CENTENARY CELEBRATION

On June 28th there is being celebrated the anniversary of one of the oldest places of worship in this part of Ontario, or, indeed, in Canada, viz: St. Paul's Anglican Church at Delta. The corner stone is supposed to have been laid in 1811. Although the exact date is not known. It is simply built, after the old Celtic fashion, of stone, without a chancel and with a square tower. The bell bears upon it the date 1825 and was the gift of Sir John Borerley Robinson, the first Chief Justice of Upper Canada.

It was erected conjointly by the Church of England and Baptists, but the latter's interest was subsequently bought by the Church of England and it continued for many years to be used as a place of worship by that body but was allowed, for some reason, to fall into neglect and disrepair until in 1868, in the incumbency of Rev. Christopher T. Denroche, it was renovated. In 1907 it saw another renovation under the present incumbent, Rev. R. B. Patterson, when $860 was spent in its rehabilitation, and today it is one of the best equipped churches in the parish.

The celebration on Wednesday, 28th inst. will consist of Holy Communion at 10.30 a.m., in which the Bishop will be the celebrant and will preach. Dinner will be served afterwards in the park by the ladies and speeches will be delivered by prominent clergymen and laymen, among the number being His Lordship, Judges McDonald and Reynolds, Archdeacon Carey, Mr Geo. Taylor, M.P., Rev's O. G. Dobbs, W. F. Fitzgerald, C. E. S. Radcliffe.

AN IMPORTANT CASE

An echo of the Farmers Bank disaster in December last will be heard at the fall sittings of the High Court for these United Counties, in an action by the township of Bastard and Burgess against Ormond Chant, a former tax collector, and his bondsmen, Noah Chant and John M. Davis, to recover $4,493.95 for taxes collected, which amount was deposited by Mr. Chant in the Phillipsville branch of the Farmers' Bank, during the week previous to the smash. The writ was issued Thursday by M. M. Brown, acting for the plaintiffs, and the suit will be defended by W. A. Lewis, solicitor for Messrs. Chant and Davis.

There is absolutely no impropriety or anything of that kind laid at the door of Mr. Chant, who appears to have been purely a victim of the unfortunate circumstances of the failure. Instead of handing the collections in money over to the township treasurer, he bought a draft for the above amount at the Phillipsville branch of the Farmers' Bank, which he delivered it to, to the treasurer on a Wednesday. The treasurer turned it into the Union Bank at Portland, with which he held an account, on the following Friday, and in due course it was forwarded to head office at Toronto for clearance. In the meantime the Farmers' Bank suspended payment and the collector's Farmers' Bank draft was refused payment, and the township lost the money.

A somewhat similar case was tried last month at Berlin by Judge Latchford who has just rendered his decision holding that the collector was not responsible for the failure of the bank.—Times.

Martin Knapp, Newboro, announces the engagement of his youngest daughter, Ethel M., to George Edward Foster, of the Hanson & Tilley Co., Montreal. Wedding to take place quietly, end of June at the bride's home.

The construction of the C.N.R. line between Forfar and Smith's Falls has been let out in sections of six and ten miles to sub-contractors with Smith's Falls as basis for engineers, contractors and supplies. Horses and men will be in great demand throughout the summer.

Bricklayers and masons in Winnipeg get five dollars a day. Stonecutters get $4.80, carpenters $3.60, plumbers $4.00, plasterers $5.40 (nine hour day); and so on through the list. These high wages increase the price of the products which these men work upon. If working men are to continue to earn as much in a day in Canada as a workman earns in a week in England, food products and labor products must continue to be costly. Canada cannot eat her cake and keep it.

HONORED AT PARTING

On Monday evening, on the eve of departure from Athens, Mr Parr of the Northern Crown Bank was waited upon by members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church and presented with an address, read by Miss Gertie Young expressive of their appreciation of his services in the League, their regret at his departure, and their best wishes for his future success in life. Miss Grace Wing, in behalf of the League, then presented him with a set of military brushes and umbrella. Mr Parr returned thanks in a very neat reply to the address and said he would ever bear in kindly remembrance the friends in Athens.

Since coming to Athens, Mr Parr had been a faithful worker not only in the League but in every part of the church. He was a regular attendant at League and it was intended to honor his departure there, but when he did not arrive at the meeting on Monday evening, the members of the League, led by the pastor, Rev. F. A. Reed, repaired to the Bank where the farewell was read and the token given. Following is the address:—
 Mr Maxwell Parr.

Dear Friend,—We, the members of Athens Epworth League and friends, have learned with regret of your intended departure from our midst.

Though you have been one of our members but a short time, yet, during that period you have proved yourself not only a good citizen but an earnest and faithful attendant at our regular Monday evening meetings.

To express our appreciation, we wish you to accept these tokens, not for their intrinsic value, but as a remembrance of The Epworth League of Athens, whose motto is "Look up, lift up."

In bidding you farewell, we hope you will continue in the good work and use your influence in getting others to become members of such a worthy society

ANGLICAN LAWN SOCIAL

Despite the chilly atmosphere, the annual lawn social of the Ladies' Aid of Christ Church on Tuesday evening proved a social and financial success. People from the country came in large numbers and with the village people filled the spacious lawns. The ladies had made ample provision for the entertainment of the company, and the various tables were promptly and generously served. A booth provided ice cream and other refreshments. It was late when the rector, Rev. Mr Patterson, introduced the programme which, though brief, was enjoyed by all. It consisted of a trio by Mrs Kelly, Miss Nellie Kelly, and Miss Gladys Gainford; vocal solos by Mr Horsfield, accompanied by Miss Earl; violin solos by Mr Fred Hollingsworth accompanied by Mrs Winifred Topping. Rev. W. H. Montgomery, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, was introduced by the chairman and expressed his pleasure at meeting so many of the people of Athens and vicinity. A Victor gramophone, served by Mr Barraclough of the Lindsay Co., Brockville, furnished music at intervals during the evening.

Canning Strawberries

This week the housewives will be busy canning strawberries. The following method is recommended:

Fill a quart jar with large, ripe berries, from which the hulls have been taken; fill the jar with cold water; then pour it out again into a measure. For every twelve jars to be put up use thirteen of these measures of water and in it dissolve six pounds of sugar. Pack the jar with berries as closely as possible without smashing them. Fill each jar up to the shoulder with syrup, cover loosely with the lid and set it in a large boiler, which should have a loosely fitting wooden bottom pierced with holes. If set on the metal bottom the jars are liable to crack. When the boiler is full of jars, pour in cold water up to their shoulders; cover it and set it on the fire. At the same time put the surplus syrup in a saucepan and allow it to become hot. As soon as the water in the boiler begins to boil, note the time and when it has boiled for eight minutes, remove the boiler from the fire. Take out one jar at a time, fill it even with the hot syrup in the saucepan, fasten it airtight, and stand it back in the boiler until all are filled and covered; let them stand there until cold, and then store in a cold place

How to Care for Babies During Heat of Summer

People often say that babies are too little to feel the heat, and that, for this reason, are not as much to be pitied in the summer as are their mothers and fathers, and big brothers and sisters.

How can we make the baby happier during the heat? In the first place, nursing will lessen his suffering as surely as perfect cleanliness, not only of his own little body, but of everything around him.

It is rather an open question whether or not the baby should wear wool in summer. Personally, I feel that until a child is three years old it is not safe for him to go one moment without some wool over his stomach.

BRITISH LABOR NOTES.

Newcastle shipyard laborers on Tuesday passed a resolution asking the executive to apply for an advance of wages in shipyards similar to that asked for by other centres.

The Welsh Miners' Conference, at Cardiff, have determined, taking a national strike, to recommend a general stoppage in South Wales coalfields, which employ 200,000 men.

