Which Resulted in Dillon's Faux Pas and Suspension.

Kaiser William Shuts American Beef and Pork Out of Germany-Another Thousand Emigrants En Route for Canada.

London, March 21 .- Yesterday, during the discussion of South African affairs in the House of Commons, the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, vigorously protested against the government's conduct in uttering "malignant slanders" in calling the Liberals pro-Boers. The slurs, Sir Henry said, were used for party purposes. The government which had been going from blunder to blunder, claimed immunity from criticism, and if this continued it would of the American war."

LIBERALS AS LOYAL AS TORIES. The speaker proceeded to give a spirited criticism of the government's treatment of the Boers, and its miscalculations, declaring that the honor and interests of the country were just as dear to the Liberals as to the most supercilious defender of the government's policy, and the Liberals would continue to protest in the name of the righteous and generous traditions of the nation against the methods of the government. The colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, in the course of an equally incisive reply, said he desired to deliberately accuse Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman of losing no opportunity for slandering his countrymen, the soldiers and the government. Consequently the "malignant slanders" had come from the opposition side.

The speaker, Sir William Court Gully, here intervened and declared that the term "malignant slanders" was unparliamentary. Both Sir Henry Campbell-Banne man and Mr. Chamberlain thereupon withdrew the words amid cheers. the British side, when John Dillon are traitors," on which Mr. Chamberlain retorted: "The honorable gentleman is a good judge of traitors." A scene of great confusion ensued. When order was partially restored Mr.

Dillon demanded a ruling on Mr.

Chamberlain's words. The speaker said: "An honorable member spoke of soldiers serving under the British flag as traitors. I deprecated the interruption, and I deprecated the retort of the other mem-

Mr. Dillon then said: "I will tell the right honorable member that he is a damned liar." A dead silence followed this remark. Such unparliamentary language seemed to stun the house. The speaker invited Mr. Dillon to withdraw the expression, but the latter said: "I will not withdraw." 'Then I must name you," said the speaker. The government leader, A. J. Bal-"I beg to move that Mr. Dillon be ists twenty thousand foreign armed suspended from service in the house." The motion was carried by 248 to 48 votes. MR. DILLION LEFT. Mr. Dillion immediately, by direction of the speaker, left the house, amidst wild Nationalist cheers, and Mr. Chamberlain resumed his speech. Mr. Dillion's suspension under the resent rules, cannot exceed a week. His offence would have been much more severely dealt with had the new rules been in force.

The ejection of Mr. Dillion did not serve to clear the atmosphere, and the remainder of the debate was filled with personal allusions and unpleasant exchanges, the nature of which would have excited comment had they not been discounted by the first explosion. David Lloyd George (Welsh Nationalist) bitterly attacked the government, drawing a harrowing picture of the conditions in South Africa, and charged the war office with pigeonholing important information. INSOLENT REMARK.

Sir Charles Cayser (Conservative) interrupted Mr. Lloyd-George, saying that the speaker was playing to the pro-Boers, whereupon Mr. Lloyd-George characterized the interruption as "an insolent remark." This caused confusion in the house and cries of withdraw.

John Redmond (leader of the Irish had been ameliorated, but that owing party in the House of Commons) appealed to the chair, and Sir Charles reluctantly withdrew his statement. Mr. W. R. Plummer (Conservative) and Mr. Redmond then had an altercation, and after more disorder, Mr. Lloyd-George succeeded in finishing with the remark that he did not know who was responsible for all the errors Presbytery on Tuesday, Mr. Graham and incompetency in South Africa, but that the men who had profited by these conditions now sat upon the government bench. Mr. Brodrick, the secretary of state for war, answered Mr. Lloyd-George with a long defence of the war office

Among the preservatives alleged to be injurious to public health in this document are boric acid and its salts, and it is on this inclusion that the whole question hinges. The use of borax and boric acid in the preserva-tion of meat products packed for export has been universal for nearly 30 years, and the processes involved have been proven absolutely harmless by government tests conducted in Germany itself. In prohibiting boric acid and borates for preserving purposes the government has taken a position which makes it questionable whether the importation of meat products will in future be possible at all. It will be impossible to ship fresh pork or other fresh meat or mild cured hog products to Germany without the use of the prohibited agent. The exports to Germany in 1901 of the meats and allied products in the handling of which borax preservatives are used were valued at $5,888,738. Oleo products, which come under the ban, headed the list with a total of $2,645,-

Ever since the beginning of the family estrangement some months ago, efforts have been made to heal the difficulty, the King personally having in-terested himself in the affair. All the peacemakers have failed, and now it is believed action for divorce is only a matter of a few days. The origin of the trouble lay in the marquis' refusal to invite Laycock, a millionaire, well known in hunting circles, to his house party for the Mel-

Hong Kong, March 21 .- Advices from Canton say it is creditably reported there that the viceroy has received telegrams from Lung Chan, on the Annam border, alleging that the whole of Marshal Su's troops have deserted and joined the rebels. If this be true, say the advices, it adds to the revolutionand drilled troops, capable of defeating any force the imperialists can raise. The telegrams further say the country is undoubtedly ripe for rebellion. Robberies are of frequent occurrence. The long continued drought prevents the planting of spring rice and this has led the farm laborers to become robbers.

GOOD TIMES IN RETAILING TO-BACCO. The Ogdens' sensational offer was much discussed on the Stock Exchange yesterday, and the immediate effect was to depress the price of Imperial Tobacco shares. The British trust offered to the retail tobacconists some share of their profits and a bonus of £50,000, and Ogdens, which is now a branch of the American Tobacco Company, comes forward with an offer of their whole net profits and a bonus of £200,000 per annum for the next four years. In some quarters this generosity has given rise to suspicion, but Mr. Duke is reported to have stated that he is actually prepared to lose £2,-

Hull, Que., March 21 .- Stanislas Lacroix, who murdered his wife and an old man Hypolite Thomas, in Montebello, was hanged in Hull jail this morning at 8:05 o'clock.

