DEATH OF PROMINENT KINGS COUNTY MAN

J. Everett Kinman Passed Away Early Wednesday Morning

Through the death of J. Everett Kinman, which occurred at 3:45 o'clock on Wednesday morning at the home of his brother-in-law, Capt. E. F. Graves, of Cambridge, Kings County, lost one of its best known and most highly esteemed citizens. Mrs. Kinman was taken ill with pneumonia while visiting with his wife at Cambridge and in spite of the best medical skill could do passed away.

The deceased was born at Centerville sixty-nine years ago, a son of the late Theodoros and Reannus Kinman of that place. He was a successful farmer and business man, whose sterling qualities made him popular wherever known. For some time he was a member of the Municipal Council and in 1916 was elected to the local legislature where he represented his native county with ability for one term. Four years ago he disposed of his fine farm at Centerville, which is one of the best places of the county, and came to Wolfville to reside, purchasing the property on Westwood avenue now occupied by Mrs. MacLean.

Mr. Kinman was twice married, his first wife being Miss Clara Rand, daughter of the late Leander Rand, of Canis. The children of this marriage are Frederick and Max, both residing in the West. His second wife was Lulu Webster, daughter of the late Alton Webster of Cambridge, by whom he had one son, Dr. J. Murray Kinman, of the Peter Brent Brightman Hospital, Boston, and one daughter, Mrs. Austen Chute, of Alliston, Mass. One brother, C. E. Kinman, of Sheffield Mills, and one sister, Mrs. Edwin Easton, of Canis, also survive.

The funeral takes place today, with a service at 10 o'clock at the home of Capt. Graves and at 3 o'clock at the Canning Methodist Church.

HALIFAX AND ACADIA ACADEMIES PLAY TO DRAW

Halifax County Academy and the Acadia Academy played a one-half draw in an exhibition game at Halifax last Saturday afternoon in the presence of a good sized crowd. The teams were about evenly matched and the game was hotly contested from start to finish. The Acadians had a fast team and fought hard to put over a win, but were unable to beat McCuen for more than one tally. The Halifax boys had a slight edge in territory, but were checked down by the Acadians.

ACADIA UNIVERSITY

The Freshman class of Acadia University held a sleigh drive to Kentville on Saturday evening. The party went to the Cornwallis Inn, where dinner was served, after which a pleasing program was enjoyed. Among those who spoke to the toasts were the President, Mr. Messenger, Mr. Potter, Miss Bishop, Mr. Sippell, Prof. Bancroft, Mr. Marvin and R. J. Johnson.

WOMEN ON THE SCHOOL BOARD

In the list of government appointments for a number of towns in Nova Scotia, recently announced, we notice that for Berwick a lady has been appointed to the post of School-Commissioner. Berwick is one of the very youngest towns in Nova Scotia, and in this matter as in some others is setting a pace for the towns of more mature years. The new appointee is Mrs. Cecelia Crichton, a lady of splendid qualifications, who we venture to predict will prove a very useful member of the board. A like action has been taken in several other towns in Nova Scotia, including those in Pictou county.

COURT OF APPEALS

The meeting of the Committee appointed by the Council, to consider the appeals against the 1922 assessment in the town of Wolfville, met at the Town Hall on Tuesday next week at 3 p. m. This Committee which is comprised of Messrs. Baileon, Leslie and Rouch, will have a rather busy session as in the vicinity of thirty-five appeals are to be considered. Last year written statements from appellants were received, which were understood to be complete and the appellants to appear in person and give evidence.

A LABOR PEER

Brigadier-General Christopher Thomson

Brigadier-General Christopher Thomson, who was made a baron by the King at the request of the British Labor party, is the Secretary of State for the Air. He has spent his life in the army, and was on the War Office staff between 1911 and 1914. He returned to France with the "Contemptibles" and served throughout the war in Roumania, Russia, and Palestine, and his brigade was the first to enter Jerusalem. He was British military representative with the supreme war council at the conferences at Versailles and thus helped to frame the treaty. He returned home to declare himself a supporter of the Labor party. He has served on Labor commissions to Ireland and to the Ruhr. He believes that neutral Europe and America must intervene to prevent another war between Germany and France in which Germany will be supported by Russia, and France will be defeated. He was elected a peer to represent the Labor government in the House of Lords.

WOLFFVILLE CONCERT BAND DELIGHTED BERWICK AUDIENCE

The people of Berwick and vicinity enjoyed a delightful treat on Sunday afternoon last, when the Wolfville Concert Band put on a sacred concert in Bligh's Theatre, under the direction of their efficient leader, Prof. MacKay. Every seat was occupied long before the commencement of the program. Chairs and benches to accommodate late comers were procured from Victoria Hall, until every foot of floor space was utilized, and practically all were occupied.

The program was excellent in every respect, and included such brilliant vocal numbers as "The Rose Tree" and "The Swan Song" interspersed by a cornet solo, clarinet duet and vocal solo by members of the company, each with piano accompaniment.

THE NET

The story of "The Net" is the most dramatic and heart-stirring since Madame X was presented to the theatre-goer. "The Net" is first of all a successful play, and in turn was adapted from a successful novel. J. Gordon Edwards, the dean of the Fox directors, who has made nearly fifty big pictures for Fox Film Corporation, directed this photoplay.

THE DREAMER

On my arrival in Wolfville, after an absence of over two years, I took a stroll to see the improvements that had been made, and naturally wanting to see the new University building I walked towards the Campus. Looking South I saw an imposing structure of pleasing architecture, and was glad to notice that the view was not obstructed by any large trees, but was impressed on me most was the park between the new building and Main Street, turning to an old friend who happened to be passing I asked him what all this meant.

FORMAL OPENING OF AVON RIVER HYDRO PLANT

Great Event Made Possible by Enterprise and Capital of Local Men

WINDSOR, Feb. 16.—The long looked-for event in hydro development for Hants county reached a gratifying climax today with the formal opening of the power plant and the turning on of the power for Windsor and vicinity. There were many interested visitors from Halifax, Wolfville and other towns all deeply concerned in what seemed to prove one of the most important developments in natural resources that has been accomplished in the history of this county.