A dispute between shipyard painters and their helpers resulted in nearly 1,000 men being thrown idle at Bristol. Council, Laird's Birkenhead yard, where a Dreadnought is being built.

The present state of the spinning section of the cotton trade is so bad that the general committee of the masters' federation have recommended a stoppage for the whole of Great Britain and the following Monday.

The miners employed at the Elsecr Main Colliery have unanimously accepted the new price-list agreed upon by the arbitrator. One of the men's representatives described those who had acted independently of the main body as "traitors."

The Manchester District Institution of Gas Engineers held their 10th general meeting at Doncaster, on Saturday. An instructive visit was paid to the new colliery at Bentley, and, at the business meeting, there was an important discussion on an education scheme for gasfitters.

Prior to the sailing of the White Star liner Olympic from Belfast Lough, on Wednesday, about 100 firemen ceased work, stating that they were dissatisfied with the terms of their engagement. They were conveyed in tugs to Belfast wharf, where substitutes were procured.

At a meeting of the executive of the General Union of Weavers and Textile Workers at Huddersfield concerning the demand of weavers in that district for more pay and shorter hours, it was decided that the result of the ballot of members now in progress should not be made public until June 10, when another meeting of delegates will be held.

Cheering and singing girl workers on strike at the Belfast rope works paraded the city to collect money for a strike fund.

By a ballot of trade unionists in the Leigh district, Mr. Thomas Greenall has been selected as the Labor candidate at the next election.

It has been decided to close the Standard Colliery, Durham, and the men and boys employed there, numbering about 500, have received notices, terminating on June 3.

About 400 miners at Langwith are still standing idle owing to a repudiation of the shaft of No. 1 pit last week-end. Work has been resumed at No. 2 pit, but not until next Monday is it expected that No. 1 pit will be worked.

Members of the Amalgamated Union of Labor on Tyneside have decided to apply for an advance in wages in the shipyards of 2s on time rates and 10 per cent. on piece rates. An advance of half this amount was conceded in February.

The shoulers of Sheffield district have made a demand for an extra shilling per week, bringing their wages up to 42s. A conference was held on Monday, but no agreement came to, and the vote of the men are to be balloted on the subject.

The annual conference of the Railway Clerks' Association was held at Liverpool on Saturday and Sunday, 167 delegates, representing 11,000 members, attending under the presidency of Mr. Latham, Norwich. Conference declared in favor of the nationalisation of railways; asked for the inspection of railway clerks' offices declared to be insubstantial; protested against the North-Eastern's alleged attempt to force clerks to undertake other duties during strikes; condemned the Lancashire and Yorkshire for alleged underpayment of clerical staff; and demanded the reversal of the Osborne judgment. The State insurance scheme was also considered.

HAVOC WROUGHT BY A DIAMOND.

A recent night inspection of a station on the Minnesota division revealed the fact that the only waiting room was poorly lighted. Some of the kerosene lamps had no chimneys at all. One lamp was sprung up a bit by having a mutilated half chimney that by comparison threw a respectable light.

In inquiry the agent explained that the duty of taking care of the lamp fell to the baggage man, who recently brought a diamond ring which he wore on all occasions. Cleaning chimneys at this particular station is accomplished by blowing into the globe and rubbing it until daylight is visible. The diamond in this instance wrought sad havoc with the chimneys, which were so badly etched by it that a slight heat knocked them into smithereens.—From the Northwest.

REACHING THEIR LIMIT.

The Grand Jury at Cobourg returned a true bill against Leslie Burk, aged 21, on a charge of arson. Young Burk is now on bail, having been arrested a few weeks ago on a charge of having started the fire on the night of April 16 which destroyed a whole block in Colborne.

The export of hay from Kingston district to the United States has increased very much of late. During the past two months $15,000 worth has been shipped across the border. A great deal of cream is also going from the district. In two weeks $1,000 worth has been shipped.

J. Gillies and W. Bowman were painting the roof at the Berlin, Ont., municipal gas plant, when tiles came in contact with a live wire. He was nearly electrocuted, his clothes burned off his body, and the flash badly injured. He was taken to the hospital in a serious condition.

The firing of three shots from a 22-calibre revolver in the main corridor at the Harbord Collegiate Institute, Toronto, yesterday afternoon caused consternation among three students who happened to be conversing at the time. The reason for the firing of the shots still remains unexplained.

WORLD'S CROPS.

Bumper Wheat Crop in India and Record Area Sown in Canada.

Washington, June 19.—A bumper harvest of wheat in British India, estimated at 369,000,000 bushels, surpassing all previous records and a record area sown to spring wheat in Western Canada, where 90 per cent. of the Dominion wheat is grown, giving rise to seemingly extravagant estimates of probable yield, are the features of the world's review of May agricultural news announced by the United States Department of Agriculture to-day. In other respects foreign agriculture in general made average seasonal progress.

In Argentina the great wheat and flaxseed exporter of the southern hemisphere, the autumn sown crops have entered the first month of trans-equatorial winter in vigorous condition, and on probably largely increased areas. The recently gathered corn crop there turned out badly, and little or no surplus will be available for export. The corn crop of South Africa also is reported damaged by drought, and there probably will be none for export.

PRENTICE BOYS.

Resolution on Ne Temere Decree—Greetings to Assembly.

Ottawa despatch: A strong resolution against the ne temere decree was passed by the Grand Lodge of Prentice Boys, at this morning's session of the Royal Albert Hall. The resolution will be sent to the Minister of Justice.

A resolution affirming the loyalty of the Grand Lodge to King George was passed, apropos of the near approach of Coronation day, while another expressed the Grand Lodge's greetings to the Presbyterian Assembly, in session here.

Officers were elected as follows: Grand Master, H. Sollen, St. John, N. B.; Senior Deputy Grand Master, H. Dempsey, Ameliasburg; Junior Deputy, H. Sanders, Kingston; Grand Chaplain, Rev. Mr. Gilbert, Kingston; Grand Director of Ceremonies, A. McElroy, Ottawa; Grand Lecturer, F. Milligan, Toronto; Grand Assistant Lecturer, W. Smith, St. John, N. B.; Grand Secretary, C. O. Buckman, Belleville; Assistant Secretary, C. Phillips, Stella; Inside Tyler, D. Nicholl, Ottawa; Outside Tyler, Thomas Moore, Toronto.

SEEING THE LAND

Toronto Business Man Pleasid With Northern Crops.

New Liskeard, Ont., June 19.—Crops never looked better than those seen yesterday afternoon by the members of the Toronto Board of Trade delegation on their arrival at the Liskeard. A heavy rain of the past two days had painted the fields with the deepest shade of green, and the visitors were driven for miles in all directions on a tour of inspection. The special train was met at the Liskeard station by acting Mayor J. H. Brown and President Magdaly, of the local Board of Trade, and a great concourse of members of the Council and Board of Trade and citizens generally. Mayor Brown read an address of welcome in which the agricultural resources of the town and country were noted.

Every pig in town had been commissioned for the occasion, and the farmers turned out as well, with their three-seaters. The visitors were bundled into the conveyances and were soon lost in the distance. Among the sights seen was fall rye standing 6 inches in height, full with just coming out head and ripe wild raspberries.

BORN ON LAWN.

The Stork Visits Newly Arrived Immigrants at London.

London, Ont., despatch: A bouncing baby boy, son of English parents recently arrived in London, was born on the lawn of Victoria Hospital at 3 o'clock this morning. When the approach of the stork became evident, the man and his wife, having no money, undertook to walk to the hospital from their home in the north end of the city, two miles away. The mother became exhausted as she reached the grounds, and the baby life was ushered in without medical attendance and with no roof save the canopy of stars. At the hospital to-night it was reported that the mother and child are doing well.

MADE A RECORD.

