The English mails, which left Liverpool at six o'clock on Friday last, were delivered at the general postoffice at 2.30 last night, and reached addressees the first thing this morning. The mails were carried by the Allan over's fast trimmer, the Victorian. This performance following the rapid voyage of the C. P. R. Empress of Britain which brought the mails from Liverpool, so that the addressees at Montreal received their letters in a little over six days' time, is especially pleasing to those who consider that all Canadian mails should come by the Canadian route. On this occasion the mail brought by the Victorian to receive mail from Montreal at least two days ahead of that which is coming via New York, although the steamer is leaving Montreal only a few hours later in leaving Liverpool.

The C. P. R. Empresses and the Allan liners, which hold the joint mail contract, are doing much to demonstrate that Canadian mail, from the Continent and the British Isles can now arrive at its destination more quickly by the St. Lawrence route, than by coming via New York.

The improved equipment for handling the mails at Rimouski, and the advance in methods of handling mails in the Canadian postoffice at Montreal, will tend to bring about a greatly improved condition of things, which enable a resident of Montreal to receive mail from Montreal at least two days ahead of that which is coming via New York, although the steamer is leaving Montreal only a few hours later in leaving Liverpool.

BEDDEFORD FIRE BREAKS OUT AGAIN

Beddeford, Me., Aug. 15.—Late yesterday afternoon the fire in the Pool road district broke out again and swept in the direction of the Guinea schoolhouse. A large additional amount of timberland will be burned over before the fire is under control.

The fire tonight was at a considerable distance from the Pool road, and the Guinness schoolhouse, which was destroyed by the fire over before the fire is under control.

It is estimated that in all about 1,000 acres of woodland has been burned over in the Pool road and Newton districts since last Wednesday. Some of the land was covered by valuable pine growth, and other sections were practically worthless.

Chatham, Mass., Aug. 15.—A timely wind from the north, Mrs. Walter Dely, to be all that saved the village of South Chatham from the destruction by a forest fire tonight.

REIGN OF TERROR IN MONTREAL

Hold-ups in Streets—Dozen Toughs Hold up Three Citizens.

Montreal, Aug. 16.—Montreal is passing through a time of trouble. The vicinity of Cathedral and Lapachetiere street is at present terrorized nightly by a lawless gang of men about twenty-five years old.

Three men were going to their boarding house at 443 Lapachetiere street, when a hang-dog looking fellow slouched up and asked for a match. It was given and going a little down the street he whistled, the crowd being followed by a crowd of twelve thugs upon the three men. The pedestrians received a severe beating, but before the gang could take any more, the owner of the neighborhood who ran up, causing the gang to desert. "The latter ran away, throwing stones as they went, striking a number of persons."

MR. AND MRS. WOODRUFF AT MEETINGS HERE

The man who accounted for the musty smell of the interior of a church by explaining that the people left their religion there every Sunday night, and it gradually during the week, was quoted by Rev. Dr. Woodruff yesterday afternoon in his address at the outdoor temperance meeting on the Every Day Club grounds. He said that sort of religion did not appeal to him. He liked the every day Christian, for whom there was always something to do for the good of humanity. He had, he said, visited one of the great mills here and observed how every man had his special work to do. "That is true in life. To every man his work. In each one of us, he asked, doing the work for which each is fitted, and which God would have us to do? In observing the machinery of the mill he was told that it was absolutely necessary for the saw to run true, and here also was a lesson for men and women. He had observed in business signs on the streets here the word "Limit," and had enquired what it meant. It was suggestive of the limited part which every man should play in the world. But all will be held responsible for their failures, and will not be judged in the mass, but each according to his own work.

WESTFIELD WATER PARADE SATURDAY

Owing to the fog which came in shortly before 8 o'clock on Saturday night and the high wind which sprang up about the same time, the illuminated parade at Westfield was not so grand as had been anticipated by its promoters. Several accidents to boats were narrowly averted. Gaily decorated yachts which had been drawn up all ready to start in the parade had their decorations swept away. The boats belonging to Messrs. Fisher and Allan suffered severely. Mr. Allan's boat having all her bunting blown away while Mr. Fisher's boat was what damaged. During the evening, however, the wind died down and about 9 o'clock five boats started in the parade. The Chinook, Wabena and boats belonging to Messrs. Robb. Allan and Macaulay started out in tow of the tug Daniels, and made a very good appearance. The judges were Mr. and Mrs. James Arthur, of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Robertson, and prizes were awarded as follows: Chinook, first; Wabena, second; Robb's salmon boat, third.

