WILSON TO REFUSE ENEMY'S PROPOSALS

SPANISH INFLUENZA IS SWEEPING THE CONTINENT

WILSON'S ANSWER TO BE A FLAT REFUSAL OF TEUTONIC PLEA FOR AN EARLY PEACE

Reply to Maximilian's Note For An Armistice Will Be Put on Cables Some Time This Afternoon---Decision Was Reached by Woodrow Wilson and Advisers After Some Hours' Consultation.

MAY BE ON CABLES NOW.

Washington, Oct. 8.—President Wilson's reply to the German and Austrian request for an armistice and peace negotiations probably will be dispatched before night, if it is not already on the cables.

After being called into conference by the president, with Col. House and Secretary of State Lansing, the president's secretary, Mr. Tumulty, announced today that Mr. Lansing would see the newspaper correspondents at 4 o'clock and "probably would have something for them."

The president had spent the entire morning in his study, and was believed to be putting in final shape a document upon which he worked nearly all day yesterday.

None of those in the president's confidence would give an intimation of his decision, but when the conference was over there was no change in the confident belief throughout official circles that an armistice would be flatly refused and the central powers informed that unequivocal acceptance of conditions laid down by the United States and the Allies must precede any meeting of peace plenipotentiaries.

INFLUENZA BEYOND CONTROL IN MONTREAL; ALL PUBLIC GATHERINGS ARE PROHIBITED

Epidemic Has Spread Over the Entire American Continent Despite Health Officials' Most Drastic Measures—50,000 Cases in the South, 20,000 More in Ohio.

Montreal, Oct. 8.—Fully advised as to the seriousness of the influenza epidemic in Montreal, the administrative commission and the municipal board of health yesterday discussed precautionary measures, and last night the following notice, over the signature of Dr. S. Boucher, medical officer of health, was issued:

"Public notice is hereby given that, until further orders, all places of public gathering, such as schools, theatres, church, moving picture theatres, are to remain closed."

50,000 CASES IN SOUTH.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 8.—Spanish influenza has spread throughout the south, despite the drastic action of health officials. Unofficial reports from a score of larger cities in the south show more than 50,000 cases reported among the civilian populations, while hardly a single army camp has escaped. The mild weather has made the disease less fatal than in the east, and the death rate is comparatively small.

In an effort to check the disease, churches, saloons, theatres and other places of public gathering have been closed in almost every city of any size in the south.

25,000 IN OHIO.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 8.—The epidemic of Spanish influenza is increasing rapidly in Ohio and a total of 25,000 cases and many deaths had been reported to the state department of health today. This morning 500 new cases were reported, 250 of them from Sidney. To date the epidemic has fastened itself upon 98 communities of the state.

Camp Sheridan reported 104 deaths for the 24-hour period ending at 3 p.m. yesterday.

Concert halls and all other meeting halls, as well as places where the public may gather, socially or otherwise, shall be closed under the penalty provided by law.

WOULD REJECT TWO OF WILSON'S POINTS

Lokal Anzieger Objects to the Separation of Alsace-Lorraine.

Copenhagen, Oct. 8.—The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin says that two of President Wilson's points must be considered rejected—the separation of Alsace-Lorraine from Germany and the incorporation in independent Poland of Prussian Poland.

GOMPERS DENOUNCES THE TEUTONIC PEACE MOVE

President of American Federation Would Have Nothing To Do With Proposals.

Rome, Oct. 8.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, here with a delegation of American labor leaders, strongly denounces the recent peace move of the central powers, saying that the new German manoeuvre seems to weaken the unity of the democratic nations and lessen their fighting spirit. He said:

"The Austro-German and Turkish military system should be beaten. The security of labor and the people requires that the central powers shall capitulate and their military menace be broken."

CANUCKS WIPED OUT SOME OF KAISER'S CRACK FIGHTING UNITS

Currie's Troops Continue Success Before Cambrai.

FOE BURNING SUPPLIES

Germans Will Have But One Line of Defence Left On Present Front.

With the Canadian Forces, Oct. 7.—(By J. F. B. Livesay, Canadian Press correspondent.)—Troops from the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and four western provinces, as well as former Canadian mounted riflemen, are holding our line north of Cambrai with men of the imperial troops on our left. This line is in parts improvised, and the men are objects of much harassing enemy fire. Looking down on Cambrai from St. Olle fires can be seen burning, but there is nothing to indicate that a systematic attempt has been made by the enemy to destroy the city. It is much more likely that he is burning his dumps and heavy plants that he cannot move out preparatory to his evacuating the city. The prisoners captured confirm the impression that he lost tremendously in the terrible struggle of last week, when his massed infantry formations, seeking to push against us along the ravines, were exposed to the point blank fire of our artillery and riflemen. So severe was his punishment, they state, that some of his divisions are wiped out and in no condition to push in another assault for the possession of the high ground and Bourlon Wood. The logic of the situation is that unless he can do this Cambrai becomes increasingly difficult for him to hold. If lost he would have still Lille, Valenciennes and Hirson lines, which are possibly his last lines of defence on this front.

KAISER'S DREAM OF EASTERN GREATNESS IS NOW SHATTERED

A Few Days' March and Allies Reach the Bagdad Railroad.

Paris, Oct. 8.—Announcement of the landing of French naval forces at Beirut is enthusiastically received by the republic, which is gratified that the French fleet has a share in the magnificent achievements of Gen. Allenby, the Matin says:

"With the fall of Beirut the principal Austro-Turkish base in Syria collapses. The Franco-British troops have but to march a few days to reach the Bagdad railroad and break Germany's dreams of eastern greatness.

"The landing seems to be an operation distinct from the land movement which brought about the fall of Damascus. The official report indicates that this bold stroke of the French naval forces will have a great effect on Constantinople, where it will throw confusion into the ruling element which is seeking to belittle the advance of Gen. Allenby's men. In addition, it will have a great moral and political significance. Syria has for many years been a sphere of French influence. The territory through which the Franco-British troops are advancing was conceded to us by treaties concluded between the Entente nations, made public a few weeks ago. The landing of our troops at the principal port in that region is the first realization of the agreement."

WOMEN MAY BE ELIGIBLE TO MINISTRY

Methodists To Consider Decision of Conference Committee.

EXPECT LIVELY DEBATE

Man To Be Appointed To Succeed Rev. Dr. Briggs.

Hamilton, Oct. 8.—Women will be made eligible for admission to the ministry of the Methodist church as well as given the franchise in all the courts of the church, if the general conference indorses the decision arrived at this morning by the committee on memorials, to whom the matter had been referred.

When the report of the committee is received by the conference, it is anticipated that a lively debate will be precipitated, especially in view of the fact that the proposed changes are of a more radical nature than had been expected.

The committee also decided to report in favor of the creation of a department of finance for the church.

Members of the conference are already beginning to speculate on who will be chosen to succeed Rev. Dr. Briggs in the office of book steward of the church.

INFLUENZA CAUSES A POSTPONEMENT OF W. C. T. U. CONVENTIONS

Epidemic in Eastern States Causes Indefinite Delay.

New York, Oct. 8.—Four Women's Christian Temperance Union state conventions in the east have been postponed indefinitely because of the Spanish influenza epidemic, it was announced here today by Mrs. Ella A. Bole, president of the New York State association. The four conventions were to have been held at Binghamton, N.Y., Leominister, Mass., Laconia, New Hampshire and Rockland, Me.

ITALIANS CRY FOR VICTORY FIRST AND THEN NEGOTIATION

Rome, Oct. 7.—"We must have adequate victory. Any kind of negotiation is now more than ever inadmissible." The words of President Wilson immediately after the rejection of the Austrian peace proposal, as reprinted by the Epoca in large type as summarizing the attitude of Italians towards the new peace movement.

The Epoca adds that President Wilson answered in September the present new trap concocted by the enemy. The whole press says that the request for an armistice is an acknowledgment of defeat by the central empires, but that the Allies must prevent the enemy from thereby escaping the consequences of his acts. The Journal Italia says:

"Austria seeks to cheat Italian national aspirations by simply returning to the status quo, which means a permanent irreconcilable conflict between Italy and Austria as long as the latter keeps under her rule territories inhabited by Italians."

Chief of German Staff Tries To Justify Prolonged Retreat.

London, Oct. 7.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg has resigned as chief of the German general staff, after a heated interview with the emperor, in which the field marshal declared that a retreat on a large scale was impossible to avoid, according to a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam today.

FATHERLAND PARTY TO RESIST PEACE OFFER TO LIMIT

Resolutions Passed at Meeting Protest Against Maximilian's Offer.

London, Oct. 8.—The Fatherland partly in Germany, after the meeting of the Reichstag on Saturday, held a meeting and passed resolutions to resist by every possible means the peace offer of Prince Maximilian, the new Imperial chancellor, according to a Zurich dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Why We Celebrated

"Why did you celebrate?" you ask, there wasn't any peace,
The rifles still are popping, and the big guns didn't cease;
Bill hasn't yet cried "Peccavi!" his moustache sticks up straight,
What was that stunt you folks pulled off, why did you celebrate?

Now listen, pal, we'll tell you why we went and whooped 'er up,
It was because old kaiser Bill, that puffed-up Potsdam pup,
Has realized at last that he can't lick the whole creation,
And when he told the Allies that, we had a celebration!

BRITISH AND AMERICAN FORCES OPEN ATTACK IN ST. QUENTIN-CAMBRAI AREA

Prisoners Are Captured and Ground Gained in Successful Operations Commenced at Daybreak Today---French Units Have Reached Conde-sur-Suippe in Advance in the Rheims Region.

London, Oct. 8.—English and American troops attacked this morning on the front between St. Quentin and Cambrai, Field Marshal Haig announced today.

Satisfactory progress is being made, the field marshal states.

In successful local operations near Montbrehain and Beaurevoir, on this front, yesterday more than 230 prisoners were taken. Today's attack was launched just before daybreak during a heavy rain, which began last night.

The text of the statement reads:

"Successful local operations were carried out yesterday in the neighborhood of Montbrehain and north of Beaurevoir, in which American and English troops captured over 230 prisoners.

"Shortly before dawn this morning British and American troops attacked between St. Quentin and Cambrai. In spite of a heavy rain, which commenced last night and is still continuing, the first reports indicate that satisfactory progress is being made."

FRENCH REACH CONDE-SUR-SUIPPE.

Paris, Oct. 8.—Northeast and north of Rheims the French continued their successful advance. The war office announcement today says that French troops have reached the outskirts of Conde-sur-Suippe, at the junction of the Suippe and the Aisne northeast of Berry-aue-Bac.

Along the Suippe River the French have penetrated into Istes-sur-Suippe and to the west have captured Bazancourt.

The statement reads:

"During the night there were artillery duels in the region north of St. Quentin.

"On the Suippe front we reached the outskirts of Conde-sur-Suippe, penetrated into Istes-sur-Suippe and captured Bazancourt in spite of very violent counter-attacks by the enemy, whose resistance was in vain."

VIOLENT COUNTER-ATTACKS BY GERMANS ALONG THE SUIPPE RIVER

With the French Army in France, Monday, Oct. 7.—German forces have turned at bay on the bank of the Suippe River and have been counter-attacking with desperate energy all day. To prevent the French crossing the river they have attacked on the line between Pont Givart and Berry-au-Bac, throwing large units into action on the centre of this front.

If the French succeed in establishing themselves on the north bank of the Aisne in this region they will immediately turn the German line on the Suippe and also the next enemy position on the Retourne.

Therefore, the Germans have attempted to keep the French south of the Aisne. In spite of the vigor of the enemy's resistance, the Aisne has been crossed at Berry-au-Bac, the whole village on the north bank of the river being in the hands of the French, who also have made some progress beyond it. The Germans have also been fighting fiercely along the Arnes.

ENEMY POSITIONS IMPERILED FROM AILETTE TO THE MEUSE

New York, Oct. 8.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following:

Crossing the Aisne at Berry-au-Bac, the French have brought new peril to the whole German line in the Laonnais and Champagne sectors in France. This advance by Gen. Berthelot's men seems to be a stroke which may be considered in future as the first step in the final operation designed to hurl the Germans out of the positions they have held for so long from the Ailette River to the Meuse.

If the French are able to debouch from Berry-au-Bac and obtain a bridgehead on the north side of the Aisne, the German forces still clinging to the Chemin-des-Dames, along the ridge north of the Aisne further west, will be compelled to fall back rapidly. At the same time, the Germans retreating before Gen. Gouraud's army further to the east will find that the Aisne, their apparent objective in the present retirement, is not a refuge. It may, on the other hand, be but a trap for the shattered forces now streaming back from the Py, Arnes and Upper Aisne.

Gen. Berthelot's wedge has penerated faster than was expected by the lay world, wrested the hills northwest of Rheims from the enemy, swiftly swept the enemy back to the Suippe River, and then, seemingly at a single bound, reached the Aisne and crossed it at a vital point. It seems to be the most successful blow struck at the enemy during the past week of fighting.

IN THE CHAMPAGNE.

In the Champagne sector, Gen. Gouraud's French and American troops are closely following the enemy, who is retreating in the direction of the Retourne River. The success of the French further west will probably hasten this retrograde movement by the Germans, who appear to be in a serious condition.

From the Argonne Forest to the Meuse, the American army has again struck at the German positions before the Kriemhilde line, and a great battle seems to be impending there. This sector is most important to the Germans, as a defeat there would send them back in the direction of Sedan, through which runs the great trunk railway line which connects the Germans as far west as Laon with Germany. The Americans have brought up their heavy artillery, and there is every evidence that a terrific struggle is to be expected on this front. On the

HUN AGENTS BLAMED FOR EXPLOSIONS

Letter Signed by "Heine" Has Suspicious Aspect.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Evidence tending to show that the explosion in the T. A. Gillespie shell-loading plant at Morgan, N. J., last week, was caused by enemy agents, has been discovered by Government operatives in a letter predicting the explosion on Friday night signed "Heinie," and addressed to a man in Sonora, Mex.

Agents of the department are investigating, but they are inclined to question the genuineness of the letter, which was picked up in the railroad station of a New Jersey town.

SAYS NEW MINISTRY WILL NOT BOW TO HUMILIATING PEACE

Dr. Bernhard Dernberg Declares Germany Will Stand to the End.

Amsterdam, Oct. 8.—Germany's new Ministry is one of national defence as well as of peace, and is prepared for a stand to the end against a humiliating peace, Dr. Bernhard Dernberg, former German minister of the colonies, declares in a statement, according to Berlin advices.

FRENCH FLYER IS REPORTED MISSING

Lieut. Roland Garros Believed To Have Fallen In Sunday's Battle.

Paris, Oct. 8.—Lieut. Roland G. Garros, who was reported missing yesterday in advices from the front, is believed to have fallen during an aerial battle on Saturday. He went out with a patrol on Saturday morning and became engaged in a fight with an enemy flying squadron. Exactly what happened is unknown, but two of his comrades saw a machine fall to earth out of control, and believe it was Garros. On Friday Garros brought down a German plane in a masterly manner.

RAINBOW QUILT, WORK OF CHILDREN, WILL ADORN EDITH CAVELL WARD

Gift of Love to Sick Soldiers Fashioned From Squares Knitted by Girls and Boys.

The Edith Cavell ward at the Byron Sanatorium for Tuberculous Soldiers boasts a new quilt. It is a quilt which has been a labor and gift of love.

Some time ago the children of Grade 2, Ryerson School, Miss Watson, teacher, decided to make a quilt for some patriotic object. This was to be fashioned from knitted squares 6x6 inches, each knitter to choose his or her own favorite color. That accounts for the cheerful, rainbow appearance. Boys and girls set to work with a will, some bringing in blocks in solid colors, others attempting stripes and designs. When enough blocks had been received to make a good, big, long, comfortable quilt, a good friend of Grade 2 children sewed the squares together. The next question to decide was where to send the quilt. The young people were strong for the soldiers, and particularly the sick soldiers, so it was agreed to the sick soldiers it should go.

Down in the Byron Sanatorium for Tuberculous Soldiers, quite a time ago, a fine ward was furnished by the Women Teachers' Guild of the city in memory of Edith Cavell. This is how it came about that the Edith Cavell ward inherited the rainbow quilt.

Dr. Kibbe, superintendent of the sanatorium, was notified concerning the gift late on Monday afternoon, and today he sent for it, sending along a letter of thanks that filled the second grade knitters with joy.

Last spring, pupils of Grade 4 of the Ryerson School, of which Miss Hay is the teacher, donated a number of records for the sanatorium phonograph. The opprtunity was seized of sending the records along with the quilt today.

WILL ENGAGE IN MISSION WORK AMONG MEXICANS

Rev. J. Stewart, who has been supplying the pulpit at the Christian Workers' Church during the last year, preached his farewell sermons Sunday. Mr. Stewart has decided to leave for California to take charge of a mission at Santa Barbara. It is his intention to take up gospel work among the Spanish-speaking Mexicans as soon as the opportunity arises.

Prior to coming to this city Mr. Stewart spent nine years as a missionary. Associated with him in his work, besides Mrs. Stewart, was Miss A. Batchelor, who will also accompany him to California. Miss Batchelor intends going at once into the work among the Mexicans of southern California.

After the departure of Rev. G. A. MacKenzie from the Christian Workers' Church, who, after several years' successful work there, resigned last year to take charge of a church in Stratford, Mr. Stewart was asked to supply the pulpit for a few Sundays. This arrangement was continued until the present.

At the services on Sunday a special collection was taken up and presented to him at the close of the evening service. Expressing his regret at leaving the work in the city, he thought that it was his duty, however, to accept the call that had come from California.

The members of the congregation assured him that it was with sorrow that his resignation had been accepted, and expressed the hope that his work in the west would be successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart with their family and Miss Batchelor will leave for California on Thursday evening.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM BACKACHE?

When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions: your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer.

The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system.

MAKE ALL LONDON SPICK AND SPAN

Fire Chief Calls People to Clean-Up Week.

Tomorrow London's clean-up work will be launched. Fire Chief John Aitken has been working hard to get clean-up work organized, and he stated today that he believed it would be a success. The chief hopes to make tomorrow the big day and then employ the balance of the week in finishing up the job.

The assistance of all the school children in the city is to be asked. Aldermen and fire captains will visit the different schools and ask the aid of the pupils.

Ald. E. S. Holmes and Captain Tom Aitken will handle ward 1; Ald. W. Wilson and Captain J. Mitchell, ward 2; Ald. F. Watkins and Captain F. Taylor in ward 3, and Ald. H. E. Ashplant and Captain R. Haylock ward 4.

Chief Aitken urges all householders to clean up their basements, attics, clothes closets and yards. He hopes to see such a grist of stuff piled out for the garbage men to cart away that the system will be overwhelmed for a few days. The more the garbage men carry away the more successful will be the clean-up.

CHURCH OFFICIALS AT QUIET GAME OF CARDS VISITED BY CONSTABLES

Result Is They Pay Fines for Gambling.

Church treasurers and finance committees have their own troubles, but when the treasurer, secretary and the committee of two are arrested in the early morning hours, when they are having a quiet game of cards, while the Sabbath collection is still lying on the table after it was counted and promptly entered in the books, the climax is reached. This is what Israel Cohen, Moses Siskind, Samuel Segel and Henry Kalmson think, after paying $2 and costs each to Police Court Clerk John Moule of gambling Monday.

When the officers reached the house in the south end of the city where the game was going on at 1:30 o'clock in the morning, the men were indignant to think that they could be suspected of gambling. They had taken the church collection, as was their duty, and instead of staying at the church and entering it up, they had carried it to one of their homes, where the work was done, they said. After an hour of strenuous labor on the books, they decided to have a quiet game of cards to rest their brains. The money on the table was the collection, but not one admitted using it in the game. However, they pleaded guilty to the charge of gambling before Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon Monday and paid over the resulting fines.

ASHAMED AND SORRY THAT HUMBUGGING EXISTS IN CITY, SAYS CONTROLLER

Board of Control To Deal With Footbridge Matter.

The city council last night placed the matter of the Beatty foot bridge in the hands of the board of control, with power to act. In this way the council hopes to get action from the London Railway Commission.

The council was faced with a request from the commission that it approve of the new grade for Philip street, and also that it sign an agreement accepting all liability for damages that may result from the erection of the bridge.

The discussion which followed was lengthy and spirited. The London Railway Commission was severely raked over the coals.

Ald. O. G. Keene said that someone was trying to stop the bridge. Excuses were the only answers received when the commission was questioned as to the delay. He declared there was something wrong somewhere.

Ald. H. Winnett said that he understood that Beatty Bros. were about tired of the matter, and had stood about as much as they would.

Mayor Somerville said that he thought the city had practically lost the factory now.

Controller Merryfield said he was ashamed and sorry that such humbugging existed in the city.

ST. ANDREW'S FLOCK SAY FAREWELL TO PASTOR LEAVING ON OVERSEAS MISSION

Rev. D. C. and Mrs. MacGregor Presented With Gold.

MAKES WITTY ADDRESS

Minister Promises Not To Get In Clink and To Keep Crime Sheet Clean.

Members of St. Andrew's congregation last evening bade godspeed to their minister, Rev. D. C. MacGregor and Mrs. MacGregor, the former of whom is leaving in the near future for service as a chaplain overseas, and has been granted leave of absence from the church and presbytery until after the war. Mrs. MacGregor is completing a V. A. D. course with hopes of also being accepted to render overseas service and, in any case, is leaving London until her husband's return.

A token of goodwill and affection was presented to them in the form of a Sam Browne belt in the pocket of which was tucked $250.

Several days ago, the Ladies' Aid of the church announced they would arrange a social evening on Monday, October 7, to afford the members of St. Andrew's an opportunity of taking leave of Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor.

St. Andrew's Hall was made doubly inviting for the occasion, adorned with clusters of vivid salvia, a delightful program was provided, and refreshments served during the social hour at the close.

"Admiral" Will Be Missed.

A. S. MacGregor performed the duties of chairman in a most happy manner. The responsibility of making the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor devolved upon T. H. Purdom, K. C., who referred to St. Andrew's Church as a ship and Mr. MacGregor as the admiral, also to the manner in which the "Marian Keith Ship" will miss its chief officer, Mrs. MacGregor (Marian Keith). Expressing his heartfelt appreciation on behalf of himself and Mrs. MacGregor, Mr. MacGregor accepted the gift not only in a personal way, but because of the great assistance it will prove in more adequately ministering to the wants of the boys over there. He knew chaplains who used up all their personal allowance to meet needs that arose of the men whom they went to serve. The purse of gold was thus doubly appreciated.

His word to his people before leaving was "carry on." "Mr. Purdom has likened me to an admiral and to a general," he said. "The phrase which has come to us in this war is 'carry on.' When the captain drops, he calls 'Lieut. ——, carry on.' When the lieutenant falls out, he passes the order along to the sergeant. As one by one drops out, the order goes at last. 'Pte. —— carry on.'

Told To "Carry On."

"The initiative and resourcefulness developed by one after another taking up the challenge to 'carry on' had been one of the wonders of the war. And so my word to you is 'carry on,' and I feel assured that when Mrs. MacGregor and I return we will find St. Andrew's Church better organized and the activities more alive than when we went away."

Continuing, he declared that he was assured that wherever he went, the finest recommendation he could have would be to be able to say he was from St. Andrew's, London.

"The greatest comfort and inspiration, Mrs. MacGregor and I can have in our work for the boys, will be to feel that behind us we have the friendship, sympathy and prayers of the people of St. Andrew's."

Will Keep Out of Clink.

In conclusion, he stated, that he didn't know exactly when he would be going, but he imagined it would be soon. He had received a telephone message in the forenoon from Rev. Dr. A. S. Grant, chairman of the national service commission of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to the effect that he would be "on the force" on the 9th, Wednesday of this week. He didn't know exactly what being "on the force" involved. All he knew was that he had ordered his uniform. He would have to learn to salute. He understood there were a great many things that were crimes, once one got in uniform, that didn't matter at all in civilian life. He sincerely hoped he would be able to steer clear of "clink" for a time, at least, and that, for the sake of St. Andrew's, his crime sheet would be comparatively clean when he came back.

Chairman A. S. MacGregor remarked that it was the first time in all the history of sedate, conservative St. Andrew's Church, that a minister had ever been "strapped" by the congregation.

Most enjoyable solos were sung by Miss Anna Cochrill, Miss Martin and E. Webster; Mrs. Corda Ward-Buchner played a much-appreciated violin number, and Mrs. Gemmill gave a reading in Scotch dialect, which evoked demands for more. Mr. Wheeler was the accompanist.

The singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and the pronouncing of the benediction by Mr. MacGregor brought the evening to a close.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD A LIVELY RALLY AT EGERTON STREET

The rally of the Baptist Young People's Union, held last night in the Egerton Street Baptist Church, was a complete success. Every Baptist church in the city being well represented, these churches being Adelaide Street, Maitland Street, Talbot Street, Egerton Street and South London. A large delegation was on the scene from each, and the program provided was enjoyed by all. Presentation of the pennants won by South London and Adelaide Street Baptist churches, was made. The pennants were donated by the Baptists of Woodstock for the churches having the best sporting teams.

The officers elected for the coming year are: President, Miss G. Newbury; vice-president, Herman Schnideing; secretary, Miss Bessie Leach; treasurer, Miss Flossie Moore; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Short. After the business had been dealt with, the Maitland Street Church put on the model group plan, for the purpose of giving the younger members of the union an idea how the regular sessions are performed. Those taking part in this were all senior members of the union and understood their work perfectly. Maitland Street Church has the honor of having the largest number in attendance. C. H. Geer, former pastor of the Egerton Street Baptist Church, acted as chairman, and under his guidance the musical program was contributed. Miss May Blinkholm and Miss Bertha Wonch figuring largely in this. A request was made by the Western Ontario Bible Society, represented by the pastor, Rev. H. H. Bingham, that canvassers for the society be taken on, with the understanding that they would receive no pay for doing this work. In the past it has been the habit of the society to give the canvassers 15 per cent on their collections. This is to be done away with and a volunteer service operated in its place. On the request that someone make a motion to the effect that the church would back this movement, Miss Burtch responded, and the motion was seconded by a prominent member of the church.

Rev. J. R. Turnbull of Beverley Street Baptist Church, Toronto, was the principal speaker for the evening, and delivered an appealing speech on the "Personal Soul Winning." He impressed the congregation with the absolute essentiality of trying to help fellow men who are down and out. He also rendered a solo, which did much to introduce the point he had in view.

CARRY CAMPHOR KEEP OFF THE 'FLOO' IS DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Bag in Breast Pocket and One for Inhaling.

Dr. A. M. Fernandez de Ybarra of New York recommends the use of gum camphor as a preventive of influenza in a letter to the New York Herald, a clipping from which has been sent in to The Advertiser by a reader, as follows:

"In view of the prevalence and almost daily increase of Spanish influenza—and the qualification as such is appropriate because the epidemic was "made in Spain"— may I suggest a preventive remedy, easy to apply and inexpensive?