Port Dalhousie, Ont., despatch: The passenger steamer City of Hamilton, of the Merchants' Montreal Line, Captain Baxter commanding, broke all records through the Welland Canal for making last time. She left Port Colborne at 5:30 this morning, arriving at Port Dalhousie, tied up at the pier, at 2:30 this afternoon, making the trip down in 8 hours and 42 minutes. Had the canal been clear it was possible to have made the run in eight hours from lake to lake.

CASTRO'S LANDING.

Berlin, June 19.—The German Government disclaims all responsibility for the steamer Consul Grostuck, which was reported as flying the German flag, and announces that the blame for any complications that may result from the landing of (Crispian) Castro, the exiled president of Venezuela, will rest upon the Haitian Government.

THAT CHINESE BOY

Neighbors Heard Lad Screaming as of Horror.

Toronto despatch: After hearing the evidence of Chong Yuen, the uncle, and several neighbors, the inquest into the death of the Chinese boy, Jong Hai Tak, who was reputed to have hanged himself at his uncle's laundry at 657 Queen street west late on Friday night, Coroner G. G. Rowe adjourned the hearing until Friday, June 23, when T. L. Monahan, K. C., Assistant Crown Attorney, will produce several more important witnesses.

Chong Yuen has been in the country four or five years, and although he understands some English, an interpreter was used in questioning him. He said that the boy worked with him at the laundry up till 10 o'clock on Friday night, when he went to bed. Chong Yuen and his assistants worked until 2 o'clock. When they, too, went upstairs, Chong Yuen lit a match when he entered the bedroom, and found Jong Hai Tak hanging to the top of the door by a rope. He had a towel around his neck and the rope was over his head. The body was cold when he touched it. Chong Yuen cried a great deal and lowered the boy from the door. The towel was wrapped just loosely around his neck and dropped when the rope was removed. He had heard no noise since the boy went upstairs, and knew of no reason for the act. He gave the boy money every Monday, sometimes $1, sometimes $1.50, and some times $2, or even more. The boy was happy so far as he could tell. He had no desire to go to Victoria to see his father, although Chong Yuen often told him he could if he wished. He never knew that the boy had any money in the bank until after he was dead.

James Waddington, Rachel Coley, Josephine Hodgson, and May Treynor, neighbors, all heard screaming and hollering about 2:15 in the morning. It was evidently that of the foreigners, and, as far as they could tell, indicated great horror, but was not of such a nature that they would conjecture that a suicide was taking place. Charles Tomenson lives next door, but he heard nothing. He knew the boy well, though, and often came in and bought candy from him. He seemed perfectly happy and was well treated by his uncle. Mr. D. E. Wallace cross-examined several of the witnesses on behalf of the uncle of the boy.

TROOPS MUTINY.

Portuguese Garrison Break Out and Shoot the Commander.

Madrid, June 19.—Telegrams received to-day from Vigo state that a monarchist revolution has broken out at Chaves, Portugal, and that the Portuguese garrison mutined and killed its commander. The monarchists stormed and raided the offices of the Republican newspapers in the Plaza Braga.

Vigo, Spain, June 15.—Reports from Chaves of the mutiny of two regiments of Portuguese troops are not confirmed. The rumors are probably unfounded, since it is learned from other sources that the Royalist plans of a Portuguese frontier did not develop as had been expected. It is supposed here that the Royalists at Chaves planned to mutiny upon the approach of Captain Coire, the monarchist leader, who is said to be at the head of the forces near Braga.

THE PLUMBERS.

The Canadian Society of Sanitary and Heating Engineers.

Fort William despatch: At to-day's session of the Master Plumbers' Association the most forward step in the history of the organization was taken. The name will be changed to the Canadian Society of Sanitary and Heating Engineers. A paid office staff will be organized, including a secretary, and an offer will be made to include a greater number than has ever before belonged to the association.

A wireless lettergram was received from the Mayor of Montreal, who is on the ocean en route for London. The Mayor states that it will be a pleasure to that city to entertain the plumbers next year. The invitation is being heartily endorsed.

NEW GRAIN LINE.

C. P. R. Expects to Move Crops Along it This Year.

Montreal, June 19.—Statements made here indicate that the C. P. R. officials fully expect to have their new grain line from Victoria, in the Georgian Bay, to Montreal, in commission by the time this year's wheat crop is expected to be moved. The engineers in charge of the construction work state that good progress is being made, and that if the present rate is maintained, the new line will be in operation early in the fall. The new line will mean the saving of considerable time and expense in the handling of grain crops. Grain leaving Port Arthur is taken to Owen Sound by water, and thence to Montreal by way of Toronto, making a total haul of 400 miles. When the new line is completed this haul will be considerably shortened, as leaving Victoria Harbor, the line will be practically a direct one to Montreal, and will make an ultimate saving of sixty-one miles over the old route.

CAPTURED TWO.

Gang Holds Up Clerk and Robs New York Hotel Safe.

New York, June 19.—An automobile containing eight men pulled up in front of the Hotel Roy, on West Thirty-Fifth street, near Broadway, early this morning, and the men all lined up before Charles Simmons, the night clerk. Each of them held a revolver, and their leader ordered the clerk to stand back while he explored the cash drawer of the open safe. There was nothing in the clerk to do but obey, and the intruder quickly scooped out $100 in bills. Then the men filed out, the last one covering the clerk with his revolver until all were outside.

As soon as he was free, the clerk grabbed his own gun from a drawer and fired five shots to call the police. He was so quick about it that he got a response from a Broadway patrolman who had been patrolling the hotel's automobile and got started. The patrolman captured the last two of the men and found in the pockets of one of them a roll of bills twice the size of that which the hotel clerk had lost.

FAMILY MURDER.

Robert Donnelly, a Survivor of Bidulph Tragedy is Dead.

London, Ont., despatch: Robert Donnelly, one of the few survivors of the Bidulph tragedy of February 4, 1880, when his father, mother, sister, brother and a cousin were murdered in Bidulph by an organized gang which sought to exterminate the family, died near Leam this morning. A boy, Johnny O'Connor, was the only person left living in the house, and was overlooked by the murderers. Robert Donnelly and William Donnelly were away from the place at the time, but all were acquitted. The lawyers for the defence being Sir William Meredith and the late Judge MacMahon.

MOROCCAN ARMY.

France Will Organize One and Chastise the Tribesmen.

Paris, June 19.—During the course of an interpellation on Morocco in the Senate yesterday, M. Cruppi, Minister of Foreign Affairs, made an important declaration, in which he outlined the policy of France. This would consist, he said, in the creation of a Moroccan army, hastening reforms in the organization of the police and assuring order, placing the Sultan's authority on a firm basis in the interests of all, maintaining the open door and establishing economic and commercial liberty.

When this policy was in a fair way of accomplishment, the Foreign Minister said General Moinier would evacuate after chastising the tribesmen.

STEAMER AFIRE.

Captain Raced For Shore and Saved His Passengers and Crew.

Pudacah, Ky., June 19.—Quick work on the part of Capt. John L. Lowry, of the River steamer John Lowery, saved the lives of sixty-five persons early to-day, when the boat was burned opposite Smithland, Ky., on the Ohio River. Crowded with fifty excursionists and the crew of 15 the craft was slowly making its way up the river in midstream, when fire broke out near the engine.

Roused from their sleep the passengers crowded on to the decks in a near panic, and only the coolness of the boat's quick crew averted a heavy loss of life. Several barrels of oil exploded, but no one was hurt.

Seeing the fire about to consume the craft, Captain Lowry made for the Illinois side with all speed. By the time the nose of the steamer touched the shore the fire had gained great headway, but the passengers got off without injury. A roll call of passengers showed every one present and none injured.

It had not been determined this morning whether any of the negro deck hands had been burned, but it is believed they too escaped.

TO BE A SAILOR.