The following yachts quite gaily decorated sailed around Westfield: Louvina, Savior, Kathleen, Zolinka, Ritter motor boat, Keonika.

Bonfires had been lighted all along the shore from Ononette to Woodman's Point. The decorations of the summer cottages along the shores on both sides of the river were very beautiful. It was a blaze of red lights, Chinese lanterns and illuminated streamers. Among those of special notice were William McAvity's house which was trimmed with scores of little candles and lanterns, while on the top of his flag pole Mr. McAvity had a large lantern which could be seen a long distance. Percy Humphrey's cottage was decorated with candles. Colored lights had been placed all over E. S. McAvity's house and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Robertson's cottage presented a splendid appearance and the decorations on Arthur McDonald's cottage were up to the mark among the finest on the river. He had several large locomotive head lights in front of the house and a number of torches were sent up from her. A number of tug boats were also up with parties on board. While the weather conditions were disappointing, everybody had a good time and the affair was considered a success.

New York banks are preparing to send an unusually large amount of cash west because of the immense crop.

FIFTY PEOPLE ARE THROWN INTO LAKE

Montreal, Aug. 16.—There was a scene of great excitement at the St. Auguste regatta Saturday afternoon when a promenade over the water collapsed, precipitating 500 people to a floating wharf five feet below, and throwing fifty of them into the lake, five or six feet deep at that point.

To accommodate the crowd at the finishing line a promenade had been built over the floating dock opposite the Hotel Del Mont, the dock being used by the competitors.

At the conclusion of a race one of the onlookers fell off a boat. Immediately there was a rush of 500 or 600 people from the hotel verandahs to watch the rescue. The weight proved too much for the promenade which supports slipped out into the lake, and the whole mass of people were precipitated to the dock, five feet below. The guard rail broke and fifty of the crowd were thrown into the lake.

A wild scene of confusion followed as the mass of frightened people were exulted from the wreckage of the promenade, while the boats were busy rescuing those thrown into the lake.

For a time it was feared that a terrible catastrophe had happened, and it was some time before it could be found whether any people had been killed or not. Fortunately the mishap had no more serious results than giving a number of people a good soaking, the people in the boat being all rescued, while none of those thrown to the dock were injured beyond a number of small cuts and bruises.

THE NOVA SCOTIA STRIKE SITUATION

Springhill, N. S., Aug. 15.—The officials of the Cumberland Railway & Coal Company have had a strenuous time getting the horses out of the mines and keeping the pumps, engines and fans going. The horses are now all on the surface, the last having been brought up this afternoon.

A sign of the times is a notice advertising the sale of seventy tons of standing hay belonging to the Cumberland Railway & Coal Company. No buyers are offering, because no one can be found to cut the hay.

Your correspondent asked William Watkins, secretary of the United Mine Workers local at Springhill, if he had heard anything from President T. L. Lewis, of Indianapolis, who was rumored to have ordered the pumpmen and mechanics back to work, on the ground that it was not the policy of his organization to order men necessary to protect property. Mr. Watkins replied that he had heard absolutely nothing from Mr. Lewis directly or indirectly on this subject. His own impression was that the rule of the United Mine Workers was that mechanics should not be called out during negotiations, even after miners were out, but that when a strike was on in earnest and the stage of negotiations past that in such case the mechanics and everybody should be called out. "Anyhow," said Secretary Watkins, "I have heard nothing at all from President Lewis on the subject."

Of the 1,500 men out on account of the strike not 100 have left town. About 700 went west on the harvest excursion and a few have gone elsewhere in search of jobs. The offers of railway contractors do not appeal to men who are accustomed to a light pick and working in a cool equable temperature. Except in a few "close" places in the mine the temperature is cool and the air good.