Among those present were Premier Armstrong, Mr. F. A. Wright, chief engineer Nova Scotia Power Commission, Col. B. A. Weston, president Eastern Trust Company, George W. Hensley, Halifax, director Avon Power Company, G. E. Leslie, of Johnson and Ward, bond holders of the company, W. E. Mitchell, of Johnson and Ward, Halifax, Prof. Mackay, director of the plant at Avon Falls, mayor of Halifax, Hants county, Mayor of Hantsport, L. H. Martell, M. P., Dr. J. W. Reid, M. P., P. P. Windsor, P. R. Colpitt, of the Board of Public Utilities; K. G. Chisholm, Nova Scotia Power Company; T. T. Youngblood, United States Gypsum Company; Onto, Westworth Gypsum Company; A. F. Armstrong, Windsor, president Board of Trade; H. E. Burgess, Eastern Lime Company; A. A. McDonald, president McDonald Construction Company, the contractors for the power plant and dam; Councillor J. E. McMeekin, manager Nova Scotia Textile, Councillor Donald Sutherland, Windsor, H. S. Anslow, Windsor, M. P., secretary of Wolfville; T. B. Akin, M. P., and secretary of the Avon River Power Company, Windsor; Thomas A. Ward, outside manager; J. D. Young, Grace Smith, office staff Avon River Power Company.

The guests were taken to the power plant about nine miles from Windsor, on the Avon River, where they were entertained at lunch at the power house. Before being seated at the table, Premier Armstrong was invited to turn on the power, which he did with the assembled visitors standing around.

When the great belts began to move and the wheels revolve on the turbines and generators, and the dam began to sing its tune of power and development, a cheer broke forth from the assembly and hats and caps were up in the air and unbounded enthusiasm excited the company of interested spectators.

Mr. Chase, the chief promoter, made a capital and public spirit linked with his associates, B. A. Weston, M. P., and H. Wright, of Wolfville, had made the Avon River development was the most important thing since the war. It was a success in every way. The power was turned on at high noon by Premier Armstrong.

A. A. McDonald, president of the McDonald Construction Company, of Halifax, was also present and came in for his share of praise in the accomplished work. He had over 100 men employed during the construction in his contract for the power plant and dam. He started excavating in May, 1923, and finished in December. The concrete work was begun August 21st, and finished Dec. 1st. This remarkable accomplishment was performed in the face of wet weather, poor clay roads and other difficulties.

Plant No. 1 of the Avon River Power Company, Limited, is located on the Windsor-Chester road near Hemlock Hill, about nine miles from Windsor. The development consists of a massive concrete dam across the Avon River, having a total axial length of 200 feet, and a maximum height of sixty feet, from the lowest point in the river bed to spillway crest.

From a substantial forebay and intake also of mass concrete, connected with and forming a part of the dam, a diversion canal of wood stave pipe having an internal diameter of 6 1/2 feet with an overall length of 1,970 feet, conducts the power water to the Power House located on Carson Brook—a tributary of the Avon River—not far from the highway. By thus diverting the water from its natural course, an operating head of 125 feet has been developed.

The power house contains two generating units, each consisting of a horizontal spiral case turbine capable of developing 1,250 brake horse-power, to which is coupled an A. C. generator of 1,000 Kv. A rated capacity, with direct-connected exciter. Three-phase sixty cycle current is generated at 2,300 volts, passed through a battery of Maloney transformers and stepped up to 22,000 volts for transmission over the high tension line.

Dr. Reid also congratulated the promoters and the people on the event. Since the beginning he had been interested in the proposition. It was a great satisfaction that Hants county had such water power resources, and a great fact that we had public-spirited men willing to invest their private capital in harnessing it for domestic and public purposes of heat, light and power. He regretted the absence of the late Mr. Christie who had been one of the chief promoters, and who would have to a finish, had death not robbed him of that privilege.

MOUNT ALLISON CO-EDS WIN

Take Game from Acadia Girls in Overtime 15-13

Sackville, Feb. 16.—Acadia Co-eds were defeated in the opening game of the Maritime Intercollegiate Ladies Basketball League here yesterday by the Mount Allison Co-eds. The score was 15-13 at the final whistle and from the first start-up was fast and exciting. Overtime was required to settle the fixture as at the end of the first period the score was seven all and it was kept equal to the end of the second. In the overtime while Acadia was nothing up one the home team dropped two in, putting the game on ice.

The game was handled by S. M. Meek, Mount Allison, and Mr. Osborne, of Acadia. The line-up: Acadia forwards: Miss J. Pigott, Miss McLaughlin, Miss B. DesBarres, Miss King; centres: Miss J. Rippey, Miss Colbath; guards: Miss Dabery, Miss E. Smith, Miss McLean; subs: Miss A. Gough, Miss Mitchell, Miss T. Westhaver, Miss Chapman.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The congregation of the Baptist church here experienced a real treat during the past few Sundays in the sermon to which they have had the privilege of listening from the Rev. Dr. Marshall, of Ottawa, who some time ago received a unanimous call to the pulpit of that church. Dr. Marshall, who returned to Ottawa on Monday, has not yet given his reply, but has spent a few weeks here looking over the field. On Sunday last he concluded his work here for the present, preaching two very able and helpful sermons, and addressing the men's class in the afternoon.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The morning service he spoke from the fifth chapter of Revelations on "The Opening of the Book," and delivered an address, which was considered one of the finest ever heard in this town. Rev. Dr. Hutchins, who conducted the service, spoke of the pleasure and profit which the congregation had received through Dr. Marshall's visit, and the regret of all that it was not an end. He added that the congregation, however, "had hopes, and were hoping that their hopes might be realized." The music included a beautifully rendered solo by Mrs. MacLean.

AVONPORT

Mrs. Clarence Holmes and daughter Frances, spent the week-end visiting relatives in Kentville. Miss Dolpha Holmes, Mrs. George W. Hills, and W. A. Walsh and W. H. Brown attended the sessions of the Grand Division held with Lily of the Valley Division as delegates from Hopeville Division, S. of T. Avonport. Bluecross Division, S. of T. White Rock, paid a fraternal visit to Hopeville Division No. 488, on the evening of Feb. 15. A good program was given by both Divisions, after which the local members served a supper which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

A surprise party was held Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Duncan, who have just moved into the house of L. E. Shaw. Many useful articles were received and will greatly assist them after their disastrous fire. A "sing" was held at the home of Mrs. McBurnie, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. McBurnie, who has been ill for some time, very much appreciated it. Miss Hazel McDow is visiting her aunt Mrs. Mair. Miss Madge Daniels, who has been spending a week at her home in Martlet, Hants county, has returned.