"Gum camphor—cinnamonum camphora—in two small bags of muslin carried about, one in the inside breast pocket of the coat and the other in one of the side pockets of the trousers or overcoat, will prevent catching the dreaded disease. The bag near the breast is to serve as a permanent disinfectant of the breathing air before it enters the lungs, and the other bag is to be taken out occasionally and applied to the nostrils.

This easy, agreeable and inexpensive preventive of several infectious diseases —gum camphor—was used by Cuban physicians many years ago when visiting patients afflicted with those diseases, and its disinfecting power in the mucous membrane of the nose, which is the entering door of many microscopic germs, may be scientifically explained.

CHIEF'S WIT DRAWS DEFENDANT'S COMEBACK

"I have a sick child and I could not get here any sooner," James Fountain explained to Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon when taken to task for not appearing at 10 o'clock.

Fountain was charged with not displaying his license number on a wagon.

"I had it in my pocket, and as it was a new wagon I had not put the license number on it yet, and just happened to strike the officer when I was driving up town for a few groceries," he explained.

Chief W. T. Williams jokingly suggested that the charge had better be changed to conform to the offence of striking an officer.

"I did not hit him very hard," replied Fountain, in the same vein.

"I will be lenient with you this time, and discharge you," said the magistrate.

NECESSARY TO DODGE TO ESCAPE WORK HERE

"There are very few men in the city of London out of employment at the present time." This statement was made by Harry Tutt, superintendent of the local branch of the Ontario Government Employment Bureau.

A great demand exists for men in nearly every line of business at the present time, according to the superintendent of the employment bureau.

PTE. JAMES WOUNDED FOR SECOND TIME

Pte. H. A. James has been wounded for the second time, according to the official information received by his mother, Mrs. A. James, R. R. No. 8, London.

Pte. James enlisted with the 71st Battalion, and went overseas with that unit in March, 1916. He was later transferred to the 10th Canadian Light Trench Motor Battery.

He was wounded for the first time one year ago, and recovered and went back to the lines some months ago.

INFLUENZA FAR IN LEAD

Few Cases of Other Disease in City of London.

Outside of Spanish influenza there is little other disease in the city. In the past week but 25 cases of communicable disease, other than influenza, were reported. In that time 242 cases of influenza were listed at the health institute.

Cases of venereal diseases lead in the list of 25, with 11 in all. Scarlet fever was second with 5 cases; sore throat, 4; diphtheria, 3, and typhoid and chickenpox, 1 each.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

DEATH OF MRS. DUVA.

Mrs. Duva, wife of Angelo Duva, a well-known resident of this city, died Sunday after an illness of only a short time. Mrs. Duva was 34 years of age, and besides her husband she is survived by two small children. The funeral will take place this morning from the undertaking parlors of Killingsworth & Stewart at 8:30 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, where a requiem high mass will be sung at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. CHALLAND.

The death occurred on Sunday night of Mrs. Eliza Challand at her late residence, 534 Van street, after a short illness. She was in her eighty-sixth year.

Mrs. Challand lived in London and its vicinity most of her life and was wonderfully bright and active for her years. Four daughters survive, Mrs. R. Poulton of Port Huron, Mich.; Mrs. L. Refior of 230 Ottaway avenue this city; Mrs. Charles Ferguson, 1185 King street this city, and Miss Edna at home. Two sisters and three brothers also survive.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 on Wednesday afternoon.

FUNERAL OF FRANK BISSETT

The funeral of Frank Bissett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bissett was held from the family residence Sunday afternoon at 2:30, the Rev. Mr. Wickett and the Rev. Mr. Ferguson officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, the pallbearers being Luther Bissett, Ira Bissett, Richard Creech, Mannie Jolliffe, Roy Jolliffe and Walter Dearing. Among the beautiful offerings was a pillow from the family; wreath from an uncle, aunt and cousins, and sprays from friends in the city and St. Thomas. Relatives present from out of town included Miss Jessie Creech, Wm. Creech, Thos. Bissett, Thos. Creech and Richard Creech.

LOCAL FIRM WINS IN SUIT OVER METAL

Three of the five cases which were entered for hearing at the non-jury sitting of the supreme court, which opened in the county court house on Monday, with Mr. Justice Lennox presiding, were disposed of.

The firm of Harris & Co. was given judgment for $2,275, with interest at 5 per cent from May, 1914, and the costs of the action, against H. J. Garson & Co. of Montreal. The local firm alleges that it lost this amount as a result of defendants' refusal to accept a carload of brass which had been previously sold to them by the plaintiffs. The Montreal firm claimed that it could not get the car at the specified time, and had to buy in the open market, and thus lost money.

In the case of Mrs. Amelia Ann Wilson against George Wilson for alimony an agreement was reached by the parties. Mrs. Wilson is to receive $12.50 per week from her husband, and he is also to pay the costs of the action.

An agreement was also reached by consent of the parties in the case of the Merchants Bank and Hodgins.

The case of Chapman and the Excelsior Life Insurance Company was transferred to Sarnia.

WAR VETERANS PLAN TO SECURE FUEL FOR SOLDIERS' FAMILIES

Dealers and Farmers To Be Asked To Assist.

MUST FILL OUT FORMS

Assistance To Be Given To Those Only in Need, Say Officials.

Mr. Automobile Owner, will you lend your car to the G. W. V. A. for half a day to assist them to secure fuel for the wives and widows of soldiers?

The local command of the Great War Veterans' Association has decided to do all in its power to secure fuel for the wives and widows of soldiers. Many wives and widows were in want of coal and wood last year to keep their homes heated and the G. W. V. A. wants to avoid a repetition of this trouble this winter if it is at all possible.

At a recent meeting of the G. W. V. A. a coal committee was elected to deal with the mater. The committee has lost no time and has already interviewed the mayor in the matter as well as a number of other civic authorities.

At a meeting of the coal committee held in the G.W.V.A. rooms Monday evening it was decided to interview every coal dealer in the city of London to find out what can be done for the wives and widows in need.

A special declaration form is being printed, and will be ready in a few days. This form must be signed by all widows and wives of soldiers before securing coal. In this way the coal will only reach those who are in need.

The widows and wives of men who served or are serving overseas must give their husband's regimental number, as well as the number of the battalion.

After Farmers Also.

The G. W. A. V. will appeal to the farmers for wood, and an automobile is needed to take the members of the coal committee to the farms nearby to see if it is possible to secure a supply of wood.

Any farmer who has a supply of wood he is willing to sell and at the same time help this good cause should communicate with the secretary of the local command of the G. W. V. A.

SCHOOL NURSES WILL ASSIST IN BATTLE TO DOWN SPANISH "FLU"

Board of Health Asked for Their Assistance.

The public school nurses will turn in after 4 o'clock each day and assist the health authorities in handling the Spanish influenza epidemic. The board of health asked that the nurses assist in this work, and No. 1 committee of the board of education this morning decided that the nurses should give all possible assistance in handling the situation.

Miss M. Pearson of Ealing School will be transferred to Chesley Avenue School and Mrs. J. Patterson will take her place. W. L. Morrow will teach manual training and Miss Cunningham domestic science at Chesley Avenue School.

The committee fixed the salary of Lieut. G. Wheable, principal of Empress Avenue School, at $1,400.

LADIES' BIBLE CLASS WILL FURNISH ROOM AT RONALD GRAY HOME

The first offer to furnish a room in the Ronald Gray Memorial Home for Children has come from the Young Ladies' Bible Class of New St. James' Presbyterian Sunday school. Ronald Gray was a member of St. James' Sunday school, and it is considered especially fitting that the first donation towards the equipment of the home should come from young people who knew the gallant young soldier personally. One hundred dollars is being placed by the Bible class at the disposal of the Salvation Army for this purpose. Owing to the fact that it has not been possible to get possession of the house as early as expected and to make the necessary alterations, the formal opening of the home will be postponed from October 28 until at least the middle of November.

PRESBYTERIAN MINISTERS 'FAREWELL' TWO PASTORS

The London Presbyterian Ministers' Club killed two birds with one stone in a luncheon held at noon today at Smallman & Ingram's. They "farewelled" Rev. D. C. MacGregor of St. Andrew's Church, who is leaving in the near future for service as an overseas chaplain, and Rev. W. J. Knox of the First Presbyterian Church, who leaves next week to give a six-weeks' course of lectures in Manitoba College on "Religious Education." At the same time, the club extended a welcome to five new recruits for the ranks of the Presbyterian ministers in London, Rev. G. S. Young of Chalmers Church; Rev. J. L. Laverie of Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church; Rev. John Elder of Chelsea Green; Rev. T. A. Symington of Knox Church, and Rev. John Currie of Knollwood Park. Rev. A. H. Drumm, who will supply the First Church pulpit in the absence of Mr. Knox was also welcomed in the "new-comer" list.

Rev. J. G. Stuart, as president of the club, performed in a happy manner, the duties of "master of ceremonies."

PTE. JOHN A. WHITWORTH WOUNDED SECOND TIME

Advertiser Illustrations

PTE. JOHN ALFRED WHITWORTH, who was wounded for the second time on September 28 and has been admitted to No. 32 Stationary at Wimereaux with gunshot wounds in the jaw. This information was received from Ottawa by his mother, Mrs. Annie Whitworth of 447 Charlotte street. Pte. Whitworth left for overseas with the 142nd Battalion. He has been in France a considerable time and was wounded at the battle of Vimy Ridge in April, 1917. Previous to enlisting he was employed by D. S Perrin & Co. Pte. Whitworth has a brother serving in France who left with the first contingent. His father, Pte. John E. Whitworth, also left with the 142nd Battalion.

CITY BREVITIES

LEE TUE SUES LEE LUNG.—Lee Tue is taking action in the county court to recover $589.37 from Lee Sam Lung of Stratford, being the amount alleged to be due the plaintiff.

SURGEONS TO ATTEND.—A number of the leading local surgeons will attend the annual convention of the American Surgical Association which meets in New York, commencing on Wednesday, Oct. 23.

DATE FOR ANNUAL MEETING. — Arrangements for the annual meeting of the board of the Protestant Orphans' Home were made at the monthly meeting held on Monday afternoon. This will take place on Monday, Oct. 21.

LONDON LADS WOUNDED.—In today's casualty list, D. Coughlin, No. 3030891, of this city, address not given, and G. A. McLaughlin, No. 654404, 92 Windsor avenue, are both listed as being "wounded."

MILITARY BELT FOUND.—In the exuberance of his joy someone lost a military belt among the large crowd that thronged the front of The Advertiser office on Sunday evening. It was picked up by the police and is now waiting an owner at the station.

EXPRESSES THANKS.—Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles, chairman of the Knights of Columbus campaign for army huts, expresses warm appreciation of the excellent work done by E. P. Keaney, treasurer, and Martin J. Donohue, secretary, in connection with the big drive for funds of a few weeks ago.

DANCE AT HOSPITAL.—Under the auspices of the Janey Canuck Chapter, I. O. D. E., an informal dance will be given in the recreation hall at the hospital for insane on Wednesday evening. An excellent program of dance music has been prepared. The proceeds will be devoted to patriotic purposes.

RAISED $62.—A very successful sale of home made baking and fancy work was held by the Simcoe Street Mothers' Club in the kindergarten on Friday, the sum of $62 being realized. The success of the sale was attributed largely to Mrs. Datyon, convener. Mrs. W. Campbell, president, and Mrs. J. Mitchell, secretary.

PTE. YOUNG WOUNDED.—Mrs. W. E. Potts of 903 Colborne street has been officially notified that her nephew, Pte. Elmer R. Young, was admitted to No. 18 General Hospital, France, on September 29, suffering from a gunshot wound in the right leg. Pte. Young enlisted with No. 3 Stationary Hospital. After reaching France from Lemnos Island he transferred to the Canadian Light Horse, in command of Col. Ibbotson Leonard.

BURNED BY MOLTEN METAL.—William H. O'Rourke, 24 Thornton avenue, is confined to his home suffering from most severe burns about the head and body sustained when he was splashed by molten metal while at work as a molder at McClary's. In places, it is said, the metal burned through the flesh to the bone. In places where it went through his clothes, the flesh is badly burned. When the metal flew on him, Mr. O'Rourke had the presence of mind to close his eyes. It is said that this fact alone saved his sight. His hair and eyebrows are all burned off.

ONE VOLUNTEER TAKEN ON.—H. T. Galbraith, a native of Canada, was the only volunteer examined by the medical board at the local mobilization centre on Monday. He was placed in category C1 and attached to the Canadian Garrison Regiment. J. R. West of the United States was placed in category A2, and allowed to proceed to the Canadian Siberian expeditionary forces. L. W. Lucas was placed in the Canadian Garrison Regiment with C1 category. The two latter men were examined by the standing medical board for Military District No. 1. One defaulter and one absentee were also examined and placed in the W. O. R. with A2 category.

S. S. WORKERS TO MEET.—A large contingent of London Sunday school workers will attend the 53rd annual convention of the Ontario Sunday School Association, to be held October 22 to 25 in Massey Hall, Toronto. In the planning of this convention the idea in mind has been to make it effective as a contributing force in connection with the Sunday school's relation to "Canada's New Day." Among speakers of prominence secured are Miss Margaret Slattery of Boston, a well-known Sunday school expert; Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon, Toronto; Mrs. M. J. Baldwin, Chicago, superintendent of the International Sunday School Association; Preston G. Orwig, Philadelphia, and Rev. Dr. Henry Dickie, Chatham.

ST. JAMES'S A. Y. P. A. MEETS.—At the regular meeting of the St. James's Anglican Church branch of the A. Y. P. A., held in the Sunday school rooms on Monday evening, the Right Rev. Bishop Williams and R. E. Davis, both of whom were present at the General Synod held in Toronto recently, spoke on the revision of the Prayer Book, and of the excellent addresses and sermons heard at the synod. Bishop Williams gave an interesting talk on the history of the General Synod and its formation, and outlined the work done by it in past years. Mr. Davis also spoke on the revision of the Prayer Book, pointing out the great part Bishop Williams had played in the passing of the revision. R. H. Franks, president of the association, presided at the meeting, which was very well attended. Miss Eula Kennedy and Miss Alice Rousom rendered solos during the evening. Two delegates are being sent from this church to attend the Dominion convention of the A. Y. P. A. to be held in Woodstock on Wednesday. Rev. Leslie Armitage, the rector, will also attend the convention

PUBLISHERS' APPEAL TO BE HEARD BEFORE THE COMMISSIONER

Ottawa, Oct. 8. — Commissioner Pringle will hold a sitting on Thursday afternoon to hear a motion to be made on behalf of the publishers relating to the retroactive feature of the recent order issued by the commissioner fixing a new price for newsprint as from July 1. It is understood that an appeal from the commissioner's orders will be taken to the paper appeal board by the manufacturers of newsprint, as well as by the publishers.

VIOLENCE OF DREAD INFLUENZA ABATING SOMEWHAT IN CITY

Pneumonia Infection Has Seemingly Been Conquered.

GARGLING IS GENERAL

Advertiser Helping To Educate People, Declares Local Doctor.

The Spanish influenza epidemic appears to be abating in violence, either this, or patients are taking more precautions to prevent the devlopment of the dread secondary infection which spells pneumonia. Of forty-five new cases reported to the board of health since yesterday, not one had developed pneumonia, though some have bronchitis. Further, the doctors state that at present they have no cases requiring nurses to be supplied by the board of health. Several have remarked that they would have been exceedingly glad last week of such assistance in looking after some of their patients.

Educating the Public.

"The Advertiser has been educating the public," said one doctor today, "and, after the good advice given yesterday concerning washing of hands, gargling and so on, a bulletin from the board of health doesn't seem to be necessary."

"I bought lemons right away after reading The Advertiser Monday afternoon," said a woman subscriber, "and I gargled with the lemon solution as soon as I got into the house. I made all my family gargle, too, before they had anything to eat."

A doctor who has reported a large number of influenza cases is responsible for the statement that the clear, bright weather is the finest ally of the medical profession in ridding the city of the epidemic.

"If this continues," he said, "and the people exercise precautions, we should be out of the woods in a couple of weeks more."

Grocer, Family and All Staff.

The contagiousness of the present epidemic known as the "Spanish floo" is illustrated in the case of the family and employees of a certain grocer in town. He is in bed himself, seriously ill. All the members of the family are down with the malady, the clerk, and even the delivery man, away sick.

A man has been secured to keep the store business running until the owner and his staff come back.

Reuben Higgs Knocked Down and Trampled by Beast.

Reuben Higgs, a farmer of Ailsa Craig, was badly gored by a cow yesterday while driving her to the pasture field. The cow was in front of him, and he was driving her along the path to the pasture, when she suddenly turned and rushed at him, knocking him down and trampling him slightly. Not being badly hurt, he picked himself from the ground and was about to resume the driving when the cow rushed him again. This time she knocked him down leaving her hoofmarks imprinted on his hands, legs and body. When rescued by his sons he was weak and partly unconscious. He was carried to the house and the doctor called. The cow had gone so wild she had to be killed, and, according to the veterinary called, she was in a crazed state. What the cause could be is not known.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

STEPHEN SNIDER BURIED.

Stephen Snider, who was accidentally killed in this city on Saturday, was buried this afternoon from the residence of his mother, 550 Horton street, at 2:30 o'clock to the Mount Pleasant Cemetery, where interment was made at 3. The services were in charge of the Sons of England, of which Mr. Snider was an active member, and were largely attended by friends.

FUNERAL OF MRS. COPELAND.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Copeland, who died suddenly Friday evening at her late residence, 555 English street, took place this afternoon from the above address to the Woodland Cemetery, where interment was made at 3 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Pescott of the Dundas Centre Methodist Church, of which Mrs. Copeland was a valued member during her residence in this city. The pallbearers were George Wood, Allen King, Elias Langford, Frederick Seelhoff, William Fitzsimmons and Thomas Emmington.

Mrs. Copeland was the second daughter of Ann and Christopher Irvin, a widely-known farmer of Wellington County. Her death was due to acute pneumonia. She had not been feeling well for some months, but was in no worse than her usual health when death came. She had resided in Guelph for many years and came to this city in 1906, where she has since resided. She was a lifelong member of the Methodist Church and was a very active member up until just recently. She was of sterling character and loved by many friends. She is survived by her husband and four sons—Christie L. and John F. of Winnipeg, Oscar of this city and Pte. Harold E. of the 70th Battalion (overseas). Three brothers and two sisters also survive in the persons of Christopher, James and Mrs. Edwin of the West, Archie of Fergus, Ont., and Mrs. (Dr.) Gibson of Hillsbury.

FUNERAL OF MRS. PARROTT.

The funeral of Mrs. Robert Baker Parrott, who died at her home at Byron on Friday, took place Monday afternoon to the English Church at Byron, where services were conducted by Rev. Durnsford of Hyde Park, after which interment was made in the Woodland Cemetery. The services were attended by a large number of friends and relatives as Mrs. Parrott was well known about that vicinity.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM DOYLE.

The funeral of William Doyle, who died at his home, 91 Wharncliffe road, on October 5, took place Monday from that address to the Lambeth Cemetery, where interment was made. The services which were largely attended were conducted by Rev. H. H. Bingham of the Talbot Street Baptist Church assisted by Rev. B. L. Hutton of the Askin Street Methodist Church.

Remains Go To Windsor.

The remains of Adolph Loeffler were forwarded to Windsor this morning on the 9:22 Grand Trunk train from the undertaking parlors of George E. Logan. Mr. Loeffler died in this city yesterday and will be buried in Windsor on Wednesday. His son, Henry Loeffler, accompanied the remains to Windsor.

Interred at Mount Pleasant.

The funeral of William Kitto took place this morning to the Mount Pleasant Cemetery at 11 o'clock. Mr. Kitto was well known about this city, and the services, which were conducted by Rev. B. L. Hutton, were attended by many.

BEAN CROP DAMAGED.—The bean crop in the county of Middlesex has been greatly damaged by the cool and damp weather. The beans have not had a chance to ripen, and it is believed that a large supply will be let go to waste on the vines. The bean crop is not heavy in this district this year.

The Largest Apple Grown In London

All the big apples are not grown in the country. Probably the largest of the season can be found inside the city limits of London on a tree in the garden of A. Steels, 1037 Waterloo street. It is of the West River variety, and the juiciest-looking pippin to be found in a day's travels. It weighs almost nineteen ounces, and is 15⅜ inches in circumference. Mr. Steels has given the apple to The Advertiser for exhibition.

MOTHER'S CLUBS DECLARE WAR ON SPEEDERS; ASK COUNCIL TO TAKE ACTION

Police Will Be Asked To Enforce Speed Limit — Lives of Children Menaced by Drivers.

"The mothers of the city are up in arms at the unlawful speed at which autos are driven in the city," declared Mrs. Alex. Calder, addressing the city council last night as spokeswoman for the Union of Mothers' Clubs of the city. She said she represented 1,025 mothers. Mrs. Calder thought the mothers might be referred to by some as "fussy old maids." They could hardly be "old maids" or they would not be members of mothers' clubs, and they could not be called "fussy" or they would not have stood for the speeding as long as they had.

"The pavements of the city are speedways and a menace to the lives of our children," she declared. She pointed to the fact that in one week four dogs were killed near her home on Talbot street. "They might have been four children," said Mrs. Calder.

She urged that the city procure motorcycles and use plain clothes officers, and these along with the good magistrate with which the city is blessed, and a $50 fine, the speeding would not last long.

Ald. Wilson was ready with a motion by the time Mrs. Calder was through talking. He wanted the speed limited to ten miles an hour on Dundas and Richmond streets, and the fifteen-mile limit enforced elsewhere in the city.

Ald. Keene said it was foolish to ask a man to drive ten miles an hour in an auto. It would be better to keep cars off the streets altogether. There was also a question as to whether or not the statute would allow for a ten-mile-an-hour bylaw, and the special committee dealing with the traffic regulations will go into the matter. In the meantime the police will be asked to check up the speeders and enforce the fifteen-mile limit.

Do You Live On Advertiser Avenue?

In the last three weeks
And one day,
Four hundred and seventy-four
London families
Decided to subscribe for The London Advertiser,
And became new members
Of The Advertiser's big family.
Most of these people
Were attracted to the paper
Because there was Something about it
They had learned to like.
They bought it from Hustling newsboys
For a few days.
Then they signed up.
It is safe to say that
Most of them are with us
For life.
Because Advertiser readers
Have a habit of Sticking.
If all The Advertiser families
Were lined up on
A great avenue,
With each family given
Only a frontage of Fifty feet,
Do you realize that
Advertiser avenue
Would extend for a distance
Of 426 miles?
Such a chain of readers
Makes it possible
To provide a good newspaper
For the best city in Canada.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN FORCES ATTACK

western side of this battle line the Americans captured Chatel Chehery, as well as important German positions to the east of the village.

British forces have attacked the German lines northwest of Douai and have gained ground near that city, which is reported to be in flames. This sector is just north of the front where the "switch line" from Queant to Drocourt was broken three weeks ago.

FRENCH REPEL ATTACKS.

Around St. Quentin there has been savage fighting, the French being called upon to repel repeated enemy counter-attacks. All of these, with the exception of those near Tilloy Farm, have been repulsed. In local operations in this sector the French have improved their positions.

Vigorous fighting has occurred in the mountain sector of the Italian front, but nothing approaching a general engagement has been reported.

In Albania the Italians are advancing rapidly after the Austrians, who appear to be in full flight before them.

French naval units have entered the harbor of Beirut, Syria, a port through which supplies may easily be transported to the allied armies which are operating in the vicinity of Damascus.

VETERANS PROTEST GRANTING LICENSE TO GERMAN PAPER

Government's Action Receiving Strongest Condemnation.

The local command of the Great War Veterans' Association will protest against the license granted to Messrs. Rittinger & Motz of Kitchener by the undersecretary of state to publish their paper in German.

The members of the G. W. V. A. stand strongly together on this matter, and think that such a license should not be granted and all publications in German should be completely wiped out.

The executive committee of London's Own Comrade Club has also taken this matter up, and will deal with it in the same manner.

It is expected that a resolution protesting against this license will be forwarded to the undersecretary of state within a short time.

RUNAWAY HORSE HITS STREET CAR AND AUTO

A horse owned by the Imperial Blend Tea Company, attached to its delivery wagon, ran away about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, running wildly around the city until it crashed between a street car and a motor car owned by A. T. Taylor of the Western Electric Company.

The street, which was moving west on Dundas street, hit the wagon broadside and shoved both the horse and the wagon into the auto, which was standing beside the curb across from the store. The rear mudguard of the car was smashed. The crossbar on the wagon was broken off and the horse continued on its race down Dundas street. The traffic policeman at the "clock" corner stopped it. Tea and baking powder took a drop when the crash took place, and was scattered over the pavement. The driver was left at one of his customers some distance from the central part of the city.

GERMANS CONTINUE EVACUATION OF THE COAST OF BELGIUM

Telephone Lines Between the Frontier and Sea Are Being Removed.

Amsterdam, Oct. 8.—The evacuation by the Germans of the Belgian coast region is continuing, the frontier correspondent of the Telegraaf reports. The telephone lines between the frontier and the coast were being taken down yesterday and today.

The stores of material at Knokke, near the coast, five miles from the Dutch border, have been set on fire, the reports state, and many factories have been undermined in preparation for their quick destruction.

As part of the occupying troops would have to choose between capture and flight when the evacuation occurs, the correspondent points out, instructions have been given them, he says, to escape to Holland in civilian clothes, with the object of evading imprisonment and subsequently returning to Germany.

DEATHS AT HAMILTON.

Hamilton, Oct. 8.—Four more deaths, including two soldiers at the military hospital, were recorded here today from Spanish influenza, while 20 additional cases from private homes were reported to the health department.

SIMPLE WAY TO TAKE OFF FAT

There can be nothing simpler than taking a convenient little tablet four times each day until your weight is reduced to normal. That's all—just purchase a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets from your druggist (or if you prefer, send 75c to Marmola Company, 864 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.), and follow directions. No dieting, no exercise. Eat what you want—be as lazy as you like, and keep on getting slimmer. And the best part of Marmola Prescription Tablets is their harmlessness. This is your absolute safeguard.

GAVE UP FURLOUGH TO SEE ALLIES IN BERLIN

Advertiser Illustrations

Receiving his second wound, after being in the trenches for over two years, Pte. Arthur Stratfold has been admitted to the 55th general hospital at Boulogne, according to word received by his sister, Mrs. J. H. Waud, 71 Sterling street. He was wounded in the leg on September 29. Enlisting with the 70th Battalion, Pte. Stratfold went over in the spring of 1917 and was wounded in the shoulder in February of the next year. This laid him up for four months and he was given the chance of returning to Canada at the time, but refused. He said he wanted to see the thing through to Berlin.

Previous to going over he was an instructor in this city for some time. He was employed by Thomas H. Sumner, druggist, prior to enlisting.