London, June 19.—It is stated that the Prince of Wales will follow in his father's footsteps, and will serve as a father's first speech when he returns to the Victoria Harbor, the line will be practically a direct one to Montreal, and will make an ultimate saving of sixty-one miles over the old route.

TORONTO DRY DOCK.

Toronto, June 19.—The plans of the floating drydock projected by the Police Iron Works have passed through the hands of Mr. J. G. Sing, Engineer of the Public Works Department. When they are finally approved by the Dominion Government a subsidy will be granted. Mr. Sing told a reporter yesterday that this drydock would be the first of its kind in Canada. It would lift a vessel of 4,500 tons, and it was intended to enlarge it eventually to accommodate vessels 600 feet long. At first it will receive a vessel 350 feet in length. The cost is estimated to be about $1,200,000.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE

Southampton Coal Porters Returned to Work.

Some Difficulty in Getting Sailors—No Trouble in France.

London, June 19.—The work proceeded as usual on the London docks to-day, with nothing to suggest that a general strike of seamen had been called. At the provincial ports there was some response to last night's strike signal, and a few ships were without crews. Other vessels, however, were getting away without difficulty.

The Canadian Pacific steamer Express of Ireland, and the White Star Liner Teutonic at Liverpool were still without deck hands, but the stewards of both vessels had signed.

The coal porters at Southampton, who precipitated the strike, returned to work this morning. The coaling of the steamers St. Paul and New York is proceeding smoothly at Southampton. The New York is scheduled to sail on Saturday and the St. Paul should have left last Saturday.

The ship owners anticipate that within a day or two there will be no lack of foreign seamen to step into the places vacated by the Britishers.

NOT AFFECTING FRANCE.

Paris, June 19.—The shipping strike does not affect France for the present. A committee of the Seamen's and Dock Hands' Unions met at Marseilles to decide upon measures looking to a general strike, but the strike principle had very few supporters. At Dunkirk, a stronghold of the seamen's union, are at work.

VESSELS WITHDRAWN. Southampton, June 19.—The coal porters strike, while it lasted, so interfered with the sailing schedules for the ships of the international Mercantile Marine Co., that a re-arrangement of dates has been necessary. The New York Star sailed on Saturday, and the White Star liner Majestic, scheduled to leave June 11, has been withdrawn.

The St. Paul will take the place of the Majestic sailing on the 21st.

CALLED HIM DOWN

Hon. S. H. Blake Accused of Blocking Work by Misrepresentation.

Toronto despatch: Church extension by the Anglicans in the City of Toronto has been held up during the past year by misrepresentations circulated anonymously by Hon. S. H. Blake through the press and in other ways. Such was the statement made during the morning session of the Synod yesterday by Rural Dean Cayley in the course of the debate on the Toronto Rectory Fund. Mr. Cayley said that the Church was not keeping pace with the growth of the city, and a local committee began the year with a proposition to raise $100,000 for the purpose of extension. It was a small enough fund, but one member of the Synod named, Mr. Blake, had seen fit to gather together figures calculated to close the pockets of people to whom the appeal was being made, which he published and circulated anonymously among churchmen. These figures were so far short of the truth in dealing with certain well-established churches that they might be described as slanderous, but they had served their purpose and blocked the growth of the Church. These figures were again being distributed on the floor of the Synod, and they implied the ridiculous proposition that certain churches in Toronto should be moved to better positions, as though they were pieces of a chess-board. The rural dean said that there was a committee to deal with these matters, and it should not have to face such misrepresentation, and he further protested that no member of the Synod ought to be allowed to publish statements reflecting on the standing of the churches in the diocese. Mr. Cayley's speech was greeted by prolonged and enthusiastic applause.

THE LUTHERANS.

Synod of Swedish-Lutheran Churches Meeting at Du'uth.

Duluth, Min., June 19.—The business session of the Augustina Synod of Swedish-Lutheran Churches of America, opened to-day. Fully four hundred delegates from all over Canada and the United States are in attendance. Dr. Norelius delivered his annual message and report. Following this the annual election of officers took place.

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society also opened its session. At each of the four Swedish-Lutheran Churches in the city two subjects were discussed by speakers. They were: "The Calling of the Church in Regard to Young People," and "The Calling of the Young People in Regard to the Church."

MEMORIAL TO KING.

Guelph Daughters of Empire to Purchase Sanitary Fountain.

Guelph, Ont., June 19.—The Daughters of the Empire have taken their first step towards a memorial to the late King Edward VII. They sent a cheque for $150 to the medical health officer of the city, to be used for the purchase of a sanitary drinking fountain, the same to be purchased by the Board of Health in conjunction with the Victoria Chapter I. G. D. E., and the location of the fountain to be selected by a joint committee from these two bodies.

LIBRARY SCHOOL.

Summer Session Held in Toronto—Lectures to be Given.

Toronto despatch—The first summer library school ever held in Ontario is now in session at the Model school at St. James' square. It opened this morning in the Domestic Science room of the school, and its organization is mainly due to the efforts of Walter R. Nourse, inspector of public libraries. The only other such school in Canada is that of McGill University, Montreal, over which C. H. Gould, B. A., librarian of McGill, presides.

Twenty-four students registered this afternoon and it is likely that this number will be increased to-morrow. The school is in charge of Miss B. Mabel Dunham, B. A., chief librarian, at Berlin, with a large staff of instructors. Lectures will also be given by Prof. E. L. Horning, of Toronto University; E. A. Hardy, secretary of the Ontario Library Association; Dr. Locke, chief librarian, and E. S. Carroll, secretary Toronto Public Library, and H. S. Langton, of the Toronto University library.

CROWN PRINCE.

German Heir Apparent Pitched Out of Automobile.

Berlin, June 19.—Crown Prince Frederick William was in an automobile accident to-day, but escaped injury. He was driving to the home of Dr. Von Bethemann-Holweg to call upon the Chancellor when his car struck the curb, smashing a wheel. The Crown Prince was thrown to the sidewalk, but not with great force. The chauffeur was thrown out and, striking against a lamp post, was slightly bruised. The Crown Prince continued his trip in an ordinary cab.

C. O. F. OFFICERS.

Some Elected by Acclamation—Contests in Most Offices.

Toronto despatch: The Canadian Order of Foresters yesterday elected the following officers by acclamation: Grand Treasurer, R. Elliott; Auditor, W. L. Roberts (Toronto); High Registrar, William Walker. The following are the nominations for the other offices: High Chief Ranger, J. A. Stewart and T. W. Gibson, Toronto; High Vice-Chief Ranger, J. D. Broder, and D. Allen, Grimsby; High Chief Secretary, George Faulkner, and J. P. Hoag, London; Chaplain, Rev. W. J. West, and T. W. Devin, Smith's Falls. In each case the first name mentioned is the name of the present office-holder. Many nominations were made for the Executive. Balloting for the officers will take place this afternoon. Every proposed amendment to the constitution was defeated last night. The delegates enjoyed an outing provided at the Island by the City Council in the afternoon.

FOUND "GHOST."

Inspector Greer Did Not Have to Look Far For It.

Windsor, June 19.—Provincial Inspector Greer returned to Toronto this afternoon after concluding his investigation into certain mysterious occurrences at the home of a young farmer living just outside the town of Leamington, wherein ghostly visitors were popularly reported to have taken liberties with the household effects, carrying away many articles and willfully destroying others. The Leamington authorities could make nothing of the case, and it was finally reported to the Attorney-General's Department. It took Greer less than thirty minutes to ascertain the identity of the "ghost," showing that the case was entirely a domestic affair, and one in which the services of the police were quite unnecessary. The parties concerned were warned that they must immediately cease the circulation of the stories going around for some time, and also informed that they were liable to arrest and imprisonment for the dissemination of false news.

BOTH FINED.

Welland Police Magistrate Disposes of a Liquor Case.