Editorial

Our pulpits are our work clothes. Each of us live some kind of a sermon every day.

INDUSTRIES FOR WOLFVILLE

Wolfville will never realize the position for which nature has so richly fitted her to occupy if its citizens are satisfied with present attainments. The reputation of being the prettiest and most popular residential district in the Maritimes and the centre of attraction to tourist visitors to the "Land of Evangeline", together with our unsurpassed educational advantages, afford attractions of which our people may well be proud.

These advantages may be materially augmented, however, by the establishment of such industrial institutions as will in no way detract from the general prospect and for which our position so well qualifies. The most valuable asset of any community is its population of producers, who earn a good wage and spend it in support of the well being of their families. An industry which employs a score or more of well paid workmen, each of whom is the head of a family and supports a home, is of great value to the business institutions of a town and is well worth working for.

It is said that Wolfville people have subscribed a sum not less than fifty thousand dollars towards the funds of Acadia University, which is certainly a most creditable showing. Would it be possible to secure a like amount for the establishment of such industries as would make a valuable addition to the town and prove a wise and profitable investment for every citizen interested in its prosperity? At present there are such industries in contemplation and others might be attracted that would prove equally valuable if gone after. THE ACADIAN offers the suggestion with the hope that it may receive due and careful consideration.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT

While the people of Nova Scotia are saying through their governments that they cannot afford to provide prison farms and more sane provision for the care of the feeble-minded and delinquent population, they are permitting a criminal waste of public funds that would provide adequately for these needs. It is said that the annual session of our legislature at Halifax costs the province the very considerable sum of one hundred thousand dollars and who will say that the return is in any way proportionate to the outlay. This is only one item of our governmental expenses the total of which would reach a very large amount.

In these days when we are hearing so much about the reorganization of business institutions and individual interests it ought to be possible to find some means of rearranging our governmental system on a common sense basis that would not only save a large proportion of the revenue of the province now wasted for much needed and wise public undertakings but at the same time ensure the replacement of the present antiquated and inefficient methods of conducting provincial and municipal affairs by an up-to-date and practical system of government. The appearance of a Moses who will lead us out of the present wilderness of public waste and inefficiency should be hailed with satisfaction by all Nova Scotians who have faith in the resources and possibilities of our fair province.

OUR NATIONAL GAME IN DANGER

Clean sport in these provinces has received a hard knock this season through the manner in which the Canadian national game of hockey has been conducted. Not only have the qualifications of amateur players been in question in many instances, but the integrity of those who have the oversight of the rules of the game have in some cases been under discussion. All kinds of methods have been resorted to in order to win a game, one of the latest being rough means to intimidate the referee. At Dartmouth last Friday night the referee in a strenuously contested game was set upon by spectators who were not pleased with the decisions handed out. In order to save the situation, which is certainly disgraceful in the extreme, the rink owners and the M. P. B. A. A. U. of C. are offering rewards for the conviction of the offenders, which it is hoped may be instrumental in securing for the culprits the punishment which they so richly deserve.

In the meantime what is more needed is the cultivation of a better spirit than has been in evidence among the votaries of the sport. When public sentiment is such as to set the seal of its disapproval upon anything dishonorable or dishonest in the conduct of public sport, a better condition of affairs will prevail, and not until then.

SAFETY FIRST

The terribly sad accident which occurred at Annapolis last week, through which a resident of that town in the prime of young manhood met with a sudden and painful death, is another evidence of the danger which threatens an every hand as a result of the prevalence of the smoking habit. When we note the indiscriminate use of the lighted match under all conditions we often wonder that more conflagrations do not result. More of the bad fires, often attended by severe loss of life, which have occurred in recent years, are due to the carelessness of smokers than the public realize. The smouldering cigarette furnished an especial menace, used as it is frequently by all classes and conditions since the war. In the interest not only of the young manhood and womanhood of the land, but regarded as well from a purely economic standpoint a campaign against this evil would be most fitting at the present time. Regarded either in the interest of the nation or the individual the slogan "SAFETY FIRST" applies here equally as well as in other instances.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

The Late John Frederick Herbin and His Poetry

Quietly as he had lived John Frederick Herbin slipped from life, a life that he loved for all that it gave him, not in great possessions nor in the great riches that in the word count as attainment but for the knowledge that he had of the essential things, love and friends and the consciousness of having done his part well in the community in which he lived. It does not seem a very great record but after all, it is a good record.

and faith and confidence. To those who knew him there is a certainty that in his retrospective moments, Mr. Herbin could have had no vain regrets for wasted opportunities, and few there are of whom this may be said. A dreamer and a bit of an idealist and yet a man of practical ideas, Mr. Herbin who might have wandered along the high roads and in the byways following the call of the fingers, chose to follow life as he saw it, and while there are those who predicted a career for him as a writer of songs and poems, yet he made his decision and was content. He knew the pleasure of success as a writer when he published his first poems, a little volume, The Marshlands, which met with an instant appreciation from the critics. Since it was written the Acadian cult has become a fashion and others have followed in the path first trodden by John Frederick Herbin who wrote of the country to which he belonged, whose tragedy has never forgotten, and whose story he knew from family legend and tradition. Familiar as well with every foot of country in Nova Scotia over which the Acadian homes had been scattered, over which the bewitched peasants had walked on the way to the writing of his, he had gathered a wealth of story tradition, of fact and fancy regarding the occupancy of the Acadian lands that gave the basis for his later stories and histories of the Grand Pre country. A many-sided man with varied interests, a close student and with a deep love for life in the open Mr. Herbin was a delightful companion whether in his home where in the intensity of a discussion his wife would laughingly remind him of her English ancestor's tradition, or in that her ancestors later occupied the farms originally allotted to the Acadian family of which Mr. Herbin was a descendant, but of this, one cannot be sure, whether telling of the legends that cluster about Blomidon or discussing the merits of cricket, or of this or that fishing pool, or the value of certain policies in regard to town politics, for he was an ardent citizen, eager for all that would benefit his town. He would not talk of his poems, however, but in them one finds the finest expression of both the man and the poet. Take for instance An Acadian at Grand Pre:

Today, alone of all my scattered race,
I see again the beauty in our land,
Made fair and fruitful by a banished
hand:
Made sweet of tongue, now with no
abiding place,
And Nature has remembered, for a trace
Of calm Acadian life and holds command.
Where undisturbed the rustling willow stands,
And the curved grass, telling the
breeze's pace,
Before the marsh of power the weak
must bend,
And yet forgive; the savage/strong will smite.
The glossing words of reason and of song,
To red of hate and virtue to defend,
Shall never set the bitter deed aright,
Not satisfy the ages with the wrong.