CO-OPERATED IN RAIDS

Enemy Military Bases and Works Bombed On Many Occasions.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The following report of work done by the British Air Force has been received by the director of public information:

In spite of the frequent bad weather during the past week, British airmen maintained practically continuous patrolling along the battlefront day and night. An immense number of reconnaissance and bombing flights were undertaken, and the enemy attacked at vital positions in the rear. Some 300 tons of bombs were dropped on German railway and military organizations between the coast and the Somme. More than a third of these were dropped between sunset and dawn, shattering the enemy's night transport of troops and material.

Aerial Photographs.

To show the scale of reconnaissance work in connection with the simultaneous British offensive we learned that 8,102 aerial photographs were taken.

Many of these were obtained far behind the fighting zone. Heavy air battles took place and were uniformly successful from our point of view since against 109 machines reported missing, 154 enemies were destroyed, 76 were driven down and 31 kite balloons shot down on fire.

On the coast, besides many raids on the enemy's military and naval bases, the airmen co-operated with the Belgian army in its advance, heavily bombing the railway junctions of Cortemarck, Thorout and other places during the battle and vigorously attacking German troop trains, both with bombs and machine gun fire. The R. A. F. independent force worked in conjunction with the 1st American Army and kept up a successful offensive against the German railway communications south of Luxemburg.

Senator Jones Will Try and Show Many Shady Dealings.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Charges that the United States Brewers' Association and individual members have secretly financed newspapers in the interest of the liquor traffic, contributed to the national German-American Alliance, been convicted of corrupt political practices and improperly influenced state and national legislation were renewed in a memorandum filed today by Senator Jones of Washington, Republican, with the Senate judiciary subcommittee investigating loans by brewers to Arthur Brisbane in connection with the latter's purchase of the Washington Times.

Senator Jones, author of the resolution adopted by the Senate and under which the sub-committee is acting, presented his memorandum for the purpose of contending that the inquiry is unlimited in scope and not, as has been suggested, confined alone to the Washington Times.

"The resolution was drawn—and purposely so," Senator Jones' statement declared, "so that any committee acting under it would have ample authority to follow any lead that might be developed, and that it might deem desirable to follow by subpoenaing documents or individuals to appear before it in person or otherwise, in order that the full truth or falsity of these charges may be established."

Every charge made, he declared, will be fully supported by documents of Alien Property Custodian Palmer and the department of justice.

VETERANS' BAND WILL TOUR UNITED STATES FOR THE LIBERTY LOAN

At a meeting of the Great War Veterans' band held in the G. W. V. A. rooms, 242 Queen's avenue, Monday evening, it was decided to accept the invitation to tour the United States to aid the Liberty Loan campaign to be launched in the United States shortly.

It is expected that a contract will be signed in a few days.

Twenty members of the band will go on this trip through the United States.

BANK GETS JUDGMENT AGAINST THE GOOTSONS

Judgment was given in the sum of $4,379.19 by Mr. Justice Lennox at the supreme court this morning against the defendants in the case of the Merchants Bank against Gootson. The defendants asked for an adjournment of the case, as Mrs. Rosie Gootson was unable to be present on account of sickness. The action was taken against Rosie Gootson, who was in business under the name of the London Waste Company, and Maurice Gootson, to recover the amount of notes. This finished the work of the supreme court at the non-jury sitting.

BETTER IF COUNCIL HAD ADOPTED CARD SYSTEM IN SUMMER

Opinion Expressed of Coal Distribution Proposal.

MANY HOMES FUELLESS

Advertiser Coupons Show Close to 500 People Cannot Get Supply.

"Too late! Too late!" is the greeting which the proposal of Ald. E. S. Holmes to put the city on a card system for regulating the distribution of coal, is receiving about the city. "Better late than never," declare some.

Fuel Controller McCallum hesitated to voice an opinion on the matter until after he talks it over with the committee. He did say that it would have been a great deal better had the council allowed him to put such a system in force earlier in the year, when permission had been asked to do so and was refused.

Regrets Council's Action.

Ald. Holmes says that he is sorry that the members of the council did not see eye to eye with the fuel controller earlier in the year. The situation as it exists today is that many homes have their full supply, some have a little, and a great number have none at all. He said that the serious aspect of the case, as he sees it, is the people with coal in their cellars are demanding more, and there is a poor outlook for the people with no coal at all.

Mayor Somerville says it will cost somethting to put a card system into force. It will mean at least another clerk.

Ten Cars Would Help.

Ald. Holmes' warning that many families will have to double up this winter is not taken seriously in all quarters, especially among the coal dealers. One dealer stated today that ten cars of coal would give every family in the city now without fuel enough coal to last them a month.

Ald. Holmes contends that the cutting of the city's supply by 17,000 tons means that the whole city will have only enough coal to last for 85 per cent of the winter, or else 2,500 of the some 13,000 families will have to go without coal.

The Advertiser's coupons still continue to pour in. This morning's mail brought 40, bringing the total close to the 500 mark.

The utilities commission has received two cars of buckwheat coal and another of soft coal, bringing its total stock of soft coal up to about 400 tons. This is being held for emergencies.

MILITARY NOTES

A sing-song for Carling Heights Camp will take place under the direction of Lieut. J. D. Jordan in the Y. M. C. A. tent on Wednesday, the 9th inst. All officers and men available will be in attendance.

A court of inquiry, consisting of Major J. R. Millard as president and Capt. John McLeay and Lieut. T. A. Loughrey as members, will assemble at the call of the president for the purpose of investigating the death of Pte. J. Blair, No. 1 District Hospital, Guelph.

The above court will also assemble to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Pte. H. L. Stanton, No. 1 District Depot.

The authorities at M. D. No. 1 are enlisting troops for the machine gun section, Siberian unit, artillery and tank battalion. They have been ordered by authorities in Ottawa to supply them with 50 machine gun men per month, for the purpose of reinforcing the machine gun sections now fighting. These machine gunners will be issued a special badge.

SOLDIER'S ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE FROM POLICE FRUSTRATED

Pte. Rensel Causes Some Excitement at Heights.

M. P.'S TOO SWIFT FOR HIM

Prospect of Front Line Service Makes This Draftee Desperate.

Pte. H. Rensel, a member of the 1st Battalion, C. G. R., Carling Heights, caused some real excitement among the camp military police Monday afternoon. He says he does not want to go to war, and as the military authorities see fit that he should remain in the service, he has been in camp training. Of late he has been committing offences which necessitated his going to "the clink."

After being in for some days, it was noticed he was getting pale. On being examined by the medical authorities he was found to be ill, and yesterday he was ordered to the isolation hospital, and while proceeding there, with an escort of two military police, he made his get away. This move was understood by the escort before he started to go, as he told them he would escape the first opportunity he had. He made good his boast by breaking from the two policemen, and making a fast run towards Central avenue. He made directly for the C. P. R. tracks, and then turned up Central avenue. The M. P.'s were much better runners, as they overtook him before he had gone far.

He still declares he will make good his threat any time he has the chance, and regardless of the fact that he was paraded before the commander of the C. G. R. in handcuffs, he is still repeating his declaration. According to men in charge of him, he would be much wiser if he stopped his pranks, as he is in category E, and it is thought he was recommended for discharge. As it is, he has made matters much worse for himself. When informed that he could be sent down for two or three years for this offence, he told his informant he would never go to jail, but would "beat it" first. Pte. Rensel has four offences on his crime sheet.

GRAINS.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Prospects of an unyielding answer to the German peace note tended today to bring about an upturn in the price of corn. Buying orders, however, came chiefly from the shorts. Trade was not large. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c to 1¾c higher, with November at $1 23@1 23⅝, and December at $1 22¼@1 22½, were followed by a slight reaction and then a moderate fresh advance.

Oats ascended with corn. Country offerings were small. After opening unchanged to ⅜c higher, the market continued to advance.

Winnipeg, Oct. 8.—Oats opened ½c higher for October at 81½@81⅝c, and ⅜c higher for December at 77⅜@77½.

Flax opened unchanged for October and ¼c lower for November.

PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Depression in hog values weakened provisions. Pork and ribs fell slightly.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 8—Wall Street, noon.—The further activity of shippings, the turnover being almost double that of any other issue, was the noteworthy feature of the forenoon. Marine preferred reacted almost 2 points on realizing sales, and oils also proved susceptible to profit-taking. United States Steel reflected substantial support, and early gains among war shares and allied specialties were only moderately impaired. Rails continued dull and irregular with utilities, American Telephone, however, making a further gain of 2 points. French Government fives rose to the year's high rfecord of 101½.

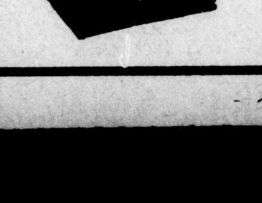

1:30 p.m.—United States Steel and many of the prominent war issues strengthened in the afternoon, a few showing gains of 1 to 2 points over yesterday's final quotations. Shippings continued to lead the movement on further accumulations of Marine preferred at higher levels.

VIENNA TAFFYS WILSON, SAYS GERMANY IS MADE OVER AND WILL BE GOOD

Semi-Official Statement Admits Considerable Change in Sentiment and Policy of Teutons—Declares Entente Group, Aside From Wilson, Are All for Conquest.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 7.—An elucidation of the peace offer of the central powers is published by the Vienna newspapers. The article, which is explained as emanating from "well-informed circles," reads as follows:

"It is first to be emphasized that this step by Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Germany is not to be regarded as a decision taken suddenly under the stress of military events. It constitutes, rather, in the history of our peace policy, the last link in the chain of a logical and continual evolution, regard being paid at the same time to the latest internal political developments in Germany.

"As is known, the point of departure of our peace policy was Baron Burian's note of December, 1916. The step then taken was of a very vague character. The conditions were not described, but only indicated in broad outlines.

"No Annexations" Next Step.

"In the course of the development the conditions have become crystallized. During February, March and April expressions regarding a general and just peace without annexations or compensation came into currency.

"Subsequently the idea of establishing an international court of arbitration and a reduction of armaments was discussed, and, further, the principle of freedom of the seas was proclaimed, and finally the principle was set forth that economic wars and economic oppression after the war must be prevented. Out of the guiding principles arose the present peace program.

"All these points, it will be recalled, were accepted by Count Czernin (former Austrian foreign minister), in speeches and interviews, as a suitable basis for peace negotiations, and finally received the approval also of the German Reichstag, so that uniformity in the conception of the allies (Teutons) thereby found expression.

Pope's Effort Next Step.

"Then followed the peace note of Pope Benedict, whose proposals and fundamental ideas were accepted by us as forming an acceptable basis. Only President Wilson in his note of January 8, 1918, in his fourteen points, made proposals and proclaimed principles which substantially accorded with the program of the central powers.

"Then Count Czernin and Count von Hertling described President Wilson's proposals, apart from a reserve regarding certain points, as a suitable basis for peace. The Austro-Hungarian delegations and also the German Reichstag have described their attitude toward the proposals in a similar manner. It should be noted also that it was always President Wilson who occupied himself with a concrete peace program, while the Entente adhered to its intentions of conquest.

"Then came Baron Burian's last proposal for a preliminary discussion by the belligerent powers.

Taffy for Mr. Wilson.

"The proposal was rejected by President Wilson, not, however, with the intention of cutting off peace discussions, because in his speech of September 27 he again reverted to it, and in an objective manner set forth the necessity of a just peace—a peace that would not be one-sided, but just to both sides, and thus fulfill the principle of high justice to all.

"At this moment of the proclamation for equal justice for all parties, it became clear that it was possible in this manner to come near to attaining peace, because the principle of elimination of any one-sided preference provides for the solution of a group of difficult questions.

"In the consideration of the further circumstance that owing to the internal political change in Germany certain difficulties were cleared out of the way, it became clear that uniform decision of the central powers regarding peace could be effected.

Say Germany Is Reformed.

"On this day of the new German Government's entering office we are in a position to undertake a step which reaches as far back as the beginning of 1917. This step was not born of the events of the moment, but continually had won its way through in the course of a natural development.

"In the circumstances we expect our step will lead to rapprochements and discussion. At the same time, in expressing this hope we do not know how the Entente and President Wilson will view this step. It is, however, politically justified on the ground alone that President Wilson represents sole power and is not politically bound to the Entente.

"In a formal manner it is also pointed out that our step is not to be interpreted as a request for mediation. This is out of the question, as only a neutral could act as mediator. We approach President Wilson, because the points formulated by him represent a basis on which we could negotiate.

No Imperialistic Policy.

"Our step will assuredly be regarded generally as one of great historic moment. In the note it is expressed with full clearness that the much-caluminated central powers are pursuing no imperialistic policy, and, moreover their conditions are in full accord with their program of defence.

"Should our proposal not be accepted, then our opponents will have to undertake full responsibility. The note is presented separately, because the allies (Teutonic) are represented in America by protecting states—we by Sweden, Germany by Switzerland.

"The note at this moment has already been handed to the American ministers at Stockholm and Berne."

The Burian note of December, 1916, referred to was that in which the Austro-Hungarian Government, co-jointly with Germany, Turkey and Bulgaria, addressed the Entente Allies through the neutral powers, offering to negotiate for peace on terms which were not stated.

1st, W. O. R.: Q.—A young man was notified that his exemption was cancelled, and on reporting was placed in Category A. Recently a medical board gave him Category C1. Is the man now entitled to leave of absence until his category is called out?

2. If so how should he proceed to obtain same?

A.—1. The Government can hold him in the service if such is desired as he was an A man on reporting for service. However, it would do no harm to apply for leave of absence until his category is called, which might be granted.

2. He should apply to his commanding officer for leave of absence.

NORTHWOOD: Q.—1. Can a person in Category A take a course in a military school for a lieutenant, provided that he enters before his exemption runs out?

2. Where is there such a school?

3. How long does it take to train for this rank?

4. What is the tuition fee?

5. What is the pay for such an officer?

A.—1. Yes.

2. There is the Royal Military College at Kingston and the Canadian Officers' Training Corps at London, where one can qualify for a lieutenant's certificate. The latter corps has a course of lectures extending over three evenings per week and Saturday afternoons.

3. Depends upon which branch of the service one wishes to enter. The Kingston course is about six months duration, while that at London is a three months' course.

4. The London course is obtained for a very small fee to cover cost of uniform, while the Commandant, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., will forward full information on application regarding the Kingston course.

5. $2.60 per day upon receiving an appointment in the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

JIGGS: Q.—To whom should a letter for the head of the Invalided Soldiers' Commission at Ottawa be addressed?

A.—Director of Vocational Training, Invalided Soldiers' Commission, Ottawa, Ont.

J. H. G.: Q.—I have been before a medical review board twice. The last time I appeared before a specialist, and both times was placed in Category E. Is this final, or am I liable to be called again for examination?

2. On being examined the last time I received no papers from the specialist. Could I obtain papers from him that would prevent a re-examination?

3. Is there any information at present regarding recalling for examination of B, C and E men?

A.—1. If your disability is of a permanent nature it is not likely that you will be recalled for examination.

2. Any documents that you will receive will be sent to you by the deputy registrar. If you received exemption as a Class E man the first time examined it would not be necessary for you to receive any new papers, as the second examination did not alter your category.

3. No.

SOLDIER'S WIFE: Q.—My husbands was called up in May, and is overseas. His father is an invalid, and he has a volunteer brother in France having served for three years. Could mu husband be returned from overseas to take charge of the family farm?

2. If so, how would one proceed to get him home?

A.—1. It might be possible to have him sent home on "compassionate grounds," although the regulations are very stringent regarding sending men home from overseas duty.

2. Write a letter with full facts of the case and proof to the A. A. G., M. D. No. 1, Wolseley Barracks, London, Ont., and if the case is a worthy one it will be referred to Militia Headquarters, Ottawa, for consideration.

STUDENT: Q.—Are recruits being accepted at present for the Tank Battalion?

2. To whom should I apply for enlistment?

3. What are terms of engagement for this branch of the service?

A.—1. Yes.

2. Mobilization Centre, Carling Block, London, Ont., or to any military recruiting officer.

3. Three years or the duration of the war, and six months after if required.

I. S. F.: Q.—My son was recently discharged from the army as medically unfit for further service. This discharge has now been cancelled. He has two brothers in the service, and is the only boy left at home. Is there any way in which he can be released from service?

A.—Perhaps he received merely a temporary discharge on account of his physical condition on reporting for service. However, being the only son left at home he is entitled to indefinite leave of absence on reporting for service. He should apply to his commanding officer upon reporting for service with full facts of the case and proof, after which he will receive indefinite leave of absence.

MARSHVILLE: Q.—C. W., minus one eye, was examined in St. Catherines by a medical board and placed in Category B2. Being in Hamilton recently and dissatisfied with St. Catherines examination he went to the armories there, and asked to be examined. He was informed by Captain X—— that he could not be examined unless wishing to enlist. C. W. agreed to this on condition that he be granted a month's leave before reporting. He was then informed that he would be required to go to Niagara camp and take his chances on receiving a month's leave. Finally it was arranged that C. W. be examined and provided that he pass the examination he was to report in one month's time and enlist in the Railway Construction unit. He gave full particulars of age, nationality, etc., and upon medical examination was placed in Category B2. He retained no medical history sheet nor did he sign any papers at all, but was warned to return for duty on October 21. Is C. W. legally, as well as morally, bound to report for service on October 21?

2. C. W. is a farmer and was on exemption until December, 1917, and later given further leave of absence by the county judge. Would this be liable to be cancelled now?

A.—1. He is not legally bound to report for duty, as he did not legally enlist or take the oath of service, signing the necessary attestation papers. However, he should not have promised to return in one month if he had no intention of doing so.

2. Yes, if the particulars came into the hands of the military authorities and were laid before the county judge.

COAL AND OTHER QUESTIONS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I noticed by your paper that Mayor Somerville and the city council have busied themselves in good time to arrange a celebration of the apparent victories of our armies in France, which is all very well in its place; but it seems to many of us that if the mayor and council had busied themselves in nearly so good a time regarding the coal famine, we would not now be facing the condition of affairs that exist.

The people voted and the Government granted early this spring all the authority that was necessary to go ahead and do things regarding the coal question. But there is no doubt that little energy has been exerted to accomplish anything. There has been no lack of talk, and no end of excuses offered by men in authority in this city, but the only thing that has been done is to try to shift their responsibility in the matter on to the shoulders of an employee of the city. We have been told time and time again that no coal can be procured for this city while the Government buyers are putting in hundreds of tons of good coal into the cellars of all Government buildings, and while the mayors and city councils of other towns and cities who realize their responsibility, and who care for the welfare of their people have been doing things that count, and have not been content to feed their people on promises and petty excuses. The records show that plenty of coal has come into the city over the railroads to amply provide for the immediate necessities of every family. Where has the coal gone? There has been no serious effort on the part of anybody to provide for an equal distribution or to see that the poorer people were given an opportunity to procure coal. The rich man hands over to his dealer $50 or $100 in the early spring, and the coal man is in duty bound to either fill his cellar or see that he does not want for coal; while the poor man must tramp the city with a hand sleigh or push cart and beg his coal a bag at a time from the dealers, and is charged big prices for what he gets.

It is a conservative estimate that there are 1,000 to 1,500 homes in the city which have been so far unable to procure a pound of coal, and we are told by the dealers that they have anywhere from 500 to 1,500 tons ordered on their books not yet delivered. Again, with no registration for keeping a record of who gets the coal, many farmers are hauling the coal out of our city, while hundreds of cords of fallen wood are allowed to lay and rot in their immediate vicinities. One case has come to my notice in which a farmer draws into the city a load of wood, sells it for $18, and draws home two tons of coal. Surely there should be some supervision or a central depot through which all orders of coal should have to pass, or else a card system inaugurated whereby an accurate record could be kept regarding the distribution of coal.

It seems to me that many wives and widows of our soldiers overseas and the wives of hundreds and hundreds of returned men who are yet incapacitated or are in one of the many military hospitals, will have little heart for joyous celebration, with the immediate probabilities of perishing for want of coal during the coming winter. There was much suffering last winter among the families of our soldiers, and much dissatisfaction expressed by the returned men, who did not hide their resentment at the indifference of the public and those in authority, and the insulting answers that were often accorded them by some coal dealers in reply to their earnest entreaties for a little coal. A leader was the only thing that was wanting last year to create serious trouble for some of the dealers and city officials, and if conditions are allowed to go on as they did last year, or even as it appears to become worse, the soldiers will be much harder to control this year—and who can blame them? While they have risked life and limb that all may enjoy the right to live under the British flag, yet there are many in this city who would deprive them and their families of the right to buy coal in small quantities, according to their means, in order that their own cellars might be full, and those are the people who would sneer at the plea of the soldier and criticise him for lack of thrift in not having his own cellar already full. It seems that many of the rich and profiteering class, and our own city councils, and even the Government, are doing much to make of the returned soldiers a horde of socialists and anarchists. The select class has been forever patronized by those in authority, while the poorer classes of our country and their families are in a class by themselves, and are being taught that they must stay in a class and not expect the common comforts and liberties of the select class.

Profiteering the fuel, foodstuffs and other necessities are rampant throughout the country, and no serious effort is made to check the same if it is necessary to step on the corns of the moneyed men of our country. All the profiteers are not in the bacon business; we have them in the shoe shining parlors, peanut stands and barber shops. Let those in authority wake up if they would avoid trouble. Yours truly,

A 33RD COMRADE.

A REPLY TO MR. SMITH.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Mr. C. F. Smith in a letter which appeared in The Advertiser of September 26, says that if the pope is Christ's vicar on earth and is infallible in faith and morals, he must know which side is right in this war and that His Lordship Bishop Fallon should see that the pope does know. Every person that knows the meaning of the word infallible can plainly see that the pope might be infallible and not know which side is right or that either side is. His infallibility implies only that he will not teach, under certain several conditions, what is not true. The fact that he is Christ's vicar does not prove that he knows which side is right or that he cannot be neutral. Where did Mr. Smith learn all the duties and prerogatives of Christ's vicar? Did he get any special revelation on the subject? If he knew as little about the medicine that he administers to his patients as he evidently does about the dogma of papal infallibility he should follow the advice of the wit to Dr. Goldsmith and prescribe only for his enemies. He should study that dogma as defined by the Catholic Church and learn a little of Euclid's logic before rushing into print.

He also says in his letter, "Can any person imagine Christ being on the fence during a time like this?" Yet Christ is on the fence even now and has been there for the last nineteen centuries though several wars have been fought during that time.

Mr. Smith may not be anti-Catholic, but he is too ignorant of Catholic doctrines to write anything about them too grossly insulting to be deemed a gentleman and too insignificant to deserve any notice from His Lordship Bishop Fallon. Though the cat may look at the king, that is no reason why the king should notice the cat. Yours, etc.,

J. J. MACDONALD.

WHAT WILL CANADA DO?

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

If the citizens of London and all other cities and towns and villages of Canada could look in on Kansas City, this giant city of the Kaw and Missouri rivers, this week, they would all get the real, live-wire electric shocks of organization and commercial enterprise. On Thursday, Theodore Roosevelt, whom Professor Hide, the eminent lecturer and traveler selected as the one of three of the world's greatest living men: Thomas A. Edison and Luther Burbank, being the other two; Roosevelt spoke to audiences of 20,000 people in one day. Absolutely refusing a public parade, but he kindled the flame with his indomitable Americanism.

Today hundreds and thousands whose loyal hearts are burning for universal peace and liberty of the world's peoples, are working here like soldiers in the front trenches to have subscribed two hundred and sixty million dollars, the sum allotted Kansas City as its part of the six billion loan to Uncle Sam.

This is the Fourth Liberty Loan and they will go over the top with it like the boys in Flanders went over at Verdun, Soissons, Cambrai and Armentieres.

This city has proclaimed a half-holiday. The streets are thronged with military bands and thousands of soldiers and commercial bodies. All the public school children and all the theatres with their hundreds of theatricals and singers on wagons, are demonstrating their loyalty and patriotism to the call of the nation for funds.

The great stores and office buildings are vibrating with the music of the bands and the loyal appropriate songs of human voices. It is truly a great pageant of American thrift. A spontaneous effort to hand to the United States treasury, the asked-for and needed money to equip in all respects and feed the American army and navy, who have joined our beloved Canada, and all of the allied armies to break down forever military oppression, and blot out the blood-stained hands of tyranny and despotism from the face of the earth.

I wish from the bottom of my heart that the good progressive farmers of Canada and all the peoples of the cities of Canada, and all the sturdy laborers of the factories and shops, coupled with the military stretching from Vancouver to the ocean-beaten shores of Nova Scotia, and Newfoundland, and from Georgian Bay to Lakes Erie and Ontario, could gaze in on this voluntary spirit of the Americans, and copy their methods of raising money, why every farmer and factory laborer, men and women of munition works, and even the school children are being organized to loan Uncle Sam the money by subscribing for the Fourth Liberty Bonds.

Canada has and will play the same loyal tragedy successfully to the end of the war. The brave and unflinching and dauntless soldiers of Canada have already by their prowess emblazoned imperishable glory upon themselves and upon the national emblems of Canada and the remotest realms of the British Empire.

Canada deserves and is receiving world-wide fame for the unstinted money and men she has sent to the front. Let us not forget one heroic effort now; or when they return from the battlefields of Europe; let us shower upon them the necessities, comforts and judicious pensions they have proudly and justly earned.

Remember, 400,000 are yonder in the ranks and possibly as many more will have to go before the sword is sheathed and a universal victory and peace becomes supreme. What about the money? Will Canada continue to do the necessary funds to help win victory? I say, yes, and there will be no lagging or kicking.

The honorable premier of Canada, Mr. Borden, and the war college cannot support the army now in the trenches with food, clothing and munitions and fit out the new army which must replace the wounded and fallen, unless they have untold millions of money. The people of Canada by their franchise have selected those men to continue the war to a successful conclusion and they must account to the people and show that every dollar intrusted to them is judiciously economically and progressively spent. It is the solemn duty of every man and woman to help raise the funds, and do it in every possible loyal way with the very least of complaint. Those who have the means and who by trickery or other subtle means, hide out, and who will not support the Government to the fullest possible limit; should be put in the class of slackers.

A special law should be enacted to tax them to the fullest extent, and even confiscate their property, if they continue to refuse to support their country and flag.

Let no man be deceived, the war news encourages us, but the war is a long distance from being won. It may take nearly as many men and as much money as has already been spent before victory is fully and honorably achieved.

Throw off your coats, and jump into the fray; don't look to what you have done, but gaze upon the burning cities of Cambrai and Soissons. Resolve if it takes your last dollar, you will give it to see the thing through.

When the war is ended and we see those brave and noble boys (who are spared a cruel death and a shallow grave in Europe) return with proud steps to their homes and loved ones in Canada, we will then thank our God, and worship our country and be prouder of ourselves for having done our duty to our soldiers and to our country of freedom.

OUR CITY COUNCIL.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Just to keep the present gentlemen on the council in the limelight, and also to let them see that they are not forgotten by at least one of the citizens, I submit to you what the mayor and his colleagues have done for the city:

1. Met in the council chamber, chewed gum, wore the seats out of their pants and wasted time.

2. By chasing the Chinese cafe owners for having stalls in their places of business.

3. Did not probe the firemen's case, showed what they are made of by letting the T. and L. Council checkmate them.

4. Let the engineer put oil on the streets in September—willful waste.

5. Bought some coal for the citizens —"I don't think!"

6. Made the street railway keep up to its schedule (?) by allowing them to take cars off the Ottaway, Normal and Richmond lines. "We'll show 'em!"