He was strangled to death, but did not struggle after the drop fell. His body was cut down at 8:23 and an inquest held.

Lacroix did not go to bed last night, but sat up with the nuns and prayed. WILL LOSE HIS His little son was with him until 9 o'clock, and was with him again this morning.

MASS CELEBRATED. Mass was celebrated in the jail, and Lacroix's boy and the jailer's little son The three brothers of the murderer and his two sisters bade him farewell about twenty minutes to eight. Lacroix prayed until a few minutes before 8, when Radcliffe entered the cell.

The pinioning process took only a few Radcliffe strapped Lacroix's arms to his side, leaving his hands free so that he could hold his prayer beads. Lacroix shook hands with the nuns and guards, thanked the governor of the jail for his kindness and announced that he was READY TO GO. The march to the scaffold was led by Sheriff Wright, then came Lacroix, with the two priests, Fathers Forget and Provost, walking on either side of the murderer. The priests recited prayers as they marched. Radcliffe followed immediately behind. The scaffold was open, and when the

55 years of age. SUICIDE AT MONTREAL. Montreal, March 21.—Considerable mystery surrounds the case of Stewart Campbell, a well-known citizen, who was found dead at his residence yesterday. Coroner McMahon made the following statement: "I have ordered an inquest because it is my duty to establish beyond a doubt whether or not homicide has been committed. The late Mr. Camphas been committed. The late Mr. Camp-bell's sister told me that when she went into his room yesterday morning she found her brother lying on the floor dead. He was undressed. During the night she says she heard, or at least she fancies she heard, strange noises, but nothing resembling a pistol shot. she fancies she heard, strange noises, but nothing resembling a pistol shot. On a bureau in the room was found a napkin, which showed stains as if it had been used in cleaning a revolver. When I saw the body I found a pistol wound in the right side of the head. In the right hand of the dead man was clutched a revolver of a rather large calibre. The left hand of the corpse was badly burned."

Watson's Orientals at the London Opera House.

Watson's Orientals at the London Opera House last night proved one of the best burlesque shows ever seen in this city. The company number over 50 people, and carried a full and expensive line of costumes and scenery. The performance opened with a burletta, "In Ladysmith," in which Johnny Webber, in a German character, created much amusement. The olio consisted of seven numbers, all good of their kind. West and Williams did a laugh-provoking sketch. Miss Belle Corden the ladr begroupeher showed a laugh-provoking sketch. Miss before Gordon, the lady bag-puncher, showed herself an adept in the use of her "fins." Johnny Webber was the central figure in a skit entitled "Micky into which is to be elaborated into a farce for next season. Good musical turns were given by the Sisters Navette, and by Hawthorne and Allen, song and dance artists, while Ella Shields pleased the crowd with her rendering of popular songs. The Brothers Lassard did some good acrobatic feats, including a dangerous backward dive, alighting on the hands from a point nearly 30 feet above the stage. The performance concluded with another funny burletta, "The Lady Buffaloes." If the management of the London can continue to supply burlesque up to this standard the venture should be a profitable one. "MONTE CRISTO" TONIGHT.

This will probably be the last season of "Monte Cristo," the great romantic play which Mr. James O'Neill has made famous and in which he comes to the New Grand tonight. She Spoke About Sitting on His Glass Eye Side-Love Letters With Mushrooms in 'Em.

Lockport, N. Y., March 20.—Rose Graville, a pretty vaudeville actress who has more or less fame in New York, Boston and other cities, is on trial in the county court, charged with wheeling 100 per court, charged with wheedling $1,495 out of John Miller, of Niagara Falls, Ont., under promise of marriage. She is defended by former Secretary of State Frank Rice, and fully 50 witnesses have been subpoenaed in the case. Miller, the com-plainant, is a wealthy farmer and business man, 60 years old.

Miller said he met Rose at the Lyceum Theater, Niagara Falls, where she was performing. He took her to supper and fell in love with her. She coyly confided to him that he was the nicest man she had ever met. When he asked her if she liked him well enough to marry him, she responded yes. He wanted to get a minister at once, but she said she wanted to get married in Canada some time later. Miller testified that he kept company with Rose for four weeks. She proposed buying the Lyceum Theater and making him ticket man. On her promise to become his wife and to repay the money, he gave her three packages of bills containing $500 each and she let him have $5 with which to return home. He said he loved her and asked her to marry him. She had failed to keep her promise, but kept his

On cross-examination Miller denied that Rose had ever told him that she couldn't marry him until a mortgage on her mother's house at Canandaigua was paid. He admitted giving her money to go and see her aged mother several times, but one Sunday when he urged her to stay with him he suspected that she did not go to her mother. It was brought out that Miller had paid attention to other soubrettes at the theater, on one occasion giving one his bank book, and she drew $50 on it, but Miller protested that he never loved any of them except Rose.

Pittsburg, March 20.-Unless a conference is granted by the Pittsburg Railways Company to the dissatisfied employes of the West End lines before 7:30 o'clock tonight, the district executive board of the Knights of Labor will order a strike. This will completely tie up the system. The strike will be for the reinstatement of two discharged men and regular time for meals. The company announces its intention of using office clerks and inests of the fair, whilst his unfailing courtesy to the exhibitors and others with whom he came in contact, and his absolute fairness at all times, made him one of the most popular officials in the province, and it is largely due to him that it has been possible to continue the spectors in case of a strike.