And The Returned Acadian which is perhaps one of the best, if not the best of these sonnets:
Along my father's dykes I roam again,
Among the willows by the river's side,
These miles of green I know from hill
to tide,
And every creek and river's ruddy stain,
Neglected long and shunned, our dead
have lain.
Here where a people's dearest hope
has died,
Alone of all their children scattered wide,
I scan the sad memorials that remain:
The dykes wave with the grass, but not for me;
The oxen stir not when this stranger
calls;
From these new homes upon the green
hill side,
Where speech is strange and a new people free,
No voice cries out in welcome; for these halls
Give food and shelter, where I may not hide.

While Mr. Herbin felt deeply the tragedy that resulted in the final deportation of the Acadians and has expressed in his writings his feelings, he was free from bitterness and was eager for all information that would lead to a clearer understanding of the many differences that brought about the expulsion of the Acadians. Inasmuch as he was the sole representative of his people who had returned to the home lands in the Grand Pre and Gasperaux areas, he watched with interest the gradual exploitation of the country through tourist indulgence, and was genuinely delighted in dealing with writers and historians who looked upon his country through his eyes, who knew where mistakes had been made, where misunderstandings have arisen, where self-interest predominated and where sincere efforts had been made on behalf of the Acadian farmers and their families.

Among the many lovely pictures that Mr. Herbin has given in his sonnets which reveal the beauty and the characteristics of the Grand Pre region as do no other writings, is one, The Night-Mower, which portrays a feature of life on the salt hay marshes where the grass can only be cut at night or in the damp weather as the heat of the day hardens it against the scythe. This poem has been the subject of comment by writers unfamiliar with the conditions:
"In the dew-fall of an autumn night,
A solitary mower marks his way
With hissing scythe-in the breeze,
Savored hay,
Long ere the dawn is flooding into light,
From restless doubting now unveils
my sight:
I shame to hear the certain swing and play
Of the strong toiler's arm whose night is day,
Treading the hours through in faithful night,
Ever he glides with form invisible;
His ringing scythe oft filling the dark plain.
The moving murmur-of the coming tide
Stirs the broad night, now full and palpable,
For wholesome pride and faith are mine again,
Near the night-mower by the riverside."
These are but a glimpse from out the wealth of pictures that Mr. Herbin has presented of Grand Pre and its natural life. The little volume, The Marshlands, is rich in many others and in it alone, its author has made for himself a place among the Canadian writers of verse. Of this volume Mr. W. P. Dole said that never in any one volume had he encountered as many simple lines of beauty; and in his opinion the sonnet, Seining, was worthy of a place among the great writers of this style of verse.

The broadening flats go glimmering to the sea,
And the great net that struggled with the tide
Hangs dark and motionless, for the winds have died,
On high the circling gulls cry ceaselessly,
A horse goes slowly sinking to the knee
In the reed earth, dragging with dart and glide

The mud boat after on the trackless, wide
Shore level to the seine's day fishery,
Again, beneath the stars down by the seas,
Dark, sobbing tide-waves slip through span on span
Of net, quick bared and curling like a wing,
Night labor now companioned by the breeze,
The glowing lantern glides to where

for man
The harvest of the sea is garnering,

SECOND of the series dealing with the establishment of the BANK OF MONTREAL at representative points in CANADA and elsewhere.

WHEN the Bank of Montreal opened its first office in Quebec 106 years ago, travel between Montreal and Quebec was mainly by stage coach, occupying three days in the journey. The difficulties and exigencies attending travel were such that funds were only conveyed between the two cities "at the first safe opportunity."

With the opening of this Quebec office, the Bank of Montreal introduced into Canada branch banking, one of the elements that has contributed to the remarkable elasticity of the Canadian banking system, winning for Dominion finance an enviable reputation in all parts of the world.

Of the Bank's 567 Branches, 83 are situated in the Province of Quebec.

THE NEW COLLEGE BUILDING

The new college building on The Hill is progressing steadily, the weather since the beginning of November having been most favorable. The foundation walls, 183 by 82 feet, were completed and the first floor laid before the frost could do any damage. This floor is covered with waterproof material, protected by loose planks on which the work of erecting the steel frame is now being done. Already a forest of steel beams and posts are in place. Some of the latter are over 40 feet high, on which will rest the roof trusses. The balance of the steel has arrived, and present weather continues for a few weeks the whole will be in place. Meanwhile, the work of making the granite blocks with which the basement walls are to be covered is going on in the basement where there are comfortable work and storage rooms.

Above the granite base, the outside walls are to be built of brick and hollow tile, faced with white stone, with columns and trimmings of the same material. North and south walls will allie, with four central columns full height, the whole being surmounted by a large tower, similar in style to that of the old college. It is expected that this white building when completed will be one of the finest university structures in Canada.

PUBLISHERS' NOTICE

Beginning with the first issue in March the time of publication of The Acadian will be changed from Friday morning to Thursday afternoon. Friday has been the publication day of the paper since it was established forty-one years ago, and it is not because we have found it an unlucky one that we have finally decided after careful deliberation to make the change. It is the policy of this paper to adopt any innovation that will enable us to give more efficient service, and it is with that end in view that the change is now made. The time gained will ensure the paper reaching the greater number of its subscribers by or before Saturday, which will be a decided advantage both to our readers and advertisers.

This advance notice is given so that patrons of the paper and correspondents may be able to the better meet the changed conditions. All copy, both for news and ads., will require in future to be in the office a day earlier than formerly, in order that the paper may appear promptly at the appointed time. We believe the new order will prove beneficial to all the friends of the paper and we invite your hearty cooperation in this as in all our endeavors to improve the service rendered by the home paper.

A PIONEER OF PROGRESS

Thirty-two years ago the now famous "SALADA" Tea was placed on the market in metal packages, "SALADA" was the pioneer package tea in Canada, and its superior flavour and purity immediately won for it a great popularity that has been growing ever since. It has always been a little different and a little better than ordinary tea.