Welland despatch: To-day Police Magistrate Burgar fined William Hodan, bartender in the Welland House, $30.85, including costs, for selling liquor to Geo. Pearson, of Crowland, who is on the Indian list. Pearson was fined $19.10, including costs, for purchasing the liquor. William Doan, of Crowland Centre, was summoned upon a charge of furnishing liquor to Pearson, but not appearing a warrant was issued for him. James Martin, liquor dealer at Niagara Falls, gave evidence. Some other cases were summoned for supplying Pearson with liquor. License Inspector House and Chief Jones, of Welland, are prosecuting these cases.

WILL SAVE THE CORN.

Fort Worth, Texas, June 19.—Several trains over a radius of 200 miles in every direction from Fort Worth occurred last night, varying in amount from one-half to two inches. In some sections a drought has prevailed for two months, and crops suffered severely. The precipitation will save the corn crop, which had been regarded as practically lost.

BEATEN AND ROBBED.

Kingston, Ont., despatch: It is reported that a servant of the Royal Military College was held up on Cataragui bridge while on his way home late at night and robbed of his money. He was brutally handled, his clothes being almost torn off in the struggle. The servant feared to report the matter, as he was threatened if he did.

ONTARIO'S POLITICAL LEADERS

(From The Globe, Jan. 25th)

The opposing leaders in the English lecture made their declarations of policy in concluding the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne. It is in these contexts that the keen, insight, sound judgment, and statesmanlike grasp of the Opposition leader become most clearly apparent, and his incisive strength as a debater has a most telling effect. He was fully conscious of the seriousness of his words when emphasizing the loss of public confidence in the Attorney-General's Department and the pernicious influence of the easy escape of malfeasants.

The opposing policies as to technical education were brought into clear contrast, although Sir James urged the need of waiting for the finding of the commission. The fact that nothing is done for the children who at twelve, thirteen, or fourteen years of age must leave school for apprenticeships was condemned in the strongest terms by Hon. Mr. MacKay, being the continuation classes for these boys and girls would sustain their mental development, perfect them in their chosen work, and make them more useful members of society. This form of technical education would not provoke the antagonism of workmen suffering through competition for employment, and would not deprive children of the full benefit of mental training during their school years. The full persuasive effect of the Opposition leader's logic was felt in behalf of the class of children most in need of technical training.

In educational affairs, as in other important functions of Provincial government, he showed not only a thorough familiarity with administrative principles and details, but with the results of various lines of policy on the public directly affected. The closing of model schools and the great expense entailed on prospective teachers had produced a system not at all responsive to the needs of the Province. As a result it was impossible to obtain a supply of competent teachers. Turning to the complete omissions of the speech from the throne, Hon. Mr. MacKay dealt with the continued absence of any attempt to form a reforesting policy and the lack of a system of colonization for N.W. Ontario. The House was usually silent during the Opposition leader's address, but in the Province at large that such reviews of public affairs have lasting effect.

Sir James's vigorous and determined as usual, and happy in the general good fortune enjoyed by the Province. His continued tendency to revert to ancient political history suggested that, as was said of an American statesman, his future is mainly behind him. Being a Scotchman, he never been his specialty. When he said the Province got nothing and the Dominion much in taxation from immigrants he was innocent of the fact that they pay indirectly their share of the supplementary revenue tax on many corporations, and the scarcity value given to some of the assets of the Province by increases in population. Sir James denounced the three-fifths clause against Hon. Mr. MacKay's demand for the British system of majority rule, and dwelt on the favorable features of Provincial development with vigorous emphasis. The two speeches, comparatively brief, weighed the opposing leaders in the balance. Alike in sincerity, in courage, in determination, and in confidence, the Opposition leader shows clearly superior insight and understanding in comprehension of public needs, and in appreciation of the subservience of Governmental institutions to the people for whom they exist.

Course.

For cool courage the deed of a Bendigo gold miner named Davis would be hard to beat. He and two others were sinking a shaft, and after putting in two charges of blasting powder they ascended to the plat above. One of them, Allen, slipped as he came to the surface and fell to the bottom. Instantly Davis rushed down after him, disregarding the fact that the charges were due to explode. He had dragged Allen about five feet before the first shot came. The debris burstly was carried in the opposite direction. Then he struggled on again and managed to reach a comparatively safe place for the second explosion. The two were found little the worse for their closeness to the bursting mass of rock, but Allen's leg had been broken by the fall. The Victorian government has recommended that Davis be awarded the Prince Albert medal for gallantry.—Melbourne Cor. San Francisco Bulletin.

Schoolboy Suicides. Writing from Berlin, a correspondent of the Chicago News discussed the alarming number of child suicides in Germany. "Investigation proves that every week a schoolboy kills himself in Germany and that this average has been maintained for the last twenty-six years," says the correspondent. "Opinion is divided as to whether blame rests upon home conditions, such as the harshness and ambition of parents, or upon the school management. A case is cited in which a father said to his son on the eve of an examination, 'If you don't bring me your certificate of promotion I will not speak to you again.' The boy went into the examination more dead than alive and luckily got his certificate, but one investigator asks, 'What if he hadn't?'"

Kangaroo Money For Australians. Sixpences and shillings displaying a kangaroo on one side are a probability of the early future. For a long time Australia has been clamoring for the right to coin silver, and the Imperial mint authorities have at last consented. Sir John Forrest, the commonwealth treasurer, says the London Globe will supervise the new departure, and he says it is likely the coins will have a kangaroo on one side.

A SHIP IN A STORM.

The Peril When Wind and Water Rage in Opposite Directions.

In a storm at sea, with a gale blowing in one direction and the sea running in the opposite direction, it takes a staunch ship to stand the water pressure on one side and the contrary wind pressure on the other.

Stability is one of the greatest problems to the constructor of a steamship. Naturally the center of gravity should be low. The hull must be of such a form that when the vessel rolls to one side the center of buoyancy shall move sufficiently far to that same side for the forces of buoyancy acting upward to right the vessel.

A badly designed ship is liable to many dangers. If light in the stern the screw may come out of the water, rudder and be snapped off. If too low in the stern when running before a storm breaking waves may fall on board and so tend to swamp the vessel. A ship may be topheavy; there comes a moment when the upward force of buoyancy no longer tends to right the ship, but instead exerts its force in pushing the ship still farther out of perpendicular, with the result that she capsizes.—New York World.

THE SILKWORM.

But For Man's Aid the Domesticated Insect Would Be Extinct.

A peculiar fact about the silkworm is that it is actually a domesticated insect. Neither the animals nor the fowls of the barnyard, remote as they are from the wild types, need so little restraint as this bombyx mori, which, prodigiously industrious though it be, has never been able to meet the world's demand for its spun product.

As a matter of fact, the silkworm has been so domesticated through the ages that it would become extinct now were it not for the aid of man. Born into slavery, the caterpillars crawl contentedly over the narrow territory of their feeding trays, and, though the moths have wings, they have lost all desire to fly. This slavery began in China more than 4,500 years ago.

Nevertheless all the world's silk does not come from the domesticated insect. A little of the supply is "wild silk." This is the product of various insects belonging to the larger family of saturniidae. Chief among them industrially is the Indian moth called Antheraea mylitta, the source of tussah silk.—Esper's Weekly.

Felt Safer in the Mine.

In an article in the Atlantic Monthly Joseph Husband describes a thorough examination of a coal mine in the middle West. The work was discontinued for the time, and the miners were obliged to stay "on top" for a number of days. So great was the interest taken by the men in this work of examination that there was little complaining. One morning, however, as I walked back from the power house to the town I met Luke Davis, an old miner of about sixty, who came limping down the street toward the mine, and from him I heard the first complaint of the kind, and many like it followed, that I had yet encountered.

"The air on top ain't fit to live in," he said. "One day it's cold; next day it's hot. I've had rheumatism ever since the mine shut down. The only place a man keeps his health is underground." There were many others who shared his views.