BOYS SET SCHOOL ON FIRE. Lexington, Ky., March 21.—The Bradley dormitory at the Kentucky State School of Reform, near Lexington, was destroyed by fire shortly after midnight, but all the inmates, numbering 125 boys, were saved. Two boys inmates of the school, are missing, and it is believed they escaped during the fire. The management of the institution are convinced that the building was set on fire by the boys who had planned to escape, but that the prompt action of the night watchman in turning in the alarm frustrated the plan.

THE MYSTERY OF McAULIFFE'S DEATH

It Is Thought That New York Policemen May Have Killed Him.

New York, March 21.-Detective Sergeants George Schoeneick and Patrick J. Darcey and Policeman Reddy, all of the West Forty-seventh street station, have been notified to appear before District Attorney Jerome in connection with his investigation into the mysterious murder of James Mc-Auliffe, one of the chief witnesses against Wardman Glennon.

Reddy arrested McAuliffe for alleged intoxication on the evening before he was found battered and dying, Feb. 16. McAuliffe was the principal witness against Glennon. The theory is that he was murdered in a spirit of revenge, for having testified against Glennon, and also to prevent him from appearing against those two sergeants, charged with gross neglect of duty.

CANADA'S COPPER AND NICKEL. Toronto, March 20. - T. W. Gibson, director of the provincial bureau of mines, said today that he had heard nothing regarding the report published here this morning to the effect that the Canadian Copper Company, which owns large mining properties in the vicinity of Copper Cliff and Sudbury, has entered into a gigantic combine with the Orford Copper Company of New Jersey, and the large corporation known as Le Nickel, of Paris, France. Mr. Gibson expressed confidence, rican ladies of rank. however, that no matter what company controlled the mines in question, Ontario's nickel and copper industry was bound to develop rapidly. The New Caledonia mines, which are operated by the French company are situated on the other side of the world, northeast of Australia, and are too far away to rival our mines when developed. New Caledonia has valuable nickel, however, which differs from the Sudbury deposits in not containing copper. It is a French penal colony, and most of the mining is done with convict labor, while the smelting and reducing has been carried on in Europe. Mr. Gibson has not been informed that the Canadian Copper Company's works and mines are closed down. A few weeks ago some of the men were laid off and a smelter or two stopped because of the scarcity of coke, due to a shortage of railway rolling stock.

Capt. Casati, the African explorer, died in Rome on March 7. The career of few explorers has been so full of romantic interest and of hardship and peril as that of Capt Casati. Capt. Casati, like Emin Pasha, was caught in a trap by the Mahdist uprising, so he joined the famous German and shared his fortunes, until Stanley brought them both to the sea.

Casati, a captain in the Italian army, was 41 years old when he threw up his commission and started for the Upper Nile in the service of the Italian Society for the Commercial Exploration of Africa. He went to the Bahr el Gazelle tributary of the Upper Nile, a region that was almost unknown. In that land of many waterways and interesting tribes he met his famous countryman, Gessi Pasha, the explorer of Albert Nyanza, who nursed Casati through a dangerous fever, refusing to leave him till he was restored to health; then Gessi set local government will put up the price out on that terrible journey down the Nile, when his party was long imprisoned by the Sudd that blocked the channel, many perishing of starvation. and Gessi escaping at last only to die of his privations as he neared the Mediterranean. Casati set out to explore the Welle Maku, for nobody knew where this great river, three-fifths as long as the Mississippi, emptied its waters. It is now known to be the greatest Congo tributary and appears on the maps as the Mobangi Maku. For many months Casati's friends heard nothing of him, but at last came a letter, which was Emin sent Casati as his representative to the chief town of Kabba Rega, King of Unyoro. One of the duties was to act as postmaster, Emin sending to him his correspondence for Europe and Casati making the best arrangements he could to forward the letters to the coast. Casati lived there for twenty months and was fairly well treated by the king until suddenly the capracious despot changed his humor and sentenced Casati to death.

His black comrade Mohammed Biri was put to death. Casati, though bound hand and foot, managed to escape one dark night, and for three days he wandered almost naked without a morsel of food until he reached the lake. The entire country to the lake was under Kabba Rega's sway, and the white man did not dare show himself in any village. A few of Casati's attendants who had not been imprisoned with him escaped with him canoe paddled across the lake and brought Emin in his steamer to the relief of the starving party.

Casati's great grief on this occasion was the loss of all his note books. "I am woefully oppressed," he wrote, It was indeed a great loss. ### A TRAVELING MISSIONARY of Sombra and Dawn.

Other Matters Dealt With by the Executive of the Synod of Huron.

The executive committee of the Synod of Huron met yesterday in Bishop Cronyn Hall, with the bishop in the chair. The meeting was opened at 2:30 p.m. with prayer by Rev. Rural Dean subject to approval of the chancelor. McCosh. After roll call, the minutes were confirmed, on motion of the dean. The report of the finance committee 11 p.m. was read, showing the accounts passed and to be paid. On motion of Dean Innes the report was adopted.

The missions committee's report was then read. Rev. Canon Davis, as bishop's commissioner to the southern part of Lambton, recommended: (1) That a traveling missionary be appointed to the charges of the townships of Sombra and Dawn, including the villages of Sombra and Port Lambton, with headquarters at Sombra; (2) that Oil Springs, Inwood and Brigden constitute a traveling mission, with special grant in each case. Clause

Rev. Canon Brown, bishop's commissioner to Hespeler and Preston, recommended that the two places remain separate parishes, and that the assessment of each be $600, and be placed under the provisions of the canon. Clause adopted.

Rev. Rural Dean Hind, bishop's commissioner to Comber and Mersea, recommended reorganization. Referred to the bishop.

Rev. D. Williams, bishop's commissioner to Teeswater, recommended that Kinlough be detached from Bervie and Kingarf, and attached to Teeswater, and that Lakelet be supplied from Gor-

After considerable discussion the report was held over until next meeting pending further inquiries.