Henry Bondfield, of the U. M. W., says that relief will come to the miners at Springhill from the U. M. W. for fear of a long as the men stick together. No man, therefore, can tell when the strike will end. The men expect the same determination that they did a week ago when the strike was ordered.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 15.—Rumors and contradictions of rumors are flying thick and fast to the effect that negotiations are on between the Coal Company and the United Mine Workers, looking to a settlement of the labor troubles. These rumors are not by any means baseless, and it will not come as a surprise to any one here as long as the men stick together. Many days elapse, everybody says, who is going to back down, but those who know say that a settlement is possible without the outcry of a beating handed out by either party.

It was said Saturday that C. H. Cahane, K. C., after a talk with President James Ross, of the coal company, had a conference with J. W. Madigan, M. P., who is acting solicitor for the U. M. W., and that the subject under discussion was a move towards a settlement of the strike.

CRETAN CRISIS IS AT HAND

London, Aug. 14.—Unless Greece comes to the aid of Turkey and forces the people of Crete to haul down the Greek flag which they have hoisted there, the protecting powers of Crete, Great Britain, Russia, Italy and France will perform this act using force, if necessary.

This was the substance of a joint note signed by the four powers and presented to the Turkish government today. In order to carry out this policy and to be prepared to use force if necessary to oblige the Cretons to haul down the objectionable flag, each of the four protecting powers decided today to send an additional warship to Crete, the capital of the island of Crete, and at the same time expressed the hope to the Turkish government that in view of the steps they had taken that Turkey will not think it necessary to order her fleet to Crete waters.

The joint note of the powers to Turkey today is the direct result of a communication from the Cretan government declaring it was unable to enforce the hauling down of the Greek flag. This action of the powers followed sharply upon Turkey's note to Greece yesterday demanding a formal declaration respecting her intentions, as to Crete, and thus creating a situation grave enough to move the powers to action.

NEW TRUST COMPANY

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Senator Roy, of Edmonton (Alta.), arrived in Montreal from Paris yesterday and announced that he had succeeded in floating a new trust company in the French capital. The papers being signed, and all the formalities concluded, the enterprise will be known as the Canadian Mortgage Association, with a capital of $3,000,000. Its headquarters will be at Winnipeg, with branches in other western cities.

Senator Roy stated that Parisian capitalists took very kindly to the idea of investing money in Western Canada and he believes that within the next few years a lot of French money will find its way to Canada.

J. S. BACHE & CO'S MARKET LETTER

New York, Aug. 14—It is an ideal situation with not a cloud visible, and there is little wonder that the public, which buys heavily only when immediate conditions are full of sunshine, should begin to enter the market in volume.

Canada's Crop A Minneapolis correspondent wires us today as follows: "The Canadian Northwest wheat crop promises to yield 120 million bushels this year, against 95 million bushels last year."

MORNING COTTON LETTER

New York, Aug. 16—It looks to us as though fear of depression during the height of the new marketing season is becoming more general and there can be little doubt that outside bull speculation has been checked to some extent by the stability of the 12-cent level has been thoroughly tested by the absorption of early receipts.

DEDICATE THE GROSS ISLE MONUMENT

Great Gathering at Ceremony on Sunday—Prominent Men There.

Quebec, Aug. 15—Representatives of both the federal and provincial governments, and high dignitaries of the Catholic church, met today at Gross Isle, where, in the presence of 5,000 people, a monument was dedicated to the memory of the Irish immigrants who were stricken with typhus fever and gave up their lives on the rocky shores of that secluded spot in the summer of 1847.

A whole fleet of steamers was needed to bear the exhumed bodies down from the island to the Quebec wharves. Special trains began to arrive early this morning from Montreal and Ottawa, and those with the Quebec contingent made a notable display as they sailed down to Gross Isle with bands playing the national air.

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., MONDAY, AUGUST 16, 1909

The Evening Times

ST. JOHN, N. B. AUGUST 16, 1909
The St. John Evening Times is published at 77 and 79 Castorbury street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE EVENING TIMES THE DAILY TELEGRAPH

New Brunswick's Independent Newspapers
These papers advocate:

Honesty in Public Life
Measures for the Material Progress and Moral Advancement of our Great Dominion.