7. Now Ald. Merryfield wants to let the gas company mix gas and still charge the same price.

Query: What's the cause? A bum mayor and council, and the cure? That comes in January. Hurrah! Yours truly.

A BOUNTY ON RATS AND MICE.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

At the present time we hear a great deal concerning the conservation of food and foodstuffs. I wish to call attention to the waste caused by rats and mice, and suggest a possible means of eliminating at least some of the same. I think if our township or county councils would offer a small sum, say two cents, for the destruction of a mouse and five or ten cents for a rat, these pests would soon decrease. My idea is to have pupils once a week bring to school the tails of mice and rats that they have destroyed. I do not wish to add to the burden of the already overworked school teacher, but I believe teachers as a class are as patriotic as any, and would be willing to see the tails counted and destroyed and keep account of the number brought in by each pupil. At the end of the school term the child could be paid and perhaps a book or small sum extra for the one having most to his or her credit, and say $5 for the winner in the township or county. Children are patriotic and I think would enter into this scheme.

Hoping you can find space in your valuable paper for this suggestion, I remain.

ECONOMIST.

PAT IS NOW AN OFFICER.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Who did I meet on the street today? Malachy Dillon, blythe and gay. Faith, but the smile on his Irish face would gloom from even a groucher chase. "Top of the morning, Dillon," said I, "and when did you hear from your soldier boy?" "Begorra, I heard from France today, and the good news makes me feel quite gay, for Patrick, who fought the Huns for years (a bouchel who only the divvie fears), seems to know an Irishman's mission—to fight like blazes and win a commission! For four long years he fought like—well, something that isn't hard to spell. Wounded? Lovetaps just a few; a bullet his arm went cleanly through, while another one got him in the knee, and his 'lid' stopped bullets one, two, three. Buried alive, he was, and stunned by a shell—had to lie-up for a little spell. Shrapnel made a hole in his arm—arra, God save us all from harm! 'Mother,' said he, when he wrote to herself, 'I'm still in the ring and not on the shelf!' Faith, I can't remember each hurt he got, but, sure, he got the divvie's own lot. Want to come home? Troth, not a bit—just wants to see the end of it. He's Lieutenant Patrick now, d'ye see? Pleased? A happy ould chap I be! Chevrons? Five of them on his sleeve—one for each year, I do believe. Where is he now? Musha, where but in France, helping to make the Fritzies dance, helping to win the victory soon to be ours, as you'll soon see. Ah, then, it seems but a year ago, since I sang him to sleep, when the sun sank low. And now he's a hero! Glory be to Dhia aroon for his gift to me! He fichis for the right, my soldier son, and has earned the honors he has won. I've faith that he'll come back o'er the sea, when the war is won, to mother and me." "Malachy Dillon," I could but say, "I rejoice with you, old friend, today. May Lieutenant Patrick, noble boy, return full soon to crown your joy."

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR

Dandruff is the primary cause of falling hair. This disagreeable condition of the scalp and hair glands is almost certain to cause temporary or permanent baldness.

Loss of hair may also be ascribed to the use of improper shampoos containing irritating substances, animal oils and alcohol, any of which may produce gradual decay of the hair.

Don't use a stale liquid preparation that contains too much alkali (a harmful irritant). The surest, safest and easiest way is to make your own liquid. Buy a carton of Velnor at any drug store. Dissolve one of the small packets into half-glass of fresh water, and you will have an abundance of non-injurious liquid that will relieve itching of the scalp, falling hair and dandruff, also improve the natural color of the hair. Velnor being in concentrated form never spoils and will keep forever.

U.S. SENATORS DEMAND THAT WAR GO ON OR ENEMY QUIT

RESOLUTION IS ADOPTED

Senator McCumber Would Strip German of Power and Possessions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Wilson has as yet made no answer to Germany's peace proposal. This was officially made known tonight.

Germany's peace offer was peremptorily spurned in the Senate today. In spirited discussion of the latest enemy proposals senators participating in a two hours' debate declared it an insidious attack and voiced a common demand for its immediate rejection.

Inveighing especially against the proposal for an armistice the speakers were unanimous in declaring that a crushing military victory must be preliminary to peace negotiations.

Array of Opponents.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, Republican Leader Lodge of Massachusetts, ranking minority leader of the committee; Senators Poindexter of Washington, McCumber of North Dakota, Pittman of Nevada, Ashurst and Smith of Arizona, Nelson of Minnesota, and Reed of Missouri, were among the speakers, representing both political parties. The discussion, which was made to vacant galleries, which have been closed as a precaution against the Spanish influenza epidemic, may be renewed next Thursday when the Senate reconvenes after a recess.

After Senator Hitchcock and others had declared an armistice impossible, Senator McCumber introduced a resolution, proposing as the first requisite to any peace negotiations, absolute surrender by Germany, including dissolution of her army and navy and pledges for complete indemnifications.

The resolution was referred to the foreign relations committee.

"Absolutely Abhorrent."

Although first pointing out that Germany's offer contemplates acceptance of President Wilson's fourteen peace terms, Senator Hitchcock declared that the request for an armistice at this time "is absolutely abhorrent" to every member of the Senate. "It is unthinkable," he said, "that the German and Austrian proposals will be accepted," and he insisted that not only must Alsace-Lorraine be restored to France, but that, in any peace negotiations, an organic change in Germany's laws must be had, so that the Allies will deal with representatives of the German people.

Declaring that an armistice would mean the loss of the war, Senator Lodge said the Allies must gain a complete military victory, and that Germany must be "put behind the bars." He pointed out the danger of the "peace offensive," which he predicted last August the enemy would make, and said he did not believe President Wilson contemplates accepting any such proposal as that made by the enemy.

Germany, he said, now merely proposes a long debate on the basis of peace. The only future course, Senator Lodge emphatically declared, is to secure a complete military victory over Germany, and force her to sue for peace.

CHURCHILL'S VIEW.

GLASGOW, Oct. 7.—Winston Spencer Churchill, minister of munitions, speaking here today, said he did not believe the righteous war aims of the Allies at present would receive the required recognition. Therefore he was not very sanguine of a speedy termination of the war.

MUST GET OUT FIRST.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—No armistice will be granted the central powers before the complete evacuation by them of Allied territory, with a cessation of the destruction and burning of Allied cities. This is the personal opinion of foreign diplomats of the highest rank here, who have been questioned concerning the peace speech of the German imperial chancellor, Prince Maxmilian of Baden.

If the German propositions had been sincere, say these authorities, the German troops would already have ceased their wanton destruction.

Sparring For Time.

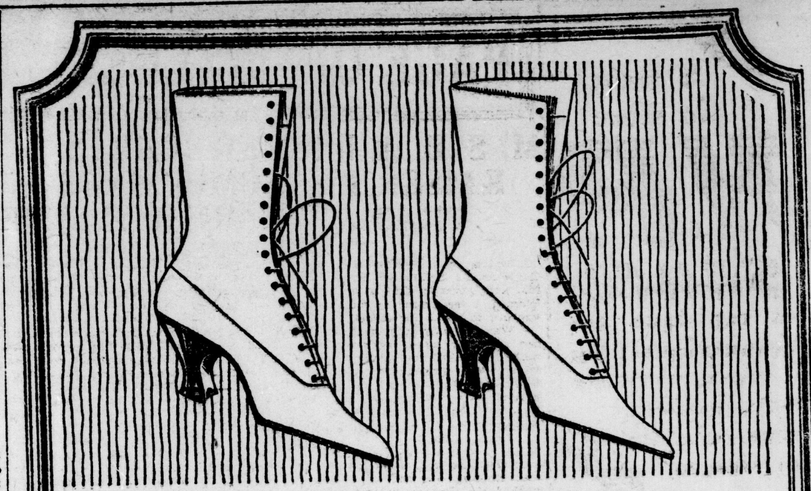

One of the most distinguished of the diplomatists said the proposal for an immediate armistice was put forward with the hope that the Allies would accept and that then the negotiations probably would be protracted for months, and perhaps even for years, in the hope that the offensive spirit of the Allied armies would meanwhile decline. The fact that an armistice was required indicated, according to this diplomat, that Germany had become aware she was defeated. Her entire collapse was only a question of time with the Allies continuing to apply pressure, he added. The apparent acceptance by Germany of the points of President Wilson's program he characterized as "vague."

Why Not Speak Out.

If she had really meant to accept them she would have made clear her intentions, in his view, by evacuating the territories she occupied and retiring behind her own frontiers.

In the event of an acceptance by the Allies of the offer of negotiations, while the German armies were near their present positions, the diplomatist pointed out, Germany would still have in her possession pledges in the shape of territory for use in negotiating better terms.

In the view of authoritative quarters in London it seems certain that President Wilson, through whom the peace offer of the central powers was addressed, will take the initiative in replying. The official attitude, to be adopted by the associated Governments, can only be surmised, but it is safe to assume that they cannot entertain in any form the proposal of an armistice.

Two Model Lasts for Women who prefer a long vamp with narrow or medium narrow toe Made in all leathers 8 inch or 9 inch height, Louis or Cuban heels, $6 to $12.

True Economy in Stylish Shoes

THE woman who likes shoes with a long vamp and a slender toe, will be well pleased with the two A. H. M. models shown above. You can obtain smart boots on either last with Louis or Cuban heels in black or tan calf or kid at prices ranging from $6 to $12.

The quality of the material in these shoes is better than you might expect at the price, due to our being able to cover our needs well in advance. We doubt if it will be possible to offer equal value again so long as the war lasts.

The model on the left is conservatively narrow in the toe with the popular Louis heel. The other model is more extreme in style effect having a somewhat narrow toe and a higher and more tapering heel.

You may be certain of getting style value and practising true economy when you ask your dealer for these A.H.M. models.

The money is yours!

But—

Will you use it for Canada or against Canada? Will you save your money and help to shorten the War? Or will you buy what you want, go wherever your pleasure dictates, dress as well or better than you always have dressed, indulge such whims as you can afford?

You must choose

The money is your own to do as you like with. But when you buy what you do not need—urgently need—your money actually works against Canada. For, it represents precious materials and labor, both of which are absolutely essential to the army. Your money uselessly spent delays all-important war work—merely for your self-indulgence.

You would not, knowingly, stop the progress of Canada's war efforts. You would not prolong the war. You would not let your money work for Germany. But it is possible that unwittingly you are doing this very thing.

Remember Canada's need.

Let not Canada's sacrifice go for naught.

Thrift, self-denial, patriotic privation, give us who stay at home the glorious privilege of a share in the great struggle for human freedom.

Save your money for Canada, and for Canada's fighting men.

Save your money to bring nearer that day we all long for—the Victorious end of the War.

Moths In Fur Piece.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you please tell me what will completely remove moths from a fur neckpiece? There is a spot in the neckpiece that appears to be moth-eaten, and I would like to prevent any further damage. Thanking you, I am, MADGE.

Ans.—If the fur is very valuable it might be best to take it to a furrier for treatment. To place it in an air-tight box with several pieces of blotting paper saturated with kerosene or turpentine should destroy moths and larvae as well. Hang on the clothes-line afterwards and the wind and sun will soon remove the odor. Best to keep a piece of camphor gum or a few moth balls in the box with your furs to prevent this trouble.

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

MRS H. A. BOOMER SURE KAISER HAS SOME "CAT'S CRADLE" GAME UP SLEEVE

To the Editor,—When a voice through my telephone, coming, I believe, from the Woman's Section of The Advertiser, asks for some expression of my opinion, and, perhaps, that of some of my good comrades of our Local Council of Women, I feel bound to make some kind of a reply, although I can only dare venture to speak for myself.

Was I greatly surprised? No, indeed, I was pretty sure that the wary kaiser had some sort of a "cat's cradle" game up his sleeve, ready for anyone who could be tricked into playing it with him. So surprise was not the sensation with which I greeted the news which had so many interpretations placed upon it Sunday. Nor was I surprised that, to a ruler, so benumbed to all sense of national honor, so mad to every instinct of humanity, one who as The Advertiser says, has "left no vile method untried" in his career of infamy, it was possible to cry "Peace, peace," where there could be no peace.

Almost upon the very day when the kaiser, yielding to the pressure of those whom he dare no longer oppose, had agreed to plead with the Allies for the armistice, his troops had set fire to Laon, the stronghold to which they had been clinging, one only of the many wickedly needless conflagrations which marked the German pathway through Flanders and France, therefore, it must have been, as it were, with the pen in one hand and the torch in the other, that the signature was appended to the document which by so many of our citizens was construed to mean a plea for peace on the part of Germany.

Forewarned is forearmed, and we may rest assured that there will be no mistake in the judgment of the three master minds, which as you say in the leading article of yesterday's Advertiser, will form the crucible into which will be placed the (base) metal consigned to it by our Teuton foes.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.

Copyright, 1917, by George Matthew Adams.

THE HUNTING PARTY.

"Where is your Aunt's wonderful pantry? If it is far away, let's start at once," said Jimmy Coon.

Snapper led the way and Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum ran along beside him. I say ran, and so in a minute Snapper was left far behind, and these two hunters had to sit down and wait for Snapper.

Peter Rabbit came out of a briar bush, and asked in a scared voice what was the matter, and what they were doing.

"Well, Peter, if you must know, we are going to Aunt Patience Turtle's Pantry. If you want to go, too, come on," said Teddy.

"Hurry and make up your mind if you want to go; for there comes Snapper, now—the old slow coach!" said Jimmy Coon. "Do you remember that other time we got some turtle eggs?"

Peter trembled when he remembered that other time. But he knew that his mother liked nice, fresh eggs for sponge cake, and he also knew that nice fresh eggs could always be exchanged for lettuce and carrots.

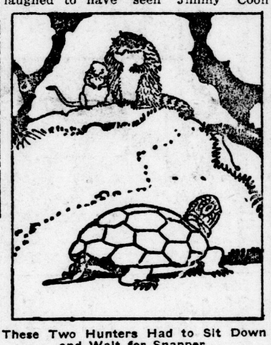

"Oh, come on, Peter. Don't be a silly. Nothing will hurt you, for I will take care of you, and the more the merrier!" urged Jimmy.

So Peter heaved a great sigh and decided to risk it. At this moment Snapper joined the party, and he was very cool and collected; in fact, he didn't turn a hair (but, as Teddy Possum said, he didn't have a hair to turn, anyway).

"'Slow and sure' is the motto of my family, and always has been," said that Slow Snapper. "But we always get there, and that is the main thing."

Jimmy Coon is so good-natured, and he wanted to keep the peace, and yet his legs were aching for want of a stretching, and so he said: "Well, the main thing, Snapper, is to get to your Aunt's pantry, quick or slow. Now, will it be all right for us to run ahead and see that the way is clear, and that there is no one to stop us? Chatterbox might run back and forth in the tree tops, and see that we do not get off the track."

"That suits me perfectly," said that good Snapper, and you would have laughed to have seen Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum and Peter Rabbit running as if for a prize, and Chatterbox, the Red Squirrel, galloping over the tree tops to guide them.

These Two Hunters Had to Sit Down and Wait for Snapper.

Every once in a while they would all stop for a bite to eat, or for a little nap. And Snapper, the old steady, plodded along behind, and he sighed and said: "Why does Aunt Patience build her pantry so far away?"

DAILY FISH BULLETIN

CODFISH BALLS

(Issued by Canada Food Board.)

This is a delectable supper dish as simple to prepare as it is nutritious. There are two good methods of preparing it:

(1) Boil one cup of codfish and boil and mash four good-sized potatoes. Combine the potatoes and codfish. Mash all together. Add a small piece of butter, pepper and one beaten egg. Roll in flour substitute to form balls and fry, or else cover with egg, bread crumbs and fry.

(2) Another good method is to take the same materials, cut the potatoes into three or four pieces, tear the fish into pieces, and boil together until the potatoes are tender. Then drain, mash and season with butter, pepper and egg. Drop by spoonfuls into the frying pan.

Miss Constance Boulton has returned to Toronto. While in the city she was the guest of Mrs. E. B. Smith, Wortley road.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McNorgan of Dundas street announce the marriage of their daughter, Vedna Genevieve, to Wilfred Delmage Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jones of Princess avenue. The marriage took place on September 19 in Battle Creek, Mich., Rev. Father Walsh officiating, and a double ring service being used.

The Good Cheer Club held a very delightful informal dance on Thursday in the recreation hall at the Hospital for the Insane. The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion, with flags, palms and flowers. The dance attracted a large number of friends of the club, who thoroughly enjoyed the exceptionally fine music provided by the Lombardo orchestra. The chaperons were Mrs. J. Greenaway and Mrs. (Capt.) Emsley.

The marriage took place on Wednesday, October 2, at Riverside, Caledonia, the home of the bride's parents, of Grace Allan, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Richardson, to Mr. William S. Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson, Forfar Place, Caledonia. Rev. J. M. Copeland of the Methodist Church officiating, assisted by Rev. N. D. MacKinnon. The bride was attired in white satin, with georgette, and wore the groom's gift, a necklace of pearls. Miss Marguerite Muir of Toronto played the Wedding March, and little Christina Marshall, the bride's cousin, was flower girl. After a buffet luncheon the young couple left by motor for points east, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit, with grey hat and furs. Upon their return they will reside at Forfar Place, Caledonia.

DELAWARE.—The third annual meeting of the Delaware Patriotic League was held Thursday afternoon in the municipal hall. The reports presented at the meeting indicated a large increase of work done over that of any former year. The treasurer, Miss E. Oulton, reported that the receipts for the year amounted to $1,356.95, and the expenditure $1,154.28. One item of expenditure was $135 for the prisoners of war fund. The league adopted two prisoners over two years ago. One of their adopted prisoners, Pte. George Immerson, was released by the Germans last spring, and the league promptly adopted another. The following is a report of the work of the league for the past year: Number of meetings 52, average attendance 12; 1,018 pairs of socks, 2 flannel shirts, 1 hospital shirt, 68 caps, 953 towels, 27 jars of fruit, 6 jars pickles, 107 suits of pyjamas, 238 pillowcases, 27 sheets, 13 pillows, 51 handkerchiefs, 3 many-tailed bandages, and 10 triangular bandages were sent to our boys in the trenches, and several crates of eggs were sent to the soldiers at Byron Sanatorium. The officers for the next year are: President, Mrs. W. H. Hartley; first vice-president, Mrs. Rose; second vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Leach; secretary-treasurer, Miss E. Oulton; recording secretary, Miss E. Nagle; county board representative, Mrs. J. G. Bice. As the league has good financial support it is hoped that all who can will apply for material at the hall any Thursday afternoon and become a working patriot.

MERLIN.—The annual meeting of the Women's Patriotic League was held Thursday afternoon. The year just closed has been a very successful one. $1,600 having been made, and considerable work has been done by the society. The new officers are: President, Mrs. James Mason; first vice-president, Mrs. James Hancock; second vice-president, Mrs. James Wilson; secretary, Mrs. Ernest Hope, and treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Foxten.

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, OCT. 13, 1918.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

(By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Abraham Helping Lot.—Gen. xiii: 5-11; xiv: 14-16.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

4. Verse 7.—Is it possible or impossible and why, for two parties to quarrel without either party being to blame?

5. With human nature as it is, and conditions as they are, is it possible to live and do business without misunderstanding or "strife?" (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

6. Verses 8, 9.—If you learn that one party to a dispute shows an arbitary spirit, and is determined to fight it to a finish, how would you estimate him morally and spiritually?

Golden Text.—A friend loveth at all times; and a brother is born for adversity.—Prov. xvii: 17.

A MOTHER'S FRIENDSHIP.

Perhaps the friend who stands next to Jesus is our mother, and this reminds me of the comforting passage of Scripture which says, "As one whom his mother comforteth so the Lord comforteth His people." We have innumerable examples of the reliability of a mother's love, and most of us know cases, within our own individual experiences, where a mother has stood by an unworthy son, when all else had forsaken him. A mother's love, it not divine, is next to that of God's. Her heart always yearns over her children and as a rule she seeks the children's welfare before she does her own. She generally loves the son most who is the least worthy, for a mother's eyes see something in the wayward son worth saving which escapes the notice of all others.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Frying Egg Plant.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—Here is the way I cook egg plant, and it is very nice: Slice, then peel, leave in salt and water for an hour or so, then dip in egg, roll in cracker crumbs, and fry in hot fat. This is very nice, and we like it as a substitute for meat for supper on cool evenings. MRS. H.

Ans.—Thank you sincerely for sending us this. "Girl in the Apron" will be most pleased.

Not Enough Names.

The demand for names of "lonelies" is so great that once again Miss Grey's list has become depleted. Quite a number of return envelopes at hand will have to be held, pending the receipt of more names. Readers not receiving replies will please understand why, and as soon as possible names will be sent to all.

Hint for Pernickety.

Dear Miss Grey,—Having been a reader of your column for some time, I have received help in different ways.

It is some time since we heard anything about Aunt Nannie. Will you please forward the inclosed letter to the pattern department and oblige.

MOTHER OF SEVEN.

P. S.—I saw where Pernickety needed help to mend her granite ware. I have used "Mendets"; buy it from a hardware; directions on box.—M. of S.

Ans.—Thank you for the hint for Pernickety. The inclosure was forwarded as requested.

A Wee Bit o' Heather.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you or any of the readers tell me about Corp. G. W., No. 186275. He went from Winnipeg. I saw where he was wounded and didn't know where to write to him. Please send me two lonelies' addresses. Inclosed is a small piece of heather.

SEVEN SISTERS.

Ans.—That is a dear, feathery bit o' heather, and I've sniffed and sniffed at it as it lay on my desk. And now where do you suppose it is? Why, between the pages of "The Little Minister," to be sure. I think he'll enjoy it, too, don't you? I know nothing of the "lonely" you inquire about, but some of the readers may.

Tirzah Ann's Rebuke.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am coming once more. It is quite a while since I wrote last, but I always read the Page, no matter how small a space it is. Well, it is fall again, and still the war is going on; I wonder when it will end. I am going to send a recipe for cooking egg plant for "Girl in the Apron": Slice very thin, without peeling, soak in weak salt water an hour, make a batter of one egg, one-half cup sweet milk, salt and pepper to taste, and enough flour to form a batter; roll the egg plant in this and fry in hot lard and butter.

For Pernickety—We get what they call Easy Rivets; they are soft lead, and mend anything. We get them in the ten-cent store, but perhaps you could buy them in a hardware store. Also we have used putty; press it on both sides good and firm, then put in oven and bake until brown, and it lasts a long time.

Well, now, for the general favor. I am sending envelope for the stocking foot pattern, please. I wonder how many you have sent out. You once said an awful amount, but I think we will have to say to you, as the mother said to her child: "I told you a million times not to exaggerate." Yours as before. TIRZAH ANN.

Ans.—I feel quite properly rebuked, Tirzah. Perhaps I did exaggerate a little when I said ninety millions. Anyhow, we'll thank you for the recipe and granite-mending hint, then busily clip out a pattern for you.

CUT CAUSED BLOOD-POISONING.

Doctor's treatment failed

Zam-Buk completely cured

The case of Mrs. S. Cliff of Mellette, illustrates Zam-Buk's wonderful power to cure a bad case of blood-poisoning after medical treatment failed. Mrs. Cliff says:

"I had the misfortune, recently, to cut my hand very badly between the fingers with a piece of tin, and although I was careful to cleanse the wound, somehow it became infected and before very long blood-poisoning set in. I received doctor's treatment and used numerous remedies which he prescribed, but nothing did the wound any good. On the contrary, it was becoming worse and worse. The swelling had spread from my hand up to my shoulder, and the pain was so terrific that I could get no rest.

"Then I happened to hear of Zam-Buk and the good it was doing, and I determined to try it. I procured some and commenced applying it, and I shall never forget the relief I soon experienced. The pain gradually disappeared and I was at last able to sleep. The swelling was reduced so rapidly that day by day I could see it going down. Before long Zam-Buk had drawn out all the inflammation and poisonous matter, and perseverance resulted in a complete cure. This proves to me that Zam-Buk is the finest healer on the market."

For eczema, and all diseases of the skin, Zam-Buk is equally good; also for ulcers, abscesses, pimples, boils, running sores, bad legs, old wounds, and piles, as well as cuts, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries.

THE REAL FIGHTERS.

UNDER THE RELENTLESS exposures that the war has brought about many bogies and traditions have gone by the board. For instance, the belief, widespread four years ago, that the Germans were the greatest fighters in the world's history has been scattered to the winds for ever and ever. That the kaiser possessed the greatest organization for war is unquestionably the case, but as a fighter the individual Teuton is hopelessly outdistanced by the Allied rank and file. "Warrior nation" was the term tacked on the Prussians by admiring writers and the world has come to accept it as a fact, a fact that carried a shiver to a more or less scared civilization. But it required less than six months of warring to show up the Prussian as a second-rater in the matter of physical courage.

[illegible]achinery of war, no [illegible]

[illegible] you have been! The army has been defending the fatherland on foreign soil, it being unexplained that with each day's passing there was less and less of foreign soil to defend! They have won the admiration of all the folks at home by their masterly strategy, and, apparently, their ability to save their lives by placing hands above their heads. As for the navy, why "my navy is holding its own against the united enemy naval forces, and is unwaveringly supporting the army in its struggle." "Holding its own" is good. The German navy has been holding its own ships and men safely in shelter since war began.

But while the army and navy has been brave the kaiser has decided that after all he will not smash to pieces all those who now oppose him. It was different in 1914, of course. He discovered that they would not be smashed, and he has resolved once more to offer peace to the enemy—an honorable peace, to be sure. The kaiser is suffering from delusions as to the quotations on peace at the present time. His bid is low and he was not asked to chip in. And peace is not on the auction block to be sold for offers. Peace is obtainable only by the grace of the Allies.

The kaiser's contribution adds to the humorous literature of the war. His previous efforts, when combined in one volume with the latest, will make the Bairnsfather cartoons seem tame and insipid. And if an international award like the Nobel peace prize is ever offered for the greatest bluffs of the war, he will win in a canter.

LET THE PRESS UNSUBSIDIZE ITSELF!

NEWSPAPERS have come to feel the full force of Government-protected monopoly in Canada. Newspapers are units of a trade which has never been open to the suspicion of being controlled as a trust. But the manufacturers of newsprint constitute a hard and fast combine, organized to control trade, and fostered by rich gifts and by home patronage, which was cast aside and given no consideration when the chance came to get into a more profitable field. With the capitalistic influence standing by as the friend of such a combine as the paper factories have become, the newspapers had small chance at Ottawa to win their case for reasonable treatment, and it may be set down for the general public to read that the ultimate consumer must pay if the newspapers of Canada are to survive.