Special grants to Indian interpreters and teachers at Muncey and Walpole Island, and other places, were continued for the year, except that to Point Edward, which was limited to three months, pending proposed reorganization. The bishop was requested to appoint a commissioner to visit and re-

On motion of Archdeacon Davis, a resolution of sympathy with Very Rev. Dean Innes and Rev. D. Williams and with the families of the late Mr. W. J. Imlach and Mr. J. W. Ferguson, in their recent sad bereavements, was carried by a standing vote.

Deputations from Granton, nam North, Dover East and Mitchell's Bay were heard in regard to proposed reorganization and occupied the remainder of the afternoon session.

WOMEN'S CAMPAIGN

Men Are Taking a Back Seat in Cleveland's Municipal Election.

Cieveland, Ohio, March 21.-The Republican and Democrat women of Cleveland are making a much more lively fight for votes in the approaching election than are the men. While the men have scarcely opened their headquarters, the women are at work in the wards in an unprecedented way.

It is the aristocratic women of Cieveland that are electioneering. Women who have mansions on Euclid avenue and carriages with blooded horses have abandoned them and trudge through the mud of the poorer wards to urge other women to take the management of the schools out of the hands of the

A SLUGGISH INACTIVE LIVER

Brings Biliousness, Indigestion and Most Painful Bodily Derangements-The Wonderful Curative Influence of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Not only is the liver the largest and one of the most important organs in the human body, but when deranged becomes the source of endless suffering. When the liver is clogged by the inactivity of the kidneys and bowels, it becomes torpid and fails to filter the bile from the blood, thus producing biliousness and a general impairment of the digestive system

The tongue is coated, the head aches, digestion is imperfect; there is aching of the limbs and back, feelings of fullness, weight and soreness over the stomach and liver; the eye becomes yellow and jaundiced, and the complexion muddy; the urine is scanty and highly colored, and the bowels irregular, constipation and looseness alternating. There is little use of treating the liver separately, as it can never be set right until the kidneys and bowels are made active by removing the waste matter from the body. It is for this very reason that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have always proved so wonderfully successful in curing the most chronic cases of liver com-plaint, biliousness and complicated ailments of the kidneys, liver and bow-

Mr. James Clark, Consecon, Prince Edward county, Ont., states: "Eleven years ago I was taken with pains in my back, settling in my hips and extending up my spine. The pain was very severe, and at times almost unendurable, and many days I was not able to do an hour's work. I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, which have done so much for me. I have recommended them to a number of my friends and have never met with one case where they did not meet with good success. My daughter, Mrs. Chas. #### The Royal Motor Cars.

[From the London Express.] It is a sign of the times that the King's motor cars are now as much a part of the royal establishment as his horses. Rumor has indeed credited his majesty with the possession of every kind of car, from the 70-horse power racer to the 5-horse power "runabout." As a matter of fact, the King's collection of motor cars consists of twolarge wagonette and another much smaller. Two others are now made, says the Court Journal, by the same English company which supplied the cars now used by his majesty. car on which the King makes such enjoyable trips to Windsor is of wagonette shape. This replaced the mail phaeton with which the King began, and which was given up on account of the unsatisfactory arrangement of the seating. The King was obliged to sit on the front seat by the side of the driver, and to converse over his shoulder with the occupants of the back seat-an inconvenience obviated in the present car, which seats five persons, the driver sitting in front. The large car, which seats sixteen persons and a driver, is used for carrying between Wolferton station

A new pleasure car, designed to carry sufficient petroleum for 150 miles, very smart; the body of the coach is painted in the royal colors, and the seats are luxuriously furnished in morocco leather, and so rounded as to afford the greatest amount of comfort to the six occupants. The other new car is much larger, and intended to carry luggage and servants. The power of these two new motors has been raised from twelve to twentytwo and a half horse power, not to increase the speed, but in order to maintain the same pace up hill as on the level. The King seems happily, exempt from the accidents which are the experience of every motorist. His two cars have been in constant use for over a year, and only one trifling mishap has occurred-the pleasure was obliged to stop on one occasion owing to a defective burner.

LONDON, ONTARIO

London, Friday, March 21. Hon. E. J. Davis on New Ontario.

During the recent session of the Ontario Legislature, many speeches have been made upon almost every matter that concerns the people of the Prov-Ince; but none, perhaps, have been more comprehensive that Hon. E. J. Davis' contribution to the Budget debate. In this speech, the Commissioner of Crown Lands refuted the attacks of the Opposition in connection with the policy of the Government concerning the development of New Ontario, and pointed out the many advantages derived by the people of Ontario as a result of the policy of the present Government. Mr. Davis has for sixteen years represented the constituency of North York, has had a brilliant career as Provinciai Secretary, and no better man could be found to fill the important position which he now holds, that of Commissioner of Crown Lands. His answer to the statement of Mr. Mathe-Hoyle (North Ontario), that the people criminal negligence for 30 years in the those who have followed the political history of the Province the disadvantages of the Conservative policy, and the unpatriotic stand taken by the Opposition upon so many matters of importance throughout the regime of the Liberal Administration.