HON. JAMES BRYCE

St. John extends a hearty welcome to the Rt. Hon. James Bryce and Mrs. Bryce. Even if he were not the British ambassador at Washington, Mr. Bryce would still be the distinguished statesman, and voluminous and brilliant author, whose fame is secure.

As the Times observed the other day, St. John should interest Mr. Bryce. It is the chief winter port of Canada, and it was founded by Loyalists who came here after the Revolution in the country to which he is now the accredited representative of the British Government.

FORWARD NEW BRUNSWICK

What is the Government doing to encourage the development of the resources of New Brunswick? To what can the people point as an evidence that this is a progressive government, pursuing intelligently a constructive policy for the benefit of the province?

SHRINERS MAY BUILD TEMPLEHERE

Members of Luxor Temple, of the Mystic Shrine have under consideration a proposition to erect a temple in this city at a cost of $30,000. The matter will probably be taken up at the December meeting. The building proposed would be three stories in height with high ceilings. The first floor would be devoted to club rooms, the second could be used as a banquet hall, and the third floor for lodge rooms.

action town to bring in new settlers. To get a certain amount of money and to spend it in the height of this government's ambition.
What the government is not doing, the boards of trade, farmers' associations and municipal bodies should undertake. New Brunswick is on the main line and its chief city is one of the gateways of the empire. The province should share in the growth which in the west is so phenomenal. It is not as if this were an isolated province and without resources. All that is needed is vigorous and concerted action and the inauguration of a policy that will bring the province into public view and keep it there.

In view of all these facts, the people of New Brunswick should not only prove themselves hopeful and progressive, but they should insist upon such government action as will hasten the day of development along every line of material improvement. "By the street of by-and-by we arrive at the gate of never."

Whatever the distinguishing visitor may have to say at the Canadian Club luncheon will be of great interest to Canadians. He is not given to idle talk, and his breadth of view makes him especially well-fitted to discuss questions of national or international, or imperial concern.

THE BEAUTIFUL RIVER

A citizen said to the Times on Saturday that too much is taken for granted in regard to the attractions of the St. John river. Visitors to St. John do not have brought to their attention with sufficient emphasis the charms, for example, of a trip up the river to Eversdale or Hampstead, and return the same day. Even to a citizen who knows the river this is a delightful journey on a summer day, and how much more charming must it be to one who has not before seen the beautiful scenery along the route.

WHATEVER MAY BE THE MERITS OF A PARTICULAR CASE

Whatever may be the merits of a particular case, the citizens will heartily commend Chief Clark in his determination to get an absolutely sober police force. If there is any man who should be above suspicion in this respect it should be the guardian of the peace. One of his duties is to see that the liquor law is not violated. If it is his habit to frequent saloons he will be more reluctant to get a saloon keeper in trouble, and experience has already shown that there are some dealers who if permitted to do so will persistently violate the law. There is too much drunkenness in St. John.

JOYS OF A SUMMER VACATION

(Pity Harland in Chicago Record-Herald.) They rented a cottage together, the Browns and their neighbors, the Joneses, and said: "We'll share in the cost and divide up the work, and each one shall make his own bed."

"It'll be easy to do, and I'm sure we will find that housework will seem just like play," "Junk" and together they journeyed away.

For a while things went smoothly, a week or two passed, then clouds in the distance appeared. Mrs. Jones told her hubby that mean Mrs. Brown up and "sneaked" when the table was cleared.

While it wasn't her right to wash dishes, of course, she might have helped put them away. As she did whenever "mean Mrs. Brown's" turn, a fact she could truthfully say.

Then Mrs. Jones said she was sick of her job, because Mrs. Brown seemed to "steal" her. She had nothing to do but look pretty white and shiver all the time as Mrs. Brown's turn came.

When a month had gone by Mrs. Jones started in to "hand" Mrs. Brown "a few things." And Mrs. Brown, also, unbuckled her mind of a few little neighborly flings.

Now Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brown are at home once again, their vacation was far from a success. And good Mrs. Brown don't see Mrs. Jones whenever they pass in the street.