SOCIAL LOYALTY THE PANACEA OF THE WORLD'S ILLS

In an address before the Commercial Club of Halifax recently Dr. Robert Norwood emphasized social loyalty as the panacea of the world's ills. People of this world were, alone on a star, like shipwrecked sailors on a raft, and the spirit of loyalty to each other and to the law of the raft was essential. "Civilization was very nearly shipwrecked, and the only way to save it was social loyalty and loyalty to humanity." People required to get away from civic and political graft, from social snobbery and church wranglings and get down to the necessary things.

Do not turn away from the other fellow, but in the spirit of the good Samaritan touch him and touch him with reverence. "We are just boys and girls on a baby star. How kind and gentle we should be towards one another," pleaded Dr. Norwood. "Put the emphasis on the good qualities of your friends. Don't be a knocker. If we applied the same criticism to ourselves as we do to our friends, what would happen? Nothing. We would be so ashamed of ourselves that we dare not look in a mirror."

In conclusion Dr. Norwood urged that the constructive strength of the leaders of the country should be aided by standing behind them with big ideas. "Don't be jealous because you did not think of it first. Don't say what is John Smith getting out of this? If good roads are to benefit the Province, don't sit down and try to figure out how much the contractors and how much the Armstrong Government is trying to make out of the people, but look upon it as being for the benefit and development of the Province."

GIVING INFORMATION ABOUT CANADA

To The Editor of THE ACADIAN Dear Sir:-I have just received the Booklet "Nova Scotia, Canada", issued by direction of Department of Industries and Immigration, Halifax. I am glad to express my appreciation of same, and the great help it will be to me.

Mr. MacCoy and his staff have done the Province a valuable service in this timely publication. I find the people very hungry for information on all parts of Canada, and this booklet just fits the requirements I want for Nova Scotia. I also received from Mr. G. F. Coe a booklet on Introduction and Development of the Apple Industry in Nova Scotia. It is the most complete and compiled article I have ever read on our apple history. These two Booklets will be of great value in putting forth our claims of Nova Scotia before the British people.

This is to be an Empire Year for the school children as well as the traders. Plans are already well in hand for a special 24-week course in Empire history and geography in English elementary schools, supplemented by an attractive weekly bulletin.

I am now officer in charge of Exhibition Car No. 1, where I visit all elementary schools, open car and give literature; if wet I address the school inside, give a wall map of Canada, Atlases and literature. If I am in a town on market day I stop at the square all day and open up, giving information and distributing literature.

Items of Local Interest

We understand that Mrs. Blanche Russell has sold her property on Locust Avenue to Mr. M. L. Dimock, of North Grand Fre.

Notice of the first Bill to be introduced in the House of Assembly this session was given by Howard Corning, of Yarmouth, Wednesday, when he gave notice of a Bill to abolish the Legislative Council.

The Canning hockey team defeated the Middleton team in Canning rink on Monday by the score of 8 to 5. On Wednesday a return game was played at Middleton resulting in a win for the home team by the score 3 to 1.

The people of Wolfville Ridge and Highland Ave. extension enjoyed a "high" drive Thursday evening of last week going to Hortonville and spending the evening very pleasantly at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Hennigar. After partaking of a very sumptuous and a satisfied customer is always good advertising. Mr. Jefferson is one of our most reliable and enterprising merchants, whose methods of doing business are up-to-date and deserving of the confidence of the public.

A full page adv. in this issue announces that Mr. G. D. Jefferson of the "Cash Shoe Store" is putting on another sale. This fact should interest our readers and during the next few days his store will no doubt be visited by a throng of thrifty buyers.

Mr. Jefferson put on a sale which attracted customers from all points of the county and so well satisfied was he in the result that he decided to make it a semi-yearly feature of his establishment. So far as we have been able to learn his sale last summer gave universal satisfaction to patrons and a satisfied customer is always good advertising. Mr. Jefferson is one of our most reliable and enterprising merchants, whose methods of doing business are up-to-date and deserving of the confidence of the public.

THE DANGER OF DISRESPECT FOR THE LAW

(From The Financial Post) Society on this continent, as represented by the forces of law and order, is to-day confronted with two dangerous and hostile elements. The first is the communist campaign in favor of mob violence or direct action, as it has been euphemistically termed in Great Britain, involving the subversion of the existing form of government and the substitution for it of the rule of a violent minority. The second is a more insidious evil in that its mischievousness is not so apparent, and it has its origin within the body politic of democracy itself. It is the unyielding disregard of the law evinced by many whose first care it should be to uphold respect for it.

Instances of the latter evil, lately mentioned to the Financial Post by a leading educationist are, the flagrant infraction which many reputable citizens display at escaping detection in breaking the speed and traffic laws, and the readiness with which the regulations with regard to liquor are set at naught.

A few years ago the stigma attaching to anyone hailed before a police magistrate, no matter how trifling the charge, was one which no reputable citizen would willingly incur. To-day those who transgress the speed or liquor laws (and many respectable and otherwise law-abiding citizens are transgressing them every day) not only receive no censure from their fellow citizens, but are more often regarded as heroes whose only failing has been to be caught.

The point we are concerned in emphasizing is this: On the one hand we have the citizen who would be horrified at the thought of condoning revolutionary principles but who considers it right to disregard certain laws with which he is not in sympathy. On the other hand is the man who advocates the abolition of all laws of property and ownership, because he disagrees with them. If the first man is justified in breaking the particular laws which are irksome to him, how can he deny the same right to the other man? The incalculable of respect for duly constituted authority is an urgent matter which claims the careful attention of all school teachers and clergymen. It is upon the young and plastic mind that the necessity of compliance with laws made by the people themselves can be most effectively impressed, and therein lies the danger to society and to democracy of the false teachings and revolutionary doctrines with which the children of scores of our schools and the youth of some of our universities are being stealthily inoculated.

THE PULP INDUSTRY

An industry which is of considerable importance but of which the public know very little about is the pulp mill of Wright & Jodrey, on the Gasperau and which was made possible by the development of the hydro-electric power. The daily product of this institution is about fourteen tons and the pulp is being brought to Wolfville for shipment. About eight men are regularly employed and the pay-roll amounts to a considerable sum each month. At present the pulp is being shipped by rail to the United States and United Kingdom. When dry the weight is reduced about half and the price realized is then in the vicinity of thirty dollars per ton. Just what the possibilities for development in this industry are, we are unable to say, but at the present output the business should be a valuable asset of the section, and the enterprise of the promoters is deserving of success.