Mr. Hoyle asks: "What were you doing that for 30 years no development has taken place in New Ontario, and it is only since Premier Ross assumed pig iron was obtainable a few years that responsible position that this ago, compelling the importation of a enormous development has taken large amount, 75 or 80 per cent of the place?"

part, as follows: "Let us look for a moment as to what we were doing, and what was going on in connection with that portion of the Province of Ontario which ly asserted that during the past two gives us so much pleasure and pride years there has been more ore and ore some of the gentlemen constituting the Government of the Province years ago the Government-were fighting to hold Northern Ontario, 100,000 square miles of it, for the people of this Province. What course were the honorable gentlemen opposite pursuing? Were they aiding in this struggle for the rights of this Province? Then, sir, after a number of years, the struggle resulted inducements to settlers in New Onin the taking of the case to the Privy tario, it need only be mentioned that Council of England, and the final and triumphant vindication of the rights of the Province to that territory. And when Sir Oliver Mowat returned from England after winning the suit of the Province, we remember the recelebration that took place and the public welcome that was given to him. (Applause.) You would think, sir, that would have settled the matter, but friends of the honorable gentlemen opposite, at Ottawa, who were in power and who were able to do a great deal to add to the prosperity of the Province and its future greatness, set themselves to work to take another attitude. What was that? They said, sir, that not one ounce of mineral or stick of timber could the Province have. They 'You have got the land; we are sorry for it; we fought you as hard as we could, and cannot help it bethe Privy Council decided against us. Still, sir, we are here to see that you do not have an ounce of mineral or a stick of timber in all that vast territory.' (Hear, hear.) Then the fight was renewed, sir, as the Government of the day could not sit down and accept decision quietly. The fight continued and several years more were occupied in deciding as to whether we would have the timber and minerals in the section referred to. Sir, is it any wonder that during the long period of years occupied in withstanding the Dominion Government in the matter we could make but little, if any, development or progress in that section of the country. * * * Mr. Speaker, that was not all we had to timber and the minerals was going on, what else happened? The Ottawa friends of the honorable gentlemen opposite, who were in power, not only claimed they owned the timber, but

In 1871 Muskoka Parry Sound, Nipissing and Algoma districts had a population of 15,728, and in 1901, notwithstanding all the difficulties, the population, as shown by the Dominion census, had grown to 145.577, and since these figures were taken there had been sufficient immigration to swell the population in excess of 150,000. The transportation and other facilities enjoyed at the present time, compared with those of a few years ago, is really wonderful. In 1881 there were in these districts only twelve miles of railway, and today there are 1,854 miles, divided as fol-

And there are other roads under construction. The Government has, in connection with an area opened up by the railway in the Rainy River district, another section in which we have from seven to nine billion feet of pine. Without pretending to go into statistics, there is in another place, in one large block, from three to five billion feet of pine, This is a sufficient answer to those who have advanced the contention for years that the pine is all gone. These railways have been a blessing to the Province at large, notwithstanding the fact that the opposition always antagonized these and other good measures in the interest of the people. The railroad made it possible to utilize a large quantity of the minerals, and whereas only 35 or 40 per cent of mineral for the manufacture of material required is being obtained To this, Hon. In the Rainy River district, taking the years intervening from that time until the present, the settlers in that new country have received off their lands a total of $141,404 24 in actual cash. This timber was taken off their lands in the ordinary process of clearing, and included railway ties, posts, telegraph poles, etc., in addition to this they received from their cordwood $62,500, making a total of $203,800. And what is going on in the Rainy River district is only an indication of what is going on in other parts of the Province. All these things are matters of importance and should be seriously considered by every man who has the interest of the

The Tariff-The Census.

The debate on the budget was the occasion of one of the ablest addresses delivered in the House of Commons for many years. Following Mr. Borden, the Conservative leader, Sir Richard Cartwright held the undivided attention of the House for over three hours. Though somewhat bothered with rheumatism, mentally the Minister of Trade and Commerce was as strong and alert as when a decade ago he championed the cause of Reform, and with his colleagues aided in overthrowing the Conservative party, who had been entrenched on the government benches for nearly a score of years. His speech dress-suits yesterday afternoon. was direct and forcible, and a masterpiece of cogent argument and illustration. Sir Richard is one of the older parliamentarians, with a public career dating far back, and a personal history coincident with the story of Canada since Confederation. Looking around him and seeing only here and there a confrere who had fought with him the early battles of the partyveterans of early political campaignsthe Minister of Trade and Commerce was naturally somewhat reminiscent. He recalled the days of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, and made copious status of the country in the past. Sir Richard opposed the idea of advancing the manufacturers' interests by the imposition of higher indirect taxes on the rest of the community. He believed in treating all alike. Tariffs were essentially ineffective as means of protecting the farmer. Tariffs may discriminate against him, but with a great deal more to sell than the home market will take, they can do him no material good. "If you are going to have protection," the speaker continued, "let it be thorough: let the farmer have protection on every bushel of grain he raises; let him have protection on every pound of bacon, every pound of butter, every pound of cheese, every horse, every cow, every hog that he brings to maturity. Has he not the right? Has he not as good a right as the manufacturer, the fisherman, the lumberman, the miner? * * * And therefore I say, if we are to have protection, by all means let it be thorough, and let us begin by introducing a proper scale of protection in the only way it can be given, namely, by giving a cash bounty to all our farmers for all they may be pleased to prolines of industry. But agriculturists a course from the Federal Government. The most consistent course based be watched. Mr. Ross' knowledge of on equity to all classes is a tariff sufficient to meet the demands of revenue. The Minister of Trade and Commerce went at length into an examination of the former census. He contended that one to fill. The best tribute to Mr. Canada had gained in population during the past five years as much as in fifteen years previous to the advent of the Liberal Government. He produced evidence in favor of his contention, that the census of 1891 had been him a patriarch. He is only 45 years stuffed. A reference was made to the of age. The lack of luxuriant hair on udicrous attempt of the former Conservative Government to inflate the 25,000 of these establishments were alleged to have come into existence. Sir Richard submitted figures to establish the claim that the increase of the last decade had been almost altogether in the last five years. Toronto's population according to the assessors in 1891 was 170,951. In 1896 it was 178,185, and in 1901 it was 205,887. A statement of vacant houses in the same city showed that whereas there had been 4,633 of these in 1894, there were but 676 today. Toronto is a typical example of progressive Canadian cities, and taking into consideration the fact that our rural population has also increased compared with the census of 1891, though not as rapidly as that of the Altogether, it was a very great

This writer certainly shows that Miss Crawford's poetry deserves more attention than it has received even from Canadians. We have pleasure in quoting the following beautiful songs taken from the most ambitious piece, "Malcolm's Katie":

O, Love builds on the azure sea,
And Love builds on the golden sand;
And Love builds on the rose-wing'd cloud,
And sometimes Love builds on the land.