OPTIMISM. "It's world we're livin' in is a case of 'It's purty hard 't' beat.' Every time you see a lawyer, after exercising all his cunning tactics without effect, looking critically at the doctor who was testifying and said: 'You will admit that doctors sometimes make mistakes, won't you?'"

"Oh, yes, the same as lawyers," was the cool reply. "The doctors' mistakes are buried six feet under 'graves,' was the lawyer's triumphant reply."

"Yes," he replied, "and lawyers' mistakes swing in the air."—Philadelphia Ledger.

STARTS A NEW CHURCH IN MAINE

Writer of "Threw Out the Life Line Announces the Creed

Rockland, Maine, August 16—As a memorial to his famous lawyer, "Threw Out the Life Line," and also to the 50th anniversary of his ordination, Rev. F. S. Ford, officiated yesterday at the dedication of the Galilee Temple, a "People's Church," built from the pastor's private funds.

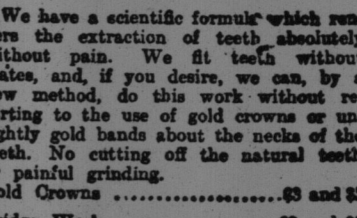

In announcing the creed of the new church, the pastor said no worldly schemes will be used to raise money, nor will any fee ever be demanded at the church door. Implicit faith in God will be taught and the Bible will be the only guide. Windows in memory of noted hymn writers and of Frances E. Willard ornament the church.

MONTANA GOLF

"On a train in Iowa," said the young man from Boston, "I met the champion golfer of Ohio, and as I am something of a champion myself I followed him to a lot to say about the game. We had talked for a couple of hours, when the man behind us, who was a bit rough in dress and looks, rose up and said: 'You've talked golf so much that you've got me interested in the game, and I'm going to make bold to ask you to do me a favor.'"

"Then producing a pack of cards from his pocket, he continued: 'One of you just shuffle 'em up and let 'em come.'"

The Summer Resort Snob

Why is it that at every summer resort, be it large or small at least one snobbish woman is to be found? In the smallest of modest country places as well as in the most fashionable of great hotels this woman of the inflated ego holds forth.

She is not simply using proper and admirable discretion in selecting those who shall be her friends and others who shall be but acquaintances. Indeed, with her it is not so much a question of with whom shall she associate as of impressing everyone with her own social position.

About herself, her husband, her friends—the rich and fashionable ones—she is ever ready to talk. She loses no opportunity to boast of her own social position, and the queer part about it all is that she is not particularly to whom she tells it so long as they listen and seem duly impressed. She delights in boring people with long and egotistical accounts of her family history, the elegance of her tea the past season, the fashions with whom she rubs elbows on the highest pinnacle of social success, and the magnificent homes to which she has the entrée.

Impressed herself by such an array of social facts, she believes firmly that others must be impressed. She judges

HELEN GOULD

CHILDREN'S FRIEND

New York, Aug. 13—In the hottest, narrowest streets in the slums, little children of foreign parentage, who never heard of Mayor McClellan and who would look at you blank-eyed if you should ask them, who President Taft is, can tell you all about Miss Helen Gould.

"She's the lady who takes children out to the country and gives 'em a swell feed and shows 'em cows and all kinds o' things," they volunteer with enthusiasm.

Miss Gould is the fairy godmother of the city's little sons and daughters of the poor. She makes her beautiful estate, "Lyndhurst," near Tarrytown, the stamping ground of such as these. Day after day, during the summer, she will invade the slums, and, organizing parties of 500 children or more, take them off for a day's outing in the country.

The trip is one long to be remembered. The youngsters go and return in a special train furnished by Miss Gould. They are turned loose to play games or amuse themselves as they choose. This sometimes causes accidents. A boy who never before climbed a tree got up so high the other day that he got dizzy and fell. He received a scalp wound, but he refused to stop playing. "I'll have more time at home," he exclaimed.

In the course of a summer Miss Gould entertains thousands of little children at her home. And she herself gets just as much pleasure out of it as the most widely delighted child of them all.

SLAYER OF ELSIE SIEGEL IN CHINA?