What attitude does Union Government assume toward the newspapers? They are subject to more regulations as to what they shall print and as to how they shall conduct their business than any other business in Canada. Not only may they not print innumerable things, but they must not let the public know that these things may not be printed nor why they must not be printed. They are subject to all sorts of silly edicts which the American people laughed to scorn. But more than that, the Canadian newspaper of the metropolitan class, which constitute the news association known as Canadian Press, Limited, in a moment of weakness, permitted themselves to become subsidized to the extent of $50,000 by the Government, and since that time the Government has used the newspapers as a football. The publishers have no organization which can cope with the mighty resources of the paper trust. The paper trust has the most powerful of influences at its back, and when publishers have gone to certain members of the cabinet in the hope of being relieved of the possibility of facing absolute ruin they have been reminded that the Government is a partner in the newspaper business (to the extent of $50,000), and that it would be just as well to submit to the "reasonable" demands of the newsprint makers. It has been explained that labor costs have arisen tremendously. But it is not recalled that most of the pulp lands, which form the sources of newsprint, were given to the paper-makers by the people of Canada through their lawmakers. No share of this heritage for the people who read and pay for the pulp, however! Get the last dollar the trade will stand. The Government has appointed a commissioner. Let the buyer beware!

The Advertiser has entered protests before over the acceptance by the Canadian newspapers of any grants that would form the basis for a belief that the press of Canada was subsidized. It believes that there should be no further acceptance of this grant, which was supposed to enable the papers to bind east and west together, but which has not resulted in any wonderful transformation in the relations of the great divisions of the Canadian people. So long as the newspapers of Canada accept this grant they are bound to the Government as recipients of special favors, no matter how much they may protest to the contrary. It is a German idea of controlling the press, whether the intention was German or not. Let this subsidy be refused when next the opportunity has come! Then will the field be clear for dealings with the Government and its profiteers.

The Germans' appeal for peace reminds one of the man convicted of murdering his father and mother appealing for mercy on the ground he was an orphan.

The kaiser's new chancellor now talks "popular rule" for Germany. They have what they seem to have had for a long time there. The crimes of the all-highest and his war lords have been repeatedly backed to the limit by the German people.

The kaiser tells his troops he intends to get an honorable peace for Germany. Wrong again, Bill. The German people are going to be sent to jail just like any other outlaw gang until they are properly punished, and there is nothing honorable about that.

How does wealth begin? Real wealth, not false wealth. The kind that spells success and happiness. The secret of a man's success has never been in the amount of money he makes, but in the ratio of income to outgo. If you fix your outgo below your income, then new and steady streams of income begin to flow. Be the margin never so small, it is added to your income, and wealth begins.

Doctors advise all who have a fever to stay in doors until the fever subsides. In this way they will successfully combat the ravages of Spanish influenza. There is only one way to find out if a person has a fever: use a clinical thermometer. This means that everyone should have a thermometer. At least it would be as cheap to buy a thermometer to find out if a person had a fever as it would be to call in a doctor.

SUGGESTIONS FOR A RUSSIAN BUSINESS.

[Ohio State Journal.]

We have a theory that an enterprising man who could go to Russia and establish a string of free-lunch counters could be elected czar without opposition.

THE STICK HABIT.

[London Daily Chronicle.]

The stick habit is much more common in England than in America. In New York or Boston or Chicago, or any other American town, for that matter, you seldom see a youngish man carry a stick. As a general thing, he is too busy to be bothered with a piece of wood in his hand. He carries his paper, of course, and he must have one hand free for a cigar and for raising his hat.

THE GUERRILLAS OF LABOR.

[Springfield Republican.]

Labor must give a thought to its reputation for fairness and good sense and a serviceable loyalty to the country in days like these, for it can never go far without the backing of public opinion in the normal times which will eventually return. The guerrillas of labor are alone responsible for unwarranted strikes, and it is a pity that their acts may tend to discredit organized labor as a whole.

SIBERIA VITAL TO US.

[Ottawa Journal.]

Siberia is vital to us because in war anything that matters to the enemy matters to us, and Siberia matters to Germany.

FAILED IN PRACTICE.

[Buffalo Commercial.]

General Bernhardi, whose spouting made at one time such a hit in Germany, has had a chance to put into practice some of his military theories, but as his happens to be the corps that is being driven back by the British around Merville, it wouldn't appear that his policies were a success.

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THE VAGRANT HEART.

[By Imes Macdonald.]

Some day there shall be written the complete history of the Vagrant Heart, and that history will contain a succession of strange episodes situated in various parts of the world. However, it will be no swashbuckling tale of shipwrecks, blood and valiant deeds, but just the simple narrative of the almost-loves of Morgan Burke, a man of adventurous spirit and yet so gentle of heart that in the wake of his wanderings there eddied no tears of bitterness, nor floated a single heart carelessly cast forth as driftwood by his hand. For if women loved him, he had left them somehow content with a lesser love.

Still, no man of his like could have followed the strange paths he had trod and returned unscathed. Memory is a tricky thing—sometimes she would draw him backward for five minutes perhaps, or an hour or a day—to Algiers, or Paris, or Petrograd, or Singapore. Also there was Manila and Honolulu or Frisco. Sidney, too, knew him—and Taluno! He might have stayed on Taluno, the island beautiful, but—that is one of the episodes.

Back in his home city of Ackland they hailed him as an adventurer. His mother proudly exhibited him and cunningly planned his marriage, hoping thereby to keep him at home among his kind. Dutifully, though somewhat bored, he escorted her about—to be inspected and quizzed and smiled upon, for there was an unconscious bit of foreign air about him that added to the mystery which the wind and sun of many lands had cast in his eyes and blended in the tan of his face.

Hence it was that on a certain night not long after his return he accompanied his mother to the Ackland School of Art to view the annual spring exhibit there. His mother was a patron of the school—being a patron of something was a hobby of hers—and Burke himself had contributed largely to the museum from the fruits of his travels. Like an automaton he shook the hands of dozens of very much alike young women, and boys so evidently courting genius and flowing ties—and then suddenly the hand he found in his was not the stereotyped, nervous hand, but a warm, flexible hand of substance. And as he straightened up from his rather low bow his eyes took in her gown of golden brown simplicity.

She herself was a living, breathing, elastic thing of gold, it seemed. Her hair, almost black, with its hint of golden shadows—the ivory gold of her skin—and her eyes, those oriental I-could-love-you eyes—all reminded him of Taluno and—Ahmeenah. In an instant he had passed and forgotten the girl of the moment in memory of Ahmeenah, the girl of the past. There she stood high up on the rock above him, poised against the sky for her dive into the deep pool below, her dusky hair waving like a banner in the wind—then his heart turned sick at the memory of her faulty step, his mad rush that was too late to break the fall of her lovely body that lay broken and still on the rocks at his feet. With a tired sigh he slipped out of the noisy chattering throng that filled the great room and sought the lower corridor, where he sat on a stone bench and smoked deliberately in violation of all the rules.

Twenty minutes later he ascended the steps again. At the landing as he turned the corner of the stair he looked upward and there stood the girl of living gold with her hand on the rail poised in the act of descending. For a moment she gazed on him thus and then descended slowly, and when they met at the rail in the centre of the flight—they smiled.

"You are so very young," he said, as if having made a strange discovery.

She half turned to lean back against the rail and gazed into his eyes with her wide candid glance. "I am 22," she said, pensive yet earnest.

His hand slid up and touched hers where it lay on the rail, but she seemed not to notice it.

"They are asking for you," she added, "upstairs." And she gestured with her head in the direction of the noisy gallery.

Morgan Burke looked on this composite woman and marveled. Of all his almost-loves she seemed to be a part. The gesture of her hand, the supple twist of her body as she stood there, the poise of her head, the glance of her eyes and the curve of her cheek—each was representative of some one charm of those others of his past.

"I almost believe I could love you," he said as in a dream.

For one pulsing moment she bent over him as he stood below her there and caught his upturned face between her warm young hands.

"I know you could!" she murmured, tensely.

Strangely enough there is always someone to see such things. The next morning the principal of the art school, who was a friend of Burke's mother, sent for the lovelist and most talented member of that year's graduating class.

"I feel that I must speak to you, Olive, for your own good," she said.

"Things that are for one's own good are almost always unpleasant, aren't they?" said Olive Dale, with a grave little smile.

"It is about Morgan Burke, Olive," continued the principal, kindly. "He is not for you, Olive. You must not break your heart over him, my dear. He has been courted by women all over the world, and is a spoiled young man. Why, there was even a princess in Budapest! It was the talk of Europe at the time. Wherever he has been it was always the same. The most beautiful, the most cultured, the most exclusive women in the land, were his for the taking. I do not want you to know unhappiness, Olive; you are so young and impressionable—and he, when the time comes, will enter a marriage of convenience with a girl of his mother's choosing."

The girl stood with a half smile, brooding thoughtful eyes staring out through the swaying treetops. "None of that matters in the least," she said as to herself. "If he loves me—I shall marry him."

There was a quick step in the open door of the office and both women turned swiftly. Morgan Burke stood just within the door looking into Olive's eyes. The principal of the Ackland School of Art watched them in amazement, for nothing seemed to exist for them but each other. Morgan took the eager hands that reached out for his own, for a long moment they stood thus—and then he swept her into his arms, kissing her eager mouth.

"I knew you could love me," murmured Olive.

"How could I help it?" he asked gently. "How could I help it?" And he led her out the door and down the stairs.

While from her window the spinster principal watched them as they wandered across the lawn toward the boulevard and the park beyond, and she sighed from within her heart for something she had missed perhaps for the first time in her self-centred life.

And hand in hand those two young people walked into the slanting sunlight, for Youth and Love in early summer cannot be denied. And so it was that the vagrant heart of Morgan Burke found happiness in the girl of his dreams, the composite woman, a symposium of all the charms characteristic of the almost-loves of his adventurous past.

It is a whole lot easier to keep your mouth shut today than it is to apologize tomorrow, but a man never thinks of that.

It must have been pretty tough on the girls who lived in the twelfth century, because even if they were only twenty years old they had to admit that they were Middle-Aged Women.

It doesn't hurt to tell the truth once in a while. A Good Fellow is a man who spends more money on his friends than he does on his wife.

When a woman with a five-dollar bill is attending a bargain sale she acts like there is never going to be another one.

Another advantage about having five or six kids in the house is that you do not have to buy antique furniture.

A man must admit that he is slow but sure. But he won't admit that his watch is that way.

And the man whose doctor tells him that he has one foot in the grave isn't anxious to get there with both feet.

A Reformer's idea of heaven is a place where everybody will have to be as good as he wants them to be.

Why is it that when a man is winning at cards he shoves his hat on the back of his head, and that when he is losing at cards he pulls his hat down over his eyes?

ATTENDANCE DROPS IN SCHOOLS FROM SPANISH INFLUENZA

BRANTFORD, Oct. 7.—A census of the schools taken here this afternoon showed 790 pupils absent, out of a total enrollment of 3,350. The epidemic of Spanish influenza was the cause of the abnormal falling off in attendance. Three deaths have occurred in this city, and the hospital is filled to maximum capacity.

Several local doctors have inoculated themselves against the disease, and they report the epidemic to be spreading. No counter-measures of a public nature have been recommended by the health authorities for the present, but victims are urged to isolate themselves in their own homes as far as possible. Today was the first day in which the epidemic was found to have hit the schools. Seven teachers were incapacitated from duty today.

TAKES STEPS TO STOP INFLUENZA'S SPREAD

STRATFORD, Oct. 7.—Dr. J. A. Robertson medical officer of health, has taken steps requesting the co-operation of the public in preventing the spread of Spanish influenza. There are now 50 cases here, some of them severe, according to Dr. Robertson. The teachers in all of the schools have been notified to send home any child who shows any symptoms of the disease. The same warning has been given factory managers. Doctors have been requested to report to the health authorities any cases.

The first death recorded at noon today when Samuel McConnel died following an illness of a week. Death was directly due to pneumonia which followed the attack of influenza. Burial was made almost immediately. Rev. Dr. Martin conducting the services.

CHILD BLOWN INTO WELL BY THE WIND; DEAD WHEN RAISED

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 7.—A particularly sad death occurred at Dunwich Saturday, when the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Barrett of Coynes road was blown into a well and drowned. The little girl and her sister had gone to the neighbor's to play with Mrs. Brown's children, and were there only a short time when the accident happened.

Mrs. Brown went to the well to draw a pail of water, and the little girl followed her. Mrs. Brown was just in the act of placing the cover on the well when the little tot was blown by a gust of wind and fell over the wall. Dr. McKillop of Dutton was called, and while he was on his way a man nearby was lowered into the well, which is 35 feet deep. When the child was raised to the top life was extinct from drowning.

GALT'S MAYOR BACK 7 HOURS AFTER LEAVE OF ABSENCE HAS EXPIRED

GALT, Oct. 7.—After a three months' absence in California and seven hours after his leave had expired Mayor W. S. Dakin returned here this morning, and occupied the chair at tonight's council meeting. Before the council got down to business Ald. G. H. Thomas inquisitioned the legality of a special meeting of the council held on October 1, at which the mayor was granted until October 6 to return. City Solicitor Dalzell gave his opinion that the meetings was legal, and that Mayor Dakin was legally entitled to occupy the chair. No other member of the council objected. There was an unusually large number of citizens present who were attracted to the meeting by murmurs of expected trouble.

Ald. F. S. Jarvis tonight gave notice of a motion that at some future meeting he would introduce a bylaw to be submitted to ratepayers at once to raise $15,000 to provide and furnish a home for Galt's great war veterans. A letter signed by all medical men of the city requested the council to provide funds for the erection of an up-to-date modern isolation hospital which they deemed a necessity in the interests of the public health of the city. A consideration of the petition was promised.

$2,000 FIRE WIPES OUT PROPERTY AT CLINTON

CLINTON, Oct. 7.—At an early hour this morning fire was discovered in the wooden storehouses and stables at the rear of the Harland block, and although firemen responded promptly it was impossible to prevent the total loss of the glass and oil warehouse of Harland Bros., the storehouse and stable of Ball & Atkinson, and a stable and shed belonging to W. M. Harland. Harland Bros. had about $2,000 worth of glass destroyed, also oils and hardware supplies. Ball & Atkinson lost a big stock of bed springs, a winter hearse and other supplies. The losses are fully covered by insurance.

Uncalled For Keg of Alcohol Gets Woman Into Toils

GALT, Oct. 7.—Chief Gorman has seized a ten-gallon keg of alcohol, shipped from Montreal and labeled vinegar, and arrested a woman charged with illegally having liquor. Since September 14 a keg addressed to John Cooper, believed to be a fictitious name, was in the G. T. R. freight sheds uncalled for. An Ainslie street woman then ordered it removed to her home here and the police interfered. She is now out on bail, to appear in court later in the week.

STUDENTS AT O. A. C. CELEBRATE "PEACE"

GUELPH, Oct. 7.—The peace news which appeared on the bulletin boards yesterday had its effect on the students of the O. A. C., and they came down-town after the midnight hour arrived so as not to break the Sabbath. They paraded around a few of the city streets, sang their songs, and held a sort of mild jollification over the news. They got away with one of Chief Randall's zone posts, and drew a wagon down Gordon street. It is also alleged that some damage was done to a tombstone at the Guelph monumental works near Griffin's opera house. There was also some excitement among the citizens, but nothing in the shape of a celebration.

MEDICAL REVIEW BOARD.

STRATFORD, Oct. 7.—The medical review board under the M. S. A. opened its sitting here today and will continue until Thursday. Capt. McFarlane is president of the board, the other members being Capt. Fletcher and Capt. McIntosh. Upwards of 35 men will be dealt with each day.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Red, White and Blue Affect Your Mind and Body

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG,
A. B., M. A., M. D., (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

There is a darkness, a blackness, that is more than felt and worse than ignorance. The Bible and inspired poets have said so, and experimental psychology has proved it. The black in the German flag is a sign and symbol. It is thereby something higher than an accident, for experimentally it has been found that black produces a dogged, dull, obstinate, booblike state.

All the water in the ocean can never turn the swan's black legs to white and all the added colors of the rainbow, be they even pure white and cheerful red, cannot, according to the scientific investigations just completed, take away or diminish the influence of black for mischief and evil.

Color vision differs considerably in different persons according to their inheritance, instincts and race. Human kind has vision for one stretch of the spectrum from red to violet through the intervening colors.

The effects of the noble colors, red, white and blue, in the American, English and French flags, strange to say, have been innocently observed upon men by experimental psychologists without regard to the fact that these were the patriotic colors of the world's greatest nations.

What Red Does.

Indeed, hundreds of years ago it was recognized that red had a powerful effect upon disease and health. Doctors in the time of Queen Elizabeth, before the great English physician, William Jenner, discovered that vaccination usually prevented ugliness and death by smallpox, were properly in the habit of draping the windows and beds with red curtains to reduce the scabs and scars of that dread malady. Nowadays, thanks to the carefully controlled and checked experiments, we know that red really does have that effect.

Psychologically, the colors red, white and blue are favorable to the formation of pleasant emotions. Red, particularly, makes the eye bright, the mind clear and cheerful, and at the same time frank and open. The influence of a red rag upon an enraged bull is more than academic. It rallies the energy, dash and courage of man as well as animals.

Blue and White.

Red has also been found experimentally to stimulate the blood and adrenal glands. Researches carried forward independently of each other by Professors William Cermon of Harvard and George W. Crile of Cleveland show that the adrenal glands are active when bravery, strength, adaptability, imagination, originality and initiative hold the stage.

The influence of blue light and blue colors upon human kind is the very antithesis of black. Individuals and nations under the pall of black are given over to deaths, murders, treacheries, hypocricies, lies, blasphemies, lawbreaking and a woeful disregard of the rights of others, or any honor, duty or justice in themselves.

Blue, on the other hand, has a noble power for good. Mischievous and destructive animals placed near blue walls, glass and ceilings become tractable, playful, happy and lively. Men and women are found by Dr. E. A. Williams to be similarly affected. They become bright, energetic and merry.

White and blue, according to Professor J. Smith, make a special appeal to the better side of human nature, because they hold the attention better. This same observer and others find a predisposition in races other than German to avoid black, and to prefer red, white and blue. They ascribe the canity, yes, braggadocio and misappropriation of the discoveries of America, England and France to the influence of blackness and darkness in flags, forests and art upon the German tribes.

Good Night Stories

JOHNNY CRICKET'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Johnny Cricket wasn't a bad little cricket, but, dear me, he was never contented. If his mamma said not to go to a certain place, Johnny Cricket was very unhappy until he reached that very spot, and saw why she didn't want him to go there. Johnny Cricket was never satisfied with what he had; he always wanted more.

One day his mamma went in search of food and told Johnny Cricket not to venture on the other side of the great high hill.

"But why?" asked Johnny Cricket, who always wanted a reason for things.

"Because I think it's best," replied Mamma Cricket, and kissing him goodbye, she hopped away.

No sooner was she out of sight than Johnny Cricket began to wonder why he wasn't to go on the other side of the hill.

"Something she doesn't want me to see, I guess, but I'm going to see just the same," and chirping loudly Johnny Cricket climbed the hill and hopped over on the other side.

There wasn't a thing in sight, and Johnny Cricket was just about to turn back when his cousin, Billy Grasshopper, called him to come over to see him jump.

Johnny Cricket forgot all about his mamma's warning and hopped down beside Billy Grasshopper and back and forth over the meadow they hopped, chirping and laughing merrily.

"There's nothing out in this meadow to frighten us that I can see," said Johnny Cricket, "And there's nothing to see. Now why did my mamma tell me not to come over here I'd like to know!"

"Oh, bother! Mammas are always telling us not to do this and that," cried Billy Grasshopper. "Best way's not to pay any attention. There's nothing but birds flying around here that could harm us, and we can easily see them flying above our heads in time to get out of the way."

The two naughty little meadow boys hopped upon a blade of grass and looked into the sky. There wasn't a bird in sight, and they were both singing merrily when Billy Grasshopper was jerked off the blade of grass and found himself in the sharp claws of a great, big, black cat with glassy green eyes.

Johnny Cricket was so frightened he couldn't move, and that would have been the end of those two naughty fellows if a pretty little white poodle dog hadn't bounded through the grasses and taken Miss Pussy so by surprise that she dropped Billy Grasshopper and hunched up her back and spit at the pretty poodle, who nearly barked his head off trying to frighten her and chased her away.

Poor Billy Grasshopper and Johnny Cricket crawled under a leaf and hid, for they knew if they hopped away Miss Pussy would again try to catch them, so they crouched under the leaf until the poodle chased Miss Pussy out of the field.

"I guess that's why mamma said for me not to come over here," whispered Johnny Cricket, his heart beating against his little brown coat.

"Well, she's right!" exclaimed Billy Grasshopper. "As mammas generally are, and I guess the sooner we find it out the better for us."

As soon as the barking ceased Johnny Cricket and Billy Grasshopper returned home, and they never disobeyed their mammas again, for they had found out when mammas say "No" they always have a good reason.

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Why Does Lillian Advertise For a New Maid?

"It's no use, Madge. We've got to face it. I had hoped Harry was secretly helping us, or at least was keeping those devils away, but this last stunt completely upsets my hopes. A conference between Draper, Allis, Harry and that renegade Asiatic is distinctly no good business. The worst trouble is convincing your father. He's got the idea firmly fixed in his brain that Harry is his benefactor, and unless I can persuade him to the contrary he's likely to upset the apple cart any minute with some confidence to Harry."

Lillian's tone held the finality characteristic of her decisions. I knew it was useless to combat her, even to argue with her.

"I don't think you'll have any trouble convincing father of anything," I said apathetically. "He has great respect for anything you say after your judgment of Kato was justified."

"I hope you're right," Lillian retorted tartly, then added shrewdly, "But you don't agree with me, Madge."

"You are mistaken," I returned quietly. "A person possessed of even the rudiments of common sense couldn't help agreeing to this last proposition."

She said no more, but her look followed me, puzzled, as I left the room. And I, myself, was perplexed at the strength of the feeling which was championing the cause of Harry Underwood in my heart against every dictate of common sense and reason.

I had little time for introspection or speculation, however, in the days that followed. Katie's illness and Cousin Agatha's compulsory attendance upon her left the cooking and the other work to be divided between my mother-in-law, Lillian and me. And as Lillian was much occupied with the many ends of the web she was weaving for the enmeshing of Grace Draper and Mrs. Allis, and as my mother-in-law wasn't strong, the greater burden fell upon me.

The Game of Hide and Seek.

There was a touch of irony in the fact that my chief assistance in the trying days came from Kato, my father's suspected house servant. He had come over with a stolid offer of help upon the day following his trip to see Harry Underwood, and at Lillian's desire I had given him free run of the kitchen and the house, despite the fact that his presence terrified me.

"Suppose he puts poison in the food," I said to Lillian, with apparent lightness, but a very real fear lay underneath the words.

"He would do that very thing if it suited his purpose," Lillian replied gravely, "but you can rest assured he will attempt nothing of the sort until after his employers make that grand stab for the paper. They'll risk nothing in the murder line until after that night. And by that time dear Kato will have 'gyves upon his wrists.' However," she went on, "I advertised yesterday for a maid."

"For a maid?" I repeated amazed, for it seemed the height of idiocy to bring a stranger into our highly charged household.

"Yes," Lillian replied inscrutably, "and I want you to promise me not to see any one of the applicants, if there be any, or, indeed, any other caller until after I have seen them. I'm going to give William, who will be at the door henceforth, orders to call me first, but I also want you to understand it thoroughly."

"Very well," I returned meekly, for I knew there was no use of even questioning one of Lillian's decisions, but in the hours that followed I pondered wonderingly over this particular part of her plan in the few moments' respite I had from watching Kato and Cousin Agatha.

For with an inward smile I had to acknowledge the graphic picturesqueness of my mother-in-law's caustic homely comment upon them to the effect "that the snooping of those two animals is worse than any cat's." They seemed to be everywhere at once, and I gradually recognized the fact that both were hunting for the same thing—the hidden paper.

That Kato should be doing this was understandable. That Agatha should have found out anything concerning the paper surprised and troubled me. But Lillian cleared it up with a few trenchant words.

"They've Taken the Bait."

"She's got a hunch that you have something secreted about the house, and she's taken it into her suspicious old noddle that it is something discreditable to you," she said, "so she'll move heaven and earth to find it. We must take care she doesn't get at that vase first, although neither she nor Kato have come anywhere near guessing so far."

For we had placed the bogus paper in the same Chinese vase where the genuine one had reposed for so long. It was protected with the same metal pencil case, and as the vase was kept constantly supplied with a fresh blossom in water, and as it was constructed as to require a magnet to get the pencil case out of it, we felt assured that we had almost an ideal hiding place until we should ourselves get ready to betray it.

In the meantime the game of hide and seek which the Asiatic and Cousin Agatha made it necessary for me to play so absorbed me that I had almost forgotten Lillian's request to see no callers first, and my wonderment concerning it.

I was accordingly startled, indeed, when after a lengthy conference downstairs with someone whom William had ushered in, Lillian came upstairs with triumph upon her face.

"They've taken the bait, Madge," she said, "and I think we can land the whole bunch by tomorrow night, I don't think they'll put it off longer."

I looked at her astonished.

She stooped and kissed me.

"Don't think I'm raving, child," she said. "And I want you to be very brave and to obey me implicitly for the next 24 hours. Whom do you think I've just engaged as maid?"

She didn't wait for my reply, but answered her own question with the astonishing words:

"Mrs. Allis."

Holding One Million Dollars at Your Service

An inventory taken at our factory stock-rooms, our branch warehouse, and of the stocks carried by our forty-six Agents, would show, at any time, about $1,000,000 worth of Dodge Power Transmission Equipment ready for immediate shipment.

It takes nerve to carry this stock at the present time, but we have carried an equivalent amount of stock for years past, and shall continue to carry it in the future. It's one of the things we pride ourselves upon when we talk about Dodge Service.

When you order a Pulley or a Hanger or a line of Shafting or some Sprocket and Chain from us, it is shipped at once from stock. Then a duplicate of your order is sent to the works, and that equipment is replaced into stock. Consequently our stocks are maintained at a high level. That explains why you can get most Dodge stock equipment shipped on the day you order it. We know the exact condition of our stock at any hour. That is why we can handle big contracts for stock lines so very quickly. That is why so many firms rely upon us for all of their Power Transmission Equipment.

We regard it as a kind of a trust never to let a customer down, and we take pride in maintaining this service standard.

BANK FUSIONS.

The same policy of amalgamation is being carried out by the banks, partly with the intention of meeting more easily the insatiable demands of the Government for war funds, partly with the idea of meeting more expeditiously and economically the needs of industry and trade after the war. The result is that a few of the great banks in Berlin are gradually coming into a position where they will control absolutely the economic policy of the Empire, and there is little doubt that they will control it in the interest of the classes whom we consider responsible for the war. At the end of 1917 the total deposits of the eight leading joint-stock banks of Berlin amounted to 16,399 million marks, as compared with 10,000 million marks in 1916; 7,250 million marks in 1915, and 5,000 million marks in 1914. At the same time the Imperial Bank showed an increase of 1,153 million marks in gold holdings.