Oh, if Love build on sparkling sea, And if Love build on golden strand, And if Love build on rosy cloud, To Love these are the solid land.

O, Love will build his lily walls, And Love his pearly roof will rear— On cloud or land, on mist or sea, Love's solid land is everywhere.

Hon. J. H. Ross, the Yukon Commissioner.

After a series of commissioners in four years it is no disparagement to his predecessors to say that Hon. J. H. Ross, who is now in Ottawa, is the most popular commissioner Yukon has had. He was a "husky" Westerner accustomed to run smooth, and his opinion is that the "smooth" individual is the one most to men, his Scotch shrewdness, his good humor and straightforward character all stand him in good stead in a difficult post, for the post of Yukon commissioner is certainly a very difficult Ross is found, perhaps, in the general opinion of the Yukon colony which has wintered in Ottawa-"he gets along" and, "he's all right." #### A Distinguished Neighbor.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.] Four years ago last January the accident took place in the city hall at London which resulted in the loss of nearly a score of lives and produced a feeling of deep horror throughout the country. The day, after the reader of American newspapers which came into Woodstock were given a thrilling account of the disaster from the pen of Cy Warman, a man whose name was a household word with many as a writer of magazine articles and as a poet cities, it must be conceded that the of no mean order. The question was Minister of Trade and Commerce made asked how Mr. Warman happened to out a strong argument in favor of his be in London at the time, and readers of his work in Ontario learned with considerable astonishment that some years he had been a resident of that city. He is still living there, looking after the education of his family, thoroughly appreciating the advan tages that life on Canadian soil brings, and continuing his literary work with out expecting that he be made a literary lion. In the current number of the Canadian Magazine is published a short article on his career, which will be read with interest by those in this part of the world who have appreciated what he has written, but most of whom have doubtless been unaware that he was such a near neighbor of theirs. Mr. Warman was the discoverer of a new field in literature that offered by the life of the railroad. Those who have read his stories have come to from actual experience, for he served for a time as a fireman and then engineer on a western road, leaving it ver. He was one of the many discoveries of the late Charles A. Dana, of the New York Sun. Eugene Field was another, and he and Warman were the greatest of friends. Shortly before Field's death, that gentle poet paid a poetical tribute to Mr. Dana, one of the verses of which is as follows:

'He's big o' heart and big o' brain, And he's been good unto us twain, Eh, Cy? says I love him, and I pray God give Him many, many years to live; Choked up, says I; Amen! savs Cv.

Mr. Dana lived but a short time after that, and Mr. Field himself followed him in a few months. That the last of the trio may long be spared to delight the reading public and to enjoy his Canadian citizenship will be the wish

SMALLPOX CASE DEVELOPS AT HAMILTON

The Patient a Recent Arrival From Winnipeg-Two More Cases in the Latter City.

Hamilton, March 21.-News was given out vesterday that there was a case of smallpox in the home of Mrs. Mc-Millan, 154 Grant avenue. The victim is George Whiteman, of Winnipeg, who arrived here from the latter city on March 1 to visit his sister. Whiteman is 33 years of age, married, and has a family living in Winnipeg. It is thought he contracted the disease on the train. He is a very sick man and will not be removed from the house at present. All the inmates of the house have been vaccinated and the premises are under quarantine. Health Commissioner Greene, of Buffalo, has notified the local medical health officer that Wm. Wilson, who left here on March 3 for Buffalo, was down with smallpox in that city. Wilson was visiting his sister, Miss Wilson, 87 Aurora street, since Christmas, and there is no trace of smallpox there, nor has there been a case in this city since winter began. It is presumed Wilson contracted the disease after leaving Hamilton. Two more smallpox c'ases developed at Winnipeg on Wednesday. Both are of a mild type.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cure Him.

Chesley, Ont., March 17.-John Fletcher, a farmer of this place, has been a sufferer from Lumbago and Kidney Trouble, which the best physicians failed to cure, or even relieve. He is a farmer, and during last harvest he was particularly troubled, so much so as to make his duties during this busy time almost impossible. Dodd's Kidney Pills came to his relief, however, and he has been well ever since. He tells everybody:

"I was troubled all harvest Lumbago and Kidney Trouble. My urine was of a very red color. The best medical men could do nothing for me. Finally I got some Dodd's Kidney Pills in Granton, and they proved to be just what I needed. "In a very short time my back was as well as ever, and the Kidney Dis-

Attend Reunion.

Came From All Over Ontario Honor Their Principal.

Evening Was Spent in the Enjoyment of Addresses, Music and Refreshments.