Report from Hong Kong—Said to Have Arrived on Tramp Steamer.

Hong Kong, Aug. 16—The police are excited by a report that William Leon, sought in connection with the murder of Miss Elsie Siegel in New York, had arrived here on a tramp steamer.

A man dressed in Chinese fashion and resembling Leon, was arrested, but was released. It is believed that if Leon arrived he left immediately for Canton.

HORSE'S ENDURANCE

If a horse is driven daily he cannot go a very great distance. The daily average distance of the useful steed is very hard to determine. The London bus horse does 15 miles a day, and in the old days a pair of coach horses used to do 20 miles, pulling a coach weighing one ton. Other horses have made over 80 miles a day, but these were never worked over twice a week. A good horse can trot from 20 to 30 miles for several days, but he cannot keep it up. He may be able to make 90 miles in one day, but he must rest the next. Small horses can stand more work and recover from it more easily than large animals, but the larger ones are much better at pulling a heavy load.

POTS OF GOLD IN CELLAR: Two pots of gold found in the cellar of William Taylor of Rock River, Wyo. Taylor hired Reuben Stockwell and J. W. White to dig in his cellar two weeks ago. While digging the men uncovered a pot containing $1500 in gold. They divided the money and began painting the town red. While drunk they revealed their secret and Taylor, claiming his father had buried the gold, had them arrested. They were put under heavy bond and a dozen of the richest men in the country bailed them out. Now they have begun suit against Taylor for recovery of the money. Taylor later dug up another pot containing $9000 in gold and will keep on digging.

LUCANIA IS DAMAGED: Liverpool, Aug. 15—The Cunard line steamer Lucania lies at the Huskisson dock tonight completely damaged, having been almost gutted from her funnels forward by fire which broke out on board the liner at 7 o'clock Saturday evening. The flames are supposed to have originated in the saloon kitchen. Lightning at New Richmond, Wis., killed every other one of six horses, standing side by side, three of them not being touched.

MAY CHANGE SIZE OF AMERICAN PAPER MONEY

Proposal of Secretary of Treasury Not Popular Among New York Bankers. New York, Aug. 13—An announcement comes from Washington that Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh contemplates re-designing the paper currency of the country. Secretary MacVeagh's idea according to the dispatch, is to secure a more uniform system of paper money. He plans to have the same portrait on all notes of the same denomination, and to make the designs so distinctive that no confusion could occur. He believes that the present size of the paper money could be reduced about one-quarter, conforming in size to the French paper money.

An official of the New York Clearing House when shown the notes said that he believed considerable improvement was possible in the paper money, especially in simplicity and dignity. He cited the English bank notes as an excellent example of what there are too many designs in our paper currency and suggests a fewer number of changes mentioned in the dispatch. Some of them believe, however, that there are too many designs in our paper currency and suggests a fewer number of changes mentioned in the dispatch. Some of them believe, however, that there are too many designs in our paper currency and suggests a fewer number of changes mentioned in the dispatch.

BRITISH NAVAL DESIGNER TO SPEAK: Sir Wm. H. White to Address Winnipeg Association on Naval Problem. Winnipeg, Aug. 13—The imperial navy problem and Canada's relation to it will be discussed at the British Association for the Advancement of Science here by the former naval designer of the admiralty, Sir William H. White. In his address at Winnipeg the former naval designer of the admiralty will discuss the conference now being held in London. He will approach the subject from a technical as well as a practical point of view; but will argue for the necessity of treating the royal navy as an imperial concern, to which all self-governing colonies shall in some way contribute. He will illustrate the connection between a powerful navy and the development of mercantile shipping and economy in overseas transport at the same length as well as the increase in the dimensions of war vessels. His address will have special reference to Canada, and he will point out the great influence which engineering has had upon the foundation and development of all the colonies and dominions. Sir William will be accompanied by Lady White.

GREAT SHOW AT NICKEL: The thousands of people who crowded Nickel Theatre last week were so amazed and delighted with the quality of the musical entertainment as provided by the Bush Family String Quintette that preparations have been made for a repetition of the same at the Nickel Theatre. The quality of the paper is also said to be superior to our notes. There seems to be considerable doubt among bankers of the expediency of changing the size of the paper, but the present one, as reported, seems to contain radical features that will meet with opposition.