WOLFVILLE GIRLS LOSE TO WINDSOR

The return hockey game between the Windsor and Wolfville girls was played on Wednesday evening at Windsor and resulted in a win for the home team by the score of 4 to 2. The game was closely contested and good hockey was played in the first period which ended with the score of 1 to 1. At the end of the second period the score was 2 to 1. The last period was anything but a good exhibition of hockey, rough work being indulged in by both teams. The Wolfville team consisted of the following: Lillian Taylor, Dorothy Holmes, Margaret Johnson, Leta Gertrude, Marjorie Wickwire, Jean Pratt, with Amy Prescott and Olive Stackhouse as subs. At the close of the game the Wolfville girls were royally entertained by their hostesses.

VALENTINE TEA A SUCCESS

The V. O. N. held a Musical Tea at the home of Mrs. G. K. Prescott on St. Valentine's Day. Little Frances Roach opened the door and the guests were received by Mrs. Prescott, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Parker. A very entertaining programme was provided by local talent. Among those who delighted the guests were Mrs. Eugene Eaton, Mrs. Withrow, Mrs. Herbert Blakeley, Mrs. Gordon Stairs, Mrs. W. H. Thompson and Mr. George Anderson. The rooms were tastefully decorated in red and white. Tea was poured by Mrs. Hugh Calkin and Mrs. H. W. Phinney, and was served by Miss Doris Chambers, Miss Harry, Miss Noble, Miss Margaret Smith and the Miss Prescotts. The girls serving were dressed in white with caps and aprons decorated with hearts. The net receipts of the afternoon were approximately sixty dollars.

The Executive of the V. O. N. wishes to express its thanks to all those who helped to make the affair such an outstanding success.

MARKETING N. S. APPLES

The Editor of THE ACADIAN
Dear Sir:—Some time ago I read an article in your paper by Mr. J. P. Schwartz in which he spoke very disparagingly of Nova Scotia apples in England and made unfavourable comparisons with N. S. apples against apples of other countries. Being an Honest Old Bluenose I resented this and started out to ascertain the truth for myself. And would be pleased to give our readers the result of my investigations to correct any wrong impressions that may have been created by Mr. Schwartz. He said he spent hours visiting fruit stores and stalls in London and no place did he see any good Nova Scotia apples.

On account of the method of packing they were such in the background, they were always in the background, they were all nicely wrapped in paper and packed in boxes, but when he asked about N. S. apples he was taken to the back of the shop and a barrel of apples shown him that were rubbish compared with those in front.

I spent some shillings and pence travelling and days or rather part man, different days in London, Essex, Liverpool, Manchester, Cardiff, Swansea, I visited Importers, Wholesale and Retail Merchants, Brokers, Commission Merchants, Fruit stores and stalls and Markets. I have attended auctions where thousands of barrels are sold.

I have helped pack apples in some of our large N. S. warehouses, helped load trains, helped unload trains, helped load ships, looked after the fruit on the voyage and discharged the ships. I never have I seen N. S. apples out of the background but always in the front, even out on the sidewalk with a head part out of barrel to attract attention.

Evidently Mr. Schwartz is not aware of Box Fruit and Barrel Fruit are separate and distinct lines of trade, as much as race horses and caught horses would be.

The better class of box apples are sold in a milder climate than Nova Scotia, such as British Columbia, Oregon, Delaware, Washington, Maryland and Virginia. They are used most and are known as dessert apples, and only used in small quantities compared with barrel fruit. They are all sized apples, large ones (won't do) are always soft or mellow, but not always highly flavored. The parance is what counts and being a delicate nature they must be packed in small packages and wrapped in paper to protect them. They will not ship in barrels any only No. 1's are shipped. No. 2's and 3's of these sizes are not worth shipping.

A Nova Scotia apple barrel holds only three of these boxes, I have compared the prices and where a barrel of S. No. 1 Kings or Baldwins brought 15 shillings, these boxes brought 45 shillings equal to about 40 shillings forough to fill a barrel. Now take cost of boxes and wrapping the apples in paper and extra work packing, extra light on account of slow handling of larger percentage of loss through leakage and the Nova Scotia barrel grower has the advantage every way.

I looked in vain for the N. S. barrels that were treated as worthless as described by Mr. Schwartz. I attended fifteen shillings and went like hot shillings, while No. 1's and 2's were withdrawn on account of no demand and 1's Baldwins only dragged up 4p-27 shillings. When I asked the reason he answered that a certain class of people wanted cheap fruit and a barrel of apples and the supply of that class demand exceeded the demand.

Everywhere I asked if Nova Scotia apples would bring a higher price if packed in boxes and paper, and was always answered "No" the people were used to them in barrels and they were eaten raw and the balance were "boxed". I explained some people would like boxes as they could get a larger quantity in the original package and thus save the fruit stall price. It was always answered, "yes" and then they are faced with the highest price on account of additional cost of all package they will buy a barrel of five pounds. Would they arrive any better condition if packed in boxes. "No they being a hard, firm apple they carry as well in barrels as they would in boxes at a far less cost."

I inquired everywhere if there were any Nova Scotia apples that would all be packed and shipped as dessert apples and always got the same answer viz: it is doubtful as the No. 1's are all too large and No. 2's don't colour good enough. Well selected small sized Ribbles might do well and some thing else to some of the other kinds. If you could get a good sized apple on the market early it would bring the price. Northern Spys have the favour of the market. How about Golden Russets I inquired and was answered "say Mr. Golden Russets are all known that if you send them in baskets, boxes, or barrels they will bring the price. Northern Spys are a general favorite as a box apple, got convinced that it is very doubtful if Nova Scotia raises a profitable box apple but as a barrel apple they are not surpassed by apples of any country in the world sending apples to Great Britain. No matter what may be said about our local trade Nova Scotia apples don't take any back seat in the Great Britain trade.

In acquiring information to answer Mr. Schwartz's letter I picked up other information which I will pass on gratis.