The Frankfurter Zeitung "deplores the gradual thinning of the ranks of private bankers and the increasing concentration of deposits in Berlin." It also asserts that the Imperial Bank is welding the banking system more and more closely together and adds that the Imperial Bank probably desires to make banking business profitable in order to find in it a powerful support during the difficult transition perior. Another leading journal states that "the general inclination is to regard the future prospects of German banking as rosy, inasmuch as the present economic organization is likely to be retained for some time after peace is proclaimed, and as long as this lasts the interests of the banks will be bound up with those of the state." Another paper reports that "in the banking world Berlin high finance has proved itself so powerful that it has been able to absorb provincial institutions irrespective of their size. The Deutsche Bank set the pace by the extension of its connections in the East. The Disconto Gesellschaft followed suit, but did not confine itself to the East alone, extending its borders to the coast and to Central and West Germany. Among its concerns the Allgemeine Deutsche Kreditanstalt, in Leipzig, which long ago had relations with the Schweizerische Kreditanstalt, has absorbed a number of banks. The Dresdner Bank has greatly extended its sphere of influence in the West; it now has over 88 branches and 100 deposit offices, many of the latter constituting a large bank in themselves."

PRODUCTION FOR EXPORT.

The immediate problem of Germany when the war ends will be to obtain a supply of raw material and to resume the production of goods. There is no doubt that such production, contrary to the normal procedure, will be primarily for export. Indications are that the great mass of the German people will be held for some time to their present reduced standards of living, that their use of the cheapest substitutes for ordinary food and clothing will continue, that strikes will be rigorously put down, that emigration will be restricted—all in order that foreign markets may be flooded with every variety of article that can be produced in Germany, always assuming that these foreign markets will be reopened to them. Germany must pay her debts and she will not be able to pay them by indemnities extorted from conquered nations. She can pay them only by exporting goods. Her preparations to do that have comprehended not only organization at home but also organization abroad, and organization upon the principle that investments abroad are the very best guarantee of a market for goods.

TRADE ASSOCIATION.

In line with this policy there has been formed a new foreign trade association, with central offices in Hamburg, which will concern itself exclusively with the development of German oversea business. According to the Koinische Zeitung important export houses, manufacturing corporations, shipping lines, and banks in Hamburg and all the other commercial and industrial centres of the Empire will be interested. The company is to serve as an active and efficient axis, round which all Germany's efforts to re-knit her old relations and establish new ones will revolve. It is not to be a bank in the ordinary sense, or an export bank. It will, on the contrary, refrain from banking operations of the usual sort. It will act primarily as a syndicate for exploring foreign markets, and when advantageous opportunities present themselves will fulfill the functions of a financial promoting company. It will take up, on behalf of all German interests concerned, promising projects abroad, such as waterworks construction and operation, railway building, harbor and dock works, and transactions of similar magnitude. These the company will not only promote and carry out, but if necessary provide the money for. The initial capital of $5,000,000 is wholly provisional. It will be multiplied many times over as required.

All these plans for recalling the prosperity which was so foolishly thrown away in 1914, and for attaining that economic supremacy which she now sees is no longer to be had by force of arms, indicate a persistence in the German mind of absolute satisfaction with the methods which won for the Empire such a proud position in the business world before the war. Their tactics have merely been developed for the conquest of greater laurels. The whole scheme is a challenge to the enterprise of all nations.

GOOD TIMES AHEAD.

The United States is now in the thick of the campaign for raising six billions of dollars covering the fourth Liberty Loan. Canada will, in another couple of weeks, be as actively gathering in the subscriptions for another Victory Loan. It is just a question whether these loan subscriptions will be helped by the events of the past 48 hours, the weakening of the central powers and the exultation of our people over the announcement of a request made upon President Wilson to bring the representatives of the Allies together for a peace conference, meantime granting a cessation of hostilities over the entire war area. Some have regarded this request as a most happy beginning, the dawn of an early peace, while others are not of the same opinion, and with no revengeful spirit demand an unconditional surrender, the reparation of the many wrongs done, and the punishment of the "criminals" who brought the war about.

Wall Street comes as nearly as any organization in the world to expressing accurately the way the financial world looks at things, and if we might judge by yesterday's market on the New York Stock Exchange we would be forced to the conclusion that the moneyed interests of the present money centre of the world, New York, takes but little stock in the present overtures on the part of Turkey, Austria-Hungary and Germany. It is but natural to suppose that now that Germany's allies and the higher officials of her own imperial government are "quitting the job," the emperor and his little coterie who have so ably led him astray in judgment and action for the last five years, are about ready to make some sacrifices and reparation. But are they ready to give up enough; to right enough; to atone for enough; to pay enough in money and replace enough in kind, to warrant the Allies in considering them seriously? Would it not be better to insist, now that we have them on the run, on putting them over the Rhine, sending them home in utter defeat, and then consider ways and means for peace, a just peace, a permanent peace, a peace that will give everybody, every nation, confidence on which to go ahead resolutely to develop agriculture to feed a hungry world; to develop industries to shoe and clothe a naked world. To do this will require tremendous effort, coupled with the investment of unprecedented sums of money in organized capital, and while there is no question of having the money in the country and world, there remains the absolute necessity for confidence in a stable future to bring the money out and into its maximum usefulness for the rehabilitation of the world, and restoring it to its normal activity. This war has upset and disorganized the whole world, and the work of readjustment when peace is declared, will have to be gone on with, with almost as much vigor and co-ordination as has been employed in the conduct of the conflict. Every nation has felt the effects of the conflagration in some way, and changes will be the natural sequence of a world peace. The Allies have the assurance now of an ultimate victory, and we turn to what effect this will have on securities. We have so often expressed through these columns our unlimited confidence in the ultimate return to old prices for certain securities that we almost hesitate to particularize, but in our judgment, bonds, especially national obligations, will appreciate rapidly, while in stocks, fertilizers, agriculturals, oils, and equipments, will advance to considerably higher figures, as must also railroads which have for so long been selling below values.

CONFIDENCE IN RUSSIAN OBLIGATIONS IS BEING RESTORED.

Russian bonds have been stronger of late and in better demand in reflection of developments adverse to the "Bullsheviki" who appear dominated with about the same brand of insanity as the German kaiser.

Russia is a country of wonderful possibilities. It stands to reason that after the war its land will be forced to disgorge its natural wealth in a measure which would never have been possible except for the world war and the demoralization of Russia itself.

The country is of sufficient natural wealth to, under proper guidance, make good every penny of outstanding indebtedness. Russia cannot possibly hope to hold its head up among the nations of the world unless it does acknowledge and take care of its exterior obligations.

When the terms of peace are finally dictated it may be accepted as a foregone conclusion that the conditions imposed by Germany on a crushed Russia in the infamous Brest Litovsk treaty will become null and void, and a new treaty drawn up which will enable Russia to expand and develop in proper fashion.

We feel that Russian securities, therefore, afford attractive speculative chances. They are, however, so strictly speculative that no one not in a position to assume considerable risk should make commitments. Russia has an exceedingly trying period before it and in our opinion there will be considerably more bloodshed and worse demoralization than even now exists before the country will be taken out of chaos and restored to a condition of stability and rule.

But in the end, a new Russia, virile and progressive, an entirely different country from the old one, will emerge and again rank with the leading nations of the world.

LLOYD GEORGE WISDOM ON LIFE INSURANCE.

The willingness to take risks is in the great merchant or capitalist, a virtue. It is to him what courage is to a soldier or a statesman, or imagination to a poet. But the willingness to take risks is in the wage earner or the salary earner, a weakness, or in great excess, a vice. The contrary of the vice of gambling is in the virtue of thrift, and the system of life insurance has given the thrifty man an opportunity of practicing his virtue. —David Lloyd George.

Four Reasons for Life Insurance

BECAUSE IT GUARDS AGAINST DANGER: Life is uncertain, health is insecure, and accidents are innumerable. Insurance taken now will guard you against the pecuniary damage threatened by such perils.

BECAUSE THEREBY CAPITAL IS CREATED: You can create a capital instantly by investing a small sum annually in a life insurance policy. The only other safe methods of accumulating capital are by arduous toil and slow saving—and such efforts are often cut short by death.

BECAUSE IT PERPETUATES YOUR EARNING POWER: Your salary, or the income from your profession or business will terminate at your death. Insurance furnishes the best method for continuing such income after your death.

BECAUSE ITS BENEFITS ARE CERTAIN: Fire may come, death must come. The fire premium is a necessary expense; the life premium is a desirable investment. Your fire policy may never mature. Your life policy, if kept in force, will inevitably mature.

"GOLDIE" PRODGER, HOCKEY STAR, IS REPORTED WOUNDED

London Professional Puck-chaser a Casualty After Long Service.

Company Sergt.-Major "Goldie" Prodger of 676 Oxford street, this city, who was a member of the 228th Battalion, N. H. A. hockey team two years ago, and one of the best known professional hockey players in Canada, is reported wounded. He has been in France with the Railway Construction troops for the last sixteen months. Prodger started his hockey career as an amateur in this city in the O. H. A. and then turned professional, subsequently playing for Quebec, Victoria, Wanderers, Canadiens and the 228th team.

COLLEGIATE TO PLAY SARNIA IN O.R.F.U. SERIES OCT. 14

Locals Much Stronger With Return of Duncan McLean — Western University and High School Team Have Practice Game.

Things are looking brighter every day for the local collegiate rugby team. "Dunc" McLean, star halfback of the fourteen last year, turned out to practice yesterday. McLean went to Toronto to sign up with the Royal Air Force last Saturday, but was put on the reserve of the R. A. F. He will not be called to report for service for some months owing to the establishment of the flying unit being complete.

With the return of McLean the locals will present one of the strongest junior football combinations that has represented London in the O. R. F. U. for years. Bryant has been placed at flying wing, and McLean will take care of quarter. These positions were the only undecided ones on the team, and with two such good men to fill them the fourteen will be strong in every detail.

Play Sarnia on 14th.

Secretary Hewitson of the O. R. F. U. informed the collegiate secretary that Sarnia had consented to play London on Thanksgiving Day at the Tunnel City. The students will have their first contest of the season on Friday, when they stack up against St. Thomas. The series game, which comes so soon after the Friday exhibition, will put the locals in first-rate shape, and a victory is confidently looked for.

The line-up on Friday will not likely include Bryant. A severe thumb sprain in yesterday's practice put him on the casualty list, and he will probably stay there until Monday's contest with Sarnia.

Thirteen members of Western University played against the collegiate boys in their first practice game yesterday. The line-up of the 'Varsity men was a strong one, and is sufficient indication that the university could master a good bunch of pigskin specialists, despite reports to the contrary.

Resulted in a Tie.

A fast game of rugby was staged at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon between the local collegiate fourteen and a team picked from the second year Meds at Western University, the result being a tie, each team having scored a touchdown. The game was merely a practice one to enable the collegiate deamons to train for coming contests. The Meds organized a team at short notice, and played with thirteen men and impromptu signals.

McLean was the star for the purple and gold, while Chalk, a returned soldier, proved a find for the Meds, making lightning tackles and dazzling end rushes. "Doc" Cline for Western played in old-time form. Edgecombe acted as captain for the Sawbones.

Despite all arguments to the contrary, Western University could muster a crack rugby team this fall if the proper efforts were made to get the boys out to practice. The aggregation yesterday, representing the second year Meds only, with a few nights practice would give any team in Western Ontario a stiff argument. And there were but three Western regulars on the line-up. There are several husky soldiers from the Western Ontario Regiment in this year's freshmen class, and if the material were developed Western University would be well represented in the Rugby Association for several seasons to come.

Collegiate Coached.

Other stars of yesterday's game were McPherson for the Collegiate, and McInnis for the Meds, Daniel proving so elusive that he was not once tackled by the Collegiate youths. Roy Kingswood refereed, and incidentally handed out a few timely tips to the Collegiate boys, who meet the St. Thomas Collegiate team at Tecumseh Park on Friday afternoon. The Collegiate team is composed of husky young fellows who are getting right down to work, and a few practice games will do them a world of good. It is likely that another practice contest with the Meds will be staged in the near future, as the Collegiate team must be whipped into shape to meet Sarnia this month.

The Collegiate was represented by the usual line-up minus Dennis and Gillies. The line-up for Western University Meds was as follows: Backs, Chalk, Ferguson, Cline; quarterback, Edgecombe; outside wings, McLeod, Lewis; middle wings, Alexander, Kirkpatrick; inside wings, Simpson, Knight; scrimmage, Douglass, Annett, Bowen.

A RED CROSS APPEAL TO THE GOLFERS THROUGHOUT CANADA

Enthusiasts Asked To Dip Deep in Their Pockets on Thanksgiving Day, When Seventy-Five Clubs Will Hold Special Tournaments.

The directors of the Royal Canadian Golf Association—the governing body of golf in the Dominion, at a recent meeting decided to set Monday, October 14, as a "Thanksgiving Day" for golfers, and golf on the links of the clubs throughout Canada affiliated with the association, the proceeds of the day to be devoted to the Red Cross Society.

The glorious Allied successes recently recorded on all the fronts means, alas! casualities in ever-increasing numbers, and there never was a time in the four years' history of the world war when the ministrations of the Red Cross were in such demand, or were so urgently required.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association believes that the golfers of the Dominion cannot more appropriately mark the day appointed for thanksgiving by the Government of Canada than conducting golfing events, the entry fees from which shall be entirely devoted to the Red Cross. The cry for funds for this noble institution is both widespread and insistent.

It has been suggested that a fee of 5 cents per stroke from players entering the competitions would be the means of raising a large sum of money. In the event of that not being thought advisable, it is hoped that an entrance fee of at least $1 shall be charged. However, these matters are, of course, entirely in the hands and control of the local committee to work out to the best advantage of the fund. The main idea is to raise an amount throughout the Dominion commensurate alike with the worthy cause which is so close to the hearts of all Canadians, and the high standard of golf and its following in every community. The association is giving a sterling silver cup to each club, to be competed for on Thanksgiving Day, and also silk banners to the three clubs, which (pro rata of membership) contribute the largest amounts to the Red Cross funds on Thanksgiving Day. The president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association is also giving a very handsome sterling silver cup to the club making the largest returns for the Red Cross.

Many clubs are organizing for the event ahead of Thanksgiving Day, interesting members in giving subscriptions, and otherwise making sure of a successful financial result, regardless of weather conditions on the holiday.

The fund, it might be added, is off to a splendid start already, the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association having started "the ball rolling" by sending in a check for $500—the amount voted for the RFed Cross at the recent highly successful tournament held by the seniors at the Royal Montreal Golf Club.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association had already had assurance of hearty support from all the leading clubs of the Dominion, and is confident that our club, too, will support to the uttermost this "Thanksgiving Day drive," and the noble cause which it represents.

The Price of Newsprint

THE price of newsprint interests more than the maker and the publisher. It may concern the general public in its bearing on the price of newspapers, and for this reason has evoked a wider interest than was manifested when the price of the article was steadily declining. Contracts had been made before the war for the supply of newspaper as low as 1¾ and 2 cents per pound; since April 1st last the price to the publisher has been 2.85 cents per pound, and it has now been fixed retroactively as from July 1st last at 3.45 cents per pound. The increase in the case of contracts made previous to 1915 is 70 per cent. in the cost of paper, and the price established by the Commissioner may, upon subsequent revision, be further advanced. In any event the day of two-cent newsprint is done. The combination of higher wages, increased consumption, and decreasing reserves of pulpwood make that certain.

The public interest in the subject is confined to the bearing of the cost of newsprint upon the finished product, the newspaper. Treating the daily journal as an essential commodity of modern life, it will readily be admitted that cost and selling price are regulated by precisely the same factors as determine the price of bread, clothing, fuel, rent, and scores of other things. Bankruptcy must follow fast in the wake of a policy fixing the selling price below the cost of goods. Neither paper manufacturers nor newspaper publishers are exempt from this maxim, and so with the ascending items of cost there must come an increase in the price of the product if the business is to survive, the occupation to continue. The working of this immutable law has already both in the United States and Canada caused the suspension of many newspapers and an increase in the sale price of a still larger number. Newspapers formerly sold at one cent now cost the buyer two cents, and those that were issued at two cents have been advanced to three cents. With newsprint at 3.45 cents a pound the way of the publisher becomes more difficult. White paper is not by any means the sole element entering into the cost of a newspaper; wages, telegraphic service, rent, and a score of other items enter into the matter; and all of these have mounted in cost very greatly in the last four or five years, so that when the public are required to pay an additional cent for what still remains, when compared with its value, the cheapest article procurable, the public will not refuse, having knowledge of conditions.

We are prepared to accept the price of newsprint fixed by Commissioner Pringle as fair and reasonable, having regard to the cost of production. He has shown much patience in arriving at a conclusion, investigating thoroughly the cost of manufacture in order to determine a rate carrying no undue profit. What publishers and public may insist upon is that there be no combination of paper-makers in restraint of trade either by excessive rise in price or reduction of output, and there is no reason to believe that either of these evils is practiced. It may also be required that the domestic price of newsprint shall be as low as the export price. Of the total production in Canada, no less than 88 per cent. is exported, chiefly to the United States, and the trade has an almost unlimited market assured by reason of Canada's preponderating supply of pulpwood. The American price can be determined by regulation only in that country, but the Canadian Government or the Paper Commissioner can order that foreign publishers shall not obtain their newsprint below the price to Canadian publishers; any other course will cause instant and persistent protest. Along the whole line of work the laborer is worthy of his hire, from the woodman, who fells the tree, the railways transporting it to mill, the manufacturer who converts it into paper, to the publisher who produces the newspaper, and there is but one limitation properly to be imposed, namely, that the profits arising from the intermediate and ultimate process shall not be unduly excessive.

The contention that the price of newsprint should be kept low, in the interest of the public, is not convincing. It has even been urged that the Government should bonus the industry, or produce a supply of cheap newsprint in a commandeered mill for the benefit of publishers, and a deal of rhetorical rot has been written about the supreme importance of keeping the price of newspapers within the means of the masses. The value of the newspaper needs no preachment; it has long been the mental pabulum of all sorts and conditions of men, and has become so essential to all of whatever degree that it can no more be dispensed with than physical food and raiment. And the individual who measures his intelligence, information and patriotism at the price of one cent a day is not destined to shape to any noticeable degree the affairs of a country.

SIX-TEAM INDOOR BOWLING LEAGUE FOR THIS SEASON

Tenpin Artists Meet Last Night and Formulate Plans.

Indoor bowling enthusiasts of the city met at the National poolrooms last night to discuss plans for the coming season. The election of officers was the first detail of business attended to and resulted as follows: Honorary presidents, Peter Smillie and Tom Mascari; president, Frank Cousins; vice-president, A. Sheere; secretary-treasurer, H. Catalano.

The City Bowling League will be composed of six teams this season: The Hasbeens, under the captaincy of A. Sheere; the Nationals, with T. Crawford at the helm; the Marconis, with E. Catalano as captain; the Brunswicks, directed by P. Hooper; the W. O. R. team, captained by Sergt. Bond, and the Irish Rangers, will comprise the league.

The alleys will open next Friday, but the schedule will not begin to be played until October 21. It is unlikely that there will be a manufacturers' league this year, and to stimulate competition the city series will be divided into two groups. A number of prizes will be presented in the course of the season.

A meeting of the executive will be held on Friday, when the schedule will be drawn up and plans for the season arranged.

SEMI-PROS TO PLAY GAME ON HOLIDAYS IN UNITED STATES

Government Approves of Plan for Week-End Sport.

Cleveland, Oct. 8.—The Government has approved the plan of the national baseball federation to form a semi-professional league to play in major league parks on Saturdays and Sundays during the coming season, it was announced last night by Clayton Townes, Cleveland member of the executive committee of the federation, on his return from Washington.

Townes, with Cliff Martin of Cincinnati, president of the federation, and Ralph Davis of Pittsburg, executive board member, conferred with members of the war activities commission and with officials of the railroad administration. The latter believe the week-end trips of the teams could be made without handicapping railway facilities. The league will be comprised of teams representing eight cities, including Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and Akron. The remaining two are yet to be selected. Each city will have at least two clubs, one remaining at home, while the other is on the road. After traveling expenses and the upkeep of the parks have been deducted the receipts will go to the national commission on training camp activities for athletic equipment for soldiers and sailors.

LIVERPOOL SOCCER TEAM SUFFER FIRST DEFEAT BY OVERTON

Lancaster Champions Are Trounced for First Time of the Season.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—The surprise of the day in soccer circles on Saturday, was the defeat of the Lancashire Section champions, Liverpool, at the hands of Everton, who won 4 to 2. Previous to today Liverpool had won every game and had not had a goal scored against them. As a result of this game and Manchester City's win over Manchester United the two Liverpool teams and the City are now tied at the head of the table.

Blackburn won from Burnley by 1 to 0, thus registering their first win of the season.

In the London Combination Crystal Palace had all they could do to beat Brentford by 3 to 2. They have won every game played up to date. The "Gunners" are also unbeaten this season, defeating West Ham 4 to 1 today.

Low scores featured the games in the Midland Section. Leicester-Fosse regained the lead by winning from Grimsby, 5—3, while Lincoln could only draw with Notts Forest, 1—1. Barnsley and Bradford City played a goalless draw, as did Bradford and Notts County. Both Sheffield teams are occupying a lowly position in the league and up to date have only won one game each. They both lost today, being beaten by Coventry and Birmingham respectively.

In the Scottish League Patrick Thistle improved their position with a win over Falkirk by four goals to two. Kilmarnock ran up a score of five goals against St. Mirren, the latter only finding the net once. Results:

WESTMINSTER BELLE, LONDON JUMPER, IS AMERICAN CHAMPION

Beck Hunter Secures Title at Rochester Show.

ON A WINNING TOUR

Trainer Tom Smith Brings Home Many First Prizes From Three Shows.

Trainer Tom Smith of the Beck stables has just returned from a tour of American horse shows, and with him he brought back the championship of America for jumpers, won by Westminster Belle, one of the stable's green hunters, who has swept the boards clean.

Trainer Smith took eight horses to Rochester, Syracuse and Brynmawr, and in almost all classes took the firsts. At Rochester, Westminster Belle won her laurels in the sweepstakes, the winner of which carries the championship title. The field was large and the course over which the contenders went consisted of a gate, a triple bar jump, a picket fence on a stone wall and a picket gate. It is one of the most difficult courses, and Westminster Belle gave a remarkable performance, with Trainer Smith in the saddle. Kilgour of Toronto was the contender.

Two Other Champions.

Melrose and Sir Edward won the two open championships, the former on the lightweight division and the latter in the heavyweight. The stable, in addition to this, took two-thirds of the events.

At the Syracuse State Fair, in fields as large as fifteen, the stable won all classes except the novice hunter, and the horse entered in this event by the Beck stable fell. Not only did the combination take the first, but secured the second prizes as well.

At Brynmawr, Trainer Smith took all the open classes. This was a patriotic meet, in the centre of the greatest harness and saddle horse country in America. There were no prizes except Liberty bonds and cups, the owners donating the events to aid patriotic causes.

Brockton Show Closed.

The stable was to have performed for a week at the big Brockton show, but this was cancelled owing to an outbreak of Spanish influenza.

The stable goes to Columbus, O., next week, and other London horses at this show will be the Blackburn and Reason stables. It is expected that London will clean up the majority of the events, and there is keen rivalry between the local stables.

PRACTICE AT Y. M. C. A.

The businessmen's and Y. M. C. A. classes got in a first rate basketball practice at the Y. M. C. A. last night. About seven members of the businessmen's class and twenty members of the Y. M. C. A. did stunts with the ball in the local gymnasium under the direction of Mr. Allan, the new Y. M. C. A. physical superviser.

Enormous Food Value of BOVRIL

Proved by World-Famed Scientist at instigation of British Government Department

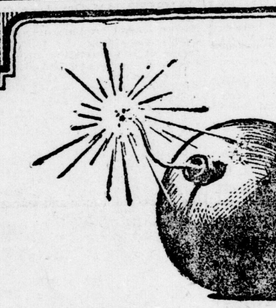

The great body-building power of Bovril does not admit of argument. It is proved, just as the circulation of the blood is proved, or the law of gravity.

The independent experiments carried out by an eminent physiologist under the most complete scientific control, proved the notable body-building powers of Bovril. The experiments were conducted with human subjects, on a standard diet, and the increase in weight was never less than 10 (and it actually in some cases reached 20) times the amount of Bovril added to the diet.

BOVRIL stands alone

A CONSERVATIVE MAN DOESN'T CARRY a lighted bomb around with him searching for water to put out the fuse. He gets rid of it as quickly and gently as possible and then goes away from there.

Not all of us know that we are packing around with us every day a potential source of trouble that may produce disease or even death. Ninety per cent of human illness is caused or aggravated by a clogging of waste in your bowels.

If you try to blast away that decaying, germ-breeding waste with weakening pills, salts, castor oil, laxative mineral waters, etc., you are like the man with the bomb—carrying it around with you while you hunt for the neutralizer.

You'll never find one. There isn't any. The thing for you to do is to stick to your schedule of bowel movements as you do to your tooth brush. Get rid of that source of danger before the germs back up through your system and hit you with something you recognize. FRENCH NAVAL FORCE ENTERS BEIRUT AMID WILDEST ENTHUSIASM

PARIS, Oct. 7.—A French naval division operating off the coast of Syria, entered Beirut this morning. The enthusiasm of the populace is indescribable.

Beirut, capital of the vilayet of the same name, is the chief seaport of Syria. It is situated on the Mediterranean seventy-five miles northwest of Damascus. Before the war it had a population of more than 150,000, more than two-thirds being Christians.

TERMINAL ELEVATORS ARE PARALYZED BY WIDESPREAD STRIKE

WINNIPEG, Oct. 7.—The business of loading and unloading grain at public terminal elevators at Fort William, Port Arthur and Thunder Bay is paralyzed today as a result of a strike of employees. Workmen of the C. P. R. and G. T. R. elevators also are out, and the strikers number some thousands, according to a message received today at the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

RED CROSS OUT TO COMBAT 'FLU' WITH BIG FORCE

NURSES TO BE ENROLLED

Public Health Service and State Boards of Health To Combine.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Mobilization of the full forces of the American Red Cross to combat the epidemic of Spanish influenza which rapidly is spreading over the country was determined on today, and instructions sent to all points where the disease is making headway. In proportion with the public health service and the state board of health the Red Cross will enroll nurses and will freely use its accumulated hospital supplies to fight the disease.

Reports today to the public health service showed both that the disease is spreading and that the number of cases reported where it has heretofore been prevalent is increasing. This, however, was not the situation in army camps, the number of new cases reported during the 48 hours ending at noon today showing a slight decrease. Pneumonia in the camps continued to increase, with 4,532 cases and 1,388 deaths reported since Saturday.

Influenza cases reported from all camps since the disease became epidemic September 13, now total 167,000; pneumonia, 17,102, and deaths, 4,910.