The Y. M. C. A. building was crowded last night by the hundreds of pupils and ex-pupils of the Forest City Business College, who came from Toronto, Hamilton, Woodstock and other surrounding places. The success of the reunion was an eloquent testimony to every part of the Dominion, from British Columbia to New Brunswick, as So Mr. Chamberlain Informs well as to the republic to the south. The programme of the evening was opened by Mayor Beck, who extended Rosch, a hearty welcome to the ex-students of the college. He said that a business college had placed him on a firm footing, and that to it he ascribed in no small degree whatever success he had had. His worship said that warm wel-comes would never be lacking in London, as he had never seen a more hospitable body of people than those of this city. Every young person of ambition should receive such training as Mr. Westervelt gives. Mr. J. W. Westervelt, jun., formerly a teacher in the college here, but now holding a high position in another college of the federation, was greeted with applause when he rose to reply to the address of welcome. He felt that the business college training guided a great many young people to success, and in some cases to fame. The ex-pupils in attendance were a fair representation of the school's product. In starting the college the principal was repeatedly informed that his venture would meet with disaster, but the result has been unqualified success. F. C. B. C. students, he concluded, were always sought after by business men now. Mr. J. W. Westervelt, sen., the honored principal, was heartily welcomed. He thanked the mayor for so gener-ously consenting to preside, and also thanked the committees for working so said, who could share fully with him his joy at seeing so many old faces again. Mr. Westervelt believed everyone could win if they made up their minds, and told the students that once hopeful over the position of affairs in Mr. Fred J. Darch, one of the '85 class, spoke on behalf of the ex-students. It gave him much gratification, mated there were still 9,000 fighting he said, to be present at this re-union. He believed a business training to be WANT TWO THOUSAND AUSTRAL- essential to every young man's success. Diplomas were presented by Mr. C R. McCullough, of Hamilton, and Mr. W. Brooks, of Sarnia, to the following persons: Mr. Cunningham, Gertie Sifton, Ernest Buchanan, Mary Moore, Helena Bogart, Jessie McEwen, Robert Thornton, Fred Bricklin, Miss Jarvis, and Katherine Fortner.

The next number on the programme was the presentation of medals for ment work, shorthand department and Underwood touch typewriting. Mrs. Adam Beck, D. Hoskins, C.A., and Rev. A. T. Sowerby presented the respective medals, which were won by Mr. Colon Marshall, Miss Maud L. Jarvis and Miss Pearl Moore.

Mrs. Alice Calder Stock and Mr. R. Albert Brown contributed to the vocal numbers of the evening. Both were appreciatively received. The Elite Mandolin Club furnished several enjoyable numbers. After the programme, a reception was held in the college rooms for the purpose of allowing old schoolmates to eet and chat over old times. Refreshments were served, and a promenade march was given, the music being furnished by Creswell's orchestra. Among the invited guests were:

Mr. Blain Tries to Answer Sir Richard.

Able Address by Mr. Morrison, Member for British Columbia.

Mr. Charlton Reiterates His Views on Reciprocal Trade—The Chairmen of the Senate Committees.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, March 20 .- The budget debate was continued this afternoon and tonight by Mr. Blain, of Peel, Mr. Morrison, of New Westminster, and Mr. Charlton, of North Norfolk. Mr. Blain set before him the difficult task of answering the virile arguments of the minister of trade and commerce. It was an onerous undertaking and he strained beneath it. He was widely ambitious in his subjects. They were neither too heavy or too numerous to daunt him. He ranged from the cost and authenticity of the year book to the tariff as a whole, and ouched upon the intermediate topics of the census, the workings of the Intercolonial Railway. British preference and the transportation question. He was at his best in his peroration, because he then appeared sincerest. Like Archie Campbell in his speech upon the address, he praised his leader, and his address concluded in a blaze of warm words for Mr. Borden, for whom he predicted an early trip to the other side of the house to be the prime minister of Canada.

JUNIUS WAS THERE.

From eulogy, the members passed to a quotation from Junius, who was brought into the debate by Mr. Morrison, a young lawyer from British Columbia. Junius said that when the people are obedient to the laws, prosperous in their industries, united at home and respected abroad, their government must be composed of men of experience, ability and virtue. From the present-day condition of the Canadian people and their affair, Mr. Morrison led up to the conclusion that the Liberal administration comprises men of knowledge, safety and good business principles. Using his classical quotation as a text, Mr. Morrison said that the people's prosperity in their industries, as shown by the list of surpluses given out by the finance minister, and the immense income from mines, forests, fisheries and farms. proved that there has been a PROPER BUSINESS HANDLING of the country's affairs, in the period of their power. He said that no argu-ment was required to show that the people are obedient to their laws; the settlement of the Manitoba school question was the best evidence of their unity; and the respect for Canada entertained abroad was shown by many expressions of opinion, read from the leading organs of public opinion in England. But Mr. Morrison is not satisfied with things as they are. He believes that the peculiar position of the province in the far west demands SPECIAL TARIFF TREATMENT. The people of British Columbia pay

he says that they have grievances which existed under the old Conservative regime just as they do today. he let this be known so that the opposition could take no consolation out of any criticism he made of the of any criticism he made of the tariff as it is applicable to British Columbia.

The demands that he made upon the government were to rearrange the taxes upon LUMBER, LEAD AND LABOR. The first two are purely provincial matters; the last, while especially a British Columbia question, is broadly national. The contention that Mr. Morrison hammered home again and again, towards the end of his speech. was that the government should unquestionably accept the recommendations of the commission appointed to examine this evil so as to avert the imminent menacing danger of "the in-vasion of the Oriental horde"—the Chinese and Japanese laborers, who are threatening the labor market of the Pacific Province. MR. CHARLTON'S IDEAS.

ory-some of the incidents which led up to the adoption of protection as the policy of the Conservatives, its effect upon Canadian trade, the workings of the treaty of reciprocity with the United States, and the results of its abrogation. He followed this with a thoroughly characteristic speech, in which he advocated absolute autonomy in all matters affecting the country's prosperity. He said that he was STRAIGHTLY OPPOSED TO MR.