I inquired everywhere if there was anything that could be done to improve the demand for and price of N. S. apples and always got the same answer, viz: "Yes improve the grading and packing." I have often heard farmers say what is the good of being too fussy the apples are sold at auction and mine are up to standard in size and will bring as much as the other fellows. The man that packs apples with that impression is making the mistake of his life. Every man's apples are listed under his own name as shown in the catalogue, enclosed of one said I attended at one auction I noticed some lots selling fast while others went slow and sold at a lower figure. On inquiring the reason, was answered, "The buyers know the names of the packers and the name sells the apples."

On further inquiry was told that the Fruit Co's. standardize their packing but in individual packing every packer had a way of his own. Most packers use a soft cardboard or pulp head between the barrel head and the apples, but some don't, it is a great mistake to leave this out as it is a great protection. I saw a beautiful barrel of No. 1 Baldwins where no pulp head was used and every apple in each end of the barrel had a rough flat bruise on it, while the rest of the apples were in fine condition, but it meant a good peck or one tenth of the barrel were ruined. Had that barrel been used as a sample it would have affected the sale of his entire consignment. Now say good barrels brought $5.00 and his returns only were $4.50 or one tenth less he would say he was unfairly dealt with. Along side of this barrel stood a barrel No. 1 Starke packed by a neighbour of the packer of the Baldwins and the last named used pulphead and the Starke were in excellent condition.

Some American packers use a double cardboard with a piece of corrugated paper between, similar to what medicine bottles are sometimes packed in. If this material would be adopted it would pay from the start. Some packers pack too tight and consequently press the apples so hard against each other that they soon show a bruise spot where they touch. I saw one fine barrel of Starke in which every apple was affected, had they not been too tight they would have been in perfect condition. While others pack too slack and the apples shake and bruise all over before they reach market. I saw seven barrels of choice apples all in one lot packed by a Kings County farmer, all slack and every apple more or less bruised and in a very bad condition. It was plain it was not done intentionally, the man was either the victim of inexperience or indifferent help, just a few more apples would have meant a few dollars for him.

Next there is not care enough taken with the package, for it is appearance that counts. No farmer would buy a barrel of flour if it was all dirty and the head looked as if it had been in and out a few times, yet he seems to forget that the man that buys apples to eat is just as fussy and doesn't like a weather-beaten barrel or one with the edge of the head all broken by being pressed into the groove without the hoop being slack enough. The Maryland and Virginia packers use a flat hoop and put up a nice clean smooth barrel which has a taking appearance.

The Nova Scotian comes next but there is room for improvement. A little more care on the packers part would improve things a lot. The British Columbia packer uses a barrel with a hardwood scooped stave which is invariably very much stained and often warped, in fact has a cheap look and hurts the sale more than packers think.

Virginia packers and some Nova Scotia packers use a fancy paper heading on one end of the barrel. This is a fine idea, it catches the eye and has wonderful advertising power.

Now as to the apples, I have been told many times that the individual packer tries to get too many No. 1's and 2's. If he would grade a little finer and put more in his domestic he would have a better grade of 1's and 2's and also better domestics and get a better price for all three. I saw one barrel of No. 2 Baldwins all highly coloured except about every twentieth apple and these would be very green. These few green ones spoil the whole barrel and probably his whole consignment, had he left out these few green ones he would have been a few apples out and a few dollars in.

I pointed to a barrel of Golden Russets and remarked a few green ones don't hurt them. No replied the merchant but I have a suspicion that Nonpareils have a bad habit of stowing away in No. 2 Golden Russets. I have never seen any in No. 1's. He could not show me any at the time. To conclude I would like to say the British fruit merchant is a very courteous chap and seemed only too pleased to open barrels and boxes to show me the condition of contents, and suggest ways by which the apples would get on the market with a more taking appearance. Many of them wished to be remembered to different fruit growers in Nova Scotia who they called their friends but who they had never seen.

Trusting I have thoroughly answered Mr. Schwartz and slightly interested some of your readers and thanking you for so much space, I remain
Yours truly

PORT WILLIAMS AND VICINITY

The going away of "Gipsy" John Hawkins, "Evangelist" in last weeks news. He left here on Feb. 9th for a much needed rest of one week, before going to take up his work at Mahone Bay. The evangelist, while here, won many friends, and proved himself to be a most powerful speaker, and was absolutely void of undue excitement, but spoke right to the heart of the people. He was encouraged with good audiences from the beginning, who were very attentive, and many received the blessing for which they were waiting. Mrs. Hawkins, too, was a most untiring worker, overflowing with zeal for the Master's Kingdom. Miss Winnifred Gould, Contralto soloist, sang with great power, and was also a most consecrated worker, always ready with the gospel in their new field of labor.

Miss Rita Hiltz (teacher) spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Woodworth, Lower Church Street.

Mrs. G. H. Hilsley is reported very ill. Dr. Elliott, Wolfville, is in attendance.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Clarke, on the arrival of a new daughter, on Feb. 15th, at Woods' Maternity Hospital.

An interesting game of hockey was played on the Port Williams rink Feb. 10th, between Avonport and Port Williams, the result being a tie 3-3.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Newcombe, Church Street, entertained a number of relatives and friends at a dinner party on Wednesday of last week. PORT WILLIAMS INSTITUTE

The Port Williams Women's Institute held a most interesting session on Thursday of last week, it being "St. Valentine's" day all through centered around the 14th of Feb. After the regular business routine was attended to, we listened to a varied but interesting program. A paper was read on the origin or Legend of St. Valentine by Mrs. Frederick Jackson, Solo by Mrs. O. G. Cogswell, reading by Miss Ruth Jackson (student at Acadia University), reading by Mrs. N. F. Taylor and Community singing. The roll call was responded to by Valentine quotations, original and otherwise, which proved very amusing. An interesting feature was a picture gallery. Every member who had a very young picture of themselves, or their husbands, was asked to bring them to one member who fastened them on the wall. Then each member tried to tell who the different ones were. Mrs. David Sutton, Church Street won the prize for guessing the largest number.

Last, but not least on the program, was an original poem, written and read by Mrs. G. H. Starr, of Starrs Point, embracing the history of the Institute since its organization; and also the burning of the note, by Mrs. D. S. Collins, and Mrs. N. F. Taylor, leaving Citizens Hall free of debt.