Future of Lake Geneva.

The lake of Geneva, lying in the deep valley between the Alps and the Jura mountains, performs a remarkable work for the benefit of man. During the summer its waters store up a great quantity of heat, which is slowly radiated by the air in the course of the following autumn. Thus the freezing currents descending from the snow topped mountains around are warmed and tempered, and the atmosphere along the shores of the lake is maintained at a moderate temperature. But the remote descendants of the present inhabitants will experience quite a different state of affairs, for it is estimated that in 64,000 years the river Rhone will have turned the lake into a broad plain by means of the soil it is constantly carrying down from the mountains.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The Templars.

The order of the Templars was organized about the year 1118 for the purpose of protecting pilgrims on their way to the Holy Land and back. The founder of the order is supposed to have been Baldwin II, king of Jerusalem. For a long time the Templars was the most highly honored organization in Europe, but jealousy on the part of the sovereigns, coupled with their desire to get hold of the great wealth of the order, which finally placed a different state of affairs, for it is estimated that in 64,000 years the river Rhone will have turned the lake into a broad plain by means of the soil it is constantly carrying down from the mountains.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Real News.

"Why do you waste so much space on these interviews with politicians?" demanded the merchant.
"They are of interest to the people," answered the reporter.
"Shucks! If you interviewed me I could tell you where bargains are to be had."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Reckless.

Uncle—My dear boy, it's a fact that the bacilli on paper money have caused many a death before now. Nephew—Well, uncle, you might let me have a few notes. I'm very tired of fire.—Fleegende Blatter.

The best thing for any one to say who has nothing to say is to say nothing and stick to it.

Sweet Miss Margery

Margery was pained and troubled as she took her way along the paddock—pained not so much at the woman's words as at the thought that the man had reached them and deemed her stupid and plain. She had grown to look on Stuart Crosbie as something bright and delightful in her life. They had played together as children, and the memory of that friendship was the strongest link in the chain that held her as a hero. When he was away, Stuart had written once or twice to Margery, sending her views of the place and the people, and her long chatty accounts of his travels. When he came home, they renewed their intimacy; there was not a shadow of surprise or fear in Margery's mind when the young squire came so frequently to see her.

She had no suspicion that this friendship would annoy his mother or was in any way strange or uncommon. She liked Stuart Crosbie; she could talk to him of her studies, her pursuits—a sealed book in her home—and gradually grew to welcome him as a companion with whom she could converse freely and naturally as with a friend who would never fail her. Mrs. Crosbie thought to great an invalid to devote much thought to the girl's amusements, nor would she know how to intimate the young squire and Margery had become so close that she had no constraint put upon her; she met, walked and chatted with Stuart Crosbie as freely as she liked, and no cloud had dawned on her happy life till to-day.

The sight of that other girl, so different from her self, had brought a strange sharp pang, but that was lost in the pain she endured when she thought that Stuart had agreed with the cruel remark, and that his friendship was gone forever. She wended her way along the paddock, and was turning through the gate to enter the gardeners' path again, when a hand was stretched out from beside her, took the basket from her, and putting a finger under her chin, raised her head from its drooping position.

"Well," said Stuart quietly. "Give me my basket, please, Mr. Stuart," Margery murmured hurriedly from behind her, took the basket from her, and putting a finger under her chin, raised her head from its drooping position.

"What for?" asked the young man calmly. "I must get home. I am very late as it is."

"Well, why don't you go?" Stuart inquired, watching the color fade from her cheeks.

"I cannot go without my basket," Margery answered, trying to be at her ease. "Please give it to me, Mr. Stuart."

"Then I must go without it!" she exclaimed; and, suiting the action to the word, she began to move down the path. Stuart followed at once, and put a restraining hand on her arm.

"Here is your basket, Margery. I was only teasing you. What a time you have been! I have been waiting here for you for the last five minutes."

Margery's heart grew lighter again. "You might have been better employed," said Stuart, with a faint smile. "If you have time to waste, I have not. Listen! There it is striking six and mother will wonder what has become of me."

"Yes, that is what I observed," Mrs. Crosbie, listening to the clock chiming from the castle. "You will get home by seven, Margery, if you start at once. Not that way!"—as she turned again down the path. "This is nearly half a mile nearer."

He pushed open the gate and motioned her into the garden. "Now," he continued, slinging the basket on his arm and turning beside her across the field, "we are you cross with me, Miss Margery?"

"I am not cross with you," Margery answered hurriedly. "Yes, now, perhaps; but you were."

Margery was silent. "What was it, Margery?" he asked gently. "I heard what that lady said about me last night," she replied, after a pause. "You are angry with me. That is hardly fair—rough on an old friend, you know."

"I thought you might have—" she stopped. "Agreed with her. You ought to know me better than that, Margery."

"The grave tones went to her heart. "Oh, forgive me," she cried. "It was wrong, but—she is so beautiful, and I—"

"You are—" "Only a village girl beside her."

"If wonder if you know how different you are from her?" Stuart said quietly. Margery's face flushed.

"I never felt I was—common till to-day," she answered. "Margery!"

She looked up quickly. Mr. Crosbie checked his words and laughed a little constrainedly. "You must not grow vain," he said. "Am I vain?" she responded gravely.

"And remember this, too," Stuart added. "That, whatever any one may say, my opinion of you does not change—never will."

She smiled with delight. "Thank you, Mr. Stuart," she said, smiling. "And now please give me my basket; you must not come any further."

"I shall carry it home for you," he answered. "We shall not be long, and this is too heavy for your little hands. Tell me of your lesson. What have you done to-day, and what is that book?"

Margery immediately broke into a long account of her studies, and with her happy serenity restored, they walked on beside him, heedless of the dust or the sun, content that their friendship was unaffected.

Stuart Crosbie listened with pleasure to the ripple of her voice, his eyes never tired of wandering to her sweet face, lovely in its innocence; but when he had parted from her and strode home—long the lanes, his brow was clouded and a puzzled expression rested upon his face.

CHAPTER VI.
Wednesday morning broke clear and cloudless. Margery rose at an early hour, and sat looking out of her little window at the sun gilding the fields and trees with its glory. Stuart Crosbie, too, rose earlier than his wont; and he occupied the time till the breakfast-gong sounded in walking up and down his room, apparently in deep thought. As the muffled summons reached his ear, he uttered an impatient "Pshaw!" and made his way slowly down the stairs. His mother was seated at the table when he entered the room; and he had scarcely exchanged greetings with her when Vane Charteris made her appearance. It was not Miss Charteris' usual custom to honor the breakfast table with her presence; but since her stay at Crosbie's, the mood had seized her, and she descended regularly to the early meal.

"Good-morning, my dear," said Mrs. Crosbie, smiling her sweetest. "You look as fresh as a rose; doesn't she, Stuart?" "Words always fail me to describe Cousin Vane's beauty," was his gallant reply.

Vane smiled languidly; but she was not quite happy. There was something strange about this cousin of hers; she was attentive, but his attentions seemed to be the outcome of habit rather than inclination. Was her power to fall her here, too?

"What is the programme for to-day?" observed Mrs. Crosbie. "Ah, Vane, my dear, I fear you find this place very dull!"

"Dull!" repeated Miss Charteris. "I can not tell you, my dear aunt, how happy I am in your lovely home."

Mrs. Crosbie felt her heart swell; more and more she saw the advisability of a marriage between Stuart and his cousin, more and more she determined it should take place.

"Well, Stuart, what are we to do to amuse Vane?" she inquired, turning to her son, with the pleasure called up by her niece's speech still lingering on her face.

"I am afraid, mother, I shall not be able to offer my services to-day. I am bound for Chesterham this morning," Stuart answered, vigorously attacking a pie on a side table.

