Brindisi in order to escape the censor: weeks ago he declared everything was prepared for war. But until the beginning of the fighting no preparations were made to resist a possible invasion of Thessaly. A few trenches were dug in front of Larissa, and one or two earthworks were erected. But ten days ago (the date the dispatch eft Athens is not given) not a spade had been used to erect batteries or arthworks to defend the exits of the half-dozen passes leading to the Thessalian plains. All the preparations made were to invade Macedonia, but even those were HOPELESSLY INADEQUATE. A military expert who made a tour of the centers where serious preparations might have been expected, says that in one arsenal, commanded by a colonel of artillery, there were less than fifty cases of shells, and only one field and one mountain battery. The arsenal for supplying ammunition to the army in Thessaly had only a reserve of twelve that their motto remained "Annexahundred rounds of shells and a few hundred cases of cartridges. FACE TO FACE. Athens, May 4 .- No news of the expected battle has been received at this hour. The entire Greek and Turkish armies are drawn up in line of battle near Pharsalos, and an engagement is momentarily expected. The Cabinet remained in council from midnight on Sunday until after 7 o'clock yesterday morning. It is evident that the crisis approaches. The Greek Government has recalled Col. Vassos from Crete. He will be replaced in command of the Greek orces in the island by Col. Staikos.

The Greek troops, according to Con stantinople advices, are evacuating It is officially reiterated that the re ports of Turkish reverses at Velesting are unfounded.

In spite of the talk of peace, the Brindisi in order to escape the censor:

THE SECRET of the Red Bird's phenomenal success as a bicycle lies in the fact that it is the most carefully constructed bicycle sold in Canada to-day. The best skilled mechanics and choicest materials are employed in its construction.

By no means the least important feature of a bicycle are the bearings. Red Bird bearings are so constructed that they are absolutely dust proof. As a result of their perfect construction Red Birds are wonderfully easy running, stand hard wear without end, and scarcely ever require repairs.

The balls of the bearings are kept in place by ball-retaining washers, which are very

The front wheel bearings are all ground out perfectly true before being pressed into hub, and are afterwards submitted to a thorough test.

Unlike most wheels, each wheel is trued on its own bearings, not temporary ones used just for fitting them up.

easily removed should it be necessary to take out balls. This only becomes necessary in case of accident, however, for each bearing has a double dust proof cap that proves a most effective preventive to dust or grit. The dust cap on left side of front wheel also acts as a cone adjuster. This renders the adjusting of the bearings exceedingly easy. By loosening one nut the bearings can be adjusted with the fingers, which, in addition to being a much more sensitive means of adjustment, does away with the necessity of carrying an extra kit of tools or calling in shop to be doctored just because the bearings do not get properly oiled. In case it is desired to remove front wheel from forks, two wrenches are not necessary, as with other bicycles, for the cone pin is prevented from turning by a dowel in

The rear wheel is similar to the front wheel in being absolutely dust proof and very easily adjusted. More spokes and larger balls are used, however, as the greater strain comes on the rear wheel.

Throughout every part of the Red Bird, modern mechanical skill and great care in construction is evident. The most modern of bottom brackets, the strongest pedals, the stiffest frames, all go to make the perfect Red Bird. A post card will bring our handsome '97 Catalogue.

Taxes on Luxuries and Necessities.

If, as The Advertiser of Friday stated, the change of duty on tobacco tends to increase the price of that luxury, it cannot be denied that the prosof life will enable dealers to sell them at reduced prices. There is a reduction of some 30 per cent in the duty on bar iron, and a wholesale merchant informs us that the abolition of the specific tax on various classes of drygoods will be of decided advantage to the Canadian consumer. He supplies A memorandum of a bill of goods from Great Britain imported since the new tariff was passed, and notes the effect of the duties charged on them. These calculations have taken into account, 4t must be remembered, the difference in favor of goods imported from Britain, on which there is a reduction of duty of one-eighth as compared with United States or other foreign goods:

I then tried - and -, but she continued to grow worse. My physician said she was in consumption and could not live: she was like a skeleton; cried night and day, and was so thin that I was afraid to lift her. I deferred using Mellin's Food as my experience with the others made me think they were all alike. From the first feeding of Mellin's Food there was an improvement; she was then 2 months old and a skeleton, now she is 42 months old and as fat and rosy a baby as one would care to see. As a friend remarked: "It is a pleasure to look at her." I wish every mother would use Mellin's Food.

Progress of the Movement to Erect a Jubilee Hospital.

Good Meetings Held in South London and Ward Four.

The Services of Prominent Citizens En listed in the Work.

At Knox Church the meeting of residents of South London interested in the new hospital was presided over by Rev. J. G. Stuart. Dr. J. D. Wilson and Mr. W. H. Bartram outlined the work of the jubilee committee, and a discussion followed, in which Messrs. J. D. Kilgour, Alexander, T. Brenton, Thompson, Rev. Richard Hobbs and Archdeacon Davis took part. The concord of sympathy with the movement augured well for its success. All thought the hospital a necessity, and the means of commemorating the jubilee year most fitting. The work of organizing the ward was referred to a committee compos-ed of the following representatives from the four churches in South London: Messrs. Wall, D. Campbell, T. Brenton and Booker, Mesdames White, Yarker and Weld, and Miss

Cosford. Mrs. Yarker was appointed convener, and the committee given power to add to their number to any extent. They will apportion the ward as they see fit, and make a systematic canvass. The fact that unless the citizens subscribe now, they will in the course

THE MEETING IN WARD FOUR. A meeting of the citizens of No. 4 project was held at the Collegiate Institute last evening. Among the prominent workers present were: Dr. Niven (chairman of the ward), W. T. Strong, Canon Dann, W. H. Morgan, M. Hanson, Principal Merchant, Geo. Craddock, S. H. Craig, Mrs. (Dr.) Niven and Mrs. Geo. Craddock.

After an informal discussion arious means of interesting the itizens resident in the ward, Mr. W. Strong suggested that the voters' ist be taken and several of the promi ent citizens in each block in the ward e asked to look after the lists in their

Canon Dann went further and suggested that a number of representative men be asked to look over the ground. The influential men should first be asked for their subscriptions. It was a mistake to prematurely circulate lists in an indiscriminate was being done in some cases. It was then decided to ask the following gentlemen resident in the ward systematic canvass: E. J. Mrs. Smallman was presented with a handsome bouquet of roses, tied with blue ribbon, and an address, in which the club attested their appreciation of her efforts. The address was read by Mrs. E. N. English, and the flowers presented by Mrs. J. H. Marshall. Mrs. Smallman replied in feeling terms, thanking them heartily for their kindness. An address was delivered by Mrs. Boomer. She indorsed the Victorian Order of Nurses scheme, and said the club also supported it. Mrs. Boomer said that a large fund was being provided at home for a luxuriant hospital, but there were in the outlying and remote districts many hundreds who were without any means of medical treatment whatsoever. This should be borne in mind, and donators should give dollar for dollar to this great and philanthropic movement. Mr. Beattie, M.P., was the only gentleman present. He delivered an which he referred to the address, in which he referred to the circular sent out to the members of hundreds here, knowing me for the Parliament by the Countess of Aberparliament by the Countess of Aberquesting them to forward the cure of long standing Kidney Trouble."