The Methodist Church held its annual birthday party on Wednesday evening, the church being filled to the utmost capacity. The pastor, Rev. T. W. Hodgson, presided. THE MEN WE CALL LUCKY!

SOME men go through life spending money faster than they earn it. When Opportunity comes, they are unable to grasp it, and in their blindness call themselves unlucky.

The successful man looks ahead—systematically building up a good bank balance. Then when Opportunity comes, he is in a position to seize it—does so, and reaps his reward.

He is often called "lucky." It was not luck—it was Foresight.

EDITORIAL

The financial statement of the town of Hantsport for the year 1923, which is published in this paper, presents a very creditable showing which should be most gratifying to our citizens. Regardless of the fact that during the year an expenditure of $1700 for the extension and improvement of our water system was charged to current account, the floating liabilities of the town have been reduced to $2903.92, and assets over floating liabilities have been increased by $2847.82. This condition has been arrived at by a judicious management of the various departments, making possible a reduction in the amount outstanding at the end of the year. A careful study of the various items on the part of the citizens is suggested in order that a thorough familiarity with town finances may obtain. The new tax rate has not yet been decided upon, but we may be sure that the same sane policy which has always directed the affairs of this town will be followed in the allotment of our civic expenditures for the current year.

The Boy Scout work, which a few years ago occupied a very important place among the activities of the young people of Hantsport, has of late been allowed to flag. This is too bad as no department of work in the interests of the young life of the community is of equal importance. In Mr. George Holmes, who formerly had the leadership in the movement here, Hantsport has a man with exceptional qualifications and it is most unfortunate that other duties made it impossible for him to continue. It is to be hoped that he may yet be induced to renew the keen interest which he formerly manifested in this most important work and that the Boy Scout Movement may soon be again in active progress in our town. Among our citizens are many who might render excellent assistance to the undertaking and whom, we believe, would be very willing to do so if given the opportunity. More important than material property is the training of our boys along the lines that make for good citizenship, and this is what the Boy Scout Movement does if given a chance.

none were backward in expressing their praise of same. Less than one year ago the location of this plant was nothing but a rocky forest that was looked upon by most people who had passed that way as worthless.

When we look on this plant now and see the marvelous development that has taken place in such a few short months, it is enough to make us sit up and wonder if we have not been asleep all those years, when we see the opportunities that have been starting us in the face, and no one had the courage or far sightedness to avail himself of this opportunity that lay waiting for so many years.

I must say that the country at large owes a debt of gratitude to the men who had the vision, enterprise and ability, as well as the money to develop this great asset of our country, they cannot be praised too highly for what they have done for the counties of Hants and Kings. I am afraid that a great many of our people do not realize what this water power development at Avon Falls and Gaspereaux means to this part of Nova Scotia. Today this company have both lines connected up and are supplying electric light and power through this part of the Valley; giving the farmer and small villages the many advantages that cheap power and lights bring to any town or city. With this abundant cheap power connected up, it not only increases the value of the farm or town property, but it makes it possible to do various kinds of work much easier and more profitably. Electricity on the farm makes farm work a pleasure, as it eliminates a great deal of the old time drudgery, and greatly assists in bringing the balance on the right side of the ledger. I would hope that every farmer who possibly can, will avail himself of the many advantages in using this power that this company has placed within his reach.

Then to my mind the opening of this power plant warrants the opening of numerous small industries in this locality. When I say small, I mean to begin in a small way and grow big as the business will develop. There are countless things that we are buying every day from the upper provinces and abroad, that could be manufactured right here at our doors. We could begin by supplying our own markets with the many things that are now being brought in from elsewhere, and no doubt we would in due course find ready markets abroad. In this way we would keep our money at home to begin with, as well as employing our own citizens who are to-day compelled to look elsewhere for employment.

But if we are to get enterprising men to take hold we must offer them some encouragement. Our Local and Municipal Governments should show a lead in this matter by offering reduced taxation and tax exemptions. Our small industries are taxed at the present time to such an extent by the local government alone that it is most discouraging even for those now running to continue in operation.

I believe that any new industry starting should be helped along by exemption of taxes for a term of years, until such industry was placed in a paying position and able to stand under the burden. I feel sure that if some such policy was put in force we would soon see our men with capital and enterprise come in and take advantage of the splendid opportunity that is now offered in the way of Hydro Electric Power from the Avon Falls and Gaspereaux power plants. Let us all get together and make this part of Nova Scotia more prosperous by adding new industries that will hold our citizens at home, increase our population and use up some of the raw material that is lying at our very doors. Let us all press for better and more prosperous times for Nova Scotia in general, but more especially for our home towns and the counties of Kings and Hants.

PROVINCIAL HOUSE IS IN SESSION

Impressive Ceremony Marks Opening By Lieutenant-Governor

Attended by the usual impressive ceremony, the fourth session of the fourteenth Legislature of Nova Scotia was opened on Thursday afternoon of last week by His Honor Lieutenant Governor Grant.

Standing at the "Royal Salute", a guard of honor, selected from the Royal Canadian Regiment, greeted the Lieutenant Governor and his staff on their arrival at the Province Building at 3 o'clock and later thronged the galleries when the strains of the National Anthem and the thunder of the Citadel guns, the Governor and his party entered the building.

this practice and substitute for it a scheme whereby small experimental farms would be started in the agricultural counties.

The result, he pointed out, would be that these farms could disseminate through the communities good stock and also teach the neighboring farmers how to farm successfully.

"While I am not aware of the fact," Dr. Reid continued, "I would like to think as would many other citizens of this province, that the government had taken a decided stand and had intimated to both the company and the men that they must cease playing with the people's property."

Continuing, Dr. Reid dealt at length with the public health program of the province. "I am not so sure," he said, "that the government of Nova Scotia has done all it can to relieve the suffering from tuberculosis, or in aid of the health program."

In conclusion, Dr. Reid urged the practice of economy. The adjournment of the House was moved by D. G. McKenzie, leader of the Opposition.

MISSIONARIES FOR CANADA

(From the Vancouver Sun.)

More than 150,000 Canadians, half of which number live in Los Angeles, are now resident in California, say recent statistics.

It was only a very few families who went down into Egypt to investigate the highly-advertised virtues of that country. But when they decided to leave, for their own promised land they numbered many thousands.

Canada who have moved to the United States are sure to come back eventually because Canada is the ultimate promised land of the whole North American continent.