"Chesterham!" ejaculated his mother. "Why, what takes you there, Stuart?"

"An appointment with Derwent. He has written and asked me to meet him at the junction on his way to town; he wants to see me."

"Why could not Captain Derwent come here for a few days?" inquired Mrs. Crosbie, coldly. She was annoyed that anything should interrupt the acquaintance that was progressing so satisfactorily.

"He can't; he is due in London."

"But must you go?" began his mother. "Oh, please don't stop him, auntie, or he will vote me such a nuisance! Indeed, we can spare Stuart for one day, and I will enjoy myself with you if you will let me. We have not driven to any places yet; shall we not go somewhere to-day?"

"I shall be pleased," Mrs. Crosbie replied, though she looked vexed; and all other remarks on the subject were stopped, to Stuart's great relief, by his father's entrance. Lady Charteris never left her room till noon, and his haggard features were a look of surprise.

"Good-morning, my dear," he said to Vane. "Constance"—to his wife—"I have received a most extraordinary surprise. Read that!"—holding out a letter.

With ill-concealed impatience Mrs. Crosbie took the letter he held toward her.

"What sort of a surprise, dad?" asked Stuart, putting his hand for an instant into his father's.

"Your mother will tell you," answered the squire.

"From Douglas Gerant?" exclaimed Mrs. Crosbie, gazing at the end of the letter. "This is a surprise indeed! Why, Sholto, he is in England—has been for the last month—and wants to come to us for a visit!"

"By Jove!" was Stuart's only utterance.

"It seemed like a letter from the dead," said the squire dreamily. "What years since one has heard or seen anything of Douglas Gerant! It must be fifteen at least since he left England."

Mrs. Crosbie folded up the letter. "He is not changed," she observed—"at least his letter is as good and erratic as of old. Vane, you have heard your mother speak of Douglas Gerant, have you not?"

Miss Charteris puckered her brow. "I don't remember his name," she replied. "Who is he?"

"Your mother's cousin—surely she must have spoken of him!"

"I have heard of Gustave Gerant," Miss Charteris answered; "but he is dead."

"This is his brother. He too might have been dead for all that we have seen or heard of him. He was a ne'er-do-weel, an utter scoundrel."

"But with great good in him," added the squire warmly. "I know you did not think so, Constance; but Douglas always had a fine generous nature."

"It was well hidden then, his wife reported coldly. "I never had much sympathy with him, and I have less now. A man has no right to be lost to the world as he has been, and leave a magnificent inheritance wasting and neglected when there are others who would prize it."

"This is the long-lost cousin who owns Beecham Park?" asked Vane, with sudden interest. "Oh, then I have heard of him, of course!"

"He came into the property ten years ago," Stuart explained, "and he has not come home till now. I must confess I always had a strong sympathy for this unknown cousin. What a strange life his has been! I am tempted to envy him the wonders he must have seen."

"I am surprised you should speak like that, Stuart," said his mother coldly. "I can understand any man of prin-

HE'S A CONVERT TO A GROWING BELIEF

That Dodd's Kidney Pills are the sure cure for Kidney Disease.

Mr. Ronie Moulaison was treated by two doctors, but found his relief and cure in six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Surette Island, Yarmouth, N.S., June 19.—(Special.)—Renie Moulaison, a fisherman of this place, is a convert to the growing belief that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the sure cure for Kidney Disease.

"My trouble started with a cold," Mr. Moulaison stated. "My muscles would cramp, I had backache and I had dizzy spells. My head often ached and I had a tired, nervous feeling while specks of light flashed in front of my eyes."

"I suffered in this way for over two months and was treated by two doctors, but they didn't seem to be able to do much for me. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and soon started to improve. I took six boxes in all and now I am glad to say I am cured."

If you have any two or three of Mr. Moulaison's symptoms you may be sure your kidneys are not in good working order. Bad Kidneys mean Backache, Rheumatism, Heart Disease or Bright's Disease unless attended to. The one sure way to cure them is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

herself and put it away, with a blush at her vanity. She took her little basket, and walking slowly toward the spring, sat down by its musical trickling to wait. She felt more than ordinarily happy; the memory of Stuart's kind words had driven away the sting of his cousin's remark; there was not a cloud on the horizon of her young life. She wanted for nothing to complete her happiness and revelled in the sunshine and the golden glory of summer as only a heart like that which has known sorrow, seen not the darkness or gloom of pain, can feel.

She had not waited long before the sound of hastening footsteps told her that Stuart was at hand; and she bent to caress the dogs as he approached, thus hiding the pleasure that dawned on her face.

"I am fearfully late, Margery," Stuart said apologetically, as he flung himself down on the cool mossy bank. "By Jove, though, I had no idea I could walk so fast! I have come here in no time."

"You do look tired," she said quickly; "let us rest awhile. Shall I get you some milk?"

Stuart shuddered. The thought recalled all the horrors of Judy's draught that summer morning.

"No, thanks; I will have some water. Do you know, Margery, I don't believe I can go very much further. What do you say to a picnic in the Wallowood?"

"I think that would be very nice. But, Mr. Stuart, where is your basket?"

"My basket?" he echoed. "Yes—your lunch," said Margery, holding out her tiny hamper. "You have forgotten it."

"Yes, I have. Will it matter?" asked Stuart, gravely, thinking he had never seen so sweet a picture as the girl before him.

"Well, you know, to picnic it is necessary to have some food; but perhaps, I have enough for both."

WIT AND HUMOR

PERSEVERING. (Boston Transcript.) Patient—Say! isn't the tooth I want pulled? Dentist—Never mind. I'm coming to it.

THE LAST WORD. (Detroit Free Press.) A Wisconsin couple have remarried after a separation of 40 years. Did it take him that long to make up his mind to let her have the last word?

A USE FOR THE RECALL. (New York Sun.) Knicker—What do you know about the recall? Boeker—I believe in it for umpires.

CONSTANCY. (Smart Set.) "You gave me the key of your heart, my dear," said the man. "Why do you make me knock?" "Oh, that was yesterday, ain't it above? And last night I changed the lock!"

EXPLAINED. (Harper's Bazar.) Indignant Diner—"Look here, waiter, I just found a button in this dish of roast turkey." Calm Waiter—"Yes, sir; it's part of the dressing."

CONDENSED. (Life.) "What a cunning chifferter!" "Yes," said the flat dweller, "isn't it? That was one reception room and we had a set of drawers made to fit it."

WHAT THEY ALL SAY. (Puck.) Employer—I hope you are saving something out of your salary, James? Hiree—No, sir; most all of it, sir. Employer (eagerly)—Do you want to buy an automobile cheap?

CAN YOU BEAT IT. (Boston Transcript.) She—I'm afraid, Tom, dear, you will find me a mine of faults. He—Darling, it shall be the greatest labor of my life to correct them. She (flaring up)—Indeed, you shan't.

HIS CREDITORS. (Boston Transcript.) She—Doesn't it worry you dreadfully to owe so many bills you cannot pay? He—No; why should I worry over other people's troubles?

THE INEVITABLE STAB. (Harper's Bazar.) Grace—You'd never dream the number of proposals I've had this winter. Helen—No, dear, but I am sure you dreamed most of them.

FOREWARNED. (Harper's Bazar.) Mistress—When you leave I shall want a week's warning. Bridget—It's me habit, mum, merely to give a blast on the auto horn.

NOT CONFINED TO TURKEY. (Boston Transcript.) Miss Young—In Turkey a woman doesn't know her husband until she's married. Mrs. Wedd—Why mention Turkey especially?

THE INDISPENSABLE BOY. (Puck.) Caller—How is your new office boy setting along these days? Lawyer—Oh, fine. He's got things so mixed up now that I couldn't get along without him!

HER DISTINCTION. (Harper's Bazar.) A teacher asked her class in spelling to state the difference between the words "results" and "consequences." Results are what you expect, and consequences are what you get.