MAKE UPPER RIVER STRETCHES NAVIGABLE. Spokane, Wash., August 14—The Columbia River Improvement Commission, of which State Senator A. W. Henderson, of Addy, Wash., is president, has completed the preliminary plans for the opening of the Columbia river from Wenatchee to Kettle Falls, Wash. The first work will be at Foster Creek, the present head of navigation, and points above Bridgeport, permitting boats to be operated as far north as the mouth of the Spokane river, near Miles, Wash. The Indian agency post on the Spokane reservation will be the upper Columbia river as a waterway for millions of dollars worth of orchards, fields and mine products in Clelan and Okanogan counties and will eventually furnish easy means of transportation for lumber, orchardists and miners operating in Ferry, Douglas, Stevens, and Lincoln counties. Captain Fred McDermott, a veteran river pilot of Kettle Falls, who was elected to the office of executive commissioner, declares that the plan of opening the upper river as a navigable stream is feasible.

T. of Gloucester, and G. Otto, G. C. C. of Massachusetts went by the same steamer.

THERE WAS TROUBLE

Two well known citizens got into a lively altercation yesterday afternoon at Seaside Park and an interesting time resulted. While a crowd were in the "pen" awaiting a chance to board a homeward bound car there was considerable jostling, and one citizen of moderate proportions admonished another of larger build to refrain from pushing him. A hot retort followed, and in a moment there was a melee.

Several bystanders took a hand and separated the combatants and even several young women took sides and spoke their minds quite freely, but finally all were quieted and left for home, the smaller man showing some signs of wear.

TOITEN RIGHT THERE

Dire consequences to a tontorial establishment were averted by Patrolman Geo. Totten's timely stopping of a runaway horse on Union street this morning. The animal, with milk duds attached, and driven by James Connell, became refractory and, bolting along Union street, swerved from the roadway to the pavement and was on the verge of crashing through the plate glass front of McCarthy's tontorial parlour, when Patrolman Totten clutched the unruly horse by the bridle and held on.

The milk cans were strewn on the roadway, and although the driver did not release his grip on the reins he was unable to curb his horse.

NEARLY RUN DOWN YACHTSMEN

Ferry Maggie Miller Almost on Top of Tow in Darkness Sunday Night.

Some excitement, with just a slight tinge of fear, existed at the pretty little harbor at Millidgeville last night about 9.30 o'clock. Owing to the extra large crowds and the large number of teams crossing from Baywater, Summerville and Kennebecasis Island to the city during the day, it was necessary for the ferry-boat "Maggie Miller" to make a special trip after 8 o'clock. It was quite dark when the ferry left Baywater about 8.45, with quite a large passenger list, and, of course, was much darker as she neared her pier at Millidgeville.

The passengers had crowded to the bow, and were standing expectantly gazing at the dim light cast by a lantern on the boats, when just a few feet ahead a sharp cry from the waters challenged the progress of the ferry, and almost immediately a small light disclosed a rather strange looking procession to the eyes of the alarmed passengers.

A number of yachtsmen were endeavoring to place the sloop "British Queen," which sank last Tuesday's storm, on the blocks near the clubhouse, and had succeeded in towing her from the little cove in which she had gone down, to a spot almost directly in front of the ferry boat's landing. When the ferry steamer suddenly loomed out of the darkness, almost on top of them.

There were four or five men in motor boats and row-boats in line with the disabled sloop, whose mast sticking out of water about eight or ten feet in the air was the only sign of its presence. The ferry came within a few feet of the sunken sloop and though it did not strike her, it collided with a small snow which appeared to be bringing up the rear of the tow. The captain of the ferryboat brought her to a sudden stop, and deserves credit for his quick action.

The crowd on board, in their eagerness to see what was going on, had pushed towards the bow, and the sinking forward caused the "Miller" to be disobedient to her tiller, so that it was only after four attempts to bring her to her moorings that a successful landing was effected. It was about 10.15 before the belated passengers, journeying by the bus line arrived at "Scott's corner."