BORDEN'S STAND upon the question of reciprocity with the States, as there never was a time when Canada would prosper more than now under the beneficent influence of a treaty of reciprocity. Mr. Charlton's speech was, in fact, an amplified iteration of the one he made earlier in the session upon his motion to secure reciprocity in natural products; or otherwise adopt retaliatory, or, at least, protective measures. SENATE COMMITTEES. The senate committees organized to-

A Physicians Testimony For Labatt's Stout.

ALEXANDRIA, DEC., 20th. 1901. Speaking from personal experience I can state that your Stout is excellent in building up the system—I was very much run down and was advised to use Labatt's Porter—this I have done for some time and I largely attribute to its effects my steady improvement in strength and weight. I deem it but justice to you, and it certainly is a pleasure to me, to add my testimony to its sterling qualities, and I gladly recommend your Stout as an excellent tonic and food in cases where such is required. ### THE GARDEN OF ALL AUSTRALIA

Great Farming Region Only Recently Discovered.

Was Known Eight Years Ago As a Grazing Land - Government Regulating Settlement.

One of the most productive agricultural regions in Australia was unknown as adapted for cultivation until within the past few years. The socalled Darling Downs, west of the coast thriving condition. range, about 120 miles inland from Brisbane, the capital of Queensland, have been devoted to agriculture only for about eight years. All Australia was surprised, early in the last decade of the nineteenth century, to learn that the soil of the Darling Downs is very rich. The harvests gathered there since that discovery have invariably been abundant and the Darling Downs have received the name of "the Garden of Australia." They deserve it. Sheep farmers from the neighborhood of Sydney first occupied the Darling Downs. They needed wider pastures for their fast-growing flocks and so pushed northward into what is now Queensland in search of new grazing an explorer and man of science, found Pandora's Pass, a convenient passage through the tangled ranges and discovered new grazing lands to the north. Year by year he followed up his success with journeys further and further north till in 1827 he found the noble pasturage of the Darling Downs. He was the first white man to see this splendid region. It has been transformed in less than eight years from a wilderness into sheep pastures and is now being cut up into farms. The Darling Downs, named after an early Australian governor, are surrounded on the north, east and south sides by high mountains; the outlook to the west is over the thirsty desert.

The Downs, therefore, were not easy to reach in the early days, but when to reach in the early days, but when the early days are the early days. bor Gazette writes as follows in the once attained, transportation was a bor Gazette writes as follows in the March issue:

The condition existing among the workers in this city has varied but little since January. Indoor and railroad workers are busy, and indications for the coming season for outdoor workers are of the best.

Brass workers are all busy and report trade good.

To ceach in the early days, but when once attained, transportation was a simple matter, for they were found to stretch away for scores of miles, almost as level in many parts as an Illinois prairie. A visitor to the town of Toowoomba, on the railroad from Brisbane, which crosses the Downs, may climb the mountains of Craig's range near the town and see a spectacle of grand plains stretching westward as port trade good.

Not a few of those early ranchers or "squatters," as they are called in Australia, have made a great deal of money in the past few years by selling farms, the land which they obtained for a song.

The squatters were not long in learning that the Darling Downs were good for something else beside stock-raising. Their business, however, was the growing of cattle, sheep, and horses, and they did not want farmers among them, though they knew very well that the plain was a great farming country. They spread the report that the soil was poor and would grow nothing but grass. They were responsible for the erroneous opinion, so long held in Australia, that the Downs were good for nothing except pasturage. Finally the truth came out. It began to be noised about that the greater part of the soil in the Downs was composed of disintegrated volcanic rock that was very rich in plant food. It is well known that soil formed of decomposed lava is naturally rich. The feraverage depth of four feet, and in some places there is as much as 60 feet of hich humus.

The squatters thought they might get rich suddenly, and soon the prices they placed on their lands were almost prohibitive. The Queensland Parliament, in 1894, sanctioned the repurchase by the government of large areas for the purpose of selling land to farmers. From that year the agricultural development of the district properly dates; and the Downs in the few years that have since elapsed have begun to take on quite a different as-

The druggist on the next corner charges 10 cents for a dozen twograin capsules of quinine. The one in the middle of the block charges 7 ents. Both are "cut rate" houses. Now, let's see. An ounce of quinine costs the dealer 31 cents. Each ounce contains 480 grains, sufficient for 240 two-grain capsules, or 20 dozen, sold over the counter for $1 40 to $2. Capsules cost 20 cents a pound, and there are enough in a pound to contain many ounces of quinine. The quinine the druggist sells for $2 costs him (capsules included), 32 cents. He is making, therefore, a profit of over 500 per cent on what is actually a housenold necessity.

> "Speed is Born With the Foal," Argues an Expert—Horses Are Old at Ten Years Now.

Charles W. Williams, who bred, drove and sold Axtell, 2:12, the $105,000 sensation of years ago, argues that "speed is born with the foal." He refused large sums for Allerton, 2:09¼, the other stallion he bred, developed and raced, and at 16 Allerton has 93 in the 2:30 list, with numerous others ready to be added this year. In Williams' day champion-maker trainers had advanced methods and every possible means of making rare speed. Williams broke Axtell and Allerton as yearlings and really began on them when following their dams. They made no trouble falling into line like older horses. As a two-year-old Axtell took a record of 2:23 against "time" in the west, and Allerton one of about 2:40. Hiram Woodruff had to work patiently with him, and after Budd Doble took him to train he had many anxious moments. Dexter remained high strung to the end, and was averse to strangers. Gradually he was spurted on the stretches, and from then till he returned to public life his progress was rapid. St. Julien was entirely remodeled under Hickok's patient training, and finding he could be trusted now in company he was billed to appear at Oakland. President Grant, on his tour of the world, was to be a guest that day and occupied a seat in the judges' stand, watch in hand, timing the events. Hickok was pleased to see that all of St. Julien's former rank-