ITS DEGREE. (Harper's Bazar.) Mrs. Blouet—Are you planning an expensive gown? Mrs. Knoll—Well, it will take at least five ceures and his favorite dishes to get it.

HER SACRIFICE. (Life.) Madge—What is Dolly's ambition in life? Marjorie—She hopes to marry a millionaire and save him from the disgrace of dying rich.

READY-WITTED. (Boston Transcript.) Tramp—Mister, would you give me a nickel for a meal? Pedestrian—For a glass of beer, more likely. Tramp—Whatever you says, boss; you're payin' for it.

CREDULITY. (Washington Star.) "Some women believe everything a man tells them," Mrs. Meekton. "Before I married Henrietta, I told her I would be her slave for life, and her trusting nature refused to accept any compromise."

THE HORROR OF IT. (Harper's Bazar.) Rogers—Our bank of deposit has stopped payment. Mrs. Rogers—Oh, John! And I have three of those lovely blank checks which will have to be wasted.

ALWAYS THAT DANGER. (Catholic Standard and Times.) "Always proud beauty!" exclaimed little woman. "You spurn my love now, but let me tell you, I will not always be a clerk." "That's so," interrupted the heartless girl, "you may lose your job."

NO GOOD FOR HIM. (Philadelphia Record.) The dyspeptic was discouraging on the subject of his ailments. "Worcestershire sauce is very good for the dyspeptic," said the man who gives advice. "But I never eat liver," snapped the dyspeptic.

ON THE HOTEL PLAZZA. (Harper's Weekly.) "Why don't you show a little ambition, Sitters?" asked Elnor. "Go in and make reputation for yourself." "What's the use?" said Sitters. "I'd no sooner make it than these old ladies on the piazza here would tear it all to pieces."

STARVED NERVES

The Cause of Neuralgia—It Must Be Treated Through the Blood.

Neuralgia is a cry of the nerves for more and better blood. It literally means that the nerves are being starved. Like every other part of the body the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood. There is therefore no doubt that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure the worst case of Neuralgia. They actually make new, rich blood, carrying to the starved nerves the elements they need, thus driving away the sharp, torturing pains which nearly drive the sufferer wild. So many cases of neuralgia have yielded to treatment through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that every sufferer from this dreadful trouble should use no time in giving the Pills a fair trial. Mrs. Sophia E. Johnson, Moxon, Sask., says:

"For upwards of ten years I was a periodical sufferer from neuralgia. I located in the side of my face and in the jaw, which would actually click every time I opened or closed my mouth. At times the pains would be almost unendurable, and as time went on, my whole nervous system seemed to be affected. I was constantly dozing, but the doctor did not seem to be able to give me permanent relief, and at last I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a half dozen boxes, and before they were half gone I felt much better, and by the time I had used them all every symptom of the trouble had gone, and I was enjoying a comfort I had not known for years. I have since remained in the best of health, and can only say I owe the joy of living without pain to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HAD THEIR DOUBLES.

Instances Among Celebrities—Dickens and Tennyson.

Many celebrities have had their doubles. Grant Duff records that he found "Prof. Schrader so ludicrously like Huxley that I went up and shook hands with him at Lady Alford's." There was a strong physical resemblance between Tennyson and Leslie Stephen, in spite of disparity in years, and between Jules Ferry and Whitely, the Universal Provider.

Edmund Yates was so like the late Shah of Persia that his photographs were sold in Brussels as the Shah's when Naar-ed-Din visited that city. Sir Laurence Alma-Tadema used to have a double in George De Maurier. So closely did they resemble each other that a lady at dinner one night addressed De Maurier as Sir Alma, and assured him that he was "really not a bit like that Mr. De Maurier, but people tried to make out it is open to the fictionist who deals in doubles to point to many instances in nature. The Duke of Norfolk and the late George Manville Fenn were almost exact duplicates in outward appearance. And two such different ways as Anthony Hope and Edward George were in their earlier years, and again mistaken for each other."

"They were hardly 'doubles,' but there is a remarkable resemblance between Tennyson and Dickens. Comyns Carr in his 'Bminent Victorians,' tells how he once showed the poet a pencil drawing which Millais had made of Dickens after death. Mr. Carr himself had been struck by the resemblance the portrait bore to Tennyson, and was curious to see if the poet would notice it. He did, and exclaimed, 'Why this is a most extraordinary drawing. It is exactly like myself.'"

A CANADIAN ACCENT.

(Kingston Standard.) Lieutenant Governor Gibson advises us to cultivate a distinctly Canadian accent. The trouble is that the ordinary Canadian accent is not a pleasant one; it is a sort of half-and-half accent, a mixture of Irish, Scotch and English, with none of the softness of the Irish or the full and broad vowel sounds of the English. The Canadian accent has this advantage, however, that go where one will in Canada, except of course, in the Province of Quebec, the accent is very much the same. There are slight differences. It is true, between the accent of city people and some of the rural population; but on the whole there is great similarity.

The trouble with a dead beat is that he always comes to life.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound for years and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."—Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Another Cure
Harvey Bank, N. B.—"I can highly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any suffering woman. I have taken it for female weakness and painful menstruation and it cured me."—Mrs. DEVERE BARBOUR.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It cures but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. E. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

Saved from Consumption

Another Startling Case That Proves the Unquestionable Merit of "Catarrhozone."

Miss Louise Murphy, a well-known society belle residing at 28 Monument street, Bedford, writes: "Kindly forward me three outfits of Catarrhozone, which I have found most valuable for Catarrhal affections of the head and throat. Catarrhozone cured me of my cough, and really saved me from consumption. I am recommending CATARRHOZONE above all other treatments, knowing what great curative powers it possesses. I know others who have benefited by Catarrhozone."

In your case, Catarrhozone would be useful. Why not get it to-day. Complete outfit is sufficient for two months' treatment, and costs but $1; trial size, 25c, at all dealers in medicine.

The old notion that women are more emotional than men has been disproved by a celebrated authority of Europe.

THE TEMPEST.

There was tumult in the attic, There was beulah down below, And the sound of children weeping, And a grumbling deep and low, For the dust in clouds was flying, And the air was dark with gloom, As the storm grew loud and louder, With its terrifying boom!

Here and there a man lay panting, Overcome, and faint and weak, Crouching down in abject terror, Daring not to move or speak; Stout the hearts that braved the battle, Feared not sword or deadly gun, Yet they stood like arctic caravans, Tempted sore to break and run.

Here and there were frightened children, Laughing, howling as they roared, Running loose among the wreckage, Of that one-time happy home; While the women, pale and haggard, Faces set and looks astray, Stormed with brush and broom and dust.

THE MICROSCOPE IN THE HANDS OF EXPERTS EMPLOYED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HAS REVEALED THE FACT THAT A HOUSE FLY SOME TIMES CARRIES THOUSANDS OF DISEASE GERMS ATTACHED TO ITS HAIRY BODY. THE CONTINUOUS USE OF WILSON'S FLY PADS WILL PREVENT ALL DANGER OF INFECTION FROM THAT SOURCE BY KILLING BOTH THE GERMS AND THE FLIES.

There was tumult in the attic, There was beulah down below, And the sound of children weeping, And a grumbling deep and low, For the dust in clouds was flying, And the air was dark with gloom, As the storm grew loud and louder, With its terrifying boom!

Here and there a man lay panting, Overcome, and faint and weak, Crouching down in abject terror, Daring not to move or speak; Stout the hearts that braved the battle, Feared not sword or deadly gun, Yet they stood like arctic caravans, Tempted sore to break and run.

Here and there were frightened children, Laughing, howling as they roared, Running loose among the wreckage, Of that one-time happy home; While the women, pale and haggard, Faces set and looks astray, Stormed with brush and broom and dust.