ALLIES HAVE GAINED ALL BULGARS' ARMS AND WAR MATERIAL

RAUS MIT THE HUNS

Austro-German Troops Are Ordered Out and Are on Their Way.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 7.—A dispatch received here from Sofia quotes the Bulgarian semi-official newspaper Preporetz as giving the following as the terms of the armistice entered into between Bulgaria and the Entente Allies:

Departure of Huns.

Departure within a month of German and Austro-Hungarian troops, military agencies, diplomatic and consular representatives, and persons of those nationalities.

The Turks were not mentioned in the armistice, according to the dispatch.

Bulgaria on Saturday notified the powers with which she has been allied that they must quit Bulgarian territory within a month, says a Sofia dispatch to the Berlin Tageblatt.

AUSTRIA GETS OFF THE DANUBE ROUTE

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Vienna newspapers announced that the Austrian-Danube Steamship Company has suspended freight and passenger service beyond Orsova on account of the situation in Rumania and Bulgaria, according to a Zurich dispatch to the Petit Journal.

Orsova is a village on the Danube just west of the "iron gate" a rocky gorge through which the Danube flows, situated at the point where the frontiers of Austria, Rumania and Serbia meet.

SNUG SUM OF MONEY LYING AT OTTAWA AWAITING CLAIMANTS

(Special to The Advertiser.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Quite a large sum of money is standing idle in the Dominion treasury because hundreds of soldiers who went overseas and were casualties left incomplete addresses of their next of kin or friend by whom pensions might be adjusted.

In some cases the soldier was not even known at the address he gave. There are many pensions still unclaimed, according to the board of pensions commissioners, which has issued a list with the last known addresses of claimants who cannot be located. Among the list are the names of Alexander C. Thompson, board of pension commissioners, 53 Bank of Toronto Building, London Frederick Holt, 182 1-2 Lock street, Hamilton; Charles M. Newton, general delivery, Chatham, and Mrs. Maud Andrews, 360 Queen street, Woodstock.

RETURNED HERO IS GIVEN BIG OVATION

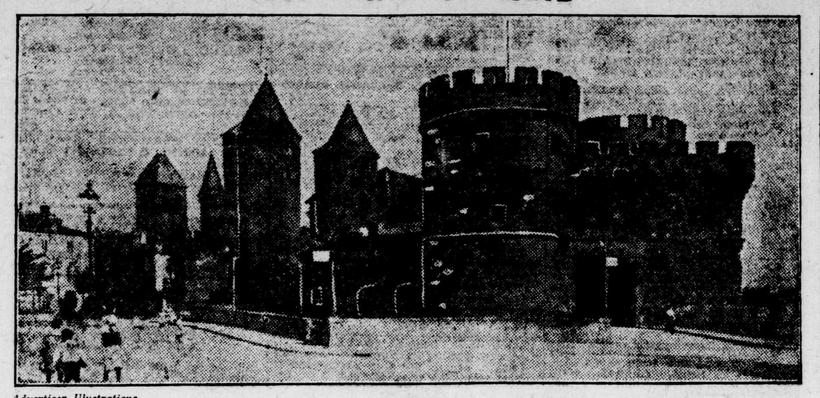

BLYTH, Oct. 7.—Citizens turned out en masse on Saturday night at the reception given in honor of Pte. Hamm, a returned soldier from the field of battle who some times ago lost his right leg after having his right arm badly damaged. He was also struck in the head with a shell fragment. Word was received here in the afternoon that he would arrive from London at 7 p.m. Before train time there was a vast throng of citizens at the depot, and when the train arrived a procession was formed with number of horsemen and three bands, followed by the reeve and councillors and about seventy-five auto loads of citizens. The rest of the citizens were on foot. When they came to the centre of the town, Rev. W. B. Hawkins gave an address of welcome to the returned hero and the bands to his home, where his parents were to his home where his parents were overjoyed to receive him.

1,480 U. S. SOLDIERS PRISONERS IN GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Members of the American expeditionary forces who have been identified as prisoners of war in Germany numbered 1,480 on October 5, says an announcement today from the office of the adjutant-general of the army.

In addition 230 civilians interned in Germany have been identified, as have 61 sailors held in Constantinople.

THE FORTS OF METZ

Advertiser Illustrations

Here are some of the old forts of Metz, which was stolen from France in 1870, and which city is now under the fire of the French and American armies. The newer forts are declared by the Germans to be impregnable, but this war has shown that nothing is impregnable to modern artillery.

FOE STILL REELING FROM BLOW CANUCKS DEALT LAST TUESDAY

Men From Canada Stood Against Savage Hosts When Retirement Would Have Been Justified — But They Stood and Broke Enemy's Supreme Thrust.

BY J. F. B. LIVESAY.
Canadian Press Correspondent.

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN THE FIELD, Oct. 6.—Via London, Oct. 7.—Saddened though they be by the heavy price of victory, the people of Canada will thrill with pride when they come to read the full story of the wonderful stand their troops made during the early days of last week against enemy masses determined to wrest from them their conquests. Gallant and heroic episodes are innumerable; battalions, companies and little knots of men stood their ground against wave after wave of assaulting troops, supported by the greatest massing of machine guns this war has produced.

It is the penalty of storming troops such as the Canadian corps that they sometimes create for themselves, in their impetuous advance, unprotected flanks. The salient they drive into the enemy lines becomes enfiladed, and power is not at hand to widen it out into a practical front, the troops in the apex must either fight it out against overwhelming odds or fall back.

Savage Waves Stemmed.

The latter is not the lesson the Canadian corps has learned, and it was this desperate clinging to positions, practically untenable, that contributed to our heavy casualties. Incidentally it was just such stands that stemmed the enemy waves and frustrated his savage efforts to win Ypres-Bourlon Wood.

Such a situation was brought about Tuesday morning, when a famous Ontario regiment, having reached its objective south of Ouvillers, found that its flank was exposed, and shattering enemy masses were advancing upon it. A retirement would have been perfectly justified, but such would have uncovered our centre and imperiled all the gains on our right, brilliantly made in the early morning. So that battalion, much weakened as it was, stood fast.

One Officer Unwounded.

At the end of the battle the gallant colonel, formerly of the Canadian Engineers, was the only officer unwounded. Holding the vital trench on the flank was a party of seventeen of this unit, whose command had been taken over by a staff captain, attached to the intelligence staff of his brigade. He had been sent forward by the brigadier to help the depleted ranks of officers. The little party was entirely isolated, but for hours they held on to the trench that was the key to the position. They were still grimly carrying on, taking a great toll of the enemy, when supports were pushed in to them. Few were unwounded, and the captain, an M. C., with bar, died of his wounds.

Many True Gallants.

The intelligence officer of another brigade, engaged in like operations particularly distinguished himself by brilliant reconnaissance work, pushing out beyond our outposts under a continual fire. He comes from British Columbia. A lieutenant of a battalion from Manitoba, D.C.M. and M.M., formerly a non-commissioned officer, by his devoted example inspired his men to stand fast under extraordinarily heavy punishment. Though wounded in both legs he carried on until he fainted from loss of blood and was carried out.

The commanding officer of a Nova Scotia battalion, though wounded in the cheek, temporarily losing the sight of an eye, refused to be evacuated and stayed by his unit throughout the operation, contributing greatly to its success.

The colonel of an Ontario battalion, though seriously wounded in the hip, which ended fatally, directed his command until he lost consciousness. His brilliant leadership had proved a great asset in a critical part of the struggle.

These are but a few haphazard cases. Never have the Canadians fought harder or to better purpose. In those few days of battle they dealt a blow at the enemy from which he still reels. If nothing else, it was the unconquerable spirit of all ranks that gained the decision, the effects of which are hardly yet realized. Notwithstanding his lavish and repeated outpourings of blood, the foe has not shaken a whit our stranglehold on his vital pivot of Cambrai.

Lord Northcliffe Pays High Tribute to Work of Frank H. Simonds

Lord Northcliffe has the following to say of Frank H. Simonds, the noted American military critic, whose articles appear regularly in The Advertiser:

"I have watched Mr. Simonds's work since the beginning of the war, and was in close touch with it in the United States, where I spent some six months last year. Mr. Simonds has been right about the war more often than any of the many who have endeavored to forecast the future of this complicated catastrophe. His clarity of vision is a great joy amidst the surfeit of 'over-by-Christmas' prophets.

"Mr. Simonds has large views of the wars—I purposely use the plural. He has another quality. He makes the wars as simple as possible. The war itself is a daily study which must occupy hours of time of those who desire to know what is happening and what will happen, and I say with admiration that I do not know of a better guide to the war than Mr. Frank H. Simonds."

HUNDREDS OF DEATHS FROM SPANISH "FLU" THROUGHOUT ONTARIO

Malady Has Spread to Alarming Extent.

NO CLOSING OF THEATRES

Provincial Officer Does Not Want to Dislocate Business by Order.

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Varying reports from towns and cities in Eastern Canada regarding the epidemic of Spanish influenza make it impossible to estimate accurately the number of victims that it has claimed since the malady became general a little more than a week ago. Since that time it has spread with remarkable rapidity, and while all precautionary measures have been taken by medical health officials, it is safe to say there have been hundreds of deaths, while the number of case requiring medical attention now number many thousands.

One of the outstanding features of the epidemic has been the enormous number of cases reported in military camps, mainly in Ontario and Quebec. In camps at Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal scores have died, but commanding officers report that the disease is now well in hand.

Has Reached Winnipeg.

Latest reports show that the disease has reached Winnipeg. Two Quebec soldiers have died in the quarantine hospital there, while others are at the point of death.

In addition to military patients, the local hospitals are taxed to capacity with civilian patients. Hundreds are being treated at their homes, but doctors are not required to make any report to the medical department of health of cases under their care, with the result that accurate statistics cannot be obtained.

The provincial board of health is besieged with inquiries from health officers of cities and towns, asking what precautionary measures should be taken. Lieut.-Col. McCullough, provincial officer of health, issued a statement today setting forth the measures that should be taken to fight the disease as well as the best method of treating persons stricken with the malady.

GAPING RENT MADE IN CONSERVATIVE RANKS IN N. HURON

W. H. Fraser, Liberal, Has Two Opponents.

WINGHAM, Oct. 7.—A wide split in the Conservative party in North Huron became evident today when the nominations were made for the candidates to contest the seat made vacant in the provincial house by the resignation of A. H. Musgrove. While the Liberals of the riding are solidly behind W. H. Fraser, who was nominated today, the Conservatives have two men in the field, Dr. Thomas E. Case of Dungannon, and George Spotton of Wingham.

Mr. Spotton styled himself an Independent Conservative, and claimed that he had not received a square deal at the Conservative nomination meeting held some time ago.

Cast Deciding Vote.

It appears that the vote was a tie on that occasion, between Dr. Case and Mr. Spotton, and the president, Dr. Redmond, had cast the deciding vote in favor of Dr. Case.

Mr. Spotton claims that Dr. Case is the chosen candidate of Dr. Redmond, but that he (Spotton) is the candidate of the Conservatives of the riding.

The nomination meeting today was well attended. Richard Proctor of Morris Township, was chosen chairman by the meeting.

Dr. Jacques, M.P.P., for Haldimand, was present and spoke on behalf of Dr. Case; not, he stated as a representative of the Government, but as a schoolmate of Dr. Case. Both medical men defended the policy of the present Government.

Received Ovation.

Mr. Fraser received an ovation when he arose to speak. He referred to the extravagances of the Hearst Government, especially in the departments of education and agriculture, and also to those in connection with the building of the government house at Toronto.

The election takes place eight weeks from today, December 2. George Walker, returning officer for North Huron, received the nominations.

"PEACE HAS COME!" CRY BERLIN CROWDS

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Excited crowds in the streets of Berlin yesterday evening tore special editions of the newspapers containing the speech of Prince Maximilian of Baden, the new chancellor, from the hands of the newsdealers.

Everywhere shouts of "Peace has come," "Peace at last!" were heard.

SUSPEND ANTI-TRUST SUITS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Upon the Government's motion, the supreme court is to be asked to postpone consideration at the present term of all pending anti-trust suits because of the war. Attorney-General Gregory announced today that motions to this effect will be formally filed in the court tomorrow.

BUYS 100-ACRE FARM.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 7.—Fred Oster, who recently sold his 150-acre farm in McKillop Township, has purchased the fine 100-acre farm of James McFadgean, Lot 3, Concession 16, Grey, for the sum of $7,000. Mr. McFadgean purposes taking a rest for a time.

East Huron teachers will meet in convention here on Thursday and Friday of next week. Sessions will be held in Melville Presbyterian Church.

Brusselites have arranged for a 3-day Chautauqua festival to be put on here on October 23, 24, and 25.

DR. FRITCH, FORMER DRUMBO RESIDENT, IS AGAIN ON TRIAL

DETROIT, Oct. 7.—Charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Christina Gordon, which took place in August of last year, Dr. George A. Fritch, once a well-known resident of Drumbo, Ont., went on trial here today.

Last Saturday the physician was arrested on a new charge in connection with the death of a Polish woman. He was released on $5,000 bail on this charge.

Dr. Fritch has lived in Detroit for the past eighteen years. In this time he has been arrested for malpractice on eleven occasions, but has got off each time, except once, when he served two years of a fifteen-year term at Jackson Prison, being acquitted on a second trial.

REMNANT OF 63RD AND 4TH BATTERIES ARRIVE IN GUELPH

Will Spend Winter There, Says Report.

GUELPH, Oct. 7.—The remaining members of the 63rd and 64th Depot Batteries who have been in camp at Petawawa, arrived in Guelph at 5 o'clock this afternoon and went into winter quarters at the armories. There were just 60 men in the command of Capt. Bell and Capt. Cameron, the balance having either joined the 2nd Tank Battalion or the Siberian Expeditionary Force. It is expected that about fifty more men who have been on farm leave and who are under orders to report for service will report within a few days. All the guns were brought back here, but no horses, all the latter having been sent away with the Siberian troops. The men were all glad to get back from their summer camp and were heartily welcomed by the citizens.

What German Kultur Did For Macedonia

Out of 24,000 Inhabitants, 5,000 Died of Starvation.

Athens, Sunday, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos, in visiting Seres, Macedonia, which has been occupied by Greek troops, found that of the 24,000 inhabitants, 5,000 had died of starvation, 11,000 had been deported, and 2,000 had been forced to work on military roads during the Bulgarian occupation. The remaining inhabitants, including women dressed in mourning, told the premier of crimes committed against the Greeks in the two years the Bulgarians held the town.

NOW A PRISONER.

WABASH, Oct. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. John Howatt of Thamesville received word that their son, Sergt. Richard Howatt, who has been missing for some time, is now a prisoner of war.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ellis received recent word from their son, Pte. Clinton Ellis, who went overseas with the 186th. Pte. Ellis has just lately reached the firing line. He and Sergt. Will Hope of Zone are about the last two men of the 186th Battalion to be sent to the trenches.

REV. DR. BRIGGS LEAVES OFFICE, AGED 83 YEARS

Methodist Conference Bans Men Above 70 From Positions.

DEBATE WAXES WARM

Veteran Book Steward Resigns Before Final Decision Comes.

HAMILTON, Oct. 7.—Rev. Dr. Briggs, book steward of the Methodist Church, has resigned his position. This fact was not announced to the General Conference, which at the end of the special session passed the recommendation of the special committee, which reported in favor of fixing the age limit at 70 years for officers of the Methodist Church. Rev. Dr. Briggs is 83 years of age, and, though the conference did not know it, his resignation had been in the hands of the general superintendent of the church since this morning.

Dr. Briggs was present during part of the discussion, but left before its conclusion. It waxed quite warm, nearly all of those who spoke on the question coming out strongly against the proposal. In spite of this the conference passed the motion by a vote of 179 to 87, after turning down an amendment to allow the election of men over 70 years of age on a two-thirds vote.

How It Would Work.

As elections are for a four-year period the passage of this resolution means that if a man is elected, say, at the age of 69, he will be ineligible for re-election four years later, when he is 73 years of age.

"Who would have thought of passing the age limit on Gladstone?" asked G. A. Proctor of Sarnia. "I think it is a singular resolution to bring into this conference. I do not think there is any one here who cannot catch the eye or lay the hand on the shoulder of some one over 70 years old."

"The idea of cutting off the head of every member over 70 is all wrong," said Mr. Proctor. "I am 75, and I do more work now for the church than any young man under twenty years. If the church is going to be run by young men, the young men have got to wake up and wake up mighty fast."

Lieut.-Col. C. B. Keenleyside of Regina declared that had the British Empire taken Lord Roberts' advice, given long ago, after he was 70 years of age it would have averted many of our recent disasters.

Rev. Dr. Beland of Winnipeg thought the responsibility of electing a man over 70 years of age as a conference officer was a heavy one for the church to assume, and he suggested that if a man over 70 were selected it should not be for a greater period than one year.

The Mission Centenary.

At this afternoon's session Rev. Dr. Pinson, general secretary of the foreign mission board of the Methodist Episcopal south, congratulated his Canadian brethren on the success of their missionary effort.

In speaking of the movement to celebrate the centenary of Methodist missions he said that stress was being laid on prayer, and the reaffirmation of the sense of Christian stewardship. It was proposed to raise $80,000,000 from the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States and $35,000,000 from the Methodist Episcopal Church south. The idea of tithing incomes was meeting with favor. In five years this would pay all the needs of American missions and leave $1,150,000 for all the other causes of the church.

"Don't any of you get uneasy or get cold feet about what the United States is going to do about this peace movement," he exclaimed, diverting for a few minutes to the war news of the day. "I like to hear you quote Woodrow Wilson, and all that sort of thing, but I know the people down there among whom I live; leave it to them; they'll attend to it.

Canadians Red-Blooded.

"I like the French and the British," he went on after recalling some incidents showing the valor of Canadian soldiers, "but I want to say right here that the lads from Canada and from America have put a lot of pep into this thing that would not be there otherwise. There's something really red in the western blood, isn't there? These boys want to go to Berlin, and who is going to stop them? They are not going to be hoodwinked by any of this peace talk of the kaiser at the present time."

Rev. W. Hodson Smith, fraternal delegate from the British Wesleyan Church, raised the conference to a high pitch of enthusiasm by his references to the peace proposals of Germany. Reading portions of them from a newspaper report, he declared: "I don't know what my countrymen or their allies think about it, but it strikes me as being the very acme of impertinence. As a Britisher who would have been at the Marne if I had been young enough, and as a man, I would be prepared to put this paper under my feet and trample on it—and I would do it if the kaiser's signature were attached to it."

Full of Bluff.

The imperial chancellor's speech in the Reichstag, he referred to as "full of inconsistency, full of bluff," and its reference to labor as "this peculiar audacity."

"I am absolutely certain," he went on, "that the men of France, the men of Great Britain, the men of Canada, of America, of Italy, will say we are not disposed to open negotiations with this burglar, with this murderer."

The conference received a telegram from James Mills of Ottawa protesting strongly against the proposed age limit on ministers and officers of the church.

Hitherto General Conference officers have been elected by ballot without nominations. The conference decided today after a lively debate to have the General Conference nominate three for each office, and that further nominations may be made from the floor of the conference.

Sunday Schools and Y. P. S. C. E.

Rev. H. T. Bartlett led a conference on the policy and program of the church on Sunday schools and young people's societies. The church had the opportunity now, he said, to provide standards and tests for the Sunday school. If there was one place the church needed to go into today that was the home. It was there and not in the church that primary education was secured. There should be a committee in each church to see that they had a program of progressive instruction of both children and adults, so that everyone in the church should be connected with some church work. Until 1910 the church had no training for Sunday school teachers. At that time only 115 teachers had any kind of training.

There were two principles which he desired to emphasize. "We cannot do the work of the church of the future with the machinery of the past. What we must aim at is the maximum of efficiency with the minimum of machinery, and testing every bit of machinery by results." Every annual conference should be left free to choose the kind of machinery suited to its needs. There must be latitude allowed or local initiative would be lacking.

In conclusion he appealed for adequate financial provision for the work. "All we have," he said, "is not too good for God and His little ones."

Conference Will Be Prolonged.

It is practically certain now that the conference, which opened here on Wednesday last, will not conclude its sessions before Wednesday, October 16, at the earliest. On the evening of Monday, October 14 (Thanksgiving Day), a special thanksgiving service will be held, at which addresses will be delivered by Rev. Chancellor Bowles of Victoria University and Hon. N. W. Rowell.

There will also be a patriotic service tomorrow evening, at which Rev. John Williams will speak on "The Church the Army," and Lieut.-Col. Rev. C. G. Williams will speak on "The Church and the Navy." Hon. Sir William Hearst, prime minister of Ontario, will also address the conference at this service.

"Unto the least of these"

RIVET your eyes on this picture of a Belgian mother and child, until you feel the full horror of the situation! Thousands of these orphans, dying of starvation, might now be living in comfort and plenty, had their soldier fathers not flung themselves into the breach when the Hun invaded Belgium.

The fathers died to save us. Are we going to let the orphans starve?

Conditions are simply ghastly. The United States loans to the Belgian Government finance the general relief work, but this only provides a bowl of soup and two pieces of bread to each person per day.

What is that for a growing child?

The Slaughter of the Innocents is less terrible than what is now occurring in Belgium—practically a whole generation of the Belgian nation in the grip of Consumption, Rickets and other ills all directly due to insufficient nourishment.

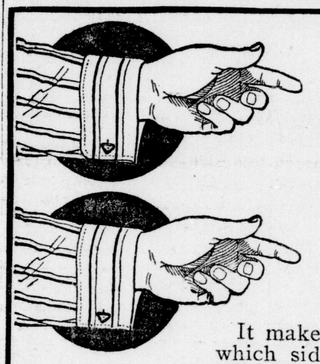

The Canadian Bureau in Brussels will administer funds, and provide means for getting the ailing children into Holland and into orphanages where they can be saved from a hideous death.

Before you sit down to another meal, do SOMETHING for the Belgian children. . . . . .

THIRD TANK BATT. WILL BE FORMED

Recruiting Will Be Among the French-Canadians.

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—Orders have been issued from the militia department authorizing the formation of a third tank battalion for service overseas. The appearance of this in the field will render possible the formation of a tank brigade—one more powerful unit in the Canadian army overseas. It is proposed to recruit the new battalion among French-Canadians. Recruiting, as far as possible, will be voluntary.

CELEBRATE PEACE NEWS.

CLINTON, Oct. 7.—The people of this town were so jubilant over the prospects of peace that Sunday and Monday were given over to celebrating the good news. Mayor Thompson proclaimed Monday a public holiday, and as a result all the schools, stores and factories were closed at 1:10. A procession was formed, in which the school children marched, headed by the Kiltie Band and followed by decorated automobiles. The procession proceeded to the town park, where games were played and in the evening a public meeting was held in the town hall with addresses given by local speakers. The stores and homes were decorated with flags and the beautiful weather added greatly to the enthusiastic celebration.

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advt.

SIR ERIC GEDDES REACHES AMERICA FOR CONFERENCES

Washington, Oct. 8.—Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the British admiralty, and members of the admiralty board, who arrived at an Atlantic port Sunday, came to Washington today for an important series of conferences on the American and Allied naval program.

Sir Eric and his party were welcomed by members of the British embassy, Admiral Benson and other officers and officials of the navy department and representatives of the state and war departments. They were escorted to the British embassy by a detachment of marines.

During the stay of the visitors in Washington they will occupy the home of Capt. Perry Belmont, which was placed at the disposal of the state department for the occasion.

ORDER AGAINST R. R. MEN IN CITY JOBS STANDS, IS REPORT

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 7.—Despite persistent rumors to the contrary The Advertiser learned from officials of the Pere Marquette today that the order regarding the employees of American railroads which prohibited their entry into municipal politics is still in force and so far as they know will not be cancelled.

The order was issued recently by Director-General W. G. McAdoo at Washington, and it has been posted at the local offices of the Pere Marquette, Wabash and M. C. R. A story was given wide circulation in this city last week that the order as applying to Canada would be cancelled and that a railway employee might sit on a municipal body regardless of regulations by McAdoo on the American side of the border. According to the information obtained this afternoon by The Advertiser this report was untrue.

The penalty for refusing to obey the order is immediate dismissal, and it has been posted here for several weeks.

CANADIAN ATHLETES IN GOOD DISPLAYS ABROAD

Meritorious Performances by Forestry Men.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—At the Canadian Forestry sports, Windsor Great Park, where as already cabled, the king and queen attended, the sporting events were keenly contested.

Pte. E. S. Hayman, of the Headquarters Detachment, a fine sprinter, won the 220 yards and 440 yards, and was only beaten by a foot in the 100 yards. The veteran, Q. M. S. Frank Lukeman, won the hurdles very easily, although he nearly lost his heat through easing up after clearing the last hurdle.

A magnificent finish was witnessed in the half-mile, Pte. H. Kneen of the 53rd District, beating Pte. A. P. Corner, of the 52nd District, on the post.

Corp. A. J. Gilbert, from Headquarters, ran well in the sprints, winning the 100 yards and running second in the 220 yards. Sergt. A. W. Norden, of the 52nd District, gained a popular win in the mile, and Sergt. Wimmerstoff, of the 51st District, did well to clear 5 feet 2½ inches in the high jump, considering the adverse conditions.

LISTOWEL MAN DIES.

LISTOWEL, Oct. 7.—J. Kelly has received word from his son Frank that he is now in the General Hospital at Edgbaston, Birmingham, England, where his arm is receiving treatment.

Mrs. Graham has been officially notified that her son Will is suffering from gunshot wounds in the eye and hip.

Samuel McCutcheon received a message this week that his son Edwin had been killed in action on August 27; another brother, Pte. Melville McCutcheon is still in France.

A. J. Vandrick's son, Pte. Arthur Vandrick, telegraphed his father from Halifax this week, having come over on a hospital ship, as he was invalided from France.

Sergt. Harold Fritz, who has been through much heavy fighting has been wounded in the right leg.

HEAD OF FISH STALL RESENTS DICTATION OF MEMBERS OF COUNCIL

Ald. Manness Calls for Showdown From City Fathers.

Ald. S. R. Manness, chairman of the city's fish committee, called upon the members of the city council last night to declare their position in regard to the future of the fish stall. He wanted to know if the members of the council wished to keep the stall going or if they wanted it out of business. He declared the members of the council who signed the petition, which he considered a blow at the stall, were ungrateful and plainly told the aldermen that so long as he was running the stall he would not be dictated to by them. "I am tired of the manner in which the council has been dealing with this matter, and it is time for a show down," he declared.

The matter came up through the application of F. S. Onn and others for a share of the Ontario Government fish supply. This is now sold exclusively by the civic stall. Mr. Onn addressed the council on the matter and a wordy battle between Ald. Manness and Mr. Onn resulted.

Some of the aldermen favored splitting the supply with Mr. Onn. Ald. Manness and the mayor both declared that if this was done the civic stall might as well be closed. "Fish," said Mayor Somerville, "is the only cheap thing in the city, and the stall is responsible."

The council, on motion, decided to leave Mr. Onn's application over until there is a surplus of fish.

LONDONER IS WOUNDED AFTER FOUR YEARS' WAR

Sergt.-Major Watts, M.M., Suffers Multiple Gunshot Wound.

Sergt.-Major S. T. Watts, W. O., M.M., a Londoner, who has been overseas for over four years, is today reported wounded. He has been admitted to the 22nd Casualty Clearing Station, suffering from multiple gunshot wounds. His mother, Mrs. E. Watts, 952 Princess avenue, was notified this morning.

Sergt.-Major Watts enlisted immediately war was declared, joining the 15th Field Ambulance. He went to Valcartier and left there on August 19, 1914, for overseas. He went to France three years ago last February, and has been there ever since. This is the first time his name has appeared in the casualty list. A year ago last May, it was announced that Sergt.-Major Watts had been awarded the Military Medal. What act of bravery brought him this reward he has so far failed to communicate to his mother. Prior to enlistment, he worked for Hunt Bros., plumbers.

IN POLICE COURT

George Ross, charged with speeding, satisfied the court this morning that the number taken by the officer did not correspond to the marker on his car.

"Had you a car rented that day?" asked Chief W. T. Williams. Defendant denied that he had. The car was hitting 30 miles per hour on the block between Wellington and Waterloo street, according to the evidence of the officer who laid the complaint.

It appears that the car is owned by an auto livery in the city, and it was thought that Ross was driving the car at the time. He was discharged, but it is likely another party will be summoned in connection with the case.

J. C. Beemer paid $5 and costs because a car owned by the company hit the high spots on Dundas street between Waterloo and Colborne streets on September 26. The driver said that he had been called out east on the afternoon in question, but that he had gone east on Queen's avenue to Adelaide, as near as he could remember. The court thought his memory was faulty, and the conviction was registered.

A. Garner, H. T. Collett, John Parsons, M. L. Wilson, H. J. Jones, John Young and C. R. Hunt also paid $5 and costs for speeding.

Turner F. Bailey and V. J. Colgan paid $2 for minor infractions of the motor vehicle act.

John Rodger rode a bicycle past a street car while passengers were alighting, and for this he paid $2 and witness fees.

For using the sidewalk in preference to the streets for bicycling Sidney Crockett, Frank Jolliffe and Robert Dent paid $1 each.

Frank Brooks, charged with having no occupation, was reported sick and unable to appear, and his case was adjourned for two weeks.

Dora Plank, who was to have appeared on the charge of vagrancy, also failed to attend. She will be called again in two weeks.

GARDENING PRIZES PRESENTED THURSDAY

This summer prizes were offered by the Women's Gardening Association for the best gardens that members could show, first and second prizes for the women's gardens, and first and second for the children's gardens. In addition, a grand prize was donated for the best garden of all. These prizes are to be presented at the meeting of the Women's Gardening Association to be held in Cronyn Hall at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Owing to the illness of the president of the Gardening Association, Miss Carling, the first vice-president, Mrs. George S. Gibbons, will present the prizes. The association, by the way, achieves its second annual meeting this week.

ST. THOMAS HAS ONLY FEW INFLUENZA CASES; NO EPIDEMIC FEARED

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 7.—Although there are a number of cases of influenza reported from the outlying districts of the city, there is no epidemic so far as St. Thomas is concerned. Since the first case was reported local physicians have warned their patients from mingling with other people while suffering, and in consequence Medical Health Officer McKillop believes there is little to fear.

Every precaution is being taken, but nothing serious is expected for the cases that have broken out are not increasing, and they are in the outlying districts.

RECKLESS AUTO DRIVER GAINS FREEDOM AFTER PAYING COURT COSTS

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 7.—Fred Barnhardt, a local youth, who drove an automobile over a young boy near the Scott street school the other day, appeared in court this morning for sentence on a charge of reckless driving. After giving the case full consideration Magistrate Maxwell decided to allow the young man to go on suspended sentence.

He was ordered to pay the costs of the court, however, and warned that if he appeared on another occasion he would receive no mercy.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

In comparison with former Tuesdays, the local market was very quiet this morning. Only a few wagons were present, and not much produce was offered. Potatoes remained firm in price, as did all the rest of the vegetables and fruits. Hay was scarce and oats were in good demand. Both remained firm in price. A shipment of hogs will be received Wednesday, and the price is expected to be in the neighborhood of from $18 to $18.25 per cwt.

OFFERINGS IN CASH GRAIN AT WINNIPEG BRISK; TRADE DULL

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—There were increased offerings of oats and barley today, but the market was slow and featureless. Oats closed 2¼c lower for October, and 2½c lower for December.

	Open.	Close.
Oats—
Oct.	$ 82@81¾	$ 81
Dec.	78½@78	76¾
Barley—

Rye—Nominal.

Barley—$1.05@1.10.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Oct. 7.—Readjustment from a war to a peace basis continued in the grain markets today. Local prices for oats were unchanged.

There was more business in corn than in oats, the big demand for the latter being responsible for the firmness of prices in face of a weaker future market. Corn dropped 5c. Business during the day was of an active character, and dealers reported good all-round sales, particularly of oats and barley.

GRAIN.

Oats — October, 69⅝c; December, 69½c.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 8—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Shippings and oils led the active list to substantially higher levels at the opening of today's stock market, firmer tendencies ruling elsewhere. Over-night war news seemed to stimulate short covering in stocks of recent weeks, notably United States Steel, which gained a point. Marine prefered was the most conspicuous feature, advancing 4 points in the first hour on extensive buying. Texas Company and Mexican Petroleum were next in favor, rising 1½ to 2 points. War shares as a group were higher by fractions to a point, but rails were dull and little changed.

WILL NAME BODY TO CONTROL BIG PROFITS

STRATFORD, Oct. 7.—Preliminary steps were taken at the council meeting tonight to take advantage of recent Government legislation providing for the appointment of a committee for the control of excess profits. The trades and labor council will be asked to name one of the three, the Merchants' Association another, and the council itself will choose the third.

A bonus of $50 was voted to Assistant City Clerk W. H. Borland. Dr. J. H. Robertson, M.O.H., was delegated to the American Public Health Association convention in Chicago on October 14-17.

The fire protection day was indorsed and a committee named to assist in carrying it out.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY CONVENES

WALKERTON, Oct. 7.—The district convention of the Women's Missionary Society, of the Methodist Church, was held in Walkerton on Thursday. This has been the largest county attendance for some years, and much interest was taken in the proceedings. Miss Selina Rolston of Walkerton, president of the society, was in the chair. The annual reports showed greater givings and increase in membership. The principal speaker was Mrs. W. W. Prudham of Wiarton, who gave an address in the afternoon on "Experiences in Japan," and in the evening on "The Call of the Women of the Church." Other addresses were given by Miss Tasker of Mount Forest, Mrs. Walker of Paisley, and Mrs. Jackson of Hanover. Miss Rolston was re-elected president and county organizer.

Lieut.-Col. J. J. Fraser, director of medical services at Petawawa camp, spent a couple of days in town, before taking up his new military duties at the military hospital in Winnipeg.

HOW TO GROW A DIAMOND

A traveler one day heard a man make the assertion that he knew how to grow diamonds. A friend accused him of either being a real genius or an enemy of the truth, and insisted on knowing something of this discovery—the whole truth and nothing but the truth. So William tells him: I learned this method from John A. Nash (My Jeweler) in London. He formed a diamond-growing club and the members started by selecting a small diamond and later had it exchanged for a larger stone, and in every transaction he allowed full purchase price of the last diamond bought. I joined the club and planted $10 in a small diamond. It was a small stone, I know, but the next month, cutting down on my smokes, side-tracking a few movies, left me a little surplus, so when I again hit London I had $20 to the good, so looked up My Jeweler and traded the dew drop for a $30 diamond. I did this over and over again till now I have a real beauty, blue-white and perfect stone, the only kind Mr. Nash sells. Say, does My Jeweler grow diamonds? He surely does, and his store is 206 Dundas street, opposite Gammage's, "where you will eventually buy."

HOUSE ENTERED AND ROBBED AS OWNERS SHOPPED DOWNTOWN

North End Happy Hunting Ground for Thieves at Present.

An audacious theft took place at the home of Thos. Redge, Huron street, this city, recently. Mr. and Mrs. Redge were going downtown one afternoon, and Mrs. Redge, going out first, put the key to the door on the outside, thinking that her husband would lock the door when he came out. Apparently he came out at the back door, leaving the front door unlocked. Thinking he had locked the door, Mrs. Redge did not ask him about it until they had ridden nearly downtown. He said he didn't remember, but thought he had. Thinking nothing more of the matter, they did their shopping and returned home.

On their arrival they found the door which had been left unlocked wide open. They first thought someone whom they knew had been at the house, and finding nobody home had gone away leaving the door open. In the course of a few days Mr. Redge's ring was found to be missing. Later Mrs. Redge's watch had apparently disappeared. Another day Mr. Redge, who is a contractor, went to the pants of his best suit for the purpose of getting his money to pay his employees. He discovered his money was also gone. From this it has been concluded that someone entered the house while they were away and helped himself to anything of value. The neighbors in the vicinity of the Redge residence claim to have seen no one near the house on the day the door was left unlocked.

This is not the only robbery that has taken place in the north end, as many women who have been in the habit of leaving money for their milk tickets, in the bottle on the back step, have done so to their loss. One lady left a dollar in the milk bottle late Saturday night for a dollar's worth of tickets. In the morning the milk man had left the tickets, but failed to receipt the form on the top. Questioning him the next day, she discovered he had not received the dollar, as he claims it was not there. Someone had got the dollar. Many other similar thefts are taking place, and one man has been seen making daily rounds collecting the money left for milk.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN.

City Prosecutor Will Be Asked To Investigate Alleged Cases of Theft.

JUDGE NOT TO PROCEED

Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop will be asked by the city to investigate the alleged cases of theft recited in the charges of Capt. Thos. Tozer in connection with the fire department.

It is unlikely that Judge Talbot Macbeth will conduct any investigation into the department's affairs, as the city council last night adopted the suggestion of City Solicitor Meredith that the judge be asked to not proceed with the trades and labor charges.

Mr. Meredith was asked by the council at its last meeting to repgrt on what action the council should take.

As to the application of the trades council he said he could see no reason why the council should not comply and pass a resolution, asking the judge not to preceed with the investigation. No objection was raised to this.

Charges Should Be Quizzed.

As to the Tozer charges Mr. Meredith said the more serious charges should be investigated by the county crown attorney, rather than by the county judge. As to the other charges he said it was up to the council to say whether or not the judge should be asked to proceed with an investigation into them.

Ald. Wilson made a motion that the crown attorney be asked to deal with them.

Ald. O. G. Keene—"What are the serious charges?"

City Clerk Baker—"Stealing cigars."

Mayor Somerville said the other charges referred to by Mr. Meredith were considered by the judge to be simply matters of discipline in the fire department, and he did not want to be bothered with them.

Not What Judge Wants.

Ald. Keene said, "It is not what the judge wants, it is what we want."

The mayor replied that the judge would like to make the money, but he thinks it foolish for the city to spend its money on them. The mayor added that he thought that if the matter was sent to the county crown attorney the city would be expected to prosecute.

Ald. Ashplant said the crown attorney was the man to prosecute.

Must Be Made Under Oath.

Controller Little said there were certain criminal charges made. He believed Capt. Tozer would have to make them under oath to have them investigated. If this was not done he felt the crown attorney would drop the charges.

The mayor reiterated that he believed the crown attorney will ask the city to prosecute.

The motion was carried, sending the charges to Mr. McKillop. No action was taken on the minor charges, and it would seem they will drop.

The council last night decided to have the clerk order the street railway to live up to the order and direction of Engineer Brazier. Manager C. B. King was present, and asked that the matter be sent back to the finance committee to investigate and report on.

Ald. Ashplant said the order should be passed, and then, if the railway wanted the matter taken up by the committee, they could have that done. Ald. Moorhead said the city should have better service. There were times when one could see nothing but a long stretch of rails.

Would Hurt City's Case.

Controller Little did not think that it would hurt the city's case to not serve the notice on the company at present. He did not think it wise to put the heel on the neck of the company. "First thing we know we will have a big proposition on our hands that we cannot handle." He did not think laying the matter over prejudiced the city's position. The motion carried.

Ald. Holmes presented a motion calling attention to the fact that there were many homes of the city without coal, and alleging unfair and inadequate distribution. He urged that the fuel controller be instructed to adopt a new system. Later he agreed to changing his motion to one referring the matter to a special committe consisting of the mayor, Ald. Harley and himself, with power. They will take the matter up with Mr. McCallum.

Double Up To Save Coal.

Ald. Holmes had a motion put through calling for a proclamation to ask the people of the city to double up with friends who have coal, so as to save coal. Also to ask the people to use wood and soft coal until the cold weather arrives.

The council decided that the $1,000 grant made to the Italian Red Cross last year, and which was not paid, should be paid forthwith.

Ald. Moorhead and Ald. Drake asked for a report on the combustible material stored within the city limits. They also asked that the building inspector inform the council if permits to have such places have been issued.

Mrs. Alex. Calder was spokeswoman for a delegation from the Union of Mothers' Clubs of the city, asking that the speed laws of the city be enforced. A motion to this effect was passed. The matter of changing the law was referred to the special traffic law committee.

The Beatty footbridge has not as yet been started. Members of the council said some plain things about the London railway commission. An effort is to be made to find out when the bridge will be started.

ESSEX COUNTY WANTS MANY CORN HUSKERS

Farmers Offering $45 a Month and Board.

The labor situation is serious in Essex County, according to a letter received from J. W. Noble, district representative of the Ontario department of agriculture for the county of Essex, by Harry Tutt, superintendent of the local branch of the Ontario Government employment bureau.

Many men are needed to husk corn in the county of Essex and are offered $45 a month and board. At least 50 men can be placed at this price. The corn crop is large this year, and as many men as can be secured in this city will be sent to Essex to assist with corn husking.

"Dear Sir.—The labor situation in this county is decidedly annoying. At present we have a large number of inquiries for men to husk corn. If you have any supply of competent labor you need not be afraid to send them at $45 a month and board, as we can place at least 50 men on these terms at present. I am inclosing an application form which a man who is in need of help sent to this office. Yours truly, J. W. Noble, agricultural representative."

CLOSE SHOWS IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—Tonight the city board of health resolved, in connection with the spread of the epidemic of Spanish influenza, to approve the resolution passed by the city administrative commission this afternoon to close all theatres, picture shows, schools, dancing halls and other places where the public congregate. Further, the board of health resolved:

"To request the military authorities to keep the soldiers in barracks.

"To request the city authorities to vote a credit of $50,000 to cover the necessary expenses to prevent the spread of Spanish influenza."

Directors Decide To Scrap Road.

REFUSE FREIGHT SOON

Has Been Operated at a Loss —Large District Seriously Affected.

The London and Lake Erie Railway and Transportation Company this morning will stop carrying passengers as the first step toward the scrapping of the road. As soon as possible thereafter all freight, express and mail carrying will be discontinued and the road will end its operations in the district which it has served for many years.

The decision was reached yesterday after a meeting with the special committee appointed by the city council had failed to reach any further offer to the company for the road. The road has been operated at a loss for some time, owing largely to the serious inroads made on the company's business by the London and Port Stanley Railway.

More Direct Route.

The new line secured a more direct route to the lakeside, and as the pioneer radial line was built with the idea of covering consuderable territory in order to secure the rural passengers, the more direct route appealed to the people of London who have placed more than a million dollars in the electrified line.

The Traction line, as it is called, has served a splendid purpose for the district and especially for the merchants and shippers of the city of London. It proved a feeder for the mercantile interests, carrying a great many shoppers to the city from points as far south as Port Stanley. The directors have endeavored to keep the line in operation even while suffering a loss, and after negotiations with Sir Adam Beck had fallen through because of the small price offered, an effort was made to interest the councils of London, St. Thomas and other corporations affected, but without success sufficient to warrant the directors in rejecting offers for the road as scrap. A large quantity of copper, steel and other metal can be disposed of at present to much better advantage than later on.

Carry No Passengers.

The passenger traffic will be suspended at once, despite the regret of the company that Lambeth and many other points will be seriously affected. No cars for passengers will be run this morning, it was announced by General Manager Warburton. The freight cars will be run only until existing contracts may be adjusted.

UNIQUE FEATURE IS ADDED TO PROGRAM OF CIVIC DINNER

"What Is There in It for Me?" One of Questions To Be Asked.

Interest in the coming campaign of the London Board of Trade has become so widespread that another feature has been added to the civic dinner, at which the project will be presented to the citizens this evening, at the Tecumseh.

The solicitor-general of the Dominion, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, and Allen D. Albert, former president of the Rotary Clubs of the world, will be the chief speakers. In addition to these, a short talk will be given on the coming board of trade campaign, in which answers will be made to the three questions of "What is there in it for me, what does London get out of it, and is this the best time to make the drive?"

F. E. Leonard, president of the board of trade, last night said his attention had been called to the fact that some comment was being made on the announcement that the annual dues in the new organization will be raised from $10 to $25. His reply to this was:

Standard Rate of Dues.

"The rate of dues agreed upon for the new community organization, which is to replace the existing board of trade, is the standard rate adopted by about 85 per cent of the 3,000 civic-commercial organizations on this continent, and has been arrived at after some twelve or fifteen years of experimenting with various plans for financingo rganizations of this character.

"The question of whether or not this seems excessive will depend upon the viewpoint of the subscriber. If he views it as a donation, $5 would be too much. If, on the other hand, he regards it as an investment in the future of his home city, and that his membership involves not only this annual payment, but a definite obligation for personal service in carrying out the work of the organization, $25 is the least he can pay.

"This organization, if it is to be an efficient agency for community expression, must have sound financial backing as well as man-power. Donations are not asked or desired. The men who have the future of the city at heart are asked to invest in the undertaking in proportion to their established community interests.

Want Personal Interest.

We hope that any man in this city, who has as yet looked only at the surface of this proposition will investigate it. We do not want any man's money so much as his personal interest. When we have gained that we are certain he will cheerfully pay $25 a year to have part in our program.

"This matter of the dues in the reorganized board of trade was one which had the fullest and most careful discussion when we were considering the campaign we have now undertaken. It was the unanimous decision, after all the arguments for and against had been heard, to advance the rate from $10 to $25 a year.

"The question of what will be done with the funds of the organization will be answered by the subscribers themselves. Before any funds are disbursed at all, a definite program of work will be formulated by the entire new membership, and the money will be budgeted in accordance with that program.

"It will take just as much money to conduct an efficient community agency here, in proportion to population, as it does in Winnipeg, in Niagara Falls, Detroit, Toledo, or any other successful city.

"Why experiment with a plan of financing which has not been successful here or anywhere else? Let us make the new board of trade strong, and build it on the lines of proved efficiency."

Embarrassing Hairs Can Be Quickly Removed

(Beauty Culture.)

Hairs can be easily banished from the skin by this quick, painless method: Mix into a stiff paste some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths, one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package.

MARGUERITE CLARK IN HER GREATEST SCREEN SUCCESS AT THE MAJESTIC

MACK SENNET COMEDY

Program in Its Entirety To Be Repeated at the Popular Playhouse Today.

Marguerite Clark, who, according to her admirers all over the country is the sweetest girl in motion pictures," was seen as a dainty, self-willed, democratic Belgian countess in her new photoplay "Out of a Clear Sky," at the Majestic Theatre yesterday.

The triumph of the star and photoplay was instantaneous. It must be conceded by even the most blase patrons of the movies that "Out of a Clear Sky" is a production far above the average. The story is a charming one, the direction and photography are of the highest class, and the various characterizations are in the hands of painstaking and talented players. From every point of view therefore, this delightful picture is commendable in the highest degree.

Celeste, the tiny but stately Countess of Bersek and Krymn, is desired by her scheming uncle to offer herself up as a pawn of state, in order to cement his relations with Germany. Celeste, a Belgian to the core, refuses to agree to a marriage with a German prince, and in order to avert complications, escapes with her governess to America. Her uncle follows her, and when the steamship reaches New York, he desires her to return to Belgium on the next vessel. Celeste again manages to slip away from him and catches a train south and succeeds in hiding herself in a Tennessee mountain gorge.

Tired, hungry and dispirited, she sits down near a fallen tree and sobs her heart out. There she is discovered by Robert Lawrence, a handsome young woodsman and wealthy landowner. After hearing her story, he promises to help her. A terrible storm comes up, so he sets Celeste upon his horse, and carries her off to the cabin of a friend.

tragic end. He realizes now that it was something more than common humanity which prompted him to assist her. But he finds Celeste safe and sound at Granny Whittle's cabin, and his relief and joy are boundless. He tells her that he can rid her of her uncle forever by showing him the charred remains of her dress, but this once done, it will be impossible for her to ever prove again that she is alive.

Celeste agrees to this and when the uncle comes, Lawrence tells him of the death of his niece and signs an affidavit to that effect. The uncle goes away convinced of Celeste's death. When he has gone Lawrence turns to Celeste and asks her if she will return to Belgium or let him take care of a poor, destitute little princess until death. She goes to him and he takes her in his arms.

A roaring comedy, "She Loved Him Plenty," features Ben Turpin and Polly Moran.

A news weekly shows scenes at home and abroad. In vaudeville, John Fiddes, a silver-voiced tenor direct from the Majestic Theatre, Detroit, renders a number of excellent songs. He is possessed of a voice of remarkable clearness and power and his selections elicited great applause.

The story symbolizes the fortitude and self-sacrifice of France's womanhood. It is a tribute to the women of the great republic, who have suffered and given, without stint, that their men might go forth to battle with hearts untroubled. Miss Dalton believes it to be one of her best roles.

ST. THOMAS R. R. MEN WORK OVERTIME TO KEEP TRAFFIC CLEAR

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 7.—The various railways running through this city are finding no end of difficulty in providing enough men to keep pace with the increased freight traffic over their lines, and in consequence local engineers and conductors are finding it necessary to work almost night and day. Reports in this city that freight business was never as great in the history of the railways as it is today. The scarcity of men is greater at the present time, of course, because of the large number who have enlisted from this district for overseas service. In view of this and the increased business the railway officials are finding it exceedingly difficult to handle the situation.

"THE WHIRLPOOL," A TALE OF NEW YORK, AT THE PATRICIA TODAY, WEDNESDAY

COMEDIES AND WEEKLY

The Myrtle Prince Girls in Classy Vaudeville Act.

Alice Brady in "The Whirlpool" is the leading screen feature at the Patricia Theatre again today and Wednesday. Those who witnessed this remarkable photoplay pronounce it to be the supreme triumph of Alice Brady's career.

"The Whirlpool" is a tale of New York, revealing the sporting life of a Tenderloin gambling house of the city, but also portraying the nobility and high-mindedness of its true leaders. As Bella Cavello, the gambler's stepdaughter, who wins out in the end, Alice Brady maintains a sincere high note in a most sympathetic characterization.

At the gambling house of her stepfather, Ferris, Bella's role is to lead the men on to play; her semblance of cheerfulness serves to cover the revolt of her soul at the task. Ferris is very good to her, and when the death of her mother had caused Bella to suffer a breakdown, he called the great Dr. Comyns to cure her.

One of Ferris' patrons is Richard Brettner, who tries to win Bella, although she cares nothing for him, by giving her expensive presents purchased with stolen funds. His thefts are discovered, and he is found guilty in court. Judge Reverton, however, the youngest and kindliest judge on the bench, consider's Brettner's youth and prvious good record and suspends sentence.

Later Brettner is suspected of a murder, of which he is really innocent. Bella pities him, and, in order to help him, determines to ascertain the guilty man.

Dr. Comyns sends to his sanatorium in the south Judge Reverton and Arthur Hallam, the neurasthenic nephew of the murdered man. Bella suspects the latter, who is the actual murderer, and follows him to the sanatorium, where she registers as Isabel Corbin. Both men woo her, but she accepts Reverton's proposal. After their marriage she keeps on her intimacy with Hallam, and finally traps him into full confession. The judge, who has been suspicious of her friendship with Hallam, overhears. He arrests the confessed murderer. Although Comyns has told Reverton of Bella's former activity as the decoy at her stepfather's gambling house, the judge now appreciates her fine spirit of justice, and, with his love greater than ever, takes her in his arms. Henceforth their paths in life shall lie in the same direction.

FIRE PREVENTION

Extracts from

PROCLAMATION

Issued by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Ontario.

* * *

Whereas next to the care of those who are offering their lives on the front line of battle, the conservation of all our energies and substance is our most important problem;

And whereas the saving of human life, thrift, and the prevention of loss of property through destruction by fire, is an aid which everyone should give willingly to the community at large;

And whereas the reckless and impoverishing fire waste that confronts the people of our Province is appalling;

* * *

Therefore, believing that the loss can be minimized only by awakening in the public mind a universal watchfulness against carelessness, accumulation of rubbish and unsanitary conditions;

* * *

Because of this great need and in order to arouse a sense of watchfulness, carefulness and cleanliness, and to create a greater personal responsibility in reducing the number of preventable fires;

We have thought fit, by and with the advice of our Executive Council of Our Province of Ontario, to name, and do hereby name Wednesday, the

AS

FIRE PREVENTION DAY

And We do hereby urge that on this day, throughout our Province of Ontario, attention be called in schools and public places to the conditions that exist and to the need of immediate action and co-operation on the part of everyone; and special exercises, addresses and other means be employed to impress on the public mind lessons of Fire Prevention.

* * *

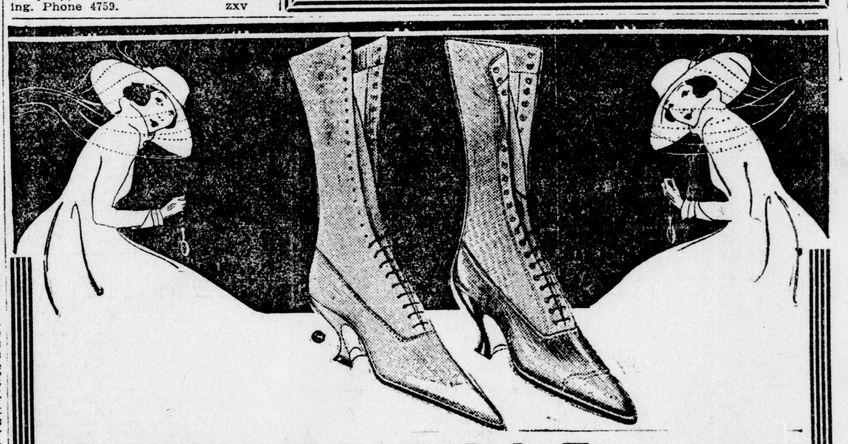

To insure the success of this great Clean-up Campaign it will be necessary to have the hearty and harmonious co-operation of all * * * who have for their objects civic, social and industrial betterment.

* * *

The Proclamation should be read in all Schools and at Public Gatherings.

Department of the Attorney-General.
Toronto, Sept. 21, 1918.
